

Council Takes Action On New Ordinance; Will Study Smoke Abatement Proposal

Several Matters Discussed
By City Councilmen At Meeting Monday

A new ordinance covering the location of storage tanks for inflammable liquids was introduced at the regular meeting of the Manistique city council Monday night, and is to be introduced immediately after its passage and approval.

The ordinance is No. 58 of 1918 and replaces ordinance No. 38 of 1910.

Most important change provided by the new ordinance is the reduction of the distance from an existing building to one-quarter times the capacity of the tank.

The council also inspected two sample smoke ordinances prepared by the city manager but decided to defer any action until they can be given thorough study.

Among other measures was action to correct a sewer situation on Chipewau avenue where a storm sewer has had to do duty at times for a sanitary sewer.

The state highway department has requested that the city manager, John Ruffley, appearing in behalf of Ruffley-Rombach, oil dealers, asking that he be given permission to erect gas stations in the vicinity of Dear street.

In a conference in the office of G. S. Johnson, city attorney, Talton said that numerous complaints of low flying planes had been received from various parts of the state.

The department, he said, is determined to protect the rights of local citizens. He emphasized, "Usually, the first violation report brings a reprimand and a warning unless the nature of the violation is such that immediate punitive action is necessary, he explained.

A handy guide to 150 most often mispronounced Michigan place names appears in the current issue of the conservation department's monthly magazine, for benefit of tourists, radio announcers and even residents who stumble over Indian titles of vacation towns.

Many seem to think, for instance, that the second "g" in Goochick is a soft "g" as in gorm rather than a hard "g" as in gorm gear; visitors speak of OnTONG instead of Ontonagon. Radio announcers reading election returns particularly offend local communities with distortions of the locally accepted sound of town and county names.

No known guide to such names was available, so the department prepared its own from prevailing local usage, of tongue twisters like Kitehikiipi, Schoolcraft county's famed "Big Springs" and names like Soul Chiles (Sulwah), east of Manistique, that defy any standard pronunciation rules.

The first 150 difficult names are only a start on what the department hopes will grow into a comprehensive guide to the proper pronunciation of Michigan names. Corrections to the original list are being solicited from the communities concerned. And every other community in Michigan whose towns, rivers and lakes have been wronged by the twist of out-of-state tongues is invited to add to the list the accepted local way of speaking their important place names.

State's Pioneer Mother Wife Of Antoine Cadillac

Editors note: This is one in a series of historical spots and moments in Michigan based on information in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

Few persons who celebrated Cadillac's Day Sunday know who was Michigan's first pioneer mother.

She was Madame Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac, wife of the founder of Fort Pontchartrain, Detroit. She stepped ashore from her canoe after a long, hazardous trip from Quebec sometime in October, 1701.

Her arrival is pictured by a bronze relief on the front of the Veterans Building at East Jefferson and Hastings in Detroit. With her was her six-year-old son, Jacques, and Madame Tonty, wife of Cadillac's lieutenant, according to information in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

Fought River On the trip they had fought the current of the St. Lawrence, skirted the shore of Lake Ontario, perched in wonder at Niagara Falls, gazed around the cataract, traversed the length of Lake Erie and ascended the Detroit River.

Mme. Cadillac's appearance at the fort had a profound influence on the settlement of the region, and meant more than a family reunion. When Cadillac, and 100 soldiers and male civilians had come to build the fort, he had told the Indians it was to be a permanent settlement, not just a temporary outpost. However, the Indians had been hesitant about establishing their villages nearby.

When the Indians saw the wives of the officers come to live at the fort, their doubts were dispelled. They greeted their women joyfully by firing their muskets. Now they knew Cadillac had told them the truth. Shortly afterwards Hurons, Ottawa and Potawatomi erected villages close by and a lucrative trade in furs and Indian goods followed, the Michigan Historical Collections reveal.

Wanted No Pitty The words of this brave woman spoken in reply to those who tried to dissuade her from going to Detroit should long be remembered by the people of Michigan. She said, "Do not waste your pity on me, dear friends. I know the hardships, the perils of the journey, the isolation of the life to which I am going; yet I am eager to go. For a woman who truly loves her husband has no stronger attachment than his company no matter where he may be."

