VOLUME NO. 100 NO. 2

Thursday, June 17, 1976

TO SEE MORE than 20 American flags, as well as state and Bicentennial flags and the flags of various local organizations, flapping in the breeze on a sunny day in Manistique is an impressive sight at any time. Saturday, feelings of patriotism were heightened as Flag Day was celebrated outside the Elks

Club on Walnut St. Vocal and instrumental music, along with a presentation outlining the history of the United States flag stirred the crowd gathered on sidewalks surrounding the area to close the afternoon's program with a verse of "God Bless America". —Tribune photo

County Board hears dog complaints again

Conversation at Tuesday night's meeting of the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners "went to the dogs" again as still another citizen complaint was voiced.

The argument took a new twist, however, when the complainant told board members and those present at the meeting that not only had the dog catcher failed to apprehend neighbors dogs roaming freely on his property, but that efforts to obtain assistance had failed before the board, the Sheriff's Department and Prosecuting Attorney, Gifford Smith.

Smith, quick to defend his position, informed the board that, in his opinion, the rivalry between the complainant and the owner of the dogs was nothing more than "an old-fashioned feud in which I refuse to become involved."

What it boiled down to, he said, were charges by the complainant that neighbors dogs are invading his property vs. charges by the neighbor who owns the dogs that the complainant is shooting at the dogs and setting traps for them on his property.

Smith agreed to comply with the wishes of County Animal Control Officer Ed Leonard on the matter, but stated that he would not initiate action against either party.

At present, the county is operating under Act No. 339 of the Public Acts of 1919 (State of Michigan) and its various amendments. Section 2 of that act reads: "It shall be unlawful for any person to own any dog 6 months old or over, unless the dog is licensed as hereinafter provided, or to own any dog 6 months old or over that does not at all times wear a collar with a tag approved by the director of agriculture, attached as hereinafter provided, except when engaged in lawful hunting accompanied by its owner or custodian."

None of the dogs in question are licensed, according to records kept by the county.

Section 2 continues: "It shall be unlawful, for any owner of any female dog to permit the female dog to go beyond the premises of such owner when she is in heat, unless the female dog is held properly in leash; or for any person except the owner or authorized agent, to remove any license tag from a dog; or for any owner to allow any dog, except working dogs such as leader dogs, guard dogs, farm dogs, hunting dogs, and other such dogs, when accompanied by their owner or his authorized agent, while actively engaged in activities for which such dogs are trained, to stray unless held properly in leash."

The man appearing Tuesday night complained that his neighbors dogs were free to roam at will the majority of the time.

When Smith was asked the question: "If this man can't get help from the county board, if he can't get help from the dog catcher, the sheriff's department or the prosecuting attorney, and if he isn't allowed to shoot the dogs when they're on his property, where does he go for help?" Smith replied, "Well then, I guess he's stuck."

Smith, who told the board earlier that he had received no complaints from Leonard on the dogs in question, said Wednesday that the dogs' owner was constructing a pen in which to keep the dogs confined. As of late Wednesday morning, however, there was no evidence of pen construction on the dog owners property.

Limiting the remainder of the evening's conversation to a treasurer's report and brief reports by members of the board's various committees, action was taken to adopt resolutions concerning raising the level of Driggs Lake in Seney Township.

Gifford Smith was authorized to proceed with action designed to officially set the lake at approximately two feet over its present level and allow the Department of Natural Resources to set up a special assessment district in that area to cover the cost of building a dam.

In other action, the board acted on the recommendation of the County Zoning Commission to appoint two new members, Peter Derber of Gulliver and Terry Cross of Steuben.

City, Gridor Co. feud continues

Smoldering feud between Gridor Construction contractors on new water filtration plant and the city of Manistique moved a step closer to settlement following a 45 minute executive session during Monday nights Manistique City Council meeting.

At the center of the dispute is an agreement between former city manager Rush Cattell and Frank Marquette, President of Gridor, over work that was performed by city crews that was to be reimbursed by Gridor. The city claims that Gridor owes the City over $22,000 for equipment rental grubbing and fencing at the new Water Filtration Plant site at Intake Park.

Monday night, council adopted a resolution accepting a $5,000 payment from Gridor for services from October 1975 to December 1975. The resolution came after council had met behind closed doors with County Road Commission engineer Jean Johnson, D.P.W., assistant Superintendent, Mike Takety and City Clerk Pat Erickson. Council had requested that Cattell and Marquette be present at Monday nights meeting but neither man responded to Council's request.

