

No federal funds for local sewer project

The city plans to finance its proposed $5.7 million sewer separation project in Manistique received a setback with word from the state that a hoped-for $3.5 million in federal funds will probably not be available until 1985, if at all.

That word, from the Department of Natural Resources' grants division, puts a crimp in plans to go ahead with separation of city storm sewers from the 18-mile sanitary sewer network.

In the first place, it may force the city to change the wording of a $2.2 million bond issue proposal to be voted upon in the Nov. 2 general election. That proposal says bonds would be sold to finance "the city's share" of the separation project.

When contacted Wednesday, City Manager John Matthews said he had not heard the money would not be available. If it turns out that federal money is indeed diked up for the foreseeable future, Matthews would have to be changed to allow the city to go ahead on its own with the separation of sewers.

Although he wondered if the city would forfeit eligibility for later grants by going ahead itself with a scaled-down separation project, Matthews saw little choice. "I would be in favor of doing something" were the $2.2 million approved by voters but the federal money held up, Matthews said.

"We can't just sit here and do nothing. That system is in terrible shape and we're just going to end up tearing up roads and paying more in the long run if we don't do what we can," he said.

City voters defeated the very same bond issue in the Nov. 2 general election. Tom Kampinen of the DNR grants division, which distributes federal grant money in Michigan, the city won't be getting that federal money, Kampinen said that a new "priority list" of water treatment project proposals in the state was recently drawn up. On that list, which will go into effect Oct. 1, the city's sewer separation project had slipped to 63rd in priority said the ballot question wording from 41st in the last list.

That's important, according to Kampinen, because under the most optimistic of circumstances the state will only fund the top 50 projects on the list. Manistique's application for the project had slipped to 63rd in priority said the ballot question wording from 41st in the last list.

He noted that the depressed state of the construction industry has forced firms to compete harder for the little work available, pushing down prices of projects that do get funded.

"The contractors are so hungry now that we are finding bids coming in way under estimate," Cain said. "It would be impossible to do the entire project, but the $2.2 million they raised, the way prices are now, could probably knock out a good portion, maybe a third to a half," he said.

Approval by voters of the bond issue Nov. 2 would raise property taxes between seven and 13 mills a year, depending on the interest rate the city had to pay on the bonds.

The council brought the budget back into balance for the time being, more amendments—and possible service cuts—will be necessary to balance the budget in the long run.

The budget amendment adopted Monday cut a total of $7,745 from a half-dozen accounts currently showing a surplus and transferred the money to seven other accounts that have already exceeded their budgets since the fiscal year began July 1.

City Manager John Matthews said similar amendments will have to be adopted by the council as the year progresses and other adjustments are required to bring the budget back into balance.

Among the items cut in the amendment was $500 from the city's $2,000 commitment to help fund the Manistique School and Public Library. Matthews said it is possible that the remaining $1,500 may also have to be cut in order to fund other accounts. Also cut from the budget were $1,000 for the city attorney, $1,000 for part-time city park help, $1,000 for police equipment, $245 to send ambulance crew members to workshops and $4,000 for operation of the city dump.

Most of that money, $4,509, was channeled into the city's local street

City grapples with budget changes

The Manistique City Council spent a large part of its meeting Monday night grappling with an amendment to its 1982-83 budget. A budget amendment passed unanimously by the council brought the budget back into balance for the time being, more amendments—and possible service cuts—will be necessary to balance the budget in the long run.

The budget amendment adopted Monday cut a total of $7,745 from a half-dozen accounts currently showing a surplus and transferred the money to seven other accounts that have already exceeded their budgets since the fiscal year began July 1.

City Manager John Matthews said similar amendments will have to be adopted by the council as the year progresses and other adjustments are required to bring the budget back into balance.

Among the items cut in the amendment was $500 from the city's $2,000 commitment to help fund the Manistique School and Public Library. Matthews said it is possible that the remaining $1,500 may also have to be cut in order to fund other accounts. Also cut from the budget were $1,000 for the city attorney, $1,000 for part-time city park help, $1,000 for police equipment, $245 to send ambulance crew members to workshops and $4,000 for operation of the city dump.

Most of that money, $4,509, was channeled into the city's local street fund, which has already spent $6,244, well over its total 1982-83 budget of $3,541. Another $2,457 was transferred to the major street fund.

Council Member Mike Dougovits expressed confusion over the complicated series of fund transfers. "I'll be the first one to admit I don't know what the hell I'm looking at. I firmly believe there is a simpler way to set up the budget and not have to shuffle all these accounts," Dougovits said.

Dougovits suggested that heads of city departments be consulted more closely by Matthews in working out the original budget so that frequent amendments would not be necessary. "My suggestion is to let the department heads work up a realistic budget and make them live within it," he said.

Matthews responded that he had consulted with the department heads while preparing the current city budget. Their requests for money came to over $1.8 million—$700,000 over the city's anticipated revenues this year of $1.1 million.

The only way to cut city expenses, according to Council Member David Vaughan, is to start cutting the city's services. "We're going to have to sit down and say we have to cut our basic services to the people of Manistique. If that means cutting the police department in half or cutting public works by half, that's what we're going to have to do. The only way we are going to be able to save is to cut our basic services," Vaughan said.

In other matters Monday, the council agreed to consider an agreement between the city and the Ethel Brown estate by which the estate would purchase a one-ton dump truck for the city. In return, the city would no longer bill the estate for equipment rental when the city makes improvements at Lakeside Cemetery for the estate.

The estate, the trustees of which are responsible for administering a bequest by the late Ethel Brown for city cemetery improvements, often contracts the city to make those improvements.

Department of Public Works Superintendent Mike Fackett told the council that the truck, estimated to cost $12-14,000, would be at the disposal of the city for other work besides that at the cemetery. The city in turn would not bill the estate for rental of any city equipment used (continued on page 4A)

Register to vote by Monday!

If you want to vote, you have to register. County Clerk Fred Lesica this week reminded anyone wishing to vote in the Nov. 2 general election that they must register by 8 p.m. next Monday, Oct. 4.

To handle last-minute registrations, the Manistique City Hall and all township halls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. In addition, eligible voters can register at the Secretary of State's office in Manistique. Voter registrations will not be taken at the county courthouse, according to Lesica.

Who is eligible to register? Anyone over 18 by election day who has lived at least 30 days in their township or city. A quirk in Michigan law, Lesica noted, allows people whose 18th birthday falls on Nov. 3—the day after the election—to register anyway, since on Nov. 2, they would have lived exactly 18 years and met the voter eligibility requirements.

Registered voters who want to cast an absentee ballot in the election can apply for one at the city or townships clerks' offices any time before 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30.

Lesica said three ballots will be voted on Nov. 2—federal, state and county offices will be up for grabs—along with a special bond issue proposal for voters in the City of Manistique.

Teachers, school district outline contract dispute

The school district and teachers got together Thursday to publicly outline their grievances for the first time since contract negotiations began in March.

The occasion for the meeting was a "fact-finding" session where both sides detailed where less-formal talks had broken down. Although the School District has apparently backed off its original plan of not granting any salary increase to teachers this year, its offer of a flat $450 increase for all teachers has not met with teacher approval.

As a counter-offer, the teachers' union proposed a complete revamping of the salary schedule for teachers. Although the new schedule proposed by the teachers actually provides for lower starting salaries for some teachers than the School Board's, it raises the rate of increase as teachers move up in experience and education.

With the 71-member staff currently in the School District—staff that generally is older and has several years experience—the teachers' would cost more than the district's offer. In addition, the difference in cost of salaries to the district would escalate as more teachers in the district advanced into the higher-paying salary brackets.

Combined with increases in district contributions to retirement programs and vision insurance benefits, District Superintendent Richard Bonifas said the teachers' proposal would cost the schools $55,000 more than the administration offer.