Mme. Cadillac's coming paved the way for thousands more like her who gave up the comforts of settled homes to make new homes in a wilderness which later became Michigan.

TIPS FOR FARMERS

Clayton D. Reid, county agricultural agent, Alcona-Schoolcraft Counties.

Farmers, home gardeners and all users of insecticides are cautioned by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture to obtain full information about the limitations and hazards of these materials before use. This is essential in order to safeguard crops, livestock, and the health of the consumer, as well as that of the user himself. When uncertain regarding the hazard in the use of an insecticide, and especially one of the newer materials, the user might well consult state and federal authorities relative to recommendations as to use.

Benzene hexachloride, one of the new insecticides—has a persistent, musty odor and, according to the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, it should not be used on foodstuffs or edible portions of treated crops. Potato growers in some limited areas found this on the hard way last year, through the experience of having on their hands at harvest potatoes with a "musty taste." In this instance benzene hexachloride had been applied to the soil for wireworm control. Its use in the soil has been shown to cause "off flavor" in other root crops such as carrots, and turnips.

Application to the foliage of some crops such as peas and potatoes may impart an undesirable flavor to the crop, at harvest time. These and other observations indicate that benzene hexachloride should not be used on vegetables. If used on fruits such as peaches it should be restricted to early season application. Undesirable flavors have occurred in poultry products when this material has been used to control certain poultry pests.

For some purposes, however, such as for control of insects on cotton, benzene hexachloride is a valuable insecticide when used according to recommendations.

Student Peak Due In 1960, Official At Michigan Says

Higher education will face a worse crisis in 1960 than in 1945 unless preparations are begun now to meet the situation.

This is the warning sounded by Marvin L. Niehaus, vice president of the University of Michigan. He said colleges and universities will be confronted with their most critical period as far as enrollment is concerned by 1960.

"The unprecedented number of children born during the war and post-war period will have reached college age by then," Niehaus declared. "They will constitute the largest group ever to seek admission to the country's colleges and universities—not excepting the present veteran group."

He said facilities, physical plant and financial support of higher education will have to be rapidly expanded during the next ten years to meet this increased enrollment. While the cost would be great in terms of dollars, Niehaus pointed out that it would not be so abnormally heavy in terms of total national income.

Federal taxes on alcoholic beverages in 1948, he said, were one and one-half times larger than the total cost of maintaining the nation's colleges and universities in 1947.

WALLACE PREACHES PEACE

Henry Wallace, talking peace at a rally in New York today, was roundly applauded by 18,000 persons, according to news reports.

Wallace outlined six "definitive decisive steps" by which peace could be attained. Let's look at some of them.

Wallace called for a program of general disarmament. This is splendid, of course, except for one thing. The disarmament would do the disarming. There would be no disarmament, or only a phony one, in Soviet Russia. Adherence to the Wallace program would certainly lead to our finish as a free nation.

Wallace also urged a free exchange of scientific information between Russia and the United States. In other words, he urges us to give them the secret of atomic energy. Russia has no scientific secrets we need, but we do have some they desperately trying to get. Wallace would give them to them. Here again Wallace would give our "cold war" enemies the weapons to destroy us.

Wallace would provide for the free movement of citizens in both countries. Soviet citizens do have freedom of movement in the United States; we do not have such freedom in Russia. Wallace just wants to be sure that we do not restrict the free movement of Soviet agents in the U. S. A.

Such a peace as Wallace advocates is possible only by complete surrender to Soviet demands. It makes one wonder if any American with his mental stature can preach such a message of peace.

Mr. "Red" Cross Has a Junior

Two solid supporters of the American Red Cross are Arthur P. Cross, a bus driver of Detroit, and his 12-year-old son, Robert. Both are red-haired and therein lies the source of good-natured year-round ribbing by their friends. The father is known to everybody along the busline as "Red" Cross and his son as "Junior Red" Cross. The elder Cross is one of the first contributors in his district to the yearly fund campaigns and has donated blood many times through the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stephens, Mrs. Abel Wilcock, Mrs. William Bauman and children, Lynn and Stephen, are leaving Friday for Detroit and other points in lower Michigan. Mrs. Bauman and children will go on to Cleveland, O., for a visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kanowski.

