Paper Mill seeks tax abatement

by Jan Baderstadt

Manistique City Council Monday night heard a request by the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. for favorable tax treatment for their new secondary sewage treatment plant.

The City Council can approve either an Industrial Development District or a Plant Rehabilitation District on the above.

Under the Industrial Development District, the valuation of the property will be reduced by 50 percent for 12 years.

The Plant Rehabilitation District would be the most favorable to the Field Enterprises Subsidiary. It would retain last year's valuation of the property for the 12 years.

A public hearing will be held on August 9 as a first step. Then the council must approve one of the plans or deny it. The Paper Mill will then have to go before the State Tax Commission whether the council approves or denies the plans for Commission's approval.

The request was relayed to the city council through city attorney Michael Brooks. The tax break comes under recent state legislative rulings which give large corporations "a tax break on capital improvements, an encouragement to expand and become more competitive without a tax penalty," said Brooks.

Another public hearing will be held by the Council on August 3 at the Old Army for more discussion on the proposed bridge crossing for the new route of US-2.

Herbert Peterson of Manistique favored the homes on Arbutus and cross at the mouth of the Manistique River.

The only change on the plan that Peterson suggested was to delete the drawbridge the original plan called for.

The present plan was one of six alternatives presented to the people of Manistique and is known as the alternate D.

The proposal would take the bridge's approach down Arbutus Ave, then go around the Messier-Brouilre Funeral Home and take 45 feet of the north side of the Marina and cross over the river's delta.

Under this plan, five homes will be taken out, but in compensation for 45 feet of Marina property, the state agreed to give a half a million dollars to the city for Marina improvement.

August 9 will be the date for a third public hearing for a special assessment district for sewer installation on Manistique Ave. The sewer will begin at Saginaw St. and move east for approximately 440 feet. Those homes affected will be notified by certified mail. The meeting will be held at the city hall at 7:30 p.m.

An increase in the ambulance rate was discussed but tabled for review by the new city manager. The proposed rate would be $40 a run plus a dollar a mile for every mile above the city limits. This would be a raise from the present $25 a run.

Decisions on other business were deferred until new city manager Robert Risk assumes his position on August 2.

ONE CUB SCOUT, enduring the heat of Sunday, July 18, does push ups in the Cub Scout Olympics here in Manistique. The Olympics were conducted by the Order of Akela for the Red Buck District. Three three-men teams composed of the Olympic winners will compete in the Hiawathaland Council Olympics to be held in Gladstone September 11.

Controversy brews

Method X or Q?

by Doris Holstrom

The controversy surrounding the curtailment of programs in the Manistique Area Schools escalated this past Monday with the broadcast of an editorial over radio station WTJQ.

The radio editorial charged that the school board had reduced the budget drastically without considering other alternatives.

Manistique Area Schools Board of Education adopted a budget July 8 calling for a reduction of $330,000 in the budget for the 1976-77 school year. Included in the budget reduction was the elimination of all extra-curricular activities, athletics, vocal music, reading support and community school programs other than Basic Adult Education.

"WTJQ feels that Budget Balancing Method 'X' is not the answer," the editorial stated. "It is our belief that this plan does not serve the needs of our community. It fails to meet the needs of the students, the teachers, and it certainly does not satisfy the taxpayers."

"WTJQ has carefully examined method X. We have studied the proposed budget and the estimated revenues and we feel there is a better way."

"Our plan would retain vocal music and reading support. We would still have some of the proposed classroom teachers, all of the student body activities including drivers education. All of the community school programs would operate as well as all athletic activities."

"Comparing Budget balancing Method 'X' eliminations to those proposed in WTJQ's Budget Balancing Method 'Q', the editorial suggested the following:

Total budgeted revenues under "X" amount to $1,905,900. Under "Q", after adding income from property tax on an additional 50 students, income generated by additional fans at more home athletic events, and an additional $600 earnings on investments, revenues would total $1,966,300.

To both, WTJQ added $286,923 in additional revenue according to Superintendent Richard Bonifas' figures) and funds left over from last year, for estimated revenue totals of $2,175,423 under Method "X" and $2,263,223 under Method "Q".

Budgeted expenses under both totaled $2,480,200. Method "X", however, reduces expenses by $301,220, for a total estimated budget of $2,179,980, while "Q" would reduce expenses by only $2,261,701. The budget balance under "Q", then, would be $1,522. Under "X" it is $25,443.

Bonifas would not comment on the WTJQ editorial and proposed budget other than to say that it would be reviewed at the next meeting of Manistique Area Schools Board of Education July 27.

Board President Harold Cockman was willing to express his opinion. "I think we have to look seriously at it as a board," he said, "but, from my standpoint as an individual board member, there are some things which I must take exception to."

Among them was WTJQ's charge that 13 professional people would be eliminated from the staff under the Method "X" budget cuts.

"Speaking strictly people, of the present professional staff, only 1 and one-third to 2 are eliminated," he said. "The other 12 positions slated for elimination in Method X are positions which have not existed in the past, but which the board would have added had the millage request passed and the money been available. Among them were: a nurse, two additional bus drivers, an additional shop teacher and an additional health, physical education and recreation teacher."

"I also take exception to the additional income projected," he continued. "That, at best, is highly suspect and I can't go along with it. It would be a pure, out and out, gamble. Where are we going to find 30 additional students?"