As an example of the differences in the salary proposal, a permanent teacher at "step zero" in the school district's proposal would make $11,971, by comparison, such a teacher in the teachers' union salary schedule would make only $11,592, $379 less.

By the time that teacher advanced to the "step 15" pay grade, the school district proposal would pay $19,115 while the teachers' union offer would pay $20,536—$1,421 more than the district's proposal.

The current contract between the teachers and the school district expired Aug. 30. Since then, teachers have been working under its provisions while the negotiations continue. Under the contract, a "step zero" permanent teacher makes $11,521 and a step 15 permanent teacher makes $18,665.

Thursday's "fact-finding" session was the latest in several stages of negotiations between the teachers and the school district. Initial talks broke down during the summer and a state-appointed mediator met with both sides in a futile effort to overcome the difference. The mediator declared an impasse in the negotiations and the teachers applied for the next step in the bargaining process—the so-called "fact-finding" session.

In the process, a fact-finding hearing such that held last Thursday is scheduled for both sides to present their cases to the impartial fact-finder. In this case, the fact finder was Dr. William Barstow, a professor of law from Michigan Technological University.

After hearing both sides, Barstow invited the teachers and school district to submit "post-hearing briefs" further substantiating their positions. Once he receives those briefs, which Bonifas said would be mailed by the end of the week, Barstow will issue a report within 30 days.

The report, in which Barstow reaches conclusions about the issues in dispute, is not binding on either party. The value of a fact-finding report and recommendations are that after a formal hearing, there has the advantage of receiving an objective evaluation of their positions. The report may also sway public opinion, encouraging the parties to reach a settlement.

Probe on self-pay practices

Investigators at the state auditor general's office looking into the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees' meeting and self-pay practices said Wednesday they have requested additional records from the board.

The auditor general's office in Lansing has been investigating the hospital Board of Trustees after a request earlier this month by State Representative Charles Varnum of Manistique. Varnum claimed, the board's own records showed that the board has repeatedly violated the Open Meetings Act. Varnum also asked the Auditor General to check on the board's practice of paying its members for performance of individual duties at the hospital, even when no meeting of the board was held.

The board has vigorously denied any wrongdoing and suggested that Varnum's probe request was politically motivated.

At any rate, Charles Jones, assistant director of audits for the auditor general, said Wednesday that more information was needed before the investigation of the board could be completed. A request for the records was mailed to the board on Sept. 14,

He said. On Monday, board attorney Bruce Plackowski called Jones to clarify the request and indicated that he would recommend that the records be forwarded to Lansing, Jones said.

One item needed to continue the probe, Jones said, was a copy of the county-wide policy governing payment of board members.

"At the moment we have asked the hospital to send us certain information that was not included in the information from Representative Varnum," Jones said. "Really, what we are trying to do is determine what the (payment policy) was and measure the practice during that time against the policy."

Also requested, Jones said, "is just the information we need to see what meetings were attended and when."

Jones stressed that the role of the auditor general's office was only to investigate the facts in the dispute—not to draw any legal conclusions from them. "We just want to get the information together and make a disclosure of what happened and leave the politics and criticisms to whoever wants to make them."

Specifically, the charges made by Varnum, after he had researched the Hospital Board's records on his own, were that the board failed to properly notify the public of its meetings. According to the Open Meetings Act, notices of meetings must be posted 24 hours beforehand and minutes be kept at the meeting.

Varnum said the records he got from the hospital indicated that the board had held 33 illegal meetings—meetings where either no minutes were kept or notices posted.

The other issue raised by Varnum concerned the board's practice of paying its member "per diem" allowances. While Varnum had no (continued on page 4A)

One function of desserts is to produce a sense of complete satisfaction at the end of the meal. This final course is something which almost everyone enjoys naturally and instinctively, which is one of the reasons we serve dessert at the end of the meal.

This is a good year for apples and this is the time of the year when we start thinking of new apple recipes. The Apple Cake recipe below is one of those "old" recipes that are impossible to trace. This Apple Cake is moist and delicious and easy to make.

APPLE CAKE

- 1 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 teas. vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teas. soda
- 2 tbl. cinnamon
- 1/2 teas. salt
- 4 apples, sliced thin
- 1 cup nuts

Beat together oil and sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Add vanilla. Add 2 cups of flour, slowly. Add soda, cinnamon, and salt. Fold in thinly sliced apples. Stir in nuts. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees in a well greased bundt pan.

City Budget Confusion reigns

We share the frustration shown by some members of the Manistique City Council Monday night during a discussion over the city's budget.

You may recall that the council adopted a "budget" of sorts back in June to satisfy the technical requirements of the law that says all cities must have a balanced budget before their fiscal year begins July 1. To balance it, City Manager John Mathews was forced to make some admittedly unrealistic cuts, such as slashing money for local street work by 96 percent.

He explained then that many amendments to the budget over the course of the fiscal year would be needed to bring it in line with the actual revenue and spending of the city. At Monday's council meeting the first of that series of amendments was adopted.

That amendment to the budget is a balancing act, so to speak, that requires the juggling of funds between half a dozen separate budgets that make up the city's confusing fiscal blueprint. Since those various transfers are at best a stop-gap measure to temporarily bring the budget back into balance that will have to be repeated again and again, neither the council nor the public really has an understanding of what's going on with the city's finances.

We join Council Member Mike Dougovin in expressing our confusion. With commendable candor he said of the amended budget adopted Monday: "I'll be the first one to admit I don't know what the hell I'm looking at."

Amen. Why can't the city manage to adopt a comprehensible budget? One argument forwarded Monday was that the city—unlike the school district or county—has a hefty deficit to contend with, which compels unrealistic budgeting in order to comply with the balanced-budget law.

We don't buy that argument. The goal of a budget is to plan spending within one's means. At the end of this fiscal year, as last year, the city will have some money managed to scrape through—the books will be closed and either a surplus or deficit posted. We do not see how the budget cannot be planned from the beginning to approximate that end result. The practice of adopting a series of budget amendments—not to fine tune the original end-of-year projections but merely to comply with legal technicalities—is a poor one that subverts the whole idea of the budgeting process.

No offense meant, Brenda Nelms says

Dear Editor:

When I was inspired to write my letter of Sept. 16, I never did it with the intentions of presenting a challenge, or to be vindictive in any way. I did it with the express purpose of reaching those people who believe in the power of prayer.

I did not try to imply that anyone is in desperate need of the USE of prayer. I only hoped that I could impress on those people who do pray, to leave room for those who have desperate need FOR prayer.

I believe that religion should be left where it belongs too. But how many people know what it belongs? It belongs in our lives, both inwardly and outwardly. Anyone who claims to live their faith devoutly should be able to express their faith through love for their fellow man, no matter what mistake, or faults they may have.

Five different people can be presented with a very complex problem to solve. An article with the correct solution by using five different means. And all can gain the respect of the person who asked them to solve the problem.

All people can't solve their complex problems in life in exactly the same manner, or in the same amount of time, but as long as they solve it, should one get more respect than another? Respect is love, and love is of God, and if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.

Diana Ross says it in these words, "Reach out and touch, somebody's hand. Make this world a better place. If you can." I wish more people could reach out and touch someone, anyone, who is in need.

If I have offended anyone, in any way, I publicly apologize for any misunderstandings. I do not intend to play a game of leap frog to see who has the jump on whom. What was intended to be my way of reaching out has turned into a race for the penman, and I will now gracefully bow out.

Thanks for the tour of the Tribune

Dear Editor:

We enjoyed it at the Pioneer Tribune. It was exciting.

We thank you, Mr. Searle, for showing us around and we thank you for the copy of the newspaper. Thanks, Mr. Tyrrell, for showing us the press run.

We liked everything. We learned a lot. We could see it's a lot of work.

Congratulations, County!

Dear Editor:

I joyfully offer my congratulations to our present County Commissioners. It is probably a first when a group of people (commissioners) can become qualified planners. Land use Specialists, Foresters, Sanitation Specialists and Zoning Specialists in a two-month period.

