MOTORISTS WARNED ABOUT LABOR DAY

State and city police, anticipating a curfew of holiday traffic and accidents over the Labor Day week end, issued a plea to motorists to take it easy on highways and city streets.

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT STARTS AT COURT HOUSE GROUND MONDAY

Because evenings are becoming shorter, the City League softball tournament originally scheduled for the end of the second half playing schedule, Sept. 12, has been moved up to Monday, Labor Day, it was announced today by Thor Røque, recreational director.

One amendment to the state constitution would earmark one cent of the sales tax for schools and local governments.

One-half of this earmarked revenue would be divided among cities, townships and villages according to their population. The other one-half would be turned over to public schools which now receive $60,000,000 in state aid and would be divided according to the school's annual census of children 5 to 19.

This constitutional diversion of sales tax revenue, according to present conditions, would approximate from $27,500,000 to $45,000,000 a year. The figure used most often is $40,000,000.

State tax officials are said to be of the opinion that loss of $40,000,000 in state revenue would be disastrous and that additional taxes would be forced. They talk of an additional cent to the three-tenths tax; revamp of the state property tax, such as the four mill property levy which prevailed prior to 1933; or a new form of taxation.

It is a cliché that none of the three proposals will be popular with the taxpayers who are too often inclined to demand more and more state services but balk a bit at the cost.

Two of them would amend the state constitution, while the third would authorize the spending of $20,000,000 in bonus payments to Michigan war veterans.

All three ballots, moreover, would affect the Michigan legislature—perhaps more than be anticipated. As we see it, a strong likelihood exists that the state legislature will be forced in 1947 to levy additional taxes, if the amendment to demand more and more state services but balk a bit at the cost.

There's a "catch" in the sales tax amendment. It is little understood.

Public schools would get 16 1/2 per cent of the tax revenue in addition to their 43 1/2 percent share, as received during the 1945-46 fiscal year. Or in other words, public schools would get nearly 60 percent of the sales tax dollar.

This right would be frozen into the state constitution. The state legislature wouldn't have a thing to say about it.

What about the state's obligations for welfare, highways, colleges, prisons and other public service needs?

That's where the net tax enters the picture. State experts insist there is no choice.

The Michigan Real Estate association, which serves 1,600 affiliated brokers, is hostile to the idea of a revival of the state property tax, but is favoring the sales tax diversion for local governments.

The latter would take some of the pressure off the local taxpayer, officials feel. A number of towns have held special elections to remove the 16-mill tax limitation or to impose extra taxes on property owners for purpose of schools.

For example, Monroe will vote September 23 on whether to increase its 15-mill limitation by five mills for five years.

The Michigan Education association recently withdrew, temporarily at least, its opposition to the sales tax amendment. Opposing the amendment are the Michigan State Farm Bureau and the Michigan State Grange, representing rural interests.

Another amendment, Number One on the November ballot, would permit public expenditures on public airports. The attorney general's office has held that the constitution does not permit public disbursement for an internal improvement of this type.

The amendment would remove this barrier. It would open the way to matching of local funds by the federal government.

It is not heard of any organized opposition to the proposal.

Famous "Little Miss Michigan Apple" in a new pose will herald the state's current apple crop, according to Minard Farley, Jr., secretary-manager of the Michigan State Apple Commission.

The Michigan Apple Girl, whose appealing smile has proved a sales maker for Michigan Apples since 1943, will be featured in new 42-inch 8-color floor displays and 24-inch center displays for Michigan supermarkets, fruit stands and larger grocery stores, and in many smaller sales outlets.

Wall and window posters in two styles will feature the Michigan Apple Girl also.

Practice In Being Citizen Important Says Michigan Man

Practice in being a citizen is more important than memorizing the rules of good citizenship, believes Thoral T. Herrick, of the University of Michigan School of Education, who has recently completed a statewide study of citizenship education.

"Most Michigan high schools regard a class or two in civics or in citizenship as fulfilling their obligations to teach their students how to be good citizens," Herrick explains. "The difficulty is that learning to recite the Bill of Rights in class does not make a student a good citizen any more than learning to quote a definition of communism makes him a communist."

The survey which Herrick conducted was financed by a grant from the Daughters of the American Revolution, which has made a second grant to the School of Education this year to cover costs of publishing results of the study.

"The obligation of the schools is to provide situations which students may play the role of citizens," Herrick continues. "The elements of democratic citizenship are an understanding of your privileges and obligations as a citizen, a participation in community government and a willingness to try to improve on existing conditions."

A few Michigan high schools are leading the way in providing opportunities for student participation in school government. Such school governments include student councils, which have representation from students, faculty and school board. Students may likewise be called upon by the community for cooperation in recreation projects, traffic control and similar undertakings.

sal. In fact, there is strong sentiment in favor of it.

