

Big Bay, Emerald alumni teams battle to 6-6 tie

A BIG HOLE opens up for Big Bay No. 6's Kevin Miller during last Friday's annual alumni benefit game against the Manistique Emerald.

Well, they did it again: for the fourth time in a row, the outcome of the annual alumni football game between Emerald and the Big Bay No. 6 Black Bears was in doubt down to the final seconds.

A failed field goal attempt by the Black Bears with seven seconds left in the game required a 6-6 tie in the fourth annual benefit to raise money for the two school's booster clubs. Manistique made a desperate pass attempt with three seconds left that fell incomplete to end the game.

The alumni game raised $959 to be split $450 apiece between the Big Bay and Manistique athletic booster clubs. In the four-year history of the game, nearly $3,000 has been raised to benefit the athletic programs at the two schools.

While the play on the field was sometimes less than elegant-at one point the two alumni teams tossed the ball back and forth for four consecutive interceptions-the game was hard-fought. Seven hundred and fifty fans watched the two teams battle to a stalemate. No overtime periods were played.

The tie leaves the Emerald alumni with the edge in the series, two games to one. Big Bay won the inaugural game in 1979, with Manistique taking the next two.

In this year's tie, Big Bay was quick to draw first blood, running for a touchdown with 8:14 left in the first quarter. Kevin Miller ran in for the score for Big Bay. A two-point conversion attempt was blocked, leaving the score 6-0.

Early in the second quarter, a second Big Bay touchdown, scored after an interception, was nullified by a clipping penalty against the Black Bears. That interception, by Big Bay's Moe Hermes was to be the first of four consecutive miscues by the quarterbacks for both teams.

The Emerald's Jeff Nagy snagged the next toss by 6:11 left in the game, when the Black Bears blocked a field goal attempt. With 56 seconds left, Big Bay sacked the Emerald quarterback and any hopes for a scoring drive for a 15-yard loss and possession of the ball on the Emerald 23 yard line. At third down and four, with seven seconds left, Big Bay attempted a 30-yard field goal that was kicked to the right of the posts to cement the tie.

Volunteers that helped in this year's game included: announcers John Stapleton and John Linderoh; "chain gang" members Kevin Anderson, "Cid" LaFave and Donnie Anderson; scorer Bill Berger; referees Bob McNamara, Bob McNamara, Jr., and Lyle Demers; ticket sellers Esther Levicoff, Seb Rubick, Jr., and Marie Widde; parking attendant Elton Sample and game coordinators Jim McDonough and Charlie Richey.

File unfair labor practice charge Talks upset teachers

Twenty-eight teachers for the Manistique Area Schools District attended Tuesday's School Board meeting to protest the lack of progress in negotiations for a new teachers' contract.

Citing a lack of "give and take" on the part of the school board, Jim Hubbard, as spokesman for the teachers present, asked the board "when are you willing to sit down and negotiate in good faith?"

Also, the teachers said their union had filed an "unfair labor practice" charge against the school district. Hubbard said the charge accused the school district of "surface bargaining" where there is "no real bargaining, no give and take."

said the district had not been notified by the Michigan Department of Labor of that charge. He said that its settlement would be a separate process from the contract negotiations.

The district has been negotiating with the teachers since early this year. The current contract will expire Aug. 31. School is scheduled to begin Aug. 31. After talks between the district and the teachers' union broke down in May, a state-appointed mediator met with both sides in an attempt to reconcile the differences.

Those efforts apparently failed and the mediator declared an impasse between the two sides. Early this month the teachers' union applied to the Department of Labor for a "fact finder" to be appointed as the next step in the negotiations process. Bonifas said the fact finder, once appointed by the Department of Labor, would study briefs submitted by both sides and reach non-binding "conclusions" about the disagreements.

Although the conclusions of the fact finder would not bind either the teachers or the school district, Bonifas said, both sides could be forced to return to negotiation on the issues submitted to the fact finder.

However, there is nothing to stop both sides from continuing negotiations while the fact finding process goes on, according to the teachers' union.

Mike Flynn, one of the teachers, said that such negotiations should be taking place and criticized the board for not giving the teachers a reasonable contract offer. "The offer made so far is an insult to me as a teacher in this system," he said.

Bill Bowman resigns from School Board

In a surprise move, Bill Bowman resigned as a member of the Manistique Area Schools Board at its meeting Tuesday night.

He cited "personal reasons" in a letter to the board. Bowman's resignation went into effect following Tuesday's meeting. When asked to elaborate on what the reasons for his resignation were, Bowman would not comment.

Superintendent Richard Bonifas said that the board would choose a replacement for Bowman at a special meeting scheduled for Aug. 24. He invited any interested resident of the school district to send a letter of application to the administrative offices at the high school before that meeting.

