Garden plans July 4 celebration

Garden - The Garden Volunteer Fire Department called a special meeting at the Community Building on Tuesday May 25 to form a committee for the annual Fourth of July celebration to be held on Saturday July 3. In case of inclement weather, the affair will be held on Sunday July 4th. The celebration will be sponsored by the Volunteer Fire Department and plans include a parade starting at 10:30 p.m. at the old Garden School. Tentative plans are for the Big Bay De Noc High School Band to lead the parade. There will be assorted booths with fancy work, games, a money savdust pile for the children, and a water fight. Fireworks at dusk followed by a street dance with the Big Blue Band playing the music. There will be prizes: Three for floats 12 ft. and over and three for floats 10 ft. and under. Refreshments will be available throughout the day. A final schedule of activities will be published at a later date.

The Garden Peninsula Historical Society will hold a meeting June 7 at 8 p.m. in the Conference room of the First National Bank in Garden. Some of the things that will be on display will be account books of Antoine Deloria of the 1800's labeled; Day Book, Stable Book, Cordwood Book, Stage Book, Livery Book and a leather bound Journal (Jan 1885 to May 1887) weighing 15 pounds with statements in it of amounts for taxes, 1885-86 and 87 payment on a fire engine in 1886, coffins, flagpole, kins, lumber, and cattle. If books could speak this one would tell tales of living in those days with all the good times and its hardships.

Jim Doran, Marsha Brown in Special Olympics at CMU

Jim Doran and Marsha Brown, students at Fairview, will compete June 3-5 in the State Special Olympics to be held at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. Blue ribbon winners at the Upper Peninsula Special Olympics held recently, Jim will participate in tumbling and the 50 yard dash, and Marsha on the balance beam and in the softball throw. They will be working towards gold, silver, or bronze medals. Traveling with the children will be Jim's 16-year-old brother Aaron and Coach Betty Skarritt. The four plan to leave Fairview School at 10 a.m. June 3 with a group from Kennedy School in Escanaba, returning home at approximately 9 p.m. June 5. The youngsters will compete with 1500 others with handicaps similar to their own and will be housed in the school dormitories there. During the two-day event, they will be treated to visits by a member of the Kennedy family, two television personalities, a Tiger baseball player, Ronald McDonald, Burger King clowns and clowns provided by the local Shriners clubs. At Fairview, Jim has been under the instruction of Lucy Bunch, while Marsha has studied with Nancy Sherman. Money for the trip to Mt. Pleasant was raised in Tootsie Roll sales and donated by the area Knights of Columbus.

Big Bay de Noc School Board

Complaints on bus route

Garden - The Big Bay De Noc School Board held their regular meeting recently in the district school. All members were present. The minutes of the regular meeting and the recessed meeting of May 20 were read and approved. The Board heard complaints concerning the Forest Glen bus route from Mr. Garcia and Mr. Herro. The Board indicated they would meet with the group and discuss their complaints at a later date. The Board appointed a finance committee to review school finances and make recommendations to the Board for the next fiscal year. The Board read Ted Gajewski's request for an extension of time for completing the purchase of the Garden School and develop it into a Rest Home. The Board moved that an extension of six months be granted to Gajewski to complete his plans for financing the proposed renovation of the Garden School building. The Board granted Mrs. Peggy Carolyn a leave of absence for the 1976-77 school year as specified in the Master Contract, Chap. XLII, Para. A.B.C.D. The Board tabled a request to submit a bid on a trailer to house the Title L program because of the critical financial condition of the district. The Board reviewed its present insurance package with a Farm Mutual agent and will ask for insurance bids as soon as insurance specifications have been developed to meet today's requirements. The Board opened bids on their request for a loan for $49,000.00. The following interest rates were reviewed:

First National, Manistique	5 1/2 percent
First National, Gladstone	5 1/2 percent
State Bank of Escanaba	5 percent

Jim Goodreau unopposed in Board election

Jim Goodreau, the only member of the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education up for re-election, shouldn't have to do so in the way of campaigning. He is running unopposed. "I don't think it's a shame," he said. "Other people should be interested. There should be others running for this office. I shouldn't be running unopposed."

