Accept State valuation

County equalizes

After a second showdown Monday between the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners and area citizens, the die was cast. County equalized valuation was set at the state's suggested $63,888,956. Two hours of discussion between the board and the more than 50 people in attendance preceded the final vote. Lesley Lovell, representing the state tax commission refused to answer questions from the audience, directing his remarks only to the commissioners.

The state equalized valuation and apply factors to all but Inwood Township, he said. "State law says that all property must be assessed at 50 percent of true cash value. Sales are used to determine true cash value. The last time we did a sales study here was in 1959, that's one of the reasons for the big increase now."

"Contrary to what people believe, we want to be fair," he continued. "I feel that these are conservative figures, but, if it is shown that the state is wrong, we will correct them. We did the best we could in recommending that the board accept the time that we had."

William Olesak made the first of three motions, to equalize at $63,888,956. The motion was supported by William Tenyson, Paul Hollenbeck, Leroy Belick and Earl LeBrasseur voted "no". William Olesak, William Tenyson and Ernest Hoholik voted "yes". Because Merwin White was not at the meeting, the vote was tied.

A second motion was made, this time by Paul Hollenbeck, to equalize at the county's assessed valuation of $49,402,505. The motion was supported by Leroy Belick. Voting "no" were William Olesak, William Tenyson and Ernest Hoholik. Paul Hollenbeck, Leroy Belick and Earl LeBrasseur voted "yes".

Olesak repeated his earlier motion. Tenyson again supported it and a vote was taken. For reasons he did not wish to make public, LeBrasseur this time changed his vote and the motion was approved by a 4 to 2 vote.

Attorney Patrick Kelly, who was in attendance at both meetings commented, "I hate to see the county lay down and play dead in the face of pressure from the State of Michigan. To me it just shows that if Lansing squeezes, we must excuse ourselves."

The only recourse now is for townships to appeal the decision to the state as separate units, or if that fails to those who appeared at the March boards of review to appeal as individuals.

DNR shooting on Garden

A Department of Natural Resources boat searching the Kate's Bay area Thursday morning for illegally set gill nets was struck in the right side by a shot apparently from a high power rifle located on shore.

When the additional men arrived, Gilhart said, "Several people managed to get around into the woods and began throwing rocks at the officers." The rocks, he claimed, were four to eight inches in diameter. Gilhart himself was struck four times.

A state vehicle, Ronald Gibbs, 18, Lincoln, plead not guilty during arraignment to three counts of simple assault.

Prior to the incident, three persons were arrested on charges leveled by the DNR. Philip Head, 23, Fayette, was arraigned this week on charges of failing to stop for marine inspection and resisting arrest. He plead not guilty.

Joseph Herro, 18, Fayette, plead not guilty during his arraignment on charges of malicious destruction of property on Ansel's Point.

At least two gangs of nets were lifted, as well, from the Kate's Bay area. Answering charges made by area fishermen of Indian descent, Gilhart said that, at the time of the incident, no one approached DNR officers claiming Indian rights to gill net fishing.

"But we do not recognize Indian fishing rights in Delta County," he added. "We can only go by what the courts tell us and we have no decision relative to Indian fisheries in this county. Of course, we will do whatever the courts advise."

Gilhart said Wednesday that the DNR has placed several additional men on patrol in that area as State Police continue their investigation.

Forty-six entries in Bicentennial celebration here

The 14th meeting of the Bicentennial Committee was held Thursday evening, April 28th in the old Armory. Ed Doyle, chairman, presided. To date, forty-six entries have registered, including the Mic Band from St. John. June 14th is flag day. Everyone is urged to display the American Flag. The 4-H'ers are selling flags. July 4th and 11th are Sundays when the individual churches will have special bicentennial services. Doyle Township reported that they are making plans for a Homecoming on August 2nd. Townships were told they could have a booth for the blessing of the fleet. Ed Doyle said there were 12 Maple seedlings available for planting. It was suggested that each of the Townships plant one. The original tree was planted in 1776. In 1876, a seedling was planted from the original tree and the present seedlings are from the latter tree. It was suggested that all Organizations and Townships contribute some article to put in the corner stone of the new court house. Memorial Day is a good time for this ceremony. The date for the next meeting will be announced later.

Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Honored by Joint Commission

As an accredited hospital, Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital has received recognition from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) in observance of National Hospital Week, July 9-15, 1976. The letter of commendation, signed by John D. Poterfield, M.D., Director of the Joint Commission contained the following: "The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals commends Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital for striving to deliver the optimum in health care to the community. Your participation in the process of voluntary accreditation is an expression of a professionally motivated commitment to deliver a high quality of patient care. The fact that you are accredited is evidence that your efforts toward this goal are successful." Accreditation is awarded to hospitals that are found to be in substantial compliance with the Joint Commission's high standards for the quality of patient care provided. The standards are considered to be optimal achievable and represent goals of excellence against which a facility can measure itself and be measured by the Joint Commission's accreditation survey team. Voluntary accreditation has made a significant contribution to this country's unmatched excellence in health care. It continues the American tradition of self-reliance and it supports the belief that positive motivation is the most effective impetus to change.

