COUNTY FARMERS BOOST PRODUCTION

Report Shows Yield Increased in 1944 Over 1939 On Same Number Of Acres

Although Schoercraft county farmers worked about the same number of acres in 1944 as they did in 1939, the U. S. 1945 agricultural census report recently received by Joseph Ehrman, county agricultural agent, indicates that they achieved greater production of several food items.

Although fewer cows were milked, milk production increased by 83,775 gallons over the five-year period. More whole milk and less cream and butter were sold in 1944. The number of chickens on farms increased only slightly but more than 30,000 dozen more eggs were laid. More broilers were raised, but turkey production was negligible.

Rye, spring wheat and mixed grains showed gains, with the latter crop 11 times larger than in 1939. More clover and timothy hay were grown. The potato crop was nearly doubled, with 170,682 bushels produced on an acreage that increased only 12 per cent.

Small fruits were reported on several farms which had reported none in 1939. Vegetables grown for home use more than tripled in value.

Intangible Tax Change Asked

A resolution asking liberalization of state intangible tax provisions as they apply to townships was passed by the board of supervisors here last week. Under the term of the present law, intangible tax money returned to townships and cities must be used for capital improvements, or else turned over to the county road commission, inasmuch as returns to the various townships are too small to use for capital commitments, the board in its resolution requests that townships be permitted to use their own discretion in spending this income.

"American agriculture is sick and the sickness pervades the whole of our economy. Its condition is growing worse, not better. It is an agriculture of declining production per acre and increasing production costs per acre. Our record production during the war years was the most expensive production of food and farm commodities in the history of the world, because most of it was squeezed from already worn-out or non-agricultural land at low production per acre. Even at high prices the production of many commodities had to be subsidized by taxpayers money—a form of economic deceit and self-deception. When the line of diminishing production per acre crosses that of increasing production costs, we shall have a "kept agricultural with subsidies plus high prices plus shortages which in the end can only arrive at the living standards and diet of the Chinese."

High School Seniors Plan Annual, First Since 1922

(From The M. H. S. Critic)

For the first time since 1922 the senior class of Manistique High School is planning to publish a yearbook which will record the events and happenings of the school year. Action was taken at a recent class meeting and the work has already begun.

The yearbook will contain histories and discussions of the four classes, extra-curricular activities and the various clubs of MHS besides pictures of the faculty, underclassmen and organizations. The board of directors also declared a dividend of 20 cent per share on the Common Stock of the company, payable March 8, 1946 to stockholders of record as of the close of business on February 19, 1946.

Babbidels and Charles Malloch who will begin to take orders for the yearbook soon. The price of the annual will probably range from $1.50 to $2.00. When orders are taken a small down payment must be made. Advertising will be done on a large scale with Ethel Erickson in charge. In the past the fine cooperation of the town's business will be appreciated.

In breaking the former traditions of the past years the seniors hope to set up a precedent for future classes to follow. While the yearbook will not be as elaborate in structure as some it will be as complete and thorough as possible. Mr. Olson and the entire senior class feel that this is one of the most worthwhile projects yet to be undertaken since it will be of much interest to all student and faculty members of MHS both now and in all the years to come.

TIPS FOR FARMERS

By JOSEPH L. HEIRMAN

Quality Milk
During the war period the demand has been for large quantities of milk. Consequently, we had to sacrifice quality for quantity. But this is 1946, the war's over, and it's time to pay strict attention to milk quality.

Some of the points to be included in your quality program are:
First, select methods and equipment that can best be used in producing quality milk. Second, keep cows clean and healthy. . . . disease free cows are essential to public health. Clipping and currying will prove helpful in this respect. Third, start out with clean equipment. . . . and then keep it clean. . . . and finally, cool milk promptly after milking and hold it at forty degrees Fahrenheit.

"Additional suggestions may be obtained from the college bulletin called "Producing Quality Milk." This is extension bulletin 425 which can be obtained by writing to the Bulletin room, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, or by asking for a copy at the county agent's office.

INTEREST IN ORGANIZED SPORTS GROWING

Since the organization of the city recreation commission and the return of many young men from the armed forces there has been a marked increase in interest in local sports, including basketball, skating, skiing and boxing.

Under the leadership of the public recreation board a city basketball league has been organized and is now functioning successfully. Interest in skating has reached a point where a skating festival has been scheduled for February 24, with skaters from neighboring counties invited to participate.

With the public taking more official interest in skiing, it is hoped that ski slide property can be acquired by the city, and a lot more adult help given to the youngsters who have been trying to keep sitting alive on a soap-strung during the past few winters.

The success of Manistique boxers in the Escanaba Golden Gloves tournament has been largely instrumental in reviving interest in organized amateur boxing here. A committee already has been unofficially organized to promote this great sport, and the city recreation board has agreed to participate in the venture. A decade ago there was a lot of amateur boxing here, and it is now hoped that it can be revived on a larger scale.

Sports and youth go together. Bowling and golf are primarily recreation for those who are past their twenties, but skiing, skating, basketball and boxing are for the young and strong. If Manistique can provide the standards of the mine workers, but in the end he completed his job. Green is usually conservative and reasonable.

IN UNIONS THERE IS STRENGTH

Strange as it may seem there is general satisfaction over the second marriage of the American Federation of Labor and the United Mine Workers. This puts John L. Lewis back in the councils of the AFL, and that furnishes reason to hope that Green and Lewis will sooner or later be accepted by union labor men throughout the country as a safe partnership.

