

Herd size stable this year

Deer season opens Monday

There's good news and bad news in store for the thousands of hunters expected to take to the woods in Schoolcraft County when the firearm deer season opens up next Monday.

The good news is that the proportion of real "trophy" bucks in the local deer herd this season seems to be pretty high, according to Al Kendall, conservation officer with the Department of Natural Resources. "In terms of the number of bucks I've seen, the number is up," Kendall said. "One and a half year old bucks made it through the winter and are carrying nice racks" averaging eight points, he said. "I expect some real nice racks to be taken. We might see some record-book racks."

The bad news? Last winter was hard on the deer herd in general, on fawns particularly, cutting down on the number of spikethorn bucks in the woods. That, combined with the fact that the bucks seemed more scattered than usual across the county, will probably lower the percentage of hunters that manage to bag their buck.

Greg Stoll, wildlife biologist with the DNR's Thompson Field Office, said that about 15 percent of the hunters in the eastern U.P. last year were successful, well above the long-term average of 10 percent. "It was a good year" in 1981, Stoll said. "I would not expect that again this year with the kind of winter we've had."

Due to the scattered nature of the herd this year, Stoll said hunters who haven't been baiting a particular spot may be well advised to roam far and wide. "If a guy's going to effectively hunt, he's got to scout and look for the place the deer are using."

"He can't expect to go to the same old spot and have the deer come to him," Stoll said.

Both Stoll and Kendall explained the distribution of the deer herd this season in the county in terms of how populations fared over the winter at the three major "deer yards" here. In two of those yards, near the Jamestown Slough and the Big Spring, the herd survived last year's winter in good shape. However, survival at the Gulliver yard, the most densely populated in the region, was "a disaster," Stoll said.

"Between the violators, dogs, the highway and starvation, we lost a minimum of 300 deer" at the Gulliver yard, Stoll said. "And that's conservative. The deer fared horribly."

"At least 150 deer were killed by cars on US-2, which runs through the yard, Stoll said. The biggest factor, however, was the hard winter. On a "severity index" that takes into account snow depth, compaction, wind speed and temperature, Stoll said last winter measured 120.5. "Anything over 100 and you've got problems," Stoll said.

The impact of the attrition in the Gulliver yard is evident in the lower number of deer sightings in the Seney Wildlife Refuge, where the Gulliver deer tend to range, Kendall said.

"The total deer counts in the refuge are down from last year and I think that's attributable to the Gulliver yard," he said.

While the winter was just as bad in the other two yards, cedar cuttings on state and federal land to provide additional food for the deer there made a big difference in the survival rate. Also, the Jamestown and Big Spring yards are farther from populated areas, cutting down on the poaching, marauding dogs and highway kills.

Consequently, the range for deer from those yards, the western two-thirds of Schoolcraft County, probably has slightly more deer than last year. Kendall, who said he travelled thousands of miles in the county in recent weeks, noted "I've seen an awful lot of deer, but not what I consider a high concentration. They're scattered around the county in very good shape. I've seen deer generally in areas where I haven't seen them before, like in the fields out in Coos, which is a good sign."

While traditional sizes of high buck concentration, such as the Steuben area, may not be as populated this year, Kendall said he had seen several trophy bucks north of M-28 between the Fensl Grade and the Creighton Trust Trail. "That's where some real trophy hunting could be had," he said. Generally, however, most of the deer sightings have been south of M-28.

Another factor in opening-day success, of course, is the weather. Some hard frosts supplemented by a lot of rain have set the stage for ideal conditions Monday, Kendall noted. There is snow cover in the woods in the north part of the county and deer have been driven higher ground by frosts in swampy areas. As long as it doesn't rain opening day, which would dampen movement of both deer and hunter, conditions look good, Kendall said.

Another positive factor in this year's hunt is that the bucks are rutting later, Kendall said. Usually peaking at the end of October, (continued on page 4A)

DEER HUNTING SEASON for firearms opens next Monday, and hunters will head out to camp to get an early start opening day in search of bucks like this one. Police officials urge all hunters to take extra precaution with guns during the two-week season. (DNR photo)

Merchants sponsor buck contest

OK, deer hunters, here's your chance to register your buck for some bucks, so to speak. The Manistique merchants are again sponsoring a buck contest that will award gift certificates to hunters registering the biggest, smallest and medium buck during the season.

Anyone who wants to participate must register before opening day of the firearm deer season this Monday, Nov. 15, at any one of the participating merchants in Manistique. A list of the participating merchants is on page 10 of the special hunters' guide in this week's paper.

Then, those hunters who bag bucks should take them to Ollie's Red Owl to be weighed and measured. For the biggest buck, as determined by weight and rack size, a $50 gift certificate will be awarded the hunter. For the smallest buck, the hunter will get a $10 gift certificate. The hunter bringing a buck closest to the medium size will get a $25 certificate.

Certificates will be redeemable at any participating merchants. A registration coupon is also on page 10 of the hunters' guide.

SOME OF THE LOOT confiscated by Michigan State Police last week after breaking an area burglary ring is shown here by Trooper Bob Harrell. While most of the stolen goods have been claimed by the rightful owners, Harrell said that anyone owning a camp that has been broken into over the past few years can contact the state police to see if any of their property has been recovered. Five men have been charged in the burglary ring, which police believe was responsible for as many as 81 breakings and entries since 1980. The items stolen run the gamut from the silver pieces shown to no-kidding-a-tollet and bathroom sink.

Board approaches Booster Club

Swim team reinstated?

Manistique High School may have a swim team and 7th and 8th grade basketball teams, thanks to a compromise reached at the regular Tuesday evening meeting of the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education.

Board member Dick Stoll proposed to Jim Barr, president of the Booster Club, that the Booster Club fund the swim team and the basketball teams for the current school year. The board would then excuse the difference between that amount and the $4800 owed to the school for 1982 spring sports.