Whoever is chosen by the board will serve until the next annual school election in June. Bowman's term would have expired in June of 1984. He was elected as a write-in candidate in the 1980 election and received the most votes of anyone running in that election.

In his letter of resignation, Bowman said his two-year tenure on the School Board had been "enjoyable." Board President Billie Doyle said "I must say I wasn't very happy to see" the letter of resignation.

Do we need more apartments?

Questioning the ability of Manistique to support a proposed 40-unit apartment complex, the City Council Monday tabled action on a rezoning request until the developer can appear before the council to answer questions.

The request to rezone the property in the southwest corner of the city to allow construction of apartment buildings was approved by the council at its last meeting. However, that rezoning was incorrect due to a typing error in the Planning Board's recommendation to the council and had to be resubmitted.

Council Member Mike Dougovito, absent from the first approval, said the city may face a glut of housing if all the housing projects currently proposed are built. He noted that, in addition to the 40-unit proposal by Leo Stein Architects of Southfield, 48 units of senior citizen housing are slated to be built in Manistique and 38 units of Indian housing are planned east of the city.

"I can't really see how 40 units will ever survive," Dougovito said. Another concern raised by Dougovito was Stein's intention to apply for federal financing of the project. Such financing, he said, could lead to the project becoming another low-income housing complex, a prospect he disliked.

"I'd like at least a guarantee by Mr. Stein that this will not be turned into another low income housing project," he said. Although City Assessor Dave Huddleston noted that the council would have another chance to review the project when Stein actually applied for the federal loans, the council voted to table the matter until Stein's representative could attend a meeting.

According to plans submitted by Stein to the council, the 40 units would be housed in five two-story buildings arranged in a semi-circle. The buildings would contain one-bedroom apartments of 875 square feet each and two-bedroom apartments with 720 square feet.

In other matters, the council:

- Gave several residents of Garden Avenue little hope that blight tickets could be issued against the owner of several houses the residents said were poorly maintained and eyesores. As long as the buildings are

E.T.'S IN MANISTIQUE? Nope, it's just members of the local National Guard Camp who gave masks on while undergoing some riot training during this past weekend. The company held a two-day exer-

Heavy voter turnout approves Medicare millage, nixes city sewers

In a fairly heavy turnout, voters in Schoolcraft County approved a 2-mill property tax increase to fund operation of the county Medical Care Facility and went along with most of the winners in races for the state legislature and U.S. Congress.

One exception was county voters heavily favoring local resident Dick Foxworth in the race for the 107th District Democratic nomination for state representative. He lost to Pat Gagliardi of Drummond Island.

City voters decisively rejected a request for a $2.2 million bond issue to help finance reconstruction of the city's sewer system.

Forty percent of the registered voters in the city and county went to the polls Tuesday. Of the 6,293 voters registered in the county, 2,493 cast ballots, while 1,184 of the city's 2,976 voters went to the polls.

In races contested by incumbents for party nominations to the County Board, voters picked Democrats Eric Hohlbeck in the high school there in the high school there. It's more on a personal level than on a school level.

"They care more about you as a friend, I feel," Clark said.

While the high school in Brazil may have been more friendly, Clark said that academically, it was a lot tougher than Manistique's. Students choose what profession they intend to study at college early in high school and work towards passing a "rehab" test for admittance to college from the time they enter high school to the time they graduate.

Nancy Veresan over Pat Moberg in District 3 and Louis "Sparky" Lauzon over Ron Ford in District 2.

In the primary for nomination to the county Road Commission, Bill Males beat Matthew Walters for the Republican nod and Dan Klarich won over Dale Higley for the Democrats.

Incumbent primary winners for the County Board nominations were Lindsley Frenette (D) and John Tobin (R) in District 1 and Republicans Jim Barr (District 2), George Danko (District 3), Darryl Carroll (District 4) and Howard Stafford (District 5).

The approval of the millage request of up to 2 mills for operation of the county Medical Care Facility assures future operation of the facility, at least for the three-year duration of the request. The county decided to ask for the tax increase after it began receiving bills for the facility's operation from the state.

The county has said that it will not need to levy the entire 2 mills approved by voters Tuesday.

It was a different story on the city's request for a $2.2 million bond and ask questions later because you know that later you are going to be held responsible for your actions. That's one of the things we learned from Kent State."

It is not clear if the city will again place the issue before voters in the November general election. The deadline for submitting proposals for that ballot is Aug. 31.

Here's a rundown of which county candidates got how many votes:

District 1: Frenette 164; Tobin 125; District 2: Ford 78; Lauzon 124; Barr 116; District 3: Veresan 205; Moberg 71; Carlson 147; Danko 134; District 4: Hohlbeck 207; Pawley 117; Stafford 67; Road Commission: Klarich 205.

Is Chamber dead?

Is the Manistique Area Chamber of Commerce defunct?