The "vast tracts" you speak of in your Editorial are zoned as they are because of the drainage problem throughout the area. We are all aware of the contaminated wells in Hiawatha Township. Do we want to subject the rest of the area to the same problems, so some land developer can make a buck at the expense of future generations?

The Zoning Commission was charged with updating the current Rural Zoning Ordinance in 1975 by the Board of Commissioners and we followed the recipe." (Quote by Russ King)

We appreciate the help

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Manistique High School cheerleaders and the Manistique Athletic Booster Club, we would like to say a big Thank You to Dick's IGA.

I don't know if anyone realizes it or not, but Dick donated everything for the 48-foot sub sandwich and the beef barbecue that was held during their "Beef Round-up" celebration. Not only that, but Dick gave the entire proceeds from sale of the sandwich to the cheerleaders, who made $86, and the Booster Club, which made $95.

Of course, a large share of the credit goes to those people who came and bought our sub slices and barbecue sandwiches. We are always in need of funds and it was so nice to have someone else plan the whole thing and then let us step in and reap all the profit.

We all had a really super time and we hope to see you all, and more, Comprehensive plan, pages 164 and 165, which were formally accepted by a prior County Board. I feel quite safe in saying that the present County Commissioners are not aware that such a plan exists.

My personal concern is not for the land owner who wants to make a big dollar, but for the future generations of Schoolcraft County. Certainly, we cannot hamper free enterprise; however, we can help both if we all give a little for all of us.

If the present commissioners are going to be more concerned about the land owner's dollar-making ability than the health and welfare of the rest of the citizens of the County, we had better give our hearts to God, because you know what belongs to the commissioners.

Food for thought: "The commissioners and I followed the recipe." (Quote by Russ King)

People who leave pets doom them to suffer

Eye bank is 'world's best kept secret'

Dear Editor:

The Upper Michigan Lions Eye Bank held a meeting recently where it was brought to our attention that we are in great need of donor eye tissue and would like this brought to the public. It is most important that the public be made aware that the deceased is not disfigured in any way and the only way anyone knows that they have made a donation is by the next-of-kin telling another. Some people have had a line in their obituary that they donated their eyes to an eye bank, this is left to the discretion of the family as we are here to only receive and dispense eye tissue where needed.

Our Eye Bank does not pay for tissue and neither do we charge the recipient. We would like to keep the people in our area supplied with Individual board members in the past have been paid for such board business as signing payroll checks and attending award dinners—at the same $30 per diem rate.

Since Varnum's claims of illegal meetings and improper payments were publicized, the board met with Plackowski. Plackowski said that, in his opinion, meetings held without the required notice or minutes were not a violation of the Open Meetings Act unless there was criminal intent.

Neither the board nor Plackowski were certain exactly which meetings in the four-year period were claimed by Varnum to be illegal. Varnum has not met with the board directly to discuss the charges.

The board also defended the practice of per diem payments for individual members, saying that it merely followed the statute, which allows all other boards in the county.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS

MAKE YOUR OWN TASTY WINES!

It's possible to make wine from almost anything that grows...and that includes carrots, dandelions, persimms, blackberries, tomatoes, apples, potatoes, and more. You don't need lots of expensive equipment either, or a great deal of room. In fact, Gary Miller makes his favorite wine from honey—in his 300-room apartment in the city.

Furthermore, though Gary's super-simple directions might drive an experienced winemaker up the wall, they do work. Here's how he does it.

First, get a gallon jug, preferably glass but plastic will do. Try to avoid containers that have held acidic products like vinegar. Wash the jug with soap (not detergent), rinse it with baking soda and water, and finally, rinse it again with clear water.

Then put a pint and a half to two pints of honey in the jug (the more honey you add—within these limits—the stronger the wine will be), fill it with warm water, and shake the container.

Now, add a pinch or so of yeast—the same type you use for making bread—and leave the jug uncapped and sitting in a sink overnight. The solution will foam out and get pretty sticky at this point.

After the mess quiet down a bit, you'll need to put a top on the jug. This cover must be a device that will allow gas to escape from the jug without letting air get in.

The easiest way to fill this need would be to buy an inexpensive fermentation lock at a winemaking supply store. A lock comes complete with a cork, so get the right size to fit your jug's opening. As an alternative, you can simply buy a cork (most hardware stores have a variety of sizes) that fits your bottle, drill a hole in it that will just allow a 1/2" to 3/4" plastic or rubber hose to pass through, stick the hose through the hole, and stop the jar with this apparatus, letting the loose end of the tube hang down into a glass or bowl that's filled with water.

Now, put your jug of brew away for about two weeks or until it's finished "working". It's ready to bottle when the bubbles stop coming to the top.

Old wine bottles are best. You must use corks (not too tight) to seal the wine...since they'll allow small amounts of gas to escape. Honey wine is ready to drink just about any time.

You can use the same process with fruits (and some vegetables), except that you'll have to extract the juice and, maybe, add some sugar. You'll also find that most fruit will start to ferment without the help of added yeast and will be better that way. Fruit and vegetable wines generally taste best after at least three weeks of aging. Most are even better after six months and up to two years.

Here's a recipe for an old-timey farrago, dandelion wine.

Early in the morning when the dew is on the flowers, pick one gallon of perfect, open dandelion blossoms. Put the washed flowers in a two-gallon or larger open crock or new plastic bucket, and pour boiling water over them. Cover the receptacle with cheesecloth or a towel, and let it sit at room temperature for three days. Then squeeze all the juice out of the flowers, throw them away, and save the liquid.

Put the wine-to-be into a big pot and add 3 pounds of sugar...3 or 4 lemons, chopped (include the skin, seeds, juice, and all)...and 3 or 4 oranges, chopped. Boil the mixture 10 minutes in the covered pot, then let it lukewarm, pour it into a crock or clean bucket, and add—stirring with a wooden spoon—1/2 to 2 packages or tablespoons of yeast.

Cover the container with cheesecloth and let the brew sit for two or three weeks, or till the bubbles stop. Filter the liquid through the cheesecloth to strain out any chunks. Then pour it into clean bottles and cork it tightly. Dandelion wine is best when left for two or three months before first tasting.

City Council...

at the cemetery. Those rental charges, according to City Clerk Pat Erickson, amounted to $3,300 a year for the past two years.

Council member Wally Leggett questioned the wisdom of sacrificing the $3,300 annual rental income in return for a $14,000 truck that would last six to eight years. "We're talking $18-24,000 against a $14,000 truck. I don't see where the advantage is for us," Leggett said.

"The advantage is that I need a truck" and the city has not budgeted public works for one, Fackety responded.

The council agreed unanimously to allow its attorney to work with the Ethel Brown estate to thrash out the agreement for later consideration by the council.

The council also advised City Attorney Bruce Plackowski to begin work on a standardized bid policy following a discussion of how bids for the truck would be let, should the city reach agreement with the Brown estate. The city has repeatedly had problems with its bidding procedure over the past year.

Agreed unanimously to advertise for bids on city-owned property abutting US-2 between Arbutus and Garden Avenues. Mary Curran of Manistique requested the move by council because he owns land that has no access to a street next to the city property.

Unanimously approved a transfer of a Class C liquor license for the Hub Bar on Cedar Street from former owners Maurice Fagan and Joseph White to new owner Timothy Cavanaugh.

Unanimously approved a reduction in the city's contribution to the employee retirement system. The state-operated retirement system reduced the city's contribution from 15.12 percent of an employee's wages to 14.26 percent.

Dougovin complained that the city's cost for the system was too much. He noted that the city kicks in $50,000 a year under the system for its 37 employees. The employees themselves pay another $21,000 to the system. "I don't see why we pay so much for retirement for what the employees benefit," he said.

