Delayed school aid poses no problem--yet

News that the August state aid payment to the Manistiquie Area Schools District will be delayed "indefinitely" does not pose a cash-flow crisis for the district--for the time being, anyway.

Administrative Assistant Margaret Cain said Tuesday that the district had received notification this week from the state Department of Education that the August payment to the district, some $90,000, would not be arriving as promised. The notice did not say if or when the promised money would be paid.

A letter from Robert Hornberger of the Department of Education to Superintendent Richard Bonifas said "The reason for the delay is due to the fact that revenues have not materialized as anticipated and the deficit problems (of the state) continue. It is likely that the payments will not be made until the listed problems can be addressed."

Bonifas said that payment of the August state aid may be delayed until next year. Bad as that sounds, he said what concerned him was the prospect of further delays and reductions in the state's scheduled October and December payments.

Bonifas said he anticipated another executive order cut by Governor Milliken the fourth this year--that County Probate Court judge in would pinch local finances. "Believe me, if the state does not have the money, and they don't, we are not going to get it. What we are faced with is not only the withholding of state aid payments but the possibility of a fourth executive order cut," Bonifas said.

Despite the fact that the district had budgeted the money for the 1982-83 school year, Cain said there should be enough cash to meet expenses at least through October. Because the state has delayed or reduced aid payments to the district several times in the past, part of $600,000 borrowed by the district earlier this year had been earmarked for August, September and November expenses in case the state again renege on its commitments.

"We were very uneasy about the financial situation and that's why we did that," Bonifas said. "Hindsight is 20-20, but as I look at it now it was the right thing to do" with the borrowed money.

Once that money is spent, however, sometime in November, Bonifas said the district may have troubles meeting its expenses. "The problem will be the time between when we spend the borrowed money and the time we get taxes in," he said, if state aid continues to be delayed.

Probate judge John M. Pater to seek reelection in November

John M. Pater, probate judge in Alger and Schoolcraft Counties, will seek reelection on the non-partisan ticket at the Nov. 2 general election.

He was appointed Alger County probate judge by Governor John B. Swainson in December of 1961 and elected to the office in 1962. Since then, he has been successfully reelected to three 6-year terms.

Pater, 60, will run against William A. Werner of Munising in the Nov. 2 election. Werner is currently Alger County prosecuting attorney. Pater was assigned as Schoolcraft Milliken--the fourth this year--that County Probate Court judge in January of 1973 by the Michigan Supreme Court after the retirement of Judge John Kettley. He was elected to serve both Alger and Schoolcraft Counties in 1976, when they were merged to form the 5th District Probate Court.

During his tenure, Pater said he has devoted full time to the duties of the office and has acquired broad judicial experience and knowledge in probate law. Pater added that probate law is a specialized area of law, and that broad experience is necessary to administer justice and to protect the interests and rights of persons coming before the Probate Court.

The professional organizations in which he is affiliated are: National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges, Michigan Probate and Juvenile and Family Court Judges, Michigan Probate and Juvenile Court Association and past president of the Upper Peninsula Probate Judges Association. He is also a member of the Alger County Historical Society, American Legion Roderick Prato Post No. 131, V.F.W. Iktala, Brothers Post 9714 and the Knights of Columbus Council No. 2804.

Varnum checks on Hospital Board self-pay practices

Citing a "great many" requests from local constituents, State Representative Charles Varnum of Manistiquie requested last month information concerning the meetings and payment of the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees.

Varnum said he received the requested information, which includes records of payments and meeting minutes, earlier this month and will turn it over to the state auditor general's office "and request he take a look at it" for evidence of wrongdoing.

Varnum said it appeared from the documents that the Board of Trustees may have held--and been paid for--as many as 33 meetings held in violation of the Open Meetings Act.

At Monday's meeting of the Hospital Board, members strongly denied any wrongdoing. Varnum did not attend that meeting and Board Chairman Cal Jenerou said that Varnum's investigation was politically motivated and had little to do with any suspicion by Varnum that the board had violated the law.

Noting that Varnum had requested records only dating back to 1978, Jenerou said "this whole thing is political. Why is there no investigation before 1978, when Mr. Varnum's (County Republican Party) chairman was administrator? This board is doing nothing more than following past practices" long established in the county, Jenerou said.

Varnum said he had requested the documents from the board only after repeated questions by constituents about the board's meetings. Those questions apparently arose, Varnum said, after the board held an illegal closed meeting in April and decided to fire Hospital Administrator H.B. Purdy.

The board later rehired Purdy after meeting with him in an open session and turned back money members had been paid for the illegal session.

Varnum said "A great many people have contacted me" asking if the board had held similar illegal meetings and been paid for them. "I'm not in the habit of going on a witch hunt, but a lot of people have said if they have had one illegal meeting, maybe they have had others," Varnum added.

To find out, Varnum requested the records of payments made by the county to Hospital Board members since 1978 along with minutes for special board meetings and locations and dates that notices for those meetings were posted. By law, the board must keep minutes at all meetings and post notice of them before they are held.