The Booster Club, which had agreed to pay the $4800 cost of spring sports last year, had requested the board waive the debt because of the fund equity at the end of the last fiscal school year.

Barr said, "I can't make the decision on my own but it sounds super." He said he would call a booster club meeting later in the week to vote on the compromise.

Yearbook advisor John Mincoff presented checks for $581.22 to the board on behalf of the 1981-82 yearbook. Mincoff said an additional $442.73, a commission on school picture sales had been retained by the school in its general fund. The total balance of $1023.95 was earned in part from interest and in part from changes in the production of the yearbook. A refund from the company due to their errors was also included in the balance.

Mincoff said Wednesday he had maintained the yearbook funds in a separate bank account, even though it was contrary to school policy and state law because he and his wife had signed an agreement with the school to accept personal liability for any deficit incurred by the yearbook. "I wanted to be certain of the accounting of yearbook funds since I was going to have to pay off any debt myself," said Mincoff. In previous years, the yearbook had operated in the red.

Guidance counselor Jim Troyer told the board that the composite scores on the ACT (American College Testing) were "significantly higher" than last year's scores.

"Although we are still below the state and national averages, we increased from 15.5 to 17.1," said

Troyer. The ACT test scores are used to qualify students for various scholarships and college admissions. Fifteen students from Manistique were selected for recognition as Michigan Merit Students.

The biggest gain in the test scores was in the area of math and social studies.

Troyer expressed concern about the English scores. "Our English scores showed a significant decline, while the state averages increased."

The board had the first reading of a new retention policy. After discussion, the policy was changed to include the statement that the parent and student had the right of final appeal to the Board of Education. The initial decision on student retention will be made by a committee composed of professionals, teachers, counselors and the parents.

In September, a group of teachers had discussed the policy with the board. They expressed concern about retention decisions being overridden by the superintendent or the (continued on page 4A)

Will collect for schools

City approves summer tax collection

Residents of Manistique will see their summer property tax bill jump by a third next July after the Manistique City Council agreed Monday to collect half the school district's operating millage during the summer.

While that means city property owners will see the taxes increase by 1 1/2 mills over the city's own 20-mill levy, the 1983 fall property tax bills will decrease by the same amount. The summer tax collection is hoped to improve the Manistique Area Schools District's cash flow and cut down the need by the district to borrow during the lean summer months.

According to Margaret Cain, administrative assistant for the district, the schools this year were forced to borrow $600,000 during the summer to cover the deficit that came due during late summer and fall months. The interest on that loan cost the district about $40,000. By levying half the operating property tax millage in the summer, Cain said that borrowing could be cut by as much as half, saving the district up to $20,000 in interest payments. "Plus, of course," Cain told the council, "we'd have that money to invest" and earn interest for the district.

City Treasurer Pat Erickson said she had checked with Escanaba and Gladstone, which have similar summer tax collection arrangements with the schools. Those cities reported no problem with the system, Erickson said.

Property taxes earmarked to pay off long-term debt of the school district will continue to be levied on the fall tax bills in the city, Erickson noted, along with the county property taxes.

The city has always collected its 20-mill operating tax levy in the summer. The heftier tax bills will be mailed at the beginning of July of next year and will be due on Sept. 15, Erickson said. The city will continue to levy a 1 percent collection fee and receive the penalties on late school taxes, as it has in the past.

In other matters Monday, the City Council: Approved an agreement with the Ethel Brown trust fund. Administrators of the trust, which is used to make improvements at Lakeview Cemetery, offered to buy the city a one-ton dump truck if the city agreed to stop charging the fund for rental of city equipment at the cemetery.

The Rev. Jay Martin, representing the trust, said a maximum of $12,000 could be spent on the truck. The waiver on rental fees, which have averaged about $3,300 over the past two years, would continue for the six-year duration of the agreement. The city would own the truck and use it for city business. Labor charges to the trust for equipment operators would continue as usual, Martin said.

—Heard Mayor Bill Hackney, at Martin's request, declare the week of Nov. 8-15 as Schoolcraft Area Hospice Week in Manistique to coincide with National Hospice Week.

Martin noted that the Schoolcraft Area Hospice, established last year, was prepared to help terminally-ill patients in the county.

—Agreed to hold a hearing in anticipation of changing the city ordinance banning parking on Walnut and Oak Streets for more than two hours. The decision came in response to a petition signed by (continued on page 4A)

Senior citizen housing not ready, but names are

The county senior citizens' housing projects may not have been built yet, but they have official names after the County Housing Commission picked the winning entries last week in a contest to name the apartment complexes.

Author of both winning entries was Norma Johnson of Manistique, who will get a $50 savings bond and 11.7 percent of the buildings' dedication for her efforts. "Heritage House" was her entry for the 48-unit apartment building planned in Manistique. For the 16-apartment building in Gersfalk, Johnson selected "Parkview Estates."

Her entries were selected from 60 submitted to the commission's panel of judges—Housing Director Eileen Males and members "Sparky" Lauzon and Hazel Hughton. "It was a hard time deciding," Males said of the judging. "I was delighted with all the interesting and imaginative entries we received."

Among those entries were "Washington Square," "High Tide Towers" and "Shoreline Square" for the Manistique building and "Countryside Estate" and "Lloyd's Acre Estates" for the Gersfalk project. Others were less conventional. How about "Wrinkle City" or "Grannies' Haven"...

To offset red ink in the general fund, at least, the council adopted a (continued on page 4A)

At home with Sarah

by Sarah Bignall

This seems to be the season for sandwiches though sandwiches really know no seasons. Kids are "brow bagging" it to school and many people carry lunch boxes to work and one can get very tired of the same fare day after day. It is also hard on the mother who makes the lunch to try to keep it different and interesting. The next time you have a pork roast to try this sandwich spread. It tastes much like a chicken salad spread.