Introduced an ordinance forbidding parking in places reserved for handicapped motorists. The ordinance, if passed, would punish violators with a mandatory $50 fine and authorize towing of their vehicles.

The ordinance was introduced in conjunction with two proclamations by Mayor Bill Hackney. One set the month of October as Handicapped Parking Awareness Month and the other set Oct. 3-9 as Employ the Handicapped Week in Manistique.

Discussed a proposal by the Manistique Yacht Club to have the city share the cost of buying pumps to prevent ice forming around docks at the marina during the winter. The pumps would cost $219.50 apiece and 12 are needed to de-ice all the marina slips. They would save the cost of removing the docks each fall and would allow boat owners to leave their boats docked at the marina year-round. The council took no action on the matter.

City Police

Investigation of a fire, at first thought to be an arson, has shown the fire was started accidentally.

Manistique Public Safety Officers report that a fire on the front porch of a home occupied by Julia Besaw, 121 S. Houghton, was caused by a cigarette butt which had apparently landed on an upholstered chair on the porch. The butt smoldered on the chair until the chair caught fire and ignited the porch. The fire was reported at 5:25 a.m. on Thursday.

A fire was reported at the Edwin Nylander home, 162 N. Cedar, at 7:27 p.m. on Tuesday. Police said the fire started from faulty wiring. Damage was done to the ceiling, walls and the building.

A semi-trailer truck driven by Roger Hughes of British Columbia, hit a pole near the gas pumps at West. Police said minor damage was done.

Krumrey painting places in contest

Local artist Dietmar Krumrey of Manistique took fifth place in the Michigan Wildlife Artist of the Year contest judged recently in Lansing.

Krumrey's painting of a trio of raccoons was awarded a fifth-place finish in the third annual competition, sponsored by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Richard Pas of Flint, until now a relatively unknown painter, walked off with top honors in the competition. His mixed-media rendition of a pair of drake pintails edged out a majority of the five-man panel of judges gave the nod to Pas' highly original watercolor composition.

Pas will receive a check for $1,000 from MUCC and will have his prize-winning painting reproduced on the cover of the December issue

State Police

Was it or wasn't it? U.F.O. buffs will say it was; cynics will say it must have been an airplane.

The controversy is about the sighting of several objects in the evening sky last week. Staff members of radio station WTOI called the Michigan State Police post to report sightings of objects with flashing blue and red lights.

Police officers also saw the objects when they arrived at the radio station.

Father Lanville of Garden called the state police the same evening to report the sighting of several unknown objects in the sky. He said a group of residents in the area saw objects with flashing lights flying overhead.

State police received an inquiry on the sightings from Dan Wright, State Director of the Mutual UFO Network in Lansing.

Brent Holbrook of Minnesota told police that someone had taken a fishing pole from his vehicle while he was checking fishing conditions at Thompson Creek on Tuesday. After investigation, police arrested Kevin Waldeker, 17, for larceny from a motor vehicle over $100. He was released on a personal recognizance bond.

Paul D. Turck was cited for careless driving after he was out of control of the vehicle he was driving on the Tammany Rd. Police said the vehicle went off of the road and hit several small trees.

Police reported a vehicle driven by Brenda L. Duchene of Garden hit the rear of a vehicle driven by Rebecca J. LaTulpe of Garden at 2:20 a.m. on Saturday on CR-8.

THE SLIMMEST OF HOLES opens up for this Emerald ball carrier in Friday's home game against the Norway Knights. Don Quinn (75) tries to pry off a Knight defender. The Emeralds lost the game during cold, windy and rainy weather 22-16 to drop their record on the season to 1-3. The team will travel to Stephenson this Friday to try and upset the top-ranked Eagles.

JV's still looking for win

by Gordon Archer

Coach Jim Hubbard's Junior Varsity football team played two games within three days this week and although the scores were not the same, the results were: the J.V.'s dropped both games by lopsided scores. Critical penalties and mistakes hurt Manistique in both contests.

At Norway Saturday, the Emeralds lost their fourth game without a win by a 34-6 score. The first quarter ended with a 12-0 score and Norway increased it to 20-0 at the half. By the end of the third quarter the deficit was 34-0.

Manistique couldn't move the ball offensively until the Knights put their subs into the game in the fourth quarter. The Emeralds got their only TD late in the game.

The leading rusher was Chris Gonyea, 97 yards on 14 carries. Ed Clement caught four passes for 30 yards, including the two-point conversion after the TD. Defensive standout was Todd Tuffnell, who tallied 13 tackles and a fumble recovery.

It was the same story at home Tuesday night against Rapid River as the Emeralds lost their fifth game 26-0. Hubbard used his young, inexperienced freshmen players about half the game, hoping to avoid injury and give the younger players game experience. Penalties, fumbles and mistakes again were a big factor in the final score. Starting quarterback Craig Nedrau was injured in the second quarter, and probably lost for the remainder of the season with a fractured collarbone. Manistique's only score of the game came in the fourth quarter on a 50-yard pass from Rob Forey to Dave Archer. Defensively, Todd Tuffnell had another good game. Complete stats were not available.

Emeralds face high-powered Eagles after 22-16 loss to Knights

Sloppy weather and sloppy play combined to doom the Emerald varsity football team's effort to put together back-to-back victories Friday, as Manistique went down to defeat at the hands of the Norway Knights, 22-16.

A rain-lashed Parents Night home crowd saw Emerald Coach Jim Hunter's squad fall in its bid to put together a win streak of sorts after beating Gwinn Sept. 17 for the first victory of the season. The Emeralds now have a 1-3 record, both overall and in the Mid-Peninsula Conference and will play their first non-conference game Friday at Stephenson when they take on the highly-ranked 4-0 Eagles. Game time is 9 p.m. local time.

To beat the Eagles, Hunter said his squad will have to clean up some of the mistakes made against Norway, when the Emeralds gave up 80 yards in penalties, a blocked punt and two interceptions to hurt their cause. Those mistakes—not the wet, windy weather—cost Manistique the game against Norway, according to Hunter.

"I don't think the sloppy weather had that much of an effect. They just physically beat us," he said, especially at the offensive and defensive lines.

"We should have won that game," Hunter claimed. "All we had to do was play just average up front and we would have beat them. We beat ourselves. Our punting game was atrocious and we had 80 yards in penalties."

Hunter shouldered some of the blame for the loss himself. "This is the second time this year I felt we should have won a game and we didn't. Ishpeming was the other. We were not well enough prepared to beat a team like Norway and as coach, I have to take a lot of responsibility for that. All we can do is work harder and see that it doesn't happen again," he said.

Even playing error-free football, the Emerald squad will have its hands full trying to contain the Eagles. Stephenson was ranked fifth in the most recent state Class C UPI poll and was ranked in the top five in the Upper Peninsula Class A-B-C last.

Last Saturday, Stephenson rolled over undefeated Rapid River, 20-10, displaying its powerful ground game. Key to that running game are two fleet-footed backs, senior tailback Jim Ciochetto and junior fullback Ron Mirau. Mirau had a 44-yard touchdown run and Ciochetto to two scores and 210 yards rushing against Rapid River.

Hunter does not underestimate Stephenson's power. "I've got nothing but the highest respect for them. They have a real good offensive team with two of the fastest backs we'll probably see all year. Their whole backfield is tough but the kids I'm most concerned about are those two backs," he said.

An upset against Stephenson would put the Emeralds in good shape to challenge Iron Mountain, the only undefeated team left in the Mid-Pen Conference, the following week.

The key to plucking the Eagles? High scoring for Manistique and no mistakes, Hunter said.

"Offensively, we have got to score a bunch of points to beat them because their backfield is so explosive they're going to break one open on you sooner or later. Offensively, that means to penalties. Our offensive linemen have to control the line of scrimmage so we can move the ball."

"Defensively, we just have to make sure we don't give up many of the big plays," Hunter said. Big plays against Manistique's defense continued to plague Hunter and his charges from the beginning of Friday's game against Norway.