It is, according to President Chris Curran, but at least one member of the chamber's Board of Directors hoped to urge its continued operation at a meeting that was to be held Wednesday.

Curran said Tuesday that five members of the Board of Directors who attended a meeting last week voted unanimously to close down the chamber. He said that Wednesday's meeting was scheduled so representatives of the Manistique Merchants Association and the Manistique Area Tourist Council could meet with chamber members to discuss how its functions could best be split up between the two organizations.

However, Carolyn Wegener, owner of the Old Deerfield Resort and also a member of the Board of Directors, said she hoped to rekindle interest in the chamber at Wednesday's meeting. She did not attend last week's meeting and said she was "just shocked to hear there was discussion" on closing the chamber. She noted that a majority of the 12-member Board of Directors was not present to vote on whether to close the chamber.

Nonetheless, Curran confirmed a formal vote had been taken last week and that the chamber "definitely is" closed.

Curran said the final meeting of the chamber would be held Sept. 14 "to shut everything down." Wednesday's meeting was to have settled how the chamber's on-going projects would be taken over by the Merchants Association and Tourist Council. Those concerns include application for a grant to groom area snowmobile trails and use of the chamber's treasury's $1,300.

Wegener said she sees a continued role for the chamber, despite claims at last week's meeting of lack of support and duplication of services.

"I feel our community needs a reputable image and I feel a good, well-organized chamber of commerce can do it, can make it, if we work at it. I just feel our community needs an organization to work under and, I feel the chamber provides a respected name for that."

Exchange student returns from Brazil

Kathy Clark of Manistique has recently returned from Brazil after a year as a Rotary Youth Exchange student in Belem, a city of 1 million in northern Brazil.

Clark, the daughter of John and Peggy Clark of Manistique, came back two weeks ago after leaving in July of last year.

She said that she felt the disorientation of "culture shock" on both her arrival in Brazil and upon her return to the United States. The big culprit both times was language—at first because she did not speak Brazilian Portuguese and later because she did.

"For the first months" after her arrival in Belem, Clark said "Portuguese words didn't mean anything. I used to hang around with the other American, (exchange students in Belem) which wasn't good because we talked English."

It took about four months, Clark said, to pick up Portuguese. "After four months you can start thinking in Portuguese and it becomes automatic after six months." So automatic, in fact, that she had difficulties shifting mental gears back to English when she came back to the states last month. "I started out speaking Portuguese. I have to think to speak English now."

Clark was a guest of the Rotary Club in Belem and was hosted by five different families while there. "The Rotary was very hospitable—they treated me like I was family, both the club members and the host families," Clark said.

That hospitality stretched to most of the Brazilians Clark met, especially her classmates in the private school she attended while there. "The people there are very warm and friendly. The kids are great. The first day they want to meet you and talk to you. There is a lot more friendship in the high school there than in the high school here. It's more on a personal level than on a school level."

"They care more about you as a friend, I feel," Clark said.

While the high school in Brazil may have been more friendly, Clark said that academically, it was a lot tougher than Manistique's. Students choose what profession they intend to study at college early in high school and work towards passing a "rehab" test for admittance to college from the time they enter high school to the time they graduate.

"It's very hard," Clark said. "It's really difficult—they study every night and when they pass there's a big celebration."

The public schools are not so strict, Clark said, and illustrate the wide economic differences between classes in Brazil. "Private schools are for people who can afford them. Either you have the people who would be our middle class and then you have the people who are really living in poverty. They put me in well-off families, but they wouldn't be considered rich here," she said.

Ironically, the poorer people seem to be bigger admirers of things American than their richer countrymen, something Clark attributes to the distorted image of America portrayed on television and movies.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Patrick Roddy

McManus, Roddy say vows

Loris Mary McManus, daughter of Mrs. Lyle McManus and the late Lyle McManus, Route 1, Manistique, and Timothy Patrick Roddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roddy, 223 East Elk, Manistique, were married at St. Francis de Sales Church during a 2 p.m. ceremony on June 19.

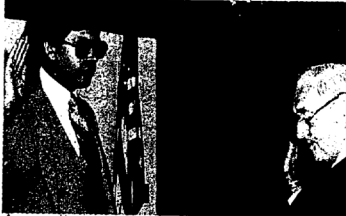

The Rev. Frank Lenz of Nahma performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her mother and brother Leland McManus of Deerfield, Ill. Lylette Johnson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, with friend of the bride Ellen Eakley Plante attending as bridesmaid.

Friend of the groom Danny Selling was best man and Ed Roddy, brother of the groom, was groomsmen. Dave Roddy, brother of the groom and Jim Johnson, brother-in-law of the bride, seated the guests.