His primary goal, assuming he is elected to his first full term of office, is to make provisions assuring a steady turnover of "new blood" among the schools. "I'd like to see more people get involved. I'd like to see limited terms of office, where board members could serve a maximum of eight years and then, perhaps, take a year off and run again; so, after eight years, a member would have to drop off and a new one would have to come on. "Naturally, I would also like to get the budget stabilized," he added, "to the point where we have a good school system at a minimum expense to the people, to make our school the best in the state. We already have the best building."

The Board accepted the lowest interest rate of 5 percent. At this time the district is waiting for state approval on loan application. The Board heard and accepted the resignation of the football coach, Jerry Leach. Leach stated that the demands of coaching football did not permit him to complete his education program. The Board reviewed the expulsion of a student, however the student was given an opportunity to complete the necessary work for this year's credits and return next September. The Superintendent reported that the County Allocation Board was called a meeting for May 27 to discuss the possibility of a "pegged millage." The county voters would be asked to fix the allocation of the fifteen mills between the schools, township and the county. The Superintendent gave the Board a financial report. No bills were presented for payment because of the money situation. The Board discussed at length the upcoming millage election and will set the millage request which will appear on the June ballot. The possibility of reducing the millage request and still retaining financial responsibility is, with the present information, impossible. The Board also has taken into consideration, the possibility of requesting the millage for only one year renewal. Proposed 76-77 School Budget

'Butch' Jones, perfect attendance

Brian Jones, twelve year old son of "Butch" and Ann Deloria, recently completed seven years of kindergarten and grade school with perfect attendance. This is a "first" at Hiawatha School although Brian's brother Stephen, only missed picnic day at the close of his kindergarten year. He went on to have perfect attendance during the following six years.

When asked if he ever had any illness, Brian replied, "Yes, but it seems the flu and bad colds caught up with me during vacations and on weekends. I'm not sure if that's 'lucky' or not. After the first three or four years, though, I really wanted to try and make it through the grades." Next fall, Brian's class will be one of the first to enter the new school. He is looking forward to it and especially likes the idea of being able to swim all winter.

What's going on

by Marg Chandanais 341-6856

Memorial Day was traditional in Manistique again this year. It rained! From all the activity it looks like the spirits of the people were not dampened though.

Mr. and Mrs. Hank Martens of Rochester, New York, were recent guests of Mr. Ted Lunck. "Alo" Ekberg traveled to Manistique from his home in Escanaba to join his sister, brother-in-law and father. While here "Alo" celebrated his birthday—again! Happy Birthday to one swell guy!

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dixon have recently returned home from a visit with friends in Mikado. They spent the Memorial Day weekend with their son and daughter-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dixon in Grand Rapids.

Sissie Erickson, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James (Suzette) Erickson, 515 Mackinac Avenue, celebrated her birthday, Tuesday, the 25th, with an afternoon party with her friends. That evening Sissie enjoyed another party.

Hiawatha School has completed another year with a series of parties and entertainment. On May 4th the entire staff, and husbands or wives, were guests at a planned pot luck dinner at the Martin Miller home. Mrs. Celestine Christensen, retired third grade teacher and principal, receiving an Orchid Corsage and a lovely necklace and bracelet from the guests. Mrs. Miller baked and decorated a beautiful cake for the occasion.

The following week, Kaye Jarski, fifth grade teacher, was a guest of honor at a pot luck supper at the Hinkson home on Dodge Lake. The Hiawatha staff presented her with a basket bowl as a going away gift. She, her husband, and baby are moving to Lower Michigan.