The resolution adopted on a 4 to 1 vote, stated that acceptance of $5,000 does not prohibit the city from taking further legal step to get additional money from Gridor for work performed.

In other action, council heard a progress report on the community block development grant from Director Charles Youngblood. Council adopted an administrative budget submitted by Youngblood for the fiscal year beginning July 1 calling for an expenditure of $22,600. The budget called for a $5,000 salary increase to $15,000 for Youngblood. Youngblood cited additional reporting and paperwork required by H.U.D. for the salary increase, but councilmen were not persuaded to grant the increase.

The director stated that he would not perform the additional work unless he was granted the $5,000 increase. The councilmen said they would just hire someone else to do it if Youngblood refused.

The remainder of the community block development report centered around changes in the industrial park development and off street parking on Manistique's West side. Plans to purchase the Wilfred Johnson property on the corner of Deer and Houghton have been dropped and a new site for additional parking is being looked at.

Council also agreed to come into compliance by October 1 with a federal law regarding flood areas within the city. The city must comply with the law before any home rehabilitation or financing can be undertaken under the community development program.

Council filled out the remainder of their four hour meeting by:

agreeing to allow use of the triangle park building for an arts and crafts shop by the Manistique Senior Citizens;

accepting a bid for gasoline from Parley Oil Co.; and stating that the decision to stop publication of council proceeding in the Pioneer-Tribune was a temporary situation and that the minutes would be reinstated when the current budget crisis was solved.

GENE NAGEL, MANAGER of the Manistique Penneys store, was honored by the company recently as best in profit planning and sales estimation in his 33-store district for the year 1975. Nagel was rewarded with a gold ring, which bears a small replica of the President's cup and a diamond. He also received a wall plaque. —Tribune photo

Voters say "no" again to School Board request for 4 mills

Once again area voters stated in no uncertain terms that they are flatly opposed to a school millage increase of any amount.

Voting two to one against the Manistique Area School Board of Education request for four additional operational mills, Monday's final figures were 476-yes, 1127-no.

"I really don't know what's going to happen yet," said Jim Goodreau. "We'll have to wait until the next board meeting. I know we're split on whether or not to hold another election and, if we don't, we'll just have to go with what we have."

"If the board and the school will get out and do something about it, I think we'd have a good chance in another election. But you have to go out and work for it. We definitely need funds if we want the new school the way it should be."

Denton Nelson, Margaret Waters and Billie Doyle did not agree with Goodreau on holding a second election.

"I'm not in favor of taking another vote," Mrs. Waters said. "The moment of truth is here."

"No way do I think we should have another election," added Mrs. Doyle. The people have made a sound stand and we must listen to them. But I think we should search to find out the reason why the millage was so soundly defeated."

Nelson had this to say: "I don't know what's going to happen. I don't even have any ideas until we can get together as a board and start talking about it. The board will have to make a decision on what we're going to do for the coming school year."

"I wouldn't be in favor of holding another election, though, until we get the message from the people. I feel that the schools will have to start with a program that we can afford. What that is, I don't know. What will happen, I don't know."

Mueller and the other board members are convinced that services will have to be cut, as Bonifas suggested during the past few board meetings.

"We'll have to talk it over before we can decide, but there will have to be a 21 percent reduction in the budget to get by for next year."

"Now, the only thing to do is cut back on services until the people realize that it's needed. We just can't operate on what we have."

"I don't think it would do any good to bring it to a vote again," he continued. Not if the public doesn't want the added services.

"I feel that the four mills was really needed to operate the schools in the coming year. There will be a real reduction in services without it."

Until this coming Tuesday's meeting of the board, there is no answer to the question of What Happens Now or what services will be cut. They can say only, as Mrs. Waters so emphatically put it "I for one will not borrow one red cent. This is not the way to go."

Plant and Flower Care

IT'S DAD'S TURN!

Those of us who love flowers do not find it surprising to hear it stated officially that gardening, indoors and out, is the most popular pastime in America among both men and women, far outdistancing sports. It is interesting to note, too, that while some are inclined to think of flowers as a women's province, there are actually many more professional male florists than there are ladies. It is especially appropriate, therefore, that fathers should be remembered with flowers or living plants on Father's Day, June 20. Delight your dad with a foliage plant for his den or office, or have a family get-together with flowers on the table to let him know that he's appreciated.

