

FORMER LOCAL MAN KILLED IN ODD ACCIDENT

Frederick M. Blowers, 35, Electrocutted After Car Hits Power Line Pole

Frederick M. Blowers, 35, of Manistique, was electrocuted about 2:30 Sunday morning when a car in which he was riding struck a power line pole on I-52 in a short distance west of Jackson.

The crash broke the pole and the power line, carrying 6000 volts, snapped. When Blowers stepped out of the car he came in contact with the high voltage line and was killed instantly. His wife, the former Elsie Sebeck, received severe burns on the hands, arms, back and legs, and an eye injury. She is being treated at St. Francis hospital in Escanaba, where the Blowers have resided for the past several months.

Also injured in the accident was Mrs. Omar Yellon, of Escanaba, who sustained a fractured leg. Roy Sebeck, a brother of Mrs. Blowers who resided with them, escaped injury except for a scar mark on his finger.

The two couples were returning to Escanaba from Pine Grove resort at the time of the crash. State police, who investigated the accident, were told by Sebeck that he was driving the car and fell over his shoulder at the wheel. Later, however, he said that Blowers was driving and that this statement was corroborated by Mrs. Blowers and Mrs. Yellon.

When the power line pole broke, the crossarm fell across the top of the car, with a live wire dangling from an insulator on the crossarm. Blowers got out of the automobile on the driver's side and made contact with the live wire which was resting on the ground. He had been out of the car for several minutes after the accident and apparently was electrocuted when he touched either the live wire or the crossarm.

Both Blowers and Sebeck were knocked out temporarily by electric shock when they left the car. Mrs. Yellon, who was lying in the front seat, was not injured, but it is possible further injury or death.

Blowers was born Oct. 5, 1912, in Thompson and moved to Manistique when he was about five years old. He attended Manistique public schools and was married to Elsie Sebeck of Garden, Oct. 10, 1938. The Blowers lived here for some time before going to Escanaba, where Mr. Blowers was in the employ of the Stogah Lumber company.

Fall Program For Manistique Ranger District Announced By Forester

The largest planting program since the days of the Civilian Conservation Corps is planned for the Manistique ranger district of the Michigan National Forest this fall, it was announced this week by Walter G. Wilson, ranger.

The planting program is tentatively scheduled to start about the middle of next week, providing the weather is favorable. A crew of approximately 60 men will be on the job for about six weeks during the planting. Last spring a total of 750,000 Norway pines were planted in the Manistique ranger district. Last fall one million trees were planted.

The Manistique ranger also announced that the Forest Service is offering to purchase as many as 200,000 Norway and jack pine cones as can be obtained. Labor Day of 1947 was not a happy holiday for 18 Michigan motorists who were killed in auto crashes and thousands who were injured or inconvenienced in non-fatal accidents. Pointing to last year's traffic toll over the long weekend, Automobile Club of Michigan urged all motorists to "Take It Easy" this year. Traffic over this holiday will be unusually heavy—probably the greatest concentration of the year—because thousands will be stretching extra time out of the last long weekend of warm weather and because many will be returning from resort areas. Auto Club urges Labor Day motorists to start for home earlier, drive more slowly and observe yellow road markings. Urged all motorists for persons killed on Michigan's highways last year, with 149 traffic deaths out of a total of 1,444 for the year.

Gerard Reno, 15, Drowned Thursday In Quarry Pool

Gerard Reno, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Reno, West Elk street, was drowned at 1:05 p. m. Thursday in the quarry pool at the foot of Maple avenue.

The boy's body was recovered at 2:30 by Delor Weber, who was assisting Trooper Charles Bush, chief of Police Roy Anderson and Hilton A. Ponto, Manistique high school football coach, in dragging operations. Three other boats were being used in the search.

Two hours efforts to locate the lad were made but were not available. The body was removed to the Kefauver and Jackson funeral home, but arrangements for funeral services are incomplete.

According to witnesses, young Reno dove into the quarry, young Reno dove into the water, and as he did so struck Barbara Dybek, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Dybek. The Dybek girl was momentarily stunned and unable to swim, but a companion, Carmen Miller, pulled her out of the water. A number of boys then attempted to find the Reno boy, but without success.

