Council votes to cancel DPW purchase

The fate of the city's on-again, off-again purchase of heavy equipment for the Department of Public Works is still up in the air after the City Council voted 3-1 to readvertise for bids on a front-end loader and snow removal attachments at a special meeting last Wednesday.

Two days before, a split council had voted to spend $176,532 over seven years to purchase an unused 1980 model year loader from Bark River Culvert and Equipment Co. of Escanaba. However, at last Wednesday's meeting, Mayor David Vaughan moved to readvertise for bids and overturn the earlier action accepting Bark River Culvert's bid.

Although Vaughan said "I don't agree with the motion I made," he voted for it along with Council Member Bill Moreau. Bill Hackney, the only other council member present last Wednesday, voted against the motion.

"I don't think it's fair to the city, the people of Manistique or Bark River Culvert, but I don't know what else to do," Vaughan said. The council's reversal came as a result of complaints by Wally Leggett, salesman for Lakeshore, Inc. of Iron Mountain. Lakeshore's bid for the front-end loader was one of those rejected when the council accepted Bark River Culvert's bid. Because the original specifications given by the city to prospective bidders specified "one new 1982" loader would be purchased, Leggett claimed the city accepted a bid outside its own specifications when it voted to buy the 1980 loader.

Leggett, a candidate for council in the April 5 election, said he threatened to file an injunction against the city stopping the sale if the bid were not reconsidered. After researching the question last Tuesday, City Attorney Pat Kelly said since the bid accepted from Bark River Culvert was for a 1980 loader, the firm was able to offer it for a lower price. Kelly recommended that the council call the special meeting and reconsider the bids. Although Leggett was not present at last Wednesday's meeting, another bidder, D.C. Equipment of Escanaba, backed his contention that a 1980 loader could be offered cheaper than a newer model.

A representative for D.C. Equipment told the council "if we had had the option of bidding on a year or two older machine, our cost would be drastically less—not a few thousand dollars—basically less."

Council Member Bill Hackney pointed out that all the bids received—including Lakeshore's—offered equipment other than the 1982 model indicated in the bid specifications, and that Bark River Culvert's bid provided the cheapest monthly payments to the city, $2,125. He voted against the motion to reject the bids and start the process over again. Another point brought up by Leggett in his complaint over the specified "one new 1982" loader was questioned: the price charged by the firm for the 1980 loader. Bark River listed the price for a new 1980 International 540 loader as $159,655.

Five to vie for two seats on council

After a last-minute rush of business, City Clerk Pat Erickson reported Tuesday that there will be a full slate of candidates for the city election scheduled for April 5.

In that election, voters will select two city council members from a five-candidate field and nine members from a 12-candidate field.

Those elected to the Charter Revision Commission will serve only if voters at the same time decide to revamp the charter. If voters turn down the idea of a charter revision, the election of commission members won't count.

Five candidates completed nominating petitions for the two available seats on the City Council, according to Erickson. They are incumbent Bill Moreau and Jerome Peterson as well as John E. Strom, Mike Dougovito and Wallace Leggett.

Whomever among that field receives the largest number of votes will, by tradition, be named mayor of Manistique.

Erickson said that only five candidates had filed petitions for the nine-member Charter Revision Commission with Tuesday's 4 p.m. deadline drawing petitions close. A flurry of activity in the last half-hour, however, assured a full slate of candidates for the available seats.

The following will be listed on the ballot for the revision commission: Arlene Bryant, Billie Doyle, Dorothy Evans, Richard He Ketchik, Katherine LeBrasseur, Earl LeBrasseur, Phillip Ott, Lois Phillips and Elizabeth Schulze.

In addition to those candidates, whose names will be printed on the April 5 ballot, eligible residents may also run a write-in campaign.

According to an industry pricing book, the "Green Guide," the price for a new 1980 International 540 loader is only $131,285, over $20,000 less than Bark River's quoted price. At least three of the firms that bid on the equipment—Bark River Culvert, Lakeshore and D.C. Equipment—indicated they would submit bids under the new specifications drawn up by Public Works Superintendent Mike Leggett. The new notice asks for bids on a new front-end loader, but specifies "manufacture date 1980."

The council will consider the bids received on the new specifications at its next regular meeting Feb. 22.

First responder service starts in Inwood Twp.

There is a new emergency medical service available in Cooks and Inwood Township: "first responder" squads are now in service as the first line of care in emergencies. To reach a first responder squad in Inwood Township, call 644-2828.

Dave Neville, public safety officer with the City of Manistique, said that 24 people recently completed the first-responder training and that the service is now available in Inwood Township. In medical emergencies, Neville emphasized that the squads should be the first assistance called for. "As far as I'm concerned, they are the first line of care," said Neville, who instructed the course.

The two-man team closest to the emergency will respond and provide first aid while the city-county ambulance service is notified. Fast, capable medical response even in remote areas is the key to the first responder concept, according to Neville.

"When we have to go 20 miles to a scene, if we know a first responder squad is going to be there, we won't have to bust our tails getting there and maybe get in an accident on the way," he said.

Although the "first-responder" concept is not a new one, Neville said Inwood is the first to offer the service in Schoolcraft County. Basically, the purpose of the squads, according to Neville, is to provide a faster response to emergencies than is available through an ambulance. He noted that in sparsely populated areas, such as large parts of Schoolcraft County, it is not possible to always have an ambulance standing by for response within a few minutes of an emergency call. First responder teams, once established, provide the first link of emergency care. They would go to the scene of the emergency with supplies and begin treatment. "The concept would involve teams that would respond prior to the ambulance teams," Neville said.

Eventually, Neville said, the service may be available throughout Schoolcraft County. Another team, for the Thompson area, will be activated when equipment kits for the squad arrive. Wally Godlewski and Doug Erickson are the team members and can be reached at 341-2963 and 341-2720, Neville said. The equipment kits include items such as back boards, splints, dressings, oxygen and resuscitators.

Other Townships, Neville said, may have the service if interest warrants holding another course for volunteers. He credited Al Unger, Inwood Fire Department with setting up the training course recently.

December unemployment here 3rd highest in state

Unemployment in Schoolcraft County jumped over 12 percent in December to 29.3 percent, its highest level in years, according to figures released last week by the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESCC).

That jobless rate for December, up from 17.1 percent in November, gave the county the third-highest unemployment in Michigan. Only Mackinac County's 33.2 percent and Presque Isle's exceeded the jobless rate here. The 12.2 percent jump in the county rate was the largest in the U.P.

The December figures for unemployment in the latest available and follow the release of the statewide rate in December by five weeks. In December, Michigan's overall unemployment rate was 14.4 percent.

