

Varnum takes a bow

Saluting 16 years of service is no easy thing, but over 200 people turned out at the Fireside Inn near Manistique to laud State Rep. Charlie Varnum, who has championed the cause of the 107th District since 1966.

Most of the "U.P. Mafia" legislative delegation was there, along with local civic leaders. Congressman Bob Davis attended and congratulated the crowd with humorous stories about the early days when he and Varnum first ran for office. Numerous congratulatory letters were read, including one from President Ronald Reagan. Varnum also received an emotional special presentation from his son.

Varnum got a bit of a surprise in the middle of the ceremonies when two state policemen came in and marched up to the head table. Sgt. Bob Barr had another special presentation for Varnum, who was legendary among police forces in the U.P. for his speedy trips between home and Lansing. Barr gave Varnum a plaque certifying that he had "the fastest car in the North," and warning him to slow down near the St. Ignace State Police Post now that he no longer has legislative immunity. It was all in fun, of course.

After traveling an estimated 60,000 miles a year for 16 years, Varnum said he was saddened by the thought that he would not be making that hurried journey again.

"Coming home yesterday, I thought 'This is one of the last times I'll make this trip,'" he said. But there was no sadness Saturday night because he was overwhelmed by the support shown for him by friends, Varnum added.

"This probably is one of the greater nights in my life," he said. "The awards I've received tonight mean more to me than the other things I've gotten because they're all from people I love."

There were some emotional moments for Charlie Varnum last Saturday night at the Fireside Inn as over 200 of his friends and fellow legislators gathered at a dinner to pay tribute to the 16 years which Varnum put in at the statehouse before he decided to step down.

Teacher turmoil: Big Bay instructors strike

by Rick Buck

Teachers at the Big Bay de Noc school district ended their two-day strike Wednesday after agreeing to a new contract which will give them a 22.2 percent wage increase package over the next three years. The pact is expected to cost the school district around $100,000 extra over that period.

Frustrated at the lack of progress in contract talks, most teachers at Big Bay de Noc refused to come to class Monday. Some picketed the school. Students arrived for class Monday morning but had to be sent home. However, things were back to normal Wednesday.

The contract was quickly ratified by the Big Bay de Noc school board and teachers union Tuesday night. It calls for wage increases that would add up to an 8.3 percent increase in the first year, 7.2 percent in the second and 6.7 percent in the third, according to Terry Brooks, school superintendent.

The wage hike would mean the school will pay $34,000 more in salaries during the first year and about $32,000 extra in each of the two following years. The contract also gives the teachers a new dental plan which begins May 1, 1983, and insurance benefits that will mean a 16.1 percent premium increase during the first year, according to Brooks. He did not have figures available on how much that would cost.

The contract ratified by Big Bay teachers was not much different from another which was rejected by them in the first week of September. That three-year proposal called for a set of wage and benefit increases over three years totaling about 22.5 percent.

"We weren't really that far apart from the original," Brooks said.

Teachers turned thumbs down on the previous pact because it would not bring them closer to parity with instructors in similar small school systems. Currently, Big Bay de Noc teachers are some of the lowest-paid in the Upper Peninsula.

Because of the wage hikes and dwindling state aid, Brooks said the school district would have to ask for more millage. If Big Bay de Noc schools were to continue offering the same educational program along with the new contract, they would need an additional 4.8 mills in school support. Brooks said it would be impossible to get that much from the voters.

"The board has not determined it's going to go for 4.8," he said. A decision on how to get enough money to keep the schools open will be made later.

City boils over water rates

Water rates should be a hot topic at next Monday's public hearing on a proposed ordinance to raise fees for Manistique residents if last Monday's city council meeting was any indication of what is to come.

A group of 20 protesting city residents turned out for the meeting and their angry opposition to higher rates cooled the council's plans to hike fees. The city will now only ask for half what it wanted before.

Council member Mike Dougovito introduced a motion to change the rate increase to $6 a month for sewer service and an extra $2 for water service each month. Before, the council had been seeking $12 more for sewers and $4 for customers with a 5/8-inch water line.

If the new ordinance is adopted, water service rates for an average customer would be $10 a month and sewer rates $6. No sewer service fee had been charged before.

The increases are necessary to pay for the cost of operating the city's water and treatment plants, according to the council. Because of leaky sewer pipes, a vastly greater amount of water is funneled to the wastewater treatment plant than expected, driving costs up there. Leaks also mean that the city is pumping much of its fresh water into the ground.

For instance, engineers have found that 42 percent of the water is lost from the pipes. It used to be 72 percent. And Tom Martin, water plant superintendent, said he treated 63 million gallons of wastewater even though the city pumped out only 12 million gallons of fresh water.

"For every gallon of water (the city) makes, I treat five," Martin said.

The proposed rate increases will go to cover the added costs because of this. The council would also like to use any extra money from the fee hikes to improve buried pipelines. No part of the increase can be earmarked to pay off the water system's $251,000 debt to the city's general fund that has built up over the years. However, if the general fund does not have to underwrite the water system operations any more, there may be enough money left over to slowly erase that debt, according to Dougovito.

Chances for passage of the increases next Monday are good, if council members stick to the positions they announced earlier this week. After being questioned by members of the audience, all council members except David Vaughn expressed support for Vaughn said he would look the proposal over before making a decision.

There had been almost as much support on the council for the earlier planned increases, but a storm of protest from the unusually large crowd at the meeting changed the council members' minds.

"If you keep going the way you're going, you're keeping to tax yourself into a ghost town," said Gary Koschmidr.

Most said they knew some sort of change in funding of the water system was needed, but people could not afford it now with so many out of work.

"What are you going to do when people can't pay?" asked Lorna Bowers. "Are you just going to come and shut everybody's water off?"

The increases got their strongest support from Dougovito and council member Kathy Wilson.

"Your system is at the point now where it is collapsing. If we wait, we won't have a system to repair," Dougovito said. "If we wait, I guarantee you will not have water unless you drill your own well."

Wilson said she did not enjoy having to charge more, but it was in the interest of the city that it be done.

"You have to trust us. We're doing what is best for you," she said, and then expressed frustration over the adamant opposition shown by the public. "If we don't take this opportunity, I do quit."

The council and the crowd both would not budge from their positions during an hour of heated discussion. Finally, Vaughn came up with a compromise proposal, suggesting that the city cut services if it wanted to pump more money into the water system.

"Until we can afford more, we're going to have to cut. If it means we're going to have to go from whatever a police department we have now to half of that, so be it," Vaughn said. "I don't know any other way to do it."

Making cuts instead of increasing rates found favor with the audience, but other council members warned it would not be that simple. If one area was cut, another area might have to be expanded. For instance, if there was less money for street lighting, there might have to be more police patrols.

"If we could cut services and get 100 cents on the dollar, I'd be for it," said mayor Bill Hickey.

Others expressed grudging support for cutting, if it was done fairly. "If that's what the people want, I'm in favor of it if we cut across the board," said Dougovito. In the end, the council took no position on the cuts.

The meeting opened with a presentation by Dick Leake, who was there to represent the city's hired engineering firm. He said the plans for separating the city's sewer and storm drain lines could go ahead by the middle of next year. He recommended that the city hire a financial consultant to help it sell bonds for the project. Although Manistique is far down on the list for federal funds to pay for the improvements, it may move up if several downstate cities are ruled ineligible. Should the city go ahead with the plan, the costs might be much lower than expected because of the slow period for building contractors, Leake added.

Leake faced much tough questioning from the audience, though. They questioned the need for the project and whether or not it was financially feasible.

Trees almost free

Got the Christmas spirit? Looking for a Christmas tree?

As a public service, the Manistique Ranger District of the Forest Service has set up four areas where you can select and cut your own Christmas tree. One of the areas contain red pine, one is spruce, and two others are balsam fir.

To take advantage of this opportunity just stop in at the Manistique Ranger Station, on US-2 on the east side of Manistique, to pick up a Christmas tree permit and a map showing the location and species of the four areas. There are also signs at each of the areas designating them as the Christmas tree selection areas.

There is a $1 fee required for the Christmas tree permit. To keep the Christmas season a happy season there is a simple, easy way to do it.

"Flame-proof" your tree to protect it against fire. Mix nine ounces of Borax and three ounces of boric acid powder with one gallon of warm water in a plastic jug. Mix well, puncture the jug with an ice pick or other small pointed object and saturate the tree with the mixture.

A Day's Work at the Mill

Taylor makes it go

by Rick Buck

Manistique Papers Inc. makes this town go. But it is the people who work at the mill that make it go. And nothing would be going at all if it weren't for the day's work put in by Cecil Taylor.

"A Day's Work" is a Pioneer-Tribune series examining the labors of those men and women who supply us with the products we depend on every day. With words and pictures, we will illustrate the tools of those essential workers whose contributions are so often overlooked.

Taylor, a 40-year veteran at the mill, has been there longer than anyone else. As a labor group leader doing maintenance on the gigantic paper machine, Taylor is responsible for keeping things running smoothly in the most important part of the mill. At times, every one of the production employees in the plant depends on Taylor to finish his job so they can start theirs.

Such was the case Monday morning. Taylor had been called in at 3:30 a.m.—the paper machine needed work immediately. The block-long behemoth sat silent as Taylor and his crew labored to get it back in shape, a crowd of workers looking on from behind them. With the machine down, they could not function.

