Sometimes it would appear that certain bureaucratic chiefs just get on his good sense. The "Voice of America" program is not the best plan of government. Most individuals have slipped down loyalty is questionable or who will their position of trust to benefit the United States.

In a very fine picture show the night called "State of the Union" was listened to a statement which could have been taken directly from the handbook of the Communist Party. The statement was a scathing reference to "middle class morality."

HOSPITAL PLAN IN WASHINGTON FOR APPROVAL

Manistique First Michigan City To Seek Federal Aid, Dick Reveals

Manistique's application for federal funds to assist in the financing of a community hospital was sent to Washington for approval last Thursday.

The application was the first by a Michigan city to seek government aid for the construction of a community hospital.

James L. Duck, director of the Office of Hospital Survey and Construction, who conferred here with hospital trustees and members of a special hospital committee.

Duck said he expected that Benton Harbor and "Law" might file applications shortly and that Manistique, Marquette and Hancock probably will file soon.

The hospital is to be constructed at the Schoolcraft county fairgrounds at an estimated cost of $800,000. Duck's estimate of the completed project, including the grant from the Kellogg foundation, furnishings and other equipment was $451,000.

DRY SPELL UPS FIRE DANGER IN THIS AREA

Warning Issued By Forest Service, Conservation Men Thursday

The forest fire hazard in this area, increased by a prolonged dry spell, is at a high danger point, U. S. Forest Service officials and conservation men reported Thursday.

The hazard is particularly high in slash areas, and woods openings, fishermen and picnickers are particularly urged to be careful with fire.

Walton Wilson, forest ranger on the Manistique district, reported late Thursday that the Forest Service was recruiting men until 3 o'clock this morning to fight a fire which broke out Wednesday in a brushy slash area in the vicinity of Round Lake on the Alger-Delta line near the Round Lake Club.

Wilson said that reports from the Weather Bureau predicted a dry spell this week, and that each day without rain increases the hazard greatly.

Anyone who goes into the woods is urged to exercise every precaution to mitigate the fire danger," Wilson emphasized. He directed his warning particularly to campers, fishermen and picnickers.

Fund Of $5,000 Sought For Repair And Other Work On Brewery Dam At Heights

Hawthwa Township Contributions $2,000; Thompson Asked For $1,000

Plans are going forward on a $5,000 program for the repair and some new construction of the brewery dam at Manistique Heights in an effort to control the level of Indian Lake, it was revealed Thursday.

Agnes Demars, supervisor of Hawthwa township and one of the Indian Lake property owners who have long sought to have the dam restored, revealed Thursday that his township has voted $2,000 toward the fund for the improvements.

A group of property owners met with members of the Hawthwa township board Tuesday evening to urge an appropriation by that township of $1,000, but because the full board was not present, no action was taken.

Another meeting will be held June 14. A. W. Heitman, general superintendent of the Inland Lime and Stone company and former member of the Schoolcraft county board of supervisors, has drawn plans for the improvements at the dam which will provide a 30-foot quick opening instead of the former 24-foot opening. The 30-foot opening is required by state specifications preceding the participation in the project of the Michigan department of conservation. Long ditches in crosstie will also be utilized in the repair and rebuilding program.

Indian Lake is now down to the lowest level recorded last summer, and repair of the dam is being pushed vigorously because of the opening of the tourist season. The postponed dry spell has further contributed to the lake's lowering.

Efforts to secure the emergency $5,000 appropriation are being made to avoid the delay in setting up a special assessment district, which it is believed, would be a costly one. Instead of the restoration of the level is expected.

Level of the lake was established by court decree in 1945.

RFC Wins In Foreclosure Suit At Soo

Hawthwa Metals Products, Inc., Loses Case At Special Session

Grant Judge Herbert W. Runnels Thursday afternoon granted the Reconstruction Finance Corporation the right to foreclose two mortgages in the amount of $100,000 for which it held the Hawthwa Metals Products, Inc., default Manistique industry, at a special term of circuit court for Schoolcraft county held at Sault Ste. Marie this week.

Judge Runnels ruled that the Hawthwa Metals company had "knowingly and purposely signed and executed a note and mortgages in the amount of $100,000, and that the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff in the amount of $100,000."

Allegations of misrepresentation in connection with the loan, made by the Hawthwa Metals company, were held by the court as being "scandalous and impertinent."

None of the officers or directors of the First National Bank of Manistique, subpoenaed by Hawthwa to appear in the case, were called to testify, with the exception of Fred H. Hahn, executive vice president, who had the loan in charge.