Soil Conversation Society held meeting

Natt Laitala of Hancock, DNR commissioner, was the principle speaker at the Michigan Chapter of Soil Conservation Society meeting held at the Ramada Inn Friday evening.

A colorful speaker, Laitala spoke on the use and management of natural resources. Citing such highly debated issues as oil drilling in the Pigeon River Country and Mining and Deer herd Management as examples, Laitala said he believes that natural resources should be managed to supply human needs and that preservation carried to an extreme can create economic hardship to society.

Awards were presented to the City of Munising and to Michigan Technological University in recognition for the work they have done in managing natural areas.

Accepting the award for Munising was David Bass, Comptroller. Dr. Eric Bourdeau, Department of Forestry, accepted the award for Michigan Tech.

Glenn Mroz, student, gave a brief report on the society's student chapter at Michigan Tech.

The two-day event concluded with a field trip to the Garden Peninsula and Fayette State Park. Chuck Scheffner, park interpreter, provided a guided tour of the historic townsite. Loren Berndt, soil scientist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service pointed out unique land forms and plant life found on the Peninsula.

A "hot dog" roast provided a perfect wrap up for this annual get together.

WITH AWARDS PRESENTED at the annual Michigan Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society meeting held Friday are: Dr. Gene Hesterberg, forestry department, Michigan Technological University; David Bass, Munising comptroller; Dr. Eric Bourdeau, Michigan Technological University; and Jacque Pinkard, forester with the United States Soil Conservation Service. --Tribune photo

Eyebank gives sight to blind

Marquette: If you have a shortwave radio, tune in on the 3700kc frequency any morning at 7 o'clock or at 8 o'clock any evening.

You'll hear a bunch of radio amateurs from all over the nation answering a roll-call on what they call the "eyebank" network. They will be asking for and offering eyes -- human eyes -- for use where needed in sight-restoring corneal transplant surgery.

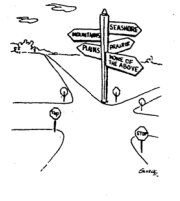

These are not medical men. They are laymen who are dedicated to a great humanitarian cause. They make up part of a team of literally thousands of individuals all over the country who play a part every day in making miracles come true -- the giving of sight to the blind.

These radio amateurs are serving some 66 member organizations of the Eye Bank Association of America. The member organization in our area is the Upper Michigan Lions Eye Bank of Marquette. The radio calls which go out twice each day inform all eye banks of emergency needs for human eye tissue, usually the result of accidents. Not enough human eye tissue is being made available through the eye donor program to fill all needs -- and these men help to make possible its distribution to areas where it is needed most critically.

If enough of our citizens would pledge their eyes, on death, for use in sight-restoring corneal transplant surgery, there would be no need for the Eye Bank Network. The Upper Michigan Lions Eye Bank joins all its affiliated organizations in a national plea for more support for this humanitarian program. Those interested in securing a pledge card may write or call the Upper Michigan Lions Eye Bank at Marquette General Hospital.

Youth Commission votes to press charges

The newly-formed Manistique Youth Commission and its Teen Advisors voted unanimously this week to press charges against a man who allegedly began a fight during the organizations last dance.

"We've decided to prosecute to show that we mean it when we say that we will have a peaceful atmosphere during our dances," said organization head Father Frank Lenz. "We want to make it very clear, we insist that everybody has a good time."

Prosecuting Attorney Gifford Smith was in the process Wednesday of drawing up an affidavit and a warrant for the arrest of the 25-year-old man involved. The charge, he said, would be "creating a disturbance at a dance."

Sheriff's Department continues investigation

A Sheriff's Department investigation continues today as it attempts to accumulate the facts surrounding a stabbing incident which occurred early Sunday morning at the Elmerman trailer seven miles north of the city on M-94.

Apparently, both Lane Neddow and Jack Prader were cut as they attempted to break up a fight there. The two were being treated at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital when Sheriff's Department officials received the call from State Police.

Although there were six witnesses to the incident, no statements have yet been taken and no warrants issued.

The Cook's in the Kitchen

by Doris Holmstrom

Mrs. Merwin White knows very little about her husband's activities on the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners. He doesn't volunteer the information for fear of being influenced by her opinions.

"I don't ask questions," she told us, "he says very little, I have very definite ideas on things and sometimes our opinions are very different. We've had some heated discussions, but he tries not to be influenced too much by any one person. He tries to get the whole picture before voting."