By checking records of meeting payments to board members against the minutes and meeting notices, Varnum said it appeared that the board had held 33 illegal meetings since 1978--meetings where either no minutes were kept or notices posted.

The board responded Monday that Varnum had only been sent the formal minutes kept during meetings of the full board. Informal minutes kept during committee meetings had not been included and would account for the discrepancy that Varnum claimed indicated that 33 illegal meetings had been held.

Another point brought up by Varnum was the number of payments made to board members. The seven-member Board of Trustees is appointed by the County Board of Commissioners to oversee operation of the hospital. Each member receives $30 for each meeting attended as a "per diem" payment and 25 cents a mile for distance travelled. In addition, board members are paid $30 for other hospital duties performed on an individual basis.

For some of the board members, payments for those individual duties amounted to more than those for attending meetings, a practice Varnum criticized.

For instance, Board Chairman Jenerou in 1981 received 78 $30 payments for a total of $2,340. In addition, he received $253.95 in travel expenses. The majority of those per diem payments and the associated travel expenses were not for meetings attended, but for individual duties.

Chief among those duties, according to the pay vouchers turned over to Varnum, were co-signing payroll and bill payment checks three times each month. Other board members routinely submit $30 vouchers for reviewing the hospital's accounts payable records as individual duties. Board members also collect per diem payments for attending the annual medical staff dinners and employee awards ceremonies.

Varnum questioned that practice as well as the number of special and committee meetings the Hospital Board has held. "I really think when the public finds out and you get into this thing of spending money, there are ways you can save," Varnum said.

"Why do you have a controller and a chairman going in three times a month to sign checks?" he asked. At the hospitals at St. Ignace and Newberry, the administrator is the sole signer of checks, Varnum said.

At the Helen Newberry Joy Hospital in Newberry, the board receives a per diem payment of $25 a meeting and travel expenses of 10 cents a mile. At the Mackinac Straits Hospital in St. Ignace, Administrator David Opel said there is no per diem pay for board members, only compensation for expenses.

Altogether, the local Hospital Board was paid $10,151 in 1981 and has received $6,112 through June of 1982. For comparison, the seven-member County Board of Commis-

Dr. Mosquera to leave Manistiquie area

Dr. Luis Mosquera, surgeon at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, will be leaving the Manistiquie area sometime in October, he said Tuesday.

Mosquera, a surgeon specializing in cancer and tumors, began his practice here in June of 1981. A disappointed chief of medical staff, Dr. Duane Waters, informed the hospital Board of Trustees of Mosquera's decision at its meeting Monday night. Waters said Mosquera's departure could "create a problem because it is going to affect the willingness with which a young family practitioner is going to come to the community. I think it is going to be a very difficult thing to convince someone to come here."

Mosquera said Tuesday that he decided to leave the area because he has not been performing as much surgery as he anticipated when he first came here. Noting that he is the only surgeon specializing in cancer in the U.P., Mosquera said "the only reason I am leaving is that I am not doing enough surgery for the training I have."

He said that of the 250 cases he has treated since his arrival,

Dr. Luis Mosquera only 56 could be classified as "major" operations--an average of about one a week. "A general surgeon should be doing about 10 to 12 major cases a week," Mosquera said.

Mosquera said he is not sure where he will work next, but noted he enjoyed his stay in Manistiquie. "I don't have any regrets in coming to Manistiquie. My family is very happy here," he said. Mosquera and his wife, Matilde, have three daughters.

Mum's the word on school contract

School district workers ratified a contract during an election Tuesday, but details are being withheld until the School Board has a chance to approve the pact.

Leon Brunner, president of the union local of the Michigan Educational Support Personnel Association (MESPA), said that the school district's auxiliary staff voted 25-11 to accept the contract approved tentatively by union negotiators last month.

However, neither Brunner or Superintendent Richard Bonifas would release details of the ratified contract until the School Board itself has a chance to approve it at its meeting next week. "The only thing we will tell you is that MESPA approved it," Bonifas said. "The board will consider ratification on the 24th and until the board ratifies it there is no agreement."

The big question is how much of a raise, if any, school workers will receive under the new pact. Although the current contract, to expire Aug. 31, provided for a 40-cent-an-hour raise, the school board provided no money in its 1982-83 budget for raises in wages.

There are 56 auxiliary staff workers in the district, including bus drivers, cafeteria workers, teacher aides, custodians and secretaries. In a related matter, Bonifas said that negotiations with the teachers' union, declared at an impasse last month by a state mediator, were set to resume this Thursday, Aug. 19.

Twenty-eight teachers attended the School Board's meeting last week to request that the ratified contract continue, despite the impasse. The teachers accused the board at that meeting of not negotiating in good faith and have filed an unfair labor practice charge with the state Department of Labor.

"We are pleased to have the opportunity of continuing the collective bargaining process," Bonifas said.

He also noted that the first bargaining session with the school's administrative staff will be held Thursday.