It was brought out at the hearing of the case Wednesday afternoon and Thursday that the two mortgages were given to secure a loan made by Hawthwa Metals Products on July 9, 1946. Only a single payment on the loan, amounting to $500, was ever made.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was represented by Herbert W. Runnels, and Manistique was represented by H. H. Hahn, executive vice president of Hawthwa Metals. The Hawthwa Metals Properties will be sold pursuant to the court's decree.

Children's Clinic Next Thursday At Lakeside School

Agnes Demars, Supervisor of Hawthwa Township and One of the Indian Lake Property Owners Who Have Long Sought to Have the Dam Restored, Revealed Thursday That His Township Has Voted $2,000 Toward the Fund for the Improvements.

Oliver Sholander, Of State Police, Buried Monday In Crystal Falls

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at a Crystal Falls funeral home for Trooper Oliver Sholander, 35, of the Michigan state police, who shot himself to death in a wooded section of U.S. in Thompson township last Thursday. Burial was in Crystal Falls.

Trooper Sholander was found dead about 8 p. m. by Trooper Jack Dahl, who was enroute to Escanaba and noticed the officer's car parked a few hundred feet off the road. Sholander had left the residence of his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duquette, 292 Schoolcraft avenue, at 11 a. m., telling his bride of a work, the former Lois Duquette, that he was leaving for the police post to report for duty.

Actually, he had been suspended a few days before for marrying without the permission of Commissioner Donald S. Leonard, but had failed to tell his wife. Earlier in the evening, Trooper Ehl had gone to the Duquette home to call for Mrs. Sholander's younger sister, whom the Ehl's had engaged as a sitter for their children, and in the trooper's wife asked him if that time if her husband was still on duty. When Trooper Ehl saw Sholander's car parked off the highway near the old Thompson Road, he stopped and went over to Mr. Sholander's younger sister, whom the Ehl's had engaged as a sitter for their children, and in the trooper's wife asked him if that time if her husband was still on duty.

Since 1929 Mrs. Beaudoin had practiced her profession here, principally at the Shaw hospital, since her illness. She was a member of St. Francis de Sales church and the Manistique District Nurses association.

Survivors besides her husband are two sisters, Mrs. Beck Larson, of Cassata, Ia., and Mrs. Joseph Sorenson, Moorhead, Ia.; and three brothers, Martin, Ernest and Arnold Mortenson, all of Moorhead.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Francis de Sales church, the Rev. B. J. P. Schevers officiating. At the conclusion of the mass, J. Earl Cousineau sang "Help, Lord, the Souls" which "The Host Made" by Cardinal Newman, and "Pie Jesu," by Abbe Michel. Burial was in Fairview cemetery under the direction of the Morton funeral home.

Members of the Nurses association in uniform formed an honorary escort. Pall bearers were Auro Heine, Frank Heine, Donald MacPhail, Clyde Tank, Michael Barnes and George Dupont.

May 8, 1911, has been selected as the official birth date of U. S. Naval aviation. It was on that date that the order for the Navy's first aircraft was placed with the Curtiss Company.

Texan Jailed Here On Larceny Count

Otis Brouse, who hails from far-off Fort Arthur, Texas, is a 20-day guest at the county jail as a result of obtaining a little cash here May 20 without working for it.

Brouse, who is a transient, "borrowed" three dollars in a local tavern with a promise to put up a pawn ticket as security. He went out to get his watch out of a trunk and neglected to return it that day to St. Ignace, and he was returned to Manistique to face a larceny charge in local justice court.

Mrs. Beaudoin Dies After Long Illness

Funeral Services Held Tuesday Morning For Manistique Nurse

Mrs. Clifford Beaudoin, 49, a nurse here for over 20 years, passed away at 9:40 a. m. Saturday at the Shaw hospital where she had been a patient for about a week. She had been ill for two and one-half years.

Mrs. Beaudoin, who was Claire Mortenson before her marriage, was born at Moorhead 186, Ia., on March 7, 1929. She was graduated from St. Vincent's hospital school of nursing in Sioux City, Ia., in 1929, and soon after, on Sept. 16, 1929, was married to Mr. Beaudoin at Great Falls, Montana.

They moved here shortly after and had lived here continuously since that time.

INDIAN LAKE LEVEL DROPPING

Although plans are currently being made for the construction of a new dam across Indian river at the site of the old brewery bridge, circumstances may necessitate immediate attention to the repair of the old dam on a temporary basis.

Rainless weather during the past few weeks started to lower the water level of Indian Lake about a week ago. By the end of the past week, it is reported by resort operators, it has been approximately eight inches, and the water is still receding.