The water is about 40 feet at the point where young Reno went down, and dragging operations were difficult for that reason. A number of scuttled cars and other junk is lying on the bottom of the pool and the draggers recently caught on some of them, hampering the search.

There was a bruise on the drowned youth's right temple, and it is believed that he was knocked out when he struck the Dybek girl.

Gerard was born in Manistique on May 5, 1933. He attended St. Francis de Sales school and would have been a sophomore in Manistique high school this fall.

POLICE WARN ABOUT DRIVING THIS WEEKEND

Traffic Over Labor Day This Year Expected To Set New Record, White Says

Pointing to the fact that Labor Day week end traffic will probably set new records this year, Sgt. Kenneth White, commander of the Manistique state police post, Thursday reminded local residents of the dangers of holiday driving.

"We expect a new all time high in traffic next week end," White said. "Many will be taking their final summer vacation and others will be returning from summer cottages to their children can't start to school. Unless every effort is made to drive safely, last year's death toll of 23 killed in highway accidents in Michigan will be exceeded."

State police headquarters in Lansing report that 20 were killed in traffic accidents during the four day Fourth of July holiday. One-half of the fatalities reported in these accidents were driving on fast for conditions, and the other half included failure to grand right-of-way, improper passing on hills, disregard of stop and warning signs, and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Lists Six Rules Set. White listed six suggestions to insure a safe and sane motor holiday:

- 1. Take it Easy. Don't weave in and out of traffic. Maintain a steady driving pace without excessive speed or racing spurts in traffic.
- 2. Don't drink on wrong side of road. Keep to right at all times.
- 3. Don't pass on hills, curves or at street intersections.
- 4. Get an early start, being on the road at the beginning in crowded traffic. Rest when necessary to overcome fatigue.
- 5. Slow down at sundown; don't overdrive your headlights.
- 6. Watch for cars coming out of side roads, particularly after dusk and obey all traffic signs calling for a "Full Stop."

Recommend Closing Of County Jail

Sheriff Howard Hewitt Commended For "Excellent Job Of Supervision"

A recommendation that the Schoolcraft county jail be closed immediately has been received by G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk, from W. H. Nestle, state jail inspector.

Sheriff Howard A. Hewitt, however, has had no order from the attorney general closing the jail, and until it is given, he said Thursday, "we will continue to operate the jail as it is." Of wood construction, the county jail has long been considered a serious hazard. A proposal to floor it for a new one was turned down by the voters some time ago.

Leslie Bouschor, county clerk, Monday morning, and have since been distributed to the city clerk and the various township clerks. The primary ballot is changed again this year. ### Ishpeming-Manistique Game Here Saturday Inaugurates Great Lakes Conference

When the referee sounds his whistles for the kick-off of the Ishpeming-Manistique high school football game here on Saturday night, September 4, he will not only be signaling the start of that game but will be inaugurating the Great Lakes Conference.

Text books are furnished free in grades from the kindergarten to the sixth, inclusive. In grades seven and eight, a deposit of one dollar is made by students entering these grades for the first time. Students entering high school from the Central eight grade are required to pay a book deposit of one dollar, and others entering high school for the first time make a two-dollar deposit when a student leaves school. The book deposit is refunded at the time of being signed by the member schools, states that the league is being set up for the purpose of promoting and improvement of interschool athletics in the area. Ernest K. Nelson, Negawane, high school principal and first commissioner of the conference, pointed out this week that Manistique has two empty industrial plants and several roads located on railroads. The city and the chamber of commerce should work together on a program, and it would be a good idea if some money were set aside and earmarked for this program. Escanaba did not do this a few years ago, and it is definitely paying off.

Miss Charlene Blanchard of Manistique will leave for Ypsilanti, Mich., to attend the state fair. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Blanchard, 44 Cherry street.

Mr. and Mrs. David Bent have left for Manistique, where the former will teach industrial arts in the high school.

Robert Anderson has arrived to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Anderson.

Webster L. Marble
The man who made the "better mousetrap", 50 years ago this September, was Webster L. Marble.

The founder of the Marble Arms and Manufacturing Company, Gladstone's leading industry, proved the old adage still holds good. A world of sportsmen beat a path, through purchase of his quality hunting and fishing equipment, to the Upper Peninsula small town.