In Norway's first play from scrimmage Friday, the Knights' Todd Gentron cranked off a 38-yard run to put Norway deep in Manistique territory. That set up a touchdown on a two-yard run by tailback Mike Servia. A two-point conversion gave the Knights an 8-0 lead.

On the next possession, Manistique managed to put together a 45-yard drive, penetrating to Norway's 19. The Emeralds were thwarted by back-to-back sacks and turned the ball over on downs at the 23-yard line.

Despite a pass interference call against Manistique, the Knights' next drive stalled at the Emerald 27. After exchanging punts on the next two series, Manistique had the ball on its own 30 when Norway picked off an interception and ran it back to the 19-yard line. Six plays later, Norway pushed across for a touchdown. Again, the two-point conversion was good and Norway led 16-0.

The Emeralds' Troy Farley ran back the kickoff to midfield on the next play, setting up a series of runs by back Mark Hoholik, culminating in a five yarder for a touchdown. Hoholik also caught a Mike Godlewski pass for the two-point conversion and, with 2:26 left in the half, narrowed the Emeralds' deficit to 16-8.

On Norway's next possession, Doug Mickelson intercepted a Knight pass deep in Emerald territory. Hoholik broke for a key third-down, 30-yard run to build an Emerald threat, but four consecutive penalties by the Emerald offense forced Manistique to settle for running out the clock to end the half.

Midway through the third quarter, Norway blocked a punt to take possession at the Manistique 40. The Knights managed to eke out a first down after an off-sides by the Emeralds. Two plays later the Knights converted a broken play into a 35-yard run and a touchdown. "We just weren't hustling," Hunter said. "I feel it was poor defensive play on our part that made that possible."

With 37 seconds left to play, Emerald defensive linebacker Dan

Lemtrand sacked the Norway quarterback, forcing a bad pitch that was recovered by Larry Leny. Two plays later, Godlewski completed a short pass to Farley, who broke three tackles and ran 77 yards for the second Emerald touchdown. Doug Mickelson took a toss for the two-point conversion just as the final buzzer sounded, completing the scoring, 22-16.

Sports

Players of the Week

Two Emerald players were picked for the second time this season as varsity football players of the week by Coach Jim Hunter. Hunter again tabbed senior running back Mark Hoholik for his offensive work against Norway last Friday and cited Dan Lemtrand for his efforts on defense.

Hoholik racked up 113 yards rushing against the Knights to solidify his claim as the most prolific runner in the Mid-Pen Conference. After Friday's game, Hoholik has a conference leading 339 yards rushing in 65 carries for a 5.2 yard average.

In Friday's game he also caught a pass and scored a touchdown. Hunter also cited Hoholik's fellow back, senior Troy Farley, for his effort Friday. Farley had 26 yards rushing and a 77-yard pass reception good for the Emeralds' final TD.

Although Lemtrand did well offensively he had 26 yards rushing in six carries. Hunter was more pleased with his work defensively. Lemtrand had 31 points on Hunter's defensive point chart, tying him with Tom Burns for season high. Lemtrand was in on 17 tackles and had two sacks to his credit. Burns also had a solid game, with 25 defensive points.

Hunter also praised the defensive play of running back Larry Leny and end Doug Mickelson. Leny was in on 12 tackles and scooped up a fumble recovery while Mickelson had a pass interception to his credit and was in on 14 tackles.

REACH OUT, REACH OUT...and try to get the basketball. That's what Lori Brulla was doing in last Tuesday's varsity girls' basketball game against Big Bay de Noc. Girls falter at Norway after beating Westwood

Both the Emerald varsity and junior varsity girls' basketball teams posted losses Tuesday night at Norway. The varsity squad fell 56-37 and the J.V.'s 51-17. Due to the late starting time of the varsity game, details of the game were not available for this week's paper and will be reported next week. The loss dropped the varsity squad to an even 3-3 overall record.

Last Thursday, however, the girls' varsity team gave Coach Don Videtich exactly what he wanted for his birthday: a win over Mid-Pen Conference rival Westwood. This was the first time Manistique has ever beaten Westwood on their home court. The Emeralds held Westwood to just 23 points the entire game as they posted a 37-23 victory. It was their second straight victory and their first in the Mid-Peninsula Conference.

Both teams began the game with strong defenses as they were each only able to score four points. By halftime Manistique took a slim 14-11 lead. The Emeralds came out with a strong running game in the third and fourth quarters and cut the lead to 23-12. At the final buzzer Manistique was out on top 37-23.

Videtich gave credit to the teams rebounding as the key to the win. "We got out in front of them and boxed them out real well," commented Videtich. Senior Barb Calhoun hauled down 16 rebounds to lead in that department.

Shelly Lasich was high scorer for Manistique with 11, while Tina Mattson of Westwood led all scorers with 12 points. Other scorers for Manistique included Barb Desjardens 8, Calhoun 7, Nancy Krusic 5 and Julie Carlson, Julie Larson and Donna Paradise with 2 each.

The Manistique J.V.'s ran into many difficulties including the loss of starting guard Amy Hastings who was injured during the game.

Westwood consistently led during the entire contest with a 8-2 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 22-lead at the half. Manistique had a strong third quarter, scoring 12 of Westwood's 14 points. As time ran out in the game the score showed Westwood 47, Manistique 25.

Coach Sandy Hasted was pleased with the play of high scorer Mary Brulla. "She played an aggressive game. She did a good all around job," Brulla led all scorers with 14. Other scorers included Stacey Zellar and Amy Klarich 3 each, Cathy Paquin and Wendy Miller each with 2 and Michael Rubick with 1.

Senior "swingers" hold banquet

The Senior Women's golf league held its first annual banquet and awards program on Monday, Sept. 20, at Indian Lake Golf and Country Club.

The group of forty women met Monday afternoon for nine-hole golf matches arranged by Sylvia Phillips. Rachel DuFour and Elsie Kasan, Winners received pins, certificates and prizes as follows:

Evelyn MacGregor Royal, high score on number 2 Dorothy Doyle.

Next year's co-chairmen are Lois Einmerman, Bette Schultz and Billie Doyle.

"Fowl" weather dampens hunting

First reports from ruffed grouse hunters have not been favorable. Except for a few good reports in north Delta County and Alger County, most hunters are having trouble finding birds. The wet weather has pushed them more into the hardwoods than usual. With loss of cover on the trees and light hunting pressure, hunters are having difficulty finding their target. Success should pick up as ferns die and leaves drop. However, hunters in Delta County might try the National Forest along County Road 509 and the Ensign Road.

Those wanting targets should try woodcock. They appear to be plentiful these first few days of the season. One pair of hunters claim to have flushed 75 in just a few hours. Squirrel hunters are also finding better hunting than last year.

Bear hunting pressure has been intense to moderate with extremely adverse weather the past week. Success reported as fair in most areas of the District.

Boating accidents such as the recent one at the mouth of the Escanaba River will seldom occur if one of the basic rules of boating is followed: Know the water you are using. Be aware of danger areas before operating at high speeds. Use special care near river mouths and towns where floating debris and old pilings are always in evidence.

Stream levels are up considerably. There should be good canoeing on area streams now.

Salmon fishermen take note: Salmon eggs may be sold at State-designated stations. Whole (in the round) salmon must be presented if their eggs are to be sold. Loose eggs may not be sold. In the round means eggs remaining in the salmon until being removed by the attendant at the designated egg buying station.

Chinook salmon fishing in Little Bay de Noc has been fair to good using silver and silver and blue lures. Large numbers of them are congregated off the mouth of the Escanaba River. Fishing in the river itself has been poor with a few entering the river.

Fishing in Lake Superior is picking up off the mouths of Marquette county streams for coho, chinook and lake trout using lead weights and spawn bags. Lake trout limits being reported off Marquette Harbor using downriggers, 6-8 lb. fish.