Tom Shampine

What Men Do

by Davis Holmstrom

Tom Shampine once told his young granddaughter that he was the first white man to sail across Lake Michigan in a bathtub. Probably no man, white or otherwise, has ever sailed the lake in a bathtub, but the story fascinated her. Although his granddaughter is all grown up now, he's still telling stories which fascinate her and his many, many friends. Discriminating between those that are true and those he's telling to "pull you leg" is sometimes difficult, but always fun. Shampine has a wealth of experience to draw from. In his lifetime, he's been a musician, an artist, a blacksmith, a horseman and during more than 30 years, a tobacco salesman. The story of the successful tobacco salesman—verified by his many awards—is the story he chose, proudly, to tell us. Shampine was a representative of the United States Tobacco Company, whose territory covered the Upper Peninsula and parts of northern Wisconsin. He travelled by car to the many stores and mines in his area five days a week, making the journey home on weekends by train. "When I started, our company was big in the snuff business," he said. "I would take samples to the men in the mines and then sell the best products in the stores. "I predicted, when Skoll chewing tobacco first came out, that it would be our top product. I was the first to sell it in the United States and, within three or four years, my prediction came true." Shampine said the company also sold pens and candy. "They told us which products they wanted us to push and we then tried to get them into as many stores as possible. I most liked calling on the stores and all of the different people I got to know. In fact, it goes to show more people in other towns that I did in Manistique. "I liked to meet people and it felt good when I could accomplish what the company asked me to do. "The secret to his success, he said, was gaining the confidence of those he sold to. "I'd go in to a store when there were several other salesmen there and I'd never say anything. I'd look and see what they needed and I'd go and get it. They trusted me. But, he cautioned, "If you ever overdid it, they lost confidence in you." Just like his company, Shampine backed and used the products he pushed. As he sat and talked with us last week he told how he had smoked pipes and cigars until recently, when he switched to chewing tobacco. "I'm chewing snuff right now," he said and chuckled. "I bet you couldn't even tell." His reason? "It's easier on the system. The sale of snuff is up. It fulfills the same desire as smoking but it's easier on the system. And farmers and miners chew it for the safety factor. There's no danger of starting a fire." As the years passed and one Ford or Chevrolet after another were out under Shampine's use, he saw many changes in the industry. Many of the mines were eliminated, many of the small stores were overpowered by today's supermarkets and much of the personal contact between salesmen and storekeepers was lost. In spite of the many changes, however, Shampine still gives advice to the salesman that will work today. "Actually, there isn't any such thing as a born salesman. It's a thing you have to learn. You've got to be able to talk to people and to profit by your mistakes. Bosses don't usually make many mistakes. They very seldom pick a bad man. Their interview is the thing that would tell whether a man is going to be a good salesman or not. "Then, you've got to gain the respect of the people that you come in contact with. And you gain more respect by being a gentleman than by telling stories. I never said a wrong thing to a man or a woman in a store and they did test me. I never would tell anyone a traveling salesman's story. That would lose their respect. "Shampine's selling days are over. He no longer pushes tobacco for fun or profit. But he is far from being an idle man. He'd go soft, he said, if he didn't work. Sitting in the living room, we can see his artwork hanging on the walls, overlapping one another, and he tells us that he is involved in three separate art classes. Since he retired three years ago, he has gotten up at 6:30 every morning to visit the farm where he raises horses. Afterwards he spends making horse shoes in his garage. He spends his evenings much as he did when he was on the road, going to softball games, watching TV or painting until almost mid-night. Come this summer and you'll find Tom and his wife at the racetracks in Lower Michigan. He won't be betting on the horses or grooming them in the stables, he'll be riding them. And that's the truth.

Three different shapes, sizes, and styles of small economy cars. See 'em all and pick the one that's right for you—at your Wisconsin/Upper Peninsula Ford dealer.

Pinto. America's best-selling subcompact. Ford Pinto packs a bigger engine, a wider stance, and more road-hugging weight than any of the leading imports. Even at that, Pinto is still sticker-priced less than many imports.

Mustang II. America's favorite small specialty car. Racy shape. Rich interior. Features you find in expensive European sports cars, including overhead-cam engine. And like the Pinto, Mustang II's 4-speed stick shift, rack-and-pinion steering, solid state ignition, and front disc brakes all come standard.

Maverick. America's proven family compact. Small, easy to handle, economical—but room for five in the 4-door sedan. Plus the weight and roadability you want for highway travel. Manistique High School

With the close of the 5th marking period last Friday the countdown has begun. There are just a few weeks left in the 1975-76 school year. For Seniors, high school days are nearly over. Their thoughts are on scholarships and college, dorms and new friends. For them, this year marks a great change in their lives and their futures. Underclassmen, too, are anxious to get out. They may be thinking ahead to next year, dreaming of plans for the summer or looking forward to jobs. Whatever the reasons, with the arrival (hopefully) of spring and the final marking period, the beginning of the end has come. Perhaps more of this feeling will be present this year as we see the old school come down. Even though old, the school gives a feeling of continuity to life in Manistique. It's been there for years and seems like it always will be.

The building we are all used to will be replaced by a new one next year but the school remains. The students are the school, with all their hopes and dreams in life. "Perspectives on Death" may be an unusual topic for high school seniors, but in present-day society it needs to be discussed more frequently. Avoiding it often leads to unnecessary fears. For these reasons, Mrs. LaPointe's Advanced English 12 class recently finished a unit on death. The program, which is in its third year, includes a field trip to the Hewitt Funeral Home, questionnaires on attitudes toward death and guest speakers. This year guests included: Father Frank Lenz, and Reverend Levin, clergymen; Michelle Dougovito, nursing and counseling; Phil Jones, psychologist; Pat Kelly, attorney and Frank Hewitt, funeral director. Another important aspect of the unit has been independent studies on cultural differences in death, such as burial customs and the like. These reports are given orally and followed by class discussion. The topics are varied and provide more in-depth information on subjects of interest. The unit has been interesting and enjoyable for the students involved and community support has been tremendous. The guest speakers, especially, are to be thanked for giving of their time and effort to inform the class. Last night the music department gave its annual Spring Concert. Featured groups were the eighth grade and high Recently, while discussing the blessings of an early spring on our wobbling deer herd, Wildlife Biologist Dick Aertila revealed a suspicion shared by many biologists that Upper Peninsula are indeed tougher than Southern cousins. That tough years of association with deer and long winters. Northern Michigan white-tails have adjusted physiologically to such discomforts. Such qualified surmise gave way to wild imagination and from the mental debris, there emerged the ultimate in Upper Peninsula deer.

Both sexes would have antlers, of course, thus eliminating the annual hassle about shooting girl deer and lifting undue pressure from all activities remotely associated with the DNR. Contrary to the antler cycle, horn-shoes would first appear in early winter, develop in direct proportion to snow depths and body weight and be shed on April 21. They would be completely circular, giving tracking poachers an option and cutting illegal kills in half. These horn-shoes would enable deer to roam freely throughout winter, elude dogs bent on mayhem and simplify the spring census...a tally of every 4th hornshoe providing indisputable data. For night travel, one-way eyeline would provide vision while absorbing headlights and radar antlers could automatically calculate vehicle speed to extract driver negligence at deer crossings. A digestive system capable of extracting nutrition from pine stumps, spruce cones and snow drifts would fill bellies, control red squirrel populations and hasten spring. And finally, glands which exude human scent upon request, would all but eliminate natural predation and be a positive step towards repeal of the bounty system.

The Light Side of Outside

Considering it's taken almost a century to develop a slightly tougher Upper Peninsula deer, unfortunately it will be years before this super-animal will evolve completely. It looks like we'll have to continue the current game plan of balancing the herd with available groceries, keeping our night eyes peeled for shining eyes and shining lights, and occasionally pausing to thank the Master Biologist for all the creature he has bestowed upon Northern Michigan.

Corky Rose

The Cook's in the Kitchen

by Doris Holmstrom

Like her husband, Carolyn (Corky) Rose has some very definite ideas about city politics. They are so strong, in fact, that she once considered running for a seat on the city council herself.

