ED DESJARDEN breaks the wind during his first-place, 11.34-second finish in the 100-yard dash Monday

In a track meet against Big Bay, last Saturday, Desjarden broke the Manistique record in the 330-yard low hurdles with a 42.38 second time.

Emerald boys take Bears in meet

Well, the Emerald boys' track team had what could be called a mixed bag of results in its four outings over the past week.

On the plus side, the team won its first meet in two years Monday, taking Big Bay hands in the Emerald home opener, 73-54. That's not all—two school records fell as both Ed Desjarden and John Quick broke the old mark in the 330-yard low hurdles and Troy Farley broke his dad's record in the 100-yard dash (see story, page 1).

That's the good news. The bad news is that the Emeralds lost to Munising last Tuesday and well back in the pack in invitational meets at Newberry Thursday and Munising Saturday. Worse than that, Farley, who seemed ready to break the school record in the 200-yard dash—also held by his father—tore cartilage in his left knee while long-jumping at Newberry and is out for the season.

But, according to Emerald Coach Jim Hubbard, the bad news makes the good news all the better. Looking forward to this Friday's Mid-Peninsula Conference championships to be held at Gwin, Hubbard said his squad's victory on Monday after the week's setbacks will give it a psychological edge it might not otherwise have.

"I think the combination of Troy being hurt and our people then coming up with a strong performance—that combination of first the tragedy and us coming back and winning a meet helped our attitude a lot," Hubbard said.

The victory over Big Bay came during cold and windy weather largely on the strength of the Emeralds' performance in the field events. Besides sweeping the pole vault, the team picked up a first and third in the high jump and discus, a first in the long jump and two places in the shot put. "If you just look at the running, we would have lost by a point," Hubbard noted.

In the pole vault, Randy Peterson cleared 9½ feet to win it, Scott Tyler's 8½ feet was good for second and Mike Archer took third with an 8-foot vault.

Other first-place finishes Monday, worth 5 points apiece, were: John Quick, 45.43 seconds in the 330-yard low hurdles; Ed Desjarden, 11.34 seconds in the 100-yard dash; Des-

AIRBORNE JEFF ERICKSON Erickson won the event with a 16-foot, 11-inch leap, and the Emeralds won their first meet in two track meets held here Monday.

Emerald golfers compete in Oak Crest Invitational

The Emeralds golf team traveled to Norway last Friday to take part in the annual Oak Crest Invitational tournament against 10 other U.P. Schools.

Manistique came in ninth of the 11 schools competing, posting a 388-stroke total for its top four finishers in the 18-hole contest. That put the Emeralds well back in the pack, with Kingsford taking top honors in the tourney for its 326 finish. Ontonagon and Norway were the runners up, with finishes of 327 and 331.

For the Emerald boys, Craig Hepker had the best showing with a 95 for 18 holes, followed by Corey Miller with 97, Guy Arnold and Dan DeWinter with 98 and Mike Provo with 99.

The Oak Crest Invitational was the second contest of the season for the Emerald Linksters. The season opener was scratched, according to Coach Mike Powers, because of snow on the golf course.

The first match for the team was played last week against Westwood and Norway at Indian Lake Golf and Country Club. The Emeralds came out on the bottom of the heap, shooting a nine-hole total of 226 for their top five golfers.

The Knights came out on top with 210, Westwood was close behind with 213.

Corey Miller paced the Emerald boys with a snappy three-over-par 39 for nine holes. Mike Provo shot a 44, Guy Arnold 46, Craig Hepker 47 and Dan DeWinter 50.

The Emeralds girls fared better in the opener at Indian Lake, topping Westwood 290 to 306. Barb Calhoun led with a 49, followed by Julie Carlson's 52, Lynn Madigan's and Jackie Hoholik's 61 and Jamie Beckman's 67.

Bears squeak by girls

The Manistique girls' track team came up five points short of winning their first meet of the season Monday. Big Bay defeated the Emeralds, 63-58.