Very little water is pouring into the lake because swamps and lakes in the drainage area of the Indian river are almost dry. Some swamps, which are natural water reservoirs, are low. Yet water continues to drain out of Indian Lake because the present delapidated dam at the brewery bridge is like a sieve, with water leaking through dozens of cracks and crevices.

Resort operators, frantic because of the sinking lake level and its possible disastrous effect on the season's resort business, are insistent that some temporary measure be taken immediately to reduce the leakage at the old dam.

Not only resort operators, but every business firm in Manistique should be concerned about this matter. The vacation business means several hundred thousand dollars a year in income to this city and county, and should not be jeopardized.

Library Receives $38 From State

The State Board for Libraries recently sent a check for $386.76 to the Manistique library in full payment of the grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities fund for which the library qualified this year. Beverly M. Shipman, library director, revealed Thursday that the grant will help libraries meet standards set by the State Board for Libraries and may be used for any project that will improve or extend its services.

Interpreting the News

Confronted with an unpleasant outlook in party ranks during a presidential and state campaign year, Governor Kim Sigler and legislators patched some of their differences over government reform. Legislators recalled the State Department of Administration bill from the grave yard. Lieutenant Governor Keyes recalled the Senate could legally reconsider it. And the legislature jammed it through attaching an amendment whereby important control would be exercised by the state administrative board and not by the governor alone.

In turn, Governor Sigler and the citizens' Committee for Better Government in Michigan agreed to call off petitions proposing constitutional changes of drastic effect. Such, in a nutshell, was the outcome of the top-of-war between the governor and the legislature in the window of the 1948 special session.

It will mean one less amendment before the voters in November. There was considerable doubt at the capital whether 167,000 signatures could be obtained in time to place the amendment on the ballot. The compromise postponed until later time the issue whether the state's 100-plus agencies should be merged and consolidated into 13 state departments with chief control in the hands of the governor. Also in the offing is the proposed five-year terms for state officials and new power for the governor to appoint key state officials, such as the attorney general and secretary of state.

These are still parts of the Sigler reform program. For the time being they will be put on the shelf awaiting the right moment for revival.

John Perins, budget director, will become comptroller of the new state department which will wield control over functions of budgeting, purchasing, accounting, motor transport, building management and office services. This salary will be $12,000. The plan can reduce the cost of the combined agencies, he will be able to demonstrate convincingly that reorganization not only means added efficiency but economy. He can also assume that both can be achieved; that merger of 100 state agencies into 18 would automatically lower cost of government. The attitude of voters toward government at Lansing fits logically into a popular belief that "Lansing" has too much money for its own good, that local governments should get a larger share through increased diversion of the sales tax.

The legislature voted a $5,000,000 "loan" to county highway departments for building roads. Counties are asked to pay it back from higher gas and weight taxes, 12 and 18 when they are levied. The "if" raises a question of whether the money ever will be repaid. Some legislators frankly expect the "loan" will become a gift.

The legislature also voted $18,588,000 for capital improvements at state institutions. Net result of appropriations will be an estimated deficit of $14 million by June 30, 1949. Will the voters take heed at the estimated $14 million deficit and vote to repeal the sales tax diversion amendment in November? If Governor Sigler's judgment is any clue, the answer is "No." Sigler recommended to the legislature that the repeal bill be removed. This recommendation, like some others, was scuttled during the special session.

Boulder Near Ontonagan Was An Indian God

This is one of a series of articles on historical spots and monuments in Michigan based on information in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

Mystery and government intervention are concerned in the history of a three-ton copper boulder on the Ontonagan river which was the first commercial quantity of that metal taken from Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

The mystery deals with the boulder's origin. The government called a commercial scheme utilizing the copper and caused it to end up in a corner of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

According to information in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan, Indians long knew of the massive chunk of native copper. The huge boulder was along the west bank of the West Branch of the Ontonagan river, about 30 miles upstream from Lake Superior. Indians worshipped it as a god.

Heary Was First

First while man to see the wondrous boulder was Alexander Heary, a British trader, who found it about 1780 or so. From then on followed a stream of men interested in the copper and its possibilities.

Most successful of these was Louis Eldred, Detroit hardware merchant, who wanted to bring it to Detroit for exhibition at a fee of 25 cents a person. In 1841, he purchased the copper from Indians for $150. However, he could not move it until two years later. But then he found it in possession of some Wisconsin miners. He had to buy the mass again, only this time it cost $1,955.

Days of backbreaking struggle followed as Eldred and his party of 20 labored to move the rock by land and river to Lake Superior. Then disaster struck Eldred's dream.