"I have some very strong feelings on the way our government works," she said. "And we absolutely do discuss them. Doug knows where I stand and he takes into consideration how I feel."

"I'm a flag waver from way back. Last spring I considered running myself because I was so concerned about the things that were going on. But, realistically, I couldn't have spent the time at it with a five and a six year old child."

For that reason, who has remained in the background reading each agenda, studying the issues and answering the phone calls.

"He does get an occasional crank phone call and some calls in the middle of the night by people who won't identify themselves." Those calls bother her.

"I'm very sensitive," she confessed. "It hurts me when others don't agree with Doug and won't discuss it openly. I don't think he's an agitator. He's just honest."

"If you try and do a good job, you put a lot of thought and effort into doing what's right. Many people don't realize the time a councilman puts in. He has to research every issue with an open mind and without having to tie anybody about it before coming to a decision."

"He does that. He can look himself in the mirror and he can sleep at night."

She makes those remarks with confidence. She seems to know her husband of nine years very well.

Before they met, Corky worked for several years as a social worker after graduation from Michigan State University. She was employed by the state as a children's worker overseeing adoptions, foster home assignments and delinquent children in three counties. Later, in Lansing, she served as Assistant Interstate Consultant handling international and interstate children's cases.

After Lansing and a stint in San Francisco licensing foster homes for the city and county, she went back to Roscommon as a children's worker in two counties. There she met Doug.

Both, she said, are avid skiers who visited the slopes at least four times a week in those days. To make a long story short, he swooshed her off her feet and they were married 10 days after he received notice of his transfer to Manistique. They spent their honeymoon camping in the Great North Country as they tried to find a place to live.

"A home and a family was always my ultimate," she said. "I loved my work and I'm not saying that I wouldn't do it again, but I don't miss it. I like being at home. I appreciate my home and I don't feel a void in my life for never having gone places. I waited a long time for this."

At home, she enjoys crocheting, knitting,

What's going on

by Marg Chandanaia 341-6856

The cold weather we have been experiencing must have driven everyone back into the winter hibernations as not too many people called with news this week. There will be many events this month, such as the last graduation in our old school, and I would appreciate a call from you.

Mr. and Mrs. William Genz and children, Billy, Cheryl, Daryl and Stevie from Horseheads, New York, recently returned to their home after a weeks visit with their folks. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer (Myrtle) Gerz of Riverview and with their grandmother, Mrs. Josie LaVigne, Enonette, to Manistique, the Genz's visited in Oshkosh, with Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Bev) Holms.

While here Bill celebrated his 13th birthday and Cheryl her 12th with a party. Guests who attended were Mary Jo, Billy, Donnie, Mark and Michelle Hoholik, all cousins to the Genz children.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jensen, 700 Michigan Avenue, celebrated their 40th Wedding Anniversary April 30 with dinner at the Ramada. Guests included their children, Mr. and Mrs. Bob (Arlene) Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Donie (Dorothy) Rochefort and Ms. Donna Jensen.

Ms. Shirley Olson was the guest of honor at a surprise bridal shower held last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Terry Evinich. It was not hard to fool Ms. Olson as the hostesses were her fellow workers from the County Clerk's office crocheting and sewing all of her own clothes.

"I would be less than honest if I said that the kitchen is my favorite room. Doug is a better cook than I am. I have to rely on Betty Crocker, Pillsbury and my friends. But he's very easy to please. If I give Doug peanut butter and jelly on homemade bread, the frozen kind that I just have to heat, that would be the best thing."

The recipe that she chose to share with us are two that she "borrowed from a neighbor and Doug's boss."

PICKLED BEETS from DOROTHY LOVE
6-8 beets
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup vinegar
1/4 cup water
1 teaspoon salt

Cook beets until tender. Chill and slip the skins off.

Combine 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup vinegar, 1/4 cup water and 1 teaspoon salt. Bring mixture to boil. Pour over cooked beets. This mixture covers about 6 to 8 cooked and sliced beets.

PICKLES from LOUELLA WOLFE
2 quarts cucumbers (not peeled)
1 onion
2 tablespoons salt
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup vinegar

Slice 2 quarts cucumbers (not peeled). Slice 1 onion. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons salt over and let stand two hours. While they are setting, stir occasionally.

Drain water. Mix 1 1/2 cups sugar and 1/2 cup vinegar, stir into cucumbers and onions. Place in jars and freeze.

Those recipes are both good and simple, she said.

Aside from cooking, Mrs. Rose also enjoys camping, working on the couples new home, and pheasant hunting with her husband and is a member of the Manistique Homemakers Club and the Lincoln school PTO.

Occasionally, she substitutes on bowling and volleyball teams and in what she calls her "great neighborhood" she takes an active part in the rummage sales, carnivals and so on that take place there.

and abstract office and she believed a union meeting was taking place.

Games were played and prizes awarded to Phyllis Hepper, Mrs. Olson, Sigrid Doyle, Christine Swagart and Eleanor Jackson. The door prize was won by Sigrid Doyle. The marriage vows will be taken by Ms. Olson and Donald Tennes on May 15th.

Ms. Myrna Larsen, Green Bay, has been a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. Larsen of Houghton Avenue and her sisters and brother.

Mrs. Helen Nelson was a guest over Easter at the homes of her children, Mrs. Rosette Herrero, Mrs. Robert Judi Saenger and Kerry Nelson of Gulliver. Helen is now residing in Battle Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Kathy) Corwin and children visited friends and relatives in Milwaukee, over the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd (Laura Lee) Arrowood from Greenfield, Wisconsin are here, after attending the funeral of Lloyd's uncle, Charles Arrowood, and visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cousineau Sr. and Mrs. Mayn Cousineau of the River Road.

If anyone has news they would like to contribute to the "What's Going On" column, please give me a call at 341-6856 or drop it in the mail to me at 220 N. Third Street. Have a nice day, everyday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hentschel and Gladys Mueller spent the weekend at Boyne Highland at a gift show.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Gardner and son Doug, and Mrs. Ada Kelly drove to Antigo, Wisconsin to visit Mrs. Kelly's daughter, Mrs. Rosella Seaman on Friday.

They returned to Manistique on Sunday.

Mr. Elmer Lundstrom has just returned from a beautiful ten day vacation through Tennessee and Virginia, via through his son and daughter-in-law, Charles and Jan Lundstrom and their family. They returned to eighty degree weather in Grand Rapids but were soon surprised by a spring snow storm which we missed in Manistique!

Michael, Mitchell and Mia Weber have returned to their home in Marquette after spending the past week at the home of their father, Rod Weber on Indian Lake and with their grandparents, Robert Weber and E.H. LeBrasseur's. Their mother, Margot, and Terry Nummele were in Atlanta making a slide presentation and demonstration at the National Science and Environmental Conference.