According to Bruce Weaver, area analyst for the MESCC, the Upper Peninsula had the highest rate, "For the U.P. as a whole, the increase was a sharp one, from 13.2 percent in November," Weaver said. "The U.P. rate was the highest figure since April of 1961 and the total number of people unemployed was the highest on record," he said.

Throughout 1981, the unemployment rate in the county was 18.5 percent, up 3.3 percent over 1980's 15.2 percent average rate.

A large part of the sharp jump in the number of people without work in the county in December is due to the layoff late in November of 230 workers at Inland Lime and Stone Co. in Gulliver.

That layoff accounted for over half of the increase of 450 in number of unemployed workers in the county. Because 164 Inland workers were recalled at the first of the year, the county's January unemployment figures will probably show a decrease from December's level.

Still, Weaver said that the December figures in the Upper Peninsula show more than the expected seasonal increase at year's end. "The increase was due to far beyond seasonal factors," Weaver said. Besides the usual decrease in construction employment in December, employment in the manufacturing sector of the U.P.'s economy was also down. "Manufacturing employment is at its lowest level since April of 1975. There are some short-term and some indefinite layoffs: an across-the-board increase" in unemployment, Weaver said. "It's not just a seasonal situation. We had the lowest employment in the U.P. in 20 years" last year, Weaver said, when an average of 13.5 percent of the labor force was looking for work. That dismal performance came despite a decrease statewide in joblessness in 1981 over 1980, to 12.3 from 12.6 percent.

Weaver attributed the worsening situation in the U.P. despite improvement statewide to a lag that typically delays a recession's impact here. "It does reflect the fact that in the past few recessions, the most severe unemployment in the U.P. has taken place a year after problems downstate," he said. In 1980—the worst year of the recession—Weaver noted the Upper Peninsula's jobless rate "didn't go up as sharply as downstate, which follows the pattern of past recessions."

By that same pattern, then, Weaver said that the unemployment picture is unlikely to improve this year, either locally or in the U.P. as a whole. "Certainly the figures are not encouraging. There are no indications at this point that the employment situation will improve in 1982," he said.

Surrounding counties had the following jobless rates in December: Alger 18, up from 16.8 percent in November; Delta 12.3, up from November's 9.7 percent; Luce 17.2, up from 15.2; and Mackinac 33.2, up from 24 percent in November.

Tentative county valuation shows $1.2 million increase

Tentative figures compiled by the county equalization director show that real property values in Schoolcraft County increased by $1.24 million last year, an increase of less than one percent.

Those figures—which may be increased or decreased by the County Board or State Tax Commission, will eventually determine the bill you receive for property tax on your house and land.

The tentative increase in 1982 of .69 percent compares with the final state equalized valuation in the county in 1981 of over seven percent.

County Equalization Director Odell Iverson cautioned that the preliminary figures for the value of real property in the county do not reflect any new construction that took place last year. Taking that into account, Iverson said "new construction was about the same in '81 as in '80, so I expect about a 1.7 percent increase" after new construction is included.

In terms of dollars, Iverson's tentative figures show that the equalized value of real property in the county is $74,531,198, up some $512,000 over the state equalized valuation in 1981. Since the "equalized" value is defined as half of the true cash value, the total cash value of real property in Schoolcraft County is over $148 million, up $1.2 million over 1981.

Release of the tentative figures and publication of the "equalization ratios and multipliers" is only one step in the complex process of equalization facing each of the states 83 counties each year.

According to state law, all property in the state subject to tax must be assessed at 50 percent of "true cash value." Just what the true cash value of any given property is what must be determined each year by local assessors, the county and, finally, the state tax commission.

The first step in the process each year is for the assessor in each township and the city of Manistique to determine the assessed value of each property owner's holdings. That assessed value is supposed to be 50 percent of its actual cash value.

After each assessor in the county (there are nine in Schoolcraft County) one for the city and each township) completes his assessment, he submits his findings to the county equalization department for its review. The department's job is to make sure that assessments are uniform across the county at 50 percent of true cash value.

To do this, Iverson said, the equalization department conducts spot checks of assessments in each jurisdiction. By conducting its own appraisals and through analysis of real estate sales, the department decides if the township or city did assess at 50 percent of fair market value. If it finds that the assessments

More cheese may be coming

An additional 70 million pounds of surplus cheese from stocks of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation have been made available for release without cost to states for distribution to needy persons.

State agencies have already ordered the initial 30 million pounds of processed cheese. The free cheese from the first order was distributed locally this week. They will have until July 1 to request the additional cheese. The amount each state will receive will be determined after consideration is given to each state's specific request. Agreements may be extended or amended for those States having already signed for a portion of the original 30 million pounds.

CBC committee needs cake bakers

Like to bake and want to help out CBC? At Monday's meeting, the CBC committee asked for volunteers to bake character cakes.

Anyone interested in baking a novelty character cake for the CBC fundraising drive in April should call either Judy McDonough at 341-2089 or Elizabeth Charter at 341-6071.

Moneys made from the cakes will go towards this year's CBC goal of $15,500. The 1982 radio-telethon will be held on Palm Sunday, April 4. The drive, now in its fifteenth year, has also exceeded its goal in the past. This year's goal is $500 over 1981's and $2,500 over 1979's goal of $13,000. Proceeds from the drive will again be split between the three charities the CBC drive benefits.

They are the American Cancer Society (the first "C" in CBC), the Blue Cliff Health Camp (the "B" in CBC) and Crippled Children and Adults (the former name of the Easter Seals Society and the second "C" in CBC).

Also at Monday's meeting, it was announced that the "backboards" posted at various bars around town were already off to a good start. Patrons donate $1 and sign their names to the boards. A "traveling trophy" is given to the bar garnering the most contributions. The trophy currently resides at the Harbor Bar.

Dorothy Hoholik of the committee said that the junior high school art class had expressed interest in producing and selling cutout silhouettes on CBC Day.

The committee agreed that the Manistique Homemakers Club would sponsor raffish as a CBC fundraising project.

The next meeting of the CBC committee will be held on Monday, March 7 at 7 p.m. in the board room of the high school. The public is invited.

Road Commission gets $6000 more

Despite a 5-percent decline in the amount of money collected statewide for gas taxes, the Schoolcraft County Road Commission received nearly $6,000 more from the Michigan Transportation Fund in the last quarter of 1981 than it did in the last quarter of 1980.

The increase is due to a 22 percent jump statewide in license plate fees over the last three months of 1981. According to the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT), the increase in license plate fees probably won't recur any time soon. MDOT said the "one-time increase was the result of conversion of the expiration date of licenses from March 31 to the drivers' birthday."

For Schoolcraft County, the jump in plate fees meant Transportation Fund revenues of $148,574.73 for the last quarter of 1981. That's an increase of $5,890.83 over the same period in 1980.

