

Chamber of Commerce hopes for active future

The reorganization of the Manistique Area Chamber of Commerce got started at the group's regular meeting held last Tuesday. Six standing committees were appointed to begin work on various projects.

"After reports of being closed just last month, we are real proud to be moving forward so quickly," said Chamber President Chris Curran. Plans for repairing the old water tower, an "Oktoberfest" and winter carnival celebrations were among those discussed.

The publicity-public relations committee, headed by Carolyn Wegener and Leanne Trebilcock, will be sending a monthly newsletter to all members. The first issue is planned for Nov. 1. The committee is also planning a new brochure and a special coupon book to be given to tourists and people who have expressed an interest in the area.

Ron Ford, Chris Curran, Paul Ozanich, Vi Paquin and Dave Erikson will chair the membership-relations committee. The committee will be calling on all members to discuss the reorganization and to ask for their support. All members will be asked to serve on one of the standing committees.

The finance committee is headed by Ron Ford and Al Hepek. Pete Widdis, Connie Hoholik and Al Hepek will handle the industrial development and agriculture committee.

The first project for the building and grounds committee will be repair of the Water Tower. Dan Malloy and Bill Hackney will work on that project.

Paul McClelland and Carol Marcella are in charge of special interests. Their committee is working on the Oktoberfest in conjunction with the Manistique Merchants Association. They are also planning a winter carnival.

The chamber is considering the formation of an "Ambassador Club." The group would be official greeters for the community. They would welcome new business owners and guests to the community, and perform other goodwill functions.

A nominating committee was formed to select candidates for the openings on the board of directors. Members of the committee are the directors whose terms are expiring and the president, Curran, Malloy, Trebilcock and Ozanich will make the selection from candidates. Anyone interested in serving on the board for a term of four years should contact them.

The next regular meeting of the Manistique Area Chamber of Commerce will be on Oct. 14 at 1 p.m. in the board room of the First National Bank at Manistique.

Purdy resigns from hospital

Harry Purdy, administrator at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, notified the hospital's Board of Trustees Tuesday that he will be resigning by the end of the month.

Board Chairman Cal Jenerous said Tuesday that the hospital could operate without an administrator until a replacement for Purdy could be hired.

Purdy said he will leave his job at the 55-bed local hospital to take a job as administrator of a 33-bed facility in Crystal Falls. Although Purdy said he was not sure when he would stop work here, he said he would be on the job in Crystal Falls by the beginning of November.

Purdy accepted the job at Crystal Falls, northwest of Iron Mountain, Monday evening, he said. He cited only "personal reasons" for the decision to switch to a smaller hospital and a desire to stay in the Upper Peninsula.

Purdy denied that his decision had anything to do with recent friction with the Hospital Board, but added "personal reasons can encompass a lot of things."

Purdy was asked to resign by the board in May after a closed meeting which Purdy did not attend. Purdy refused to step down and requested a public review of his performance at an open meeting. At that meeting, the Hospital Board agreed to keep Purdy on for a six-month "probationary" period.

That six-month period would have expired until next month.

At the review of Purdy's job performance, the board cited its dissatisfaction with Purdy over his communication with the board on a variety of matters. Purdy said then that he thought the problems could be overcome and expressed his desire to stay on.

Jenerous said Tuesday he was surprised when he heard of Purdy's decision to resign after all. "It was no surprise to me today, but it was a surprise Friday when I first heard about it," Jenerous said. "I haven't met with any of the other board members, but I presume we would advise after our next meeting" for Purdy's successor.

Until a successor is found, Jenerous said the hospital could be run by other administrative staff. "I think we can get along all right for about eight weeks," he said.

County unemployment during August is lowest of 1982

The unemployment rate in Schoolcraft County dropped to the lowest level of the year during August, according to figures released last week by the Michigan Unemployment Security Commission (MESC).

During August, the county had a jobless rate of 13.6 percent, down from July's 15.8 percent. That's the lowest rate so far in 1982 and the lowest since last October, when the rate also was 13.6 percent. The August figures are the latest available.

If that sounds like good news, consider the fact that in August of last year, the county unemployment rate was almost three percent less, with 125 fewer county workers looking for jobs.