Earl H. LeBrasseur who had been attending the Governor's Commission on Aging in Lansing flew into Marquette on Friday night to meet Mrs. LeBrasseur who was attending a library meeting at XMU. On Saturday, Mrs. LeBrasseur was treated to a surprise birthday dinner at the Midway Supper Club by her children.

While the national average for home ownership is 65 percent, that in Michigan's Upper Peninsula is 78 percent.

High blood pressure?

High blood pressure - there aren't any signs or symptoms you don't feel it inside you, you don't know you have it. But high blood pressure may kill you. It's one of the biggest causes of death in the country. 23 million Americans have it. One in seven adults, even children, get it. With odds like that, someone you know, maybe even you, has high blood pressure. Imagine suffering from kidney failure, crippled from stroke, or dying from heart disease. That's what can happen if you don't treat high blood pressure. Treatment, maybe just a pill a day, can keep high blood pressure from leading to these terrible consequences. But treatment is not cure. It must be continued. Get your blood pressure checked at least once a year and make sure your friends and family get theirs checked. If it's high, make sure you understand what the doctor says and stick with treatment. Don't stop treatment because you don't think it's worth it. It is. Since May is national high blood pressure month, the Luce-Mackinac-Alger Schoolcraft District Health Department, Schoolcraft Branch, will be conducting free blood pressure checks at the Post Office on May 6th and 13th from 10 - 12 a.m. and 1 - 3 p.m. High blood pressure... treat it and live.

Litter is trash

As the snows of winter melted in our area, the beauties of spring didn't necessarily seem to follow. Anyone driving through the Hiawatha National Forest or to any of the popular smelt dipping spots should be appalled at the garbage left behind by thoughtless people. Litter seems too kind a word to use to describe the bottles and trash scattered carelessly along the roads and the banks of the streams.

Along with the usual bottles and cans, are entire bags of household garbage tossed from moving cars to bring on impact and far further pollute the environment. Most of the littering we suspect is an unthinking casual act but when bags of garbage are tossed along the side of the road we believe it shows a definite inability to think. ... Since people apparently don't think of littering in terms of damaging the environment, perhaps it should be thought of in terms of economics. Consider each bottle, can or other piece of garbage you discard as an expense. Each piece of garbage takes time to pick up - usually the time of some state employee. We don't need to tell you whose tax dollars are paying that person three or four dollars an hour to do the job.

Maybe a more direct economic incentive is needed. Oregon passed a law two years ago which in part placed a five cent deposit on all beverage bottles and cans. Since that time litter along their roads has decreased by over 70 percent.

The amount of litter was decreased for two reasons. First, a lot of people couldn't throw the five cents away, there is always somebody close behind smart enough to pick it up.

The law still has bottlers and retailers howling over the expense and trouble involved in redeeming the bottles and cans, but it cleaned up the area. A similar proposal is now being considered by the Michigan legislature. We hope that the legislators give careful consideration to the results seen in Oregon.

One bright spot in this garbage-filled mess is that some people care enough to pick up the junk that others have left behind. Last week members of the Precisionettes drill team spent several hours cleaning up the debris left along the roads by others.

Sadly, their work and concern is diminished by those who have little concern for the land. While driving home through an area they had just cleaned, some of the volunteers spotted a new crop of bottles and cans already sprouting.

If It Fitz Opening Day Fans

by Jim Fitzgerald

As the world's greatest baseball fan, I have always thought had thoughts about people who never miss the season's opening game.

Most of them think if the Detroit Tigers have a Rusty Staub in right field, the manager should call a plumber. Dumb. But before I proceed onward, let me establish my credentials. I once risked my life for the Detroit Tigers.

It happened in the summer of 1945. My heart was in Briggs Stadium but my body was in Germany. The Tigers were winning, thanks to guys named Newhouser and trout, and despite guys named Hostetter and Outlaw. A pennant and a world's championship were a definite, delightful possibility. And I was thousands of miles away, getting the scores a week late.

There was only one thing to do. The war in Germany was over but there was still fighting in Japan. If I volunteered for duty in the South Pacific, I'd get 30 days "recuperation leave" at home on my way east. Of course, as my astonished buddies pointed out, I could get my head blown off in the Pacific while it was safe in Germany.

I didn't hesitate. "Sign me up," I told the sergeant. "I will recuperate in Briggs Stadium or in front of a radio listening to Harry Heilmann tell how great are my Tigers."

I turned out marvelously. The Japanese heard I was coming and surrendered. Chuck Hostetter fell down between third and home but the Tigers edged the Cubs and they were champs. I had been prepared to die for my team but I never heard a shot fired. How sweet is that!

But back to opening day. The fancy people go to the first game to flout labels and label flouts. They don't know a foul ball from a dropkick. They should stay home for the same reason I don't go to church on Easter. When the action gets interesting - World Series or Resurrection - the seats should be reserved for the faithful who feed the collection plate on all those dull days when the Tigers are battling for better locker locations next year, and the person is plugging rummage sales.

But the reason I always resented opening day fans is not because they're too good for bubblegum cards. One thing nice about all sorts of snobs - they usually don't speak to the snobs at the bar. So I can speak to them with great charity, if not understanding. If they don't like baseball unless God, Milken throws the first pitch, that's their business. To each his own, and all that sweetness.

My real beef with the baseball snobs was they made me jealous. They were always there on opening day, and I was always 65 miles away, working. In the never-ending quest for fresh money, the Tigers always open the season on Tuesday afternoon. If open on Friday night, a fan might drop in simply because he likes baseball and see an opening game by mistake. This and see an opening game by mistake. This and see an opening game by mistake.

$5 they would have got anyway - but it would also dismay the fan who could never understand why the club brought Milken in from Florida.

Anyway, this year was different. No jealousy of snobs. I now work just a few blocks from Tiger Stadium, and not too hard. I told myself it would be a fine idea to take my little boy to the opening game and then write a Walton Family column about it. My little boy is 6 foot 3 and he wondered why I never took him to baseball games when he really was little.

"You weren't big enough to go get beer," I explained.

My son's not the baseball freak I am. He was busy waiting me at the ballpark, he stopped at the art museum. It was closed due to the municipal shorts. I forbade him to draw any meaningful contrasts between the 48,000 people at the ballpark and the 400 at the museum. If there's anything I can't stand on my hot dogs, it's guilt.

I read the sports pages to help me make intelligent conversation. So when Astute Rodriguez came to bat, I was able to explain why he will hit better this year. "The experts say he has stopped hitting the ball to right, and is pulling everything left field," I said.

