TIPS FOR FARMERS

By JOSEPH L. HEHRMAN
County Agricultural Agent

Several farmers no doubt are wondering what to do regarding their potato crop after the frost of last week. After looking over several fields it was found that most of them had anywhere from 50 per cent of the plant still green to some fields where no frost injury was found. All of the farmers whose potatoes are not completely frozen down should continue their spraying program in order to keep late blight under control. A touch of late blight has been found in practically every field that was visited. In most cases this blight was active and will spread rapidly under favorable weather conditions. It is not necessary to add DDT for the remaining sprays but a thorough job of spraying with Bordeaux should be followed so that at least 100 gallons of spray materials are applied per acre. It would also be well to step up the pressure somewhat in order to assure complete coverage.

If the spraying program is not carried out until late in the season, it would be advisable for farmers who have their field practically frozen down to give the field a good spraying approximately ten days before digging in order to kill any blight on the few remaining green leaves. If the crop is being sprayed just before digging it is not necessary to add the lime to the Bordeaux mixture as the burning of the leaves will not injure the plants which will be dug shortly after the spraying. It might also be well for farmers to step up the amount of copper sulphate per hundred gallons

Taking part in the program will be J. R. Lowell, chaplain of the Manistique post of the American Legion, and ex-sergeant-major will act as ushers.

A special invitation to all ex-servicemen, American Legion and Auxiliary members to attend the service is extended. Rev. J. D. B. Adams, pastor, announces.

Game Birds To Eat Well This Winter

A bumper crop of wild fruit in northern Schoolcraft county is going to furnish more food than game birds can eat this winter, the conservation department's Cusino wildlife experiment station reports.

The raspberry crop was good, pin cherry production was high, and the blueberry crop was good near lakes and swamps though it shriveled on the high dry plains. Now ripening are good crops of choke cherries and wild black cherries, wild raisins, blackberries, dewberries and high bush cranberries. Berry production has been most plentiful on unburned three-to four year old hardwood slash.

RINGING IN THE WINNERS

The most daring and most profitable of racing rackets is the ring—a good horse running disguised as a bad one. Dan Parker, noted sports writer, writing in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (September 15) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, tells of one of the turf's most notorious racing coups. THE THREE SCOURGES OF MAN

★ Devastating epidemics have ranked with war and famine as population levelers. Of these three scourges of man, pestilence was most dreaded. During the Black Plague epidemic of 1348, it was estimated that in some places over two-thirds of the population was wiped out.

The discovery of bacteria as the cause of infectious disease is still within the memory of the living. Pasteur developed the first vaccine for rabies in 1885. Since that time many immunizing procedures have become routine. As a consequence, deaths from infectious diseases have been drastically reduced.

Everyone should be protected against smallpox and diphtheria as an absolute minimum. Do not wait for an epidemic to break out. Then it is often too late.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS
If the proposed sales tax amendment had been in effect during the past fiscal year, the State of Michigan would have incurred an operating deficit of $35,000,000.

The deficit would have occurred during boom-time inflation. It would have resulted only if the state had continued to maintain duly authorized public services as determined by the state legislature. Actually, it is likely that drastic economies would have been instituted by a badly-worried governor and state administrative officials who shun red ink as they do higher taxes.

It is Striffler's responsibility to participate in the state budget and to keep them in balance with respect to anticipated revenues.

His recommendations are submitted to the governor and to finance committees of the house and senate in the state legislature.

As he sees it, the legislature would be forced to do one of two things: One, curtail severely the state's present public services for health, welfare, colleges, and so on.

After going into a huddle with other administrative officials, Morrison is of the opinion that the State would be compelled in a year, when sales tax revenues had declined, to pay a larger amount to the public schools than the schools would normally get.

While State Treasurer D. Hale Brake could not be reached by this writer for comment, it is understood that he is also cool to the tax diversion plan and is likely to be vocal about it prior to November 5.