SANDWICH SPREAD

Grind one pound fine. Chop a little bit of onion; the amount depends on how much pork meat you have. Optional: Add some chopped celery also. Mix all together. Season with salt, pepper, onion salt and celery salt. Mix with salad dressing or mayonnaise to spreading consistency. Delicious and different!

This sandwich spread was given to me by a friend and was found in an old newspaper. It is very good as a cold sandwich.

And I think it would also make a delicious hot sandwich with the cheese melted.

SWISS TUNA SALAD SANDWICH

1 can tuna fish
1/3 cup chopped celery
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/3 cup chopped green pimento
stuffed olives

1/2 cup small cubes (about 1/4 inch) Swiss cheese
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1/2 cup Mayonnaise
Salt and Pepper to taste

In a large bowl combine tuna, celery, onion, olives and cheese. Mix until thoroughly combined. Fold in eggs and mayonnaise and mix gently. Season with salt and pepper. Makes about 3 cups Sandwich filling.

Sarah says...it is much easier to make sandwiches on chilled bread, especially if the bread is very fresh.

Food for thought...the longer you keep your temper, the more it will improve.

LAY AWAY NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

Editorial

The voice of Schoolcraft County since 1876.

Hospice rules

Proposed rules are too much

One of the most heartening volunteer movements we've seen locally is the efforts that have led to the formation of a hospice for residents of the area. The Schoolcraft Area Hospice, an all-volunteer organization, was set up last year to provide help to terminally-ill patients in the county.

No one is paid for efforts in Schoolcraft Area Hospice. In recognition of the services it offers, Mayor Bill Hackney declared this week as Schoolcraft Area Hospice week, to coincide with observances across the county.

Ironically, or perhaps inevitably, the local hospice and other volunteer organizations like it across Michigan are currently fighting regulations proposed by the state Department of Public Health. If enacted, the regulations would almost certainly kill further efforts to provide volunteer, no-charge hospice care such as we enjoy locally.

The main problem with the regulations is they make no distinction between small, charitable hospices such as those in the Upper Peninsula and the bigger, for-profit operations cropping up downstate. Among the requirements arousing the objections of volunteer hospices is that of a hefty licensing fee—proposed at $700 annually.

That alone would be enough to do in most small hospices, the local one included, but there's more. The proposed regulations, now in state legislature's Administrative Rules Committee, would also require all hospices to have a doctor, nurses and "staff members" on call around the clock seven days a week.

As obviously impractical as those requirements are, they are being pushed by the Michigan Hospice Organization, an association that supposedly represents all the hospices in the state. The smaller volunteer hospices, including Schoolcraft Area Hospice, understandably upset over the "representation" provided by MHO, are in the process of forming a splinter group and protesting to state legislators over the proposed regulations.

The small hospices don't object to licensing or reasonable requirements; their point is that a distinction must be made between hospices supported by unpaid volunteers and donations and those hospices with large staffs and fees.

Administrative Rules Committee and said he is confident the proposed rules have no chance of being approved in their present form. The Public Health Department and the MHO have been asked to revise the proposed rules—for the second time—to assure they don't kill volunteer hospices, Yarnum said. Those hospices are the only ones available in remote areas such as the U.P. and it would be a shame to see them wiped out because of over-burdensome regulation.

Is it possible to be too choosy?

Dear Editor: It is possible to be too choosy...to expect too much? Apparently I did. Following the closing of what was at one time the Kefauver-Jackson Funeral Home in 1978, it seemed that everywhere I was the question was "When will you reopen the business?"

It took the usual court litigation, and then what seemed to be a miracle occurred. David and Luane Kaupila appeared on the scene. They opened in June of 1981 and closed Oct. 22, 1982.

They have been nothing but an asset to the area. They are firm believers in God, loving, caring and sharing people. They were area-oriented and participated as much as possible in useful activities. From all reports they served their families well.

Ed and I were able to keep the business active. Neither of us was a native of Manistique. He was born and reared until 16 in Southern Illinois, and I in Ohio.

Fortunately, we have a choice of other careers: doctors, dentists, gift shops, beauty shops, grocery stores, etc. There has always been enough business in this area to support two funeral homes. If they do not expect to become millionaires...

I wish David and Luane nothing but the best wherever they go and I never would have expected or wished for them to go through this. This area's loss will be another community's gain.

Child support can be expensive, she says

Dear Editor: This, I think, people should know that are getting or thinking about getting a divorce. The percentages taken from a person's income for child support are as follows: Fifteen percent take off for taxes—that's all. Then 20 percent for the first child and 7 percent for each additional child. Plus 7 percent "extra" if the couple was married over 10 years—plus 7 percent more if a child is 10 years or older.

Therefore, for an ex-spouse with two children, who was married 15 years, the percentage would be as follows—41 percent of take-home pay. This was the percentage when I worked for the Friend of the Court and I don't believe it has changed.

City may lift 2 hour parking limit

(Continued from front page) owners and employees of businesses on the streets and requested that all-day parking be allowed on the streets. The city two-hour parking ordinance was enacted to keep downtown parking spaces from being occupied all day by store employees.

Public Safety Director Joe McDonough said spaces on side streets such as Walnut and Oak were usually available even with employees parking there. Hackney complained that the petition-signers are not store owners, they are employees asking for a license to park all day. Nonetheless, Hackney directed City Attorney Bruce Plackowski to prepare an amended ordinance for a public hearing to be announced.

—Heard Erickson report that the county Board of Canvassers had confirmed the approval by voters Nov. 2 of a $2.2 million bond issue to pay the city's share of the cost of separating storm from sanitary sewer lines. The $5.7 million project will hopefully cut the cost of operating the city's waste water treatment plant, since it presently treats all the rainwater funneled to it through the storm sewer network.