Rodriguez immediately doubled down the right field line. "Also stopped at the zoo," my little boy said. "It was also closed."

Featured on the sports page this morning was a photo of Al Kaline. He's the newcomer Rusty Staub around right field. For 20 years, Kaline was acknowledged as the best fielder in the business. Experts agreed he had everything except color. Kaline is now the Tigers color announcer on TV.

Anyway, in the last inning, Rusty hit an easy fly to the sun and was thrown out. 1-0. The error was given to Kaline, not telling Rusty there is a sun in Detroit. The manager should have called a plumber.

Trout fisherman's luck not so good on opening day.

Manistique trout fishermen reported indifferent luck on streams of the county Saturday - opening day of the trout fishing season.

Despite the early disappearance of snow in the woods and lack of heavy late April rains, local nimrods found the trout not too receptive to their efforts. A few reported successful fishing.

Weekly Special

Who's due Hughes' dues?

by Jack Anderson With Joe Spear

WASHINGTON - The Internal Revenue Service is asking some questions about the late Howard Hughes. The answers will determine what will happen to his $2 billion empire.

Here are the questions: Was Hughes competent during his final years? Did he run his own financial empire? Or did he associate to make the multimillion-dollar decision for him? Was any of his money diverted improperly into the wrong hands?

We don't have the answers, but we have uncovered some fascinating clues.

The late billionaire was bedridden for the last two and a half years. He was flown into Acapulco on February 11 after elaborate advance arrangements for his arrival. Local officials were bribed not to check his party too closely. We learned, for example, of one $5,000 bribe and a request for another $5,000 bribe. We don't know if the second payment was made.

Hughes was limp, with his arms dangling, when he arrived. He was unable to sign papers during his 32-day stay. His signature on his Mexican tourist card was forged.

This is important, because it raises a question about any recent documents bearing his name. Handwriting experts will have to verify carefully whether his signatures are fake or fraud.

We also made a strange discovery in Acapulco. The story was put out that Hughes "paid $100,000 a week for the penthouse of the Princess Hotel." It included the presidential suite, Roman baths, a board room and bedrooms with velvet-covered walls. But Hughes was confined in Room 2012. This, astonishingly, was the smallest, least imposing, poorest located room in the complex. His aides got the fanciest rooms, with the seaside view.

The day after Hughes was flown to Houston, he Mexican authorities showed up at the hotel to question the aides who had been left behind. They encountered an aide named Clyde Crow in the lobby. He immediately telephoned the penthouse and made a strange statement. "Wash your hands," he told his associates, "and come on down."

The police suspected that the remark, "Wash your hands" was some kind of signal. By the time they reached the penthouse, they found three plastic bags stuffed with shredded documents. Thousands of documents had been turned into confetti.

Watch on West: Almost invariably the worst waste is found in the armed forces. Military procurement officers seem to have a cavalier attitude toward the taxpayers' money. Enough never seems to be sufficient; they are constantly submitting requisitions for more. Sometimes the waste is highly technical. This makes it harder for the taxpayers to understand and, therefore, easier for the military brass to get away with.

For example, we have obtained a confidential auditor's report on the Army's new twin-engine helicopter. The name is intended to discourage taxpayers from wanting to know anything more about it. It is called the Utility Tactical Transport Aircraft System. This is too big a mouthful for the Army brass, so they refer to it simply as the UTTAS.

The Army wants to buy 1,117 UTTAS helicopters, and the taxpayers are going to have to pay about $3 billion apiece for them. That is three-billion-three hundred thousand dollars of your money.

Yet the auditor's report states that the UTTAS weighs too much, which keeps it from hovering satisfactorily. It also vibrates too much.

But it's the cost figures that disturb us the most. Back in 1971, the Pentagon promised that the UTTAS would be 17 percent less expensive to operate than the UH-1 helicopter, which it is supposed to replace. Now the latest figures show that the UTTAS will be about 25 percent more expensive to operate than the UH-1.

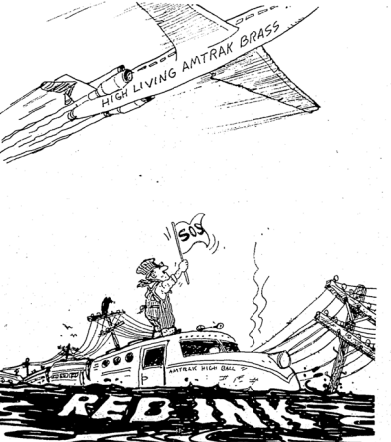

Although the UTTAS is going to cost the taxpayers at least $4 million more than the original projections, Congress is expected to go ahead with the appropriation. Congressmen who deliver loud speeches against the waste of paperclips sometimes defend the most extravagant weapons.

Secretariat Syntax: Our informants inside the Federal Energy Administration have sent us two internal memos, which tell their own story.

In the first one, section chief J. Gene Curella declares: "Starting Wednesday, we will reconstitute the staggered lunch hour routine. I will again remind those of you who don't follow the rules I have set up for this office that you are treating very closely to being suspended without pay or transferred to another unit."

The following day, Curella issued another memo. It declares gravely: "I am officially asking that Mrs. Jackie Johnson of my staff be transferred to another division... The reasons include the following:

"During a morning staff meeting on a very sensitive matter (namely, the lunch hours scheduling), she abruptly left the room and uttered 'BLEEP!' as if to impugn my managerial technique."

Letters to The Editor

Letters from readers are welcome. All letters to the editor must be signed; however, names will be withheld if requested. Views given are not necessarily those of The Pioneer-Tribune.

Dear Editor:

A couple of weeks ago some man wrote a letter to the editor complaining about the high pressure advertising used in promotion of a Bethel Baptist evangelist. The Baptist Church is to be commended for this high pressure advertising for God. What is more beautiful... people still have their choice of going in or not going to raise.

Quite frankly, it is my opinion that the vast majority of churches do not high pressure enough.

Sincerely, And not a Baptist.

Dear Editor:

A Jennie Behred wrote a good letter in last week's Tribune. However, she does raise a point I would question. Undoubtedly she was not living in the days of Adolph Hitler, a man who obviously did not have "all his marbles." Yet, Hitler with a percentage of less than 5 percent of the German people ran Germany and butchered millions of Jews and others. A small percentage is a terrible threat. Also, she should remember the college riots and bloodshed of the 60's when a small percentage of troublemakers, less than 5 percent caused so much uncalled for violence.

She should realize that even 3 percent bad teachers is dangerous. I had 3 apples 100 youngsters can make ten more bad apples quite easily. She should realize that the citizens and taxpayers are entitled to top, dedicated performance from those who are getting pretty darn good pay for 6 months of work, more than the working man gets who pays their wages.