After working through the dawn and well through the morning, Taylor had it ready. Gears meshed, rollers turned and the vast assembly began to hum. The pitch increased steadily as the revs went up, until the hum became a mighty vibration that shivered up through the concrete floor and could be felt to the bone.

Taylor and his crew ran up and down along side the thundering assembly, shining flashlights into dark, steamy cavities to check the operation of machinery in the hidden recesses. One man even crawled into an access port to observe the paper machine from the inside, almost hidden from view between its titanic rollers.

Finally, Taylor's handiwork was ready to be put to the final test. The wall of alien signaled that a sheet of pulp preparation was ready to be fed through to check the paper-making. It was guided up into the whirling rollers to have the water pressed and steamed out of it. The first run was not a success, but they got it right on the second try and the mill went back to running at full speed again. Cecil Taylor's work does not usually involve the drama of a sudden call for quick repairs. Instead, his duty is to ensure that such a situation does not arise. Like a policeman walking the beat, Taylor begins his working day on typical mornings at 7 a.m. with a stroll around the paper maker looking for troublemakers.

"You do a lot of preventive maintenance to keep it from breaking down," he said.

Checking the oil level in machinery and looking for faulty gear boxes are two duties Taylor has been at so long, he often doesn't have to look.

"You can tell by the sound of it by traveling through the mill," he said. To many observers, it would seem remarkable that Taylor could hear anything at all except the rumble of the big paper machine. He says he can tune it out, though.

"You get so you don't pay any attention to it. You get immune," Taylor said.

When he is satisfied that the paper machine is rolling smoothly, Taylor returns to the mill's repair shop, where there is usually a pile of work orders waiting for him. Sometimes it

Cecil Taylor has been tightening bolts like he does here for 40 years at Manistique Papers. In Taylor puts in a day's work in the maintenance department keeping things running smoothly so everyone else can do their day's work too.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Golat

Prieskorn, Golat are wed

Laura Ann Prieskorn of Germfask and Kenneth C. Golat of Manistique, were united in marriage Oct. 23, during a 5 p.m. double ring ceremony at Grace Lutheran Church in Germfask. The Rev. Allen Parks officiated.

Laura is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prieskorn of Germfask and Kenneth is the son of Mrs. Janet Golat and the late Charles A. Golat of Manistique.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of lace over tulle. Mock seed pearls accented the scalloped trim of the neckline. A matching veil with lace crown complimented her attire. Her bouquet was a mixture of baby breath, white miniature mums and blue roses.

Lynn Prieskorn of Germfask, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Leola Prieskorn of Marquette, another sister, was bridesmaid. They wore matching long gowns of blue lace with deep blue velvet yokes. Their bouquets were blue daisies, carnations and baby breath.

The best man was Charles Willour of Manistique and Dan McDonough of West Branch served as groomsmen.

Organist for the occasion was Debbie Burton of Gould City. Ushers were William Bowman, Gulliver, and Dean Whitehead of Lansing.

A reception and dance was held at the VFW Hall in Germfask following the wedding ceremony. A wedding trip around Michigan was made by the couple and they are now making their home at Rte #1 in Manistique.

Kenneth is a 1972 graduate of Manistique High School and a 1976 graduate of Ferris State College. He is employed by the Manistique Public Safety Department. Laura is a 1975 graduate of Manistique High School and presently employed at the Red Horse Ranch in Germfask.

Out of town relatives attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Prieskorn of South Lyons; Elmer Prieskorn of Orchard Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Prieskorn, Nancy and Sharon Prieskorn and son Matt of Brighton; Earl Prieskorn and daughter, Heidi of Bloomfield Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sewak and grandson, Brandt Crutcher of Westland; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sewrak and

GARDEN

by Mrs. Eleanor LaBute
644-2522

Mr. and Mrs. Duane (Bumpy) Tatrow of Garden marked their 25th wedding anniversary on Nov. 20. The couple was honored by a reception held at the Garden Community Bldg. with family, relatives and friends attending.

The former Jacqueline Carol Roach of Escanaba and Duane Grant Tatrow of Garden were married Nov. 23, 1957 at St. John the Baptist Catholic Church of Garden with Fr. Roberts officiating.

Their attendants were maid of honor, Marcia (Sorensen) Baker of Tucson, Ariz., bridesmaid Sharon Schils of Sheboygan, Wis. Best man was a cousin, Lawrence (Stub) Tatrow of Garden, and groomsmen were William Baker of Escanaba.

The couple has made Garden their home nearly all their married life and are the parents of four children, Donald, now residing in North Dakota, Michele, Dary and Roberts of Garden. They also have two grandchildren, Gary and Jessica. Mr. Tatrow is an ironworker by trade and a member of Local 783 of Marquette for 21 years.

Out of town guests attending came from Lansing, the Detroit area, Saginaw, Prescott, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette and North Dakota. The Crossroads Country and Western Band of Lansing provided the music for the evening.

Gerard Bernier was jointly honored on his retirement from Fayette State Park on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 2, at the Park in Fayette.

Employees from Camp Wells State Park and Manistique State Park attended. Tom Gregg of the DNR presented a plaque honoring Bernier for 17 years of service to Fayette State Park. A double decker cake and refreshments were enjoyed. Roland Haggan was also honored at the affair as a farewell from Fayette State Park. The Haggans will be moving to Holland, Mich., where he will be assigned to a state park there.

Camille Spaulding entered Marquette General North Hospital on Sunday, Dec. 5. Camille will undergo knee surgery Monday, Dec. 6.

Bruce LaBute has returned to his home here after being employed in Detroit for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jesalek of 621 Arbatus Ave. in Manistique announce the engagement of their daughter Carla to Michael Tobin. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tobin of Gulliver Lake. No wedding date has been set.

Peter Silkworth to marry

Albinus and Verlella Thomas of Bowtie, S.D., wish to announce the engagement of their daughter Charlene Marie Thomas, to Peter Owen Silkworth of Rt #1 Cooks.

The bride-to-be is a 1981 graduate presently serving with the U.S. Coast Guard in Duluth. No date has been set for the wedding.

Willcock, Kruger say vows

Mary Margaret Willcock of Manistique, and Gordon Quinton Kruger of Shell Lake, Wis., were married Sep. 4, at 3 p.m. at the Schoolcraft Medical Care Facility Chapel. Probate Judge John Pater performed the single ring ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Manistique High School and is employed by the Schoolcraft Medicare Facility. The groom is a graduate of Shell Lake High School and is employed by James Peterson and Sons of Medford, Wis.

State Police

A Manistique youth was treated for minor injuries at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital after being hit by a car on US-2 on Thursday at 5:45 p.m.

Police said Gregory Grimm, 16, was hit by a vehicle driven by Lori Bennett of Escanaba. Bennett told police she did not see him in the fog. William C. Uter was cited for improper passing following a two car accident on Thursday. According to police, a vehicle driven by Uter was passing a vehicle on M-94 when he hit a vehicle driven by Jerry J. Clifton, which was heading towards him. Both drivers attempted to avoid the collision. Uter sought his own treatment for injuries received in the accident.

During November, state police made 46 traffic arrests, issued 39 verbal warnings, assisted 18 motorists and handled 12 motor vehicle accidents. They logged 11,015 miles. 3 drunk driving arrests and assisted 18 motorists.

Not in Shame Varnum left with head up because of local support

Manistiquette honored one of its own Saturday night. Nearly every VIP in the city, more politicians than you could ever find on a ballot and many of his friends gathered to salute Charlie Varnum.

It is to Manistiquette's credit that it paid tribute to the man who spent 16 years, for better or worse, pitching for the 107th District in the Michigan House of Representatives. Varnum had a colorful career, and sometimes when the spotlight focused on him, it revealed some blemishes. But he went out with his head held high, in part because the people of his home town were still willing to carry him on their shoulders.

There's no secret as to the reason why Varnum looked out for the little guy. Almost every week, this paper gets a letter to the editor expressing gratitude over the way Varnum helped them with some governmental mess. Say what you will about him; you can't deny that Charlie Varnum remembered the people who elected him.

That's why he got so much glowing praise on Saturday night, and why he will probably get it in the future. Although 1982 may mark the last year that Varnum sits in the statehouse, he will not fade from view. If it's not the Manistiquette City Manager's chair he occupies, it will be some other public office. It's in his blood.

So if anyone says "Goodbye" to Varnum, they should take it back. It would be more appropriate to say "So long until the next dinner."

No Sale

Many roadblocks prevent disposal of forest lands

Many people have been concerned recently about reports that parts of our national forests will be sold, including some in the Hiawatha National Forest. While we share their concern, it appears as though any such sale is unlikely.

The flap over the forests began Oct. 26 with a story in the Milwaukee Sentinel claiming that the Federal Property Review Board would try to get Congress to sell massive amounts of forest land to offset the national debt. It later turned out that the story was wrong. The Forest Service was merely directed to list which lands were surplus and which could be gotten rid of profitably.

This is a periodic and necessary process—the government should not be stuck with chunks of land which are little more than white elephants. Isolated 40s far removed from the bulk of forests like the Hiawatha are troublesome to keep because of the expense of maintaining rights of way, land lines, etc.