Fishing village motif

West Cedar street fix-up ideas proposed

A New England fishing village motif for downtown Manistiquie That was one of the ideas submitted last week to the West Cedar Downtown Improvement Association for fixing up the parking lot behind businesses on the west side of Cedar Street.

Dan Malloy of the association said that a presentation by Chippewa Architects and Engineers of Kinceloe was held last Tuesday.

At that meeting, two proposals for remodeling the rear entrances to the 17 businesses abutting the lot were proposed. Both would incorporate a new parking lot and landscaping to create a mall-type atmosphere. Also, both would replace the existing potholed-dirt lot and spruce up the grimy, utilitarian rear entrances.

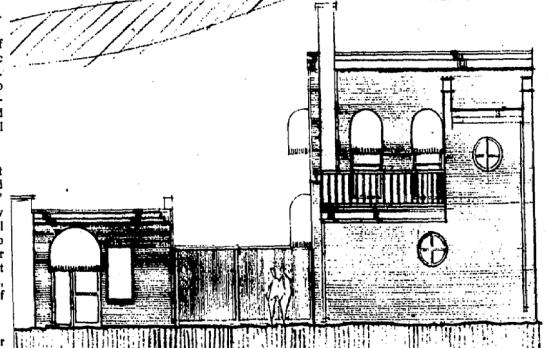

One of the proposals, Malloy said, would seek to create a New England fishing village theme. Exterior remodeling would include clapboard-type siding for buildings, a common window and door treatment and painting with traditional colors.

The second proposal stressed a more contemporary theme, using decorative awnings, doors and window treatments with painted wall graphics. Both plans call for removal of utility poles and one-way traffic through the parking lot. Malloy said the areas around the entrances to stores would have pedestrian walkways surrounded by lawn areas and landscaping to enhance the mall effect.

Malloy stressed that "the next step is to research the funding and make the appropriate application" for possible grants to pay for the new parking lot and remodeling. Until money is available, there are no plans to follow through on either proposal. Although the architect gave no cost for the various schemes, Malloy said the fishing-village motif was more elaborate and expensive.

Chippewa was to make a similar presentation this week to merchants on the other side of Cedar Street on how they might achieve a common theme to back entrances to their businesses. Paving of a parking lot on that side of the street, paid for through a federal grant, is scheduled to begin soon.

A FACELIFT FOR CEDAR STREET was the topic of a meeting last Tuesday between the West Cedar Downtown Improvement Association and a representative from Chippewa Architects and Engineers of Kinceloe. The architect outlined no definite plans to follow through how businesses abutting the parking lot on the west side of Cedar Street might remodel back entrances using a common motif. Although there are after remodeling.

At home with Sarah

by Sarah Bignall

This recipe dates way back to the "Depression era" and is still popular today. It has many different names from various areas, such as Garden Soup, Slumgullion, Garden Medley, and probably others we haven't even heard. During the depression no meat was included and it was delicious, but you can add ham pieces, oysters, or tiny meat balls if you prefer.

The ingredients are supposedly taken right from the garden before fully developed, for example, small new potatoes, tiny carrots, fresh green beans, fresh peas, and small mild onions. When onions get larger they often get stronger and then their flavor would be overpowering to the other vegetables. So, if you do not have small mild onions, leave them out completely. Make as much as you feel you will need for the number of people you will be serving. Therefore, the amounts in this recipe will vary according to your need.

GARDEN MEDLEY

- 8-12 small new potatoes
 - 8-12 small fresh carrots
 - 1 cup fresh string and/or waxed beans
 - 1 cup fresh peas
 - 1 cup evaporated milk
 - generous piece of butter or oil
 - salt and pepper
- Clean vegetables.
Bring potatoes and carrots to a boil in lightly salted water.
When they are almost done add beans, peas, and onions.
Simmer all together.
Add canned milk directly to the water in which the vegetables have been boiled.
Add butter, salt and pepper.

You can substitute frozen vegetables if you are missing some fresh vegetables, but the frozen from the garden are so much better.

Sarah says...anytime you boil eggs, save the water. When cool, use it to water your house plants. It is full of valuable minerals.

Food for thought...The world is composed of givers and takers. The takers may eat better, but the givers sleep better.

Expo U.P. '82

Pass the word

We know the Upper Peninsula is a quality place, but who else knows that?
A lot of important people will find it out if Expo U.P. '82 is a success. Expo U.P. '82 is the name given to a brand new idea—the first Upper Peninsula Industrial Exposition designed to attract purchasing agents, industrial buyers, procurement officers and manufacturing representatives.
Those are the people who make the buying decisions that mean business to manufacturers, producers, and providers of services, and business for these people translates into jobs.

They've scheduled it for Sept. 24 and 25—during the peak of the color season—at the Lakeside Arena in Marquette, and hopes are high that this showcase for U.P. products and services will attract new customers and buyers from outside the U.P.

It's being sponsored jointly by Operation Action U.P., Northern Michigan University, U.P. Private Industry Councils and the Upper Great Lakes Regional Office. More than 20,000 outside purchasing agents and industrial buyers from across the U.S. are being personally invited to attend. Another 5,000 government procurement and contract people are also being contacted. There's also advertising and articles going in more than 50 trace journals.