"We based our projected enrollment figure (1780) on what we believe to be an accurate census of what students will be enrolled next year. I don't know where the ones WTJQ added are coming from."

"We also projected that, with the new facility, we can anticipate an additional $11,000 income. He could be right, but who's going to gamble?

"As far as last year's $250,000 balance is concerned, part of that is anticipated interest to be used as soon as school starts to meet the payroll and so on. You see, in this business, there is no way that we can say positively that we will have X number of dollars by such and such a date. The only thing that we can do is take the information available and compile the figures as best as possible and then go from there."

"Even if every figure in the WTJQ budget was materialized, we would still only have a projected balance of $1522. Looking at it realistically, we have a financial responsibility, beyond moral responsibility, dictated by law, that we as individual board members become responsible if we deficit. My feeling is that it would be kind of like suicide. For instance, we had a pipe burst at Lincoln not too long ago that cost $1600 to repair. Right there we would have had a deficit in one fell swoop."

"Yes," he concluded, "There are a number of items in Q that are highly suspect."

Board Treasurer William Mueller agreed. "I wouldn't say that it was quite accurate," he said and reiterated Cockman's examples. "But I agree that it's a shame not to operate the new building to its fullest and I don't think any board member would object to changing the budget if we thought that their figures were accurate and if it was feasible."

Concert series gets mini-grant

Manistique Community Concert Series received word from Rep. Charles Varnum this week that it will receive a mini-grant of $750 from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

"We feel very grateful and honored to receive that amount," said series chairperson Louise Thompson. "We're also very grateful to Rep. Varnum for securing it."

The funds, which are being matched locally by series patrons and donations, will be used to help defray expenses in presenting the annual four chamber music concerts. According to Mrs. Thompson, the money has also enabled the group, which shares its music with Escanaba, to add musicians from outside the area.

Funds to support this project are of an on going community arts program sponsored by the Michigan Council for the Arts and private contributions. The Manistique Community Concert Series, now in its eighth year, received a similar grant of $500 four years ago.

County postpones decision making

Decisions on several items in the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners' agenda were tabled Tuesday night when the meeting continued until after 11 p.m.

Although much of their time was occupied with discussion of an amended Schoolcraft County wage schedule for the remainder of the year 1976, the decision as to whether or not to accept it was tabled. One item of contention was settled, however, when Sheriff Lloyd Gray expressed his concern in regard to the inclusion of a $200 monthly rent allowance with his salary increase.

According to finance committee chairman William Olesak, Gray has, in the past, been provided with rent-free living quarters adjacent to the Sheriff's Department offices. As "a favor" to Gray, Olesak said, the committee had decided to add a $200 per month rent allowance to his salary increase and then deduct $200 per month for rent from his regular paychecks.

Gray objected to the committee's decision saying that he would then have to pay taxes on money he would never see.

The dispute was settled when the board agreed to grant him a salary increase, minus the rent allowance, and revert back to providing Gray with a rent-free home. In defense of his wife, Gray raised one additional objection, however, before wage schedule discussion ended. He opposed to terminology referring to her as a clerk rather than as a deputy. Gray argued that she is deputized and that she does perform all the duties of a deputy. Olesak remained firm in the decision to call her a clerk saying that all other women in similar positions across the Upper Peninsula are referred to as clerks and that it would make no difference in her wages.

The board's decision on that, too, will be made at a later date.

One major decision was made at Tuesday night's meeting. The county board officially adopted a union contract with County court house employees and sheriff's department employees.

Most notable in that agreement was shifting materially to a leave of absence rather than sick leave at the woman's option. Women will now be allowed six months leave of absence to have a child. Although she will not receive pay, she will retain her seniority.

In addition to wage and contract discussion, the board heard a report from Al Hepler outlining plans for the Court-House dedication and laying the cornerstone.

A ceremony combining the two, he said, is tentatively scheduled for 2 p.m., Saturday, September 18. Several members of the community will be asked to participate in the dedication: the high school band, to play the National Anthem at the first flag-raising there; Miss Schoolcraft County, to cut the opening ribbon; State and local figures in government, to deliver responses; and others.

In the rectangular cornerstone to be laid by an all-veterans group, will be items which include: 1976 coins and stamps, books about the county, pictures of the area and Bicentennial memorabilia.

Next month the board is scheduled to act on an amendment to the Rural County Zoning Ordinance, act on the appointment of a three-member County Zoning Appeal Board and hear reports from the Four-County Health Committee, the Medical Care Facility Committee and a Department of Natural Resources meeting attended by Merwin White.

Appointed to the Building Authority Tuesday were: Fred Hahne, Fred Cayia and Ray Krusic.

CUSTOMERS BOUGHT BOOKS for the armful at the annual Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Auxiliary book sale which was held July 20 and 21 at the Ford garage. Chairperson of the sale Marge Richards said that approximately $300 was raised by the project.

Inside "East Burnsville"

by Boris Holmstrom

On the Tannery Road, on the east side of town, sit eight one-room cabins in what is commonly known as East Burnsville. The cabins, all but two of which are occupied, do not have running water and they do not have indoor toilet facilities.

Built during his lumbering years by 37-year-old Earl Burns, they do have electricity, the cost of which is included in the rent of $12 per month. Rent jumps to $14 per month, however, if the occupant operates a television set.