A recent sale of surplus land got rid of almost 1,000 acres in Michigan, none of them in the Upper Peninsula. This latest review will probably not result in any larger amounts being sold.

One reason is because the people in charge of singling out lands to be sold are the same managers in charge of protecting that land. Bureaucrats always hang on to their turf. These officials would surely be against dumping parts of their forests into the control of outsiders who would not have to answer to the Forest Service. Unless the federal government sends out flinty-eyed accountants from Washington to draw up the lists, there is little likelihood that much will be rated surplus.

Even if lots of national forest land was listed for sale, there are not many probable buyers. The companies with a natural interest in forests, lumber and pulp corporations, are in a slump. They do not have the money to buy new holdings. They are already own is not being used because of the falling demand for their products. Those companies are not likely to want more.

They would be getting little if they did. The current arrangement allowing businesses to cut on federal land under certain restrictions is not perfect, but it has advantages for the corporations. When they cut trees on federal land, those companies are done with it. Sometimes reseeded is required, but the bulk of the forest management is left up to Uncle Sam. Most companies will think twice before taking on massive new responsibilities.

The slim chances for forest sales contain good and bad news for Manistiquette. On one hand, this might mean there will be less chance of getting more forestry jobs here. That is regrettable.

On the other hand, we will be able to enjoy the continued ecological benefits of having large tracts of unspoiled land nearby. Hunting will continue to be good, as well as tourism attracted by the forests.

Although sale of the forest service land would not necessarily mean it would be ruined, that is possible. The richest companies with an interest in resources, the oil giants, are not known for their ecological concern or savvy at maintaining forest land. We've got a situation we can live with; why risk getting into one which might be worse?

That risk is slight at the moment. However, people should keep aware of the situation no matter which side of the issue they are on. We haven't heard the last of the forest sale idea yet.

will be a plate that must be welded onto a freight hook, a pump to be taken apart and overhauled or repairs made to the building. Unlike assembly line work, there is always a new challenge.

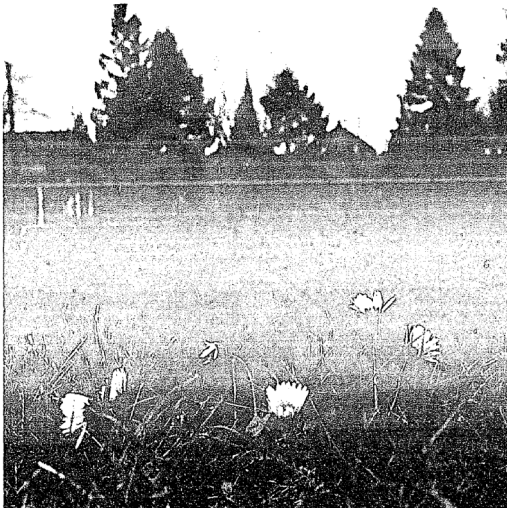

"It's always something different. It's always something interesting," Taylor said. "It's enjoyable."

Taylor also likes the work because he has been part of it so long. Most of the plant has grown up around him, and he is as much of a fixture at Manistiquette Papers as the solid foundations below his feet. The mill has become Taylor's world.

"Most of your friends are right here because they've been here so long," he said. "I've seen three generations in this mill. This must be a good place to work when they all want to come back."

The position of a maintenance chief appeals to Taylor, who is proud of his role as a component keeping the larger entity healthy. He would not want to do anything else, Taylor says.

"You just go along with it," he says. "With me, it's the best because

Ordinarily, you might say that these were a rather unseasonably warm winter in December, fooled by the sun-drenched bunch of flowers that were growing in front of the county courthouse last week. (They're English daisies, according to an inside source at the court.) But they what makes these so bloom? special is the fact that they

Sometimes it stinks back home

Before coming to work in Manistiquette, I took off from my last job a week early so I could go back to the Washington, D.C. area where I had grown up. I wanted to see old friends and relatives, and besides, I thought it would be nice to return to city life after being isolated in the Upper Peninsula for so long.

Boy, was I ever wrong! (Not about the friends and relatives—they were okay.) I got back to the big city made me realize all the reasons I was glad to leave it.

Buck's Shot

by Rick Buck
A column of personal opinion

Washington hadn't changed very much, but it sure seemed different. Coming from the U.P. wilderness to urbanized madness was like entering an alien civilization. I had lived there for much of my life and never realized how strange the place was.

Everything in the city seemed artificial and unreal. The "natural" environment itself is unnatural in the city. Buildings spring up from the ground like trees do here. In the U.P., the world is made up of wood, water and pure air. In Washington, the surroundings are concrete, plastic and pollution.

After living in the U.P. for a while, I had lost my immunity to air pollution. Every time I went outside for the first week, I got a sore throat from breathing the stuff that passes for air there. And Washington is supposed to be one of the cleaner big cities.

There are many other forms of pollution besides the stuff you breathe, too. Noise pollution is one. There is no silence in the city—wherever you are, you can always hear the dull roar of a million other people. It's a constant wall of sound, with a jet whine above, car engines throbbing nearby and a suburban vibration underneath it all as thousands of tiny voices combine and reverberate.

I stayed for a few days with some old college buddies in the house we rented for several years. It's in an otherwise pleasant suburban neighborhood, except that it's directly behind an eight-lane superhighway. Imagine having US-2 going in a circle around your house about four times and you can't hear an engine or see a car and the smell. But when I lived there, I just tuned it out (although that's probably why I never did much studying.) City people learn to ignore that.

They can also ignore the trash that clutters the landscape. Litter is everywhere underfoot. It seems to grow like grass, and will never go away. I didn't pay much attention to it then, but after living in the clean U.P., walking down the street in the Washington area was like traveling through a sty.

It's no wonder that there is so much litter around, because there are so many people. At times, the mass of humanity becomes oppressive. Thongs of people jam the stores, crowd the streets and line up their cars on the roads.

You can't be alone in the city. There were a few times when I was on the verge of getting human claustrophobia. Worst of all is the way that the city has spoiled a perfectly good bit of countryside. Everything about the land has been tamed and twisted. Cement and asphalt cover almost every inch of the ground like heavy chains keeping it captive. Nature itself has been beaten into submission by the hand of Man.

Of course, there were some good things about the trip, too. I enjoyed the cultural diversity of the city. It was quite a treat to be able to eat Ethiopian goat stew at a restaurant. The wide variety of stores was another plus.

But even that thrill was gone after a while.

Find her roots

Dear Editor:
You helped me locate some distant relatives years ago, and from one of them I received a picture of the house my dad was born in. Thanks so much!

Now I'd like to hear from all Webers and kin—quickly, names, addresses and pictures. I'll do the same for each of them.

I am Clara (Weber) Moulton, born at Barak Lake near Olympia, Wash. My mother is Maude (Hartman) Weber. My dad, George Joseph Weber, was born in Manistiquette. His parents were John and Eleanor (Franz) Weber. I think grandfather's John's parents were Jacob Weber and Grace Tomsen Weber.

I'm wishing to learn more about my "roots" and will share all letters, pictures and news with all brothers, sisters, cousins and my aunt Mary (Weber) LaCasse and uncle Anthony (Tony) Weber, dad's only living brother and sister. Dad is dead, as are brothers Tom and John Weber and sis, Sater Ignatia.

Our next trip will be to Michigan. We will try to see you all, plus that cute little house Dad was born in.

Dad played guitar, violin, sang German songs, harmonized with brother Tony and he was quite a baseball player. Major league scouts tried steadily to sign him up. I play guitar too, warble country and western songs and love baseball.

St. Rita Circle meets

St. Rita Circle held their annual Christmas party on Tuesday at the Fireside Inn.

Social gathering at 6 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William Hentschell, followed by a brief meeting, dinner and gift exchange at the Fireside Inn.

Plans were made to provide refreshments in conjunction with Bishop Barak Circle for Senior Citizens on Monday, Dec. 20 from 2 to 4 p.m. at St. Francis de Sales Parish.

The Circle voted to purchase a Dietmar Krumrey print and make it available to local participants in game of chance.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 1 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Alvin Nelson with Marie LaFave and Katharine H. LeBrasseur assisting.

Welfare life is degrading

Dear Editor:

I'm writing concerning a fact that many people are learning of face, but not cope with. They are out of a job, their unemployment is used up. So now where? To the last place they want to be. In the welfare line, A.D.C., General Assistance. No matter which way you say it, it still feels like a slap in the face!

A few years ago I was supporting two children on about $80 a week because I was too proud to quit my job and go on A.D.C. like so many people suggested I do. I was going through a divorce and it was rough. Finally circumstances forced me to quit and sign up for A.D.C.

Some of the people who run down those who were on welfare, are not on it themselves, so they can identify with what I'm saying. They thought it was so easy. Have a couple kids, get a divorce, and go on A.D.C. "Easy Street." More like "Sesame Street!"

You have to learn to count all over again. Count your blessings. You have to learn your ABC's all over again. A is for Arrogance, B is for Belligerence, C is for Captive. (I could go on, but won't, for lack of space.)

I was lucky. I married a man who took on full responsibility for my two sons. He was working on construction making between $1-400 a week. Two years later, and one more month to feed, we are on A.D.C.