Launching Marble, a timber cruiser, took up a homestead near Frankfort on the lower shore of Lake Michigan. Here his son, Webster, at the age of 14, started to follow the woods as a career.

His ventures into Michigan forests prompted him to design a metal gadget to fit over a small pocket axe. This replaced the unwieldy axe which hung at his belt.

Another hard to believe fact: Ninety percent of Marble-made knives are bought by sportsmen who have no practical need for them. They want a knife as an ornament, to display, or perhaps for the pleasure of merely possessing it.

Today, the business is run efficiently by James T. Jones, general manager since 1912. "Jim" joined the firm in 1905 as an accountant. William L. Marble, eldest son of the founder, is the president of the firm. Jones is president of a subsidiary corporation, Marble-Carl Electric Company, which manufactures electric machinery.

Gladstone, adjacent to Escanaba on Little Bay de Noc of Lake Michigan, has an outstanding recreational program for a town of its size. The city's choice land along the lake front has been converted into a public park, eight blocks long, with a small harbor for boats, beach-house, trailer park with laundry building, and children's swings, playground merry-ground, and slides.

The Gladstone playfield is illuminated for night baseball. A recreation building, 40 by 60, is used in winter months as a warming house for ice skating and hockey and in summer months as a clubhouse. Fishing is excellent in the Little Bay de Noc. Northern pike, walleyes, perch and black bass.

Mr. O. G. Oestreicher returned Tuesday to Detroit following a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry English, Mrs. Oestreicher is the former Margaret English.

See School, County Village Officials Regarding Taxes

The average Michigan citizen wanting to complain about his mounting property tax burden should see his school, county and village authorities.

The other two units of local government, cities and townships, actually reduced total property tax levies during 1947, according to a study just issued by the Michigan Survey, a state taxpayer association.

Adding levies of all five classifications (cities, schools, counties, villages and townships) however, the average taxpayer suffered a 6.45 per cent net increase in 1947 over the previous year, a jump from 232 million in 1946 to $247 million in 1947.

The survey analysis shows that the average Michigan taxpayer paid $71.00 in property taxes in 1947. This compares with the $67.34 paid in 1946. In 1947 he paid an average of $29.79 in city taxes, $26.96 in school taxes, $13.43 in county taxes, $1.57 in village taxes and $8.74 in township taxes, the Survey reports.

Looking at the whole picture, Stevens said local units, in general, obtained higher revenues by increasing property valuations instead of the tax rate. Equalized valuations rose 13.33 per cent or from $7.9 billion in 1946 to $9 billion in 1947.

Twenty-two of Michigan's larger counties paid $223.3 million or 50 per cent of total taxes, according to the Survey report. These were levied against 88 per cent of the total equalized valuation. The remaining 61 counties levied only $23.3 million or 13 per cent of total Michigan property taxes against 12 per cent of the total equalized valuation.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Robinson, of Olivet, were guests last week of Dr. and Mrs. James H. Fyvie. Mrs. Fyvie studied music with Mr. Robinson while she was a student at Olivet college and also following her graduation.

LABOR DAY

The first observance of Labor Day was back in 1882 when the Knights of Labor held a parade in New York. In 1887, Colorado set the pace by declaring Labor Day a legal holiday and eventually all states followed. An Act of Congress in 1894 included the District of Columbia and U. S. territories. So observance of Labor Day is not exactly new. . . . It is a day of tribute to American Labor.

The State Savings Bank will transact no business on Monday, Sept. 6, in observance of Labor Day—a legal holiday.

SCHOOL IS OPEN

TAKE IT EASY

A back-to-school reminder to drivers and pedestrians alike to "Take It Easy" is being issued by Automobile Club of Michigan in the form of the above poster. It and others are being distributed as part of a series to Michigan police chiefs and parochial and public elementary schools. The series will attempt to prevent the traffic death of any Michigan school child crossing the streets during the 1948 opening school days. After rising a third in 1946, traffic deaths of children between ages of 5 to 14 have decreased by 12 per cent in 1947 in the face of greater traffic volumes. Auto Club encourages school safety patrols, teachers, and police forces to unite in reducing accidents every year. A diligent safety patrol boy in each city is annually given a four-day all-expense trip to Washington, D. C. for the AAA safety patrol convention.