On the 21st, the multi purpose room was filled with many well wishers and a surprise party for Mrs. Christensen. As she entered the room she was honored with a standing ovation and Brian Jones, a student who has neither been tardy or absent for seven years, presented her with a centerpiece of daisies and carnations. She also received an "I'll always remember" elephant from Elizabeth Cook, a former student, and many cards from children and girls, a Bulava watch and a rocking chair. Mrs. Laura Johnston and some Hermes helped the children purchase gifts. Lunch was served and a good time had by all.

Monday, May 24, Miss Hendricks, presented a Spring Festival with all the Hiawatha boys and girls. Many parents and Miss Hendrick's mother attended the excellent performance.

Tuesday afternoon several rooms enjoyed field trips near the school.

On Thursday, Mrs. Jarski's students hosted a party in their home room for her and presented her with a carnation corsage.

Friday, May 28, the year wound up with games, races, ribbons, and a pot luck picnic, complete with ice cream and pop. Officers from the PTO and hostess, Mary Ontonko, arranged the committees. With children eating in their rooms, space was available for the approximately four hundred people in attendance at the annual picnic.

Manistique Area Teachers Retirement Dinner party was held at the Three Mile Supper Club on the evening of May 22 with Mrs. Marion Haas and Mrs. Christensen as guests of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Garvin, Riverview, on Indian Lake, recently journeyed to St. Paul to attend funeral services for twenty year old John Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Christensen, former Manistique residents. The Garvins also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Berwyn Christensen and family, also of St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vomocil of Woodburn, Oregon spent the week with the Ivan Sloughs.

Big Bay de Noc High School

Regina Collins

This week was the last full week of school for Big Bay de Noc students. The first two or three days were probably spent in reviewing and cramming for exams later in the week.

Wednesday was Honors Night. Awards were given to those students who did outstanding work in their classes this year. Scholarship Awards, Certificates from the Michigan Competitive, and Certificates of Distinguished American High School Students were also given to outstanding seniors. The seniors read their class will and prophecy and presented gifts to their class trip chaperones and to the school. On Thursday the seventh and eighth grades had their annual picnic at Van-Cleve Park in Gladstone. For the high school, Thursday was the first day of exams.

Friday brought the end of exams. It was also a day that many had waited for a long time. Kindergarten Graduation was held at 10 a.m. and again at 1 p.m. Elementary picnics were held at Fayette State Park (grades 1 through 3) and at Manistique Township Park (grades 4 through 6).

Friday night was High School Commencement. Many people turned out to see the 50 seniors receive their diplomas and say their last good-byes. The Invocation and Benediction were given by Rev. Gordon Fox, Salutatorian, gave the Farewell Address. Frank Stupak introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Glenn R. Stevens, Assistant Provost at Northern Michigan University. George Babladelis, Principal, presented the graduates; and Barry Rocheport handed out diplomas. The Jazz Band played the Processional and Recessional music; and the High School Chorus also provided entertainment during the program. After Commencement, a tea was held in the multi-purpose room.

Cards of Thanks

To know him is to love him.
 Our Lord called my brother's name, Randolph N. Nelson, the heavenly Angels came and escorted him way beyond the rainbow's farthest end to a land filled with love and light, where Jesus Christ, our Savior and Lord reigns supreme.
 Randolph belonged to the family of God, gave his life to Christ at an early age. He loved God, our family, his friends.
 Later his wife and their lovely family, his grandchildren all adorned him and God gave him a beautiful life because God loved him so much.
 We will miss him, his memories we all hold dear.
 But, we belong to God, so when he calls us home to this lovely land filled with love and light and see his beautiful sweet face, we will know that we have found our reward in dying, we are born to eternal life.

Yours truly,
 Mrs. Rose Nelson
 (formerly Rose Nelson)
 Randolph's sister in California

We would like to thank everyone who remembered us with cards, monetary gifts, flowers, memorials and food.
 Special thanks to the hospital staff and the employees of the Medicare Facility, and to Dr. Sell and Dr. Urban. Also, we thank Father Frank Lenz, and the St. Joseph's Altar Society for the lovely dinner after the funeral. And Thank you to the Messier Brotherly Funeral Home.

