TIPS for FARMERS
By JOSEPH L. HERRMAN County Agricultural Agent

Get Rough On Rats
Rat season is here. When temperatures drop, rats start hunting for a warm place to spend the winter. That's when they migrate from the fields and farmyards into buildings about the farm.

What can you do about it? . . . that perhaps is your question. Well, there are many things you can do. Rat proofing of buildings will help greatly to keep rats from becoming established and doing damage. Rat proofing consists of the repair of broken walls, screens or windows in buildings, replacing dirt floors with concrete when possible, and keeping doors into farm buildings closed.

Killing rats by poison, gas of catching them in traps are all successful if the right amount of attention is given the project. Among the poisons squill, barbiturate, arsenic and the new raticide, Anta, are very successful. Calcium cyanide and carbon monoxide may be used to gas rats to death rat holes.

Good housekeeping will do much to prevent the fall rush of rats into farm buildings. Make proper disposition of rubbish and garbage regularly. Do away with rat harbors such as trash piles, scattered boards or loose piles of brick.

Michigan State College has available two publications on rat control. Circular Bulletin C-167, "Controlling Rats and House Mice," gives detailed instructions. A smaller leaflet, Extension Folder P-86, "Rat Control," gives equally good information in a more limited form. These publications are available without charge from your county agricultural agent. They may also be obtained by writing the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.

University Men List Defects In County Government

Four basic defects exist in Michigan's form of county government, two members of the University of Michigan Bureau of Governmental Studies.

Robert S. Ford, director and Claude R. Tharp, research associate, list these defects as follows:

1. No over-all administrative head.
2. A complicated administrative organization in which there is considerable duplication of functions between agencies.
3. A board of supervisors that is too large and possesses both legislative and administrative powers.
4. A "bed sheet" ballot of elective officials. One reason for the long list of elective officials is the failure to distinguish between administrative and policy-determining functions, which results in the existing practice of electing both types of officials.

"Any plan for the reorganization of county government should be judged with reference to those four basic defects and the extent to which it corrects them," Ford and Tharp assert in a pamphlet just published. It is entitled "Reorganization of Michigan's County Government."

PIONEER RESIDENT OF COUNTY DIES

Miss Hulda Johnson, 74, Stricken On Day Of Brother's Funeral

Miss Hulda A. Johnson, 74, a resident of Schoolcraft county for the past 60 years, passed away Friday afternoon a few hours after funeral services had been conducted for her brother, Axel E. Johnson. Death was caused by a stroke.

With the exception of a few years spent in Denver, Colo., Miss Johnson had lived in the Hiawatha Township ever since she was 14 years old. She was born April 19, 1872 in Soudsville, Sweden, and came directly to Manistique from her native land in 1886. She lived in Hoveur with her brother for a few years following the turn of the century.

Surevivors are a sister, Mrs. Ann Oberg, Hiawatha township, two nephews, George Oberg, Detroit, and Leroy Oberg, of Manistique.

She was a member of the Bethel Baptist Church.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Morton funeral home, the Rev. Harold Martinson officiating. Burial was in Lakeview cemetery.

pallbearers were Scott Creighton, Frank Beckman, Carl Beckman, Arthur Graham, Agner Dehlin and John Tennant.

U.S. Stamp Makers Wrong About First Printing Press

Uncle Sam's stamp makers made a mistake!
During the celebration of the cent-millennium of the invention of printing from movable type in western Europe, the U. S. Post Office issued a stamp commemorating the 300th anniversary of printing in colonial America, 1639-1939.

But papers in the University of Michigan's Clements Library indicate there was a printing press in colonial America one hundred years earlier—1539. It was located in Mexico City and Zumarraga's "Doctrina Breve" is a 1543 product of it.

Mexico issued stamps to commemorate the 400th and true anniversary of the introduction of printing into America and to correct the erroneous impression conveyed by the U. S. government.

Manistique And Cooks School Districts Would Gain Over $50,000 Under Proposal Two

The school districts of Manistique, will gain at least $44,345 and the Cooks district $6,655 under Proposal No. 2, the so-called sales tax amendment to the constitution, if adopted by the voters November 5, according to statistics to be published in an October special number of the Michigan Education Journal. The Journal is an official publication of the Michigan Education Association, which has unanimously endorsed Proposal No. 2.

Assuming that sales tax collections by the state will continue at the present rate, Proposal No. 2 district an additional sum of not less than $20 and more likely close to $40 per child in school, the magazine states.

All Schools Would Benefit

Estimating total sales tax revenues for the current fiscal year at $140,000,000, the public schools of the state would receive $25,423,333 of the direct return of one-sixth of the total collection, and would also receive 42.6 percent of the total sales tax collection to be distributed by the legislature, as is the present practice. This would make a total state distribution of approximately $80,000,000 for schools in addition to the Primary School Interest Fund (approximately $18,500,000). This compares with $60,000,000 state aid now received by schools, including the Primary School Interest Fund.

If sales tax revenues are dropped to $120,000,000 for the fiscal year, schools would still get approximately $30,000,000 more state aid than they are now receiving, or an average of $50 per child, since there are nearly 600,000 school children in the classes of public schools today.

Need For $104,500,000 Shown

The Michigan Education Association has stated, on the basis of surveys, that at least $104,500,000 is needed now to pay salaries, to hold and attract capable teachers, to buy supplies, to make repairs and replacements, and to make a start toward a school building program. It recommends that if Proposal No. 2 is adopted the additional funds for schools be available first for teachers salaries and then for the resumption of a school building program.

