

MANISTIQUE PUBLIC SCHOOL OPEN THURSDAY, SEPT. 5

Legion Post 7 Stage Co. Fair

DECISION TO SPONSOR SHOW MADE FRIDAY

Annual Exposition Will Contain All Past Features Except Livestock Show

The annual Schoolcraft county fair will be put on this year by Legion, it was decided at a meeting of the post last Thursday evening in the Legion Memorial cottage.

The fair, which for the last 21 years has been an annual event, was omitted by the board of directors of the Legion because it was deemed too expensive. The Legion post, however, believing that the county exposition was a worthwhile project which should not be omitted after 21 years of continuous existence, offered to put the fair on.

The county fair will be staged some time during the middle part of September, and will last three days. E. R. Monroe was named head of a committee to make arrangements for the event. Other members of the group are Dr. A. E. Tucker, A. O. Drevdahl and Henry Erikson. The committee is scheduled to meet today to complete the necessary arrangements for the fair.

The Legion plans to omit only livestock exhibits from the 1933 fair, as this feature was thought to be costly. All the other events of the previous exhibition, including educational and welfare work, will be included in the program, it was announced. In addition, it is expected that something new in the line of entertainment will be attempted, but committees members were non-committal on its nature.

Maurice also won awards in registered Hampshire ewe lamb by the Upper Peninsula Exposition station because he was high scoring member in sheep judging, and 25 baby chicks because he placed first in poultry judging.

COUNTY AGENT THANKED FOR LOAN WORK

Manager Minneapolis Office Expresses Appreciation To Lee Stewart

County Agents Picked To Administer Agricultural Adjustment Act

A letter from L. J. Paulson, manager of the Minneapolis office of the Farm Credit Administration, through which the crop production loans were made, and addressed to Lee Stewart, county agricultural agent, as well as to other crop loans were made, thanks the agents for their splendid cooperation in the administration of this act. Part of the letter follows:

"Never before in crop loan work has an administrative office leaned so heavily upon the Extension Service.

Agents have rendered tremendous assistance, not only in the execution of loan forms, but even more important, in the handling of checks to borrowers and in furnishing office space equipment to the field inspectors serving under this office.

"It is to the credit of all who cooperated that this office granted approximately 50,000 loans amounting to six and one-half million dollars, bringing this amount of relief to those who have suffered agricultural adversity.

"For your part in this accomplishment, it is my privilege to express my warmest appreciation of the Administration, and particularly of Dr. C. W. Warburton, National Director during the loaning period.

A news item published in the Michigan Farm News at Lansing, Mich., says that from others who are cooperating in the administration of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, states that the department at Washington has selected the county agricultural agents to handle the job of administering this act. Already agents in the lower peninsula in counties that have been designated as being in the wheat and corn working day and night in getting to the farmers in their respective counties the details of the adjustment of the state the agents will soon stand in cooperation with milk producers and dairymen in this work will not doubt be followed by the formation of such as cheese, butter and condensed milk for other dairy products, such as The Detroit milk area has already formulated a marketing code.

"The Extension Office," says Lee Stewart, county agricultural agent, "will act as a clearing house and will be glad to assist in every way in cooperation with producers and distributors as with those in charge of the administration of the Agricultural Adjustment Act at Washington."

Dewey, was made to the plaintiff; (2) the affidavit of the relator, Sherman F. Dewey, as filed herein is not so framed to make out a clear case by the relator; (3) the said affidavit is insufficient to appear clear and convincing legal discretion on the part of the plaintiff; (4) the file and records in said cause show nothing upon which any legal discretion by the plaintiff could be exercised."

Will Build Four Warehouses in U.P.
 Eight warehouses and storage sheds, four in the upper peninsula and four south of the Straits of Mackinac, for the purpose of storing all forest fire fighting equipment, will be built this summer by the Michigan Emergency Conservation Work camps.
 Specifications for the buildings have been sent to the camps that will do the construction work, according to L. R. Schoenmann, Michigan Coordinator of the Conservation Work Program and building will start as soon as materials are received.
 At Marquette and at the Forest Fire Experiment Station just south of Roscommon, concrete block buildings, 61x78 feet in size will be built to handle and store all the surplus equipment.
 The regional warehouses, of wood construction, 2x60 feet in size will be erected at Escanaba, Crystal Falls, Marquette, Boyne City, Atlanta and Roscommon.
 They will adjoin the conservation department headquarters.
 The central warehouses will make it possible for the conservation Department to centralize fire fighting equipment during the winter when motors and other machines may be overhauled. Because of lack of facilities, the conservation department has had to store equipment wherever possible.