Cost of any other "luxuries," such as fuel for heating and cooking, is absorbed by the occupant.

One of Burns' tenants is Ed Dahl, a former woods worker. Dahl, 70, and his wife rent two of the cabins. The couple lives in one and uses the other as a combination guest house, laundry room, storage area, and shower.

Linoeum tile covers the floor inside the former. They've furnished the room with a gas oven and refrigerator, a television set and telephone, a double bed, a kitchen table and four chairs, kitchen cupboards, a lamp, and a homemade clothes closet and television stand in addition to an oil stove. There is space for little else.

Although the Dahns, who have no children, have lived in Manistique for the past 10-12 years, they have lived in Burns' cabin only four years.

Surviving solely on Social Security now, they were forced to abandon their mobile home for the cabins when Dahl was crippled by a falling tree four or five years ago.

"It's cheap rent," Dahl told us. "I understand apartments are $80 in town. We couldn't afford that. Besides, when you don't feel good it doesn't matter where you live."

Or how you live?

Because there is no running water in the cabin, the Dahns must carry water in from an outside pump; water to fill the wash basin, water with which to cook and water to scrub the floors. When it's dirty, they pitch the water out the back door. They do the same with water they use to "shower" in the second cabin only a few feet away. In that cabin there are two beds, a collection of miscellaneous items "in storage," a wringer-type washing machine and the tin can Dahl calls his shower. Actually, there is a shower stall. Only a few square feet of floor space next to the oil stove. His shower looks as if it may have been a fire extinguisher at one time, attached to the top and a hose attached to the can with a spray nozzle fixed to the end of it.

No more than 20 feet behind the cabin is the remainder of his "bathroom" complex: the outhouse.

Dahl looked at the floor and fingered his injured hand. "It doesn't really bother me not to have the conveniences. But I thought I'd be able to get my job back. I thought I'd be able to work again."

Since the tree fell on him and paralyzed his arm, Dahl said he has "done much more than cut the grass."

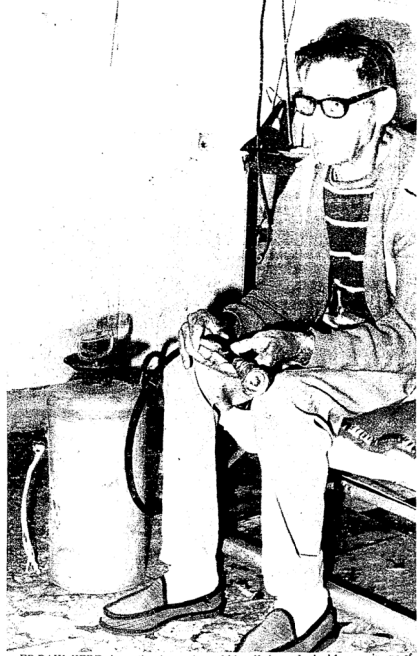

Once handy with a hammer and nail, his gypsy wagon-type tool shed now sits dilapidated and idle in the back yard.

Sad as their story is, however, there are others in Manistique whose living conditions are worse. According to Sanitarian Jack McDonald, there are homes, where even children are living, which have NO floors, NO bathrooms or outhouses and NO electricity or sources of heat.

Next week we will look at what is being done to eliminate this problem and to help these people.

ONE OF THE eight, one-room cabins in "East Burnsville" is pictured above. Behind it, as behind each, stands an outhouse. Inside the cabin there is not running water. Each cabin rents for between $12 and $14.

ED DAHL, HERE, shows the shower he and his wife have devised for use in one of the two cabins they rent. A description of the shower and the shower "stall" are contained in the story above.

Police say take serial numbers

Jack Roemer reported the theft of a 10 speed bicycle to city police at 1 p.m. July 15. The bike, he said, was taken from his yard on North Mackinac.

Police are urging bicycle owners to record bicycle serial numbers in case of a theft. With serial numbers, they said, police are better able to identify and return stolen bicycles.

Ronald Dewey, Rt. 1, was arrested and jailed for possession of marijuana at 11 p.m. July 17. Police spotted him on a street corner with what appeared to be a bag of marijuana in his hands. Dewey was apprehended after police chased him on foot.

City Police Monday began receiving complaints from area businessmen at 9:15 a.m. concerning a man who was "acting strange and nervous." At 11:45 a.m. July 19 they apprehended William McDaniel, Lansing, when police received reports of disorderly conduct from the Marina. Police brought McDaniel before the judge, who called psychiatrist Phil Jones in to observe him. After one hour of observation, a petition was signed to take McDaniel to the state hospital in Newberry.

Theron Saint John, 22, 110 Weston Ave., was taken to the hospital at 6:14 p.m. July 19 after an accident at Oak and Lake Sts. Saint John was injured when his neighbor-cycle collided with a car driven by Cheryl Cameron, 18, Manistique. Cameron was making a left turn on Oak St., as the Saint John Motorcycle attempted to pass her car.

District Court

Michael Brown, Manistique, was fined $10 on July 17 charges of having studded tires.

David Beaudry was fined $25 on July 10 charges of littering.

Jerome Gregurash, 220 Elm St., was fined $10 on July 15 charges of excessive noise.

Charles Jarvis, Thompson, was fined $20 on July 13 charges of improper passing in a marked zone.

