'Chick' Becks succeeds Reque on city council

Harold 'Chick' Becks was appointed to the city council Monday night. He will serve out the unexpired term of retired councilman Thor Reque. Becks was runner-up in the city council elections held April 5. With all the council seats filled, Doug Rose was elected Mayor Pro-Tempore. The council discussed at length a billing for work done at the water filtration plant construction-site. Dick Leeke, of McShane, Porter and Seely, consulting engineers, and Frank Marquette, construction supervisor for Gridor Construction Company at the site, appeared to present a check to the council for $3,000 for excavation, grubbing and hauling involved in clearing the site. The city has spent approximately $22,000, however, in the clearing operation. A dispute over the amount which should be paid was not settled. The council's understanding was that a verbal agreement between former city manager Cattell and Frank Marquette provided that Gridor would pay the city for all the work done by the city in clearing the site, through force account labor. Marquette maintained that the agreement only included excavation and hauling done within the fence at the site, and that the figure for that work was $5,000. No one on the council had asked Cattell, who is now city manager in Sault Ste. Marie, what his recollection of the agreement was. Leeke said that the engineering estimates could not justify any more than $5,000 worth of excavation and hauling. He also indicated that the only way for the city not to have to pay directly for the extra work, would be to file a change order with Farmers Home Administration, who are sponsoring the project. The Council instructed the city attorney to look into the matter of filing a change order, and refused to accept the $3,000 check at this time. In other business, the council gave permission for the Junior Women's Club to plant flowers in the Marina. The council started proceedings on a special assessment district for extension of sewer service approximately 300 feet on Intake Park Road. Bids for gasoline to be used by the city and sold to the marina will be accepted at city hall by June 11. Staff Sergeant Huffman of the National Guard requested that the city give the Guard permission to construct a float bridge in the quarry for training purposes. The Guard will conclude a land use contract with the city for the operation. A public hearing on the 1976-1977 budget, scheduled for Monday night, was postponed until Monday, June 7 at 5:30 p.m.

Allocation board bends little to voter pressure

Once again local government has proved that it will bend very little to the pressure of area voters. Thursday night the Schoolcraft County Tax Allocation Board granted Manistique Schools a 5 mill increase. 1.5 mills short of what it had requested.

The decision came after a presentation by Superintendent Richard Bonifas and a discussion between the Board and members of the audience, which included representatives of the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education.

"It is an injustice to the citizens of Manistique and to the area schools for the allocation board to misplace revenue that can provide a service to them," Bonifas said. "It can only hurt the participants in the school, which are the children."

School Board to ask four mills in election

A one-year request for four mills will be put before area voters June 14, the date set for this year's regular school election.

Meeting at noon Friday, the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education made the decision after the Schoolcraft County Tax Allocation Board denied it a two mill increase Thursday night.

At present, the schools have 13 voted and 75 allocated mills, a total of 20.5 mills or approximately $1,616,640 revenue. A four mill increase would mean approximately $290,000 increased revenue.

school board member Margaret Waters, "but the schools are not getting any more money. The city and the county are getting extra dollars. We are getting no extra dollars."

An emotional plea was added to the others by a member of the audience. "If we don't provide our children with a solid education, plus extras to broaden their horizons, we're going to have a good solid problem," she said. "I think our children deserve more. We have an obligation to them."

In making the first motion, for an increase in allocation of two mills, William Mueller, a member of both the allocation and the school boards, said, "The new school will be one of the best in the state, bar none. We should use it to the fullest capacity or we will be letting everyone down."

The motion to grant Manistique Area Schools a total of 9 mills was defeated 3-3. Walter McClintock made a second motion, to grant the schools a total of 8.5 mills. That motion was defeated 5-3.

The final motion, to grant the schools a total of 7.5 mills, was made by Doug Rose. Only board member William Olesak voted "no" and the motion was passed. The 7.5 mills figure represents an increase of 5 mills over last year.