Michigan Motorists Too Heavily Taxed

"A war to the finish" to end tax spending at the expense of the automobile owner and the automobile industry was pronounced for Michigan, Tuesday, when Richard Harfst, manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan, announced a state-wide program to fight the extraneous taxes which are a burden upon motorists. Harfst pointed to the present taxation of Michigan, Tuesday, as discriminatory, unconstitutional, and such legislation that knows no bounds of reason.

The board of directors of the Automobile Club has voted to throw its entire forces into a fight against excessive motor vehicle taxation. Advisory committees in 24 of Michigan's biggest cities are to take an active part in the program, and the club's entire membership is being stirred up to be enlisted in this fight for relief for the motorist, according to plans now being worked out.

Mr. Harfst outlined the motor club's stand against excessive automobile taxation at a special meeting of division managers held in Detroit Sunday. He pointed out that the state is to study plans where by the motor car owner may be relieved of a portion of his tax burden in keeping with other tax and governmental economies.

"It is high time something definite is done to relieve the largest class of tax payers in Michigan," Mr. Harfst outlined. "Excessive taxes have been heaped upon automobile owners by constant increases in the sales tax, together with other taxable properties, no single class or group or industry has had to bear up under such crushing loads."

"Michigan, whose very existence depends upon the automobile industry, is endangering the very life of its chief support. Our state should lead the national procession for automobile taxation relief."

Mr. Harfst outlined that Michigan motorist in 1931, paid taxes equal to 40 percent of the total tax revenue for the state. Twenty seven states had lower percentages, and Delaware, with a motor car tax revenue of 14.2 percent of its state income, was the lowest for the nation.

Our gas tax totaled more than $20,000,000 and our license tax amounted to $19,800,000 for the calendar year 1932.

The A. A. C. club executive pointed to the gas tax and the various taxes on the sale of automobiles as symbolic of the unfairness that has crept into automobile taxation. At the present price of gasoline, the motorist pays 48 cents for 20 gallons of gasoline, and fuel he purchases. If a new car is purchased the owner pays (on a car in the light weight class) as follows:

Gas Tax on 20 gal. gasoline... $1.15
State Gas Tax... .30
Federal Gas Tax... .16
State Sales Tax... .69

Total Cost... $1.63

Taxes on average car in light weight class...

Federal Excise Tax... $125
State Sales Tax... 16.90
License cost (Weight Tax)... 15.48

Initial Taxes... $47.68

If the motorist drives this new car 12,000 miles a year he pays an additional $35.62 in gasoline taxes, bringing his total taxes to $83.25. As the price and weight of the car increases, so does this tax increase.

Continuing, Mr. Harfst said "Rank unfairness has crept into automobile taxation. Figuring it out is no easy matter."

T. B. Deaths Are On Increase In North

Lansing, August 17.—With the sole exception of the district included by the Northern State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, every section of Michigan reported a lower number of tuberculosis deaths in 1932 than in 1931, a study just completed by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association shows.

Since the Northern Sanatorium is the only part of the district not providing an inclusion for tuberculosis patients, the Association points out that its increased number of reported deaths logically must be explained in part at least by the absence of a sanatorium.

The first of the three sections into which Michigan was divided in the survey consisted of 14 reported tuberculosis deaths in their own sanatoriums. Tuberculosis deaths in these populous counties decreased eight percent from 31 reported in 1931 to 29 reported in 1932. This second section comprised 31 counties, 27 of which are in the southern part of the Lower Peninsula.

The 30 northern counties of the district reported 149 tuberculosis deaths in 1932, an increase of 12 percent. The difference between these two comparable districts of 27 percent.