Beaver And Otter Regulations Give More Protection

A shortened beaver-otter trapping season in lower Michigan counties, reduced legal take of pelts, and tightened regulations to curb post-season trapping will provide increased protection for the animals. The conservation commission, approving a 10-day trapping season next spring, five days less than in 1945, recognized the inroads made in the state's beaver population by the record take of 15,283 pelts last year. Trappers may take six pelts only, of which one may be otter, or two less than the maximum of eight pelts, including two otter, which was the legal limit last year. Trappers must present pelts at conservation offices for inspection and sealing not later than three days following the close of the season, a shortened period which is expected to check illegal post-season trapping. Pelts may be sealed while the season is in progress. Trapping season will be March 27 to April 5 inclusive in 11 southern peninsula counties; will be

April to 10 inclusive in 14 counties or portions of counties north of the Straits.

Legal in Schoolcraft
Trapping will be legal in Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Alpena, Montmorency, Alcona, Oscoda, Crawford, Iosco, Roscommon, Missaukee, and Gladwin counties below the Straits; in Gogebic, Houghton, Keweenaw, Baraga, Iron, Dickinson, Delta, Schoolcraft, Lapeer, Chippewa, and Alcona in the east side of Ontonagon and in the north portion of Menominee county in the northern peninsula. Certain special areas in many of the counties are closed to trapping also, as are refuges, wildlife sanctuaries, and state parks.

The commission stored a middle course in approving the tightened regulations, acting on recommendations of conservation department game men who have been gathering information and sounding out opinion since last August. Trappers and sportsmen's organizations are opposing views in the past than in 1945, recognizing the inroads made in the state's economy, in recent months have disagreed among themselves concerning regulatory measures.

Marquette county will be closed to trapping next spring; it was closed last year. Alger county, which was the legal limit last year, will be closed to trapping this year, as will Cheboygan county below the Straits. There will be no trapping for beaver or otter below the Muskegon-Bay City line.

Aids To Veterans Through Farm Security Loans

By Samuel Bosanic, chairman of the County FSA Committee. (Since I have been chairman of the county FSA committee, I have had numerous requests for information about the activities of the Farm Security Administration, of inasmuch as the services of the FSA have been available in Schoolcraft County for almost ten years, it is surprising the number of people who are not familiar with the function of the agency. March has already been announced and now, having had several years experience, much more can be accomplished in the future. Notwithstanding all the publicity that has been given by the press about benefits available for veterans and others, some of us are still many veterans interested in agriculture who do not seem to know where to go or what is available for them. The editor of this paper has made space available so that I may clarify, in the minds of practical farmers—a sort of directory of directors—in practically every agricultural county in the United States.

These FSA committees are responsible for the successful administration of the program in their respective counties. Besides myself, the other two farmers on the FSA committee in Schoolcraft county are Neil M. McCaschem, of Germfaak, and William N. Strasser of Cooks. Our remuneration is insignificant—we're interested in helping people help themselves. Farm Security is an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture and like every other part of the department, is eager to help in whatever way possible. Through its nation-wide chain of 2,000 county officers staffed with trained agricultural supervisors, FSA makes loans to farmers—whether veterans or not—and provides technical guidance in farm and home operations. These are the specific services assigned by Congress to FSA:

1. Loans to Finance Farm Operations (Chattel). Farm Security can make loans to finance farm operations. They can cover virtually everything. Such as seed, fertilizer, livestock, tools, equipment and in short, anything needed for production purposes. These loans carry five per cent interest, but can be as large as $2500 and are repaid in from one to five years, depending upon the life of

More Headaches for the Farmer

Once more the farmer is being asked to break all food production records. To plow more acres, feed more livestock and harvest more crops than ever before. He is being asked to do this so that America may continue to feed and clothe the needy throughout the world, as well as our own folks at home.

To carry out this job the farmer must have tools of production. Most of those he owns have taken a terrific beating. They can't be tied together much longer with rusty fence wire.

In the teeth of this situation, the farmer ran into a strike in the steel industry—a strike which hit at the heart of food production.

When the steel plants shut down, manufacturers of farm machinery and equipment, farm trucks and tractors cannot get steel for their products

This year the farmer won't receive as many of the replacements he desperately needs. He'll fight ahead with his old, broken machinery trying to crack another food production record, but the cards are stacked against him.

All this means more headaches for the farmer—loss of vital food production, and a bad dent in his pocketbook.

Facts too Frequently Omitted

The steel strike was called by the United Steelworkers of America—CIO, which insists on a wage increase totaling $166,000,000. The U. S. Steel Corporation has offered a wage rise which if applied throughout the industry would amount to $135,000,000.

Steel workers are already among the highest paid wage-earners in America. Before the strike their average earnings were approximately $1.16 an hour, $9.26 a day and $46.32 a week—on a forty-hour week. The U. S. Steel worker would have given them about $1.31 an hour, $10.46 a day and $52.32 a week. But they refused it and accused the steel industry of conspiring to ruin the union with an offered wage increase of $25 a month, the highest increase in the industry's history.

The strike is a direct violation of the contract between the union and the steel companies. The union wanted a long-term contract and got it. The union agreed not to strike during the life of the contract. Yet, the union struck on January 21.

Fighting for a Way of Life

Farmers have a big stake in continuous steel production. They have an opportunity to say what they think about unchecked labor monopolies which bring to a stop the nation's recovery efforts, through excessive wage demands which could only add to inflation and cause soaring prices.

Not until enough of them protest unfair, dictatorial actions and urge proper safeguards against arrogant, heedless union leadership and one-sided labor laws will the country get back to sane, profitable production where everyone works together toward a better standard of living.