Richard Dunneback of Operation Action U.P. stresses the quality theme. "More and more purchasing people are making a quiet discovery—that quality of life in a natural environment area can also lead to quality products and lower cost purchases," he says. "The Upper Peninsula is such an area. It is the unheralded 'Quality Place.'" Workforce turnover is practically non-existent, for our people don't just live here, they love it. As a result, quality workmanship is the everyday norm."

Most of us are familiar with the U.P.'s production of paper, mineral ores and concentrates, lumber, plywood and millwork, stone and refined copper—our natural resources and their products. We are less familiar with the fact that the Peninsula produces a wide variety of equipment, trusses, pallets and poles, casting, mattresses, toys, snowshoes and fishing rods, to mention but a few.

The Lakeside Arena has room for 102 display booths, and the space can be expanded if necessary. Sponsors are hopeful that U.P. industry will respond by signing up and displaying their wares. They'll produce the buyers if the sellers will show up.

It's a worthwhile effort, and a new approach toward solving our chronic unemployment problem. It's the private sector at its best, and a successful show will mean a tremendous difference in the Upper Peninsula and to the people who want to continue to live here.

Signs of fall

LIKE GIANT JELLY ROLLS, these bales of hay await removal from a local field after being cut recently. They are a reminder that the all-too-short U.P. summer is almost past and it's time to start thinking about the harsher winter to come.

Does Hospital Board meet illegally?

The Lakeview Hospital board members was paid a total of $25,247 in 1981 and has been paid $16,037 through June of this year.

At Monday's Hospital Board meeting, Jenour said that the board's attorney, Bruce Plackowski, said that the "question is unanswered" if board members can be paid for individual non-meeting duties.

The County board also gets paid on such individual duties and Plackowski said in a letter that "I do not see anyone in the county committing any wrongdoing at this time."

Jenour said Monday that "I think we're going to look at this whole board and streamline it; see where we are making our mistakes." He said the board would meet with Plackowski to discuss the matter.

Lander: we dump at city sewage plant

Dear Editor:
To the people of Hiawatha Township, concerning the article in the Aug. 6 Escanaba Daily Press and on Manistiquie radio station WTQJ concerning sewage dumping on the Swanston road. We wish to advise the people that there has been no dumping on the Swanston dumping site since the city waste water system could handle the county sewage. This has been in effect for a few years. Before the new city waste water system the Swanston site was an approved dumping site. A suggestion to the complainant: Get your facts straight before complaining to the Health Department. These kinds of untrue complaints don't tend to help business.

LANDER SEPTIC TANK SERVICE
Gary Lander

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mark McCune, sanitarian for the district health department, has reported there is no indication any dumping of sewage is currently taking place on the Swanston Road.

These wild flowers are also in season

Dear Editor:
In addition to those wildflowers now in season listed by the DNR, Pioneer-Tribune, Aug. 12, I'd like to submit this list of flowers not to be overlooked, but to appreciate:
Pearly Everlasting, Turtles head, Bone set, Purple Fringed Orchids, Gentian, Bergamot, Vervain, Lobelia, Asters, Monkeyflower, Sundew, Indian Pipe, Mullein, Butter and Eggs, Loosestrife, Ladies Tresses, Blazing Star and Grass-of-Parnassus.

Erickson's team really won

Dear Editor:
I'm hoping you will print the following, seeing as there are some young men from your area that represented the Manistiquie vicinity admirably. Their sportsmanship at the ball park and their conduct away from the field was the best.

Finals down in Georgia. Yes, they lost—but in reality they came home winners. Speaking as one of the bus drivers for these young men they are true ambassadors to the Manistiquie area.

In case your wondering who I'm talking about—well it is the Erickson's Sporting Goods slow-pitch softball team, 18 and under.

Robert Nessman gets Lakehead scholarship

A Manistiquie student, Robert Nessman, is one of eight who have been awarded scholarships under the Higher Education Awards Plan of Lakehead Pipe Line Company, Inc. this year. The plan, established in 1965, provides scholarships for children of company employees and annuitants who have displayed a high degree of scholastic ability.
Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nessman, district manager at Lakehead's Manistiquie Maintenance headquarters. He plans to pursue a degree in Computer Science at Michigan Technological University.
This brings to 42 the number of sons and daughters of company employees and annuitants currently being sponsored in courses of higher learning by Lakehead in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and New York. Selection of the awardees is made by an independent committee of college faculty members.
The firm also sponsors a plan of assistance for students not connected with the company, which this year will provide $66,500 to 14 mid-west colleges and six college foundations. Included in the recipients of such funds are the Michigan Technological University, Northern Michigan University, Saginaw Valley State College, Western Michigan University and Central Michigan University.

HOME COOLING

Before air conditioning came along, ventilation was the only way to cool a home. It still works today: You can set up ventilation air currents in your own home with a fan or by relying on natural powers of convection. Either way, the trick is to bring in cool air near or below ground level and exhaust it from the attic.