"These figures show that for every three people dying in the northern section, four died in the Northern counties, comprising the 1931 and 1932 deaths," the Michigan Tuberculosis Association points out. "No marked difference exists between the two areas except that the first has in its borders a sanatorium for its patients and the second has none. Consequently in the latter area infection spreads readily, sickness results, and death follows."

"If this great area of Northern Michigan is to share in the general control of tuberculosis in the state, and if an equivalent degree of protection against the disease is to be given here, the Tuberculosis Association states, "a regional sanatorium must be provided to control tuberculosis in the district is hampered and handicapped by the complete absence of institutional facilities."

The State Sanatorium Commission has appointed a committee to wait on Governor William A. Cushman in reference to the Northern Sanatorium and the possibility of securing National Recovery Act funds for its construction. The Governor undoubtedly would appreciate expressions from citizens of the affected district regarding their wishes in the matter."

Old Age Pension Is Law Not Workable

The Michigan old age pension law is not "workable" in its present form, according to Welfare Director Wm. S. Carpenter, and he intends to study old age pension laws in other states before the next session of the legislature. Because of conflicting provisions of the law, old age pensions will not start on Oct. 16, the date upon which the law becomes effective. The law makes no provision for collection of funds through the imposition of a head tax of $2 per person until next March.

Mr. Carpenter estimates that the present law would cost the State of Michigan $60,000,000 a year while total revenue under the head tax would be approximately $25,000,000.

Six years in the penitentiary is the "price" Robert Jones, Negro, of Gontzville, Tex., must pay for stealing 80 cents.

Highway Finance To Be Studied By State

An intensive study of the entire subject of highway finance is to be made by the legislative council before the next session of the legislature. This was decided upon by the council sub-committee on finance which met in Lansing, August 17.

This study will include the weight and gasoline taxes, the township and county highway laws and the various laws which direct highway funds to local governmental units.

One of the recommendations to be considered by the council and which may be submitted to the special session of the legislature early next year, is the proposal of Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald that license plate costs be reduced to three, six and nine dollars depending upon the weight of the automobile. This recommendation has met with popular approval in all parts of the state.

Mr. Fitzgerald pointed out, has now reached the point where it is more nearly consummated. The purchaser pays a federal excise tax in addition to a proportionate share of the federal income tax, and then pays the three percent state sales tax. The weight tax, which was originally intended to furnish funds for state highway construction, must be paid yearly by the motorist. Federal and state gasoline taxes, in addition to the state sales tax, bring the total levy upon each gallon of gasoline to four and three-quarters cents.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels. But the state of the art was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way now involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies which are produced in small volume are a million. That alone explains why all steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change. We could see only one reason for retaining an all-steel body into a —nailing the metal on, instead of welding it, it would be cheaper—for us—strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not such stronger structurally weakens with age. Every used car lot American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you.

By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable.

Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

Pontiac THE WORLD'S LARGEST BUILDER OF STRAIGHT EIGHTS

Men and women are buying more Pontiacs than any other car in Pontiac's price range! Why? Because they have found that this big, modern Straight Eight excels on all counts... as you will find when you see and drive it.

You get power in a Pontiac—more power than you'll find in any other automobile at or near its price—delivered far more smoothly by Pontiac's 77-horsepower Straight Eight engine.

You get more speed, too—78 actual miles per hour. You get Pontiac holds the road better—rides more comfortably—because it's a big car, with 115-inch wheelbase and well-distributed weight (3265 pounds, curb weight, for the 4-door Sedan). And it's the only car in its price range with the Fisher Ventilation System—greatest comfort factor since the development of the closed body.

There just isn't anything to compare with Pontiac at its price. In Fisher Body beauty—in comfort—in Straight Eight performance. That's why America is buying Pontiacs. That's why you'll prefer Pontiac, too.

The full board of the Michigan Department of Motor Industry will hear the compensation case of Mrs. Mattie MacLeod versus the State Accident Fund as the result of a recent appeal, it was learned here Monday.

Mrs. MacLeod was awarded the full status of $1000 a month for several weeks ago by Leonard J. McMahon, of Ironwood, deputy commissioner of the department.

Mrs. MacLeod, the widow, is represented by the law firm of Hixon, Hart, and the defendant, the State Accident Fund, is represented by Attorney James C. Wood.