Remaining final allocations were set as follows: County of Schoolcraft, 6.60 mills; Doyle Township, 1.20 mills; Germfask Township, .79 mills; Hiawatha Township, .68 mills; Inwood Township, 2 mills; Manistique Township, 1.20 mills; Mueller Township, .82 mills; Seney Township, 1.08 mills; Thompson Township, .76 mills; and the Intermediate School District, .10 mills.

MATTHEW SKARRITT, 600 Cherry St., and Vern Blowers, 365 Garden Ave., were taken to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital after an accident which occurred at 12:28 a.m. May 23 on the corner of Oak and Cattaraugus Sts. Police say the Skarritt vehicle went out of control and struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mickelson, 61 Oak St. The Mickelsons were not at home at the time of the accident. (Tribune Photo)

Mueller Twsp. wants property lease now

A discussion surrounding the lease of school property to Mueller Township highlighted Tuesday night's meeting of the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education.

A Township representative voiced her concern over what she said has been a year's delay in drawing up a lease agreeable to both parties.

Until the Board struck clauses relative to noise and returning the grounds to their natural state upon termination of such a lease, and filled in a blank regarding rental fee for the property, the Township would not sign it, she said.

The Board indicated that it would have the 10-year lease drawn up again to satisfy those requests and added that it would be made renewable. If ever the Board were to re-open Mueller, however, the property in question would revert back to the schools.

Mueller Township intends to construct a tennis court and an ice-skating rink on the property which is located behind Mueller School.

A second reading of the proposed Board policy on staff conduct was given Tuesday night by Secretary Margaret Waters. Action on the policy is expected to come after a third reading scheduled for June 8.

In other business, the Board adopted a resolution to send letters of appreciation to those who have donated money to the library and the music department at the new school.

Letters will be sent to Leland Kerman of Kalamazoo who contributed a $100 memorial to be used for either the music department or library, and to an anonymous donor who has contributed a $500 memorial toward library furniture and equipment.

The Board also: -paid building and site bills totaling $82,938.06; -heard a request from Superintendent Richard Bonifas to set the starting date for the 1976-77 school year; and -accepted the resignation of Kay Jarski, a teacher who has been with the system for the past four years.

Outdoor writers convene here

Members of the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association will convene June 3-6 at the Ramada Inn here in Manistique for the purpose of holding their annual business meeting.

While here, the group will also fish for Lake Trout and be given tours of the area by the local Chamber of Commerce, Sportsmans Club and United States Forest Service.

Nat Dellis, manager of the Inn, is expected between 75 and 100 people and says that this will be the first time that the group has met in the Upper Peninsula since 1966.

"They will generate a lot of publicity for the area," he added, "doing photography and putting a television series together on it."

Senior Citizens'

by Eileen Males

Many of our older people are really "unsung heroes" of our community, endeavoring to help society unpretentiously. We fear cancer but progress is being made and people like Henning Mattson help it along. I tried this letter out of Henning. Henning had lung cancer and had one of his lungs removed and he has done amazingly well in his recovery. He received this letter from University Hospital in Ann Arbor which read:

"Dear Mr. Mattson: In reviewing your record recently, we were pleased to see that you are doing well following your operation for carcinoma of the lung.

We are instituting a new program for patients who are undergoing operations for carcinoma of the lung as you did. It is known that in patients such as you, who have survived for at least five years following operation, there are white blood cells that seem to be able to defend themselves against the tumor. We think that if we take the white cells from you and infuse them into patients with carcinoma of the lung, we might be able to help them resist the tumor, the way you can now. In order to do this we need just one unit of blood. This treatment could be of great help to the new patients that we are treating for carcinoma of the lung, and we will be most appreciative if you can cooperate with us in this project. The blood can be drawn at your convenience, but it is easiest to schedule the drawing on Thursdays between 9:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M.

Thank you very much once again for your cooperation.

Sincerely yours,
Marvin M. Kirsh, M.D.
Professor of Surgery."

"Out Our Way"

News from Road 437

Hi Folks.