Firemen To Get Special Training

Gannon, who served as a member of the Muskegon fire department for 28 years and battalion chief for four years, began his present job of teaching volunteer fire departments in 1946.

Various phases of fire fighting and fire control which are included in the course are ladder evolutions, such as proper placing and rescues with ladders, hose evolutions, use of ropes, fire streams, the use of fog in fire fighting, inspection practices in smaller fire departments, ventilation, fundamentals of fire fighting and fire control and use of gas masks in fire fighting.

Hughson-Rodgers

Evergreen laughs and summer flowers formed the background for the candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at the Presbyterian church at which Miss Jean Hughson, daughter of Kenneth Hughson, of Peoria, Ill., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughson, of this city, became the bride of Harold Rodgers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Rodgers, of Gulliver, The Rev. Paul Sobel read the marriage service at 8 o'clock. Before the ceremony, Miss Margaret Burgess, accompanied by Mrs. A. F. Hall, church organist, sang "I'll Be Loving You Always" and "Because." Mrs. Hall also played the traditional wedding marches. The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, was gowned in full-skirted white nylon over satin with fitted bodice, long sleeves and illusion neckline, accented by tiny lace frills which were centered with rhinestones. Wide lace formed a poplin with bustle effect in the back, and lace also trimmed her fingertip veil which was fastened to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried an ivory-hung net covered by gardenias. Her only bridesmaid, Miss Winnifred Rodgers, sister of the bridegroom, wore an identical gown, also white, with long red gloves and a crownless hat, of net with red ostrich plumes. Her flowers were red and white roses and spranglers. William Bowman, of Gulliver, was best man. The bride's grandmother wore a black print with light hat edged in black and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Rodgers wore aqua and daughter, Mary, Mrs.

with matching hat and her corsage was also of roses. Following Mrs. Byers' sermon, a cordial welcome to all Mrs. V. Buford and Miss Thyrza Thompson will be the hostesses.

Industrial Job Just Starting In Peninsula; Bureau Sets Up Separate Division, Budget

A field representative of the Michigan Department of Economic Development spent more than a year helping 37 Upper Michigan communities, including Manistique, conduct surveys of their industrial location factors and advantages.

That state agency and the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau then co-operated in compiling the survey materials into a brochure, and 13,000 copies of the book have been printed.

With that phase of the project completed, is the Development Bureau—and the 37 communities involved—going to sit back, thinking, "Now it's industry's turn to come to us?"

Nothing could be further from what is actually planned.

As early as last February, Development Bureau executives and members, meeting in Manistique, instructed the organization's executive committee to set up a separate industrial division and a budget of funds over and above the Bureau's normal expenditures.

seeking new locations, President John I. Kerton, of Manistique, and members of the Board of directors acted to carry out the mandate issued at his winter's meeting.

Committees Created

The executive committee, unanimously agreeing that such an effort on the Bureau's part is necessary "if we are to reap returns from the investments already made and if we are to finish the job," created an industrial committee charged with administration of the industrial affairs of the Bureau.

Appointed by Kerton on instructions of the executive board, that committee includes:

- G. Harold Earle, Ironmansville lumber company executive;
- John D. Morrison, Manistique, former state auditor general and head of an audit company;
- Maurice Hunt, mayor of Sault Ste. Marie;
- Howard Billing, Iron River real estate man;
- Gerald Warriner, secretary of the Ontonagon Chamber of Commerce;
- William Johnson, Ironwood, former city manager and now Chamber secretary;
- and George Newton, Iron Mountain businessman.

The industrial committee swung into action immediately.

It set up a budget of $12,000 for operation of the industrial division during the first year and for employment of a qualified director to act as liaison with the Department of Economic Development and to guide Upper Peninsula communities in promoting their individual industrial programs.

Funds will be raised on a cooperative effort among the towns and communities now covered by the survey, in addition to support being sought from interested concerns and individuals in Upper Michigan.

Objectives Outlined

Objectives of the industrial division were outlined as follows: To encourage and assist established industry and the development of new industry; to use local industrial surveys and the general industrial brochure in seeking industrial location advantages in the Peninsula; to create lists of industrial prospects; to report the names and needs of industrial prospects to all communities "which have the proper industrial location factors"; to maintain liaison with state and federal agencies in fields which may affect industrial development; to maintain "the best possible working relations with the Michigan Department of Economic Development"; to provide impartial guidance and counsel for all local committees; to assist in improving surveys; to conduct surveys of industrial development as they affect the general expansion program, and to "Render impartial service" to all communities in Upper Michigan.