According to Bruce Weaver, area analyst for MESC, the drop in joblessness during August is a typical seasonal fluctuation that offers little hope of a long-term improvement in the area's high unemployment. He attributed the decline to unemployed summer job-seekers, including students, stopping their job search and dropping from the labor force statistics.

The consequent decrease in the county unemployment rate is a common phenomenon that usually takes place in August or September. It is followed by a large increase in unemployment when those workers who were successful in finding summer jobs are laid off for the season.

"The big increase in seasonal unemployment usually occurs in the November-October area, so any increase in unemployment in Schoolcraft County, not counting any possible layoffs, would not come until then," Weaver said.

The local unemployment rate decline reflected the trend across the Upper Peninsula and Michigan, Weaver said. The U.P. had an August jobless rate of 19.1 percent, down slightly from July's 19.4 percent. That was the highest of any of the 13 labor areas in the state, which had an overall rate of 14.5 percent.

Surrounding counties had the following unemployment rates: Alger 15.1, down from 17.2 percent; Delta 19.1, up from 17.8 percent; Lapeer 14.7, down from 17.7 percent; and Mackinac 10 percent, down from 11 percent.

They like to throw pots in their spare time

A unique formula is stored in a house overlooking Lake Michigan in Gulliver. The formula is as well kept a secret as a fly fisherman's favorite trout hole.

Keepers of the formula are potters Dave and Kathy Hayter. The formula is for a sky-blue glaze used as the finishing coat on pottery.

"We didn't know the sky blue color was unique until we started going to art shows," said Kathy. "At the shows we didn't see any pieces with a sky blue glaze. When other potters began to ask for the formula, we knew we had created an original color," she added.

Glazing is the final step in the art of pottery, which the Hayters demonstrated at a recent meeting of the Art Club held at their home.

The process begins with a lump of clay, "wedged," or kneaded like bread dough, to remove any air bubbles.

The clay is then placed on the center of a potter's wheel. The horizontal wheel is run by an electric motor.

"We used to use a treadle wheel but we got lazy," Dave said.

Dave leaned forward on his stool, hovering over the wheel as it began to spin. He placed his hands on either side of the clay to begin to make or "throwing" a pot is based on the principle of centrifugal force, which causes objects spinning at a high rate of speed to move towards the outside of the wheel, the clay must be in the center of the wheel to make a balanced object.

The creases in Dave's forehead deepened as he placed his thumbs on the top of the lump of clay causing an indentation to start to form in the piece. In less than a minute, the spinning clay began to take the shape of a pot.

Dave braced his arms by propping his elbows on his knees.

"Stability is very important. Any sudden movement will alter the shape of the pot," he added.

With an even more intense look of concentration, Dave bent his head to the clay again and placed his hands on either side of the wall of the emerging pot. His interlocked thumbs skimmed the top of the whirling wall. Varying the pressure of his hands, he altered the shape of the pot.

Suddenly Dave stopped the wheel. He looked at his audience and then at the clay, which had been transformed, almost magically, into an 8-inch high pot.

"Knowing when to stop is also very important," he said with a quick grin. The process, in the hands of an experienced potter like Dave, looks easy and quick. It isn't.

The pot would dry for a day. After drying, it would be "fired" or baked in a kiln. The kiln, a high-temperature oven, strengthens the pots, still fragile after drying.

Kathy demonstrated the alchemy in the art of pottery: making glaze. The same chemicals used to make glass are glaze ingredients. Precisely weighed and then mixed, different mixtures create different colors. Among the ingredients used are feldspar, flint, iron and whiting. The chemicals are then added to water to make a milky-looking glaze solution.

"I enjoy experimenting with different mixtures," said Kathy, pulling a large black notebook down from a shelf over her mixing table.

"I use this book like a recipe book and record any new formulas in it."

Tucking a long strand of blond hair behind her ear, she added, "The reason no one else will be able to match our sky blue is because I won't give it to them. We potters can be very secretive."

The fired pottery piece can be dipped in the glaze or the glaze can be poured onto it. A brush can also be used to apply the mixture but Kathy said dipping gives the smoothest finish.

The glaze dries quickly so a design can be painted on it after only a few minutes. The dried glaze is very dull with almost no color.

Wax can also be applied to areas the potter wants to be free of glaze in a process similar to batik.