Despite the loss, Manistique had several fine performances.

Jenny Godlewski was the only Emerald to place in the 110 low hurdles, capturing a third with a time of 21.34 seconds.

In the mile run, Godlewski ran for a second place finish at 6:34.38 and Paula Adams placed third with a 7:45.38.

Shelby Lasich won the 440 dash, running it in 1:10.14. Darcy Hamill placed third in the same event with a time of 1:14.85.

A first place was captured by Lori Brulia in the 800 run. She ran that event in 2:54.09. Mary Hawn ran the half mile in 3:13.04, good for a third place.

Lasich placed second in the 220 yard dash, sprinting it in 30.10 seconds. The winning time was 28.89.

The only Manistique relay team to place was the mile relay team, composed of Darcy Hamill, Nancy Krusic, Shelly Lasich and Tammy Smith. Their winning time was 5:04.00.

In the field events, Danielle Olson jumped 4 feet to take a first in the high jump, while Barb Desjarden placed second with a jump of 3 feet, 10 inches.

Kim Mercier took first in the long jump with a jump of 12 feet, 8 inches. Darcy Hamill took third place in the same event, jumping 12 feet, 5.5 inches.

In the discus, Gerry Paquin threw 73 feet, 6 inches, good for a second place, while Nancy Krusic placed third with a distance of 64 feet, 2 inches.

Tammy Smith heaved the shot 29 feet, 9 inches to take a first place in that event. Kim Mercier placed third with a 26 foot, 3½ inches.

Last Tuesday, the girls traveled to Munising to take on the Mustang girls. Manistique lost that meet 98-24.

Winners for Manistique included Shelly Lasich with a time of 1:07.28 in the 440 dash, Mary McNamara in the two mile at 14:19.61 and Gerry Paquin in the discus with a distance of 76 feet, 11 inches.

Second place finishers were Kim Mercier in the shot with a distance of 26 feet, 7½ inches and Nancy Krusic in the discus with a 65 foot, 2 inch throw.

Three third places rounded out the scoring for Manistique. Jenny Godlewski placed in the mile with a time of 6:23.05, Mary Hawn in the half mile at 3:14.62 and Barb Desjarden in the shot put with a distance of 26 feet, 4 inches.

The girls traveled to Newberry Tuesday to participate in the annual invitational meet there and on Friday both the girls and boys will travel to Gwin for the Mid Peninsula Conference Meet. Results of the Newberry event were not available in time for this week's paper.

Little League needs help

The Manistique Little League will be having another work bee Thursday evening starting at 6 p.m. at the Little League Field maintenance of the quarry and ski hill. Parents of Little League players and volunteers are asked to assist in preparing the field and grounds for the opening of the season Monday. Anyone interested in assisting the Little League by umpiring, field maintenance or coaching should contact League President David Grimes at 341-2101 or Gordon Archer at 341-5973.

Field guides are varied

With the return of migratory birds and the emergence of spring wildflowers now is the time to consider updating your field guides. With the advances in printing and photography, there are now available a variety of excellent, detailed, easy to use field guides on a variety of subjects.

One of the newest and most detailed of field guide series is the Audubon Society Field Guide series published by Chanticleer Press Inc. These guides are in all-color, all-photographic format with excellent photographs of the subjects generally in their native habitat. The guides currently available in this series are: North American Mammals, Eastern Birds, Western Birds, Eastern Wildflowers, Western Wildflowers, Rocks and Minerals, Reptiles and Amphibians, Eastern Trees, Western Trees and Insects and Spiders.

Another excellent field guide series is the Peterson Field Guide series, which are edited by the renowned Ornithologist Roger Tory Peterson. This series includes some 19 different guides on a variety of subjects from Peterson's updated "Field Guide to the Birds" to field guides on animal tracks and insects. These guides are generally a illustrated color plate format.