Two nominees for governor have not expressed themselves one way or the other—at least they had not done when this column was written.

State Senator Don VanderWerf, chairman of the senate finance committee, and Representative John Espie, chairman of the house ways and means committee, are known to be firmly opposed to the tax amendment.

From the above evidence—the budget director, the auditor gen-

General Witsell is a native of Charleston, S. C., a graduate of The Citadel in Charleston and was commissioned in the Regular Army as a second lieutenant of Infantry in 1912.

At the right time the governor is going to issue a blast against the amendment in no uncertain language. In fact, he will probably announce it roundly.

Throughout his four years of state service, Governor Kelly has been intensely devoted to the progress of the State of Michigan as the over-all governing authority with definite responsibilities for definite public services.

The Michigan Education Association may be courted on also to present convincing arguments as to why the new amendment would avert a "collapse" of the public schools, a prospect that appears to be again on the horizon.

other factors in the postwar picture. The sales tax amendment would be a bonanza to many rural schools. Some schools would receive more funds than they actually need for present-day services.

Public schools may receive approximately $100,000,000 a year from the new amendment. They would get approximately $100,000,000 a year from the present office in May, September based on last year's tax collections. This is a substantial amount.

Hoover Blames Parents' Wrongs

Prime responsibility for teaching children to obey the laws of civilization lies with the parents, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, pointed out in giving his observations to the 12th annual observance of Religious Education Week, Sept. 23-24, 6, in churches and communities of rural and areas of the continent, under the auspices of the International Council of Religious Education.

"Juvenile offenders result when adults have fallen down on their responsibilities as educators," Mr. Hoover declared. "Of 100,000 youth have been lured into crime because adults have failed to provide proper outlets and upbringing. Too many cases of young offenders reflect laxity in early discipline, indifference on the part of parents, and neglect by the community."

Pointing out the sharp rise in crime since the end of the war, Mr. Hoover reported that during 1945 a total of 1,565,541 major crimes were committed, an increase of 12.4 per cent over 1944. Forty-nine per cent of the burglars, 61 per cent of the car thieves, 70 per cent of the rapists, 25 per cent of the robbers, and more than 33 per cent of the thieves were youngsters under voting age," he stated.

WHAT MAKES THE BLACK MARKET?

The Saturday Evening Post recently ran an extraordinary graphic article entitled "Confessions of a Black-Market Butcher." The dodges used to circumvent the law are described in detail. In one instance, a local undertaking establishment and the undertaker's hearse were used to collect and handle illegal beef. The profits were enormous. To quote the anonymous author's own words, "I've cleared more than in thirty-five years... I've been socking it away where the income-tax boys won't find it."

Legitimate meat dealers, he observes, such as the chain stores, honest independent merchants, and the old established packing houses sold meat at ceiling prices—when they could get meat. But their supply was nothing in the light of the demand. The black market was siphoning off the bulk of it. And in this connection the writer makes this extremely important observation: "You got a black market because the government didn't enforce price ceiling, and buy-ists who knew nothing about the business made dumb rules that encouraged breeders, packers, farmers and dealers like me to cheat."

That's worth thinking about, now that OPA ceilings on meat prices have been restored. The purpose of this article isn't to discuss the extremely intricate problem of what meat should and should not cost. It should be clear to everyone, however, that artificially low prices will result only in the emergence of the black market on its old-time scale. You can't police every store, every farmer, every village slaughterhouse. During the period when OPA was in legitimate effect, meat of all kinds appeared in abundance in legitimate outlets. Prices went up—at least in part because of the elimination of government subsidies—but buyer resistance was gradually controlling the rise. So was competition, with stores honestly competing against each other once more for consumer business.

The logical cure for the black market is adequate production, real and open competition among retailers, and the normal processes of supply and demand, backed by federal economy and debt reduction.

PLENTY OF RED TAPE

In report number 10, seventy-eighth congress, of a committee headed by then Senator Truman, this observation was made: "It is the job of government to devise rules of the road, but not to tell the driver where he must travel."