The challenge to creating distinctive pottery is not necessarily in the form but in the glazing," said Dave.

The glazed pottery is returned to the kiln, the heat causes a reaction in the chemicals in the glaze. The dull glaze becomes a shiny glass-like surface. The milky color is transformed into vivid browns, greens or the unique sky-blue.

THROWING POTS takes up much of County Mental Health Director Dave Hayter's time. No, he doesn't have a hot temper, he is an experienced potter that gave this demonstration to the Manistique Art Club.

Can you name the senior housing project?

Do you have a knack for nicknames? An aptitude for appellations? Then you may be interested in a contest being sponsored by the County Housing Commission to come up with a catchy or original name for the two apartment buildings for the elderly the commission plans to build in Gulliver and Manistique.

There is a $50 savings bond in it for the winner. The rules for the contest, approved by the commission at its meeting Tuesday night, are simple enough.

Anyone living in Schoolcraft County can submit as many entries as they like. Entries must be mailed and postmarked by Nov. 1 for judging to the commission on Nov. 3.

The winning entry must have two lines so it will fit nicely on a sign to be erected at the entrance to each apartment complex. The top line is up to your imagination; the bottom must incorporate the words "Schoolcraft County."

The winner will be guest of honor at the dedication of the buildings. Just when that dedication will take place, or when construction of the projects will begin, for that matter, is still not known.

At Tuesday's meeting, Lou Barone, architect for the project, said he had sent the latest plans for the $3 million project to the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). HUD, which is financing the project, must give final approval of those plans before the commission can solicit bids from contractors.

There is no timetable for that approval and it could take anywhere from several weeks to several months, according to Barone.

Housing Director Eileen Males told the commission that she had received a low quote of a 5.14 percent interest rate on the sale of $3,997,000 in notes to raise money for the project.

As planned, the elderly housing projects will consist of a 16-unit apartment building in Germfask and a 48-unit building in Manistique.

After receiving approval last month from HUD, the commission purchased 10 acres of land in Germfask for $17,350 and a 3.5-acre site in Manistique for $20,000.

To open soon School pool still closed

Three months after the School Board approved reopening the swimming pool in the Manistique High School, the pool is still closed.

The culprit: a hard-to-find leak in the pool's water circulation system. Lee Ekblad, director of grounds and maintenance for the school district, said he hoped to have the leak fixed within a week and the pool open to swimmers soon after that.

The 150,000-gallon pool, closed by the School Board last year as an economy measure, has been sitting empty since November.

The pool was refilled the first week in September and about a week later, Ekblad discovered he had a problem: somewhere, imbedded in the cement surrounding the pool, there was a leak.

A bigger problem was locating the leak. The only evidence was water oozing up through the cement deck around the pool. Ekblad knew the leak had to be somewhere in a stainless-steel channel that runs around the perimeter of the pool—but where?

A basketball, of all things, peeled off its outer skin like a grape, provided the answer. Ekblad had holes cut into the channel at various places, inserted the deflated basketball, pumped it up and pressurized the water system. If water squirted out where it was supposed to, that section of the channel was OK.

Eventually, the leak location was narrowed down to a six-foot section about 400 feet of conduit had been tested. A welder was hauled in, hooked up—no mean feat in itself. Ekblad noted—and repairs began.

The leak in the water system for the pool had probably been there for some time, Ekblad said, but finally

Annual 'Lord's Acre Auction' set for Oct. 9

by Eleanor LaButte
Fayette's annual "Lord's Acre Auction" will be held this Saturday, Oct. 9, come rain or shine, at the Fayette Town Hall beginning at 11 a.m. with lunch and the sale starting soon after.

There will be many articles for sale, including fresh-pressed apple juice, vegetables of all kinds, a variety of afghans and quilts and other handwork made by crafts people aged five to 102.

The public is invited to spend the day and to experience an old-fashioned auction.

The annual sales have kept alive many traditions which otherwise would be memories. The quilting bee, pressing club, gathering of wild berries and the neighborhood of the auction are all part of the celebration of rural life.

The membership of the Fayette Congregational Church, sponsor of the annual event, is small, and many donations for the sale come from other denominations in an example

St. Martin's Circle meets tonight

St. Martin's Circle met at the Joyce Lesica cottage on Gulliver Lake last month.