While the aforementioned series are perhaps the most widely known and widely used of the field guides, there are a number of individual guides that are excellent and useful. Some of these include: Norman C. Fassett's "Spring Flora of Wisconsin"; "Wildflower and Weeds" by Courtenay and Zimmerman; "Simon and Shuster's Guide to Mushrooms" edited by Gary Linoff; and the "Golden Guide to Birds of North America" by Robbins, Bruun, and Zim.

In selecting a field guide, the best approach is to go to a good bookstore, look over the vast array of guides, and select one that applies to your level of interest and expertise. Learning the different species of birds, trees, wildflowers etc. can be an enlightening and rewarding experience.

CEDAR AT MAIN AND DEER AT HOUGHTON STREETS IN MANISTIQUE AND GULLIVER

LOOKING NORTH on S. Cedar St. about 1930. Some comments on this in this week's Memories.

What kind of nickname was J.J.H.B.O.D. ?

Memories Jack Orr

Last week we ran a couple of photos of the Main Street taken just before and after the rebuilding of the street. I was the man standing in the foreground, and I remember the trees that stood by the Bandman store, next to Fenner's.

This shot was taken on the other end of the street from last week's so there is one interesting detail here not seen in the other photos. Note the sign on the left that reads United Cigars, just this side of the old Liberty Cafe. I think this would indicate that the time was during Prohibition...which ended in early 1933...and consequently the tavern sign is not yet in view, as it was in the 1930s photos.

Another interesting detail in today's photo is the mound in the intersection that the two young men are standing on. This mound was a sort of traffic manager, and meant that cars turning the corner should go around this in an orderly manner and not cut the corner. It didn't seem to work as intended, however, and I was not unusual to see an occasional car hit the thing and bounce the occupants around some; and this may have happened sometimes intentionally just for kicks. I once saw a boy hit this while on his bike; he flew fairly high and had a painful landing on returning to his "wheel."

By the way: The two young men standing on the mound are John Girvin and Earl Bond.

I'm glad to have this clarification of the names in the photo. As for Alexander Fairgreaves' I can explain the "D." That was one-half the full name of the boy we know as Bruce McKilligan. His full name was Alexander Fairgreaves Bruce McKilligan. I don't know anyone but his close friends know this among our group but was usually known as Bruce. We all had affectionate nicknames and his was "A.F.B." McKilligan. Some, as in that column, a comma slip between the Fairgreaves and the Bruce, making it two different people.

As for nicknames, my moniker in the gang I hung out with became "J.J.H.B.O.D." and if you can figure that one out you're pretty good. I won't tell.

Also, the Carl Walters specified in Mr. Martin's letter was, according to Bob Walters, not of the same immediate family. He was one of the Cooks branch who didn't use the final "S" on the name and who is now a retired lighthouse keeper.

Memorial Day will soon be upon us and an appropriate observance is no doubt in the works. The city band used to play a prominent part in the ceremony in The Good Old Days. It was customary to parade from the speeches and prayers held at the monument at the corner of River and Elk, down River Street and then up the hill on Main Street to the cemetery. The band marched through the cemetery playing a funeral dirge and graves were decorated at this time and a salute fired. The ceremony nowadays is probably even more impressive, and the march through the cemetery is no longer made, which is probably just as well.

Registered, insured or certified: what they can do for your mail

When you need to send valuable or important papers through the mail, the Postal Service recommends you understand what registered, insured and certified mail can do for you.

By becoming familiar with these service options offered by the Postal Service, your mail will receive the best handling and the most cost-effective delivery. Registered, insured and certified mail give you the customized services needed for mailing that special letter or package.

Registered mail is the safest way to send valuables. It offers special handling for your letter or package mailed at the First-Class rates. You receive a receipt when you take the material to the post office. Then, the movement of that piece is monitored from the point of acceptance to delivery. All irreplaceable articles, regardless of value, and all items worth more than $400, should be sent by registered mail.

Jewelry, stocks and checks or money orders for large amounts are good candidates for registered mail. This type of service provides protection against loss or damage. The full value of the mailing must be declared when mailed for security and insurance purposes. The registration fee includes insurance protection up to $25,000 for domestic mail.