We also wish to thank Messier-Broullier Funeral Home for the kindness, thoughtfulness and service extended to us at the time of our need.
 Special thanks to Congressman Charles Varnum and Senator Rupp for the special efforts they put forth in getting our son, Billy, home.

Consortium to receive funds

Thomas Hazlewood, director of the six-county consortium for employment and training, announced today that the consortium will receive $1,207,000 for public service employment under Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). These funds were made available through a recent federal appropriation for CETA and will be used to continue the employment program through January 31, 1977 of 177 persons already employed with CETA funds. The funds will also provide for approximately 93 new jobs beginning after July 1, 1976 and extending through September 30, 1977.

The funds were made available from the federal government to help ease the lay off of persons employed in public service employment programs under CETA. These lay offs would have occurred June 30 of this year.

New persons hired under the program will have to meet more stringent eligibility requirements. Hazlewood also indicated that there were some unemployment insurance problems which have to be worked out before additional persons can be hired.

Additional information on this program will be released to the news media at a later date.

Terrible Jean's Revenge

by Jim Fitzgerald

Thank you, Abdullah Sheik. Now I have a name for the only thing I ever did to Terrible Jean. It was the Camel Clutch. I read about the Sheik on the sports page. He is a professional wrestler and he is helping train Muhammad Ali for his boxing training match-but with a Japanese wrestler next month.

Terrible Jean is the oldest and most fearsome of my four formidable sisters. I grew up in her shadow. So did most of our neighborhood which, thanks to her, didn't need trees for shade. What I mean is she was a big girl, older, heavier and meaner than her only brother, a sweet boy who was so uninvolved he protested against the Vietnam war in 1965.

The shift is occurring

Rural America is where the action is these days... Rural areas are staging a comeback.

This renewed growth and vigor in rural America is one of the most dramatic population news stories in our country today. During the first four years of this decade, 1.6 million people moved to the nation's non-metro areas then moved away from them.

Industry is finding more and more advantages in the countryside and rural towns. Stores on Main Street across America are being fixed up, rather than boarded up. Farmers are remodeling their homes, or building new ones, as well as constructing new grain handling systems and other buildings. And millions of people trapped in urban-living situations spend their spare time dreaming about a move to the countryside.

Before we go on any further, let us assure you that these are not remarks dreamed up by yours truly, the editor of your local newspaper, who has often been accused of having a lot of pipe-dreams. They are a portion of the remarks made by the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Rural Development, James E. Bostic, Jr. in an address before the State Conference of Farmers Home Administration at Raleigh, North Carolina on April 16 of this year.

Bostic went on to note that this is not a movement back to the rural area that is isolated to certain sections of the country or in certain states but a movement taking place nationwide.

It is a development that is occurring and with pretty sound and substantial data to substantiate the fact.

"Well, it may be taking place elsewhere but it is never going to happen here in Manising and Alger County." These, or words of a very similar nature and tone, are what we keep hearing over and over again from far too many people living in our county. Every time we start talking about the possibility of stimulating some growth, development and rejuvenation programs here, we have to keep saying why and we are doing it again here and now.

If other small communities and rural areas nationwide can experience a reversal of out-migration and stimulate new community growth and development by attracting people and new industry and commerce to their areas once again, why can't we?

In the time past due for many fellow citizens here to start dropping the "negativeness" that has apparently gotten built up in them and start thinking and working for area progress in a positive manner? We sure think so and hope that a whole lot more of our populace will start doing the same. It can be done if only we all really start trying once again.

Profile of the Peacock

by Jack Anderson With Joe Spear

WASHINGTON - The Shah of Iran is probably the world's most pompous ruler. He is a megalomaniac who has just kicked air. He has squandered his nation's oil billions upon his dreams of glory. His throne, appropriately, is called the Peacock Throne.