The bride chose an ivory gown in Victorian-style cotton voile. She carried a bridal bouquet of lavender and white fabric roses with lily of the valley and babies breath.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Eagle's Club. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Manistique High School. The bride is a domestic engineer and the groom is employed by Manistique Dimension. The couple will make their home at 519 1/2 Manistique Ave., Manistique.

NEW PROSECUTING ATTORNEY Peter Hollenbeck was sworn into office Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge William Hood. Hollenbeck, a native of Manistique and a graduate of Manistique High School, was appointed by Hood to serve out the remainder of Bruce Plackawald's term until the end of 1983—after Plackawald resigned to go into private practice. Hollenbeck quit his job as Bay County public defender to return to the area.

Many of us are looking for a light dessert that is low in calories and yet will satisfy that sweet tooth. This Orange Sherbet will fill the bill and it is a refreshing treat on a warm evening with the added bonus of being good for you. The Sherbet will fit into almost any diet plan or calls for fresh fruit.

ORANGE SHERBET

1 can (10 oz.) frozen concentrated orange juice
1 1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup lemon juice

1 1/2 ltr liquid sweetener
1/2 cup dry milk
Food coloring to make it orange

Beat all ingredients together, just enough to blend, in a one quart mixing bowl. Freeze in the bowl about 2 hours, until half frozen. Beat at low speed until softened, and then at high speed until creamy (but not liquid) about 3 minutes. Then freeze in either in the bowl if you scoop it out to serve, or in a 8" square pan if you want to serve in squares. Makes 4 cups.

A variation of this dessert is Orange-Pineapple Sherbet. To make this it is almost like doubling the Orange Sherbet Recipe. Use 1 can (10 oz.) frozen concentrated orange juice and 1 can (16 oz.) frozen concentrated pineapple juice. Double everything else except the lemon juice which can even be left out of this recipe. Use a 2 qt. bowl for 8 cups.

Sarah says....Eggs are one of the best buys today, buy medium eggs only when they are more than 7 cents per dozen cheaper than large eggs, otherwise large eggs are a better buy.

Vandals They're everyone's problem

This is what you might refer to as an Apple Pie Editorial. It covers an opinion that is almost sure to be held by everyone who reads it. That is the problem, too—those at which these words of wisdom are directed are almost sure not to read them. We're talking about vandals and we sometimes wonder whether the minds that dream up such clever amusements as breaking windows and bashing in walls are capable of reading, much less reason.

So why do we waste our breath or ink, as it were, bemoaning the problem? We're not exactly sure, but somehow it makes us feel better to let off steam. Besides, the vandals seem either to be more numerous or more energetic this season.

Not only do you have the traditional amusements of local vandals—breaking windows at the old water tower, smearing defecation on the walls of the Lakeshore Park rest rooms—this year seems to have seen a rise in more elaborate destruction. Destruction that, to us, looks to be the work of older, if equally stunted, personalities.

Take, for instance, the case of the Little League field dugout. That dugout was destroyed by some inspired soul who drove his car through the cinder block dugout wall. After repairs were made to the dugout, not to the car! The performance was repeated.

Then there was the crew who wrecked the pavilion at Manistique Township beach, apparently with the aid of sledge hammers and plenty of energy.

What can we do? It almost seems as if the public is at the mercy of those that get their jollies from gratuitous destruction. Still, we would like to see more of these morons caught, hauled into court and punished. Since most of the vandalism occurs in public places and a lot of noise, we don't see why so many vandals get away with their actions.

Maybe not enough people report suspected vandalism in progress. Maybe local police have better things to do with their time than pursue midnight wreckers.

We don't know, but we doubt any of the vandals themselves will be persuaded to stop by a newspaper editorial. It's up to the rest of us to do something about them.

Mayor Hackney deplors the local vandalism, too

Dear Editor: To the People of Manistique and surrounding area: The subject of my letter is vandalism. Yes, vandalism. It costs taxpayers a lot of dollars every year.

In just the last two years it has cost the city over $2,000 just to replace windows in the old water tower alone. (We put in plexiglass and they threw bigger stones.)

We have two public rest rooms boarded up because we were unable to keep replacing fixtures and walls. This destruction not only takes our dollars, but we don't have the facility to use when we need it.

Last week there was a fire at a letter by one of your township officials, Mr. William Tuffnell, relating to the same subject. Manistique Township is taking the only action that any of us can take—calling the appropriate law enforcement body.

It is your city, township and county—lets do something about it. "Take a bite out of crime."

Pelon completes training

Marine Cpl. John C. Pelon, son of Ezerret R. and Deanna Pelon of Manistique, has returned from a deployment to Pisgah National Forest, N.C.

He is a member of 2nd Reconnaissance Battalion, Camp Lejeune, N.C. During the deployment his unit conducted mountain warfare training, including patrolling, land navigation, individual survival, escape and evasion techniques.