Father Of Local Residents Dies At Daughter's Home

NATIONAL GUARD WILL FIGHT FIRE

Arrangements Made With Conservation Department For Emergency Service

If Michigan ever is attacked by forest fires as extensive as those that ravaged Maine last fall, detailed plans are ready for getting the Michigan National Guard into the fire fighting lines, fast.

The Governor alone decides when to declare a state of emergency and when to call out the Guard, but arrangements negotiated between the Guard and the conservation department would assure smooth and speedy mobilization if the emergency arises.

Among items of standard operating procedure agreed upon for forest fire fighting by guardsmen are transportation from home station to fire field headquarters, feeding and housing guardsmen in the field, use of National Guard heavy equipment such as bulldozers, and supervision of Guard units on the fire lines.

At the time of the Maine holocaust, large fires and critical weather conditions in Michigan resulted in Governor Steier's proclamation of a state of emergency for northern Michigan. The fires then were brought under control by the conservation department's staff and equipment and volunteer labor, but the department soon after began negotiations with the Guard to assure a greater margin of public safety in such extreme emergencies.

Miss Genevieve Gorscho, of Sault Ste. Marie, spent the week end at the home of her mother, Mrs. George Gorscho.

Don't Bounce Baby On The Turf!

Spring cleanup time is an excellent time to accident-proof your home, the American Red Cross advises.

Suggested precautions cited by the organization's Accident Prevention Service include:

1. Place a heavy screen or bar across windows in children's rooms—test bouncing baby bounce on the turf below.
2. Scatter rugs at the top or bottom of stairways can scatter you in all directions unless they have non-skid pads under them or are otherwise anchored.
3. Hoes, rakes, mops, brooms and the like shouldn't be given too much freedom. They'll whack or trip you heartlessly once you leave them out in the open.

Pessimist Trout Fishermen Cause Of Creek Blaze

Forest Service officials are blaming some pessimistic trout fishermen for the 8-acre forest fire near Carr Pond, west of Steuben, Monday afternoon.

Fire fighters discovered that the nimrods, in their haste to leave the burning area, left the makings of their dinner behind—a lake trout and a whitefish.

Walter G. Wilson, forest ranger here, an inveterate trout fisherman himself, cannot help being amused at the unknown nimrod, who went fishing with so little hope of success that they had to take a store catch along.

Mrs. Peter Koenrich returned Friday from Esennaba where she was a surgical patient at the St. Francis hospital.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Wanted: 107,000 signatures to petitions for a November ballot on Governor Sigler's program for state government reorganization.

It comes from the newly formed Citizens' Committee for Better Government, headed by Laurent K. Varnum of Grand Rapids, president.

nautics, banking, health, economic development, public instruction, insurance, apple, cherry, corporations and securities, crippled, children, historical, Mackinac Island, tourist council, public service, safety, zoning, teachers' tenure, unemployment compensation, waterways, workmen's compensation, tuberculosis, liquor control, stream control, numerical finance, two state fairs, labor medication, and office libraries, plus a long list of examining and licensing boards.

The Citizens' Committee proposes to petition to reform efforts on one amendment. Let's for future consideration—unless proposed plans are changed—are other reforms, rejected by the legislature during the 1948 special session: (1) Four-year term for state elective officials; (2) Power for the governor to appoint attorney general and the secretary of state.

Governor Sigler's changes of mind leave both of these reforms up in the air. They may be revised later. Some mention has been made of the possibility that the governor should appoint all officials except the auditor general.

asked to judge the following constitutional changes at the November election: 1. Should a convention be called to revise the state constitution? 2. Should the sales tax diversion by raising teachers' tenure, unemployment be repealed? 3. Should present constitutional limitations be removed from salaries of state officials and state legislators? 4. Should Michigan's 100,000 state acres be managed into a state park? 5. Should the governor be empowered to appoint all department heads?