James Lewis, Detroit, was fined $20 on July 16 charges of having no operators license.

Tony Martin, 221 N. First St., was fined $25 on July 12 charges of transporting open alcoholic beverages in a motor vehicle.

Dominic Sherony, Fairport, New York, was fined $15 on July 13 charges of fishing without a license.

Clarence Tuttle, Battle Creek, was fined $15 on July 15 charges of having an undersized walleye.

GROW YOUR OWN OXYGEN MAKERS

What do you do when the air in your home smells stale and musty? Don't you throw open the windows and let some fresh air in? That's a perfect short-term answer because the outdoor air is filled with oxygen manufactured by living plants.

For a long-term approach to fresher indoor air, why not grow house plants and let them constantly add oxygen to your indoor air. We say that we like to go to the country because the air is "fresher." It's that way because of the immense amount of growing things that keep the landscape green. Not only do plants add oxygen to the air, but they give off moisture, helping to make the air feel cooler. Nature's oxygen makers are natural air conditioners too.

Iron River rodeo starts July 1

On horseback at age two, a colt breaker at ten, a rodeo performer in his teens. Today, Bob Barnes, Iowa cowboy who celebrates 26 years of bringing spectacular horseflesh into contact with hard-riding professionals is one of the top rodeo producers in the country.

Barnes and his livestock stock will be in Iron River July 31-August 1 to present the ninth annual Upper Peninsula championship rodeo, a show which has become a tradition with fans far and wide and always meeting with the expectations of viewers here.

What sort of leagues Barnes playing in? It's a rough and ready, tear up the turf sort in which some 8,000 cowboys participate. Probably the only original American rodeo from a pasture pastime, when cowboys used to compare their skills for fun, into big business with a total pot of more than $3 million annually in prize money.

And for Barnes to produce shows, he has to put together stock that will test the best of the circuit. His bucking string rates among the best. His stock has been featured year after year in the national finals event roster of rodeo's world series and has been seen on television in the wide world of sports.

Rodeo activity in Iron River begins Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Reserved seats are available by calling (906) 355-3321. Reserved seats are $4 per person. General admission is $3.50 at the gate and $3 in advance for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

The annual migration of geese and ducks winging their way to warmer climates is swiftly approaching. As the birds come, thousands of people, with camera, binoculars or gun in hand, will take to the fields to watch their southbound flight.

The U.P. championship rodeo has always allowed local cowboys to try their hand at rodeo riding. This year is no exception, however there has been some changes in the method of entering. Local cowboy interest in entering now register with the local secretary no later than 10 a.m. July 23. The number call for registering is (906) 265-1996. There is an entry fee of $3.50 and a stock charge of $5.00. Events to enter are barrel racing, bronc riding, calf roping, saddle horse riding, steer wrestling and brahama head riding.

Local cowgirls are invited to enter their girls barrel race. There is a $10.00 entry fee for the barrel race. Purs for this year race is $150.00 plus entry fees.

STATE'S TAMEST WILD CRITTER

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story was written by the DNR's Mac Frimodig, Information Officer for the Upper Peninsula.

MARQUETTE - The spruce grouse doesn't carry any of the credentials of a game bird for without a doubt, it's the tamest wild critter in Northern Michigan, just ask Dr. William Robinson of Northern Michigan University's Biology Department.

During the course of an extended study of spruce grouse in Northern Marquette County, Dr. Robinson and his students captured a number of birds for banding simply by slipping a noose over their heads while they sat sipping the strangers. One mother hen with a brood of young chicks was so unconcerned about her temporary imprisonment in gentle hands that she tamed the protective motherhood tradition and munched blueberries off a bush extended to her.

On a number of occasions, Dr. Robinson has taken a recording of spruce grouse conversations into the woods with some unbelievable results. In the fall, for example, when mature cocks are continuing old territories and young males are establishing new ones, they'll challenge each other that way. The pertinent cock on the tape recorder, for example, or the following id:

But during the spring mating season, the seductive call of a hen in need gives the young swain a chance to really display his smarts. Carrying a mounted spruce hen in one hand and a chicken clucking sex tones in the other, Dr. Robinson wanders through the jackpines until an excited male breaks from cover with love in his heart. It makes no difference that the mounted hen fastened to a board has been scalped by previous encounters... spruce grouse are notoriously energetic lovers... or that she is extremely passive for one with such a sultry voice. Biology carries on right at the feet of the matchmaker with the tape recorder.

Fortunately, this total confidence in mankind does not extend to other predators and spruce grouse are just as concerned about fox and hawks as the next feathered resident.

But Fool's Hen... where would a fellow ever pick up a spruce grouse like that?

To: Jan A. Baderstadt
Advertising Manager, Pioneer - Tribune

Dear Jan,

For this week's ad, I think we should advertise some of my "oddball" items.

By "oddball", I mean things like bi-centennial bells, mobile home fireplaces, Super-Flame heaters, sauna stoves, wood stoves, and dehumidifiers.

These "oddball" items are of course of high quality. They're just "oddball" because you wouldn't expect them at an oil dealer.

Note that the bi-centennial bells are 50% off.

You can also mention that we have high quality gas and oil.

Thanks,
Rick

Preferences

People who are sailboat buffs look down their noses at powerboats. Conversely, those who prefer powerboats think there is too little action in the sport of sailing. It's a matter of personal preference.