The doors to our forest home are closing more each day, as the leaves unfurl with each new day. A stroll into the forest now can see the floral design of Mother Nature's colorful palette. Along the stream yellow petals the adder's tongue, in white the northern white violet, and the trillium. There are violets in yellow and purple. Also in the trillium family there is the nidding trillium with its flower dangling below the leaves. The wild calla or water-urn with the broad white spathe (partially) clasping the short golden spadix (crowned with tiny flowers) has leaves which are heart-shaped and flowers which become a cluster of red berries. In the arum family the Jack-in-the-pulpit with its flapping spathe in green or purplish brown, often striped and curves gracefully over the club-shaped spadix (the "jack" or preacher in his canopied pulpit) is blooming. In red we have the wintergreen berry. In wet meadows along streams banks grow the marsh-marigold, or cowslip. The wild strawberries and the blueberries are blooming. If you care to go exploring in the bogs and swamps lands the skunk cabbage, and pitcher plant can be found. The wild cherry trees are blooming, giving a picture of beauty among the different shades of green. There are times we all think we need so much, but really our needs can be so simple to bring us happiness. A stroll into the forest and your view will be a very serene and peaceful one. It is spring housecleaning time I know, and yet it is so hard to miss the coming of spring. Makes you feel as though the life of spring has touched you to.

The Lawrence Sallies of Milwaukee are just doing that, enjoying the coming of spring out our way. The Harold Mickelson visited with Walfred Mattson at Thunder Lake. They also stopped to visit the Boss and I. The Mickelsons are getting ready to spend their summers at their cabin at Thunder Lake, as are the Willard Garvins. The Ralph Brimcombs of Toledo are up for the summer season. Others at Thunder Lake to be spending most of the summer will be the Chis Bonners, Bill Hentschells, Shorly Brunets, Carl Bergulands, Bud Ramsdens.

The coming holiday, Memorial Day will bring many folks out our way to their cabins on Thunder Lake and on Murphy Lake. There will be the Robert Hoars, Harold Underwoods, Leo Woods, Dale Poyins, the Lew Clemens, Fern Underwoods, Paul Gamblas, Dr. Ewald Hoersters, the Bud Bringhamas, and the John Mills.

I hope you will all enjoy the Memorial Day weekend, if you must travel drive safely, so that you will arrive to your destination and back home again safely. Echoes of birthday greetings go out to Leana Williams, Jim Sangraw, Paul Salsack, Marilyn Munson, Floyd Houghton, Cookie Gillespie, Herb Prond, Lawrence Fissette, Bill Morien, Johnny Annelin, Pauline Carley, Henry Schumacher, Curt Jones, Jack Hohlak, Vera Heronimus, Joe Davidson, June Cummings, Joe Carley Lew Clemenson, Bud Munson and Harold Underwood. Anniversary wishes go out to the Kenneth Jones, Alton Carlsons, Leonard Stoops, Bob Sleepers, John Gattens, Herb Asps, Gerald Cottens, Vern Annelins. May the day for all of you be one of complete happiness. Until our next chat, stay healthy and happy. Library winners named. Winners of the drawing for the recent library move to the new facility were Alan Price, Carol Herbst, and Pat Heim.

Tonight is the big event for many of our young people. Graduation. Thirteen years' accomplishment coming to end. We sincerely hope educationally wise, it will not end. This is only the beginning. Suggested by law, they are now adults but oh, how as mothers have to give up our "babies". Of course, we must, and with it, we admit it will also be a relief. No more alarms going off at an ungodly early hour. No more conference, no more lost tennis shoes and library books, no more homework until all hours, no more baked, good, donations. How proud we all are! God bless you all graduates of M.H.S. and may you always be happy in your chosen living.

STRAWBERRY SEASON IS HERE:

There's a good supply of strawberries in Midwest markets now, according to market reporters with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS). Enjoy these luscious, lustrous red fruits at breakfast, lunch, dinner.

Not only are strawberries an excellent source of vitamin C — one cup contains about the same amount as a six-ounce glass of orange juice — they are low in calories as well. There are only 55 calories in a cup of strawberries, which is the same as one slice of whole wheat bread or one tablespoon of jam.