Beverly Jahn, outgoing president, handed the meeting over to new president, Helen Davenport.

Card winners were Helen Davenport in 500, Mae Barker, Bridge; and Betty Fakety, canasta. Mary Schuring won the door prize.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Irene Berger.

Food bank meeting is next Thursday

A meeting to plan establishment of an emergency food bank for Schoolcraft County residents will be held Thursday, Oct. 14, at 2 p.m. in the second-floor conference room of the courthouse.

Janet Hunter-Lasich, area representative for the Manistque-Delta-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency, is organizing the local food bank. She said that in the past, drives to collect canned foods have been held each October. That drive, along with contributions from area churches, enabled canned food to be distributed to 63 needy families in the county over the past year, Hunter-Lasich said.

Still, the donated food has not been enough to last the entire year, she noted. "The food collected by volunteers never lasted more than a few months. Area churches have been helpful in replenishing the food closet at the courthouse on a one-time basis, but once again the shelves are empty," Hunter-Lasich said.

If you have questions, suggestions or want more information on the plans for a food bank, call Hunter-Lasich after Oct. 12 at 341-2452.

Local Eagles host statewide conference

Girls come close, but fall to Indians for third consecutive loss

The Emeralds girls' varsity basketball squad came close, but not close enough, as they were defeated by the Newberry Indians Tuesday night by a score of 41-36.

It was the girls' third straight loss and dropped the Emerald overall record to 3-5. In the Mid-Peninsula Conference the Emeralds remain 1-2 after losses to Gwin last Thursday and Norway last Tuesday. The Ishpeming Hematites came to town Thursday. Game time is 7 p.m.

Against the Indians Tuesday, the Emeralds had trouble getting started. "We couldn't hit anything," commented Coach Don Vidulich. Newberry, however, didn't seem to have much difficulty, especially with Sissy Thompson hitting four baskets in a row. The first quarter ended 20-7, Newberry.

Throughout the second quarter the Emeralds kept on pushing. "They just didn't give up even though we were down by up to 20 points at times," said Vidulich. Manistique managed to narrow Newberry's lead to just 5 going into the half, as the Emeralds outscored the Indians 11-3. The half-time score found Newberry still on top 23-18.

The third quarter gave the Indians a wider lead, 33-24, as they outscored the Emeralds 10-6. Scoring 10 points to Newberry's 4 in the final period, the Emeralds tried desperately for the win. With a score of 37-30, Manistique had their chance, but they came down court five times without a basket. With 1:22 left in the game and the score cut to 37-34, Julie Carlson missed a 1 and 1 shot. Newberry was able to add 3 more points in the final minute to capture the 41-36 win.

"We played good man-to-man," said Vidulich. "The girls hustled the entire game. Our key to the season is still getting everyone healthy." Nancy Krusic saw limited action Tuesday night because of a knee injury and Mary McNamara was home with the flu.

"Barb Calhoun did a terrific job for us tonight. The team was outrebounded 35-26 and Barb had 12 of those all by herself. She also scored three key points for us," said Vidulich.

The Emeralds shot 6 for 16 at the free-throw line for 38 percent. "We got to start shooting better at home," said Vidulich.

Manistique scorers included Barb Desjardens 11, Shelly Lasich 10, Calhoun 8, Julie Carlson 4, Julie Larson 3, and Krusic 1. The J.V.'s defeated Newberry for the second time this season in the preliminary game by a score of 42-27.

Manistique came out with an early 12-2 lead in the first quarter and widened it to 18-6 at the half. Newberry outscored the Emeralds in the third quarter 10-8, a margin which didn't offset much of their point deficit. During the fourth quarter Newberry managed to pull within 8, but that was the closest they could get all evening. The Emeralds outscored the Indians 16:11 in the fourth quarter for the final 42:27 win.

High scorer for Manistique was Wendy Miller with 18. Other scorers were Amy Klarich and Mary Brullia each with 8, Lisa Schulze with 4 and Cheryl Zellar and Amy Kraatz with 2 apiece. High scorer for Newberry was Courtney Furlong with 12. Rounding out Newberry's scoring were Beth Gibson 7, Becky Salminen 6 and Kirsten Johnson 2.

Manistique outrebounded Newberry 50-45. High rebounders for Manistique were Stacey Zellar and Wendy Miller with 10 each.