The main source of money for the transportation fund, gas taxes, saw a decline statewide in the last quarter of 1981 over 1980 of $5.35 million, to $102.7 million. That drop continues a trend reflecting less gas consumption by motorists.

At home with Sarah

by Sarah Bignall

Another recipe that was sent to me for use in this column is for hard rolls (Semmel). Florence Erick, of Marquette, who has given me other great recipes to share, sent this one. When I tried it out the rolls turned out just great. These rolls are made from frozen bread dough and are really easy to make. They come out as just regular dinner rolls - but exceptionally good ones - and they will fit into hard rolls until after they have been frozen and reheated.

HARD ROLLS (Semmel)

2 loaves frozen bread, thawed.

Divide each loaf into 8 to 10 rolls. Place on greased cookie sheet not touching. Cover with waxed paper and let rise. Make a slash on top of each roll with a sharp knife. Spray or brush with water.

Place pan of water on bottom shelf of oven (put water in oven when preheating oven). Bake at 400 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Cool buns, place in freezer bags at once and freeze. When you want to serve the rolls, warm in 300 degree oven about 10 minutes.

NOTE: Not crisp until after frozen and warmed.

Sarah says . . . when decorative candles become "shop-worn" and dusty and dirty, spray furniture polish on a cloth and rub them carefully. They will look new again.

City Bidding Clearer process is needed

The confusion last week over the city's purchase plan canceled for the time being of heavy equipment for snow removal points out the need for Manistiquie to clarify its bidding procedures.

The mix-up last week concerned whether the city could legally accept a bid for an untraced 1980 front-end loader when its notice to prospective bidders had specified that it wanted to buy a 1982 model. Before the council approved the purchase last Monday, City Attorney Pat Kelly said it could dismiss "slight deviations" between the specifications and the accepted bid.

It turns out that the model year affects price. Since price is, legally speaking, more than a slight deviation, it gives a firm offering an older model an unfair competitive edge over other bidders. On Kelly's recommendation, the council Wednesday overturned its decision and decided to re-advertise for bids.

Surprisingly, the city's new notice to bidders now specifies a 1980 model year loader. After last week's confusion, it seems that the city should state what range of model years are acceptable and allow bidders to make their best offer within that range.

Another way to reduce the confusion would be for the city to require bids to be submitted on a standardized form for easy comparison. Other cities use such forms with success.

We also feel it would be a good idea to have the bidders present when the council makes its decision on a purchase. Had they been at the meeting last Monday, the questions about the year and price of the equipment could have been raised before, instead of after, the council's decision.

Last week's episode was not the first time the city has had problems with confusion in its specifications to bidders. When it awarded the bid for construction of the off-street municipal parking lot in October, bidders were again not certain for what exactly the city was requesting bids.

A final point about the bidding process was brought up by the city attorney in a written opinion submitted to the council last week: city ordinance requires that the city manager be the one to make recommendations on bids to the council. That procedure was not followed last week and we agree with Kelly that it "should generally be followed rather religiously."

Whatever steps the city may take to make its bidding procedure clearer, they are sure to be a help not only to the firms wishing to do business with Manistiquie but to the city council as well.

HOW TO CUT VETERINARY BILLS!

If you've got animals around your place, they're bound to become ill now and then. So, veterinarian Randy Kidd has given us a few hints to pass along to help you cut down on expensive vet bills.

First of all, there will often be a considerable gap among fees various animal doctors charge for the same services. Ask neighbors, or someone else who's raising backyard livestock, "who's worth it and who ain't?"

Many times, a vet may be esteemed for some specialty. Your laying hens, hutch rabbits, or milk goat may call for the services of one "all purpose" vet. But, if one of your prize Airedales gets sick, you might take it to a small animal clinic in the city which has better facilities.

You can save still more time by having the patient ready before the vet arrives. Don't wait until he or she knocks on your door to chase down the animal. If you can, put the critter indoors and have a good light available. You have a halter ready, too. And remember to provide warm water so the vet can wash his or her hands. In other words, you should try to be prepared with whatever equipment might be needed for any development.

It's also a good idea to have your livestock records on hand. A listless dog with a high fever and no appetite—that's already been vaccinated for distemper, for example, might be diagnosed differently than would such a beast that hasn't had the vaccine.

When the cause of an animal's trouble isn't immediately apparent, learn how to take its temperature regularly and keep a record of it until the vet arrives or till you get the animal to the clinic—so you'll be able to tell the doctor whether it's steady, rising, or falling.

Finally, make the best use as possible, and avoid causing it any more stress than is absolutely necessary. Be ready to assist your patient in any way you can.

Vaccinations, worming, and normal births are typical things that, with practice, the successful animal lover should be capable of managing without professional aid. And, of course, a good veterinary guide is as useful as any backyard homesteader's reference library.

Prevention, though, is still the best medicine. It's important to give your charges good food, exercise, and lots of sunlight. Provide a dry, clean place for them to sleep... keep their food and water pans washed... and rotate your pastures or keep their quarters clear, so the creatures won't walk in manure or have only ground-level grass to eat.

No matter what you do, though, you're still going to need the help of a vet from time to time. And, when you do get that bill, be satisfied in the knowledge that at least all you could do to help your animals, and to keep the cost to a minimum.

Social Security will survive but will be changed

Social Security will survive but changes will have to be made in the system which pays benefits to over 30 million persons to keep it solvent.

That was the message heard by over 300 persons who attended a conference on Social Security last Thursday, Feb. 11, at the National Guard Armory in Escanaba.

The meeting, called by Congressman Robert Davis, was cosponsored by the Upper Peninsula Commission for Area Progress (UPCAP) and the Local Community Action Agency.

Davis told the crowd that the Congress and President will protect the Social Security program in the years ahead, despite funding problems.

"Social Security is here to stay," Davis said, "but some changes will have to be made."

Davis said a 15-member commission, headed by economist Alan Greenspan, has been impaneled to make recommendations to Congress regarding the future of Social Security.

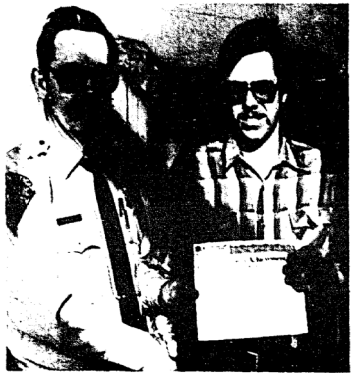

A report from that commission is expected by year's end. Both short and long-term Social Security problems and possible solutions were reviewed at the conference by Klaus Brock, an administrator from the regional Social Security office in Chicago.

As an example of the financing problem, Brock noted that when Social Security was started, each recipient was supported by 16 taxpayers. By 1982, that ratio had declined to just over three taxpayers to each recipient. By the year 2035, the ratio could be as low as two-to-one.