Convection (or stack) cooling depends on allowing the hot air within your home to rise and create a chimney or stack effect that pulls air from below. For best results, open your basement windows to let in cool, close-to-the-ground air.

Once the cooler air is in the house, it should have an unrestricted upward flow path. Open the door at the head of the basement steps, all interior passageways, and the door to the attic. (If your attic has no door—just a hatch or a folding staircase that will inconveniently block a hallway if it's left open—put a screened hatch in your upstairs ceiling.) Last, provide some way for hot air in the attic to escape. Roof vents, gable vents, ridge vents, or a turbine ventilator will help get the air moving.

If you decide to use fans or powered vents, it still pays to set your home up as described...the natural stack effect will encourage better airflow and relieve the fan of some of its work. Remember, though, natural or powered ventilation can help cool your home by getting rid of trapped heat, but it will not make your home any cooler than the temperature outside. On the other hand, the slight breeze created by the air-flow system will make your home feel cooler than the thermometer might indicate.

Another way to capitalize on ventilation is to cool your house with your fireplace! All you have to do is purchase an inexpensive square "window" fan. Then open the damper in your fireplace—position the fan in the opening (facing in)...close off the remaining portions of the fireplace's mouth (using anything on hand, such as scraps of cardboard, particle board, or plastic foam)...and—if you really want to go first class—make a three-sided, hinged wooden barrier that will limit the fan's draw to the particularly warm air near the ceiling.

Once you've assembled all the paraphernalia (and made sure that you...don't have an upstairs fireplace or woodstove on the same floor...otherwise you'll stir up a hurricane of soot), simply switch on the fan and enjoy the benefits of an expensive home cooling rig...without the cost!

You can also make cooling improvements to the top of your house. Everyone knows, for instance, that a white roof—which reflects a substantial part of the sun's energy—makes a home cooler than a dark one. But do you know how to change the color of your roofing without reshingling? Roofing paints are the secret. They can go on over shingles, roll roofing, or metal and can add years to the life of your house top. Most large paint stores carry roofing paints, as do Sears and Montgomery Ward.

If you fasten a simple sprinker-type perforated hose—used upside-down to the peak of the house roof, you can use it to trickle water down the roof and set up an evaporative cooling cycle. Connect the sprinker to an outdoor bib and adjust the flow to use as little water as possible...just enough to keep the roof wet down to the eaves.

For folks who don't have strategically located shade trees, a rooftop arbor can provide some relief. Grapevines or flowering runners like wisteria, planted along the south side of the house, should grow to roof height within two to three years. The shady clingers will provide natural cooling as well as food for the table or fragrant flowers. And if the plants' roots are watered from the outside, those underground shoots will grow away from the house.

Bad deal teaches him a lesson

Dear Editor:
A message for "nice guys": I'd like to publicly thank the fellow who purchased the '73 Torino from me on or about the 5th of August. (You wouldn't let me give you a receipt or give me your name, address, or phone number.) Not only did I sell you the whole car for the price of the engine alone, but I allowed you a few dollars for your old engine which you said you would drop off at my place the next day.

The lesson you've taught me is worth 10 times what I gave you for that junk engine you never delivered, and helped keep me from making a very serious mistake. You see, quite a few people have asked me to reopen my business which I closed four years ago because of people like you. Up until my dealings with you I had been slipping badly. I had almost convinced myself that I could once again open my doors to the public; but then, praise the Lord, you came along and brought me back to reality. Thank you so much.

MBW-8000 THE MENOMINEE WOOD BURNING BOILER

What the MBW-8000 does—
The Menominee MBW-8000 is an energy conserving wood burning boiler for use with a conventional oil or gas fired boiler for central hot water heat. It can also be used alone as a central hot water boiler. The MBW-8000 is controlled by a separate thermostat. In a typical installation the thermostat on the oil or gas unit is set 2-4 degrees lower than the thermostat controlling the MBW-8000. This allows the oil or gas boiler to automatically provide unit-untreated heat should the wood fire die down or be allowed to go out in the MBW-8000.

How the MBW-8000 operates—
When heat is required, the combustion blower is actuated by the thermostat controlling the MBW-8000 boiler. This blower provided combustion air to the fire which heats the water contained in the water jacket. When the water temperature reaches 80 degrees F, the circulating pump automatically begins circulating water through the system. When the desired room temperature is reached, the thermostat automatically shuts off the combustion blower. If the water in the boiler reaches 165 F, the high limit control will automatically shut off the combustion blower to prevent overheating.

The fifth annual green and white football game will be held this Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the A.F. Hall stadium according to Manistique varsity football coach Jim Hunter.

The annual scrimmage is held to mark the end of the first week of contact drills among the Emerald

The Emeralds varsity team will kick off the season for real this year on Friday, Sept. 3, when they take on Negaunee at home. The junior

SCHOOLCRAFT COUNTY 4-H Beef Club members again made a good showing at Tuesday's fat stock judging at the U.P. State Fair in

County 4-H takes 12 ribbons at U.P. State Fair

Schoolcraft County 4-H Beef Club members made another impressive showing at the U.P. State Fair fat stock show Tuesday. Twelve members showed animals, receiving nine blue ribbons, two red and one white.