To feed his ego, he lures famous people to Iran by throwing lavish parties and paying all their expenses, like jet-setting to jet-land of celebrities, including actress Elizabeth Taylor, to Tehran, for example.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has courted the Shah assiduously. Kissinger looks upon Iran as the guardian of U.S. interests in the Persian Gulf. He wants to make sure that the fabulous oil fields of the Persian Gulf remain under friendly domination.

He tries to manipulate the Shah by flattery. Kissinger writes letters to Shah, for example, which our sources describe as positive obsequiousness.

But we have had access to some disturbing intelligence reports on the Shah. These warn that his authoritarian rule and imperial airs are alienating his people.

The secret reports describe the Shah as dangerously isolated and aloof. He has also lost most of the experienced elder statesmen who once dared to question him and offer advice he didn't want to hear.

The Central Intelligence Agency has compiled a psychological profile, which suggests that the Shah is really insecure behind all the outward pompousness.

His psychological problems, according to the study, go back to his childhood. His father, the Reza Shah, had an explosive, caustic temperament and had little patience with his son. The junior Shah was also a sickly lad, given to daydreaming.

One time, the old man came upon the boy standing beside a palace pool. The father asked the boy what he was doing. The boy replied, "Thinking." Thereupon, the senior Shah uttered a roaring curse and booted his heir into the pool.

CIA psychologists believe that the Shah's cruel father, his years as a pawn of the West and his fear of impotence contributed to an enormous inferiority complex. Now this insecure man, showered with oil billions and bolstered by the United States, is determined, according to the psychologists, to show the world.

FBI Pinketers: The Drug Enforcement Agency is preparing to use computers to catch doctors and pharmacists who prescribe drugs for the black market.

Across the nation, many supposedly respectable doctors are abusing their prescription powers. They write phony prescriptions for amphetamines and barbiturates. The crooked physicians sometimes work with crooked pharmacists, who order massive stocks in order to fill the phony prescriptions.

The result has been to flood the streets with illicit pills. These pills, contrary to popular belief, cause more deaths than heroin. But the doctors make huge profits on this dirty business.

Letters to The Editor

Letters from readers are welcome. All letters to the editor must be signed; however, names will be withheld if requested. Views given are not necessarily those of the Pioneer Tribune.

Dear Editor:

The Michigan Supreme Court's decision last week removed the last major obstacle to immediate legislative action on the voted 1975 Political Reform Law. The Court upheld all but one of the vital sections of the Reform Act and suggested how that portion could be redrafted to meet constitutional standards. It is now clear that strong and comprehensive political reform legislation is constitutional under Michigan Law.

Michigan Common Cause believes that the Legislature should move immediately to enact the reform law in four separate measures - making public funding and campaign finance the first priorities. This year must be the last year in which individuals and groups can secretly go unlimited amounts to candidates for public office.

No longer can we afford to operate under the loophole-ridden election laws now in effect. The legislature must act this year to assure that the 1978 elections will be covered by a strong election reform law. There is no reason now for foot-dragging on political reform.

At its May 2nd meeting, the state policy board of Michigan Common Cause resolved to seek legislative reenactment by the Fall of all portions of the 1975 Reform Act, except for the changes mandated by the State and Federal Supreme Courts and the changes we are on record as supporting.

Dear Editor:

I will call this "The case of the missing Band," which failed to show up at the front recently. Some say no such band existed although it was contracted and paid for.

My supposition is that perhaps they got lost in the new school. That is silly, of course, but what isn't silly is that many things have been lost on that corner.

First, the loss of common sense, i.e. building a site so close to the downtown area when so many people live elsewhere, and the building of a huge, ferociously expensive school while other perfectly good schools are being closed or partially closed.

Second, the loss of sympathy for people who must pay exorbitant taxes when many can't afford the taxes they now pay.

Third, the loss of integrity by teachers who spend time elsewhere when they could be in their rooms, teaching and helping their students.

And last but not least, loss of principle or should I say "the principal." Where was he

The Michigan and U.S. Supreme Courts have now established that strong political reform legislation is constitutional.