The fees for registered mail depend upon the value of the material being mailed. For instance, if the value of the package is from $101 to $500, the cost is $3.60.

For a return receipt indicating to whom, the date and the address where the item was delivered, the fee is 70 cents. A return receipt indicating to whom and date is 60 cents.

Restricted delivery service is also available with registered mail. It allows delivery only to the addressee, or to someone who is authorized in writing to receive mail for the addressee.

Insured mail is a good bet if you are sending birthday, wedding or other gifts or fragile items. First-Class Mail, Priority, Third and Fourth-Class mail may be insured. Insurance, available for merchandise only, can be purchased for materials mailed which are valued at less than $400. Insurance rates, like registered mail rates, vary according to the value of the material being sent. If articles are insured for more than $15, a receipt of delivery is signed by the recipient and filed at the delivery post office. The insurance enables you to receive payment for domestic mail that has been lost, rifled or damaged. You may request a return receipt or restricted delivery when sending something insured for more than $15.

Certified mail is your best buy if you are sending important letters, insurance forms, contracts or bids for business contracts mailed at the First-Class rate. At 75 cents plus the charge for postage, certified mail costs less than registered mail.

It should be used when the sender requires a receipt as proof of mailing. The coupon receipt is postmarked to establish the date of delivery. A record of the delivery is also kept at the addressee's post office for two years, but no record is kept at the office from which you mailed the material. You may request a return receipt or restricted delivery with certified mail.

Certified mail service is provided only for First-Class or Priority Mail containing no intrinsic value, and insurance is not available.

Certified mail labels, which can be obtained from your local post office, must be completed by the customer for this type of mail.

NMU summer session to offer 125 courses

Techniques of blood banking, astronomy, American eating habits and canoeing are among 125 courses being offered for credit this summer by Northern Michigan University.

Seventeen workshops also to be offered are designed primarily for teachers and others in the field of education and in communication disorders, according to Dr. Lowell Kafer, director of summer session. All provide academic credits.

The full eight-week term begins June 14 and ends Aug. 6. Within this period are two-, four- and six-week sessions, Kafer said. Workshops range from one to three weeks.

"We have designed this summer's course and workshop offerings so that they might have the broadest possible appeal," Kafer noted.

"Courses expected to be heavily attended have been divided into several sections so that sizes can be kept down and schedules made convenient," he added.

The range of courses covers 27 academic areas. These include accounting and finance, anthropology, astronomy, office administration and business education, biology, communication disorders, chemistry, criminal justice, computer science, astronomy, American eating habits and canoeing are among 125 courses being offered for credit this summer by Northern Michigan University.

English, home economics, history, industrial education, the humanities, natural science, physical education, library science, mathematics, management and marketing, nursing education, political science, psychology, sociology, speech and theater.

The summer term will offer both graduate and undergraduate courses and workshops. Kafer pointed out.

The Educators Professional Development Program at NMU provides scholarships to defray the cost of tuition and room and board to certified teachers, counselors and administrators who enroll in six or more graduate credits during the summer term, Kafer said.

To qualify for the scholarships, students must be certified school personnel or pre-school and post-school teachers working on advanced degrees or post-baccalaureate programs. They must also complete summer session registration prior to June 1.

Jamie Phillips heads American boxers as local club travels to Canada

Jamie Phillips, Manistiquie's 147-pound welterweight, represented his boxing club and the United States as team captain last Friday evening in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, when the home club traveled to Canada for some international competition. Phillips, a second-year veteran, proved that home rule is the toughest rule in amateur boxing. Phillips won the 1980 Ontario Golden Glove Championship and the outstanding amateur award. He was also the 1981 Canadian Golden Glove champion. The contest ended in a decision going to Johnson after three grueling rounds. Manistiquie was represented by eleven boxers, consisting of two from Mountain, two from Sault Ste. Marie, and seven from Manistiquie. The first bout of the evening gave Manistiquie its first win when Mike Goudreau won a split decision over Paul Young of the Phoenix Boxing Club.