Chicken Coop And Barn Are Burned

The Manistique fire department answered three fire calls within a period of 15 hours last week, and the most destructive of the blazes completely destroying a barn and chicken coop owned by John Anderson on Delta avenue early Friday morning.

The first fire occurred about 5:30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon when a coupe owned by Peter Beaudry caught fire on Bear street. The motor was damaged.

The second fire Friday morning occurred at 1:45 o'clock during a heavy electrical storm, and had gained considerable headway when first responders to put out the blaze were called. Not long after 4 o'clock, p. m., the fire broke out afresh and was fought by the firemen for several hours. The cause of the blaze is not known, but it is thought that a light bulb was the cause.

The third alarm occurred about 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and the fire department hastened to the home of Nonan Plumbo, North Houghton avenue, where a large hanging lamp had been lit by children playing with matches. Little damage was done.

Michigan Crop Yield This Year Likely To Be Lowest In Years

Unless future weather conditions are unusually favorable, crop yields in Michigan this season will probably average even less than in the drought year of 1931, according to Lee Stewart, agricultural agent for Schoolcraft county.

According to officials of the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service, the composite yield of the leading field and fruit crops was only 68 per cent on August 1, as against 67 per cent for July 1 this year and 69 per cent for August 1, 1932.

From the standpoint of growing conditions up to August 1, the present season has been even less unfavorable than the present low record year of 1921. The rains of August 2 and 3 were beneficial over the entire state, but late crops and pastures considerably, but more moisture is needed in a good many areas.

Michigan bean prospects have declined sharply since July 1. A period of extreme heat and drought during the last ten days of July, which has dried up the soil, has retarded the growth of the beans. However, the crop has benefited from good rains the last week of August. The Michigan production as indicated by the August 1 condition of 67 per cent amounts to 2,092,000 bushels, which compares with 4,254,000 bushels harvested in 1932. If the 1933 production does not exceed the present estimate, it will be the smallest bean crop produced in Michigan since 1917. The United States bean crop is estimated to have declined 10 per cent during the last week of August, as in New York as well as in Michigan but improved somewhat

18,000 More Men Are At Work In Plants

Eighteen thousand more men are now at work in plants in Michigan today than at the same time a year ago. W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, stated in discussing the employment situation.

In comparing this picture of rising employment, Mr. Knudsen also pointed out that payroll figures of the two companies are now at a higher stage than in any year since the boom period of 1929.

At the single week from July 8 to July 15, inclusive, the number of men employed increased by approximately 1,000 at the 20 plants throughout the United States and from the 15th up to the present, approximately 2,000 more men had been added to the payroll.

Since June 10, declared Mr. Knudsen, as he analyzed the figures, a small army of 11,000 men have found employment with Chevrolet and Pontiac. Total employment today is above 46,000 persons.

Thousands had been added to the rolls before the proclamation of the President calling on the country to shorten hours and raise wages in order that the workmen, on whom the prosperity of the country depends, might have additional funds to maintain the American standard of living.

"I am satisfied," said Mr. Knudsen, "that the average family is composed of four persons. This means that approximately 164,000 persons are benefited by either wages or salaries from Chevrolet and Pontiac plants. The fact that 11,000 men have been done much to spread the wave of employment in the cities where those men are employed."

"Sixty thousand are benefited by the fact that a salary raise of 15 per cent was granted all factory wage earners effective August 1, making a total increase of 20 per cent over March, 1933, since a 5 per cent increase was announced in May. In addition, Mr. Knudsen also raised the pay of all salaried workers receiving under $1,800 per year by 10 per cent.

It is estimated that these increases will place more than a million out a quarter dollar at the disposal of Chevrolet and Pontiac employees, for the balance of the year.

Bob Becker Writes On Schoolcraft Area

The first of a series of articles on the vacation territory of the Upper Peninsula by Bob Becker, prominent outdoor writer for the Chicago Tribune, appeared in Sunday's Tribune. Mr. Becker wrote the article in Blaney, where he spent a few days while writing the fishing in various lakes in Schoolcraft county. The article:

Blaney, Mich., Aug. 6.—Coming work into the upper peninsula of Michigan the motoring outdoor fan can see plenty of evidence that summer has reached its peak and now is on the wane. Many signals have been placed on the landscape by nature to tell the fisherman that August, the big fishing month, is the last month of summer and that the trout fishermen had better hurry. With this month goes the trout game for another year.