- that public funding is permissible;
- that comprehensive campaign finance disclosure, record keeping, and contribution limitations are constitutional;
- that the regulation and public disclosure of substantial lobbying activity may be required; and
- that financial disclosure requirements for public officials are not an unconstitutional invasion of privacy, if appropriately narrow and precise.

Thus, the courts have cleared the way for action in the Michigan Legislature before this year's elections. Citizens may now have additional information by which to evaluate the commitment of their state representatives and senators to political reform.

Common Cause believes that the Legislature, with the initiative of Democratic leadership and the backing of Governor Milliken, is willing to follow through on its 1975 public commitment to political reform. We believe that the interest groups which oppose reform will not be able to prevent reenactment. Thus, Common Cause will work hard during the next six months to demonstrate the ongoing public concern for strong reform legislation in Michigan.

We intend also to confer with Republican and Democratic leaders in the Legislature, the Governor, and representatives of the political parties and major reform support groups, in order to build a strong, bipartisan coalition to work for re-passage of the reform laws. We trust that the deep-seated public desire for greater openness, accountability, and integrity in politics will produce speedy and decisive action in the Michigan Legislature.

Signed, Nancy Crane, media contact for Common Cause of Michigan when these teachers were not doing their job properly?

I know the loss of the band that apparently never existed is sad but not nearly as sad as the story of the new school that should never have existed but now is and ever will be a terrible blunder on the part of a few people.

I called this "The case of the missing band." Perhaps that is a misnomer. It is much more than that.

In the case of at least a whole generation suffering because of a few people building their egos with bricks and cement, a swimming pool and offices, and a school, instead of depending on the building of fine minds from their efforts in the classroom.

In conclusion, let me say I am sure there are fine teachers and students there who please do not allow yourselves to sink in the sea of mediocrity and uncaring people around you. Perhaps there are enough of you to counteract their influence and perhaps make them see their mistakes. All I can say is I hope so.

Raising the shade

by Frank Senger

If you're anything like me, morning is a pretty bad time for you. During the first hour or so after I have awakened it seems like everything takes twice as long to accomplish as it does later in the day. Showering and shaving is a chore. And making and drinking a cup of coffee can take forever when your mind is moving at half speed. The biggest challenge is getting into the shower and I guess I haven't progressed much from childhood as I still wander around the house and take far too long to dress for the day.

Lately the job of getting started in the morning has been complicated further by a fellow sitting behind a desk in New York. When the alarm punctures my sleep every morning at 7:30 I've begun the day for the past couple of months by turning on the CBS morning news and Hughes Rudd. The news may not be all that good at that hour of the morning, but Hughes is.

Rudd doesn't take the news of himself too seriously and that's kind of refreshing after years of broadcast newsmen who deliver the news as if it were inscribed on their hands down from on high. Rudd's approach to the news is a little more human and I now find myself with one eye on the TV and the other casting about for a mate in the one sitting in my hand.

Rudd always closes the show with a whimsical bit that leaves you with a smile on your face and you can't start the day in a lousy way.

CBS knows when it's got a good thing going and two weeks ago I received a little note from the man's newsroom department with some of Rudd's most memorable closing pieces. One of the funniest I would like to share with you. For more of the same you can risk and shade with the rest of us at 7:30 each morning.

"The problem in Bogota, Colombia, according to the Associated Press, is a plethora of chickens. The chicken farmers in that area have over-produced to the point where a chicken war has broken out and driven the price way down; and that, get it, in our country this Sunday is protest, each chicken will be fitted out with a colorful little parachute, the poultry man says; and anybody who can catch the chickens after they touch down can keep them (which will, of course, be easier said than done, since a freshly parachuted chicken is certain to be a manic chicken. Chickens get hysterical just having a jump off the front porch to escape the cat; so we can imagine what they'll be like after falling out at a thousand feet. Our guess is, that come Sunday night, Bogota will be full of wild-eyed chickens in bedraggled parachute harnesses running through the streets to the city hall assembly point. That's the way real paratroopers behave, after all, except that chickens certainly aren't getting up there getting any supporting fire from the artillery.