All three rounds, winning by a unanimous decision. Todd Linn made it three in a row for the home team, winning by a disqualification to Rodney Jennings of Sault Ste. Marie was ahead on points in the third round when the referee disqualified Jennings after several warnings about hitting on the "break" punch. Manistiquie's fourth win came in the 115 lb. class, with Marty "Ozzy" Novak taking a unanimous decision over Daryl Dockers of the Canadian team. Canada's first win came in bout five when Tim Thompson of the Phoenix Club won a unanimous decision over Scott Donaldson of Iron Mountain in the 139-pound class. Bout number six saw Robbie Bosanic take a unanimous decision over Rennie Dockery in the 80-pound class, while bout seven gave Canada their second win when Ernie Johnson won a split decision over the son of North Bay won an unpopular decision over the American Soo's Pete Hubbard. Johnson was the 1980-81 Canadian Golden Gloves champion. In the 130-pound class, the Manistiquie Southpaw, Lonnie Edwards, scored another victory with a decision over Canada's Chris Vautour. Bout nine was exciting but short as the "Soo Giant," 6-foot, 5-inch Bill McKelvie, dropped Sudbury's lanky heavyweight Dan Rouleau to the

With the retreat of the winter's snows, the story of what happened during the year becomes clearer. The survival of deer and other animals is made apparent by the evidence of mortality-carasses in the woods, the number of drumming grouse, dancing sharpshins, number of hares observed along roads, evidence of coyote and fox denning and sign of black bears foraging after their winter's snooze.

This is the time that deer census work, dancing sharpshin ground counts, bear census, and grouse counts are made. If we combine these counts with woodcock and waterfowl surveys along with routine on the ground management work, it adds up to a busy spring. Older citizens are valuable

Older Americans Month, nationally observed in May, is an attempt to formally recognize the older person in our society, said Kenneth E. Oettle, director of the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging. "It's a time of heightened sensitivity of society as a whole to the benefits and values of older persons," he said. "Each of us should have a wholesome respect for them."
Sponsoring the event in Michigan, the Office of Services to the Aging is urging business, senior citizen organizations and local government units to develop activities in their community as a means of honoring older persons during May. Besides recognizing the older adults for their contributions, there must be an effort to integrate them into every aspect of society, said Oettle. "We need their expertise on boards, commissions and at all levels of government. Many can work as volunteers where they can provide services," he said.

The elimination of mandatory retirement is one issue that is currently being considered by the Michigan House of Representatives. "Because of the economy, people think older persons should retire," said Oettle. "The government should find ways to allow older workers to contribute as long as they want. Too many times they are forced to retire, but..." Oettle added, "not everyone at that age wants to work either." The Director sees temporary employment for older people as a good solution to utilize their many skills and talents. With the senior citizen population growing, their needs must also be closely scrutinized. Reports show that citizens 60 and older make up 14 percent of the total population, 1.3 billion people, an increase of over 20 percent for the past ten years. This increase is almost five times greater than the total population increase over the same period. While this large population group must be fully recognized for their accomplishments "it is also important during Older Americans Month to examine the needs of the elderly and to work toward meeting these needs throughout the year," said Oettle.

Retired personnel meet

On Saturday, May 8, the Schoolcraft County Chapter of the Retired School Personnel met at the Fireside Inn for lunch and a program.
Mrs. John Kelly, president, and Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur, program chairman, who attended the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Retired School Personnel in Mt. Pleasant, reported on the prospective merger of NRTA with AARP and the highlights of a keynote speech by Rep. Francis Spania, Chairman of the House Committee on Senior Citizens and Retirement. Luanne Kauppila and Nancy Veresan provided the musical highlight with a smooth blend of contralto and soprano voices to guitar accompaniment.
The next meeting will be held on Saturday, June 12, with the election of officers.