However, Council Member Mike Dougovito cautioned that the sewer separation project will only fix "half the problem"—another drain on the city's tight finances is the poor condition of the water main network. The cost of repeatedly fixing the water mains and replacing the estimated 40 percent of the water that leaks out before reaching consumers will not be saved by the sewer project, Dougovito noted. "I've gotten more and more calls

Board hopes its budget will balance

With a month and a half left in its fiscal year, the county budget looks as if it will wind up balanced, County Treasurer Bill Cowman told the County Board at its meeting Tuesday night.

Cowman cautioned the board that an anticipated $4,000 surplus in the $1.3 million county budget would turn into a deficit if projected state payments are not forthcoming. Specifically, Cowman said that the state may not be able to pay $23,000 due the county in state revenue sharing. "If we don't get it, I'm predicting we'll be between $20,000 and $25,000 short in cash. They've told us they don't have the money. We're just crossing our fingers and hoping it comes in," he said.

Other reimbursements due the county, for county road patrols by the Sheriff's Department and for juvenile justice, have not arrived but have been promised by the end of the year by the state. Other than that, Cowman said the budget "is pretty close to balancing."

Last year, the county budget had a surplus of over $300,000. In a related matter, Cowman told the board that the state is still threatening to cut off all payments to the county over a disputed bill by the county for operation of the County Medical Care Facility.

Cowman said that the county had complied with an earlier demand by the state to send $108,000 in partial payment of the bill. He was waiting for a schedule the state had agreed to send, providing for installment payments of the remainder. Instead, he received a second notice demanding the initial payment.

The letter from the state threatening to withhold all state aid to the county until the matter was settled, but did not mention the county's $108,000 payment on the $288,000 bill.

Cowman said that the official with whom the original arrangement over payment had been worked out had resigned. He speculated that the official's replacement, unfamiliar with the agreement and the prior payment, sent the letter demanding payment in full. Cowman responded with a letter documenting payment of the $108,000 and again requested an installment payment schedule. Since the county is depending on the state aid that may be stalled over the misunderstanding, Cowman said "by Thanksgiving I'm going to start knocking heads again" to get the matter cleared up. County voters in August approved a property tax increase to make the payments, an increase that has not yet been levied.

In other matters Tuesday, the County Board approved an agreement with the city over rental of the fair building by the city for ice skating during the winter. The city approved the contract Monday, which gives the city use of the building in return for payment of utility bills and maintenance during the winter. The board amended the agreement to require the city to pay for sewer service as well as water service to the building. The city will now have to approve the amended version of the agreement.

—Heard that District Court Magistrate Howard Magoon plans to retire at the end of the year after 14 years on the job. The board agreed to let Magoon pay three years' worth of contributions to a pension plan and give credit for the additional years' service on his pension. Such payments are allowed for time spent in active military duty, Finance Committee Chairman Bill Tenneyson said. —Approved a cooperative reimbursement budget with the Friend of the Court. Under the budget, the state will pay $14,498 of the $23,066 budget.

—Heard that the arrangement of paying Sheriff Lloyd Gray for meals served at the county jail may end this year. Under that arrangement, Gray is paid a flat fee as reimbursement for each meal served inmates at the jail. Tenneyson said the board hopes to hire a cook at the jail and have the county purchase groceries directly. Currently, the county contracts with Gray's wife for the meal preparation.

—Approved a cooperative reim-parents of the child. The new policy states that the committee and the parents will decide on retention. If the superintendent decides to override the decision as is his legal right, he must call a meeting of the committee and parents before implementing the decision.

Teachers at the meeting again said non-retention of a child in early years could significantly impair his educational progress in junior and senior high school.

In other action the board: —Approved the appointment of Charles Kendall as bus mechanic. The appointment, challenged by Jim Tenneyson on the basis of his certification and the "grandfather clause" in the contract with the school, will probably go to arbitration.

—Welcomed student School Board representative Jeanne Brazee, who is president of the student council. —Heard of the probationary appointment of Kay Lawrence of Gormfask to a secretarial position in the Central Office.

—Learned of the formation of a National Honor Society chapter in the high school with Jim Troyer as advisor.

—Was told the "fourth Friday" count, used to determine state aid, was 1,429.43 students. The count was nine less than projected, which will result in approximately $10,000 less in state aid than budgeted by the district.

—Learned that parent-teacher conferences will be held on Dec. 2. Thanksgiving vacation will be Thursday, Nov. 25 and Friday, Nov. 26. Christmas vacation will be from Wednesday, Dec. 23 to Monday, Jan. 3, 1983.

—Received a delayed October state aid check of $126,815.43. —Accepted the Paul E. Gero Scholarship, to be awarded on the basis of academic and athletic ability.

—Heard that the city approved the levy of summer school taxes for city residents (see related story, page 1).

LIFE WITH A HOMEBUILT WOODBURNING STOVE

Last year about this same time, we told readers how to create an efficient $35 woodburning stove using a salvaged water heater. Now, we're passing along some information sent to us by Linda Rogers explaining how she and her husband, Joe, improved on the low-cost, built-it-yourself heater we designed.

One problem the Rogers had early on was the scarcity of free-for-taking castoff water heaters in their area, so they spent $18 on one at a salvage yard. With this basic component obtained, the couple built the unit (nicknamed "Fig") true to our instructions and installed it in their dining room...where, Linda says, it efficiently eliminated the chill of several fall mornings.

But our claim that "you can even cook on it" intrigued Mrs. Rogers...and she immediately began to explore that possibility. Unfortunately, Linda soon found that the appliance's 3/8"-thick top required a long heating-up period...so she decided to try a minor modification.

Another trip to the salvage yard produced a piece of 1/8" sheet steel the same size as "Fig's" horizontal loading door. After Joe fine-trimmed the extra "lid" to fit just right and added a handle, the cooktop was in business.