A second excellent letter in last week's Tribune by Mr. Bellore raises a point also. Mr. Bellore said he has not seen to pursue the matter of a youngster at the Lakeside school who reported that his teacher turned on the TV, left the room, and returned because he had to kids in school. Well, even as a taxpayer and citizen I don't feel I am getting my money's worth by having a well paid teacher goof off and leaves the supervision and teaching up to a TV set. I don't imagine Mr. Bellore thinks he is getting his money's worth either.

Certainly the courageous youngster who wrote the letter of allegations a couple of weeks ago should have these allegations thoroughly investigated by an independent committee, not Supt. Bonifas or the school board. A committee from the New Youth Council or PTA would seem the best approach. Concerned citizen.

To who it may concern,

In regard to the raise in the cost of the use of city water, the raise is outrageous. Why wasn't the amount set at 10,000 gallons, with the raise in price, and anyone using more than that pay for it. Why pick on the low income people, and the ones on social security, who just can't afford this raise.

Also why should a family that has only one can of garbage be assessed the same amount as one that has 5 or more cans or bags?

What does the exchange of mayors benefit the taxpayer, and why isn't the expense of this in the audit paid in the Tribune?

What has been done for the city in the last four years? The streets are terrible. For the population of this city the manager is paid too high a salary. Also, too many people are employed. This adds to the taxes on the people.

Publisher's corner Flowers need protection

by Frank Senger

Over the past few months, we have had a number of persons urge us to write something about wild flowers and the need to protect them. It seems that it is hard for many people to imagine that wild flowers do need protection. Particularly at this time of year our woods are covered with such variety and abundance of wild flowers that it doesn't seem possible that they might be in some danger.

I've always appreciated wild flowers, but never knew too much about them. They are just one of the many signs of Spring that you tend to take for granted.

Well, on further investigation at the urging of some of our good readers, I find that wild flowers should be taken for granted.

Although some of our protected species of plants are still plentiful in areas that are remote from human habitation and relatively inaccessible, others have become scarce, especially in the southern half of the state. Fortunately, we live in a remote area, but in order to preserve what we have, many of the wild flowers around us are protected and are not to be picked or disturbed.

Further increase in their abundance can only be achieved by preservation of favorable habitat and strict law observance. However laws must have public support to be effective, and we print this for those people who read it will tell their neighbors and make them more aware of Michigan's protected wild flowers.

Among the wild flowers of Michigan that are protected are the American Lotus, Flowering Dogwood, Large Gloveleaf White Trillium, Trailing Arbutus, Bloodroot and Pipsissewa (commonly called ground pines), Michigan Holly, the Fringed and Closed Gentian and Climbing Bittersweet.

In Michigan, the Orchid family is also protected. There are about 50 species of orchids and lady's slippers and other orchids should never be picked because few of their species germinate and the plants do not mature and bloom until they are 6 to 8 years old.

The next time you're in the woods, look but don't pick any of these wild flowers. Leave them so that others, including generations yet to be born, can enjoy them also.

Board of Education Garden

By Mrs. Eleanor LaBette 644-2522

At the last meeting of the Big Bay De Noc School Board all members were present. Minutes of the last meeting were read and corrected to read the Board granted a year's leave extension to Gloria Handl as specified in Art XIII, Sections A, B, C, D, of the Master Contract, and so approved unanimously.

Tom Ryan, bus driver from the Forest Glenn area, expressed some of the concerns that the people have about the safety of their children while being transported to and from school. He specifically mentioned the lack of communication in case of a bus breakdown. The Board indicated that the communication system and a new bus were included in the tentative budget for 1976-77. The Board refused to recognize the Upper Peninsula Education Association as the bargaining agent for the Local Education Association. The local association did indicate that a representative election will be held. A conference on the matter will be held on May 13, at 11:30 a.m. in the office of administration.

The Board by inaction became a participant with the State of Michigan in a Master Key Anti-Trust Litigation against the "Lock Company" brought by the Michigan Attorney General, Frank Kelly. The Board noted that a school board election is scheduled for June 14. The Board called attention to the fact that candidates for the school board seat must file their petitions filed by May 17, at 4 P.M. Any qualified and registered elector of the school district may file a petition seeking a seat on the School Board.

The Board authorized the payment of $5,000 on the principal and $36,443 interest plus fees of $72.60 totaling $63,516.35 due May 1 on the school debt. The Board also authorized repayment of $10,722 plus $13,914 totaling $24,637 to the School Board Loan Program. The $58,938 was a reimbursement from the state to the school district, for the purpose of paying debt service obligations incurred by borrowing capital outlay.

The Board requested the superintendent to set up a review of the districts liability coverage prior to the Board requesting school insurance bids.

The Board received payment of $2,569 principal and interest due from the sale of the Cooks school. The funds were deposited in the Building and Site Fund. The Board refunded the Petty Cash Fund.

The Board received a report from the superintendent on the senior class trip to Chicago. The trip is scheduled for May 3 through May 8. Seniors will stay at the Palmer House while in Chicago.

The Board ordered bills against the district totaling $5,371.20 be paid. The Board heard a report from the superintendent on the various fund balances and the financial status of the school district. The superintendent indicated that because of the 6-8 percent inflation, the Governors Statutory reductions of the State Aid due the school district, payment of $1,573,733 accounts and the slowed tax returns, the school district faces a shortage of $65,000 which the district will have to raise to meet

Revenue Losses
Contracted 74-75 accounts and not budgeted 1975-76	$47,238.00
Statutory Reductions,
Governor's order	13,186.00
Estimated Revenue reductions (taxes, ect.)	5,000.00
Interest of notes	3,271.00
Total deficit	68,695.00

The superintendent also submitted a tentative budget for the Board's consideration. The budget request is for $718,444. It is presumed that this sum would be raised by 9.4 mills from allocation and 15 mills through general levy, an increase of 434 mills on the district SEV of $18,624,000. The 4.3 mills would mean an increase of $434 per thousand dollars on the state equalized value. Assuming that the average home is equalized at $5,000, the tax bill for that home would be increased $21.70.

The Board is aware that the request for an increase is substantial. However taking into consideration the following acts the School Board feels that the request is not out of order.

- 1) When this school district organized in 1966, the district voted 5 mills for operation. In 1972 the district voted an additional 1 mill and has transferred by the vote of the district, 2.66 mills from the debt levy to operation for a total of 10.66 mills. In the meantime the debt levy has been reduced from 7.25 to 5.60 mills.
- 2) The superintendent intended to explore the possibility of two tax collections, July 1, and the balance January 15. The summer tax collection would receive the school district borrowing money at the start of the school year, and ease the paying of taxes in January for the school year.

its obligations, prior to July 1, the start of the new fiscal year.