Brock said income into the system could be increased by raising the Social Security tax rate, paying benefits with general revenues, establishing a value-added tax, taxing Social Security benefits, or increasing income due to higher employment. The system could also be balanced by decreasing benefits. This could be done by reducing retirement rates, eliminating benefit categories, tightening eligibility requirements and tightening program administration.

Charles Farrell, manager of the Social Security district office in Escanaba, also spoke to the conference. He noted that the system distributes $12 billion in benefits each month.

Retirement benefits replace about 65 percent of the average worker's wage, Farrell said, with $677 the maximum monthly check. A worker, paying the highest rate into the system, would get total repayment after just 19 months under Social Security, he added.

A Manistique man was among the graduates of the truck driver training program at Lansing Community College. Completing the complex four week course of instruction, was Thomas L. Certification at ceremonies on Jan. 29 at the Fort Custer facility near Battle Creek.

The Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan, meeting in a special convocation at St. Stephens Church in Escanaba on Feb. 6, elected the Rev. Thomas K. Ray to be the eighth bishop of the diocese, which includes Curtis.

Ray is the Rector of St. Lukes Church in Evanston, Ill. He enjoys camping with his wife and four children. He has camped for many years in the Upper Peninsula; a-4 is an ardent fisherman.

Ray succeeds the Rev. William A. Dimmick, who has resigned to be an assistant bishop in the Diocese of Minnesota.

On Feb. 11, the newly-elected bishop gave his acceptance to the standing committee of the Diocese of Northern Michigan. The standing committee consist of the Rev. Thomas Lippert of Escanaba, president, Clifford A. Lewis of Curtis, secretary; the Rev. John Evans, auxiliary; the Rev. John Luth of Newberry; the Rev. Robert Scott of Gladstone; Mrs. Carol Clark of Rapid River and Mr. Robert Dahlin of Escanaba.

The Curtis Community Ladies Aid held their monthly meeting on Tuesday, February 9, at the town hall in Curtis. The theme was Valentine's Day and everyone enjoyed the usual bouquet and delicious potluck. The hostesses were Agnes Housman, Alice Morrison and Lillian Owens. Thirty-eight ladies turned out which was unusual for a winter meeting. Perhaps everyone needed to get out after the snowy January.

Since there was no meeting at the Christmas party and the January meeting was called off because of the weather, the business meeting was a little longer than usual.

Since some of the funding of the library has been cut, like all other libraries, the Ladies Aid nominated a committee to find out how the Ladies Aid can best support the library by taking up some of the needs. The library is county-supported, but with the cuts in the budget, the Aid wanted the librarian, Shirley Burns, to realize that the Ladies Aid is in back of her.

Virginia Niswonger, activities director at the Lakefield Nursing Center, spoke to the ladies, describing the kind of activities she is planning and asking for magazines, old jewelry, trinkets and note paper for use in their activities.

Lorraine Wagner, family living aide of the Home Extension Service was a guest and gave a talk about how the family living aide can help with every-day living problems.

The next meeting will be held on March 9. The hostesses will be Florence Allen, Lillian Owens and Dorothy Webber.

Jayvees split thrillers with Iron Mt., Braves

To say that the Manistique J.V. basketball team has been involved in a couple of tense games recently would be putting it mildly.

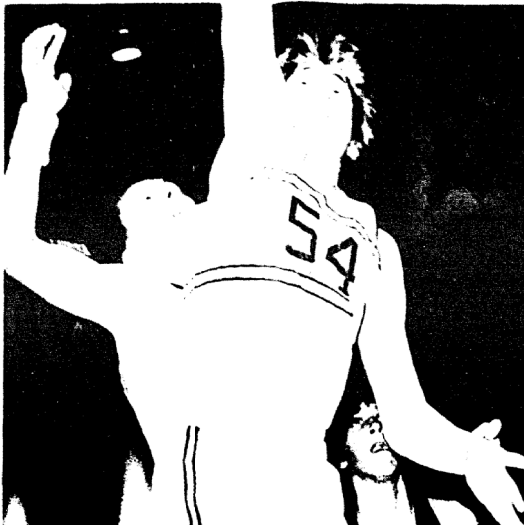

Last Friday night, Kevin Anderson fired in a twelve foot jump shot with one second left in the game and his team trailing 33 to 32 to give the Emeralds a well-deserved victory over Iron Mountain. The J.V.'s, with a determined effort, gave the Mountaineers their third loss of the year.

On Tuesday night at Gladstone, the J.V.'s couldn't stop a strong comeback by the Braves and were overcome in the last minute 35 to 31. Manistique took a 29 to 25 lead into the fourth quarter, but could only score 2 points in the final quarter and that spelled disaster. Gladstone hit 8 free throws in the stretch while Manistique could only connect on 2 out of 6.

In the Iron Mountain game, Dean Bolt scored 10 points. Denny McBurney and Kevin Anderson scored 8 points each. Steve Calhoun added 6 and Ken Peterson 2 to round out the scoring. At Gladstone, Ken Peterson led the J.V.'s with 10 points. Dave Reid and Kevin Anderson added 6 each. Dean Bolt chipped in with 4. Jeff Erickson and Denny McBurney each scored 2 and Steve Calhoun pitched in with one point.

The J.V.'s, with 8 wins and 7 losses on the season, face Negaunee at home on Friday.

DAVE ARCHER of the freshman basketball squad has been on a tear lately, setting a freshman school record against Manistig by pouring in 40 points. In Tuesday's game against Gladstone, Archer tied the previous record, 30 points, for the second time this season. He snagged

18 rebounds and six steals as well against the Braves. He is shown here in his last Friday's 45-41 loss to Iron Mountain. (Gordon Archer photo)

Emeralds bring 11-4 record against Negaunee

The Emeralds' varsity basketball squad managed to hold on to salvage a 48-46 win against the Gladstone Braves Tuesday after dropping its third game in four outings Friday to the Iron Mountain Mountaineers.

Tuesday's was a non-conference game that put the Emeralds' overall record at 11-4, while Friday's 59-46 loss to the Mid-Pen Conference-leading Mountaineers dropped Manistique to 6-4 in conference play. It also pretty well crunched any hope the Emeralds had of giving Iron Mountain a late-season challenge for the Mid-Pen championship. Iron Mountain, undefeated both overall (14-0) and in Mid-Pen action (9-0), would have to fold completely to give either Manistique or Negaunee, second and third in the conference, a chance at the crown.

Neither Negaunee or Manistique were mentioned in the UPI statewide poll of Class C teams released Tuesday. Manistique last week received an unranked honorable mention before the loss to Iron Mountain, which moved up to sixth in the state in this week's rankings. Within the U.P., the Emeralds managed to hold on to fourth place in the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers and Sports-casters Association's Class A-B-C poll. Manistique trailed Menominee, Iron Mountain and Marquette but maintained its lead over Negaunee, which moved up into the fifth spot in the poll.