Fortunately, there is enough water in the world to permit both kinds of boating. Also, there is enough of everything on this earth to enable us to live in dignity while doing personally what we like best — IF we use our resources properly — and remember to consider our fellowman.

Personal preferences . . . consideration. These two things apply to boating, to be sure. They also apply to choice of a mate, where to live, kind of occupation, and where and how to worship. You have freedom of choice. Don't forget to use it.

Family Living

by Cecil Turner
Extension Home Economist

BEHAVIOR CONTROL KEY TO WEIGHT LOSS - To lose weight you must start by learning to recognize and understand the behaviors and habits around eating food, says Marion Prince, home economist for the Cooperative Extension Service.

Mrs. Prince, who recently taught a class on weight control during Michigan State University's College Week, says, "To lose weight we need to control our mouths so that our food intake matches our body needs. Certain behavior patterns are common among overweight people and we must learn to separate these behaviors from the food we eat."

These behavior patterns include eating rapidly; eating while pursuing other activities; skipping breakfast; eating 10 to 15 times per day; and eating out of anger, boredom or frustration.

Weight control is actually a combination of brain, mouth and muscle. First we need to look at what's happening on a conscious level that causes us to over-eat.

We also need to look at the unconscious messages from the brain that regulate the behavior around eating patterns. Then we need to look at the mouth. What foods are going in the mouth. And finally, there are exercises.

Living is important. But eating a nutritious diet is just as important as cutting calories. This means eating a well balanced meal with lots of variety. If you go on a very low calorie diet for an extended period of time, it is a good idea to take a multiple-vitamin once a day. Exercise is important to stay healthy and balance calorie intake.

HOLLY BRIGGS of the Fayette Ghostowners 4-H Club will visit one of approximately 75 4-H members from Michigan who will be leaving July 21 to spend a month in Japan. Come and have a good time!

Before going on an exercise program, see your doctor and get a complete physical. Tell him you want to go on a program.

Then test yourself to determine your weak and strong areas. Test for flexibility, strength and endurance. Every few months, reevaluate your exercise program.

To help make your weight loss program successful, reward yourself when you accomplish something. Buy yourself a new outfit, go to the movies, etc. For more information on behavioral guides to weight control, contact your county Cooperative Extension Service office and ask for bulletins E-781 and E-782.

Honorable Mayor and Members of the Council
Manistique City Hall
Manistique, Michigan 49854
Re: City of Manistique
Labor Contract with AFSCME
Gentlemen:

After many negotiating sessions a tentative agreement was reached between the City and the AFSCME Union on a new labor agreement.
My purpose in directing this letter to you is to outline for you the major economic points contained in the new agreement. Each of you will be supplied with the entire agreement when it has been drafted.

Basically, the "new" document contains increases in the wages and fringe benefits to be received by City employees. We were able to obtain concessions from the Union on several language changes beneficial to the City, the most important of which is the "definition" of what a "layoff" is. This change is most helpful to the City. A new "Agency Shop" clause will also be inserted into the new agreement.

The agreement will be in effect for a two-year period (from June 1, 1976 through May 31, 1978). On June 1, 1976, employees will receive an across the board wage increase of 25 cents per hour. Effective January 1, 1977, their wages would be increased by 20 cents per hour. In the second year of the agreement (June 1, 1977) wages would be increased by 45 cents per hour.

This agreement will give the City two (2) years of labor harmony with the employees, and will allow the Council and a new City Manager to devote their time and energy to other matters vital to the City. I understand the City Council will meet on Monday, June 28, 1976. We are advised the Union ratified the agreement on June 25, 1976. It is our recommendation the City Council ratify this agreement, and we will proceed to have the agreement printed for distribution.

Dear Mr. Mayor:
Please accept my resignation effective immediately as a Marina employee.

Las year inspite of extremely low wages and seven day work week including holidays I enjoyed the work. Knowing my obligations and responsibilities to the job made it easy. This was due to Mr. Catells finding time to discuss the operation. This year everything is different, many things are sadly in need of a discussion and understanding between the dock or harbor master and the City Manager or Mayor. (Not at a Council meeting)

Due to my being unable to have the opportunity to have such a discussion I feel it best for all that I resign.
I had many complaints about the fine Marina and squawks from only a couple of local men, but I would like to have everybody in their hip pockets so they could run the Marina as suits their pocketbooks and whims. Rather said.
If in the future my assistance could be of help to the Marina, (fed free to call me, I'll donate any time to help relate or service any boats.
Sincerely,

The following letter was read to the Council:
"June 28, 1976
Honorable Mayor Frank Hewitt and Members of the Manistique City Council
Gentlemen:

The Manistique Art Club respectfully request the use of the Chamber of Commerce Building, the Band Shell area or the grounds of the Marina for the coming Arts and Crafts Show to be held in the month of August.

The date had been set for August 7th and 8th when we were under the impression we would be using the Lincoln School and grounds as we did last year. Since the failure of the millage passage, however, we have been informed we cannot use the facility, so we come to the dilemma of where we can go.

Any of the above mentioned places would be suitable. If the weather cooperates the Marina would be great, but we cannot be sure of that so an area where there is shelter is what we really need. Either of the other two places would provide cramped shelter, but would be better than nothing.