Marci Gagnon, Germfask, showed her 1290-pound crossbred steer for Reserve Grand Champion, tops in the show behind only Muff Willour of Ontonagon, who won Grand Champion.

Tom Gagnon, Heather Ross, Scott Troxter and Marci Gagnon all won their weight divisions and received blue ribbons. Also receiving blues were Todd and Brad Troxter, Donna Gagnon, Sherri Smith and Alan Macaulay. Receiving red ribbons were Susan Macaulay and Kurt Steinfeldt. Garret Kopecki received a white ribbon.

County Extension Agent Al Hepker said "It is a remarkable record to have five steers out of 12 in the competition for grand champion from our county when there were 115 steers from all across the U.P." in the show.

Scott Troxter won the best semimetal crossbred steer and received a large trophy for his efforts. Sherri Smith won the rate of gain trophy with a 2.85 pounds-per-day gain.

Hepker said the leaders of the 4-H Beef Club, Ray and Bernadette Troxter, Irwin and Sarah Gagnon and Joan Bowler "are to be commended for a fine, a super showing. "It is a remarkable feat. It's a real credit to the leaders and the kids," Hepker said. "They are a great group to work with."

Errors drop Erickson's from tourney

It was a long trip to Georgia for the 14 players, two coaches and 16 fans of Erickson's Sporting Goods team to watch the team compete earlier this month in the Junior Youth Softball Association national tournament. It didn't take long for the local group to see its hopes dashed as Erickson's dropped its first two games, 10-6 and 5-3, and was eliminated from the tourney Saturday, Aug. 7.

The team had been crowned the association's 18-year-old and under Michigan champs after sweeping four games in the state tournament held July 24.

There was to be no such luck in Georgia, however. Team captain and short stop Tom Selling said that Erickson's express to a national soft pitch softball championship was derailed by some costly errors in the first game played Saturday morning against the Bensenville team from the metro Chicago area.

"We beat ourselves, really," Selling recalled. "We committed a couple of errors in the first and they capitalized on them." Bensenville put five runs on the scoreboard in the top of the first inning as Erickson's had a hard time hanging on to the ball, slippery from a dew-laden outfield.

Erickson's came back with one run in its half of the first, only to see the Chicago team rack up another three runs in the second and put the game out of reach, 10-1, in the top of the third on the strength of a two-run homer.

Erickson's began playing closer to form in its last at-bats, pasting the ball all over the field to score five runs in the bottom of the seventh inning. But it was too little, too late. Selling said, "We just ran out of outs," he noted.

After singles by pitcher Steve Collingwood and Selling, left fielder Greg Turan smashed a triple to bring in two runs. Third baseman Dan Mickelson then stroked a base hit to bring in Turan for the third run of the inning.

After a fly out for the first out, first baseman Mike Smith singled to advance Mickelson to third and to see his hopes dashed as Erickson's dropped its first two games, 10-6 and 5-3, and was eliminated from the tourney Saturday, Aug. 7.

The second game of the tourney offered more thrills to local fans as Erickson's briefly took the lead before bowing to the Danville Auto Parts team from Danville, Ark.

Erickson's, again playing as the home team, spotted Danville two runs in the top of the first after three bloop hits and a couple of throwing errors.

The local team came back in the bottom of the third inning to tie the game. Turan doubled with one out to start the rally. Back-to-back singles by Smith and right-center fielder John Matchinski brought Turan in and advanced Smith to third base. Another single by Godlewski scored Smith and tied the game. A pop fly and ground out ended the rally and stranded Matchinski and Godlewski on base.

Erickson's went ahead for the first and only time in the tournament in the bottom of the fourth, 3-2, on the strength of singles by Doug Mickelson and Collingwood and a sacrifice fly by Selling.

Danville came back in the fifth inning with two runs. After leading off with a single, Danville was the beneficiary of a couple of disputed calls that foiled an Erickson's double play and left runners on first and second. A fielding error by Erickson's scored one run and advanced the Danville runner to third, where a sacrifice fly gave Arkansas the go-ahead run 4-3.

Arkansas finished the scoring in the fifth inning, taking advantage of a throwing error, single and a sacrifice.

Two base hits in the bottom of the seventh by Erickson's were not enough to get a late rally going and a runner on first in the Danville Shortstop ended the game and-for Erickson's-hopes of a national senior boys championship. Eventual winner of the tournament was an Ohio team.