With the thicker top turned back, the thinner plate does exactly what the Rogers hoped: It warms up rapidly and reaches "frying temperature" without superheating the whole house. Turned sideways, the cooktop allows enough space to insert a popcorn popper or a grill...yet it keeps the smoke properly directed up the chimney. A "Sootless Suet Drum Oven," which Linda and Joe purchased from Cumberland General Store (Dept. TMEN, Route 3, Crossville, Tennessee 37035) became yet another useful addition to the woodburner. The oven was installed above the stovepipe damper, and Linda says it's nearly always ready for some type of cooking. A baked bird provides low heat for roasting peanuts, while the blaze left after a meal is prepared on the cooktop leaves the oven hot enough for baking a pan of biscuits.

The stove's air intake, the damper, and the choice of two cooktops make it easy to control the unit's baking temperature. The oven's volume is small, however, and the temperature inside can change rapidly...so delicacies need to be watched. "Sootless Suet," Linda says, "burned a number of good pies, baked potatoes, meat loaves, and the like over the winter...and resulted in surprisingly few disasters, considering how new I was at the art of cooking with wood."

So far, the couple reports, creosote buildup hasn't been a problem either...perhaps because the oven, as its trade name implies, incorporates a soot-removing device. (Two homesteaders have also been lucky enough to obtain cured hardwood fuel, which helps to minimize residue accumulation.)

The Rogers family says their life with MOTHER's little woodburner has "been a real joy"...even if they did go slightly over MOTHER's proposed $35 budget. The home stove has heated their house, dried soggy boots and mittens, cooked rib-slicking meals, and cracked cheerfully. And it was only their first homestead project!

SHE'S A PROUD LADY SHE'S A MEMBER OF THE GENERAL FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

The largest and oldest non-denominational, nonpartisan, international service organization of volunteer women in the world.

For 92 years, this programs and community services that the 10 million member GFWC in 48 countries has sponsored dispel the myth that women's clubs exist solely for their own interests and prove that under the umbrella of leadership and a call to action, women volunteers can and do make a difference where it counts.

Organized in 1889, the GFWC is recognized as a powerful organization not alone because of its huge membership but because of the commitment by dedicated volunteers to improve the quality of life in their communities. Its members worked hard for early child labor laws and established 85 percent of the nation's public libraries. In partnership with other national volunteer organizations and various corporations, such as Sears Roebuck, Shell Oil and Procter and Gamble (and others), GFWC clubs are now energetically involved with projects strengthening the free enterprise system, responsible national fiscal policy, national and civil defense, energy independence, community improvement, disciplinary rehabilitation training, crime reduction and National Family Week.

The kind of community support GFWC offers is shown by the fact that in a 10-month span, 21 state federations have given more than 20 million hours of volunteer service and raised $22-million for community projects. For the American women membership in GFWC offers identification with an influential international volunteer service organization plus a common bond with 12,000 clubs and 600,000 other serving women in the United States and Puerto Rico. Accomplishments through unity that cannot be attained singly, and a national perspective to club work are additional benefits to members of this illustrious group.

Boxing club plans tournament here

The Manistique National Guard Boxing Club is preparing for an invitational tournament to be held on Dec. 11 and 12. The tourney will include boxers from Upper Michigan, Lower Michigan and Canada. Two rings will be set up at the high school gym due to the large number of bouts scheduled, with junior bouts in one ring and senior bouts in the other. Boxing action will begin Saturday at 3 p.m. until 5 p.m. and will pick up again at 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. Saturday evening. Winners will return again Sunday at 1 p.m. in the championship bouts. Boxers from Manistique began training the beginning of this month for the 1983 season. Manistique's Club looks relatively strong this year with a lot of experience returning from previous years.

Snap five game losing streak Girls win O.T. thriller

"We were due for a big win," an excited varsity girls' basketball coach Don Videtich said after a 46-44 overtime win against Mid-Peninsula Conference rival Munising Mustangs. The girls snapped a five-game losing streak. The win added the girls' record to 5-13 on the season and was only their second Mid-Peninsula Conference victory. Friday, the girls lost to Negaunee 56-46.

"We've had three tough games in a row against Ishpeming, Negaunee and Iron Mountain and came up empty-handed all three times. We need the win to give us momentum for the districts against Munising. The girls did a great job. Now they know they can win under pressure," said Videtich.

Manistique led the entire first half of the game, holding a 14-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 22-20 advantage going into the half. From then on, the lead saw-sawed between the two teams with a third quarter score at 30 all. At the end of regulation time the score was 42-42.

Going into the three-minute overtime period, Julie Carlson scored twice to Munising's one basket by Chris Brown. The Emeralds pulled out the win 46-44. Manistique shot 26 percent in the first half and 37 percent in the second half for 32 percent overall. "Any time we shoot over 30 percent we're doing well," said Videtich. Munising shot 38 percent on the night.

Scorers for the Emeralds included Julie Carlson 14, Shelly Lasich 10, Nancy Krusic 10, Barb Desjardens 8 and Barb Calhoun 4. High scorer for Munising was Lisa Hermann with 14. Manistique was outscored 51-37. "A team doesn't usually get away with a win when they are outscored by such a large margin." Thirty of Munising's 51 rebound were offensive. They were getting a lot of second and third opportunities under the basket. They didn't have much from the outside," observed Videtich. "We'll have to work on our rebounding for the districts." Barb Calhoun was high rebounder for Manistique with 12. Nancy Krusic hauled down 11, and Shelly Lasich came up with 9. High rebounder for Munising was Chris Brown with 16.

The Emeralds shot 8 of 11 free throws for 73 percent, including two clutch free throws by Barb Desjardens which tied the game in regulation time. Munising shot 6 of 13 for 46 percent. "We've come a long way since the beginning of the season, but we still have to improve on our offensive turnovers. We've had too much travelling. Overall, the girls played a good game tonight," said Videtich.

The J.V.'s came up with a big win too, beating the Mustangs 40-25. "The girls played a good ball game tonight," said coach Sandy Histed. "They played as a team for four quarters of ball." The Emeralds and Mustangs played an even first quarter with Munising holding a slim 10-9 lead at the end of the period. Manistique exploded for 19 points in the second period to take a 28-14 halftime lead. Little scoring took place in the second half as the Emeralds managed to score 12 points to Munising's 11 for the final 40-25 score.