We would appreciate any consideration you can show us. The club has been in existence for twelve years and to date we have asked very little from the City of Manistique.

Last year we made a request for the Triangle Park building, but that request was not granted. We would at this time like to ask your consideration of this also, when the Senior Citizens have vacated the quarters. We are in a position to pay utilities but not rent.

We do feel we are entitled to some consideration inasmuch as we have been putting on an Art Fair every year since the Club came into being. Every year is grows larger and brings many people pleasure. As stated before we have asked for nothing, but at this time we are and ask for your cooperation in granting our request for an area for the Fair, and consideration in the matter of the Triangle Park building when the Senior Citizens have finished with it.

Thank you,
Sincerely,
- Helen Davenport

HOW TO TELL THE GOOD GUYS FROM THE BAD GUYS.

Ask for identification.

Today many people are apprehensive about opening their doors to strangers. This is understandable. It makes good sense to be careful. You should be particularly careful to check the identity of anyone who wants to enter your home or business.

before you let him in, call us. We can verify his identity and assure you that he has been sent for a legitimate reason.

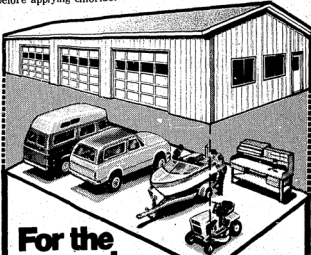

Meter readers, servicemen and appliance repairmen are easy to recognize because they wear uniforms. However, not all of our employes wear uniforms, so a uniform is not enough for identification. Remember, all WMPCO employes do carry picture ID cards . . . and they don't mind having you ask to see their card.

Sometimes fraudulent operators pose as WMPCO employes to gain admittance to homes and businesses. If a power company employe calls on you and you have reason to question his identity, ask to see his ID card. Check the color photograph and note the signature of company officers. If you still have doubts,

Germfask-Seney Homecoming

Some of everything probably best describes the Bicultural Homecoming celebration planned for the end of July and August 1st in the communities of Germfask and Seney.

Activities will begin Friday evening with registration and a social hour in the Germfask Town Hall. Saturday's activities will be shared by the two communities. Seney will concentrate on "Lumberjack Days" and serve a Lumberjack breakfast on Saturday morning from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. Focus then returns to Germfask for a Kiddie Parade at 10:30 a.m., featuring the senior king and queen and the baby of the year contest. Then return to Seney for children's games from 11 to 12. At 1:00 p.m. in Seney, log-rolling, cross cut sawing contests and related lumberjack skills demonstrations will entertain guests. There will be a women's soft ball game in Germfask at 6:00 and an all-fashoned farm dance in Seney Saturday evening.

Sunday's celebration, will all be in Germfask. An outdoor joint church service at 9:00 at the school ball field will open the day for all. This to be followed by a continental breakfast in the school gym. The big parade will start at 10:30. It will be the biggest and best parade ever" reports Chairman Thurman Skarrirt, "keystone cops" judges and a jail will add to the fun. Beginning at 12:00 there will be a chicken barbecue at the VFW Hall. At 1:00 the donkey ball game will entertain celebrants. This is to be followed by a greased pig contest and children's races.

At 2 p.m. a volunteer talent show will be staged. Anyone may participate. Sign up anytime before show time Sunday evening. The Committee urges you to join in the fun and take part. Following this will be judging of various contests: beads, and costumes and the crowning of the Teen king and queen. A street dance from 9:00 to 2:00 will close these fun-filled days. Game and food booths will be open on both Saturday and Sunday. Pony rides will be available on Sunday.

Chairman of the committee is Fran Russell. Other committee members include: Mary Chidester, secretary; Karen Musselman, secretary; Nadine Barnes, treasurer; Thurman Skarrirt, parade chairman; Bobby Jack, clean-up chairman; Mary Chidester, publicity; and Billie Doyle, chairman of the kiddie's parade.

Ceramics over cooking for her

More interested in ceramics than in other hobby politics or cooking, Mrs. William (Beano) Olesak would rather have contributed the "recipe" for baking glass figurines than for the Peanut Butter Bars below.

When she said "ceramics take up a good share of my time," she wasn't kidding.

various stages of completion, as well as two large work tables.

The shop is also home for the many ceramic classes she conducts throughout the year. Each class holds an average of 12 students who meet for three hours a day, three nights a week.

For fifty cents, plus the price of a piece of greenware, the ladies in her classes can create gift items, knick knacks and holiday glassware to their heart's content. Because Mrs. Olesak pours all of the molds herself, the whole process involves only four steps: cleaning the greenware, and plastering it to their heart's content. "People here don't have a lot of extra money for hobbies, but ceramics is rather inexpensive and anyone can do it," Mrs. Olesak said. "Our most popular are holiday and gift items, of course, but the plasterers are being gobbled up as fast as I can pour them, too."

Mrs. Olesak began the ceramics shop, in another location, sometime after they'd acquired the better shop and the laundromat. Moving it to the basement of their new home, however, allows her to be near to her three teenage children, Fatti, Billy and Steven. In fact, she schedules her work around her family.

On weekends, when both she and her husband can manage some time off, they go boating and snowmobiling, to basketball games and, every year, to the rodeo in Ironwood as a family, depending, she said, on "who has a boyfriend or girlfriend at the time."