His unemployment and state extension run out last May. In October we received a notice that he may be eligible for the Federal extension. For 8½ weeks we are off A.D.C. and on unemployment again. That runs out, back on A.D.C.

It's not that easy. Due to a program called "retrospective budgeting", our income for September is budgeted for November, and our income for October is budgeted for December. Resulting in "we're way over our budget." (whose budget?) So for the last half of November we receive $104. This has to last us until January. In January we will receive half of our grant because of some unemployment received the beginning of November.

With food stamps we figure we can make do somehow. But what about personal things like toilet paper, soap, toothpaste, Pampers for the baby? The first thing you do is pray. Your parents give you a box of half used toilet paper from their motel, you start charging, you pray some more.

When does your world finally cave in? The big disappointment comes when you have to tell your 8 and 4-year-old that there is no Santa Claus. But you can console them with the fact that there is a God and that he will provide if he sees a need.

It's easier to console the kids than it is to keep the faith. I think that Christmas this year will mean more to us as a family than Santa ever did!

Now some more bad news. A shut off notice for a $200 water bill. They have an Emergency Shut Off Program they will take care of it for you. Now here's the hard part. Swallow what pride you have left and go in to talk to someone about it. The disappointment comes when you find out that they can't help you because of a misunderstanding form that you signed for vendor payments for your utilities while you were on A.D.C.

I have a 12th-grade education. I read and signed a form that I understood to the best of my knowledge, but not to the best of theirs. I didn't know that they had control over other income we received while we were off A.D.C. for 8½ weeks. (remember, C is for Captive.) You figure you're ahead of yourself because you receive heat and electric bills with a credit billing, and you can go back on vendor payments when you go back on

A.D.C. Tough luck, you signed the paper!

Sound like a maze? It is, and even worse is that sick little feeling you get when you see yourself as that little white mouse that's trying to find his way through the maze to a piece of cheese. You constantly are "minded" that someone is standing over you, watching you struggle and ready to club you when you make the wrong turn.

It's bad enough having to be on A.D.C., and have your every move monitored, but what's even worse is the degradation you feel when some people seem to get pleasure in watching you squirm or making you feel like a piece of dirt having to beg them for money that they may need themselves someday.

I'm not zeroing in on any one person. There are some who really do have an understanding and try to make things a little easier with a few kind words. I'm thankful that there is a program so people don't have to starve in our country, but if some of those people who run the system and work for the system could stand in our shoes just once, they may find out that it is no easy street and we're not all a bunch of bums.

I know that there will come a day when there won't be a welfare program and that I may have to get out on the streets and beg to feed my children, but I'll feel a lot more worthy than I do on A.D.C.

Was that a look of sheer terror on Big Bay de Noc? Maybe not, but it was close. The Black Bears had nothing junior Roy Annellin's face as Grand Marais forward Ben to be afraid of during most of the game though, as they fit swooped over him to block a first-quarter shot? crushed Grand Marais 77-34.

Big Bay de Noc dominates

by Rick Buck

The Big Bay de Noc Black Bears are looking stronger every week. The boys varsity team is now 2-0 after high-scoring victories against Treenary and Grand Marais.

Big Bay walked away with an 80-61 win over the Treenary Cougars Tuesday. The Bears jumped to an early lead, clamped down with their press and never trailed.

Cory Potvin was a whirlwind on offense, scoring 22 points and taking 15 rebounds. Many of his baskets came after he took one off the offensive boards. Mark Pomeroy also had 22 points. Coach Lee Potvin said everyone of the 10 players that went in during the game contributed.

"The key to last night's game was a team effort," he said. "The team is starting to jell."

The short teacher's strike at Big Bay hurt the team somewhat because the players missed two practices. There were a few mistakes, according to Potvin, but not enough to hurt the Black Bears.

"The timing and the reactions were off," he said.

Big Bay de Noc kicked off its 1982-83 season with an easy 77-34 victory over Grand Marais in the Bears' home opener Dec. 3. After a sloppy first quarter, Big Bay came on strong and had an easy time with the hapless Polar Bears.

The Black Bears could not find the range in the first period and committed mental mistakes like stepping out of bounds while dribbling down court. They fell behind by as much as 8-5, but strong foul shooting by Mark Pomeroy gave Big Bay a 10-8 lead at the end of the quarter.

The Black Bears put on a crushing diamond-and-one press that killed Grand Marais in the second quarter. Big senior Leonard Nedeau was the dominant defender, blocking several shots snagging Polar Bear passes. Big Bay built a 34-17 lead at half-time.

Manistique impressive

The Manistique boys varsity basketball team will go into Friday's game against Westwood riding on a high tide of momentum after an 80-72 victory against Ishpeming Dec. 3.

The Emeralds opened the season on the right foot—Mike Godlewski's. The big forward poured in 35 points and dished out a team-high six assists. Godlewski dominated the game defensively, too. Eleven of his 16 rebounds came off the defensive boards, and the six-foot senior nabbed four steals.

"Mike Godlewski had just an outstanding game," said Manistique coach Seb Rubick, who added that he did not know Godlewski was racking up such high numbers because the forward was doing it without hogging the ball.

"Although it was an outstanding individual performance, it still blended well with the team strategy," Rubick said.

The Emerald team had good offensive strategy most of the night. Three other players besides Godlewski scored in double figures—Troy Farley with 14, Mike Provo with 13 and Doug Mickelson with 12. Manistique hit 28 of 37 shots from the field for a respectable 49 percent. The Emeralds were hottest from the free throw line, though, making 24 of 33 attempts for a blazing 73 percent.

Manistique had to be good at scoring because the Emeralds were not so good at stopping it. Ishpeming passed through the Green-and-White press often and scored 16 of 21 baskets, allowing the Hematites to stay close despite the Manistique scoring surge.

"Although our press was effective, we still gave up too many easy baskets," Rubick said. A hard man-to-man defense by Manistique in the early going wound up hurting the Emeralds.

"Because we were so aggressive, we got into foul trouble early," Rubick said. Five of six players picked up three fouls in the first half. But bench strength came through and kept the Emeralds on top after a shaky beginning.

Ishpeming took an early lead and both teams saw-sawed in the first quarter until the Hematites went up 20-14 with 1:37 left. Rubick called a timeout and juggled his lineup a bit. Then the Emeralds rested off eight straight points to take a 22-20 first-quarter lead. That gave them the momentum and they never trailed again.

Behind Godlewski's four field goals in the second quarter, Manistique-spurred out to a 41-31 halftime lead. Forward Provo had the hot hand in the third quarter, scoring nine points to keep the Emeralds up 61-51. Pasty Ishpeming would not say die, and pulled to within three, 73-70, with just 1:20 to go in the game. Manistique built the margin back up, and Godlewski's final two buckets gave the Emeralds their 80-72 victory.

As in any opening game, there were mix-ups. At the end of the first quarter, three Manistique players almost took a trip to the showers early. When the bell sounded, Farley, Denny McBurney and Tom Cooper took off across the court and headed for the visitors' locker room. "It was a little bit of a mix-up," Cooper said. "Boy, that was a quick half."

Cooper looked up at the scoreboard and replied "It was low-scoring, too."

When Mike Godlewski didn't have the ball in his hands at Ishpeming last Friday, he was usually sending it through the hoop. The tough senior netted 35 points in Manistique's 80-72 victory over the Hematites. The Emeralds play Westwood at home Friday. (Gordon Archer photo)

Not until they had reached the locker room door did they know that no one was following them. The trio returned with real sheepish looks on their faces, according to Rubick.

Farley was also the recipient of some quick court-side sports medicine. After dislocating a finger on the

Emerald JVs take thriller

The Manistique Junior Varsity basketball team opened its season at Ishpeming Friday night with a thrilling 62-61 victory.

The two teams played on even terms during the first quarter, and the Emeralds held a 14-12 lead when the quarter ended. The Emeralds and Dave Archer caught fire in the second quarter and built up a 32-24 half-time lead. Archer scored 12 of his 20 first-half points in the second quarter.

It was the Hematites' turn to get hot in the third quarter, and they outscored Manistique 16-11 to cut the lead to 40-40 at the end of the quarter. The fourth quarter saw the Emeralds maintain a three-to-five-point lead most of the quarter.

An action-packed last minute nearly spelled disaster for the Emeralds as Ishpeming hit a couple long range shots to cut the lead to one point. The Emeralds were able to hold on for the final few seconds to secure the victory.

Dave Archer paced the Emeralds in their first victory, scoring 32 points and hauling down 17 rebounds. Jim Bauman also turned in a solid performance with 16 points and 14 rebounds. Coach Bob Ryan felt that Archer's and Bauman's statistics were outstanding, but praised the entire team for their effort.

"We really had a super team effort. Dave and Jim did a great job scoring and rebounding to lead us, but everyone contributed in the victory," he said.

Ed Clement added six points and also had 14 rebounds and was cited for his fine defensive play by Ryan. Jerry Burris, with four points and Craig Nedeau and Don MacPhail with two points each rounded out the Emerald scoring.

The trio of guards combined for eight points but were also praised for their play.

The JV's look for victory number two Friday night at home against Westwood.

Grouse helped by habitat

Gregg Stoll, wildlife habitat biologist at Manistique, talks about grouse habitat.