With these proposed reforms, Michigan voters will have plenty to decide in 1948. Backed by the state legislature which first rejected his leading reforms, Governor Sigler has announced he would take the issue direct to the people.

Believed by the state legislature that the debate will be vigorous. More centralized power in the hands of the governor will be contested within his party. Not even the governor's so-called "cabinet" is unanimous in its support. The fight will be lively.

NSLI Extension On-Gratuitous Benefits Voted

Provisions of a recent law passed by Congress which amends the National Service Life Insurance Act to extend for two years the time within which eligible persons may apply for gratuitous insurance benefits were explained in a recent communication from the Office of Veterans' Affairs in Lansing, Mich.

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Veterans' counselor here, announces, Congress amended the National Service Life Insurance Act of October 8, 1940 several times to provide a gratuitous government insurance coverage to certain persons in the armed forces who did not have already in force at least $5000 in government insurance because they (1) were on extended duty at outlying bases and therefore unable to comply with all the requirements of the original act; (2) had failed or neglected to apply for insurance in the expectation of peacetime service only; or (3) due to the sudden outbreak of the war had not sufficient time to apply for such insurance before enjoining in combat.

Amount $5,000 The amount of gratuitous N.S. insurance is equal to that of the insurance which would have been in force had the insured applied for such insurance before enjoining in combat. This insurance applied particularly to servicemen who died in active service in line of duty on or after October 8, 1940, and before April 29, 1942, without having in force $5000 of insurance. Public Law 745, signed October 17, 1942, provided flying cadet or aviation students, Army or Navy, between October 8, 1940 and June 30, 1941, and died as the result of an aviation accident incurred in line of duty while in such active service, to the amount of $10,000.

Gratuities insurance provides payments to dependents in the order named: 1. To the widow (or widower) if insured, if living, and while unmarried. 2. If no widow (or widower) entitled, to the child or children of the insured if living, in equal shares. 3. Concrete Means Permanence

You want concrete for Permanence but you Can't Expect the best results unless your concrete is made from Clean Washed stone and sand Carefully Measured Before placing in the mixer, and then only if the correct amount of water is used in relation to the type and amount of cement and other ingredients.

The cement costs far more than the total cost of all the other ingredients so why waste it by using a pit run of gravel and sand which is NOT washed, free from clay and other foreign matter or graded into various sizes so they can be placed in the mixer in the proper proportions for good concrete?

All our materials are washed and graded. We carefully weigh the sand and stone separately on scales which are built into our mixer. The water is measured automatically and the cement is added according to the type of concrete best suited for your job. The correct type of mix for each kind of job is prepared for us by concrete engineers of the Universal Laboratories in Minneapolis.

We deliver this superior type of concrete to your premises in modern trucks, eliminating all the trouble and mess usually associated with the old fashioned method of mixing on the job.

The big surprise comes when you find that this modern clean method of pouring superior concrete is cheaper. Call us for the best in Ready Mixed Concrete.

Rural Schools Hit Hardest By Teacher Deficit

Michigan's continuing teacher shortage will have its most serious effects on rural schools, some 1,100 of which were closed last year for lack of teachers, a University of Michigan study has revealed. A survey of teacher supply and demand, conducted by the University Bureau of Appointments and Occupational Information in cooperation with placement offices of all colleges in the state, indicates a statewide shortage of approximately 3,600 teachers in 1948-49. In addition, schools of the state have about 6,500 teachers who hold emergency certificates because they do not meet the requirements for regular teaching certificates. More than half of those teachers are in the rural schools, the report shows.

These are now in Michigan about 6,000 teachers in rural schools—rural schools being those which have less than 12 grades or those having 12 grades but fewer than six teachers. During the current year, nearly 1,200 of these teachers were employed for the first time in the schools where they are now teaching. The high rate of teacher turnover in these schools is indicated by estimates that in the fall of 1948 more than 1,600 rural teachers will be new to the communities where they are to teach during the year, the survey reveals.