The superintendent was forced to borrow $140,000 dollars to meet the salaries and other major expenditures. The superintendent will invite the township supervisors, school board members and interested persons to attend a meeting for a review of school finances and possible adoption of the tax collections proposal.

2) The School district valuation has increased some $10,000 which multiplied by 5 mills would be $50,000 additional tax dollars. However it must be remembered that this increase is offset by proportionate decrease in state aid.

3) It also should be noted that the school has expanded the curriculum by offering courses which make school more relevant to the young people by adding:

- 1- Auto mechanics (Vocational Ed.)
- 2- Vocal and Instrumental Music
- 3- Home Ec. and Family Living
- 4- Physical Education program for both the high and elementary school
- 5- Complete reference library
- 6- Expanded Athletic Program

4) Today, the Big Bay De Noc School is 95 percent complete toward accreditation which presently seems unattainable, because of the district financial position.

5) Because of the under-funding the district is constantly 6-8 months delinquent in meeting major commitments, which makes the budgeting process impossible.

6) Statewide there are only thirteen school districts out of 530 school districts which levy less operational millage than Big Bay De Noc. In Delta Schoolcraft District we are the lowest. These figures are taken from the 1974-75 Michigan Ranking of Public Schools.

The purpose of these statistics is to show how the district fares with available funds.

CANNING LID SUPPLY TO ALMOST DOUBLE. The supply of home canning lids for 1976 will be almost double the amount produced last year, according to Nancy Harvey Steorts, special assistant for consumer affairs to the Secretary of Agriculture.

The increase is due to additional lines placed into production by the traditional canning lid manufacturers, plus the entry of new manufacturers in the market.

Based on figures supplied by a majority of the manufacturers, more than four billion replacement lids will be available for the 1976 home canning season. This compares with just over two billion produced last year.

The total number of lids for this year will include nearly three billion regular size lids, more than one-third billion wide mouth lids, well over one-half billion regular caps (lids and rings sold together), and nearly 150 million wide mouth caps available during the 1976 home canning season.

The pattern of distribution follows that of previous years with lids being shipped into southern states first and moving northward as the canning season approaches. However, some manufacturers will ship to all sections routinely with heavier concentration of shipments when actual canning is underway.

Medical Care

Hi Everyone:

Who would ever think we'd be getting snow now? If having Indian summer means getting snow in May, I would rather it starts snowing in September because by this time of the year, most of us have had it with the snow bit. It seems good to be outside to work in gardens.

We are getting prepared for this Bicentennial year now as you have probably noticed by the two flags flying out front. One is the original 13 star flag and the other is the 50 star flag. They sure do look pretty out there and our maintenance man, Dick Corwin, put an artistic touch to our patio furniture as he painted the set red, white and blue with stars all around the umbrella on the table. It's really pretty and a real eye catcher.

Friday was bingo day and a good day for all. The treat for the day was supplied by Diana Cota and Mary Good. The Pearl Shinar Circle of the 1st Baptist Church donated a dozen bibs which are always in demand. Thank you ladies. I owe an apology to all the Elks for the mistake in my column last week. The birthday cakes that are presented to patients on their birthday is strictly an Elk's project. They are not supplied by the Elkettes. Sorry folks! I sure hope I haven't discouraged any of you.

Birthday greetings go to Edith Olson on May 14th.
Have a nice week.

Senior Citizens'

by Eileen Moles

Doctors say that about 75 percent or more illnesses are caused by "nerves." It seems that for some unknown reason that the season "spring" preys havoc on people's emotions. Not a few people are feeling upset or are in a turmoil. In this week's and next week's paper, I am going to write about two people - Sam and William. Which of these two are you?

This little anecdote is taken from the book "How To Live 365 Days a Year" by Dr. John A. Schindler. "Quote"

"Sam, King of His Own Stew" Sam's world, if someone other than Sam inhabited it, would be a dreamland. The only bad feature in Sam's life is his own condition of emotional stress, and even you, Sam is not accountable for, since he got it through bad family education. Sam is a well-to-do farmer and a director of a bank in a neighboring town. Sam has a wonderful farm which he inherited from his father. From his father, too, he received a groch of the kind fairly common among "successful men." I don't think a groch like that is inherited; it's acquired by living in the shadow of someone else's groch. His mother was grochy too; I imagine she got it living with Sam's father; or, perhaps, his father married the woman because she had the type of groch he felt went with a solid citizen.

In spite of the fact that Sam had never had any hardships, no financial losses, no extra ordinary family catastrophes, no blows beneath the belt from unkind fate, he, nevertheless, walked through life as though utter and complete ruin were just around the corner. On Sam's side of the street, the sun never shone. Sam was like the man walking in a park telling a friend how unfortunate was his every move, saying, "Some people buy bonds - they go up have in Wisconsin. With what I thought was contagious enthusiasm, I said, "Hello, Sam, Wonderful day, isn't it?" Sam's answer was, "Yeah, but when we get it, we get it hard."

These outlooks are typical of Sam. People with Sam's emotional color always develop emotionally induced illness, certainly by their middle fifties. And when they get it, they get it, like Sam's weather, hard. Very often they are invalids for the rest of their lives." Unquote

We are going to honor Dr. James Fyvie, 210 Range Street; Dr. Merle Weber, 101 Lake Street; and Bertha Davis, Center's nurse, 209 N. First Street, during Senior Citizens Week and we are asking everyone (young and old) to participate in our card shower for them during the week of May 16-22. Will you please send them a card or a note and express your thanks to them for giving their time in devotion to the medical profession? We are so fortunate to have these dedicated people living in our community.

Birthday greetings go out this week to Emmet McNamara, Mabyn Cousineau, Eleanor Wacker, Jacob Weber today, May 13; Alice Modders, Edna Dixon, Agnes Larson, William Washburn, Fred Landon, Josephine Cochrane May 15; Elva Young, Roland Tompson May 16; Leona Williams, Hazel Johnson May 17; John Frieze, Mary Holmberg, Thomas Shampine, Herbert Popov, Hilma Bauser May 18; Laila Lake May 19 and Vera Seidel May 20.

Our thanks go out to Edna Gray, Beth Concar, Edith Gray, Audrey Swan, Peggy Beckman and Gerry Vincent for donations to our thrift store and supplies. The following brought in baked goods - Freda Smith, Minnie DeSautel, Aileen Nelson and Olive Saunders.

We are grateful to the following for monetary donations - Nora Cowman, Elmer and Irene Jestila and Mrs. Stella (Jacob) Anderson. We appreciate the concern of these people.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice This Sunday!