I DON'T KNOW who the Pioneer-Tribune cartoonist was in 1926; this appeared on the front page of the issues of Sept. 16th in anticipation of the county fair of that year. The man with the latch-string at the ready must be Mayor R.B. Waddell. Good cartoon! (Photo and cartoon from the files of the Historical Society)

County fairs of yesteryear featured trotting-horse races

In 1926, the fall election took place on the Tuesday following the publication of the Pioneer-Tribune in which this cartoon appeared. The big winners locally were Bouschor over Forshar in the race for County Clerk (1,487 to 939); and Sheriff DeLaur over the other eight in the race, getting 562 votes to John Hewitt's 528, who ran second. The others were Wm. Nelson, Andrew Ekstrom, Fred Orr, Ralph Merwin, A.M. Smith, Swan Mattson and S.R. Laxer.

Forshar had been in as County Clerk for 16 years, but Les Bouschor who replaced him must have been in for umpty-six at least. (Hang in there, Fred!)

Secretary of the fair that year was J.H. McLellan, and the program included airplane flights, horse races (3 afternoons), horse pulling contests and various amusement sets, plus the various displays and agricultural competitions.

The trotting races were the main attraction for many of us. That year the official starter for the races was P.A. Bishop of Plattville, Wis. Race officials were John Quinan of Newberry, Sandy Oliver of Escanaba, and Ben Gero of Manistique. Timers were Bob Atwood, Frank Cookson, and Geo. Fowler, all of Manistique. Big fairs, back then. We're getting there, but it'll be awhile yet before we get up to the level of the Good Old Days. But go and have a good time anyhow; you'll be glad you did.

In last week's photo of the Air Mail Week celebration at the airport, we were unable to identify two of the participants. The little girl was Pat Gierke Johnson, who attended with a close member of the family named Frank; and the first state trooper in the pix was Neis Freberg who was recognized by Alice Modders. Thanks, y'all.

study the lake bottom. Then he would move and cut another hole and repeat the procedure; this was done until he found what he was looking for, and the hole was then enlarged and his fish shanty placed over it.
"It might be days later but the nearby fishermen would be started by the door of Johnny's shack being kicked open and hearing him yell for help. Everybody would run over and help him pull out the sturgeon he had speared.

"Sturgeon are bottom feeders, and they drag their bellies on the bottom until they have a trench dug. The food falls into this trench and the sturgeon swims along and sucks up the food from the trench.

'Starving Artists' to hold art sale

The Starving Artists of Schoolcraft County, a non-profit organization to promote local talent and appreciation of the arts, will hold an arts and crafts inventory sale on Saturday, Sept. 4.

The sale will be held at the Old Deerfield Resort on Gulliver Lake 12 miles east of Manistique. Area artists will sell arts and crafts, with no price to exceed $35.

Food and beverages will be available during the sale. In case of rain, the sale will be held Sunday, Sept. 5. According to organizer Emily Schofield, the purpose of the sale is to allow artists to "adjust your stock, realize the demand created by works offered at attractive prices and reconsider the market in your craft area."

She said anyone interested in displaying arts or crafts at the sale should bring their displays to the resort before 10 a.m. on Sept. 4. The displays must be set up by 10 a.m. and not removed before 4 p.m. A $5 exhibitors fee will be charged.

For advanced space reservations, overnight lodging reservations or other information, call Schofield at 283-2535 or write to Starving Artists, c/o Old Deerfield, Rt. 1, Box 1, Gulliver, Mich., 49840.

Post Office to give carrier exam

The Postal Service has announced that the clerk/carrier examination will be given in the near future to establish a list of applicants who are interested in Postal Service employment in the Manistique Post Office. Applicants who pass this examination will be placed on a list of eligibles for future vacancies.

"I do not want to give the impression we will be hiring great numbers of people in the coming months," MSC Manager George Fasah said. "I anticipate approximately two vacancies will occur in the next two years that will be filled by applicants who pass this examination. We need qualified people who will be willing to accept employment, and we want to offer people in the local community the chance to compete for these openings by signing up for and taking the examination."

Salaries, not including fringe benefits, for clerks and letter carriers begin at $9.95 per hour.

Farah explained that those wishing to take the examination could apply by making an application in person from Aug. 23 through Aug. 27 at one of the following Post Offices during normal business hours: Cooks, Garden, Gulliver, Manistique or Nahma. Applicants should apply at one office only.

Killing a seagull is a state and federal offense

In view of the fact that more seagulls are around these days, at least more are in evidence inland, it may be worth while to note that these birds are protected. Gulls are identified under Act 286, Sec. 312.45 as wild non-game birds, and under this act it is a violation to kill, take, catch, or possess any. It is also a violation of the Federal Migratory Bird Treaty to kill seagulls. Both state and federal penalties can be severe.

This week's list of wild flowers in bloom includes white sweet clover, loosestrife, turtlehead, cow wheat, watergreen, fire weed and common mullein.

During the period July 29 through August 5, seventeen gray squirrels were released on Drummond Island in the vicinity of Houghton Lake and Indian River. Soon after they were trapped they were transported to Drummond. All the squirrels were sexed, aged and tagged before release. Live trapping of gray squirrels will continue until approximately 35 squirrels are released.