Negaunee, with a 7-4 Mid-Pen record and 10-4 mark overall after last weekend's play, will face Manistique here this Friday at 8 p.m. in what Emerald coach Seb Rubick called an "important" game.

"They're all important right now," Rubick said, but added that "Negaunee has been playing well lately and right now we're struggling." When the Emeralds last faced the Miners at Negaunee early last month, they handed them their first defeat of the season, 56-44. Manistique has had little trouble handling Negaunee the last few years, with last month's victory the fifth straight over the Miners.

Still, as Rubick noted, Manistique's inconsistent play of late could upset the pattern. Negaunee can score from the perimeter as well as driving through a defense for layups, he said.

"They like to go inside but can also shoot from the outside. They've got a well-balanced team," he said. Leading scorer this season for the Miners is 6-1 forward Jerry Pirkola. Their big man at center is 6-3 Robbie Lind.

Next Tuesday, Manistique will continue the home stand against Big Bay de Noc. After jumping out to a quick 5-0 start, the Black Bears stumbled and lost six in a row and have yet to again find their style. Big Bay lost last Saturday to the North Central Jets to lower its overall record to 7-7. Key players for the Black Bears are Corey Potvin and Bill Taluplu.

THE EMERALDS' George Bosancic chipped in two points last Friday in a losing effort against the conference-leading Mountaineers.

three guards and one forward, the Emeralds spotted only two, with Ron Burns shifting duties to forward.

The purpose of the shift, according to Rubick, was to get the ball under the basket and spice up the inside scoring attack. "I'm trying to make a conscious shift to make my inside people more active. I want to get the ball to everybody—spread it around and get more people involved," Rubick said.

The strategy seemed to work against the Braves. Center Ken Mills worked well as the inside man and came up with game scoring honors with 13 points. "I don't know if that's the reason Mills came up with 13 points, but it seemed like he was more active," Rubick noted.

Starting forward Randy Peterson also performed capably, snagging nine rebounds and scoring 4 points. Burns tied with Peterson for rebounds and added 10 points. Greg Turan had 11 points and led in steals with four.

Manistique built up stable leads several times Tuesday only to see them whittled away by the persistent Gladstone team. In the first period, a 10-2 lead evaporated to a tie going into the second. With two minutes left in the half, the Emeralds led by 8 points, 22-14, but scored only 2 more points and went into the third stanza 24-22.

It was more of the same in the second half. After scoring the first 6 points of the third period, the Braves came back to within 4.

In the final stretch, Manistique built an 8-point lead and Gladstone peeked away to within 2 with eight seconds left, before the Emeralds got the ball back and preserved the victory.

From the field, Manistique shot what Rubick described as a "sub-par" 38 percent, hitting 20 of 52 shots. What's par? Around 43 percent. Rubick said. Gladstone shot 36 percent from the field.

Scoring for Manistique: Mills 13, Turan 11, Burns 10, Godlewski 6, Mickelson and Peterson 4.

Score by quarters: Manistique: 12 12 14 10-48 Gladstone: 12 10 10 14-46

Last Friday, while the Mountaineers didn't look as strong as their record would indicate, there was no mystery in why they rolled over the Emeralds. Cold shooting doomed Manistique from the first quarter, when only 20 percent of the shots from the field scored. Overall, the Emeralds shot a frigid 28 percent Friday.

"That was it in a nutshell," Rubick agreed. "We both started out cold, but Iron Mountain got untracked and we never did."

The Mountaineers shot 46 percent from the field and outscored the Emeralds in all but the fourth quarter. Even then, with Manistique netting 18 points to Iron Mountain's 15, the Emeralds only hit 25 percent of their shots from the field.

Mike Godlewski was the most consistent if not the highest-scoring-shooter for Manistique Friday, with 10 points. He hit four of 14 shots from the field for 36 percent, the best accuracy on the squad. "You don't beat a team like Iron Mountain with your best shooter shooting 36," Rubick said. "Maybe your worst shooter shoots 36, but not your best."

Defensively, Rubick was satisfied with his team's play Friday, despite Mountaineer center Bob Landsee's ability to penetrate the Emerald zone. "It wasn't a bad defensive game, although we were concerned about their inside game and that may have opened up their outside game. Landsee didn't kill us inside," Rubick said.

Scoring for Manistique: Burns 12, Turan 12, Godlewski 10, Mills 4, Peterson and Bosancic 2, Farley 1.

Score by quarters: Manistique: 6 10 12 16-46 Iron Mountain: 11 17 16 15-59

Softball captains will meet Wed.

The ladies softball league captains will meet Wednesday, Feb. 24, at 7 p.m. in the high school board room.

Freshman scalp Braves at Gladstone Tuesday, 61-37

by Gordon Archer

At Gladstone Tuesday, the Manistique freshmen rolled over the Braves 61-37. The Emeralds trailed after the first quarter 14-11 but took the lead for good early into the second period and then coasted through the fourth quarter with the bench getting a lot of playing time.

Dave Archer had his best all-around performance, scoring 30 points, hauling down 18 rebounds and tallying six steals. As a team the Emeralds shot over 50 percent from the field, making 23 of 48 shots.

They also did very well at the free-throw line, netting 15 of 23 shots from the stripe.

Manistique had a big edge on the boards 48-23.

Center Jim Bouman turned in a strong performance scoring 12 points and grabbing 11 rebounds but ran into early foul trouble and sat out half of the game. Starting guards Gary Burns and Craig Nedeau each dished out five assists.

Scoring for Manistique: Archer 30, Clement 4, Bouman 12, Burns 8, MacPhail 3, Nedeau 2, Foley 2.

Last Friday, against Iron Mountain, the Emeralds did everything right except put the ball through the hoop and lost 45-41.

It was a frustrating loss for Coach Mike Ota, who said "We did everything well but win. The boys played good defense, brought the ball down through Iron Mountain's press with ease, took good open shots and rebounded well but we didn't make the shots."

As a team, the Emeralds made only 10 of 64 field goal attempts and were 3 of 11 at the free throw line. Scoring for Manistique: Archer 13, Bouman 12, Burns 7, Nedeau 5, Clement 2. The Emeralds had a slight edge on the boards 37-36, with Archer hauling down 14 and Bouman 10.

On Friday night, the freshmen will take their 'J' overall and 4-2 conference records against Negaunee in a home game starting at 4:20.

Manistique's Junior Hockey teams were on the move this past weekend. The Bantams, Pee-wees and Squirts were in Iron Mountain Sunday, and the Mites played their first game in Escanaba.