Who starts the most forest fires? Jack "Professor Bonanza" Benny looks at lightning in his crystal ball. But lightning starts less than 1% of the fires. Next, an unseen hand draws a picture of a "fire bug" on the blackboard. But, arsonists start only a few fires.

He conjures up explosions, flaming auto wrecks, and fires from trains. But these things happen about one fire in a hundred. The real culprit? None other than John G. Public! Yes, facts show it's people like you that cause 9 out of 10 fires. Unless you are extra careful you may be the one to start a fire that will burn over thousands of acres of valuable and beautiful timberland. IT'S UP TO YOU TO PROTECT OUR FORESTS.

Upper Peninsula Has Many Sons, Daughters Of Sweden

Schoolcraft County Has For Years Had Large Swedish Population

Men and women of Swedish descent from all over the upper peninsula, many from Manistique, will go to Escanaba Tuesday, June 12, to celebrate the Swedish Pioneer Centennial—the 100th anniversary of the arrival of early Swedish families in the middle west.

It will be a great day for the Swedes! Prince Bertil, second son of the Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, will come from Stockholm to attend the Escanaba celebration, along with an official Swedish delegation, composed of leaders in the religious, industrial, labor, educational and political life of Sweden. Old-timers, particularly, will enjoy Sofia Girls from Stockholm, who will portray King Gustav's court. The Chicago and Northwestern railway is joining in the celebration by sending its Pioneer Centennial Train to Escanaba.

Sweden's immigration, lumbering and mining were as familiar occupations to the northern peoples as were agriculture and fishing and thousands grasped the opportunity to earn a livelihood in work which they knew well. Railroad building provided temporary employment for many. The June 12, to celebrate the Swedish Pioneer Centennial—the 100th anniversary of the arrival of early Swedish families in the middle west.

Most Numerous Scandinavians The most numerous of the Scandinavians in Michigan are the Swedes. Outnumbered in the 1850's and 1860's by the other groups, they became the predominant element thereafter. Swedes had settled in Sparta township, Kent county, lower Michigan, in 1853 and possibly earlier.

Although the majority of Swedish immigrants to Michigan are the Swedes, and after were attracted to the upper peninsula, some expansion of older settlements in the lower peninsula took place. The large Swedish settlement in St. Joseph township and in Berrien county was begun in the sixties. A large number also settled in the vicinity of Manistique, Grand Rapids and Muskegon.

Gothenburg, was conducted. In Swedish-American newspapers, advertisements also appeared. Hemlandet carried in its issue of June 15, 1861 an advertisement by one Axel Silversparre for workmen for the Quincy mines on Lake Superior, 15 hours by boat from Chicago, the cost of transportation to be paid by the mining company. A party of Swedes enroute to the Quincy mines in the early fall of 1861 met a Swede returning from the mines at Marquette, and this man tried to dissuade the party from going on, saying that the promised high wages were not being paid. The party nevertheless went on, and found wages of $1.50 to $3 per day without lodging, the latter costing from $20 to $24 per month.

The development of the iron mines soon brought thousands to Marquette county and made L'Anse-au-Loup one of the principal Swedish centers in the upper peninsula. The Swedes in Marquette county numbered 2,537 by 1880.

Many Settled Here In Baraga, Ontonagon, Gogebic, Iron and Dickson counties, Sweden's growth of iron mining. The communities of Metropolitan and Iron townships in St. Joseph township in 1891 stated that the city contained 3,000 Swedes in a total population of 10,000. In Menominee county, the sawmills and logging camps furnished employment for hundreds of Swedes, especially in Menominee, Spaulding, Stephenson and Cedarville townships, in Del-

Iron and Dickson counties, Sweden brought large numbers to Michigan, also, Gladstone, Ford River and other towns, beginning in the sixties. Manistique has been a Swedish center in Schoolcraft county since the first settlers came shortly before 1870. In Mackinac county, a Scandinavian settlement, largely Swedish, was begun in the late sixties in the vicinity of Black River. There have been a considerable number of Scandinavian newspaper publishers in Michigan in the past—being perhaps Svenska Kattens, a weekly begun in Ishpeming for five years, Escanaba's Swedish newspaper was the Medborgaren. Generally speaking, the Scandinavians—Swedes, Norwegians and Danes—may be said to have constituted an industrious, law-abiding and intelligent element in the population of Michigan. As elsewhere in America, they have been quickly assimilated into the American way of life. They have helped in no small measure in the creation of Michigan's mining, lumbering, industrial and agricultural wealth.