The other financial proposal is the veterans' bonus of $270,000,000, as submitted by the state legislature. A number of towns in putting this proposal before the voters on November 5, the legislature side-stepped the question entirely by how the bonus is to be financed.

In State Senator Don VanderWerp of Fremont, chairman of the senate finance committee, believes that the public will be misled into the belief that a bonus of this size can be financed out of a "vast surplus" existing from sales tax receipts. Here is how VanderWerp explains it:

"As a matter of fact there is no sales tax surplus and we do not anticipate that there will be one. While the sales tax receipts have reached an all-time high, so have the state's expenses. As is true with individuals, the state is paying more for everything it buys. The cost of personnel service (wages) was also soared to new highs and with between 16,000 and 17,000 people on the state payroll this is no small element in the increased expenses."

"Another important element to be considered is the fact that all the state institutions have a backlog of equipment replacements and unfilled personnel posts that will total approximately $3,500,000. Because of the war conditions the state was unable to meet the demands for replacements and personnel requirements during the past four years as neither materials, equipment nor personnel were available. This backlog of needs must be met as soon as possible and the requests will be laid before the budget department and the legislature. They must be granted if the state institutions are to function properly."

It is VanderWerp's conclusion that Michigan voters in casting a vote for the bonus proposal, may be voting a tax on themselves—"a tax on yourself you did not expect."

The same conclusion might be made, as we see it, for the freezing of 60 per cent of the sales tax for the public schools, plus 16 1/2 per cent for local governments.

POLIO

It is the nature of infantile paralysis—the fact that it concentrates on children—that makes this disease particularly dreaded. The risk of a severe attack of the disease lessens after a child reaches the age of ten, and the chances of a child contracting it in the severe form under that age is only three in a thousand even during an epidemic. There is small comfort in that fact, however, for there is one chance in a thousand that a child under ten will be crippled for life. In 1944 a severe polio epidemic permanently handicapped five thousand children in this country.

Medical scientists are still mystified over many aspects of the disease. Some believe that the reason it is particularly deadly to children is that a majority of people must have had mild cases and thus gained a practical immunity without ever being aware of it.

Dr. Howard A. Howe, of the poliomyelitis research center, John Hopkins university, says that it is virtually certain that the disease is transmitted by "human contact." It is still unknown whether that contact is always direct or whether it may sometimes be indirect. Flies and other insects have been suspected as possible carrying agents, but no insect has been definitely incriminated.

From what scientists know, and from what they suspect, some reasonable safeguards against the disease have been promulgated. Parents are cautioned to prevent their youngsters from becoming excessively fatigued, to keep them away from crowds, and wherever possible, to postpone surgical operations scheduled for their children during an epidemic. The guilt of insect carriers is so strongly suspected that constant insect-control campaigns are considered practical.

HOMESTEADS FOR VETERANS

The Interior department at Washington announces opening to homestead entry of 7,627 acres of public land in the Klamath, California, irrigation projects. The applications may be sent to the Bureau of Reclamation at Klamath Falls, Oregon, or to the regional director of the Bureau at Sacramento, California, or direct to the department at Washington.

ton, D. C. The land will be open to honorably discharged veterans with 90 days service or more in the armed forces. There will be other similar openings of projects through the west in Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, and Wyoming. "This is only the beginning" of the government settlement program for opening one-third of a million acres of public land to veterans during the next five years.

BAD MATHEMATICS

President Truman is father of the thought and pioneer in the current proposal that the national budget will be balanced the present fiscal year; nevertheless he admits that the expenditures of the government will be $1,900,000,000 over the incoming revenues.

The public is being informed that all federal works will be deferred, wherever possible, and there are rumors (don't consider them seriously), that the "cost of running the government" will be lowered, with hundreds of thousands of public employees—dropped from the federal payrolls. Bad mathematics and national election troubles are like Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's lady "enters under the skin." Save up your money for the tax collectors—they'll take most of it, as usual.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

A special meeting of the stockholders of The Lakewick Cemetery Association, a Michigan corporation, will be held at the City Hall, Manistique, Michigan, on the 20th day of September, 1946, at 8:00 p. m. for the purpose of electing a new Board of Directors, ordering the transfer of real estate and other assets of the Association to the City of Manistique, dissolving the Association, and transacting such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Budget Balance in Doubt

A balanced Federal budget for the current fiscal year, which began July 1, is the nation's biggest financial question. Weighing government estimates against business trends and congressional appropriations, fiscal experts say a balanced budget for the 1946-47 bookkeeping year may or may not be achieved, depending on whether treasury receipts are greater than now expected. Budget estimates pointing to a balance in the current year, after more than a decade of record-breaking deficits, have been upset by appropriations greater than anticipated early in 1946. Meanwhile, receipts also have held up better than expected and further gains in revenues may result from business improvement.