Edison Sault Electric Co.

It's our responsibility to provide electricity. It's everyone's responsibility to use it wisely.

Depressing sight, isn't it? And what is it I say when something old, familiar, once-cherished, once-useful has succumbed to the ravages of time? It served its purpose!

Could all the churches in our town someday look like this? They could! Maybe they will... if we don't need them anymore!

Even if you haven't been to church recently, I think you'll protest that we DO need our churches. We need the truth they teach — the faith they instill — the hope they inspire — the God-given strength with which they undergird our life. This is the very point. We ALL need our churches. And to bring ALL of us to realize and fulfill our need... That is their purpose!

STORING CANNED FOODS: Canned products are known for their economical, convenient, long storage capacity. But what effect does long storage have on canned foods, and how long can they be safely stored?

Scientists with the U.P. Department of Agriculture (USDA) say that from the standpoint of safety, canned products have an indefinite shelf-life as long as the cans remain unopened and is not bulging and leaking. This is because micro-organisms that cause food spoilage and food poisoning are destroyed by heat and sealed out during the canning process. As long as the can remains intact, these organisms cannot re-enter and the food will not spoil. However, chemical changes, caused by enzymes, occur in food all the time - before, during and after processing. Heat during processing inactivates enzymes and drastically slows down chemical reactions, but cannot stop them completely. These chemical changes affect the eating quality, such as the color, texture, taste, and nutritive value of some foods. The degree of change depends upon many factors including the humidity, the nature of the food, the type of container and the length of time the product is stored.

The most decisive factor, however, in determining the keeping quality of foods is the storage temperature. A general chemical law says that the rate of natural chemical reaction doubles for each 18 degrees F. rise in temperature. Applied to canned products, this means that a product stored at 88 degrees F. for a given length of time would lose quality twice as fast as the same product stored at 67 degrees F.

On the other hand, a single freezing generally does not affect canned foods adversely. A slight breakdown of texture may occur in a few products, but this may happen during freezing whether the product is canned or not. Some creamy foods may curdle or separate, but heating usually restores the original consistency.

Store canned foods in a dry place at moderately cool temperatures. Storage in a moist area may cause rusting and decomposition of can material and result in leakage. Scientists with USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service say refrigerate canned meat products, such as canned hams and pork shoulders, bought from the refrigerated section of the store. These larger cured pieces of meat cannot be fully processed (which would eliminate the need for refrigeration) because full processing would result in a mushy-textured product.

Use canned foods within a year.

Check stored canned foods periodically. Canned foods showing any sign of spoilage, spurting liquid off-odor, or mold should not be used. By all means, do not taste. Return leaking or bulging cans unopened to the store where purchased.

NOTICE SERVICES FOR PERSONS UNABLE TO PAY THEREFOR

Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, Main St., Manistique, Michigan 49854 has certified that in the current fiscal period from January 1, 1976 to December 31, 1976 it will not exclude persons from admission on the grounds that such person is unable to pay for needed services, and that it will make available to each person so admitted services provided by the facility without charge or at a charge which does not exceed such person's ability to pay therefor.

The services set out above meet the presumptive compliance guidelines of the Federal regulations. Copies of the criteria used for identifying persons unable to pay for services may be obtained from Michigan Department of Public Health. Records and documents on the basis of which the above decision was established are available for public inspection at 3423 North Logan St., Lansing, Michigan between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M. on regular business days.

Springtime is tree planting time

But think before you plant.

The right trees will dignify your home... soften the hard lines of construction... give you cooling shade from the hot summer sun. The right trees will mature to give long lasting beauty to your home and neighborhood.

Think about how much room your new trees will need when full grown. Ask your nurseryman "How tall will this tree grow?" and "How far will it spread?" The wrong tree planted in the wrong place can be a future problem.

LOOK DOWN!
Remember, big trees develop big root systems. Don't plant trees that will clog sewer lines... or heave walks or patios.

LOOK AROUND!
Don't plant trees that will overhang your home and cause damage to your roof!

LOOK UP!
Don't plant trees that will grow into overhead utility wires. Don't plant a problem tree. And remember, fast growth often means weak growth.

If you must plant near wires, plant low growing trees such as:

- Flowering crabapples, Shakespeare or Flame are good varieties.
- Globe Hawthorn, Washington, Tobo, Lavalle and Paul's Scarlet are also good varieties.
- Globe Cherries
- Globe Ash
- Columnar Mountain Ash

Plant these at least 15 feet (horizontal distance) from overhead wires:

- Columnar maples, Armstrong red or Columnar Norway
- Columnar Cherries
- Pyramidal Littleleaf Linden

Don't plant these near overhead wires:

- Silver Maple
- Box Elder
- American Elm
- Chinese Elm
- Poplars
- Sugar Maple

It is also my feeling that replacement systems of this nature would once again create the problems in this area which we are currently facing.
 In the interest of resolving this situation, I would like to request that your utmost consideration be given to providing municipal sewerage system, not only to eliminate the hazards involved, but to provide year-around usage to the homes. I have been informed that such a proposal has been considered in the past. However, it has evidently not developed into a desirable solution. I would certainly hope that we could consider such a solution before we attempt to come up with on-site solutions for sewage disposal in this area. Your serious consideration of this matter and support of sound environmental health practices is deeply appreciated. Thank you.

 In the interest of resolving this situation, I would like to request that your utmost consideration be given to providing municipal sewerage system, not only to eliminate the hazards involved, but to provide year-around usage to the homes. I have been informed that such a proposal has been considered in the past. However, it has evidently not developed into a desirable solution. I would certainly hope that we could consider such a solution before we attempt to come up with on-site solutions for sewage disposal in this area. Your serious consideration of this matter and support of sound environmental health practices is deeply appreciated. Thank you.
 Sincerely,
 Mack McDonald

It is also my feeling that replacement systems of this nature would once again create the problems in this area which we are currently facing.

Bus-train accident, 18 injured

Special effects crew

A lot of moaning and groaning went into Monday's disaster simulation staged by Theresa Avetian's vocational nursing students from the Manistique High School. Designed to "test" the emergency services of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, the disaster simulation saw 18 students suffering from and being treated for injuries sustained in a supposed school bus-train accident.

The 18 were dressed—very convincingly in wounds which ranged from avulsed eyes and glass and metal fragments imbedded in the skin to lacerations, broken bones and bones protruding from the skin.

Cooperating with the hospital and the nursing students was the city ambulance service.

Me next?

Call me later. I'm all tied up.

Looks real, huh?

Us? Yes, we're wounded.

Wake me when it's over.

Help the lady, already!

This is fun!