Much of Michigan's Upper Peninsula used to provide quality habitat for prairie chickens and sharp-shinned hawk. This was created by logging, before and after the turn of the century. The openness of the land combined with slash on the ground made conditions right for wild fires, of which the Upper Peninsula had many, particularly during the 1920's.

Removal of trees and many fires brought about changes in the land. Small prairie areas that existed prior to the logging era were allowed to greatly expand, flooding the open areas with sand prairie vegetation. Aspen as a forest type also greatly expanded and many shrubs, like cherry and junberry became prevalent in the openings. This newly created habitat consisting of poor sand prairie openings surrounded by young aspen forests and brush areas of aspen and shrubs was found over vast areas of the U.P. Prairie chickens expanded from Wisconsin into the new range, followed shortly by sharp-shinned grouse. With time other wildlife populations also flourished such as deer and ruffed grouse.

Much of this was of a short lived nature, however, as fire suppression allowed timber stands to grow up and a combination of fire suppression and planting programs filled in the openings.

After five decades of habitat reduction the prairie chicken is gone from the U.P. Sharp-shinned grouse are still found in hantable numbers, mostly on state and private land in the eastern end. Sharp-shinned habitat on private land is mostly south of the management efforts for wildlife on these state owned blocks will revolve around maintenance of large openings of sand prairie vegetation mixed with shrubs and young tree stands. The edge of the area will also be managed to provide a gradual change from openings to forests, with small openings scattered around. In this manner cover and food are provided for a wide variety of both game and non-game animals. Management areas are large, generally 2,000 acres or more. Smaller areas are important if they can be tied into other areas nearby. Fire will be the primary tool for opening maintenance after tree removal. Prairie type vegetation will be encouraged by fire and planting of additional species to provide greater diversity."

The UPSSA is responsible for the weekly U.P. football and boys basketball polls published during the regular season. The group also decides the list of All-U.P. players as well as naming the team of the year and coach of the year in several high school sports. In addition, the sports journalists send representatives to statewide sportswriters' conventions to try and get our U.P. athletes the honor they deserve in Michigan polls.

The group is composed of 26 sports editors from daily and weekly papers and radio stations throughout the U.P. Each votes on the poll and All-U.P. lists. But before now, there had been no voice for teams of this well as naming the team of the year and coach of the year in several high school sports. In addition, the sports getting proper recognition when it came to post-season awards. Now that the Pioneer-Tribune has a voice in those choices, you can bet that athletes from Manistique and Big Bay de Noc high schools will get the acclaim that has been denied them for so long.

This also means that the paper will be carrying the weekly basketball poll during the boys season and will also have stories on the All-U.P. picks. It's one more way we're working to bring you better sports.

Before mud wrestling, there came Blueberry Wrestling! Shown here is one of the matches at a Manistique Blueberry Festival in the late 1930s. The insert is a shot of George Bergman standing in his float for the blueberry parade. He got some free advertising in, too, with a sign on the side advising "Sells to G.A. Bergman." Jack Orr has more in this week's Memories column.

Fest was berry good

Memories Jack Orr

Back in The Good Old Days the annual blueberry festival was the big event of the year, usually eclipsing the Fourth of July celebration and maybe even Christmas. We have mentioned the fact that occasionally the festival included a no-holds-barred wrestling match in a ring knee-deep in blueberries, and the large photo shows this event...if you can distinguish legs from arms and bodies in this fast-action shot.

The photo comes from Richard Gill who now lives in Phoenix, and his note is as follows:
Dear Memories:
"You asked about the blueberry wrestling. After the match these men cleaned up at the fire station. The pit was approximately 4 to 6 inches deep in blueberries. This match took place in the late Thirties and the fighters were (I think) Bulldog Lanier and Tiger Mulhaupt. King Tut Arrowood was the referee."
"In addition I'd like to add that "Tut" Arrowood and Mary operated the dance hall known as Duck Inn around 1937. That was after Lansing and Mary Williams owned the place. Bill Arrowood, Tut's son, lives in Phoenix. It would be nice if someone could identify some of the onlookers in this picture."

Richard Gill, Phoenix
"P.S. Mary Arrowood also worked in the dance band with Ross Collier, Clarence Peterson, George Bays, Tom Anderson and Jiggs Strassler."

The smaller photo of George Bergman standing in his float for the festival comes from Mrs. Marge Decker of Gloverville, N.Y., a daughter of Cliff Bergman. Her letter follows:
Dear Memories:
"Perhaps you won't remember me but I came to your home early on a Monday morning recently. I am Cliff Bergman's daughter."

"The reason I'm writing is to send these photos and clippings. By looking at the county map I was interested in the many road names; how in the world did a Bergman Road come to be named? It's on Route 2 just before Gulliver Lake. The Bergmans lived just off of the Kendall Rd."
"I was so pleased I had a chance to meet you. It had been 30 years since I had been in Manistique and I have no living relations left there except Reuben Larson, an uncle by marriage whom I enjoyed visiting."
"It's true what they say about going back; everything is smaller than what you remember, but I have such nice memories."

news of the time was that the Chicago gangster, John Dillinger, had escaped after a shootout with lawmen in Wisconsin, so Red told the people along the street that Dillinger was coming to Manistique and we were the posse that would get him.

"Anyway, we enjoyed the outing on the beach after the long winter of indoor classes, and those who endured to the end received MHS diplomas. I think you were in one of the classes between Jim (1930) and me (1934) as I recall that you were one of those grown-up "Upperclassmen" who seemed so far ahead of us in the lower classes. Time has flown by and now we are all old timers from that era."
"Once several years ago in a museum I was looking at the furnishings of an old house displayed there. I thought "What is so old about this stuff? It's just like the things we grew up with as a kid."

Then I realized that I, too, can be classified as a sort of antique. That was brought home to me long ago when my own son wanted money to buy another model kit at the hobby shop. My reply was often something like this: "When I was your age I took some kindling wood and carved out the boat or airplane or whatever I wanted...I didn't have to have kits to make models with." One day his reply really stopped me when he said, "Yes, but 'way back there when you were young, you could at least outlast dinosaurs for your fun." He takes his "smarts" after his mother. He still buys and builds models but not the dime store kind. Oops the young folks may say, "What is a dime store? Nothing sells for a dime any more!"

"Meanwhile keep up the good work with the Memories column; I enjoyed your book also."
Sincerely,
another "old timer"
Virgil Arrowood,
Gassville, Ark.

Hiawatha Forest jobs open

Applications for a limited number of temporary seasonal positions at district locations on the Hiawatha National Forest are available to fill interested job-seekers through Jan. 15, 1983, according to the personnel officer at the Forest Supervisor's headquarters in Escanaba.

Two to three temporary positions are expected to be available next summer on the Manistique, Munising, St. Ignace and Rapid River ranger districts. Each will offer work

Elementaries list honor roll students

The following elementary students from Fairview, Germfask, Hiawatha, Lakeside and Lincoln Schools achieved honor roll status for the second marking period of the 1982-83 school year, which ended Nov. 24. They have maintained a "B" or better in all academic subjects including Reading, Science, Math, Social Studies and English to qualify for this recognition.

Mill discussion set

Prospects for two new paper mills in the Upper Peninsula will be discussed at the Annual Meeting of Operation Action U.P. this Friday, Dec. 10, at the Marquette Ramada Inn beginning at 10 a.m.

Reporting on a special study just completed by the Michigan Department of Commerce, Mr. James Donaldson, industrial representative, will show how Michigan, and particularly the U.P., is in a better position at this time than any other state to attract additional pulp and paper mills to the area. Moreover a variety of furniture and other secondary wood manufacturing plants are possible.

Those attending the meeting will also hear two well-qualified speakers on the subject of high technology and its possible adaptation to the Upper Peninsula. The speakers will be Dr. Dale F. Stein, president, and Dr. Raymond F. Decker, vice-president of Research and Development, for Michigan Technological University.

physical exertion or use of chainsaws or other cutting tools.

To be considered, interested persons must complete an application, which is available from district ranger offices or from the Forest Supervisor's office in Escanaba. Completed applications should be sent to the Forest Service's Eastern Region Headquarters in Milwaukee, postmarked no later than Jan. 15.

Review there will establish a list of qualified applicants ranked by score. Staff from the Hiawatha will make final selections from that list. Schuh said the forest must select from those ranked highest on the list. Criteria for rating applicants will recognize veteran status. Experience from woods work, youth employment programs or other natural resource programs should be noted in the application, he said. A college education in a related field is useful but not required for the positions. Rate of pay generally will range from $5.12 to $5.74 per hour. While the openings are being advertised nationwide, the temporary nature of the jobs and the need for local housing may make them less attractive to applicants from outside the immediate area, Schuh said. In addition to the field positions, one temporary clerical opening will be available from May to September, 1983, on the Munising Ranger District. Duties include those of an office receptionist and some light typing; pay ranges from $4.69 to $5.12 per hour, depending on qualifications.

Application for Munising's temporary clerical position must be made with the Office of Personnel Management, Patrick V. McNamara Building, Room 595, 477 Michigan Ave., Detroit, MI 48226.

Additional information about the temporary positions and application process is available from Schuh at the Forest Supervisor's Office in Escanaba or at local ranger district offices.