Careful shoppers will want to be sure to choose bright, fresh, clean strawberries with a full, solid red color, bright green caps attached, and no moisture, dirty or decay spots.

At home, you'll want to wash your strawberries just before using them, removing the caps after the berries are clean and dry. You should try and use the fruit within two or three days.

Company coming? Make it easy on yourself with this quick dessert idea using fresh strawberries...

by Sally Schaefer

Hi Everyone,

With the sun shining every day and the leaves starting to pop out, it sure is beginning to look like summer. Now if the frost will let up at night, we can rest assured that the flowers planted on Memorial Weekend will survive.

May 18 brought the ladies from the V.F.W. who sponsor the monthly birthday party and the honored guest for the month of May was Edith Olson. Cake and coffee were served and music was provided by Tillie Tennant at the piano and Albert Huescher played the violin. Everyone had a good time and many thanks go to these nice ladies.

The Bingo Volunteers were here Friday to entertain. The treat for the day was provided by Nancy Casey, Gladys Middaugh and Shirley Huston. What Men Do

By Dan Holmstrom

Bottles and bottles and bottles... Earl Williamson collects them. Right now, he estimates that he has at least 300 of them in his basement. Williamson is not quite sure what he plans to do with them, try to sell them or put them on display in his home, but he keeps right on going around for more.

It all started with his wife, he said. "She collects glass and, one day, she found an old cold liver oil bottle at a hotel that was being torn down." She added the bottle to her windowshelf collection and he took interest in a hobby that now occupies 12 to 15 hours per weekend during the spring and late fall months. His partner is artist Henson.

"We go to places where we might find old bottles, such as old lumbercamps and feed stores, where the other scavengers haven't been."

Using a piece of a car's radio antenna, he begins to "probe or poke below the surface of the ground for bottles that may have been discarded years ago."

"We've gotten to the place now," he said, "that we can tell whether we hit metal or bone or glass and whether a bottle is broken or not."

When they strike something that feels as if it may be an old bottle, they begin to dig very carefully, with a small pointed shovel. Stopping just above the bottle, the remainder of the digging is done with a trowel and the bottle lifted out.

"The two have dug as far down as five feet into the ground and, many times, have dug up with only a broken part of a bottle. They've been disappointed when a bottle broke they were pulling it from the ground. And sometimes we don't find any," Williamson said. "Then again, I've found 13 in one day. There's a fascination to enjoy going with Don because he can really fill me in on the background of the bottles, too."

Asked what their secret is for finding an area where bottles may be buried, Williamson said they look for depressions in the ground around the foundations of an old homestead.

"We look for any place where a hole might have been dug, such as for a privy or a junk pile. Then we begin to probe the ground. If we find old tin cans, we see that it might be a good area for bottles, too."

Another "secret" is to wear old clothes and waterproof boots.

When they have finished a day's excavation, Williamson takes the bottles home to clean them. He begins by filling the bottles with a mixture of clean sand and B-B's and working the mixture back and forth inside to remove the inner residue.

He scrubs the outside of the bottles with a 3-M nylon scouring pad, which will not scratch them. The final step is to wash them each with soap and water.

Although many of his bottles resemble those pictured in the bottle-collecting books scattered around his living room, Williamson says that he probably has none worth more than "a buck or a buck and a half."

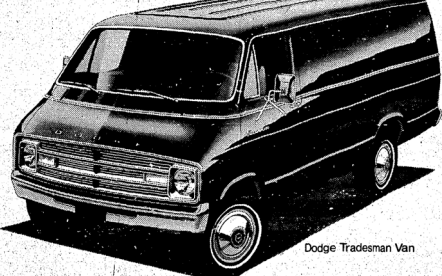

"If you have a buyer, there are bottles that will sell for as high as thirty-five to forty dollars. But people aren't hounding me to buy my bottles."