"He was elected by the people," she went on to explain, "and he represents the people. Whether he feels an issue is right or not, he will go along with what the people want. That isn't the way I would do. I would be more inclined to push what I think is right. I think Merwin's idea is right." The fact that he won't argue "politics" or anything else with her is sometimes frustrating.

"He doesn't ever get ruffled! It's hard to argue with a person like that."

Rather than argue, then, Mrs. White spends her time constructively in a variety of ways. Her primary hobbies are refinishing furniture, caring for plants, and needlework. Because she is also active in St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church and sells Avon in her "spare" time, her children often comment that she goes around with her steakers smoking. She says that she just doesn't like to still.

"I really am home-oriented. I like to decorate, to refinish furniture and to sew. I get a lot of magazines and I buy books on decorating, but I don't ever just follow the fashions. I don't want it to look like somebody else's. I want it to be individual and I have ideas of my own."

Mrs. White's job is interested in refinishing furniture. Now do more than they do. First I strip the old finish off using a commercial stripper and lots of elbow grease. Then I smooth it until all the marks are gone and put a sealer on so the new finish doesn't sink in. It's a lot of work.

The finished product however, makes me feel like I did it. The White's home on Indian Lake is completely furnished in old or antique pieces that she has done and done beautifully. When the Plans to organize a second chapter of the United Methodist Women who would be able to meet in the evening and who would have some common interest as crafts were also brought up. Need for a support group to aid Rev. Peterlin in his work as his doctorate involves the entire congregation. The need to choose ushers and greeters for the summer with plans for a formal group of ushers and greeters to be organized for the fall was mentioned, and finally it was stressed that all meetings of the First United Methodist Church are open to the entire congregation.

God changes things

On a Sunday morning, people from many walks of life, carrying a myriad of joys and burdens, enter churches to worship. One by one, the sun rises. God moves in the lives of His people. Clothed now in dew, the once drab spider web becomes a chandelier of crystal rainbows - royal purples, velvet violets, fiery reds, some flecked with brightest gold.

Peace emerges from our churches, apparently unchanged, yet - different. What is the new meaning in their lives? What the deeper understanding? How has peace and confidence been renewed? A mystery? Perhaps! But not beyond experience.

Won't you join us in church this Sunday? Together, we will learn from the God who changes things.

County Extension

by Elvin Hepker

Insects are attacking: With the hot dry weather, insects are multiplying rapidly and are seeking juicy succulent plants for food and moisture. In particular, the Potato Flea Beetle is starting to puncture young potato plants. I have found several fields throughout the county showing flea beetle damage. A good spraying schedule of 57 days with Sevin or Malathion will do the job.

Other insects to watch include the following:

ARMYWORM: Keep a watchful eye for this insect. Already they have been found in Houghton County. The hot dry weather is ideal for their rapid multiplication. Malathion or Sevin should be used to control them in hay fields, small grains and corn. We would like to know where armyworms occur in the county. This will enable us to keep track of their movement and possibly stop an outbreak like we had last year.

CUCKOOR: There are several species of cuckoos ranging from brownish to whitish in color. They are segmented, soft-shelled larvae which grow to an inch or more long. They feed on plant leaves. Some will chew their way into fruits and will also feed at or below the ground level. Populations are high at this time, and the pest will attack most vegetable plants such as tomatoes, beans, corn and peppers. Growers can check for cuckoos by digging around the plant base in a three to four-inch circle.

COLORADO POTATO BEETLE: This insect, dome-shaped with yellow and black stripes on its back, is appearing on potatoes in commercial fields and home gardens. Larvae feed on leaves which can retard plant growth. It also infests tomatoes and peppers.

CABBAGE WORM: Look for white butterflies which are laying eggs on cabbage leaves. Eggs hatch into velvety-greenish larvae which will chew holes in cabbage leaves and heads.

CUCUMBER BEETLE: There are two varieties - the spotted, which is yellow with black spots on its back; and the striped, dark bluish with yellow to orange stripes on its back.

Beet feet cucumber leaves but the striped transmits bacterial wilt, there is not a cure and yield will be drastically reduced.

Spray before flowers appear to prevent injury to pollinating bees. Commercial growers should notify beekeepers at least two days before putting insecticides on plants.

CABBAGE MAGGOTS: These are small brownish flies that are laying eggs in the base of cabbage, brussel sprouts, radishes and several other plants - particularly root crops.