Driving over route M-35 out of Menominee on the way to Escanaba, Mich., ripe, yellow fields of oats and restless flocks of blackbirds strike one as typical symbols of the approach of autumn. The woods are rich, green, and fragrant as they always are when summer has reached its peak.

See Paul Colver.

You can see the deep purple of blazing star flowers and a big field of goldenrod along the road, both carrying the colors of the fall season. Swallows are sitting on the wires along the roadside with their 1933 broods getting lessons on how to navigate before it is time to start south. This is another sign of how summer is on the wane.

Any outdoor fan who wants to camp on the shore of Lake Michigan while en route to the north, where fishing country will find some ideal locations on route M-35 between Menominee and Escanaba. There are well kept state park camping grounds in beautiful groves of cedars and there are not in park limits. All these beautiful grounds look out upon the flat, sandy and rocky beaches of Lake Michigan.

Camp Sites Are Ideal

The park camping sites have tables and wells for drinking water. And one does not need a camp tray about finding too much comfort.

64 Wolves And 457 Coyotes Are Taken

Destruction of 64 timber wolves and 457 coyotes in Michigan during the year ending June 30 is noted in a report made by H. P. Williams, leader of predatory animal control in Michigan.

Although necessary economies caused the predatory animal control force was reduced to but one half its former strength, the number of major predators killed was almost as large as for the fiscal year 1931-32. The force averaged 10 men for the year.

In Williams' opinion the wolf population has been reduced in the upper peninsula to the point where there are but a few left; in the extreme east and west portions.

"There is also a noticeable decrease in the number of coyotes, a fact which is verified by the necessity of the hunter force covering a much greater area. During the past year to maintain the high record of predators killed," Williams said, "however, coyotes are scattered in spots over the entire district including some areas in lower Michigan.

"From observations it is believed the greatest predatory menace to game and livestock at this time is the coyote. The degradation of wolves, bobcats and foxes has been reduced to a minimum."

Williams expressed an opinion that the amount of game killed in Michigan by the larger predators is generally under-estimated. "Due to dense timber, underbrush and swamps it is evident that a great percentage of game killed by predators is never found and also, in many cases, when found is not reported."

Utility Rates: Fact and Fiction

MORE or less persistent demands in various states that utility rate structures be reduced in accordance with the drop in the general cost of living, show an unfortunate lack of insight into the conditions governing utility operations.

It is true that prices, generally, have hit rock bottom. It is likewise true that utility rates were at "bargain" levels in the days when other prices were zooming merrily to the skies. Surveys in 1928 and thereabouts show that while the general price index was two or more times the 1913 standard, the electric and gas rate index was far below. Even now, utility rates are lower, in comparison to the pre-war standard, than are prices generally.

A utility is in a very different position from the ordinary business. Capital turnover—income in relation to investment—is slow, being about once in

First Million Sees Michigan Exhibit

Official figures issued by the Century of Progress exposition authorities show that over 1,000,000 people are attending the fair daily.

The attendance at the Michigan exhibit averages around 20,000 a day," said Geo. E. Bishop of Manistique, manager of the state display in the Court of States. "We have already contacted a million people through our exhibit at the fair.

"Every day brings a dozen or more Upper Peninsula people to the Michigan rooms, and they are very complimentary," continued Mr. Bishop. "They are practically unanimous in saying that the exhibit constitutes an outstanding advertising effort for Michigan."

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Windey of Chicago were divorced after living together only five minutes. Mrs. Windey refused to live with his mother.

Manistique Light & Power Company

Even if we could artificially force utility rates lower, it would avail us nothing. It would damage service, cause unemployment, prevent expansion and improvement, penalize investors, and have a hundred other unfortunate aspects. Rates will come down, as in the past, when the industry finds out how to produce and deliver power more efficiently and cheaply. There is no other sound way of achieving reduction.