The Emeralds shot 4 of 7 free throws for 57 percent while Newberry shot only 1 of 10 for 10 percent. JV Coach Histed again complimented Wendy Miller and Mary Brullia for their part in the victory. "Those two did a good job for us," said Vidulich. "The J.V.'s are now 4-4 on the season.

The Emerald J.V.'s host Ishpeming on Thursday night in a Mid-Peninsula Conference game. The J.V. game begins at 5:20.

Last Thursday at Gwin, Manistique was outmanned and outrebounded by the Modeltowners beat the Emeralds 65-39. The loss was Manistique's second in a row after beating Westwood in its conference opener. Gwin got off to a quick start in the first quarter out-scoring Manistique 14-4. Manistique's points came from baskets by Barb Desjardens and Lori Brullia.

The Emeralds fought back in the second quarter, scoring 15 points to Gwin's 11. At one point Gwin led by only 3. At half-time the Modeltowners lead widened by 6 to make a 25-19 Gwin lead.

The Modeltowners began pulling away in the second half. A full-court press by Gwin forced Manistique to turn the ball over 20 times in the final two periods. The Emeralds were outscored 16-12 in the third quarter and 24-8 in the final quarter to give Gwin the 65-39 win.

Gwin used their 54-39 rebound advantage to put the game away in the second half. "We were really outmanned physically," said Vidulich. "They killed us on rebounds."

April Macario from Gwin led all scorers with 26 points. Shelly Lasich was the high Emerald scorer with 10. Other scorers were Barb Calhoun 8, Barb Desjardens 8, Julie Larson 6, Lori Brullia 4, Donna Paradise 2 and Jill Vickery 1.

Coach Vidulich was pleased with the play of Shelly Lasich. "She controlled well against the press for us. All the girls fought hard. They hustled. Gwin isn't that good—we'll beat them when they come to Manistique. Right now we have to worry about getting the team healthy again." Nancy Krusic sat out with a knee injury and Julie Carlson was out with an ankle injury.

"When you're missing two starters, it hurts. When we get them back we'll be in good shape." The J.V.'s are now 4-4 on the season, but they looked much improved over the last few games.

After the first quarter of play the game was tied up 11-11. Gwin outscored Manistique 11-6 in the second quarter to take a 22-17 halftime lead. The Emeralds came out strong in the beginning of the third quarter and took the lead for a short time. As the period ended however, Gwin had recaptured the lead as both teams scored 12 points.

The game got away from Manistique in the final period as they were outscored 17-10. The fine performance of Gwin's Ghidini, who had 27 points on the night, gave the Modeltowners the 51-39 win.

"We played three good quarters of ball," commented Coach Histed. "Wendy Miller played an outstanding game. All of the girls did well."

Mary Brullia paced the team with 10 points followed by Miller with 10, Amy Klarich with 7 and Lisa Bridges, Amy Kraatz and Lisa Schulze with 2 each.

A tall, hot-shooting Norway team took its toll on Manistique last Tuesday as the Emeralds were defeated 56-37.

The Emeralds were able to stay close for three quarters of play and entered the fourth with a 39-29 deficit. "We trailed by 8 or 10 points the whole way," said Coach Vidulich. "We could never get it to 6. In the fourth quarter their height and strength prevailed. We never got a chance to get back in the game. They hit 7 of 11 in the fourth. Everything they put up went in."

Manistique was outrebounded 38-25. Barb Calhoun was high rebounder for the Emeralds with 10. Calhoun was also high scorer in the game with 9 points. Barb Desjardens and Nancy Krusic each scored 8. Shelly Lasich and Julie Larson and Jill Vickery rounded out the scoring with 2 points each. High scorer for Norway was Kelly Roberts with 16.

"Nobody thought we would give them a fight. Norway is a top team. We just never gave up," commented Vidulich.

The Manistique J.V. team was beaten by the Norway J.V.'s 46-17. Scorers for Manistique included Stacey Zellar 5, Gerry Paquin 5, Mary Brullia 4, Wendy Miller 2 and Cathy Paquin 1.

Walleye festival winners listed

Winners of the Manistique Lakes Association's annual walleye festival were announced last week and are as follows:

First prize of $2,000 went to Bill Allen of Naples, Fla., for the 26-inch, 5 1/2-pound walleye caught in North Manistique Lake.