Never does she get involved in her husband's politics. "I've never been really interested in it," she said, "and he doesn't ask my opinion."

Nevertheless, quick to defend the man she met on a blind date and has been married to for the past 19 years, she added, "I believe in what he does and I like the fact that he's outspoken."

Poor, nonagricultural soils and certain undisturbed woodlots are usually good spots for filling pails and baskets with low-bush blueberries in the southern lower peninsula.

In the upper and northern lower peninsulas, blueberries are found in dry, sandy plains or in bogs and swamps. Most of the berries in this part of the state grow on the low-bush just mentioned which varies from one to three feet in height. Its fruits are blue with a whitish bloom.

Insect repellent is a handy item to take along when picking berries in swamps since mosquitoes favor these wet places. Berry pickers should also be able to identify poison sumac which is a swamp shrub.

Lower Michigan Crops Look Good

Corn, oats, wheat and soybeans look pretty good along 27 as you travel between here and East Lansing.

They apparently have had adequate rain to keep the crops lush and green. Some of the corn in the east's "cashed state, wheat is being harvested, soybeans are setting pods and oats are turning golden yellow. If as good as those around Mt. Pleasant, Michigan should have a near record grain production this season.

Our crops in Schoolcraft County are suffering from the drought. Oats, particularly are uneven and short. Lower yields are expected also for hay and barley. The deeper rooted crops such as corn and potatoes have withstood the dry period pretty well. The majority of potatoes are in the tuber setting stage right now and the recent rain, should help increase the number of tubers. The size of the tubers and eventual production will depend upon the rainfall from now until mid-September.

The variegated cutworm is starting to do some damage in potatoes and cole crops. The normal safe pesticide Malathion and Sevin fall to control this worm. Gardeners should pick the cutworms out and kill them. For control with insecticides, contact me at the Extension Office.

Pay your family help

Families should consider paying their family help for the work performed on the farm. Another part of this is that there is no social security withholding or tax on wages paid to a spouse or children under 21.

Children can earn well over $2000 from their parent-employer. They, of course, must file a federal tax return, but very likely no federal taxes will be due unless earnings exceed $2,300 except for Michigan income tax.

Wages in a spouse can be reported as farm expenses and, of course, there is no saving here but you don't pay social security tax either.

There is another consideration in that if you pay your spouse this may lower social security benefits for the future. However, the money saved by paying the spouse would be available for use as the farmer sees fit, although some may be absorbed in increased insurance to make up for less social security coverage.

"Blue gold rush" hits Michigan

Things to do and see while in the area.

LANSING - The annual rush for Michigan's "Blue gold" will soon be on, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

There's no nuggets or big fortunes to be stashed away, but a wealth of good eating waits to be tapped by thousands of youngsters and oldsters throughout much of July.

Since when it will be blueberry time again in Michigan, and the DNR welcomes berry pickers to fill their pails—free of charge—on any of the state's nearly 4.3 million acres of state lands.

But the DNR's Mike Moore, in charge of forest recreation programs, says the best blueberry pickin' should reach its peak around the second week in July in northern Lower Michigan and during the third week in July in the Upper Peninsula. Blueberries, once ripe, usually may be found for up to a month.

Specifically, and speaking from personal experience, Moore says better than average crops of berries should be found in the Roscommon, Grayling and Gaylord areas of the Houghton Lake, Anabelle and Osage State Forests; and in the Upper Peninsula, around Newberry in either the Tahquamenon River or Lake Superior State Forest areas.

"Blueberry pickin' is one of the best recreational activities in which a whole family may participate, right from the actual picking of the juicy berries to the eating of that succulent blueberry pie."

Wet, wooded lowlands will be your best places for picking in the southern lower peninsula, where the high-bush or swamp blueberry is common. This is the tallest of Michigan's blueberry bushes, ranging from three to fifteen feet high. Its berries are blue-black, but generally covered with a whitish bloom.

Still, there will be enough of these snacking-good berries for many a breakfast, pie, jam or jellies, and batch of mouth-watering muffins, predicts Moore.

DNR field reports indicate that late frost and limited amounts of rainfall in prime blueberry areas may have cut this year's supply somewhat short of recent bumper crop years, especially in the northern Lower Peninsula.

If you're going "Blueberry prospecting" for the first time this summer, here are a few tips which may be helpful.

FAYETTE TOWNSITE - Historic iron smelting town located at Fayette State Park on Delta County Road 483. Owned by the Jackson Iron Company which operated furnaces there from 1867 to 1891. Fayette was abandoned when the company stopped iron smelting there. It's story is told today in the preserved townsite which provides insight into early industrial development, the dynamics of a company town and the social life of small-town America. Buildings are open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., with guided tours beginning at 2 p.m. daily.

THOMPSON FISH HATCHERY - This is the world's largest trout rearing fish hatchery. It has many pools and produces brook, brown, rainbow and lake trout, muskies, northern pike, walleyes and suckers. It is located 7 miles southwest of Manistique just off US-2. Between 60 to 80 thousand people visit this 900 acre operation each year.

BIG SPRING (KITCHE-TI-KIPPI) - It is located 12 miles west of Manistique. It is one of the ten major scenic attractions in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. During the height of the summer tourist season between 750 and 1000 visit the Spring daily. On weekends there has been as many as 1500 visitors at the Spring. It is 45 feet deep and 200 feet across and produces 10,000 gallons of water per minute. The temperature of the water remains constant throughout the year at 45 degrees. It is one of the amazing God-given wonders of our beautiful country.