Any Klarich and Amy Hastings were praised by Histed for their scoring efforts. Hastings was high scorer on the night with 13 points and Klarich added 10. "Amy Kratz did a good job shooting free throws for us too," said Histed. Kratz shot 5 of 6 free throws for 83 percent. Overall, the Emeralds made 12 of 20 free shots for 60 percent.

Scorers in addition to Hastings and Klarich included Wendy Miller 6, Amy Kratz 5, Mary Brull 5 and Lisa Schulze 1. Thursday night, the Emeralds face the Westwood Patriots in their final home game of the regular season. Parents of the varsity players and the J.V. cheerleaders will be recognized. The J.V. game begins at 5:20 with the varsity game following at 7 p.m.

"The Emeralds played good basketball for three quarters," said Don Videtich after Manistique fell to the Negaunee Minorettes 56-46 last night in a home contest. "A bad third quarter hurt our chances of capturing a conference win." Once again, Manistique had a balanced offense attack with Barb Calhoun pouring in 12, Nancy Krusic 11, Julie Carlson 10 and Shelly Lasich 8. In addition, Barb Desjardens had 4 and Julie Larson 1. The offensive balance was neutralized by Negaunee's Wendy Parolini who shot 11 of 19 from the floor as well as 6 of 9 from the free throw line for 28 points. "We tried multiple defenses to stop Parolini," said Don Videtich, "but she was tough all night." "She has been the only girl thus far this year to shoot over our zone. I give her a lot of credit for being able to make such difficult shots." Manistique ended the first quarter with a 16-15 lead. The Emeralds adjusted their defense in the second quarter and held Negaunee to two field goals and three free throws. Manistique had a chance to "blow the game open," but they only managed to score 9 points for a 25-22 Manistique lead.

"The third quarter was disastrous for us," said Videtich. "The game got very physical and we lost our composure and offensive patience. We forced bad shots and it cost us the game." Negaunee outscored the Emeralds 17-9 in the third quarter.

With 1:15 to go in the game, Manistique was down by only 6 points. "We were forced to foul and they hit their free throws down the stretch."

The Emeralds were outscored by the Minorettes 49-45. Barb Desjardens and Barb Calhoun hauled down 10 each and Nancy Krusic had 12. Shooting 12 of 18 free throws (66 percent) helped the Emeralds' offensive success. "A major key in our recent offensive success is the fact that we have hit our free throws," commented Videtich. Krusic shot 5 of 7 and Calhoun and Carlson both hit 2 for 2.

"We've played good ball the last 3 games," observed Videtich, "but we have failed to get a victory." "We are hungry for a win and better than our 1-10 conference record shows. We get good shooting, but we are just too inconsistent."

The J.V.'s also found the going tough against Negaunee as they were defeated 42-31. Although the score does not indicate it, the game was close all the way. Negaunee was able to increase its lead to 11 when they scored on three quick baskets with less than a minute to go in the ball game.

The girls played an even first quarter with each team scoring 8 points. By the end of the first half Negaunee took a 4-point lead, 20-16. Negaunee's lead widened to 30-24 at the end of three periods and with the Minorettes outscoring the Emeralds 12-7 in the final quarter, they went on to take the 42-31 victory.

High scoring honors went to Mary Kay Brull with 9. Other scorers included Amy Hastings 7, Wendy Miller 6, Amy Kratz 4, Cathy Paquin 3 and Lisa Bridges 2.

The Emeralds shot 45 percent from the free throw line making 5 of 11 shots. "Once again the kids played three good quarters of ball. They stayed right up with them. They seemed to die out in the fourth quarter though, and that's when we lost the game," said Histed.

Emeralds face Mustangs in district

Manistique High School will host the girls' District 93 basketball tournament starting Nov. 19. The pairings for the tourney were drawn Monday, according to MHS athletic director Diane Stimac, and the Emerald girls will face the Munising Mustangs in the tourney opener to be held Friday, Nov. 15 at 6 p.m. in the MHS gym. Manistique is a newcomer to District 93 tournament and is the only Mid-Pen Conference team in the district aside from the Emeralds.

The other two teams, Newberry and St. Ignace, will face each other beginning at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 19. The winners of Friday's games will meet Tuesday, Nov. 23, beginning at 7:30 p.m. for the right to advance to the regional tournament to be held in Marquette. The Emeralds were beaten by the Mustangs Oct. 12 when Munising won 46-32. The two teams were to meet again Tuesday in a rematch that could be a preview of the district tourney opener (see separate story).

If the Emerald girls should advance to the tournament finals, they will either face a Jewberry team that beat them soundly in the season opener 60-43 and squared by Oct. 5 in a 41-36 heatbreaker, or a St. Ignace squad they have not played this year. Tickets for the district tournament are $2 apiece. Anyone leaving the gym during the contests will have to buy another ticket to get back in, according to Stimac.

Five Emeralds get Mid-Pen honorable mention

Five Emerald varsity football players received honorable mentions at last Wednesday's Mid-Penninsula Conference meeting. Although none of the Manistiquie squad members were named as first team all-conference players, Tom Burnis, Mark Hoholik, Doug Mickelson, Dan Lemirand and Bob Mattson were runners up in Wednesday's balloting by the eight Mid-Pen coaches.

"I'm pleased we had five kids receive recognition, but I'm disappointed none of them made first team," Emerald coach Jim Hunter said. "The voting this year was very close at all the positions and I think that reflects back on the balance of the league this year. But I think we had kids this year that were all-league performers," he said.

The Emeralds ended their season this year with back-to-back wins against Westwood and Newberry, good for a 3-4 record overall in the Mid-Pen. Manistiquie had a 2-5 mark and wound up in a three-way tie for fifth place.