Second prize, a 7 1/2 horsepower Evinrude outboard motor, was awarded to Kenwin Thornton of Toledo, Ohio, for a 23-inch, 4-pound, 16-ounce walleye caught on the north lake.

Third prize, a four horsepower outboard, went to Norma Allen. She caught a 23-inch, 4-pound, 1-ounce fish on the north lake.

Wayne Butts of Green Bay took the fourth prize, a 17-foot Grumman Canoe. His fish, the same size and weight as Allen's, was caught in the south lake.

Finally, fifth prize, a depth-sounding device, went to Michael Haught of Saginaw. He caught a 23-inch, 3-pound, 13-ounce walleye in the south lake.

The Emeralds dropped that and two more against Gwin and Newberry. They hope to snap the losing streak Thursday night when they take on the Ishpeming Hematites at home.

Isn't the 1st school the oldest building in town?

Tell me I'm wrong: Of all the buildings from the good old days still standing in Manistique, the oldest has to be the first school house. Built in 1872 and originally located near the Chicago Lumbering Co. offices and store where Creighton's car lot now stands, it is now a residence at 631 Michigan Ave. When it was built there were very few buildings of any kind here: the company store, the first C.L. mill, the boarding house, a court house and a few homes. (And not a bathroom in sight.)

I wonder if the original siding still exists, under its present covering of imitation brick? Shouldn't this structure qualify for preservation? It surely predates the Post House.

Memories Jack Orr

This year, thanks to a timely gift from my family, I renewed my boyhood enthusiasm for bike riding (the pedal-it-yourself variety, not the motorized kind). Bikes are the oldest mode of transportation still in use here and the trend is on the upswing, thanks to a renewed interest in staying healthy through physical exercise; and thanks also to modern materials and engineering and efficient manufacturing techniques that have kept the cost down. Good bikes in the Good Old Days cost about as much as today's standard models, and of course the dollar in those days had real purchasing power. William Crowe's book "Lumberjack" contains an interesting few paragraphs on biking "way back when, which I trust the descendants of Mr. Crowe won't mind if I quote from. (The grammar of that last sentence will be probably be understood, even though there is no clunker which.)

Bill is taking an imaginary young lady on a tour of Old Manistique; this is from the book:

"Next I'll take you around some of the mills, on a tandem bicycle ride to Indian Lake with a picnic lunch, or for a walk through Indian Town or up to the furnace to see them case, and maybe a boat ride in the harbor or a buggy ride behind Old Dobbin ending up at Mrs. Payne's ice cream parlor. I don't think you will find it dull or boring."

"We have the Ekstrom Brothers' tandem (bike) and will take a picnic lunch and ride out to Indian Lake on the new bicycle path. Built by Andrew Ekstrom of cinders, lime and clay, five feet wide and as smooth and hard as pavement, it winds through the picturesque woods to the Bee Hive built by Hiram Quick - it looks exactly like an enormous beehive and is used as a refreshment stand and for dances now and then, and the grounds are you'll be amazed.

A November 1927 issue of the Pioneer-Tribune reported a local show as follows:

HOME TALENT SHOW MAKES GREAT HIT

"Two outstanding results - a highly pleased public and a neat sum for their treasury - were recorded last Friday night when the musical comedy 'In Hinky Doodle Town' was presented at the Gero Theatre under the auspices of the W.O.W. band. The show drew a packed house at both afternoon and evening performances.

Members of the cast included James Webster, Alfred Farley, Lawrence Strasser, Sig Berglund, Dan Danielson, Lawrence Gorsche, Mauritz Carlson, Paul Gero, Alice Gero, Eileen McLaughlin, Kathleen Tracy and Camille Doyle. The chorus was also a decided feature of the show. The many specialties introduced by members of the cast were highly pleasing, especially the dancing of Mrs. Alice Gero.

Sherry Varnum, Marie Grover to head local Anderson campaign

John Anderson, 37th State Senate seat candidate from Traverse City, announced today his campaign coordinators for Schoolcraft County. "I am pleased to have Sherry Varnum and Marie Grover of Manistique heading up Schoolcraft County," said Anderson, who will face incumbent Senator Mitch Irwin of Sault Ste. Marie in the Nov. 2 37th District race. The 37th District is made up of five U.P. counties including Schoolcraft and six counties in lower Michigan.