If we were living in Bogota, we'd spend all our Sunday incomes.

Anyway, we hope nobody around your house is seeing Rhode Island Reds screaming "Geronimo!"

Hughes Rudd in the morning is like raising a shade to let a little sunshine in.

day be a great thing for draft deferres thirty-five years later I still have psychological scars from growing up in the cesspool of being trained by a shade tree with her skirt tucked into her bloomers. A scar quivered the other day when I received a letter from Dolores Messing who lives in Southfield near Terrible Jean. Mrs. Messing asked why I had failed to report that Terrible Jean recently won a tennis tournament in Los Angeles. She accused me of being jealous of Terrible Jean's incredible talent, even when we were small children.

It was easy to figure out what had prompted Mrs. Messing to write. Terrible Jean had dictated into her ear while sitting on her bed.

I was surprised to learn Terrible Jean had won a tennis trophy. I used to be her favorite opponent and she was shrewd. Her strategy was to smash the ball into my face. I was too skinny to swallow it and too weak to spit it back over the net.

Terrible Jean was a marvelous winner. Something exciting such as throw me in the sea. Clair River. I could swim but the courts had stuck in my mouth kept me afloat.

In Canada there is probably a river awash with Terrible Jean's latest victims.

lunatic I would like to share with you. For more of the same you can risk and shade with the rest of us at 7:30 each morning.

"The problem in Bogota, Colombia, according to the Associated Press, is a plethora of chickens. The chicken farmers in that area have over-produced to the point where a chicken war has broken out and driven the price way down; and that, get it, in our country this Sunday is protest, each chicken will be fitted out with a colorful little parachute, the poultry man says; and anybody who can catch the chickens after they touch down can keep them (which will, of course, be easier said than done, since a freshly parachuted chicken is certain to be a manic chicken. Chickens get hysterical just having a jump off the front porch to escape the cat; so we can imagine what they'll be like after falling out at a thousand feet. Our guess is, that come Sunday night, Bogota will be full of wild-eyed chickens in bedraggled parachute harnesses running through the streets to the city hall assembly point. That's the way real paratroopers behave, after all, except that chickens certainly aren't getting up there getting any supporting fire from the artillery.

If we were living in Bogota, we'd spend all our Sunday incomes.

Anyway, we hope nobody around your house is seeing Rhode Island Reds screaming "Geronimo!"

Hughes Rudd in the morning is like raising a shade to let a little sunshine in.

thanks to Joe Davis, Paul Villeneuve, and Freddie LaSuth, they are truly an asset to your fine community and you must be very proud to have them. I could fill your paper with the thanks but I sincerely all in your people for your town are simply just superb. We are still giggling over all the fun and the Indian at Jack Pine. We can hardly wait until we can return to your hospitable town.

As Ever-Your Friends,

WHICH WAY TO TURN?

There he goes, walking into the future. But what direction will he take? Whatever his choice, he will have to face problems and obstacles before his chosen goals can be reached.

One thing is sure, the years ahead hold much promise. One day he may be landing a job on a carrier's sea, building a bridge in a foreign country, closing a big sale, or perhaps covering a fast-breaking news story. But to successfully reach his goal he will have to find the strength and wisdom to rise above the knotty problems of life.

Fortunately, he need not make his decisions alone. With the help of the Church, he can determine a course for successfully living his life in the world of tomorrow.

Celebrating Spring and Love ...

When spring comes
 When spring comes, the snow will melt and go away, bringing the sun to stay longer.
 When spring comes, the ground'll thaw and become soft again and the grass'll start growing again.
 When spring comes, more and more birds will fly in the sky... to return to their vacation homes.
 When spring comes, the flowers will know more than they did before and bloom fuller.
 When spring comes, the water's will open up and let the ducks return to making people happy... when spring comes, when spring comes, when spring comes, I'll be thinking of you, once more. Ah! sunshine on my shoulders...