D. Hoholik is on Okinawa

Marine Pfc. Donald T. Hoholik, son of Thomas D. and Julie A. Hoholik of Manistique, has reported for duty with the 3rd Supply Battalion on Okinawa.

While it is true that an annual "novelty" such as a sidewalk sale will bring out a hoard of pedestrians (especially on a sunny day), it is an inescapable fact that America is the land of the automobile and more often than not people will choose to drive-in or drive-thru or they will drive on. The reliance on the auto is particularly appropriate in an area where towns are distant and winters are cold-like Manistique. To exclude the auto is to exclude the quick and practical convenience it provides.

Most towns in need of redevelopment have found that those features which historically made the downtown successful are those which need to be re-enhanced. A pedestrian mall may well attract a great number of window shoppers, but will it be conducive to the purchase of a lawnmower, a bag of salt, or even a prescription?

Many towns nationwide are now looking at redevelopment, and in Manistique I'm sure that a "sprucing up" of downtown would improve business and make the town even that much nicer. Sales may be down now, but that is true nationwide if not throughout the free world. To change the very nature of our downtown—and at no small expense in response to what may be a temporary economic situation could be disastrous indeed.

And, after all, it's the only hometown you've got.

Local voters back gubernatorial primary winners

Voters went solidly with the winners in other state races, backing Dick Headlee and James Blanchard as candidates for governor. Headlee noted our favorite James Brickley 334-308 in the county. Blanchard easily won locally over the other six democratic candidates with 564 votes.

In the U.S. Senate primary, Phil Ruppe won both state-wide and in Schoolcraft County. Ruppe beat the other three GOP hopefuls with 722 votes and their combined total of 78 votes and will face incumbent Don Riegler in the November election.

John Anderson won the Republican nomination for the 37th state Senate seat over three other candidates. Locally, Anderson also won 391 to Steve Andrews' 131, the next closest candidate. Incumbent Democrat Mitch Irwin will face Anderson in November.

Exchange student returns

(continued from front page) For instance, she said, "The poor people think American girls are like they are on the movies and TV they see. They have a lot of misconceptions."

The upper class, on the other hand, tends to be more skeptical, even anti-American. "Every once in a while I had a 'parent' or 'brother' that was sort of anti-American. I just avoided any problem—you have to learn to just let things go. In a foreign country you have to learn that you can't change everybody's mind. I just have to be my own ambassador."

Clark, 17, hopes to get her high school diploma this summer from Manistique High School and attend Northern Michigan University in the fall. Eventually she would like to return to Brazil to visit old friends and travel around the country.

Clark was the first exchange student sponsored by the local Rotary Club. The second, Elizabeth Trebilcock, will be leaving Aug. 18. Trebilcock is also destined for Brazil, but for Rio Claro, a smaller city (population 300,000) in the southern, cooler part of the country.

Clark had this advice for Trebilcock: "I would tell her to stay with her families more than I did and to work on Portuguese more." Also, "Don't drink the water."

State Police

Two walk-aways from the Cousino Minimum Security Prison Camp in Shingleton were apprehended Saturday morning after a passing motorist gave them a ride on M-94.

According to Michigan State Police, Jeffrey Felix, 21, and Larry Turner, 21, escaped from the prison camp on Thursday evening. They spent the night in the woods. Friday the pair were seen near the Jack Pine Bar on M-94 where they tried to use the telephone.

State police searched the area and used a tracking dog but were unable to find the two men.

Saturday morning police were notified that the two had been seen on M-94, hitchhiking just north of Stoney Cut. Manistique Public Safety officers and state police headed to the area.

A motorist was seen by a private citizen picking up the men. The car, in which the two were riding, was stopped, and the men were arrested. Richard St. John, 24, was arrested for speeding and fleeing and eluding a police officer, following a high speed chase on Monday at 11:55 p.m. Police said St. John was observed traveling at a high rate of speed on US-2. When police attempted to stop him, he tried to outdistance them. He turned onto Little Harbor Rd. and then onto a two track where he was apprehended. He was lodged in the Schoolcraft County Jail.

A Manistique woman was arrested Tuesday for driving a vehicle under the influence of liquor.

Police said Ruby Bockorny, 58, hit a mailbox owned by Doris Wood, while driving her vehicle on the State Rd. She was cited and lodged in the Schoolcraft County Jail.

A passenger in the Bockorny vehicle, Donald Houghton, 29, ran from the vehicle. He was arrested for being a disorderly person, creating a disturbance, and carrying a concealed weapon.

According to police, Judith M. Sears of Germfask lost control of her vehicle on M-77 and went off of the roadway, hitting some trees. The accident happened on Monday at 3 a.m. She was cited for violation of the basic speed law and failure to report a property damage accident.