Michigan Praised And Berated Geographically 100 Years Ago

Upper Peninsula Once Object Of Scorn By Those In Southern Part Of State

Michigan was both praised and berated geographically 100 and more years ago by persons who had personal interests at heart or who made incorrect estimates and reports of the state's possibilities and characteristics.

One person described the Detroit region as "the earthly paradise of North America" while others criticized Michigan as "not worth defending and merely a den for Indians and traitors" and reported that the state consisted of swamps, lakes and "poor, barren, sandy lands."

According to P. Clever Bald, War Historian of the University of Michigan, these reports are myths or inaccuracies in Michigan history which at certain times were based as fact by believing and unsuspecting persons.

Anton La Motte Cadillac in 1701 described what now is the world's automotive capital as a "paradise" because he wanted to induce persons to take land in the region as his feudal fiefdom, says Bald, who considers Cadillac the original Detroit booster.

Settlers Avoided Territory

But more than a century later, Bald indicates, a federal official issued a statement which was a libel against Michigan and caused settlers to avoid the territory for many years.

The official was Surveyor-General Edward Tiffin who issued the report following an act of Congress appropriating two million acres of land in Michigan to be distributed to veterans of the war of 1812. Tiffin declared that the amount appropriated "will not contain anything like one hundredth part of that quality, or is it worth the value of surveying it."

The official said his surveys found that Michigan consisted of swamps, lakes and "poor, barren, sandy land."

The Upper Peninsula was the object of scorn at times by those in the Southern part of Michigan. Bald states it was being pointed out that during a boundary dispute between Michigan and Ohio, a resolution was adopted at Detroit characterizing the Upper Peninsula as "the sterile region on the shores of Lake Superior, destined by soil and climate to remain forever a wilderness."

HIS EYES SHUT TIGHT and his lower lip comes out as a small Chinese boy feels the prick of the inoculation needle. Dread cholera was rife in nearby Canton, and the British, having feared the arrival of four infected persons in their island colony off the Chinese mainland, were taking prompt and necessary precautions. To fight the disease, the British medical authorities set up seven immunization centers for the free inoculation of all citizens, all water, child source of infection was boiled, and health officers toured eating places and food markets, giving clean health certificates only after employees had been inoculated and the premises inspected.

EMERALD FOOTBALL SQUAD IS NARROWED

Coach Thompson Sifts Players Preparatory To Naming First String

On Sept. 6, but otherwise on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 7. The reserves will play Gladstone, Newberry and Munising teams and possibly the See seconds, Thompson said.

Coach Jerry Thompson's Manistique high school football varsity eleven began to take shape this week as the former Badger buckfield star made a further cut in his squad and tested several players for first string positions.

Lettermen who have made a superior showing in practices so far and who are pretty well assured of varsity berths are Rydquist, and Duquette and Dewey, guards; Doherty, quarterback; Schuster, left half; Shaw, fullback; and Jackson center. Strong candidates for the first team who have been hampered by minor injuries are Roddy, Schurmer, Rosmer, LaMarrie and Minor. Reporting Monday for practice will be another 1945 letterman—Bob Anderson.

Only one casualty requiring a doctor's attention has been registered so far. Paul Vesina, a sophomore, sustained a sprain and chip fracture of his right wrist during contact work last week and has been unable to take part in scrimmages since.

Freshmen who have been practicing with a tentative varsity lineup this week are Jack Minor, Don Lancelot and George Devine.

The varsity squad now numbers 28, and the reserve squad approximately 40 players. Coach Thompson's assistants, Donald Dissinger and Theodore Coromons, arrived this week and the latter will take over reserve practices immediately.

Up to this week the gridirers were holding their daily workouts on the Lake Michigan beach at the eastern city limits, but use of the stadium has now been secured for two practices a week. Several scrimmages have been held, and the gridirers are being given tackling and blocking practice, and school in running of plays against opposition.

The opening game of the season will be played here the week end of Sept. 6 against Ishpeming. If the field is lighted by that time the game will be played at night.

Give Them the Green Light to Safety in Our Streets . . .

School Opens September 3

Many a small body's been broken . . . a mother's heart torn with grief because a little child darted into the path of an on-rushing car. With schools opening on September 3, each motorist will be burdened with the responsibility of preserving the life and well-being of our school children. Yes, these children know the rules of safety—but often, in the excitement of a game of tag—in response to a playmate's call, they'll dash unthinkingly, into the path of your car. Each time you slide behind the wheel, the life or death of a child rests upon the alertness of your mind—the instant performance of your car. The responsibility is great but you can shoulder it. Drive carefully . . . observe common sense safety rules.