The Limestone Federal Credit Union Bantams played to a 3-3 tie with Iron Mountain. Goal scorers were Phil Quinn with two and Bill Hoholik with one. Assists went to Mark Hoholik with two and Jon Archambeau with one. Phil Quinn was busy in the nets, but the saves were not recorded.

The Pee-wees lost their game to Iron Mountain, 3-2. Scoring for the Peoples Store Pee-wees were Paul Price and Nick Hoholik. Getting assists were Paul Price and Rex Miller. Again, the shots on goal were not recorded, but goalie Phil Berger was kept busy.

The Squirt team, sponsored by Malloy Insurance, lost their game 10 to 1 with Nick Brulla getting a assists goal.

The Mites, sponsored by Hobo's Plumber, lost to Escanaba 18-0. This was the first game the Mite team has played.

Last weekend, the Bantams played in a tournament in Iron Mountain losing three games by scores of 3-0, 1-0 and 5-1, with the lone goal being scored by Jon Archambeau.

On Saturday, the Squirts team hosted Newberry and came away with a 4-2 win. Scoring were Jeff Grimes with two, Jeff Vanderville and Mike Brulla with one each.

The "Hockey Moms" will be holding a bake and craft sale and a raffle on Friday, Feb. 28 at the Peoples Store.

The next games will see the Manistique teams hosting Meonime this Saturday, Feb. 20, at the Fair Building.

'Engineers' Week' to focus on America's revitalization

"Engineers: Pioneering America's Revitalization" is the theme for National Engineers Week, February 21-27, according to Dr. Gordon P. Krueger, U.P. chairman of the event. The annual celebration, now in its 32nd year, is sponsored by the National Society of Professional Engineers through its 535 local chapters.

Krueger, a member of the Douglas Houghton chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, said that this year's Engineers Week theme "focuses on a very timely concept: that America's revitalization is, in part, made possible by engineers—our current pioneers."

Gene Johnson of Manistique is scholarship chairman for the chapter.

D.N.R. Report

Grand Marais has most snow; deer yard poaching is up

Outdoor recreationists are getting out a bit more these days. Weather conditions, while not ideal, are greatly improved. Grand Marais is the leader in the snow depths for the district this week, with 3.4 feet.

The district is experiencing a sharp increase in persons being arrested for violations of killing or attempting to take deer deer yards. Thirty-seven arrests have been made and 12 illegal deer recovered during the past few weeks.

The impact of this serious illegal activity can have a real effect on the number of deer available for legitimate hunters during the hunting seasons.

Citizens are asked to cooperate by reporting illegal hunting activity to the nearest D.N.R. office or conservation officer.

February 19 is the deadline for Michigan artists to submit their designs for the 1982 Waterfowl Hunting Stamp art contest. Entries may show any living species of migratory game bird common to Michigan (except the Canada goose, scap or buffhead, which were the last three winners). The winning design will be displayed on next year's Waterfowl Hunting Stamp. Contest rules and agreement may be obtained from the DNR Wildlife Division, Box 3028, Lansing 48909.

The D.N.R. has recently been contacted for information on the location of free floating islands. These are generally mats of associated plants and plant materials able to persist as independent features for several seasons. They are readily distinguished from other floating mats by their having no land connection and moving freely about a body of water in response to prevailing winds. We would be glad to pass on any information we may receive regarding this phenomena.

NORTHERN PIKE - Spearing reported fair to good in the upper St. Marys River around the Coal Docks. Some pike speared in Munuscong Lake in Allard's and Flower's Bay. Fair success on northern in Jamestown Slough (Manistique River) and Gulliver Lake. Intermittent hits in St. Martins Bay and a few pike speared in Maxton Bay, Drummond Island. Some pike taken in Government and Musky Bay, Cedarville. Brewort Lake reported poor for northern and perch.

WALLEYE - Ken Deckert of Newberry caught a 23", 5-3/4 lb. walleye in Millicouin Lake Tuesday. He had just moved his shanty and was fishing for pike with a tipup and minnow when the walleye struck. Some walleye are being taken in Island Slough (Manistique River). Fishermen are getting walleye off and on in Munuscong Lake between Pine Island and Barbeau Pt. and in the deeper water around Moon Island.

PERCH - Being caught at the north end of Indian Lake - pretty good sized ones, too. Some taken in Island Slough, Cedarville area - Muscalonge. Government and Hessel Bay - has been producing some decent perch fishing; last week Hessel Bay was the best. Some perch taken in Maxton Bay, Drummond Island. Fishermen are complaining that the perch are biting so lightly you can't even tell they are on the hook.

WHITEFISH - MENOMINEE, HERRING - Good reports of herring fishing in the lower St. Marys River around Sugar Island. Some success spearing whitefish and menominee in the upper St. Marys River around the Coal Docks.

LAKE TROUT - Since August, 1980 the lake trout sport fishery has been subject to restrictive creel limits (zero to 1 fish) in northern Lakes Michigan, Huron, and eastern Lake Superior. Trout stocks are depressed in these areas due to excessive gill netting. It was hoped that these severe rules on the sport fishery would dissuade gill netting and lead to rapid restoration.

tion of stocks. This action failed due to recent court action.

Therefore the NRC has allowed the existing restrictive rules to expire. Effective April 1, 1982 the lake trout creel limit is restored to 3 fish daily in northern Lake Huron and eastern Lake Superior.

weighing 20 pounds, was "the first decent fish I've seen," on the lake, according to Demers.

Concealed weapons board will meet at the Courthouse

A meeting of the Concealed Weapons Licensing Board for Schoolcraft County will be held in the courthouse on Tuesday, Feb. 23, at 3 p.m.

THE ESCANABA OPTIMIST hockey team won the 1982 Manistique Kiwanis tournament held Feb. 6 and 7 at the fair building. The Optimists ended up with a 3-1 record, losing only to Iron Mountain 5-4, and clinched the championship in the last game Sunday afternoon by beating the Escanaba Elmer's Super-Vals team 8-4. The final standings were—Escanaba Optimists, 3-1; Iron Mountain, 2-1-1; Manistique, 2-1-1; Newberry, 1-3; Escanaba Elmer's Super Vals, 0-4. This was the first annual Kiwanis

Pee-wees tournament held in conjunction with the Manistique Hockey Association. Booster buttons are still on sale for the remainder of the season to provide funds for a scoreboard which will be in operation by next season.