A True Sign of Spring

I like to think of springtime, Of flowers wet with dew. And of tender hearted lovers, As they pledge their love so true.

For green leaves and blossoms, Are true signs of spring. And so are the weddings, That this season brings.

rolling up the curb at night rolling up the curb at night there are long, dark shadows and deep purple splotches of rain. not enough rain to wash away the leaves or the sand or the fog, but enough to make the curb wet, and I can't sit in the night on a cold, wet curbstone. My Dad told me I'd get worms.

In Tune With Nature

The Forests are filled with lily's The robin sings his song. And the bluebird trills his promise, Of a clear and lovely dawn.

There's a gentle hush at evening, When the sun sets in the west. And I feel in tune with nature, As I linger here to rest.

The whippoorwill calls his plaintive cry, Out near his nest. And I think that I can truly say, That I like the springtime best.

Rainbow

they say that there's a pot o' gold at the end of the rainbow... so, that's why I'm continuing to exist. I want that rainbow because I'm in love with RAIN. I want that rainbow because, at the end of it, is my dream.

The Old Cooks Bar

The old Cooks bar is silent now. They've closed its friendly doors, no longer will you and I Step across its threshold, As we did in days of Yore.

They say the building is getting old, That it must be torn down, And when its finely done A landmark leaves our town.

As I pass the silent building, It always brings to mind, The times we stopped in there, feeling blue, and came out feeling fine.

The old bar was not just a stopping place. It gave us employment too, Helped put food on our table, Maybe a little left over for brew

The old bar like some neighbor, is gone Its voice is forever still, And our children will not remember The bar below Cooks hill.

Yes the old bar is silent now On life's stage it played its part But the memory of those happy times, Will live within our hearts.

Margaret Cantrall

I wanna be simple I wanna be free I wanna be me not like you, or him, or she, just me.

I wanna live in the country, in a green forest. . . . wakening up in the morning, dew upon the grass and running barefoot 'till I fall, that' all. Sharing my lunch with a rabbit it's a habit.

Riding a horse bare-back, on a sandy beach; windy day. Reading by the fireplace (at night) it's MY place curling up in bed. . . . wakening up again. . . . to the new morning. . . . simple, free, me.

When Down

When down, think of something, or someone that has or who has had some happiness for you. . . . once upon a time, it may work. Think of all the smiles you can remember - way back then - when. . . . you laughed; when you funned, you lived - learned. . . . loved.

And you know, the pain won't be as bad as it feels. Now because loving and losing can only hurt 'till a certain point. . . . then, that's when you know. . . . you loved.

My Friend, loneliness

if you want to get your message across, you have to have a definite thought...if you want people to accept you for what you are, you have to be able to accept others...if you encounter a distant happiness, you must be able to stand up to your wants an' needs an' go an' get it...if you feel that you need a friend, don't be afraid of seeking one...there's always one, right with you, yourself, the best friend you'll ever have. Alas! i've made friends with loneliness.

Laurie LaFave

Inspiration

a pen, a paper, some thoughts, some words, some sentences (maybe a frag.) a solution, a conclusion, then what?

Laurie LaFave

Mrs. Autumn

rain, wind, cold air, and stuck inside. looking out the window at the dismal life and thinking thoughts 'bout going out havin' a good time. I'm in love with Autumn an' he knows it. i want to get out as much as i can an' walk through his world an' be fascinated at his wonder. i want to walk through the woods an' smell the deoderant of his body an' breathe the air he breathes. i want to lay my body down on his an' feel the tremors of his heart. i want to make friends with the friends who are his. i want to befriend every living thing that inhabits his kingdom, his universe. i want to try to paint a picture of the beautiful colors he has in his living room; capture them an' wonder if i could ever be a part of his life. in the bible it says i will... but i knew i won't be... i want to be Autumn's wife.