Would You Like To Get Back Part Of Every Dollar You Spend Shopping?

You can...when you SHOP AT HOME!

Most people know when they usually get better values and service when they shop at our local stores.

But did you know when you shop at home you also get back part of each dollar you spend? Here's how: spending more at home means more money in the form of wages to local merchants and their employees. More wages mean more taxes for local government, mean more and better community services and improvements, mean a stronger and healthier economy all around. Shop at home for better values, better service, a better community and more jobs!

Grandma's Attic was quite the place to shop last week. The Christmas bazaar was a huge success, and we would like to thank everyone who helped.

Thelma Rogers, who runs Grandma's Attic, had the whole store looking like Christmas. She does a fine job running the store and she enjoys meeting and greeting everyone who comes in. Thanks Thelma for a job well done.

Also a special thanks to the volunteer workers who gave Thelma such great help: Dorothy Cook, Mary Rozich, Ruth Gallop, Elizabeth Wilson, Lang Mercer and Emma Wilson.

Thelma could have never made it through the week without all of you. The bake sale held Thursday and Friday was the icing on the cake for the week. We appreciate all the tempting baked goods that were brought in. Our thanks go out to all these excellent bakers: Dorothy Michaels, Hildreth Binder, Rose Erickson, Viola Salter, Marie LaFave, Helen McGlothlin, Lydia Boschor, Marie Archer, Helen Burnett, Mary Rozich, Ann Jorgenson, Ruth Cornell, Stella Spielmacher, Elsie Johnson, Hazel Johnson, Kate Vidrich, Lil Farley, Viola Richmire, Marguerite Tenyson, Lucy Livermore, Pearl Byers, Leona Matney, Clarence Barber, Edith Washburn, Maria Brock, Fronia McKenzie, Blanche Lyns, Helen McGlothlin, Jerry Steper, Thelma Brauer, Stella Oberg, Viola Steele, Marie Kerrigan, Hazel Hughson, Lorraine Ruetz, Olga Anderson, Rose Curley, Kate Klimpf, Liz Dixon, Florence Reque, Helen Anderson, Lil St. John, Inne Stork, Tillie Tenison, Mabel Moreau, Guhild Heikson, Dorothy Pelon, Helen Neal, Gertrude Dean, Ethel Nelson, Beatrice Patz, Bernice Stapleton, Helen Olsen, Myrtle Olick, Betty Erickson and Helen Hase.

Grandma's Attic still has a fine selection of gifts. If you didn't make it to the bazaar take a few minutes and stop in to look around. Thelma always has the coffee pot on and she's always looking for a reason to take a break.

Memorials were given for the Center in the name of Cora DeHurt by Bill and Helen Olsen in the name of Henning Matson by Mildred Matson and in the name of James Matson by Mildred Matson.

Monetary donations to our building fund came from Leah Delora and two persons who wish to remain anonymous. Postage donations to supplement the cost of the monthly newsletter came from Eleanor Peterson and Roger Phillips, of Lansing. A donation to "Grandma's Attic" came from Roger Tyrrell.

The bosses office is starting to look like Christmas since Mabel Patz got into the holiday spirit and gave the Center an artificial Christmas tree. Luella Lambert's fingers have been at it again. She generously donated another six pair of hand-knitted mittens. Even though we know she is busy, she always finds the time to help us out.

Thank each of you for your time and concern.

Birthday Greetings go out to: Phyllis Holobok, Carolyn Stumpf, Norman Underwood, Dec. 10; Virginia Foye, Margaret McNeil, Charles Reid, Dec. 11; Evelyn Baron, Mary Mattin, Wilbert Lambert, Dorothy (Dolly) Jenks, Cora LeJohn, Inne Stork, Tillie Tenison, LaMuth, Emma Harrington, Dec. 15; and James Marks, Dec. 16.

Happy Birthday to each of you!

A dinner party was held at the Fireside Inn honoring Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fountain on their 50th Wedding Anniversary. They were married Oct. 24, 1932 in Manistique. They are the parents of four daughters, Mrs. Jerome (Barbara) Segerstrom, Mrs. Robert (Patricia) Bookmy, Mrs. William (Bernice) Howells, and Mrs. Wilbur (Madelyna) Silworth. They have 22 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Recipients of payments under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program are required to inform Social Security about any changes in their situation that might affect their eligibility for, or the amount of, their monthly checks. Recipients who do not report these changes may receive payments to which they are not entitled and which eventually will have to be repaid.

On the other hand, failure to report a change may cause the recipient to lose out on an increase in payments to which he or she may be entitled. Failure to report a change that results in the receipt of money to which the recipient is not entitled may result in a penalty of up to $100.

"An SSI recipient who starts to work or who becomes self-employed must report that fact to Social Security. Social Security should also be notified of any change in the amount of earnings. These earnings may be received in the form of cash, food, or anything else that is meant as payment for work done for someone else or while self-employed.

COMMISSION ORDER
(Under authority of Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended)

STURGEON SPEARING SEASON—STATEWIDE

The Natural Resources Commission, at its October 8, 1982, meeting, under the authority of sections 1 and 3 of Act No. 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, ordered that for the period beginning January 1, 1983, through March 31, 1983, it shall be unlawful to take or attempt to take sturgeon by means of spears from the inland waters of this state, except during the month of February of each year.

Jenerou to head Demos

Thomas "Cal" Jenerou of Indian Lake was elected chairperson of the Schoolcraft County Democratic Party at a meeting earlier this week. Jenerou will take over from retiring Chairperson Earl LeBrasseur after Jan. 1, 1983, and will serve until Dec. 31, 1984.

Re-elected for two-year terms were Lois MacGregor, vice-chairperson of Gulliver, William E. Cowman as party secretary and Fred Lesica as party secretary.

The County Democratic Convention will be held Feb. 11, 1983 at the courthouse in Manistique, at which time delegates will be chosen for the 11th District and delegates to the state convention to be held in Detroit's Cobo Hall Feb. 27. The county convention and the 11th District convention, which will be held in Manistique's Fireside Inn on Feb. 11, are open to the public.

Office threatened

The Escanaba field office of the Railroad Retirement Board will remain open and operating at its current employment level if Congress passes the fiscal year 1983 Labor, Health and Human Services/Education appropriations bill, according to a statement from the office of Congressman Bob Davis.

Monday has been a leading in urging the House Appropriations Committee to include in the fiscal 1983 appropriations legislation for the Railroad Retirement Board the same language that is included in the supplemental bill stating that Railroad Retirement Board full-time employment should remain at 1,578, the present level. The Committee has added $2.3 million to the budget request to cover the cost of these employees and therefore, maintain the field office system.

This decision now prevents the Office of Management and Budget from instituting its plan to eliminate field service in favor of long-distance telephone service.

"I believe that a long-distance telephone service would severely limit the effectiveness of the Railroad Retirement Board in its effort to help those retirees," Davis said. Funds for these employees come solely from rail employee deductions, and the money should be used for services for them.

"The Escanaba field service office is the only place in Northern Michigan and much of Northern Wisconsin where retirees can receive personal assistance," Davis said.

Tax booklet free

A free publication, designed to explain how tax laws apply to farming, is available by writing the Internal Revenue Service.

IRS Publication 225 "Farmer's Tax Guide," contains 20 chapters covering such topics as farm income, farm business expenses, tax credits, certain farming tax shelters, and soil and water conservation expenditures. Written in easy to understand language, the guide can be a valuable resource at tax time as well as a handy reference all year.

contains a sample return with step-by-step directions on filling out not only Schedule F, "Farm Income and Expenses," but also 11 other forms and schedules dealing with tax situations common to most farmers. The "Farmer's Tax Guide" was prepared by the IRS, with the assistance of the Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Men finish truck school

Two Manistique men were among the recent graduates of the Truck Driver Training Program at Lansing Community College.

Completing the complete four-week course of instruction were Daniel J. Roddy of 448 Range Street and Jeffrey N. Zeller of Rt. 1, Box 1308 in Manistique. Both men passed an extensive road trip in excess of a thousand miles in addition to 40 hours of classroom instruction.

They were awarded a certificate of completion in addition to Department of Transportation certification at ceremonies Nov. 19 at the Fort Custer facility near Battle Creek.

COMMISSION ORDER

(Under authority of Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended)

OPEN SEASONS AND CATCH LIMITS ON PIKE, WALLEYE, SAUGER AND MUSKELLUNGE

The Natural Resources Commission, at its meeting on October 8, 1982, under the authority of Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, ordered the following order become effective on January 1, 1983, and remain valid until March 31, 1988.

It shall be unlawful to take the following named species except within the open seasons and daily limits prescribed (statewide regulations apply unless otherwise restricted):

Statewide open seasons on all waters not otherwise closed to fishing shall be from May 15 through February on walleye, sauger, northern pike, and muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge). The daily catch limit shall be five singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike; one for muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge).

The above regulations apply statewide except that walleye and sauger may be taken at any time from the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, Lake St. Clair, and Lake Erie; and that muskellunge in Lake St. Clair, St. Clair and Detroit rivers may be taken only from the first Saturday in June through December 15 of each year. Also, the daily catch on Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie and the Detroit and St. Clair rivers shall be six singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike when the catch includes at least one walleye or sauger.