Previous to this release there were no gray squirrels on Drummond Island. The only member of the squirrel family resident on Drummond Island was the red squirrel, which should not interfere with the introduction of the larger grays. During the summer of 1971 gray squirrels were live trapped in the vicinity of Roscommon. 49 gray squirrels were trapped there and released on Bois Blanc Island. In June of 1978, Ed Rothe, fire officer assigned to Bois Blanc Island, stated that the squirrels had increased in number at a slow pace and were at that time, and are now, more or less all over the island. Rothe further stated that it had been rumored that some squirrels had been live trapped on Bois Blanc Island and transported to Mackinac Island. He also said there was no evidence of disease in the squirrel population, and that he had received only favorable comments from the islanders.

All members of the squirrel family are very difficult to maintain in captivity in a healthy condition. Live trapped squirrels must be handled carefully and not allowed to become chilled or too warm. If these conditions exist, gray squirrels will go into shock and die.

The initiative for releasing squirrels came from the residents of Drummond Island. Members of the Chamber of Commerce and other interested outdoor people thought that the gray squirrel would be a valuable addition to the Drummond Island fauna. The desirability of establishing a gray squirrel population on Drummond as on Bois Blanc had been considered many times in the past by the DNR, but other work and priorities took precedence over the operation. The cover type and food supply available to squirrels on Drummond Island is somewhat similar to those of Bois Blanc Island. The success of establishing a gray squirrel population on Drummond Island will depend on winter weather severity, protection for the newly released squirrels from hunting, and the suitability of the habitat.

Dellenville flooding and on the Tahquamenon River in the vicinity of Deadman's Farm and the mouth of the Sage River. Perch fishing fair to good on Indian Lake, Schoolcraft County—best catches at dusk using right crows. Fair perch fishing on Triangle Lake, Schoolcraft County. Few perch being taken on the west side of Big Manistique Lake. Some perch being taken in Potagamissing Bay but very little activity on Musoung Bay.

NORTHERN PIKE—Reports of good pike fishing in Waika and Mosquito Bays, Lake Superior. Still getting a few pike in St. Mary's River near DeTour. A 138, 36" northern pike was taken in the vicinity of Deadman's Farm on the Tahquamenon River. A few pike being taken on the Blind Sucker Flooding and Muskaungee and Perch Lakes, Luce County. Some pike being taken in the Manistique River below the dam.

Register for fair next Wed., and Thurs.

Anyone who wants to exhibit at this year's Schoolcraft County Fair, to be held Aug. 27-29, must do so next Wednesday and Thursday. All non-animal exhibits must be registered on Wednesday, Aug. 25, from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. or on Thursday, Aug. 26 from 9 a.m. until noon. No entries will be accepted after the noon deadline. Judging will begin at 4 p.m. on Thursday. No exhibitors will be allowed in the fair building at that time.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Vanner Erickson, who passed away 7 years ago.
Surrounded by friends we are lonesome.
In the midst of joys we are blue.
With a smile on our faces we will be heartache.
Longing, dear Vanner, for you.
Children of Vanner Erickson 10p1

In Memory of Kenneth Lee who passed away Aug. 22, 1981
Our hearts are sad and we are lonely
Thinking of the one we love
But we know some day we'll see him
When we meet in heaven above.
Over seven long years of unold suffering
The misery only he could know
But now he's safe in the arms of Jesus
Watching over us here below.
Sadly missed by wife, children & grandchildren 10p1

SCHOOL NEWS

supplement to the Advisor

Published by the Board of Education, Manistique Area Schools, Manistique, Mich. August 18, 1982

FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS--

The Manistique Area Schools aspires to:

- ...Provide a good basic education, giving the students the opportunity to achieve.
- ...Provide a comprehensive program which gives the student the opportunity to develop individual talents and interests.

To accomplish those objectives will be a challenge for the school board, parents, educators and students.

The school board and auxiliary staff are currently in the process of collective bargaining relative to the 1982-83 auxiliary master contract.

The MEA and the Manistique Area School Board have arrived at an impasse in labor negotiations and will be going into fact finding.

With projected reductions in state and federal funding, the district is faced with another year of financial uncertainties.

The staff and the Board continue to move forward, with educational planning in elementary and secondary areas.

Parents are alerted to take note of the following:

- *Second grade students from the Lakeside and Lincoln School attendance areas will attend the Lakeside School.
- *Third grade students from the Lakeside and Lincoln School attendance areas will attend the Lincoln School.
- *Sixth grade students from the Hiawatha-Thompson area will be transported to Lincoln and Lakeside Schools for attendance.
- *All students, elementary through secondary, from Blaney Park west will be transported into Fairview on the High School run.
- *Hot lunch will be scheduled for Tuesday, August 31. Prices are 85¢ per meal for students, and 40¢ for reduced rate lunches.
- *Bus routes remain relatively unchanged. Please check bus routes contained in this newsletter.
- *The detour on US-2 from Gulliver east to Green School is expected to extend into October. Check Bus 34 and 35 for necessary adjustments.
- *Parents or guardians having educational concerns should contact the individual elementary or high school principals, guidance counselors, your child's teacher, or the Superintendent of Schools.