They are about one-eighth inch long now. They feed its roots and may kill the young plants. When mature, the maggots leave the roots and pupate in the soil. The second generation flies should be appearing around June 20.

Watch For Secret Auto Warranties

If your car needs repair but its warranty has run out, there is still a chance you can get the manufacturer to pick up the tab. Thousands of faulty cars have been repaired - at manufacturer expense - after warranty expiration. Yet, a thousand more automobile owners, uninformed of the possibility, have resigned themselves to paying stiff repair bills or hoping for the best.

A manufacturer, to maintain customer good will, sometimes will reimburse dealers for certain repairs after the warranty expires. Companies don't think of these as warranty extensions; but rather as obligations independent of any warranty. However, to the customer, they may appear to be "secret warranties".

These secret warranties usually involve repairs for defects that time has shown to be typical of a certain model of automobile. For some models, body rust is a problem. Others may have transmission and engine seal problems.

Consumer representatives argue that this practice is unfair. They say companies have a legal obligation to fix faulty products and consumers have a right to repairs. But if a consumer is unaware of the company's practice, that right is not available to him or her.

Senior Citizens'

by Eileen Males

Attention: The Schoolcraft County Commission of Aging or the Manistique Area Senior Citizens' Center does not endorse any medical or hospitalization insurance. Some people are buying hospital insurance because they are told that the center and other senior citizens have purchased it. If you are buying insurance - make sure you know what you are covered for. Are you being covered the first day you enter the hospital or is it the 15th day? Are you having a duplicate coverage? Some insurances will not pay coverage if another insurance pays. The best policy is buying insurance from a reputable dealer. Hospitalization insurance these days does not run cheap. Usually cheap rates give very little coverage. Be careful how you spend your money - it may be wasted.

We are in need of a part-time driver who can do some typing at the Center. Must be 55 years or older and can work 30 hours a week. Please apply at the Center, 823 Range St., Monday, June 21.

We had an extremely busy month during May at our Center living services to the older person. We have 835 rides. We have one of the highest percentages for rides given per 1000 people for the state of Michigan. We moved 35 lawns for the elderly, washed and took down windows at 7 homes, house-cleaned for 16 disabled persons and did washings for 19 people. 583 people took advantage of our blood pressure clinic. Our staff did home visits to 135 homes and made 97 hospital and Medical Care visits. Plus we made nine coroners' calls we delivered to senior patients in the hospital for Mother's day. Many people think of the

We have a thrift shop for those who can buy clothing at an extremely cheap rate, but if we find someone who cannot afford to pay 25 cents or 50 cents for a dress or pair of pants, they can have it free of charge. We appreciate all the nice clothing you have donated to help us in this endeavor.

We wish to thank the following for donations of clothing: Mrs. C.W. Henderson of Rosemont, Ill., Mrs. Lawrence Stoken, Phyllis Clark, Helen Olsen and the Presbyterian Church.

"Out Our Way"

News from Road 437

Hi Folk,

Though summer begins next Monday, we have had some beautiful summer weather. The spring tints of color may not compare with that of the richness of Autumn, when the trees of the forest put on their robes of glory. Spring comes forth with colors of fresh green beauty, with touches of rust shown from the maples. White and soft pinks in color are given us by the blossoms of the pin cherry, the columbine trees, whose fragrance fill the cool air of the spring mornings. This is the time of the year when one can find many wild flowers in bloom. There is the oxeye daisy, which seems to wink at you, as it sways in the summer breeze. In white also there is the evening white lily, and the False Solomon-seal with spirals-like clusters of creamy white flowers, later become ruby-red berries. Also in a yellowish green you'll find the Clintonia or corn lily. It's bell-like flower are on a leafless stalk, which later become a deep blue berries. There is the pitcher plant, whose leaves are really shaped like a picture. Its flower is a dull pink. The marsh lilies give us the water hemlock with clusters of white flowers, and in bogs or pond edges the wild cala or water-aronum with a broad white spathe (petal) partially clasping the stamens (crowded with tiny flowers) later field clusters of red berries. In blue we find the blue phlox and slender blue flag. In the butternut family the white Baneberry can be seen, and in the dogwood family the Bunchberry, the 4 white bracts that surround the center cluster of insignificant greenish flowers, giving the aspect of a single showy blossom. The wild lily-of-the-valley sends us its sweet fragrance. Folks summer is really here.