For comparison purposes, the Michigan Education Association also set up a column of figures showing that Manistique school district would receive in addition to its present state aid, a total of $16,740 if the legislature were to increase state aid to $16,000,000 instead of the present $600,000. This amount is compared with the minimum of $44,345, and the maximum $44,640 that Manistique school district would receive under Proposal No. 2. The Cooks school district would receive a total of $8,000 under a state aid increase compared with the minimum of $6,656 and the maximum of $9,000 under Proposal No. 2.

THE STEEL SHORTAGE

There will be a steel shortage for a considerable time to come. One authority estimates that demand for the year ending June 30, 1947, will approach 67,000,000 tons—11 percent above the probable supply. Steel output will have to be parceled out by the industry on a fair and equitable basis to consumers, with none getting quite as much as desired.

Various reasons are given for this shortage. The most important reason, according to steel men, was the great coal-strike of recent memory. These shutdowns prevented the production of 15,000,000 tons of the basic industrial metal—more than enough to make up the anticipated shortage for the coming year. Thus, the strikes in two industries made enormous inroads into the future production of hundreds of industries which require steel products of one kind or another. And the coal and steel strikers were thus responsible for depriving armies of workers in other industries of full employment.

The big question now is how soon the demand for steel can be met. It is easy enough to suggest that the steel industry embark on a big expansion program. But it takes two to three years to build new capacity. Furthermore, the steel industry, to quote Business Week "is concerned about what will happen to steel demand once the accumulated backlog for things made of steel has been worked off." Only once in our past peacetime history has demand for steel come within 12,000,000 tons of present capacity. The industry cannot spend millions for plants whose production there would be no market for in the future.

The industry is doing everything in its power to produce all the steel possible. But it isn't humanly possible to quickly make up the ravages caused by the strikes.

WRONG THINKING

The kind of thinking which lies behind the Warner-Murray-Dingell public health bill has been all too prevalent of late years. It is based on the proposition that the proper way to meet a national problem is to appropriate a few billion dollars, create an enormous bureaucracy, and give the government unlimited powers of policy and administration.

That may seem the easy way. But the whole history of our time is a demonstration of its fallaciousness. The terrible wars, depressions and other social and economic upheavals which have dominated the world have been the direct or indirect result of the conflict between free government and dictatorial government. And the greatest problem facing the peoples of the world now is whether they are to have freedom or oppression.

It may seem extreme to contrast world conditions with proposed legislation which applies to this country alone. But the parallel exists. If we are to go to the point where government must do everything for us, where we must have cradle-to-the-grave security in all its ramifications, where we confess ourselves impotent to deal with our own personal problems, our position as presumed leaders of a free world will be untenable.

So far as medical care is concerned, a problem does exist despite the unchallenged fact that our standards in this field are the highest on earth. But that problem is being steadily and soundly solved through public co-operation, in such public questions as control of tuberculosis and venereal disease, and by rapidly expanding voluntary insurance plans for individual protection, in the event of illness or accident.

The American people can certainly take care of their health standards without spending four to six billions a year to regiment the doctors and socialize the practice of medicine.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marshall

On Playing the Fiddle Badly

A favorite recreation in our town is getting together in one or another's home and making music. There's somebody at the piano; a guitar; a fiddle player; and Motly birtles even has a harp!

What comes out isn't the best music in the whole world. In fact, a lot of it is downright bad. But nobody even thinks to question or to criticize.

Because the spirit of harmony is there—harmony between folks who like each other's company, who enjoy the simple, homey atmosphere —with nothing more exciting than old songs, and a glass of moderate beer or cider.

From where I sit, it's a heap more important to be a poor fiddler player, than not to play at all. More important to be a part of the American scene—with its community music, home entertainment, friendly glass of beer—than to hold out for professional perfection. (Besides, I like to play the fiddle—even badly!)

JAMES BUCKLEY, 87, DROWNING VICTIM

Body Of Aged Resident Found In Manistique River Near City Shops The body of James Buckley, 87, resident of the Manistique area for the past 20 years, was found at 10 a. m. Tuesday morning in shallow water of the Manistique river near the Soos Line railroad bridge. He had been dead about four days. The aged man's body, which was lying face down near the bridge, was sighted by William Hoslop, a transient on the Soos Line freight. PUBLIC LETTER BOX Manistique, Michigan October 21, 1946 The Manistique Pioneer Tribune Manistique, Michigan To the Publication Addressed: Dear Editor: We the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Manistique, as a result of a citizenship study in our group have come to the conclusion that one of the important reasons our adults of today do not vote in large numbers is the fact that our two local newspapers, The Escanaba Daily Press and The Manistique Tribune, as well as a majority of the newspapers of the United States do not discharge their major obligation by publishing sufficient information pertaining to the pros and cons of the candidates for office. We believe it is an alarming situation when only a little over half of the citizens of Michigan exercised their right of the ballot at the last presidential election. These are the conditions favorable to dictatorship and the losing of our freedom of the press. Danger to the freedom of the press lies in easily led, vociferous minority groups who "sound off" for their candidates. We appeal to you to give your readers unbiased information that they may become intelligent voters at this November election and all future elections, especially the primary elections. Your Truly, Manistique Methodist Youth Fellowship, Ellen Steele, president.