Hunter said the annual football awards banquet will be held next Thursday, Nov. 18 at 6:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

In the Mid-Pen all-conference voting, Burnis received honorable mention for his play at two positions: as a defensive linebacker and offensive guard. Lemirand was also cited as a linebacker by the Mid-Pen coaches.

Other Manistiquie players receiving honorable mention for their defensive play were Mattson as a down lineman and Mickelson for his work as a defensive back.

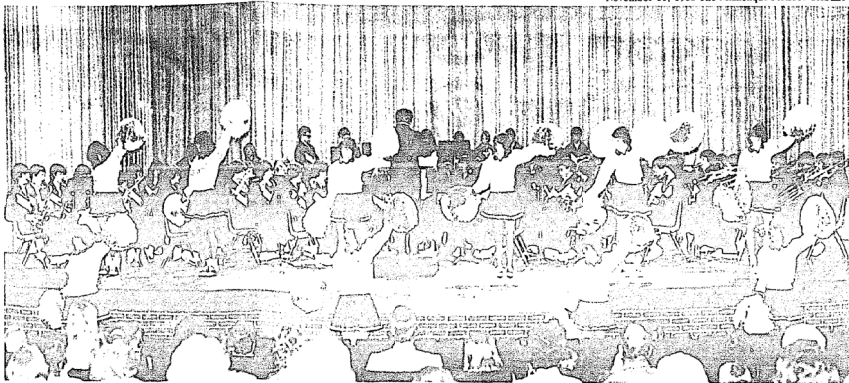

At that position, Mickelson led the conference in pass interceptions, snagging five over the season and returning them for a total of 33 yards. That puts him in a tie for third on the all-time Mid-Pen stats for a season's interceptions, Hunter said. Second in the conference this year in interceptions was the Emeralds' Corey Miller, who had three.

Hoholik received his honorable mention as an offensive back. He racked up 558 yards rushing in Mid-Pen play this year despite slitting out nearly two full games with as injury, giving him the fourth highest yardage in the conference. His 736 yards overall was third best in the conference behind Iron Mountain's Dan Bianco (a unanimous all-conference pick by the coaches) and haptening's Mark Bertucci.

Hoholik averaged 5.1 yards in 109 carries in Mid-Pen play and 5.4 yards in 136 carries over the entire season. He scored 44 points for the Emeralds in 1962, fourth best in the conference.

Emerald back Troy Farley also broke the 300-yard mark in rushing this year, carrying for 302 yards in 81 conference attempts, a 3.7-yard average. Overall, Farley had 346 yards and a 3.3-yard average.

Tight end George Bosanic had the third highest average in kickoff yardage in the conference with 43.9. Farley ranked second in the conference in kickoff returns with a 19.6-yard average. On the season, Farley returned 10 kickoffs for 197 yards total.

As a team, the Emeralds ranked near the bottom in all the categories for which statistics were compiled: sixth in both conference and overall offense and seventh in conference and overall defense. In Mid-Pen games, Manistiquie averaged 203 434 yards and five touchdowns. In conference play, he had a 46 percent completion rate, tossing 25 complete for 242 yards and two touchdowns. Godlewski, who had tied for first last year on the all-time Mid-Pen list for most completions in a season (49), saw that total slip to second on the list as Rick Popp of Iron Mountain connected on 57 attempts to take sole possession of the top spot.

In punting, Godlewski averaged just over 33 yards a kick and Hoholik 32 yards in his eight attempts. Hoholik averaged 7.3 yards in punt returns, totaling 44 yards in six attempts.

George Bosanic had the third-highest average in kickoff yardage in the conference with 43.9. Farley ranked second in the conference in kickoff returns with a 19.6-yard average. On the season, Farley returned 10 kickoffs for 197 yards total.

As a team, the Emeralds ranked near the bottom in all the categories for which statistics were compiled: sixth in both conference and overall offense and seventh in conference and overall defense. In Mid-Pen games, Manistiquie averaged 203 comparison, conference leader Iron Mountain had 347 yards offense and gave up only 159 yards. Overall, the Emeralds gained 224 yards a game and gave up 260.

Hiawatha Forest offers cross-country ski trails

When it comes to winter adventure, the newly expanded Valley Spur Cross-Country Trail in the Hiawatha National Forest near Munising has something to offer every skier, from beginner to expert.

Last season's three miles of Nordic ski loops in the popular snow country southwest of Munising have formed the base loops for what has become more than 11 miles of scenic and unusually challenging groomed trails.

Constructed and maintained by the Munising Ranger District, the trails wind through about 1,000 acres of rolling and sometimes rugged terrain in hardwood stands of the national forest along M-94. They take advantage of the land's glacier-created formations and some associated man-made features.

Intermediate skiers can take off on a trail that follows the path of an old railroad grade, winding through the forest and crossing the Valley Spur Creek at several points. The route is aptly dubbed "Locomotive Chase."

Rounding the curve that marks the halfway point of this 3.8-mile "B" loop, the skier faces the rolling, wooded "Bridge Runner" stretch where each twist and dip of the trail provides fast-paced adventure. The loop finishes up on a more relaxed note with a half-mile stretch of easy-going trail.

On another of the expanded trail's seven loops, the expert skier traverses the steep hills and curves of the "LeMans" stretch after an exciting trip through the curving Caspuit ravine. The challenges don't end there—"Slingshot" is around the bend. It's the most obvious example of the area's dramatic changes in elevation, with a drop of about 250 feet.

From beginner to expert, the loops are clearly marked with identifying symbols that emphasize their degree of difficulty and the challenges and hazards to skiers. Steep hills, difficult climbs and sharp curves all demand that skiers adhere strictly to these trail warnings and signposts and venture only where their skill permits.

Beginners can test their mettle on the "A" course of about one mile. The land is relatively flat and the trail well-suited to the first-timer or less-than-confident cross-country novice.

Once their confidence builds, they can take off on a second intermediate loop, "Stairway to Heaven," which starts from the beginner loop just past the halfway mark and adds a more challenging 1.5 miles to the beginners' course.