MEMBERS PRESENT: Carolyn DeWinter, John Hendricks, John Reque, Lloyd Spencer, Richard Stoll, Nancy Veresan, Billie Doyle

MEMBERS ABSENT: NONE

APPROVAL OF MINUTES

Lloyd Spencer moved, supported by John Reque that the minutes of the October 12, 1982 Regular Meeting be approved. Motion carried with seven yes votes.

Richard Stoll moved, supported by John Reque that the minutes of the October 26, 1982 Special Meeting be approved. Motion carried with seven yes votes.

Richard Stoll moved, supported by John Hendricks that the minutes of the November 2, 1982 Special Meeting be approved. Motion carried with seven yes votes.

Jeanne Brazaus was introduced as the Board of Education representative from the Student Council.

NORTH CENTRAL ACCREDITATION REPORT

John Males, High School Principal, reviewed the School District's accreditation.

YEAR BOOK

Mr. John Mincoff, 1982 Year Book Advisor, presented the Board with $1,023.95 after the final accounting of the project. His efforts to conserve money were commended.

BUS MECHANIC DECISION

Lee Ebbled presented the Board with information from the State and the Auxiliary Contract regarding mechanics.

Richard Stoll moved, supported by John Hendricks that the Board confirm Mr. Bonifas' appointment of Charles Kandell as bus mechanic. Roll call vote: DeWinter yes; Hendricks yes; Reque yes; Spencer yes; Stoll yes; Veresan yes; Doyle abstained. Motion carried with six yes votes - one abstention.

BOOSTER CLUB

Jim Barr requested that the Board reconsider the Booster Club's request to be reimbursed $4,800 for spring sports. At Richard Stoll's suggestion, he agreed to talk to the Booster Club about organizing swim meets and 7th and 8th grade boys basketball and return to the next meeting.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Margaret Cain reviewed the October Financial Report.

A Special Board Meeting was called for 7:00 P.M. on Tuesday, November 23, 1982 to adopt the Resolution to Borrow.

PAUL E. GERO SCHOLARSHIP

Nancy Veresan moved, supported by John Reque that the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education accept the proposed Paul E. Gero Scholarship as presented by Robert B. Gero and that the Board of Education further resolves that a letter of appreciation be sent to Mr. Robert B. Gero on behalf of the many students who will benefit from this scholarship. Motion carried with seven yes votes.

ACT TEST

James Troyer, Guidance Counselor, discussed the ACT Testing program.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

James Troyer reviewed the National Honor Society which will be starting up as soon as he receives the information and forms a Chapter.

ATHLETIC CODE

John Males, High School Principal, reviewed the Athletic Code which will be revised by a committee headed by Diane Stimac.

REPORT CARD SCHEDULE

John Males discussed the report card schedule.

FACT FINDING

Billie Doyle, President, reviewed the Fact Finding Report briefly.

SUMMER TAXES

It was reported that the Manistique City Council had passed a resolution to levy one-half of the 1983 General Fund Tax levy in the City of Manistique in the summer.

SCHOOLCRAFT COUNTY COMMERCIAL FOREST RESOLUTION

Carolyn DeWinter moved, supported by Lloyd Spencer that the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education concurs with the resolution to amend the Commercial Forest Act that was passed by the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners on October 29, 1982. A letter will be sent to the same persons that their resolution was sent to. Motion carried with six yes votes - Hendricks abstained.

FOURTH FRIDAY COUNT

Board Members were informed that the 4th Friday Count has not been officially audited yet, but that the unofficial count is 1409.43.

SECRETARIAL POSITION

Board Members were informed that Kay Lawrence, school employee for eight years, has been assigned to the switchboard-clerical position subject to a 30 day probation period.

RETENTION

The first reading of a proposed Retention Policy was conducted after a report by the Retention Committee and a discussion by the Board.

SECONDARY CURRICULUM STUDY

John Males reported that a secondary curriculum study is in the initial stages. Billie Doyle requested that a Board Member be on that committee when it is formed.

SNOW POLICY

Copies of the Snow Policy were given to the Board Members. It was noted that the Policy remained the same, only the calling procedure changed slightly.

MANISTIQUE MINISTERIAL REQUEST

Some Board Members met with the Ministerial Association last month and agreed to meet with them again in January regarding their proposal at the last Board Meeting.

November 23, 1982

Billie Doyle, President, called the Special Meeting of the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education to order November 23, 1982 in the Board Room of the Junior-Senior High School Building at 7:00 P.M.

MEMBERS PRESENT: Carolyn DeWinter, John Hendricks, John Reque, Lloyd Spencer, Richard Stoll, Nancy Veresan, Billie Doyle

MEMBERS ABSENT: NONE

BOOSTER CLUB

The Board discussed the Booster Club request for swimming and boys junior high basketball. After discussion with Jim Barr and input from John Males and Diane Stimac, it was decided that for this year an intramural program will be implemented. The Board made this decision because it would be very difficult to provide a quality interscholastic program this late in the year.

Lloyd Spencer moved, supported by John Reque that the Booster Club debt of $4,809.91 be cancelled. The Booster Club agreed that should the Manistique Area Schools have a deficit at the end of the 82-83 year they would reimburse the cost of the intramural program. Roll call vote: DeWinter yes; Hendricks no; Reque yes; Spencer yes; Stoll yes; Veresan yes; Doyle yes. Motion carried with six yes votes - one no vote cast by Hendricks.

RETENTION COMMITTEE

The second reading of the Retention Policy was conducted.

PROFESSIONAL NEGOTIATIONS

The Board is presently waiting for ratification from the UPEA and the MEA.

STATE AID LOAN BID

The following bids were received:

First National Bank of Manistique 8.74 percent

State Savings Bank of Manistique 8.2 percent

John Reque moved, supported by Richard Stoll that the bid be awarded to the State Savings Bank for an interest rate of 8.2 percent. The loan will be for $100,000 effective December 1, 1982 thru June 30, 1983. Roll call vote: DeWinter yes; Hendricks yes; Reque yes; Spencer yes; Stoll yes; Veresan yes; Doyle yes. Motion carried with seven yes votes.

AIMS AND GOALS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

The committee has met and will meet again on December 6, 1982 at 4:00 P.M.

SCHOOL NEWSLETTER

The Board was requested to submit articles to the School Newsletter by December 3rd.

SPECIAL MEETING

The Board will meet for a Special Meeting on Tuesday, December 7th at 7:00 to comply with Auxiliary contract language of having a Step 3 Grievance Hearing within 10 days. Mr. Jim Tenyson has requested this hearing. The December 14th meeting will be cancelled.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

Carolyn DeWinter moved, supported by John Reque that the meeting be moved to Executive Session to discuss Professional Negotiations. Motion carried with seven yes votes.

MOVE TO REGULAR SESSION

Carolyn DeWinter moved, supported by John Hendricks that the meeting be moved to Regular Session. Motion carried with seven yes votes.

ADJOURNMENT

Nancy Veresan moved, supported by Lloyd Spencer that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried with seven yes votes.

Time: 8:35 P.M.

At first, 3-year-old Timmy Boszale of Manistique sister Connie, standing behind him. Several hundred were in awe what to make of that funny-looking guy with children visited Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus in the whiskers. But then his eyes lit up just like those of his Manistique High School last Saturday morning.

Bethel 69 assists with ceremony

FUDGE BALLS - Janet Golat

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
¼ teas. salt
1 teas. vanilla
3 cups flour
½ cup cocoa
1 egg white (slightly beaten)
1½ cups chopped walnuts
Cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Add egg, salt, and vanilla. Beat in flour and cocoa. Shape into small balls about the size of a walnut. Dip into egg white. Press into chopped nuts or sugar candy. Bake at 350 degrees for 10-12 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

CHERRY WINKS

2¼ cups flour
1 teas. baking powder
½ teas. soda
½ teas. salt
¾ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 tbl. milk
1 teas. vanilla
1 cup pecans, chopped
1 cup dates, chopped
1/3 cup maraschino cherries, chopped
2½ cup corn flakes
Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, milk, vanilla and beat well. Blend in dry ingredients gradually. Mix well. Add pecans, dates, and cherries. Shape into balls using 1 level tablespoon for each cookie.
Crush corn flakes and roll balls into crumbs. Place on greased baking sheet. Top each with ¼ cherry. Bake at 375 degrees for 10-12 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Even our pets deserve something special for Christmas and here is a homemade dog treat that dogs just love.

MARCIE'S FAVORITE TREATS

2½ cups whole wheat flour
½ cup wheat germ or ½ cup cracked wheat
½ cup powdered dry milk
½ teas. garlic powder
1 tbl. brown sugar or sorghum or molasses
8 tbl. oleo or bacon drippings
1 egg, beaten
1 tbl. beef or chicken broth or bouillon
½ cup or more ice water.
In large bowl combine the first five ingredients. Cut in oleo or bacon drippings until crumbly. Add egg and broth and mix well. You may add grated cheese for a special treat. Add ice water as needed to form a ball. Pat or roll out dough on floured surface to ½ inch thickness. Cut into bone shapes or any cookie shape. Place on cookie sheet lined with foil and oiled lightly. Bake 350 degrees for 30 minutes until hard and brown at edges. Makes 18 biscuits.