Good advice for every level of government

EDITOR'S NOTE: State Rep. Mel DeStigter in his weekly newsletter takes a look at the state's recovery from the past two year's economic recession. While the economy is making a good recovery and tax revenues are increasing, Rep. DeStigter cautions that spending by government should be held in check. It is sound advice that should be heeded at the local as well as state level of government.

Slowly but surely we're recovering from our economic ouches.

Economic indicators show that the national economy is continuing to gain momentum. Naturally Michigan is feeling the effects of this gain which is producing significant improvements in the state's revenues.

There's one pitfall we must watch out for, however. Whenever we begin to bring ourselves out of an economic downturn, we face a great temptation to increase our spending as the picture brightens.

But this is exactly what our economy can't stand at this time and we must resist that temptation if we are to meet some of the mandatory spending increases in our budget.

Based on the latest estimates, the improving economy will bring our additional resources for 1976-77 to at least $75 million. The known additional expenses total $66.2 million, but there are other expenses for which we don't know the price yet.

The latest estimates from the Department of Management and Budget indicate that the improved economy will produce revenues for the current fiscal year that exceed earlier predictions by $20 million.

This increase in income from corporate profits. The sharp increases in fourth quarter profits have increased the yield of corporate tax above original estimates.

In addition to the $20 million review of the revenue estimates for 1976-77 indicates that the Lottery estimate can be increased by $10 million, based primarily on success of the new instant games.

While the picture seems to be improving for Michigan, we still aren't out of the woods. There are some potential uncertainties that remain before us that could make or break our recovery. One is the yield from the newly enacted single business tax. It is still unclear how much this new tax will bring us in revenue. Preliminary indications are that the actual yield will not exceed, and may be even below, earlier estimates.

The other factor is the problems in the rubber industry. If they continue, they could cause disruptions in the automobile industry and this will of course slow our recovery.

While we're waiting for these uncertainties to clear up, the best thing we can do is hold the line on spending. The responsibility remains as real as ever for us to be thrifty with tax dollars.

Weekly Special

How Hughes was neglected

by Jack Anderson With Joe Spear

WASHINGTON - The Howard Hughes riddle still hasn't been solved. I flew to Mexico after his death and came back with an incredible story.

I previously reported how his aides had allowed him to dehydrate, how his body was covered with bed sores, how he finally died of a kidney ailment that could have been treated. The Mexican authorities told me that if Hughes' aides had remained in Mexico, they would have been indicted for criminal neglect.

I also brought back the complete files of the Mexican investigation of the billionaire's last days in an Acapulco penthouse. It has taken several weeks to translate the file. I have turned it over, incidentally, to the authorities in Washington.

The file contains testimony that Hughes could have been saved if he had been treated in time, that he had been allowed by his aides to deteriorate, that they kept him in a small bathroom, it was the smallest in the penthouse. The aides took the most luxurious rooms.

The Hughes penthouse was off limits to all except a few aides who had special keys to the penthouse elevator. A Hughes security man installed window bolts in the penthouse windows to make them more secure.

The Hughes aides stayed to themselves except for daily morning games of tennis. Hughes himself, according to the testimony his chief aide gave to the Mexican authorities, was unable to write out his instructions as he had done in the past.

According to this account, Hughes signed no papers while he was in Acapulco. His signature on his immigration card was forged.

The bed-ridden Hughes wore pajama tops but no bottoms during his stay in the Acapulco penthouse, according to the testimony of a housekeeper who picked up the laundry. His linen was changed frequently, and the penthouse contained medical equipment. The big mystery, therefore, is why did his aides let him deteriorate?

The Hoffa hit: Controversial Teamsters leader Jimmy Hoffa disappeared without a trace last July. My own underworld informants told me that Hoffa had been rubbed out, the victim of a gangland-style hit.

Now for the first time top government officials have confirmed that Hoffa is dead. They say he was set up by a close associate who delivered him to mob executioners. Government investigators killed Hoffa but they probably will never be able to make a case as one of them put it, "we don't have the body."

The government also knows the reason behind the Hoffa hit. The tough, brazen Hoffa used mob support to wrest control of the Teamsters from the late Dave Beck. Once Hoffa was in power, he continued to use mob muscle to entrench himself as a labor leader.