Comments needed on forest planning

Public comment is needed to help update plans for the future management of the state's natural resources, says Roy E. Droege, supervisor of the Hiawatha National Forest. He urges public involvement in this process. Droege explains that such comment will be used in preparing the 1985 Resources Planning Act (RPA) program. This week is a series of scheduled meetings of the long-range plan for managing the 190-million-acre national forest system as well as U.S. Forest Service research and cooperative assistance activities. The public is being encouraged to review a publication, "Alternative Goals 1985 Resources Planning Act Program," which outlines aspects of the RPA program. Revised copies of the booklet are available at Hiawatha National Forest district offices and the Forest Supervisor's office in Escanaba; copies are also on file at public libraries in Escanaba, Gladstone, Manistiquette, Newberry, St Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie and Munising and at the State Library's Upper Peninsula branch in Escanaba. The deadline for written comments on the broad, national direction of land management planning under the RPA is March 15, 1982, at a Washington address listed in the booklet. Public comments are being solicited on national goals for timber, range, water, wilderness, recreation, minerals and energy, fish and wildlife, rural communities and human resources, international forests and resource protection.

Under the Resources Planning Act of 1974, the Forest Service is required to prepare an assessment of the state's renewable natural resources every 15 years and a program for Forest Service activities every five years. As in the past, public involvement will continue to be a key ingredient in the resources planning process, Droege says. Every American benefits in some way from the management of our forests and rangelands and we welcome their thoughts on how this important work should be conducted.

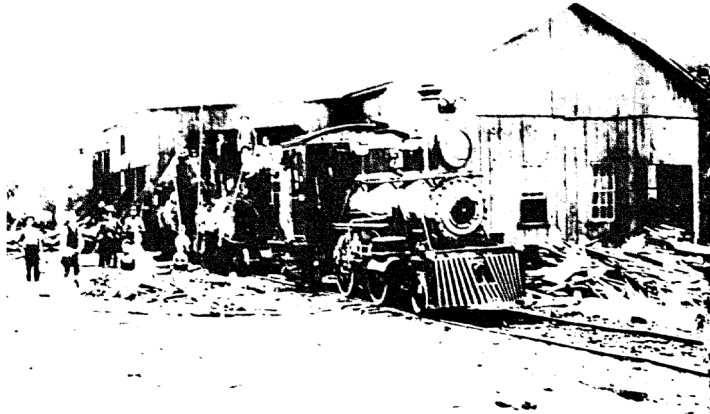

Headstart students to learn about poisoning prevention

Young children in the Head Start Program in Schoolcraft County will be learning about poison prevention through a free educational program now being made available U.P.-wide. Approximately 187 children in the tri-county head start program will participate in the program, announced Sally Harris, Head Start director for the Menominee, Delta, Schoolcraft Community Action Agency. The age group targeted by the programs has the highest incidence of accidental poisonings nationwide. The U.P. Poison Center at Marquette General Hospital reports that 83 percent of their calls concern children in this age group. Eighty-five students at the Curtis school will also participate in the program.

Each program kit for teachers includes large posters and teachers' guides for instructing children in poison prevention. The poison education curriculum can be implemented individually by each teacher. The project was made possible through the combined efforts of the U.P. Poison Center, the U.P. Emergency Medical Services Corporation and the Marquette-Alger Intermediate School District's Project AIDE. All three agencies are involved in the prevention of health hazards through public education. The educational kits were mailed to Head Start programs in late January for any lower elementary teachers to offer at their option. Harris said, "The program will help children understand about and identify poisons; learn how they make a person sick and learn how to prevent accidental poisonings. Also, parents will be given a Toll-Free Poison Center number for their families." Leslie Bek, health education consultant for the project said, "Any substance used incorrectly is a potential toxin. Young children suffer from the greatest incidence of poisonings, so this program sets about teaching them about poisons." Approximately 500,000 children aged five and under are poisoned annually. Partial funding for the program was made available from the U.P. EMS Corporation established in 1981 under a federal grant to develop and assist programs for enhancing emergency medical services for all Upper Peninsula residents.

Krusic sisters are on honors list

Central Michigan University's fall semester honors list includes two sisters from Manistiquette, Jacqueline Krusic, a senior at CMU, and sister Christine, a freshman, were both named to the list. In all, 1,125 CMU students made the honors list and 106 had straight A's. Total enrollment at the University for the semester was 16,477. Honors students were chosen from the top 10 percent of each academic class. In addition, to qualify for honors, a student had to have completed 12 or more letter-graded hours and have a grade point average of no lower than 3.50 (out of 4.0 possible). For the fall semester, 315 freshmen made the list, 308 sophomores, 270 juniors and 232 seniors.

THE CAPTION accompanying this old photo reads as follows: "South Manistiquette roundhouse and locomotive, with Jim Plich at the throttle." In this week's Memories we continue our findings about South Manistiquette, and offer some thoughts on reminiscences in general and this one in particular.

Recalling old railroad roundhouses

Maybe, for the sake of those readers who didn't grow up in the railroad era, we should talk a little about "roundhouses." Our photo this week shows a typical one but of course it is far from round. Originally most of them were circular, or at least semi-circular, and contained a large turntable complete with rails upon which a locomotive could be run and then either turned completely around or turned sufficiently to run onto other short tracks in the same building for the purpose of repair. These structures usually were located at the terminus of the rail line; engines could be reversed here without the necessity of building a large loop of track for the purpose of reversal of the locomotive. Usually there wasn't room enough, anyhow, to build such a loop in a settled area. The roundhouse shown here was at the southernmost end of the old Haywire, which once was the M&N and later the M&L.S. I suspect, although I have no facts to prove it, that this "roundhouse" was simply a storage shed for the locomotive, and repair shop, and that the real roundhouse was further to the north in Manistiquette. There just doesn't appear to be room enough here for a turntable adequate to the needs of reversing an engine. Any information to the contrary will be welcomed; we want to keep the record straight. The main part of this structure, at the right, appears to have been the sawmill. The engine is backing up and very large logs into the shed, and the existence of the pile of scrap lumber at the front of the building would seem to indicate that besides a place for engine storage and maintenance, this is also the mill building. Note that the locomotive steam whistle is blowing as the photo is being snapped. Also note the trophy just above the headlight. Some of the wives and children of the men are shown here, probably because the load for this mill. Too bad we don't have more factual information. Anyhow, it's a good photo.

We've been in touch with George Dorman again, you remember last week we ran his account of cutting on the Big Duck. This week we have his account of cutting on the Little Duck at the Frank Cookson and Harvey Saunders camp, in the years 1921-23: "The timber that was cut was spruce for the paper mill. From the camp to where we was cutting was 3 miles out and back, due south to the swamp on the Little Duck Creek. The timber was hauled to the main river (Manistiquette River) to float to the mill. The banking ground was where the bridge is now; hundreds of cords piled on the banks to go in the river just before the ice breakup. Where Glen Pawley's hunting camp is now is where the camp was, in the largest stand of jackpine still standing in the state. (This was cut off in 1980; too bad to see a stand like that being cut for paper.) "In 1923 my dad and my brothers and Bob Gould hunted there that fall and my mother was there, too, to cook for the crew. Some of the men cut wood for the camp for when they started up again in the winter. "That same winter, after the hunting season (Mom went home) my dad and I went into the camp to cut for the rest of the winter. I was 16 years old and this was all piece-work; two-and-a-half cents a stick and five cents for a double. Board was 60 cents a day. You went out at 7 o'clock in the morning and walked 3 miles out to the cutting, and back to camp in the dark...Sundays and all. It was sure cold. I'll tell you!" "Tom Williams was chore boy.