Startling changes in the landscape make the skier on Valley Spur's loops, along with the more subtle signs of animals' comings and goings that criss-cross the trail. One more obvious man-made "footprint" along the way is "Bigfoot's Revenge," a long and twisting downhill where the going offers all the suspense any advanced cross-country skier could want.

Last season's "screamer" hill, Boomer, has been retained on the shortest of three expert loops on the Valley Spur course; that loop measures about one mile.

Whether seeking the solitude of snow-clad woodland trails or the adventure of challenging terrain, Valley Spur's variety is sure to satisfy. For more information on skiing the Valley Spur trail, contact the Munising Ranger District office by calling 387-2512.

Senior Citizens

by Diane McClelland

Want to hear something that you will find hard to believe? In just two short weeks we will be setting down to a giant Thanksgiving day dinner. Where does the time go? It just seems like we were getting ready for Bingo downtown for the Fourth of July and here it is time to buy a turkey. Sometimes I find it hard to keep up. What about you?

But who cares if you're ready or not. It's coming and we'll all be ready to enjoy. Then we can start getting ready for Christmas. My son has already given me his list. If you think the national debt is high, you should see his list. I've never heard of half the things he wants. The other half I can't afford so where does that leave me?

But all kidding aside, we are approaching the greatest time of the year.

SENIOR MEALS

Monday, Nov. 15-Hamburger Pepper Steak over Noodles, 3 Bean Salad, Bread & Margarine, Glorified Rice W/Fruit and Milk.
Tuesday, Nov. 16-Beef Stew W/Potatoes, Carrots & Rutabagias, Biscuit & Margarine, Fruit and Milk.
Wednesday, Nov. 17-Baked Ham, Au Gratin Potatoes, Cauliflower W/Peas, Bread & Margarine and Milk.
Thursday, Nov. 18-Ground Beef, Tomato Mac Casserole, Buttered Green Beans, Lettuce Salad, Bread & Margarine, Cookie and Milk.
Friday, Nov. 19-Swiss Steak W/Gravy, Mashed Potatoes, Buttered Carrots, Bread & Margarine, Fruited Jello and Milk.

year. And this year I'm going to be organized. Just like I was last year and the year before.
Memorials were given to the Center in the name of Waneta Dehlin by Frances Carlson and in the name of Eric Tornberg by Frances Carlson.

Monetary donations to our building fund came from Edith Klagstad, Russell and Tillie Tennant and Lawrence and Grace Tennant.

A postage donation to supplement the cost of the Newsletter came from Avis Anderson.

"Grandma's Attic" donations were given by: Mary Blomquist, Frank Burgess, Margaret Willebrand, Martha Cook, Mabyn Cousineau and Mr. and Mrs. Burgess.

Bob Watchorn of Fayette stopped into the Center with cookies and his usual monthly donation for bingo.

A coffee donation was given by Jo McGregor and Alice Frankovich brought in greeting cards to the Center.

Thank you for your kindness and concern!

Birthday Greetings go out to: Albert Fragale, Wilma (Goldie) Hodge, November 12; Lila Baker, Anna Mae Geib, Helen Neal, November 13; James Ballas, Leo Charrier, November 14; Ellsworth Davidson, Svea Diner, William Drefs, Evelyn S. Peterson, Oscar Peterson, Ralph Gauthier, November 15; Marie Coluzzi, Thornton nine, Hartie Whalen, November 16; Mae Barker, Martha Hanson, Mabel Hartman and Helen Pawley, November 17.

Happy Birthday to each of you!

PATIENT PHONE FOR LOCAL CALLS ONLY

ELEMER JESTLA, a resident of the Schoolcraft County Medical Care Facility, takes advantage of the free telephone installed there recently by the Medicare Auxiliary. Lyle Elmerman, treasurer of the auxiliary, stands behind Jestla holding a "secret pal" program where auxiliary members anonymously correspond with a resident, then finally meet them in person at an annual July picnic.

How income affects SSI

Most income will have an effect on your eligibility for or the amount of your Supplemental Security Income (SSI) check. Because of the various exclusions for different types of income, you may not be able to figure out just what the effect will be.

The Escanaba Social Security office advises recipients to report all income and any changes in income to your Social Security office. The people at Social Security are trained to give advice on what effects these changes will have on eligibility or payment amount. This is very important for people who already receive SSI checks.

If your income changes, either goes up or down, chances are that the amount of your SSI check will go up or down. Not reporting this change to your local Social Security office means your check amount could be wrong. If the check is too low, Social Security owes you money. If the check is too high, Social Security wants to correct it before the overpayment becomes too large. The law requires that SSI overpayments be returned. If you report changes in your income when they occur, this won't happen. Also, failure to report a change can result in a penalty deduction of $25 to $100 (plus repayment of the overpayment) if the report is not made within 10 days after the end of the month in which the change occurred.

There are basically two types of income: earned and unearned. Earned income includes wages paid for services as an employee and not earning from self-employment. Payment for working in a sheltered workshop is also earned income for SSI purposes. Wages not have to be in the form of cash to be considered earned income. If you work and receive food, clothing or shelter instead of cash, the value of what you receive counts as earned income.

All other types of income are considered unearned. This includes such things as pensions (public and private), contributions, bank interest, unemployment insurance, support and alimony, gifts and inheritances, prizes, worker's compensation, and life insurance proceeds to name just a few. Unearned income can be in the form of cash or something that has a certain cash value.

As stated earlier, most types of income will affect the amount of your SSI check. The effect depends on many factors. There is some income that has only a partial effect and even some that has no effect. That is why it is so important to notify Social Security every time there is a change in the type or amount of income you receive. The office will then let you know how this income will affect your SSI check.

You can notify your local Social Security office by writing, telephoning or visiting. Most Social Security business can be handled by calling the Escanaba office toll free at 1-800-552-4820.