Pink salmon and cohos are showing up in Marquette County streams with some anglers having success. Action is expected to pick up.

Brook trout fishing remains good in the District. Many anglers are having success using grasshoppers.

Hire the handicapped, DAV's

John A. Matthews, commander of the local chapter 26 of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV), this week urged all area citizens and employers to observe "National Employ the Handicapped Week" Oct. 3-9. Purpose of the special observance by the DAV is to focus public attention on the "hire the handicapped" program and to remind employers that disabled veterans and handicapped workers make excellent employees when selectively placed in the right job.

Matthews said that the U.S. Department of Labor and large employers such as Bendix Corporation and E.I. duPont de Nemours and Company have conducted studies to compare the work records of handicapped and able-bodied workers performing similar tasks. These studies, involving thousands of workers, concluded that the handicapped had fewer disabling on-the-job injuries, and their attendance and job performance were "as good as or better than the able-bodied."

According to Matthews, Congress and the executive branch have expressed that qualified job-seeking disabled veterans and handicapped persons should receive preference by all U.S. Government agencies and certain federal contractors, and that programs implemented with manpower revenue sharing funds should reflect special consideration for these groups.

Area employers were urged by Matthews to list their jobs and training opportunities with the nearest Public Employment Job/Service Office and to discuss job placement for disabled veterans with the local Veterans' Employment Representative.

70-pound cake for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt caused quite a stir

The following news story comes from an area paper dated in the early Thirties. Although the story contains no explanation of why the note was sent to Rev. Heafield instead of Mrs. Follo, it must have been because she requested that he write the letter that accompanied the gift. This is the newspaper account:

FAYETTE WOMAN BAKES HUGE CAKE FOR WIFE OF PRES. ROOSEVELT

"Neighbors of Mrs. John Follo of Fayette recently saw two strong men laboring under a heavy load, carrying it from the home to a truck waiting outside. They looked wise and said, 'There goes the cake to the President.' They were correct. Mrs. Follo was actually shipping the cake which had attracted so much attention. Without a doubt, they conjectured, it must be going to the First Lady of the land.

"Some weeks ago, Mrs. Follo saw a picture of the White House, showing the south front of the public entrance, also the gates, railings, lawn, trees and flowers. The picture appealed to her. About the same time she also found what appeared to be a particularly good cake recipe in the 'White House Cook Book'. Then came the decision to reproduce, in cake, all that she saw in the picture and for six weeks she worked hard with this in mind.

WEIGHS SEVENTY POUNDS

"Among other ingredients she used 25 pounds of powdered sugar, seven pounds of granulated sugar, sixteen pounds raisins, and ten dozens eggs. Everything shown in the picture, even the flowers on the lawn, are vividly reproduced. The finished product weighs about seventy pounds.

"In the first stages, a few friends called to pay personal visits and saw the unfinished cake. They told others, and as the work progressed still more called and soon they were ing in crowds. Several hundred calls is a conservative estimate. The worker had to leave her work every time. She had spent many hours describing to various groups the details of her project. She had talked until she was hoarse. Many of the callers urged that the cake be sent to the World's Fair but she had that was a secret.

"Mrs. Follo, the wife of a farmer, is gifted with artistic taste and skill. Beyond a few lessons in china painting, she has had no special training for this work nor has she any special equipment. When still a child she surprised her seniors with her skill in moulding clay into birds and animals.

"Her first real attempt in making fancy cakes was 20 years ago when she sent her product to the Escanaba fair, winning first prize. Numerous other cakes were sent to fairs and they were all prize winners. Fifteen years ago she made a wedding cake for Miss Majorie Stewart, who was married to Harold Metz of Manistique. This attracted so much attention that she was offered a steady income if she would go to Marquette and devote her working time to the business, but she did not wish to leave home and so turned down the offer. Since then she has made many cakes, some of which were sold for special occasions. This particular type of work is considered a pleasure rather than labor, and it is her hope that someday she will be able to give up her farm work and devote all her working hours to following up this pet hobby. Last Christmas it was a source of great pleasure for her to make a Christmas cake and send it to Mrs. Roosevelt.

"Large numbers of (rare) people have seen this latest product. From various parts of the state have also called and they have said 'it is wonderful'.

"Mrs. Follo is a great admirer of the President's wife and it is a source of genuine pleasure to her to know that her gift has been accepted and will grace the White House dining table at the time that Mrs. Roosevelt celebrates her birthday on October 11."

I'm getting concerned about the photographs and other material left in the office by contributors; For those of you who have left items that have not been used in the column, please pick these things up. My tray is getting full and I worry about material left without prior discussion. For many reasons, I am unable to use everything offered and the owners of this stuff may have forgotten where it is.

Speaking of material for the Memories, I am continually amazed at the number of great photos in which the people are not identified, nor the time of the photo recorded. I can't brag about this: My family was as lax as any in this respect. I have plenty picked up with snapshots galore, and I can't identify half the people involved. I recently visited someone (I've forgotten who) who was taking a lot of time to identify the subjects of old photographs, and the jolting down family remembrances, for the sake of the descendants. This stuff is interesting to the kids of the

Nahma featured in travel newsletter

The following article on Nahma was featured in a recent issue of the "U.P. Traveler," the monthly newsletter of the Upper Peninsula Travel and Recreation Association, and gives some background on the Big Bay de Noc village.

Back in 1951, the Upper Peninsula community of Nahma watched the end of the local lumbering era as the Bay de Noc Lumber Company ceased sawmill operations. Local residents viewed the future with anxiety—the town was in fact "For Sale."

Unlike other lumbering communities, however, Nahma was given renewed life with the "lock, stock and barrel" purchase of the community by the American Playground Device Company of Anderson, Indiana. The new owners made a commitment to Nahma, employing former workers of the sawmill project in renovation projects and construction of a new plant. Over the years, the original plans for conducting manufacturing operations at the Nahma facility were curtailed or delayed. Yet, in the words of Warren P. Miller, President of American,

"We still intend to finish the job we began here so many years ago." Today, Nahma craftsmen still build American Approved Equipment, but the focus has changed. American clients from across the nation visit the Nahma facility for rest and relaxation, using Beach Lodges constructed in the early days after American's arrival. Guests are greeted by Rudie John, a former employee of the Bay de Noc Company and until his retirement, Client Services Manager for American at both the Nahma and Anderson, Ind., facilities. Rudie knows the U.P. and he makes sure that his "guests" experience the "lure of the U.P."

Lake Superior spawns 3-year old salmon

We are now seeing three-year old pink salmon—they were first observed in 1979-80. Normally pink salmon on the west coast mature after two summers in the ocean and run as adults, spawn and die in the second fall of their life. In Lake Superior, because of the extreme depth and relative cool temperatures, some two-year old fish apparently don't reach spawning size by the second summer and have carried over another year. They run and spawn successfully in the third year of life, creating pink salmon runs also in even years. In 1980 we saw strong runs of pinks in Miner's and a few fish in the Blind Sucker and Two Hearted River systems. We are again seeing runs in the same locations this year.

It is still unknown how far pink salmon numbers may increase in Great Lakes waters. Based on runs observed in 1979, there should have been an increase in salmon noted in 1981, but generally 1981 runs were relatively light in most areas. We don't know if this signifies a decline in pink salmon stocks in Lake Superior or if it was a one time phenomenon that may be misleading. There is still a lot to be learned about pink salmon. A Federally financed study is under way on pink salmon in the Upper Great Lakes which includes open water assessment netting. This has been one of the unknowns about pink salmon; where they go and what precisely they feed on in the Great Lakes after they hatch and move out with their parents in the spring. Very few of these fish ever appear in commercial nets and they don't reappear again until they ascend the streams on their spawning runs which begin in late August and September.