Weight Tax Fund Total Announced Schoolcraft County's Share Of Present Disbursement $72,549.37

Vouchers for returning the $26,763,227.87 collected in weight tax during the first quarter of 1947 to the counties, cities and incorporated villages of the state for expenditure on local roads and streets, have been sent to the auditor general's office, Charles M. Ziegler, highway commissioner, reports.

The first quarter weight tax this year is $4,745,561.76 more than the amount collected in the first quarter of 1947. Schoolcraft county's share is $72,549.37. The increase is due to the fact owners of commercial trucks and trailers were required to buy full-year plates before March 1 this year, whereas in 1947 they had the option of having half year plates and about half of them did so. As a result last year's truck-trailer license plates yielded some $4,900,000 in the first quarter, compared to nearly $9,000,000 in the first quarter this year.

The total weight tax collection is returned to the counties, cities and incorporated villages. Following are the amounts the various upper peninsula counties will receive in the first quarter weight tax distribution:

DAIRYMEN! HOW DOES A COW'S UDDER Manufacture Milk? Hold it up? Let it down?

At . . . Kof C HALL MANISTIQUE, MICHIGAN Thursday, May 27, at 8 p. m.

you will have an opportunity to see the remarkable moving picture directed by Dr. W. E. Petersen, University of Minnesota, that answers these questions that have puzzled the minds of dairymen throughout all the 6,000 years that cows have been milked.

But that isn't all. Dr. Petersen in his picture, outlines what to do to get the most from a cow when milking her. He explains how to avoid Mastitis.

Every progressive dairyman should see this picture and get this information.

In addition, there will be pictures and a discussion of the milking stall—lounge barn system of handling cows that is gaining headway in all parts of the country.

The admission is free. You, your family and your friends are cordially invited to attend.

World Understanding Theme of Reading List For Children

Because world peace will become a reality as nations and individuals learn more of the truth about each other, the Library Extension Service of the University of Michigan has prepared a new reading list for boys and girls with this in mind.

This list includes the best of the children's books about places and people, both in this country and abroad. The list contains sections for very young children, intermediate-age children, and older boys and girls.

The section for very young children recommends picture and story books about America, Paris, China, Sweden, Russia, Mexico, and other countries.

Alaska, France, Ireland, Norway, Spain, and Brazil. The titles also reflect as wide a range of locale for the stories. In addition, there is a section listing fairy tales, folklore, and legends as well as a section on biography.

Copies of this list may be had on request from the Library Extension Service, 212 University Library, Ann Arbor.

Drive in Futuramic Style every Hydra-Matic Mile! Here's the car that's inspired new words for "In My Merry Oldsmobile." It's the Futuramic '48, a brand new model that's leading the way into a new Golden Era of progress and advancement!

Whirlaway WITH GM HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

It's the smash hit of the year... the big success story of 1948... the car that has all America singing its praises! Everywhere it goes, the Futuramic Oldsmobile goes over in a big way. Watch how people gather 'round to inspect that massive Futuramic front end... those flowing Futuramic fenders... that smartly tailored Futuramic interior.

Then watch the face of the lucky driver. He's got that "Futuramic Feeling." It's more than just the smoothness of a coil-cushioned ride. It's more than just the simplicity of "no-clutch, no-shift" Hydra-Matic Drive. It's even more than the breath-taking thrill of stepping down on the accelerator and feeling that surge of power as WHIRLAWAY goes into action. That "Futuramic Feeling" is a combination of all these Oldsmobile features... topped off with a goodly measure of pride at driving the best looking of all the new cars on the roads today!

Nearly 1,000 candidates from 257 high schools competed for the awards. Dean Walter emphasized that at least one scholarship is available for every accredited high school in the state provided a qualified candidate can be presented.