In return, he gave concessions to the mob. He helped mobster Johnny Dio, for example, set up a number of "paper unions." They had Teamster charters but no real members.

Hoffa was brought down by the Justice Department. By the time he got out of the slammer, his place had been taken by bossy, more mobile, more easy to manipulate. Some mob leaders, therefore, didn't want to see Hoffa back in power.

But Hoffa refused to heed their warnings. He fought stubbornly for the right to engage again in union activities. The underworld bosses feared they couldn't keep him from being elected Teamsters president.

So on a hot July afternoon, someone close to Hoffa led him into a trap. That was the last the world has seen of Jimmy Hoffa.

Middle East Report: My associate Joe Spear has been on a news-gathering trip to the Middle East. On the basis of talks with top leaders in Syria and Israel, he cabled an optimistic report about the possibility of peace.

From his interviews, he has put together the outlines of a possible settlement. Spear cautions that it wouldn't bring a final peace but could end the state of tension.

Briefly, the agreement would call for Israel to return most - but not all - of the Sinai Peninsula, the Golan Heights and the west bank of the Jordan River. In return, the Arabs would promise to accept the war.

It will take some delicate negotiations, continuing past the U.S. elections, to put the agreement together.

Spear also reports that the Saudi

If It Fitz I had forgotten that

by Jim Fitzgerald

My 3-year-old granddaughter, Melissa, is tremendously fond of the minister of her parents' church. When he comes visiting, he eats peanut butter sandwiches with her. And sometimes he takes her out to lunch at McDonald's.

He should be nice to her, in view of what she calls him. She calls him God.

Whenever I bore you with grandchildren stories, you'll know I am tapering off after being visited by the three darlings. They are aged infant through first grade, two girls and a boy, and their last visit prompted me to lodge a complaint at City Hall in our small town.

The civil defense people explode three bombs to warn the populace that an armado is coming. But they don't even put up a distress flag when my three grandkids cross the city limits. Three nuclear explosions not only would be appropriate, they would be a comparatively quiet introduction to the impending calamity.

Anyway, I find it isn't wise to quit vibrations old turkey after the children head back home. Instead, I turn my son's stereo up full volume and place my vibrators out body in the center of the four speakers. I have him play Frank Zappa records, reducing the volume gradually over a period of hours. I pass the time pondering the many things I had forgotten until Michele and Melissa and John arrived to bring back the memories.

I had been 15 years or so depending on your criteria, since babies lived at our house. It's hard to say exactly when our youngest child ceased to be a baby, but I remember getting suspicious when he began changing his own diapers and teething his own bottle.

I had forgotten how it feels to hear a baby cry at 3 a.m. It took me a few seconds to remember what to do. What you do is push your foot softly to the south. If this doesn't work, you kick more firmly. Finally, your wife wakes up. You then tell her the baby is crying.

I had forgotten about the spot on a baby's neck, up under the chin, not far from the ear. That's where you nuzzle a baby. It feels great.

I had forgotten the crunching sound of cookie crumbs underfoot.

I had forgotten your heart stops and then pounds, when you hear a baby scream and the sound of a small body going bump, bump, bump.

I had forgotten the mixed relief of discovering he fell only two steps. A potted plant went the rest of the way.

I had forgotten to look before I sit. Have you ever sat on an abandoned poppet? I had forgotten that a grown man can somehow enjoy eating his dinner while watching a kid with a runny nose stick her face in a chocolate mudpie.

I had forgotten the most beautiful babies have fat stomachs and no fannies, and once they get walking fast, it's a fact of gravity that they are going to fall down.

And I had forgotten adults are supposed to look tie other way when these fell. This is supposed to make the kid think he is not. I keep forgetting and picking the kid up and kissing his nose and mouthing silly "there-there-the-baby" words I'd hate to have overheard at the Alibi Bar.

I had forgotten how grand it feels to return home from work and be greeted by a little kid who wants to climb up your legs and stick his fingers in your nose. I had forgotten that babies don't watch TV and you don't have to knock on their heads to say hello.