Joseph W. Wild of Cooks told police the truck he was driving started to accelerate as he rounded a curve on CR42. He jumped from the truck, which hit a sandy embankment, jackedknifed and was stopped by hitting several trees. The accident happened on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

THIS IS THE POST OFFICE crew as of about the time of the First World War. The office was then in the south hall of the State Savings Bank building, which was later to become the Maytag store, then the Savings Assurance Agency, and finally part of the bank itself. The

Mail service in the good old days held more romance

Almost all the faces in that top photo are familiar to me, and that building still seems like it should be the Post Office. My stepfather, Art Drevdahl, was postmaster for a few years until the election of a Democratic president at which time the services of a Republican Postmaster became dispensable. That's life, I frequently became acquainted with the back door of this building at times like the Christmas rush, when they needed a kid to help with the parcel post. (As you can see from the above, I had the right connections.)

The dedication of the new office took place on Aug. 30, 1940. Postmasters up to that time were as follows: (In order of their appointment to office) William M. Colwell, March 1903; Otto A. Bowen, March 1894; Wm. H. Hill, September 1894; A.S. Putnam, February 1894; E.N. Orr, February 1898; Chas. B. Merseure, April 1902; Wm. F. Crane, February 1906; Fred Carroll, March 1914; Fred Griffin, March 1923; A. D. Drevdahl, January 1932; and Frank Gierke, February 1937. That doesn't bring us up to the present, but then those were the Good Old Days.

Memories Jack Orr

When Mr. Colwell was named postmaster, we were still known as Epsport (1873) and our name wasn't changed to Manistique until 1879. Rural Free Delivery was instituted in 1904, with only one carrier and his salary was $600 per year and this included the hire of the horse. This first rural carrier was Hans Klagstad and his route covered 26 miles, serving 625 people in 139 homes. That averages out to about 4 and a half people per household, so considering the size of some of the old-time families this must have included quite a large number of single-member households (shacklers and stump-jumpers). The route west east to just past Marblehead and then north to the River Road and back to town. A second route, established in 1906, served the Hiawatha area and Emmerl Trudeau was the carrier.

Lumbering operations were the main source of the need for postal services, and in the early days, as long as the timber held out, included post offices in towns like Steuben, Hiawatha, Little Harbor, South Manistique, and names like Jenny and Uno which maybe you've got for sure I never heard of. They were probably all situated on a rail line of some sort and near lumbering camps and shipping facilities.

The present post office building was built in 1940 at a cost of $80,000.

Serving in the new building at the time of dedication were Ed LaFave, assistant postmaster; Carries Geo. Hamill, Homer LaFolle, and Max Osterhout; brother Bob assistant carrier; Harry Ahlstrom in the office; also Joe Lesica and Rudy Larson and Julius Settergren as assistant clerks. Clint Welch and Lawrence Strasser were RFD carriers, Julius Rose and Bill Jordan Star Rite carriers; Benny Mulhaupt special delivery messenger and Sig Carlson substitute city carrier.

House to house deliveries didn't son; Harry Ahlstrom from the local post office; brother Bob in the truck; Phil Beauvais, city manager; Frank Gierke, postmaster; Ed LaFave, with unidentified child.

The trials and tribulations of the mail service were a common household topic of conversation around our house, and in fact carried a certain romantic flavor with it, possibly because you felt in close contact with the outside world on a daily basis. A lot of the mail leaving here and bounding the train for shipment, was sorted on the train; there was a mail car in each train, and the employees therein worked for the postal service and did their work of sorting and bagging the mail while en route. This could be exciting work, sort of like trying to shave while bouncing over the Soo Line roadway.

A lot of the old romance has gone from the mail service, and there's no question that the volume of the mail has increased drastically even while the population of the town has steadily decreased.

Supported locally by CBC fund drive

Bay Cliff camp ends 1982 season

Ten-year-old Mary dressed herself for the first time this morning. Jack took four steps without faltering and Susie camped overnight in the apple orchard. Jim rode a bike. Jeni in the grass, and Paul brought apple to his therapist. Jack, along with Mary, Jack and other children, are handicapped campers at the Bay Cliff Health Camp in Big Bay.

Ten of those campers are from Schoolcraft County. Local support of the camp comes largely in the form of donations made during the county's annual CBC fundraising drive. Held the week before Easter, last year the drive netted over $21,000, $7,000 of which was given to Bay Cliff.

For seven weeks, handicapped children, primarily from the Upper Peninsula, occupy rest cabins located above the shores of Lake Superior.

"There are many day camps for handicapped children across the nation, but Bay Cliff is unusual in that it operates on a live-in basis," said camp director John "Bud" Vargo.

Most camps for handicapped children specialize in one area of handicap. At Bay Cliff, however, children with a wide variety of handicaps work daily in therapy sessions. In the speech and hearing cabins, and the physical and occupational therapy workshops, children work to become more independent with therapy designed to meet their special needs, whether their physical handicaps involve muscular control, coordination, or speech and hearing loss.