Anglers who are interested in these fish should concentrate on their favorite streams right now because the eating quality of pink salmon and catchability decreases very rapidly after salmon enter the stream. After they have been in the stream a week to ten days most are unfit to eat.

have been observed in the Hurricane, fishermen seem to be lacking. 18-20 lb. king (chinook) salmon are being caught off the mouth of Manistique River and Thompson Creek. Clees and mepps spinners are the popular baits. Fishermen are getting steelhead and brown in Inland Harbor, Lake Michigan. Pinks are being taken in the Two Hearted and Blind Sucker. Steelhead are now coming in to the Two Hearted. Brook trout fishing has been generally good in the streams. A number of fine catches have been made.

NORTHERN PIKE-Fishing has been real good in Bodi Lake—one fisherman got three in half an hour up to 30 inches. In the Les Cheneaux area, pike fishing has been holding up, although last week's weather (high winds, rain) kept most people off the water.

More college test information is available at MHS

Three new services to help students and school officials better understand and interpret scores on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) have been introduced by the College Board to coincide with this year's test date of Oct. 19, according to Jim Treger, director of guidance at Manistique High School.

The three services are: —A "summary of answers" report, which indicates how many students in each school, district, or state chose each answer to each question on the test, as compared to all students taking the test nationally.

—State summary reports of sophomores, which show career choices, intended college majors, ethnic background, and similar demographic data—identical to information currently provided for juniors.

—A Counselor's Guide to Helping Students Learn from the PSAT/NMSQT, a new publication designed for counselors to help students more clearly grasp the general nature of the tests and the implications of their test results.

Students also receive, before taking the test, a bulletin containing a complete sample test with an answer key and scoring instructions; a report of student answers; in December, including the corrected answers and their own responses and scores; the test booklet so that they can review the original questions; and a booklet, "About Your PSAT/NMSQT Scores," that helps them to interpret their test results and to plan for college.

The PSAT/NMSQT is cosponsored by the College Board and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Since 1959, more than 25.5 million students have taken the test, which measures verbal and mathematical abilities.

Food stamp recipients get increase

Food stamp recipients will get an eight percent cost-of-food increase in their food stamp benefits beginning Oct. 1. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Mary C. Jarratt announced last week.

"This action increases the food purchasing power of food stamp recipients to keep up with the rising cost of food," said Jarratt. The increase reflects changes in the cost of food between October 1980 and June 1982, she added.

The allotment for a family of four with no income, for example, will increase from its current level of $23.3 a month to $25.3 a month. Food stamp allotments are based on USDA's thrifty food plan, a food plan that provides an adequate level of nutrition for various sized households taking into account food prices. As the cost of food rises, the thrifty food plan rises with it.

Following are the new maximum monthly food stamp allotments which will take effect for families of various sizes in the continental U.S. on October 1:

Household size: 1-575, 2-519, 3-519, 4-523, 5-530, 6-536, 7-538, 8-545; each additional member, $7.

Mich. Assoc. of Governmental Employees files joint law suit

Three organizations representing non-bargaining state employees have filed a joint law suit asking the court to stop the Civil Service Commission's cancellation of a scheduled Oct. 1 pay raise and vision plan.

The suit filed Sept. 9 in Ingham County Circuit Court by the Michigan Association of Governmental Employees (MAGE), the Michigan Society of Scientific and Engineering Administrators (MSSEA) and the Michigan State Police Command Officers Association (MSPCOA), seeks preliminary and permanent injunction blocking the Commission's decision to rescind a 5 percent pay hike for 14,500 non-bargaining state workers.

About 30 of those non-bargaining state workers are employed in the Munising and Manistique areas and are represented by one of the three organizations.

The suit charges that the commission's Aug. 10 rescission of the pay increase and vision plan is "unconstitutional, unlawful and unreasonable," violating the state constitution, past practice and the commission's own rules and regulations.

Specifically the suit states that the commission's action violates Constitutional provision giving the governor and the legislature the exclusive authority to reduce or reject compensation decisions.

The suit goes on to charge that the action denied non-bargaining employees their Constitutional right to equal protection by reducing their rates of compensation "without similar treatment for others performing similar tasks and duties under similar circumstances." Approximately 20,000 bargaining state employees are slated to receive the 5 percent raise and vision care plan on October 1st. Finally, the suit argues that the Commission's action was not a necessary or reasonable reaction to fiscal circumstances because money saving alternatives were available.

"Programs for voluntary compensation deferrals, voluntary and mandatory layoff programs and permanent layoffs were available and have been successfully used in the past. These programs could have been implemented and effectively prevented any fiscal crisis without creating the arbitrary, unreasonable and discriminatory effects producing the commission's action."

MAGE, MSSEA and MSPCOA represent state employees in supervisory managerial or confidential positions excluded from collective bargaining rights under the Civil Service Commission's relations policy.

Historical Society elects officers

The Garden Peninsula Historical Society met Tuesday, Sept. 21 in the First National Bank in Garden.

Plans were completed for the Honorary Life Membership Dinner.

Arthur Squire, a visitor from Pentwater, Mich., obtained information about a relative, Hiram Goodrich Squire, and viewed a large frame picture of Hiram and wife Sarah (Weller) Squire.

How to help widows to adjust to living alone

by Eda Leshan

The widowed mother of a friend of mine is living alone in a nine-room house. That seems ridiculous, but is it?

Many of us have (or will be) faced with the problem of helping a widowed parent make the difficult decision about whether to go on living in a big house or to move to a smaller place: whether to continue living alone or to move in with others.

To be truly helpful we must allow a widowed parent to explore his or her own feelings by really listening. And we need to allow a lot of time to pass between the day the parent becomes widowed and the day the decision is made.

One seventy-four-year-old widow looked around his home after his wife died and thought he couldn't bear to be surrounded by so many reminders of happier times. He quickly sold everything and moved into a hotel - and his grief and morning increased a thousandfold. Much happier is the widow who still lives in her own home, surrounded by the accumulated memories of a lifetime. She has shut off two rooms because it costs too much to heat them and rented part of her house to a young couple - a compromise that makes her grown children feel much less guilty and anxious about her safety.

We must try to avoid letting practical considerations take precedence over the emotional needs of the person most involved. One middle-aged son told me, "My father needs to be in the place he shared with my mother. If we talked him into moving in order to save money and he would take care of, I think he would die too. He can't bear to be surrounded by so many reminders of happier times. He borhood - taking care of plants and pets when people go away, baby-sitting, painting a porch or a kitchen. At first I wanted him to move to a warmer climate and find a small apartment, but earning enough to maintain his home seems to have given him a new lease on life."

Of course many things must be considered, including the general health of the widowed parent, the resources available, and the pros and cons of the various alternatives. But the most important thing to remember is that if we pull up roots too suddenly, we may kill the plant.

REMEMBER WHEN?

(taken from the Sept. 27, 1962 Pioneer-Tribune)

Mrs. Helen McGlothin has received notice of her appointment as Grand Warden of the Grand Chapter of Michigan, Order of the Eastern Star.

It's Homecoming this weekend at Manistiquette High School. Queen Joan Nelson will be crowned by the captain of the football team in pre-game ceremonies. She will be accompanied by her court of Marsha Esk, Roberta Clausen, Christine Ranguette and Joanne Ott.

Marvin Frederickson will be the speaker at the first meeting of the year of the Junior and Senior High PTA.

Rehearsals will begin Monday for the Christmas concert to be presented by the Manistiquette Community Chorus. Mrs. James Eyyie will direct the choir.

Army Pvt. Lloyd G. Swisher, son of Arden G. Swisher, Gemlak, recently completed the nine-week sergeant missile course at the Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill.

Mrs. William Beaudin entertained her bridge club Sept. 19. Prizes were won by Mrs. Lyle Kotchen and Mrs. Wayne Richards. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Franklin Gredon and Mrs. Roy Schmidt. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donald Curran.

Mrs. Harrison Beach has presented a copy of "Selections from If I Remember Correctly" columns by her late husband, Harrison Beach, to the Manistiquette Public Library.