PEANUT BUTTER BALLS (no bake)

1 cup peanut butter
1 cup powdered sugar
1 cup chopped nuts
1 tbl. melted butter
6 maraschino cherries, cut fine
Few drops cherry juice to make rolling into balls easier.
Mix all ingredients and roll into small balls, about a tablespoon per ball. Dip balls in melted chocolate:
½ pound sweet chocolate (dipping chocolate)
1 square inch paraffin
Melt together over hot water. Place on waxed paper and let set. Refrigerate. Makes 3 dozen. Tastes like Peanut Butter Cups.

CHOCOLATE MINT STICKS

Mary Ann Thorell

½ cup oleo
2 oz. unsweetened chocolate
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
½ teas. peppermint extract
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup flour
Melt oleo and chocolate. Beat eggs and sugar until frothy. Add chocolate and extract. Add flour and nuts and blend well. Spread into 9-inch square pan, greased. Bake 25-30 minutes. Cool.
Frosting:
3 tbl. oleo
1½ cup powdered sugar
1-2 tbl. milk
½ teas. peppermint extract
3-4 drops green food coloring
Cream sugar and oleo. Add milk and extract. Add food coloring. Frost bars and allow to set.
Glaze:
Melt together 2 oz. semi-sweet chocolate with 2 tbl. oleo. Drizzle over frosting and refrigerate.

HEAVENLY CHOCOLATE DREAMS

Linda Mason

3 Hershey bars with almonds (6 oz. size)
1 large carton frozen whipped topping
Flavoring of your choice (rum, mint)
Vanilla wafers, crushed
Melt chocolate bars over hot water. Cool. Add to thawed whipped topping and fold in flavoring. Drop by spoonful into vanilla wafer crumbs and roll to cover. (Be gentle, as mixture is soft). Set on cookie sheet in refrigerator or freezer to "set". Store in refrigerator. Absolutely melt in your mouth!

SALTED NUT BARS

Marsha Carlson

3 cups flour
1½ cups brown sugar
1 teas. salt
1 cup butter, softened
2 cups mixed nuts or cocktail peanuts
½ cup corn syrup
2 tbl. butter
1 tbl. water
1 pkg. (6 oz.) butterscotch chips
Heat oven to 350 degrees. In medium bowl, combine first four ingredients. Blend well. Press into ungreased 15x10 inch jelly roll pan. Bake 10-12 minutes. Sprinkle nuts over partially baked crust. In a small sauce pan, combine corn syrup, butter, water, and butterscotch chips. Boil two minutes, stirring constantly. Pour cooked mixture over nuts. Bake 10-12 minutes until golden brown. Cool. Cut into bars. Makes 3 to 4 dozen bars.

SNOWBALLS

(also called a Russian Tea Cookie)

2 cups oleo (1 pound)
½ cup powdered sugar
2 tbl. water
1 teas. vanilla
4 cups flour
2 cups ground nuts
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Roll in balls and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake ½ hour - rotate cookie sheets every 10 minutes. When cool, roll in powdered sugar.

MOCK BABY RUTH BARS - Jean Hawn

(from "At Home with Sarah Cookbook")

4 cups oatmeal
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup crunchy peanut butter
½ cup dark Karo Syrup
2/3 cup melted butter
Add ingredients slowly, one at a time. Mix by hand. Pat in jelly roll pan, ungreased. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes.
1 cup chocolate chips
1 cup butterscotch chips
½ cup crunchy peanut butter
1 cup peanuts, broken in pieces but not chopped.
Melt together in double boiler or microwave oven. Spread on top of first mixture while warm. Cool and cut into squares.

SPECIAL BUTTER COOKIES

Doris DeMars (from her mother, Lizzie Hulshof)

½ cup sugar
½ lb. butter (or if you substitute oleo, use Imperial) yolks of two eggs
1 teas. vanilla
2 cups flour
Cream butter and sugar. Add yolks of two eggs, and vanilla. Mix well. Add flour until well blended. Make into small balls and roll in egg whites. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 350 degrees for 12 minutes.

CHOCOLATE PEANUT BUTTER BARS

Rita Salter

1 cup flour
1 cup quick cooking rolled oats
¼ teas. baking soda
¼ teas. salt
½ cup oleo, softened
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
½ cup creamy peanut butter
1 teas. vanilla
1 pkg. chocolate chips
½ cup powdered sugar
¼ cup peanut butter
3-4 tbs. milk
¼ cup chopped peanuts
Mix flour, oats, soda and salt; set aside. In large bowl, cream butter, brown sugar and egg until fluffy. Blend in peanut butter and vanilla. Stir in flour mixture. Spread in a greased 13x9x2 inch pan. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes, until pick inserted in center comes out clean. Sprinkle with chocolate chips. Let stand 5 minutes. Spread melted chocolate over top. Blend powdered sugar, ¼ cup peanut butter, and enough milk to make a thin icing. Drizzle icing over chocolate. Sprinkle with peanuts. Cool in pan. Makes 32 bars.

ROLLED OATMEAL SANDWICH COOKIES

(the late) Muriel Cookson

1 cup sugar
1 cup shortening
1 cup sour or buttermilk
2 cups quick oatmeal
2 cups flour
½ teas. soda
½ teas. salt
Cream together sugar and shortening. Add milk and oatmeal. Mix dry ingredients and add, mixing well. Chill overnight or several hours. Then roll out and cut into circles. Bake 375 degrees for 8-10 minutes. When cooled, put together with raspberry jam or a filling of date, raisin, etc.

SPECIAL K BARS - Mary Bontekoe

Heat 1 cup white Karo Syrup and 1 cup white sugar until it bubbles around edges, stirring all the time. Remove from heat and add 1½ cups peanut butter. Add 6 cups Special K and 1 cup nuts or coconut. Spread in 9x13 pan.
Melt ¾ cup chocolate chips and ¾ cup butterscotch chips. Frost with melted chips.

CHOCOLATE DIPPED FRUIT BARS

Peg McNab

1 cup sugar
4 egg yolks
1 cup flour
1 teas. baking powder
pinch salt
1 lb. dates
3/4 lb. walnuts
½ lb. candied cherries
4 egg whites
Mix sugar and beaten egg yolks. Add fruit which has been cut into large pieces. Add flour, baking powder and salt. Lastly, fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in two loaf pans for 1 hour; cover with wrapping paper for the last 30 minutes at 300 degrees. Wrap loaves in waxed paper and place in bread box with pieces of bread or apple for almost a week. Slice each loaf into 24 bars-8 slices across, then each slice into thirds. Melt sweet chocolate with some baking chocolate and paraffin:
1½ lbs. milk chocolate
3 squares baking chocolate
¼ bar of paraffin (wax)
Melt over hot water and leave over hot water while dipping.

This is a recipe she received from a Jewish family and is used in Jewish holiday. It is absolutely delicious!

GINGERBREAD CUT OUT COOKIES

(Gingerbread Men)-Margaret Cushman

- 1/3 cup soft butter
- 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 2/3 cup molasses
- 2-3/4 cups sifted flour
- 1 teas. soda
- 1 teas. salt
- 2 teas. cinnamon
- 1 teas. ginger

Cream shortening, add sugar and egg. Add molasses. Mix dry ingredients together and add. Chill dough. Roll out 1/4 inch thick. Cut with cookie cutter and decorate. Bake on greased cookie sheet, 375 degrees, 8-10 minutes. This recipe is great for gingerbread houses also.

CHOW MEIN COOKIES-Roberta Worley

- 1 (6 oz.) pkg. chocolate chips

- Melt over hot water:
- 1 (6 oz.) pkg. chocolate chips
- 1 (6 oz.) pkg. butterscotch chips

Stir in:
1 (3 oz.) can chow mein noodles
1 cup Spanish peanuts, or any salted nuts
Drop by teaspoonful onto waxed paper. Let stand until set.

DATE PINWHEEL COOKIES

Beulah Rice

- 1/2 pound dates
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup broken walnuts

Mix together. Boil for 5 minutes until thickens. Cool.
1/2 cup oleo
1/2 cup White sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 egg
2 cups flour
1/2 teas. soda
1/2 teas. salt

Cream shortening; add sugars and egg. Add dry ingredients and mix well. Turn out on floured board; roll 1/4 inch thick. Spread date mixture over dough. Roll like jelly roll. Wrap in waxed paper, refrigerate overnight or several hours. Slice and bake on greased baking sheets, 400 degrees for 12 minutes.

Variation: Add 1/2 cup apricot or cherries to date mixture.

DISAPPEARING MARSHMALLOW BROWNIES

(Pillsbury Bake-Off winner)

- 1 cup (6 oz. pkg.) butterscotch bits
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 2/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 teas. baking powder
- 1/2 teas. salt
- 1 teas. vanilla
- 2 EGGS
- 2 cups miniature marshmallows
- 2 cups chocolate chips
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Melt in a 3 quart heavy saucepan the butterscotch bits and margarine, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; cool to lukewarm. Add right into sauce pan the flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, vanilla and egg. Mix well. Fold into butterscotch batter: marshmallows, chocolate chips, and nuts. Fold just until combined, about 5 strokes. Spread in greased 9x13 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Do not overbake. The center will be jiggly but becomes firm upon cooling. Makes 24 to 32 bars.