Wheelchair campers, children in braces and children with other handicaps participate in activities, such as camping, swimming, excursions, relay races, ice cream socials and endless games of baseball.

An indoor heated swimming pool, newly renovated and enlarged last year, affords children the opportunity to stretch and strengthen arms and legs as well as a chance to merely giggle and splash. A special pool ramp accommodates wheelchairs.

On Aug. 8, when the 1982 camp session closed, Bay Cliff will have served the handicapped children of the Upper Peninsula for 49 years. It is supported primarily by contributions. In addition to some support from community agencies, each county in the Upper Peninsula, through the help of local citizens, raises funds to help support children attending from their area.

State funding which formerly helped support the camp has been cut, and Vargo said this special education funding will probably not be restored.

"Private contributions are more important than ever," he emphasized.

Anyone desiring additional information on the camp should contact the Bay Cliff office, 230 Harlow Block, Marquette, MI 49855. Telephone number 228-5770.

County Fair Queen contestants sought

Time is running out for girls in Schoolcraft County to sign up as candidates for the Schoolcraft County Fair Queen contest to be held Aug. 27.

According to Donna Gilroy, chairman of the annual pageant, girls between the ages of 16 and 22 created in participating in the contest must register on or before Sunday, Aug. 15. The successor to reigning Fair Queen Lisa Demers will be chosen on the opening day of the fair, Aug. 27, at 7 p.m. in the ballroom.

Keith Polkinghorne will be the year's master of ceremonies. The girl chosen as queen will receive $500 cash prize, a trophy and a bouquet of flowers. Runner up to the queen will receive $25 and a trophy. "Miss Congeniality" will be chosen; the queen candidates themselves, will also receive a trophy.

Interested girls can register for the contest at the Pioneer-Tribune building at 212 Walnut Street. The Tribune will take a picture of candidates if needed.

Gilroy said that each contestant must be prepared to speak briefly about herself, about interests, hobbies and plans as part of the contest. Although there will not be swim suits or talent competition, Gilroy said that contestants will be judged in evening gowns and in costumes based on this year's theme at the County Fair, "Frontier Days."

All contestants will be required to attend a rehearsal and orientation and will be treated to dinner with the judges and master of ceremonies.

Selection of the queen will be based on three factors: poise and appearance, personality and command of language.

600 help Thompson celebrate centennial

OLDEST THOMPSON NATIVES to attend Saturday's centennial celebration held at the town hall were Clara Selman Archambeau and Oscar Gunderesen. Archambeau, 93, currently lives in L'Anse and was born in Thompson on March 28, 1889. She is along with Gunderesen, 88, who has spent his entire life in Thompson. They were named senior queen and king of the centennial celebration.

A large turnout of approximately 500 people a day of sunshine, food, fun and festive conversation plus an entertaining program spelled success for Thompson Township's centennial celebration held Aug. 7 at the town hall.

Boys came from Arizona, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Florida, South Carolina, Wisconsin and both peninsulas of Michigan to meet old friends and relive old memories.

Carla Selman Archambeau, of L'Anse, who is 93 years old, was chosen senior queen. Oscar Gunderesen, 88, was chosen senior king. Gunderesen has spent his entire life in Thompson.

Scott Charlier, 5 years old and Lisa Wood, 2 1/2, reigned as junior king and queen.

Winner of the women's centennial dress contest was Irene Grimm. Her husband, Allen Grimm, took first in the men's centennial dress contest. Janet Zentner took best in the children's division.

Chris Glendon won the bearded man cup for best beard and William Belleville took the mustache cup for best mustache.

The log-sawing contest attracted quite a few men who wanted to try their hands at a nearly lost art. Percy Tuffnell and Jack Gerro came in first with A.J. Smith and Ernest Hohok second.

The first door prize went to Elmer Flodin. Next to Dwayne Parrish and Bill Pastula.

Winners of the children's games were:

Sack Race, Girls: Jennifer Sell-

JUNIOR KING AND QUEEN of the Thompson centennial celebration held Saturday were Scott Charlier and Lisa Wood. About 600 people turned out to help Thompson celebrate 100 years of incorporation.

DNR reports vandalism, thefts at area campgrounds

Three public access sites were vandalized during the month of July. The outhouse at the Dollarsville Dam Access Site was damaged and the toilet stool assembly stolen. Out-houses at DeTour Access Site were tipped over and damaged, as was one of the outhouses at the Curtis Access Site. Total cost of repairs as a result of these incidents was about $300.00.

DNR REPORT

by Carol Schmidt
Newberry DNR Office

Our wildflower expert reports these wildflowers in season: watercress, spotted ragwort, meadow sweet, black eyed Susan, Queen Anne's lace, golden rod, water lilies, golden alexander, jewelweed, common and swamp milkweed, and several varieties of thistle.