The Secretary of War ordered the copper seized and brought to Washington. He authorized payment of "up to $700" for expenses incurred in moving it to its present location. This sum would in no way cover Eldred's expenses, so he was permitted to move the boulder to Detroit where it arrived Oct. 11, 1843.

Taken To Washington Less than a month later, the rock was taken to Washington. There it was dumped in the yard of the Quartermaster's Bureau of the War Department and left for almost 12 years. Then it was put in the museum.

Meanwhile, Eldred appealed to Congress for redress. On Jan. 26, 1847, he received $5,664.38 for his time and expense in moving the boulder to Detroit.

The copper mass, of course, had attracted considerable attention. Many persons tried to find the vein from which it came. But the boulder's origin is still unknown although the Keweenaw Peninsula area to the northeast of where it was found is still yielding copper in large quantities.

Poor Housing Is Declared To Be Costly

Inadequate housing is one of the nation's greatest luxuries, believes Robert W. Kelso, director of the University of Michigan Institute of Social Work.

The Institute, which offers a two-year graduate program, is located in the Rackham Educational Memorial in Detroit. "The effects of the housing shortage on family life are more serious than most of us realize," Prof. Kelso explained in an interview. "The crowding of people together and the housing of them in attics and basements destroys privacy and reduces many people below the level of health and decency."

Poor housing is a luxury in the sense that it costs the public more for police and fire and health calls, Prof. Kelso pointed out. In many cities, he said, increasing health problems are already the result of insufficient housing.

"All municipal services are affected by housing conditions," the University man says. "Not only are there additional demands for such things as health and fire protection, but there is a loss of tax revenue. It has been estimated that slum areas in our cities are 600 per cent more expensive than other areas."

It is a mistake, Prof. Kelso emphasized, to talk of the housing needs of the nation in short-range terms. The shortage has been developing for 25 years and is not simply an outgrowth of the war.

More than 90 regular Navy and Naval Reserve officers have been assigned as Navy Liaison officers for Scouting, assisting and instructing American Sea Scouts in nautical subjects.

The Operator's Beatitudes

Blessed are they who look in the telephone directory for their numbers and, having looked, do not mix up their numbers, for they permit "Information" to snatch a breath now and then.

Blessed are they that neither shout or whisper, neither do they berate the operator, but give their number clearly and with a bit of pep—Yes, some even say "Thank you."

Blessed are they who, when the line is busy, hang up politely making no sarcastic remarks, nor yet bang the receiver in the operator's ear.

Blessed are they who wait patiently on "Long Distance" for verily I say unto you, she works like a slave yet hath twice too many calls to handle.

Blessed are they who, when they get "Information" remember the number she giveth them.

Blessed are they who trust the operator when she saith, "Verily, there is no such number" for truly she can see all the numbers at a glance, while those who are disbelievers are at the other end of the line and see nothing.

Blessed are they who call not when it rains, nor when the fire siren blows or whistles.

Blessed are they who remember that operators are human and make mistakes, that they are truly sorry therefor and will apologize, sometimes even for their sister operator's mistakes.

Blessed are they who teach little children to leave the telephone alone, nor yet expect the operator to understand six-month old infants.

Blessed are they who keep the receiver on the hook when not in use, for they preserve the patience of their neighbors on the line and save the operator and the repair men much valuable time.

Blessed are the men who flirt not, neither do they waste time in small talk.

Blessed indeed, are thou if all these things are true of thee, for thou art indeed an ideal subscriber and all the operators knoweth thee by thy voice and thy number and all rise up and call thee blessed.

RETIRED TEACHER TAKEN BY DEATH

Miss Bessie Jachor Dies in Shaw Hospital Following Long Illness

Miss Bessie Jachor, a teacher in the Manistique grade schools for many years, died at 12:15 a. m. Monday at the Shaw hospital where she had been taken for treatment the day before. She was 60.

Miss Jachor, whose father, Frank Jachor, was a police officer here in pioneer times, was born in Belleville, Ontario, Canada, on Sept. 11, 1876, and came to Manistique with her parents when she was a child. She had lived here for over 60 years, and during that time had been a teacher in the public schools for almost 40 years. She retired in June, 1941.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church and its chapter No. 54, Order of Eastern Star.

In recent years, Miss Jachor had made her home in an apartment at the John Neuman residence, 105 Arbutus avenue. She had no immediate relatives.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock at the Morton funeral home, the Rev. Paul Sobel officiating. Burial was in Lakeview cemetery under the direction of the Morton funeral home.