The first objective was qualified in order "to place major emphasis upon such communities which have equipped themselves through industrial surveys and other means to present the most effective case to industrial prospects."

Thus, the Upper Peninsula, having gathered the facts about itself under one cover, is seeking to put those facts to use to attract industry into this area.

The Naval Aviation Cadet Program, which has been at a minimum since the war, will be revived in fiscal year 1949, when it will draw from the schools and colleges of the country 2,000 prospective Naval Aviators.

PICTURE OF A FOREST... Burned

$35,000,000! That's the rough yearly cost to the nation of forest fires in timber value alone. That doesn't count the loss of wages to workers in lumbering, pulpwood and other forest industries. It doesn't count the loss of wildlife—nor the loss of hunting, fishing and camping lands.

Fort In Copper Country Was Established In 1844

This picture of Fort Wilkins in 1846 is from a water color painting in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

A fort at the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula once guarded white men's interests in the one-time fabulously rich copper mines there.

Named Fort Wilkins, the stockade was established near the present Copper Harbor May 28, 1844.

Manuscript records in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan indicate the fort was abandoned sometime in the fall of 1846 when its troops were ordered to Mexico. It was re-occupied from Sept. 26, 1867, to Aug. 30, 1870.

The fort has been restored and now is a part of the Fort Wilkins State Park.

Although copper had been known to be in the region since about 1760, its extent was not revealed until Douglass Houghton, Michigan's first official geologist, explored the area in the 1850's.

Mineral Forest products valued at 123 millions color painting contained in a rare four-page handwritten newspaper issued at the fort April 1, 1846. Entitled "The Agate," the newspaper is in the possession of the Michigan Historical Collections.

Faetious Description
The picture shows the fort on the strip of land between Lake Superior and Lake Pansy Howe, which was named after the sister of one of the fort's commanders. Entirely of a factitious nature, the paper states it is "devoted to men, mind, matter, pneumatic and finance; to adventures, advertisements, accidents, and wondrousities."

During the Civil War when complications with the British were at their height the government was quite concerned about the safety of Fort Wilkins as it guarded the country's only large source of copper. As a result of this anxiety, a road was constructed to the fort so that the garrison could be reinforced by land in event of a siege by water.

Busy for a time, the need for Fort Wilkins waned quickly as the region became more settled. So it was that the fort which never fired a shot except in practice was deserted Aug. 30, 1870, and permitted to become a part of the wilderness from which it had been cut.

Michigan Citizens Have Most Cars Per Capita, Report Says

Michigan citizens own more vehicles per capita than citizens throughout the nation, according to "Highway Needs in Michigan," the Michigan Good Roads Federation's engineering analysis of road and street requirements.

"In 1946 there were 28.5 vehicles registered in Michigan for every 100 people, as against a national average of 24.3 vehicles," states the Federation report.

The 12 predominantly industrial counties in the southern part of the state account for two-thirds of all trucks and cars registered. Another 29% are registered in the 25 southern agricultural counties. The northern part of the Lower Peninsula and the Upper Peninsula combined account for less than 14% of the state's vehicles, the report says.

Tuberculin Tests Show Good Results In This County

An intensive program of tuberculin testing of cattle has been carried on in the upper peninsula this summer. Testing of cattle in four counties: Alger, Keweenaw, Houghton, and Gogebic, is nearing completion and it is hoped in September to begin the work in Ontonagon and Marquette counties.

Work in Lapeer and Schoolcraft counties has been completed and they have been reaccertified, indicating that less than 1/2 of 1% of reactor animals were found.

Mineral Forest Products Valued At 123 Millions

Production of minerals and the harvesting of forest products - two of the region's greatest industries - was worth at least $123,000,000 to Upper Michigan last year.

A study of information received from state and federal agencies, made by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, shows that metallic and non-metallic minerals taken out of the ground last year were valued at $75,340,786 and that the value of rough forest products was $48,000,000.