Fall hunting licenses are being shipped and should be available shortly at the license dealers. 1982-83 Hunting and Trapping Guides are also being sent out.

Fisheries Division surveyed Millecoquin Lake, Mackinac County June 6th through 11th. A total of 2,100 fish (1627.5 pounds) were collected, including 14 species: northern pike, walleye, rock bass, bluegills, pumpkinseed sunfish, yellow perch, large and smallmouth bass, rainbow trout (steelhead), carp, bowfin (dog fish), black bullhead, white suckers and longnose suckers (red hess). Most of the sampling (95 percent) was done with live trapping nets from which all fish are released alive.

Northern pike, rock bass, pumpkinseed, bluegill and perch were the most abundant game species making up 23 percent of the catch by numbers and 23 percent by weight; while rough fish, carp, bowfin, bullheads and suckers made up 66 percent by number and 74 percent by weight. Rough fish dominate the population. The bright spot was bluegills which averaged 7.5 inches, rock bass at 9.1 inches, pumpkinseed at 6.4 inches and perch at 7.4 inches. On the other side of the coin the northern pike only averaged 18.5 inches and none exceeded 32 inches in length. A growth analysis, from scales collected, show they are growing very slowly. On an average they are 4.7 inches shorter, per age group, than pike from other lakes in the state.

We are recommending four measures to bring the population back into balance: (1) the lamprey barrier proposed for the Millecoquin River also block upstream movements of suckers (2) the rough fish be manually removed after the barrier is in place (3) the 20-inch pike size limit be temporarily removed, and the population thinned with nets fished under the ice and (4) the introduction of walleye fry to help occupy the void created through rough fish removal. We will keep you up-to-date on the progress of this management plan.

Vandals and petty thieves have hit the area campgrounds. Money was stolen from Natalie, Bass Lake, Reed & Green and Two Hearted collection tubes and an attempt was made at Sixteen Creek High Bridge and Perch Lake.

A motorcycle was stolen from Perch Lake Campground along with coolers and other campground equipment. The Old Headquarters building was entered and a case of toilet paper was taken. Two picnic tables were thrown into the Tahquamenon River at Sixteen Creek.

These incidents are being investigated by the State Police.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES AND ON PROPOSED 1982-83 BUDGET

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on August 24, 1982, at 7:00 o'clock P.M. at Junior Senior High School Board Room the Board of Education of Manistique Area Schools will hold a joint public hearing to consider the district's proposed 1982-83 budget and to consider the levying in 1982 of an additional proposed millage rate of .0594 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 27.0 mills be levied in 1982 from within its present authorized millage rate. The additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1982 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by twenty two hundredths of one percent (0.22 percent).

The levy of .0594 mills will raise $4,483 in taxes.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss both the school district's proposed 1982-83 budget and the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing the Board of Education may approve the levy of all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Study says many elderly live in poverty

"Many of the state's senior citizens are living in or near poverty," Kenneth E. Oettle, director of the Office of Services to the Aged, said a comparison of income and poverty levels released by the U.S. Census Bureau reveals that many senior citizens don't qualify for programs for low-income persons because their incomes are slightly above the poverty guidelines. The Census Bureau's Current Population Survey shows about 35.8 percent of persons 65 years and older, not living alone, had annual incomes of less than $5,000; of persons living alone, 43.6 percent had incomes of less than $5,000.

National statistics from the Social Security Administration suggest that older persons may not be more disadvantaged than non-aged persons. But, Oettle said, "The statistics misled people to think that the elderly are better off than they actually are." The average Social Security benefit in 1980 was $4,096 for a person 65 or older. The poverty level in 1980 was $3,941 for such an individual. For example, in 1978, the national mean income for a poor older family was $3,290, compared to $3,620 for a younger family—a difference of $340. For poor persons living alone the incomes were $2,360 for an aged individual and $1,710 for a younger individual. "While the elderly person living alone fared somewhat better in this latter example, he said, "the income levels are clearly insufficient to keep pace with inflation and other rising costs."

In order to evaluate the adequacy of the incomes, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor has estimated budgets for a retired couple. The minimum annual budget is set at $6,644, a figure $1,600 higher than the income level reported for about 40 percent of Michigan's older population. "Clearly, for almost one-half of Michigan's population over 65, annual incomes are not sufficient to cover the basic costs of food, clothing and shelter," Oettle said.

The poverty rate among Michigan's elderly age 65-plus increased by 4.5 percent from an estimated poverty rate of 9 percent in 1975 to 13.5 percent in 1980. This is compared to poverty rates for all age groups of 12.5 percent in 1975 and 11.1 percent in 1980, a 1.4 percent decrease. Due to the economic environment in Michigan, Oettle believes it can be anticipated that poverty rates have increased since the 1980 census was conducted. "If the poverty level for the older population continued to grow at the