The first meeting of the year for the Handy Hands club met at the home of Mrs. Rueben Warshawsky at Gulliver Lake Monday evening. Mrs. Dean Deloria gave a report on the county council meeting. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Joseph Carlson and Mrs. Gregory Goudreau.

After a few setbacks and a lot of hard work, construction of a Go-Kart track for Manistiquette has been started. The site of the track is along the Manistiquette River, just north of the city sheds.

Health quackery does exist

Health quackery exists because it sells. People with arthritis spend a billion dollars a year for unproven remedies. In fact, according to the Arthritis Foundation, for every dollar spent this year in legitimate arthritis research, $25 will be spent on quack and unproven solutions to their disease.

The best defense against quackery is knowledge of the disease and willingness to investigate before buying. Here are five tips to help you spot an arthritis quack or health huckster. Be suspicious of someone: --Offering formulas and devices which are "special" or "secret". --Promising or implying a quick, easy cure and miraculous physical improvement.

--Advertising with "case histories" and "testimonials" from satisfied customers, and not documenting claims with valid scientific test results.

--Claiming that surgery, drugs or other traditional treatments prescribed by a physician are unnecessary. Offering instead ways of cleansing your body of "poisons" AND "pepping up your health."

There is no easy way to determine a fraud or quack, but if the claims sound too good to be true, they probably are! Before investing in any new product, be sure to check with a qualified physician or your local Arthritis Foundation office.

Laugh Lines

When a worried looking retiree in a florist shop asked for potted geraniums, the clerk, who was out of geraniums, suggested chrysanthemums instead. "No, they won't do," replied the man. "I promised my wife I'd water her geraniums while she was away."

An airliner flying into a violent thunderstorm was swaying and bumping around the sky. A nervous woman seated next to a clergyman turned to him for comfort and asked pleadingly, "Can't you do something?" "I'm sorry, madam," said the cleric gently, "I'm in sales, not management."

The bus overturned, killing all the women returning from the church convention. An embarrassed St. Peter greeted them at the peaty gates, explaining that Heaven was full and he'd have to put them up in Hell until the new addition was completed.

Three weeks later, a frantic Satan called St. Peter, begging that he take the women. "But I'm still having housing troubles," St. Peter replied. "Troubles!" roared Satan, "You don't know what trouble is! With their bake sales, rummage sales and bazaars, do you know these women are only $30 short of air conditioning this place!"

37 LOCAL TEENS travelled last month to the Bill Rice Ranch Christian Camp in Murfreesboro, Tenn. They were a contingent from the Bethel Baptist Church and Christian School in Manistique that competed in the ranch's softball championship and youth choir competition. The local youth slugged and sang their way to a first-place finish in the softball tournament and a runners-up title in the youth choir competition. Over 900 youth from churches in 17 states competed. The Bill Rice Ranch is the South's largest independent youth campground and the world's largest Christian camp ministry to the deaf. "The Ranch's pulp-centered approach, Scriptural emphasis, and warmly evangelistic atmosphere has been uniformly effective in challenging our youth to life-changing commitments to Christ," said John Walker and Bill Vradenburg, two of the sponsors.

care program are handled by "carriers" under contract with the Federal Government. These carriers are responsible for determining if the service provided is covered by medical insurance and, if so, the approved charge for the service.

A carrier may decide that some of all of a service is not covered under medical insurance or that the charge for the service exceeds the approved amount. If the service is not covered, the carrier must deny the claim. If the charge exceeds the approved amount, the carrier may pay only the approved amount.

If you disagree with the carrier's decision, you can appeal it by requesting in writing that the carrier review the claim. Any evidence to support the claim should be submitted to the carrier at the same time. The request should be made within six months of the date of notice of the initial decision and may be made directly to the carrier or to a Social Security office, which will forward it to the carrier.

If you are still not satisfied with the decision, you may request a hearing. However, a hearing is granted only if there is a difference of at least $100 between the payment received on the claim and the bill for services minus any deductible and co-insurance amounts.

The request for a hearing must be made within six months of the date the notice of review decision was received. This request, too, can be sent directly to the carrier or to a Social Security office for forwarding to the carrier.

The hearing of an appeal for medical insurance payments is conducted by a hearing officer appointed by the carrier. If you do not appear at the hearing, the decision of the hearing officer is based on the evidence previously presented as well as any new evidence that you may have submitted.

The decision of the hearing officer is final under the law, there is no further appeal. Additional information about the right of appeal in relation to a Medicare medical insurance claim can be obtained from one of the Social Security representatives who are at the courthouse in Manistique on the First and Third Wednesday of the month from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Most Social Security business can be handled by telephone. The toll free number is: 1-800-562-4820.

Upper Penninsula residents owe $159,690 to Social Security

Charles Farrell, District Manager of the Escanaba Social Security Office reported today that 218 people in the U.P. have received overpayments totalling $159,690 in the U.P.'s Supplemental Security Income payments. These people are being sent letters telling them of the overpayment, explaining how and why they were overpaid and requesting repayment within 30 days.

Social Security is actively engaged in collecting all debts owed it. These debts or overpayments represent tax payer dollars that were paid but were more than authorized by law. "In these days of scarce monies every dollar is important and misspent dollars mean that less is available for the people who truly need the money," Farrell said. In most cases the person's failure to report an event that affects the amount of payment due caused the overpayment.

Social Security will take action to recover all overpayments, Farrell said. First, a person is requested to repay the entire amount. If this is not possible, arrangements can be made for voluntary withholding of so much a month from a person's check until the overpayment has been repaid. If no checks are payable, then monthly installment refunds can be made to the Social Security Office.

"Social Security is very flexible in setting up a repayment plan tailored to an individual's circumstances. If a person did not cause the overpayment by any action or lack of action on their part and can not afford to repay the overpayment, Social Security will not require the person to repay it," Farrell said. In setting up a repayment plan or establishing inability to repay it, the overpaid person must submit documentation of all sources of income and expenses. People receiving overpayment letters are encouraged to contact their nearest Social Security Office if they have any questions. If a person does not respond then follow up letters are sent or a personal contact made to collect the money.

"Social Security is not harassing anyone but is trying in a fair and reasonable manner to recover dollars paid but not due. In many cases people knowingly accepted dollars they knew they were not due and trying to avoid repaying these dollars. Just being a certain age does not exempt anyone from repaying an overpayment," Farrell added.

CLEANING A FREEZER is not most people's idea of a fun way to spend the morning, but Sally Carlson (foreground) and Jo-Nell Berger managed to smile while working on the freezer donated to Lakeside School last week by Don and Dorothy Rocheport of the Lakeside Party Store. The Lakeside PTO will use the freezer to store ice cream and soft drinks to sell to students after lunch twice a week. The party store also provides the pop and ice cream to the PTO at cost.

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks for all the cards, gifts, flowers and phone calls I received while I was a patient in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital and Marquette General North Hospital.

I would especially like to thank all my relatives and friends who made sure I had company every day to help make my stay seem shorter.

Thanks to Dr. Fabrega, Dr. Grossnickle, Dr. Wehner, Dr. Barsch, Dr. Mering and the entire staff of both hospitals for their concern and care.

Larry Hedberg
16p1

The kindness and sympathy of neighbors and friends in our recent sorrow will always remain with us a precious memory. We would also like to thank Dr. Wehner and the staff, nurses and ambulance crew of Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, Rev. Minelli and the Messier-Broullier Funeral Home. Our sincere thanks and gratitude for all those comforting acts of kindness.

Gunner Erickson and Family
16p1

We wish to extend our thanks to all who were so kind to us at the time of our sorrow - the friends, neighbors and relatives who sent gifts, flowers, food and cards, to the L.C.W. who prepared the meal, to the Bearers, special thanks to Pastor Levin for his prayers and Messier-Broullier - Thank you all.

These many acts of kindness will never be forgotten.