I had forgotten the goofy pride of taking little kids into a restaurant and having strangers smile at them. I react modestly to attention, bowing from the waist only after repeated applause. Inside, my fat head is amping everyone will think I am the father, not the grandfather, for good sales.

I had forgotten the marvelous innocence of a small baby; the trust and the dependences and the eagerness to love and be loved. I had forgotten that some small adult like me must teach little kids how to hate and who to hate.

I had forgotten that a little girl can eat peanut butter sandwiches with God.

High flyer is grounded

by Frank Senger

Famed criminal attorney F. Lee Bailey was grounded last week in a brief visit to Delta County.

The high flying attorney was supposed to hop by helicopter from Menominee into Escanaba for a speaking engagement before the Rotary District conference. Unpredictable U.P. spring weather, however, did what few protesting attorneys have been successful doing and slowed Bailey's pace.

Maybe it was Bailey's conventional entry into town in the backseat of a car rather than descending from the sky that made him seem more like a mere mortal. I was prepared for a certain aura to surround the captivator of juries nationwide and defender of the innocent. Instead, I had forgotten the glare of television lights for a news conference before the banquet Bailey did not seem quite as formidable as had been expected.

He actually seemed nervous answering the questions put to him by the four assembled new persons. The answers were brief and to the point, but his hands fidgeted leaving the impression of an inbred nervousness.

The high flying attorney of the news conference was by far the most interesting part of Bailey's visit. He answered questions about the defense of Patty Hearst and the needs for reform in our criminal justice system in a candid manner. It was too bad that the crowd of diners in the next room who had paid his way missed Bailey's best effort.

The speech that followed dinner was crammed with opinions and observations on the changes needed in the administration of justice through the courts from one who has actually known the courts. He seemed to me to be more suited to a law school seminar or a gathering of trial attorneys, rather than a public dinner.

What the talk contained in technical knowledge and reasoned opinion it lacked for in color and rapport with the audience. Rotary and his guests received the attorney's performance. . . .

Nothing more. . . nothing less. . . . Talking with a friend following the dinner we agreed that maybe that had been the problem. Bailey is one of the country's top criminal attorneys and as such is a highly paid actor who goes before a jury to convince and cajole them into believing in the innocence of his clients. Bailey just saves his best performance for the days when it counts and he has to go through the important audiences in the jury box.

Dear Editor:

After reading the articles in the Daily Press, about the incidents that have been happening on the Garden Peninsula the last few weeks, the one that happened this last week on May 13th is quite a story, but all you read is "less entered in fish case" this is what happened.

The six men were arrested but the charges were dropped on Adson Seamen. What's the reason for this? Are you afraid to take a licensed fisherman to court? The five other men pleaded guilty and paid fines for something they weren't guilty of. They could get the boat that belonged to one of the men, doesn't this look like a bribe even when the young men work for a licensed fisherman they are arrested, why? Would they rather have them on welfare? Were you disappointed D.N.R. when you got into Escanaba and there wasn't anyone from the Garden Peninsula, so you could harass them into doing something so you could arrest them.

We can't call police for help to protect us from the D.N.R. they are to busy running for them. The last few weeks the D.N.R. have had a chance to pick up at least three small boats that were out fishing, but watching through their binoculars, the boats weren't big enough to bother taking, but let them see one that is worth about six thousand dollars even if they are out joy riding, they will go for that one. Yes, things have mysteriously burned, like our St. Peters Church that was burned down. The D.N.R. are next to the Fayette State Park across from the camping grounds. It was there for almost one hundred years. This has not been a good thing for the D.N.R. and it sure seems odd that shortly after that incident happened that the road leading down to the park was closed off to thru traffic.

Arabians are mortified over a recent purchase they made from neighboring North Yemen. The Saudis pride themselves on being shrewd A-b traders. They have tried to cover up, I refer, how they got skinned by the Yemenis.

But Spear got the story from top officials. It seems that the Saudis purchased $80,000 worth of "antiques" recovered from ancient ruins.