That principle is as sound now as on the day some years ago when it was written. The whole system of democratic government depends upon government being an umpire, not a player in the game. The government devises laws and regulations to prevent dishonesty, misrepresentation, combinations in restraint of trade, and similar practices. Then, within those laws and regulations, the players play the game of business as best they can.

The incredible economic and social progress made by our people since the Revolution is the result of that philosophy. It is the mainstay of open competition. It is the stimulus which drives men to take chances, to develop new products, to go ahead. And, most important, it is the basic guarantee of individual freedom.

It is apparent to anyone that government has moved far away from that principle. Government has made itself player as well as umpire. And enterprise, American enterprise, finds itself chained and frustrated.

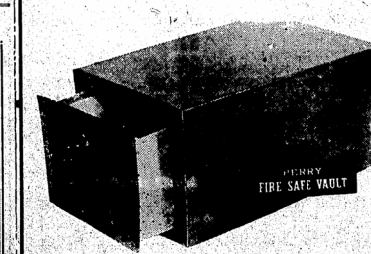

The agonizing delays in reconversion to peacetime production are largely the consequence of too much government. Any man who tries to start a business, build a home, or buy

Report On 1945 Deer Season Interesting To Local Hunters

Of particular interest in Schoolcraft county, one of the most popular deer hunting areas in the Upper Peninsula, is the conservation department's recent report covering the 1945 season.

L. H. Bartlett, of the conservation department's game division, has compiled information on last year's season from report cards and other details furnished by hunters. Here is what he says about the 1945 hunt in the northern peninsula.

Beautiful weather prevailed during the first week of the 1945 season but it did not contribute to a heavy kill.

Both hunters and deer were listless in the nice weather and snow had inclined to melt.

Most hunters "prayed" for snow. They got it on Thanksgiving Day—two days of it—when many were heading for home. It came too late as more than half of the hunters had left their camps.

After Thanksgiving Day, snow was too deep for good hunting in many places.

A record number of bucks—31,449—was taken north of the Straits. Total of hunters in the northern peninsula jumped to 56,524 last season from 58,417 in 1944. Percentage of hunters filling their licenses fell to 41.6 last season from the 1944 mark of 42.9 per cent. Previous record kill was 28,701 in the 1943 season.

Best Hunting In Iron

And the best hunting areas north of the Straits—Iron county led again in the hunt in 1945, with 61 per cent of hunters successful. Dickinson county was in second place in 1945, in fifth place in 1944.

Menominee county was in third place in 1945 and 1944, having come out first in recent years.

Gogebic county—a good old standby—was in fourth place in 1945 and 1944.

Keweenaw county jumped a notch, to fifth place in 1945 from sixth place in 1944.

Marquette county improved its standing, coming up from eighth place in 1944 to sixth place last season.

Ontonagon county slipped badly for some reason—back to seventh place last season from second place in 1944.

Other northern peninsula counties showed in close order, changing their places in the lineup only in a few instances.

Hunting pressure in the northern peninsula jumped from an average of 3.88 hunters per square mile in 1945 and 1944, having most places this increase was not noticeable.

Schoolcraft Average Good

Alger and Luce counties had more than six hunters per square mile; Schoolcraft, Iron, Keweenaw, Dickinson, and Houghton counties between five and six hunters per square mile, and the rest less than five.

The hunting pressure picture indicated a strong shift to the west, but hunters are still spread out so thin in the northern peninsula that many of them feel lone some.

Reports from the northern peninsula this summer indicate a good deer herd and weather permitting hunting there should be as good or better during the 1946 season than it was in 1945.

Another increase in northern peninsula hunters can be expected during the approaching season.

Many hunters want, and are now able, to go farther from home. Ferry facilities at the Straits

Most hunters "prayed" for snow. They got it on Thanksgiving Day—two days of it—when many were heading for home. It came too late as more than half of the hunters had left their camps.