Senior Citizens'

by Eileen Males

This little story was taken from the July issue of "The Catholic Digest." "Quoting" driving through the Great Plains states, on our vacation, we stopped at a roadside cafe. As we rested, my wife and I shared our disappointment with the scenery. We'd had nothing to look at along the route. A truck driver sitting at the next table apparently overheard, but said nothing. He left before us, but on a long, twisting slope, we soon caught up with him. We had no room to pass and so settled in line behind him. After a few minutes, we noticed his right turn signal blinking again. And we saw a massive and colorful rock formation. Some miles farther, the left signal alerted us to a golden eagle perched in a tree.

We stayed behind that trucker for several miles more, not even passing when we had the chance. He showed us more of nature's wonders than we could have imagined. "I was sure there was nothing More often than not this story is true of all of us, especially when it comes to our own surroundings and our own facilities. We never see the beauty before our eyes. I don't think there could be a more beautiful sunset than over Indian Lake on a summer's eve. When was the last time you took a drive and watched the sun go down? Have you driven down to Lake Michigan lately and listened to the waves rolling in? There is so much to see in our area that one should never be bored. Too, there is much to do if you'll only take the first step. There are activities at the Center and non-meals at the Army. Many people tell me when they go to Florida they eat at Senior Citizen sites or they go to the Center and relax how nice it was. And when they come home they don't participate. We need your ideas and participation also. It's true, we don't have the fancy buildings - but people are people no matter where you go. Remember, no matter who you are, how big or small your income may be, each of you have something to offer. You are made entirely different from anyone else - you can offer something special - we need you.

I would like to thank two people, who wish to remain anonymous, and the Jessie Schnurers for the strawberries they donated. We baked 48 old-fashioned short cakes and treated each of the patients at the Medicare Tuesday night. They really enjoyed them, but it couldn't have been possible without these three concerned families.

We wish to thank the following for donated clothing for our Thrift Store: Frances Carlson, Geri Dean, Mrs. Charles Reid, Signe Strom, Dorothy Briggs, Lydia Garvin, Elsie Fleck, Pat Hinkson and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Henderson. For monetary donations we are grateful to Mrs. Vern Johnson and Mrs. Nathalie Raredon Larsson. We appreciate the baked goods brought in by Geri Dean, Ethel Howland, Inez Dean, Virginia Foye, Dorothy Carlson and Hazel Bolitho.

We have calls for used books, also we need more clothing, especially good used children's clothing at our store. Birthdays greetings go out to: Elfreda Mulligan today, Elizabeth Erickson, July 25; Christine Lindstrom, July 24; Pauline Oberg and Linda Walters, July 25; Bertha Davis and Al Dean, July 26; Eva Sangraw, Addie Burns, Patty Johnson, Lillian Schurrer, Rhoda Olesak, July 27; Anthony Busch and Stanley Carlyon, July 28.

EXCITED YOUNGSTERS AND THEIR PARENTS waited in line to see the Franzen Brothers Circus on July 14. The performances of the Circus were sponsored by the members of the Volunteer Fire Department. (Tribune Photo)

New organization formed to promote snowmobiling

A new state-wide organization, called the Michigan Association of Recreational Snowmobilers (MARS), has been formed to promote the interests of recreational snowmobilers throughout the state of Michigan, according to Roger A. Matthews of Grand Rapids, charter president of MARS.

The major purpose of MARS, said Matthews, is to work with local snowmobile clubs on a state-wide basis and to develop more groomed snowmobile trails through legislation.

Hi Everyone, Another busy week has gone by and it is amazing how fast time goes when the days are so nice. With any luck they will stay nice so I can have a sunny vacation next week. Ernie Popour has put together a bird feeder and has been busy filling it everyday as the birds have been coming in for daily feedings. It's fascinating to watch them, especially the blackbirds, as they feed and one up to the feeder to throw seeds down to about five others and they can empty a feeder in no time flat. Birdwatching is a fascinating hobby and its surprising how many different kinds of birds and variety of color you can see in a days time.

Friday was bingo day and fun time for all. The treat for the day was furnished by Frances Cota and prizes were donated by Mrs. Charles Huston and Barbara Larson. He also received a monetary donation from a very nice gentleman who prefers not to have his name mentioned. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Henderson of Rosemont, Illinois were here vacationing and stopped in to visit us last Friday. The Hendersons remember us several times a year and on Friday they delivered another selection of terrific bingo prizes and some fancy cookies for patients coffee time. Many thanks to all you kind folks. New patients admitted to the facility are Clara Wood, Norman Brown and Mary Hockstad. Have a nice week.

State Park has new employee

Raymond Soulliere has been added to the staff at the Indian Lake State Park. He was placed in a newly created "WIN" position. The West Shore Campground opened on July 14. The unit had been closed due to road construction. Several acts of vandalism were again reported. They included: broken windows in the South Shore picnic shelter, a camp fire on the Big Spring raft, a broken bumper post and lawn damage to the Big Spring. A dozen Lake trout averaging 12 pounds were placed in the Big Spring by Thompson Hatchery personnel.