There was one man, John Green, from Germain, who was 80 years old. He would leave camp in the morning when we would, and then leave the woods at 2:30 in the afternoon and have 120 sticks piled up. I used to sneak over and watch him; he never lost any time. There was a lot of doubles. "Another man from town was Mr. Clish. He worked at the paper mill later. My brothers were "Teen" (Louis) and "Patched" (Russell). The following year the camp moved to the Big Duck; all they left at the old site was the office. "When you went out in the morning after breakfast you packed your lunch in a salt sack, and made your tea in a tin can for lunch. Walter Duquette and his wife done the cooking. There was about 25 cutters, some coming and some going all the time. "When the camp moved out, the old office building was left, this was taken over by a trapper from down state. He couldn't catch a bear so he up and left. But then he made camp at the Big Duck campsite for his meals; this was after the camp had moved in 1923. One night in camp for a double. Board was 60 cents a day. You went out at 7 o'clock in the morning and walked 3 miles out to the cutting, and back to camp in the dark...Sundays and all. It was sure cold. I'll tell you!" "Tom Williams was chore boy.

Ralph and Jean Bala of the First Presbyterian Church, Marquette and Jim and Marge, St. Peter, Marquette will be the host couples.

The weekend is a series of talks presented by the team with time given for personal reflection and dialogue between husband and wife. Health office now closes 1/2 hour early

Health Department offices are now open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The 1/2-hour earlier closings began Feb. 3, according to Dr. James C. Terrian, Director of the Luce-Mack-Ingalls-Alger-Schoolcraft District Health Department. This reduction, from an eight hour day to a seven hour day, is necessary because of budget restrictions, Terrian said, and affects the local office in the County courthouse.

I've so much good news to tell you. I don't know where to begin with first. Let's start with our winter roast last Saturday. It may not have been 95 degrees in the shade and the sun wasn't shining on the outside, but you should have seen the rays of sunshine on the inside. You would have thought we were in the middle of summer.

Fifty people enjoyed a summer picnic with the warm-weather spirit. We roasted potatoes, some in a black chat crisp. (Those were the best!) Potato salad, baked beans, potato chips and a relish dish made up our menu. For dessert marshmallows were roasted in the fireplace.

Paul and I would both like you to know how much we enjoy our monthly get-togethers. We enjoy getting together with our friends. We like the friendly atmosphere, the laughing and the good times. Thank you for making us feel so welcome.

We also had our raffish drawing Saturday night. Frances and I did the honors of drawing the winners.

The grand prize of the quilt went to Billie McGregor. Second prize, the step stool, went to Hazel Homing. The patio table went to Nels Halley. I would like to thank everyone who brought a raffie ticket and those who helped us sell the tickets. I'm sorry everyone couldn't have been a winner, but we're real happy for those that were. Our total raffie sale was $400. If you haven't been to the center in the last week you haven't seen our new furniture. In front of the fireplace we set up our own living room. We purchased a couch, two chairs, two end tables, two lamps and an area rug. Now you have a place to sit and visit. It looks so homes with the fire roaring and people sitting enjoying themselves. The furniture is beautiful and is here for everyone to enjoy.

The furniture was purchased out of a Grandmother's Attic profits. A big thanks to everyone who made this purchase possible.

We have put a bulletin board in the hallway. Now I can post all the coming events so that you can all be reminded. This bulletin board is also to be used by you. If you have an item you would like to sell, something you would like to buy, if you need a job done or if you want some kind of work, post it on the bulletin board. You may get some good results.

Our next month's get-together will be a Chinese potluck dinner. It will be March 20 at 5 p.m. Etis Webb has a surprise planned for you. Also, cards and bingo will follow. So get on your cooking and start looking for some recipes. This should be fun. For you people who haven't attended any potluck dinners mark this date on your calendar and come and join us.

Don't forget—Feb. 26 is the last day for the puzzles from the Timepiece. Make sure you get them in on time. You could be a winner!

Memorials were given to the Center in the name of Max Oetout by Frances A. Carlson; in the name of Lawrence Strayler by Emery and Mary Barnes; in the name of Mike Barkovich by Emery and Mike Barnes; in the name of George Brunet by Emery and Mary Barnes; in the name of Molly Wygal by Bill and Edith Washburn; in the name of Hollis Overton by Gertrude H. Overton; in the name of Martin Overton by Gertrude H. Overton; in the name of Harold Jeffrey by Laura Denny; in the name of Eleanor Schuster by Laura Denny; in the name of Milton Larsen by Laura Denny; in the name of Nettie Knut by Laura Denny; in the name of Lawrence Strayler by Laura Denny; in the name of Lawrence Gorsche by Laura Denny; in the name of Lena Lindbergh by Laura Denny.

Postage donations to supplement the cost of the Newsletter came from Louis and Delphine Rogers, Avis Anderson and Gladys Roberts. Margaret McNeil gave a generous donation of coffee to be used at the Center.

Mildred Mattson and Carolyn Stumpf gave a donation of books to the Center and Harriet Abramson gave a donation of carpet pieces to be used in our arts and crafts class.

All of these acts of kindness are greatly appreciated and we thank you for your concern.

There are guidelines for receiving disability benefits

by Amy Carlson
Social Security Representative

An individual's physical or mental impairment must be the primary reason for the person's inability to work if he or she is to be eligible for Social Security disability benefits. "Moreover, the physical or mental impairment must be medically determinable—that is, the condition must be subject to verification by medically acceptable clinical or laboratory diagnostic techniques," regulations say. In addition, the impairment must have lasted, or be expected to last, at least 12 months.

Being displaced from a job as a result of technological changes in an industry, or being laid off from work because of adverse economic conditions, does not make a person eligible for Social Security disability benefits. The impairment must be of such a serious nature that the individual is unable to engage in any substantial gainful work that exists in the national economy, regardless of whether such work is available in the immediate area in which the person resides.

Neither can consideration be given to whether a specific job vacancy exists or whether the person would even be hired if he or she applied for the job.

For more information, see the Social Security representatives who will be at the courthouse in Manistique from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the first and third Wednesday of the month. Most Social Security business can be handled by telephone. The Escanaba toll free number is: 1-800-561-4820.