Sherry Varnum has been active in political and civic affairs for many years, working beside her husband, Charles Varnum, who is retiring after eight terms in the state House of Representatives. "I believe that John Anderson shows real concern for the problems of Schoolcraft residents and will continue a personal relationship with our constituents," Mrs. Varnum said.

Tyler, Spencer elected as company directors

Ted Tyler and Lloyd Spencer of Manistique were recently elected to the board of directors of the Central Upper Peninsula Development Company, it was announced last week. New officers and other members of the board of directors were also elected in recent balloting.

Paul Schwebach and J. Patrick Farrell, both of Marquette, have been elected to the posts of President and vice-President, respectively.

Robert Brown, Iron Mountain, was elected Secretary, and Cecil Chase, Escanaba, was elected Treasurer.

Also named to the board of directors were David Bass and Rochele Cotey of Manising; Lloyd Benson, Carney; and David Schaaf, Escanaba.

The company is a non-profit affiliate of the Central Upper Peninsula Planning and Development (CUPPAD) Regional Commission and provides financing services to small businesses throughout the central Upper Peninsula.

Certified by the U.S. Small Business Administration, the Company offers long-term financing for fixed assets of small businesses in conjunction with local lending institutions.

The Company maintains offices at 2415 14th Avenue South, Escanaba.

MHS accredited for 75 years

The Manistique High School was honored recently for maintaining 75 years of continuous accreditation by the North Central Association Commission on Schools, the organization that monitors the academic standards at high schools in Michigan and several other states.

The local high school was recognized at the 1982 annual meeting of the accrediting agency held recently. MHS was one of only six high schools in Michigan recognized for maintaining three-quarters of a century of continuous membership in the association.

The only other high school in the U.P. so honored was Menominee High School.

October 30 is absentee ballot deadline

Secretary of State Richard Austin reminded all registered voters who expect to be absent from their city or township of residence on Nov. 2, election day, that they may vote by absentee ballot.

Individuals who want absentee ballots mailed to them must apply for the ballots in person or by mail at the office of the city or township clerk where they reside before 2 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 30. Voted ballots must be returned to the clerks by 8 p.m. on Election Day.

Individuals who expect to be absent on election day also may vote in person in their city or township clerks office until 4 p.m., Nov. 1.

In addition to being absent when polls are open, anyone 60 years or older or physically unable to vote without assistance is eligible to vote by absentee ballot.

SEN. LEVIN DUE HERE: U.S. Senator Carl Levin, right, will be the honored guest at state representative candidate Pat Gagliardi's campaign reception to be held next Wednesday, Oct. 13, at the Firehead Inn. A full buffet luncheon will begin at 11:30 and run until 2:00 p.m. Tickets are $10 per person and includes the meal, with a cash bar available. Anyone interested in attending should contact Perry Hewitt at 341-6900, as tickets for this event are very limited. Some members of the Schoolcraft County Democratic Party also have tickets. Levin is pictured here with Gagliardi, who will face Bob Davis, Jr. in the Nov. 2 election for 107th District representative.

U.S. Senator Carl Levin to attend Cooks meeting

U.S. Senator Carl Levin (D-Michigan) will hold a town meeting at 2 p.m. Wednesday, October 13, at the Inwood Township Hall in Cooks.

"I look forward to hearing the opinions of people in the Schoolcraft and Delta County areas on major issues, such as jobs and the economy," Senator Levin said.

Levin expects to outline his position on a number of issues and take questions and comments from the audience.

The Cooks town meeting will be the twenty-third in a state-wide series designed to give Senator Levin an opportunity to exchange views with his Michigan constituents, one of his promises during his 1978 campaign for the U.S. Senate.

"As a local elected official for eight years before I became a senator, I knew what was better for my community than someone in Washington," Senator Levin said.

"We generally know what is best for our people and our people know what is best for themselves than anybody who serves in Washington. I don't exclude myself from that equation. That's why I like to visit communities as regularly as I can," he said.

"One of the ways I try to keep my campaign promise of maintaining close touch with the people of Michigan is to conduct town meetings," Senator Levin said.