After Thanksgiving Day, snow was too deep for good hunting in many places.

A record number of bucks—31,449—was taken north of the Straits. Total of hunters in the northern peninsula jumped to 56,524 last season from 58,417 in 1944. Percentage of hunters filling their licenses fell to 41.6 last season from the 1944 mark of 42.9 per cent. Previous record kill was 28,701 in the 1943 season.

Best Hunting In Iron

And the best hunting areas north of the Straits—Iron county led again in the hunt in 1945, with 61 per cent of hunters successful. Dickinson county was in second place in 1945, in fifth place in 1944.

Menominee county was in third place in 1945 and 1944, having come out first in recent years.

Gogebic county—a good old standby—was in fourth place in 1945 and 1944.

Keweenaw county jumped a notch, to fifth place in 1945 from sixth place in 1944.

Marquette county improved its standing, coming up from eighth place in 1944 to sixth place last season.

Ontonagon county slipped badly for some reason—back to seventh place last season from second place in 1944.

Other northern peninsula counties showed in close order, changing their places in the lineup only in a few instances.

Hunting pressure in the northern peninsula jumped from an average of 3.88 hunters per square mile in 1945 and 1944, having most places this increase was not noticeable.

Schoolcraft Average Good

Alger and Luce counties had more than six hunters per square mile; Schoolcraft, Iron, Keweenaw, Dickinson, and Houghton counties between five and six hunters per square mile, and the rest less than five.

The hunting pressure picture indicated a strong shift to the west, but hunters are still spread out so thin in the northern peninsula that many of them feel lone some.

Reports from the northern peninsula this summer indicate a good deer herd and weather permitting hunting there should be as good or better during the 1946 season than it was in 1945.

Another increase in northern peninsula hunters can be expected during the approaching season.

Many hunters want, and are now able, to go farther from home. Ferry facilities at the Straits

MEAD CORPORATION HAS ANNIVERSARY

Parent Company Of Local Papermill Observes 100th Year Of Operation

A special edition of the Chillicothe Gazette, of Chillicothe, Ohio, carries the full story of the far-flung Mead Corporation, which now owns and operates the Manistique Pulp and Paper company here and the Escanaba Paper company of Escanaba. The issue is dated August 19 and was published to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Mead firm.

The edition carries illustrations of every step in the manufacture of paper from the growing tree to the package and roll, ready for shipment. It also has pictures of all of the firm's plants, including the plants at Escanaba and Manistique.

The Mead Corporation in its Pine Paper divisions located at Chillicothe, Kingsport and Leominster, its subsidiary mill in Philadelphia and the Columbian Paper Co. at Bristol and Boone Vista, Va., manufactures practically every type of "white paper" required for business use. These papers include bond, mimeo, envelope and tablet papers, Bristol and indexes, coated papers and a wide range of magazine, book and specialty grades for letterpress, office lithography and photogravure use.

The "brown paper" plants of the corporation include Nashville, Harriman and Sylva divisions, the Southern Extract Co. at Knoxville, the Herald division at Lynchburg and its extract plant (not now operating) at Radford, Va. They manufacture chestnut corrugating and liner boards used in the manufacture of boxes and containers and laminated and specialty boards used in boxes, packing cases and book covers.

The plants at Escanaba and Manistique, Mich., make groundwood pulp and papers, hanging papers and groundwood specialties.

Other units of the company are the Chillicothe Realty Co. (construction) at Chillicothe; the Chillobow division at Newport, Tenn. (extract) not now operating; the Brunswick Pulp and Paper Co. (sulphate pulp), Brunswick, Ga., owned half by Mead and half by the Scott Paper Co.; and a Kraft paperboard plant being constructed at Macon, Ga. (Macon Kraft Co.) owned 60 per cent by Mead and 40 per cent by Inland Container Corp. Total employment of the various units is more than 6,000 persons.