After months of examination, Saudi experts concluded that the "antiques" were actually cleverly crafted forgeries. The Saudis were too embarrassed over the deal to demand their money back.

Costly China: On Capitol Hill, House Agriculture Chairman Thomas Foley, D-Wash., like the housewife in a television commercial, was embarrassed over the tacky-looking china that was used to serve his luncheon guests.

The drab plates from the House cafeteria he felt, were unsuitable for the foreign dignitaries he occasionally entertains. So he got permission to use tax money to buy a set of Lenox china embossed with an impressive congressional seal.

The sugar bowl cost $32.60, the coffee pot $37.40, the serving platters $62.30 apiece. In his first request, he forgot about tea cups. So he wrote another letter on April 27, requesting $496.80 to buy 24 tea cups and saucers. All told, the 24 place settings and accessories cost the taxpayers $2,265.40.

The TV housewife is usually advised to brighten her china with a new liquid detergent. But if you happen to be a congressional chairman, an expensive set of china is just as easy to obtain.

Along the Potomac River... close to the Pennsylvania border... and near Washington, D.C., our nation's capital... It's fun to look at the whole world, and then put your finger on the place where YOU live. It makes you realize how important you are!

During this Bicentennial year we know that EVERYBODY in our nation is important. People can own land and houses and factories. They can read the truth. They can think for themselves, and say what they think. They can organize together to celebrate, or plan — or protest.

And they can worship God... in the church they choose... and bring their children... and support their church... and volunteer their talents in its work.

Nobody can padlock God's House... or turn it into a museum.

Here's where I live... THANK GOD! We thank Him best by using ALL our freedoms.

MEMORIAL DAY

It is part of the nature of every good man and woman to reflect at times upon the sacrifices that have been made on their behalf by those who have preceded them. Memorial Day is the occasion most of us choose to put flowers on the graves of our loved ones. It is one day set aside for memory, that remarkable faculty of humankind which allows us to recall with affection those dear ones no longer in our midst.

here's what you need to keep your home

COOL & WARM IN SUMMER IN WINTER

INSULATION:

Insulation makes the difference in comfort and . . . in your cooling and heating costs. Adequate insulation can pay for itself by reducing your energy and fuel costs.

If you're building a new home you should insist on the best in insulation. If you live in an older home, have your insulation checked. If you need insulation — do it now. How much insulation is adequate, and where should one start? Since up to 25% of the heat loss (winter) and 40% of the heat gain (summer) occurs through the ceiling, insulation in the ceiling (attic floor) of a home saves the most fuel per square foot of area. WMPCO recommends a ceiling insulation value of R-30. However, in homes where it is physically impossible to insulate to the R-30 level without extensive remodeling, install the greatest "R-Value" that will fit.

Attic insulating is an easy project for the do-it-yourself homeowner, too. If you have any questions about home insulation contact an insulation supplier or give us a call.

The following letter regarding operation of the Marina was also read:

May 10, 1976

Subject: Marina Operation

Finalized all let me say the many complimentary letters and cards I received attest to the transient boaters enjoyment and satisfaction received at the Manistique Marina.

The following items are some which should be changed or corrected.

1. Rules and regulations are no good if they can't be enforced, it's my understanding these rules and reg's are not enforceable as a city ordinance.
2. Under C-4 Prohibited Activities.
- 3.4 "No Wake" signs needed.
- 3.10 Too much profanity brought a couple of complaints from transient boaters.
- 3.18 It is dangerous to refuel boats from trucks. Have all vendors (gasoline) submit bids and give the business to low bidder and enforce the 18 portion of the rules.
- 3.21 Signs needed re: proper parking area, curbs painted yellow in no parking areas.
- 3.24 Several complaints received last summer from transient boaters about noisy parties and radio operation after 10 or 11 p.m.

Section 5

5.3 Who is on harbor commission? If the rules and reg's can't be enforced and the opinion of the Marina cannot be heard as it should be, I feel it would be a waste of my efforts to try (as I have) to improve the operation.