Topping the list was iron, of which 12,625,806 long tons, valued at $63,238,828 was produced. That was the value of upper lake docks. A total of 47,544,767 pounds of copper was refined, with a value at the smelter of $10,584,978. About 1,422 1/2 ounces of silver was also refined, valued at $1,280.

In non-metallic minerals 445,000 tons of sand and gravel, 4,300,000 tons of limestone and dolomite and 45,200 tons of such miscellaneous materials as stone, clay and crushed stone was recovered from the ground and brought a combined value of $2,145,000.

Much Stays Here
"Approximately $35,000,000 stays in the state from the iron industry and approximately $8,000,000 remains here from the copper industry," F. G. Farlee, Assistant State Geologist, reports.

The copper production of 46,544,767 pounds is that obtained from produced - mines, reclamation and secondary - approximately 97,000,000 pounds.

"While the total value of forest products amounted to approximately $48,000,000 in 1947, that figure represents the value of rough products at mill or local point of delivery," the Development Bureau says of its survey. "It does not represent the processed value - sawlogs to lumber, pulpwood to pulp or paper, and so forth."

Using a figure which includes processing sawlogs and pulpwood into their respective finished products, the total estimated value of the 1947 harvest of forest products would be approximately $110,000,000.

Display At U-M Features Early English Books

Today's singers of the "blue" might well take a look at an early 17th century volume in the University of Michigan Library, titled "The Anatomy of Melancholy."

This book, first printed in London in 1621, sold well in its day, and went through eight editions during the life of the author, Richard Burton. Evidently interest in melancholy, which Burton defined as "anguish of the mind, accompanied by fear and sorrow, but without a fever," ran high in educated circles in England.

This analysis of melancholy—the Kinds, Causes, Symptoms, Prognosticks, and several Cures of it—is one of a number of English books being exhibited in the University Library. All books on exhibit are first or other early editions.

Twentieth century students will doubtless agree with the 17th century writer on melancholy, who declared that this "anguish of the mind is a plague of students, for study weakens their bodies, dulls their spirits, abates their strength and courage."

Englishmen of the 16th and 17th century were likewise interested in the accepted standards of manners of the day, for books on etiquette sold then even as they do now. Among the more popular were "The Book of the Courtier," written by the Italian Castiglione. Translated into English, the book was printed in London in 1561, and the Michigan Library exhibits a first edition.
Better known to students of literature are such items as a 1622 folio edition of Shakespeare's collected plays, and first editions of Johnson's Dictionary, John Galsworthy's poems, Robinson Crusoe, Gulliver's Travels, and many other famous English works.

A three-day carnival conducted by personnel of the Naval Air Station, Alameda, Calif., recently raised $13,000 for the Navy Relief Society.

Ski Association To Meet Later This Month

Plans for the winter skiing program in Manistique will be discussed at the first meeting of the Manistique Ski Association, scheduled for this month. The meeting will be held on Tuesday by Leonard J. Hart, president of the association.

The date for the meeting will be announced later. Hart's arrangements contemplated for this year include the installation of a tow rope lift at the hill, near the quarry pond; development of a junior ski jump at the slalom hill; and reconstruction of the slalom hill at the eastern city limit.

The proposed lift at the slalom hill will be composed of a hand-operated rope powered by a horsepower electric motor.

Edwin J. Thompson is committee chairman in charge of the slalom hill. The junior lift will be under the direction of Art Allen, and Russell Finn, chairman of the senior hill.

Local Boy Gets Autographs Of Packer Players

Jon Schuster, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Otmer Schuster, is proudly showing off his playmates these days the autographs of the entire Packer football team.

Jon, in Green Bay for the week end with his mother, was the guest of Lee Johannes, Husson company agent, who took him to Rockwood Lodge, where the Packers have their training and living quarters, and spent three hours there.

The little black book in which they signed their names is currently his most valuable possession.

Plans for expansion of the league into other sports are already underway, according to Nelson, and it is quite probable that a conference track meet will be held next spring. Conference officials are also investigating the possibility of adding baseball next year.

Conference standings in each sport will be determined by the percentage of conference games won and lost by each school. A trophy has been purchased and as soon as received will be placed on display in the schools belonging to the league. The trophy will be held by the conference champion each year and will be retained permanently by the first school which wins it three times. Ties for titles will be counted on the same basis as untied championships. In addition,
