PUBLIC SCHOOL BUDGET IS SET AT $182,258

Figures For Year Submitted To City Council By Board of Education

A school budget providing for this estimated expenditure was presented to the council for approval by the city board of education. Most of the funds for operation of city schools will come from state aid.

PARKING METER PROJECT AGAIN COUNCIL TOPIC

Additional Information To Be Sought From Other Peninsula Cities

The advisability of installing parking meters in the business districts of Manistique was discussed at the regular meeting of the Manistique city council Monday night, and the city clerk was instructed to obtain additional information on meters from other upper peninsula cities which are using them.

The matter was brought up by Councilman Otto Schuringh who reported that parking meters were reported to have been installed in May in Lansing last year. The matter was discussed at the regular meeting of the Manistique city council Monday night, and the city clerk was instructed to obtain additional information on meters from other upper peninsula cities which are using them.

The parking meter project was initiated about two years ago by several local business firms. A questionnaire subsequently mailed by the chamber of commerce to business firms revealed that business sentiment was about equally divided for and against the meters. The council at that time, however, took no action, although prices and installation procedure were obtained from firms manufacturing meters.

Old Quilt Show In Peoples Store Interesting One

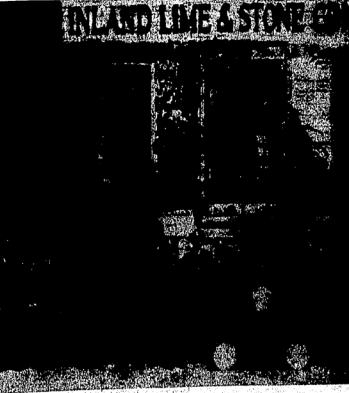

An old, unusual quilt, recently found in the attic of the Methodist parsonage, is now on display at the Peoples Store.

The quilt was completed in August of 1898 by Mrs. Surepta Fitcher and contains the names of approximately 658 local residents of that far away time. Each name is carefully and beautifully sewn into the quilt by hand.

One block of the quilt states, in handwritten letters, that each person paid a dime to have his or her name placed on it. The total amount raised is given as $85.00.

The names of many prominent pioneer families appear on the quilt. Many residents who examine the quilt will find names of relatives, parents and others whom they knew in their younger days.

Iowa 'Mother Of The Year' Likes That Honor Best Of All In Busy Career Life

None of the honors she has received in a career which has brought her state and national prominence has ever meant to Mrs. Hiram C. Houghton, vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Manistique, than the district federation meeting, what the most recent one does—that of being chosen Iowa's American Mother of the Year for 1948. Mrs. Houghton, who lives in Red Oak, Iowa, a community about the size of Manistique, is living proof of her own belief that the home is the center of our living but not the circumference. The mother of four children, three sons and a daughter now grown up and married, Mrs. Houghton has for many years been beyond the borders of a busy home life to achieve state and national recognition in a dozen fields. A native of Red Oak, Mrs. Houghton struck the center of the United Nations charter as part of our mental equipment. (Continued on page 10)

SPORTS ABIELD
By Ted Kesting

"I am entirely convinced that the color of a lure does make considerable difference on the days when they're (bass) not striking well." That is Jason Lucas, well known authority on bass talking.

He finds that a red and white plug brings best results if it's shallow running. Silver and bronze scale are very good on shallow-running lures. But these are also good in deep fishing. The same might be said of orange.

However, in deeper fishing there doesn't seem to be a rule regarding size, action, or color which works consistently. It's a case of trying everything until one finds what works.

In the hot weather of mid-summer when the best bet of all is to fish the very bottom in quite deep water, Lucas is satisfied with plain white plug or one mostly white, and one of a dirty-brown color.

You'll find one retrieve is all that is necessary. Let the lure sink clear to the bottom and rest a moment, then sweep it along a little distance, not too rapidly, and let it sink and rest again. Then watch out for the outside granddaddies.

A bass seems to prefer to lunge behind weeds, stone, or logs and spring out in the middle or toward the head. For that reason, in some bass fishing Lucas removes a spinner placed well ahead of the lure; too many will strike the spinner and miss the books.

Contrary to common belief, a bass rarely strikes it lightly in his lips. The usual angler works his lure far too rapidly to be aware of this. A slow lure will always get more strikes than a fast one. But there can be no daydreaming. The angler must be wide-awake and ready to set the hook in a flash. This is particularly true in surface fishing.

In surface lures color doesn't seem to matter much. It appears to be the action, the ripples and let him think it is alive . . . some little splashes that count most; thing that has fallen on the water. But here, as elsewhere, the longer and is partly stunted.

a plug remains within feeding range of a log bass the more likely he is to take it. It should be Michigan ponds are driven by moved or twitched occasionally to creation-seekers

He had been traveling about the United States and had just arrived in East Tawas for a visit at headquarters of the Huron National Forest.

"You Americans are so wasteful," he said. "I cannot understand it. Over in Czechoslovakia we try to plant trees as we cut them. We do not let any part of the trees go to waste. Even small sticks are gathered as faggots to burn in stoves. But in this country —it seems such a pity. You Americans waste so much."

Valitta voiced his wonderment in a talk here with John Franson, Franson related it to us when

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh "Farming" Versus "Ranching"

Talked to some editors who run my column in their papers—in states where there's mostly cattle and sheep raising—about the differences there might be between farming and ranching.

And they told me: "Joe, there's no real difference between cattlemen and farmers. We make our living from the land like your folks do; we have the same 4-H Clubs and Granges; the same problems of prices and marketing.

"When it comes to recreation, we have the same liking to get together now and then for a horse-and a friendly glass of beer."

And from where I sit, that about sums it up. Ranchers may have different names for things or grow different crops. But all over America folks who work the land share these common traits of hard work, sober moderation, and good fellowship, whether they're growing cattle for beef, or barley for good American beer and ale.

Joe Marsh

Copyright, 1948, United States Brewers Foundation we dropped in for a chat. The chat ended up in a day's inspection tour of a few of the 450,000 acres of federal forests under his wing.

After getting a close-up of what Uncle Sam is doing to rebuild our vanishing forests, we were both worried over the future and somewhat reassured. It's hard to explain.

Here's a fast picture, as we got it.

"The United States is rapidly becoming a have-not nation in natural resources.

According to the last annual report of the Forest Service, the nation's woodpile has been reduced 44 per cent in the past 36 years.
And listen to this: The annual drain on the nation's forest approximates 54 billion board feet, while the annual growth is only 35 billion board feet.

"The annual loss is greater than annual growth by more than 50 per cent!

Maybe the Czech forester was right, after all.

And get the picture isn't all black. There's a silver lining or two.

"I believe there is a change of national thinking about our national resources," commented Franson. He is a career man in federal forest work; a native of Boston who went to the University of Michigan. "Congress increased funds this year for tree planting, and as a result, 12,000 acres of trees are to be planted in Michigan. Crews started their work in Huron National Forest last Monday (Sept. 13)."

"The money spent will be an investment rather than an expense.
National forests are beginning to "earn" their own way, covering cost of planting by sale of timber.
Approximately 2,800,000 pine trees will be planted in the Huron forests alone.

A tractor and a tree-planting machine, manned by only two men, can plant 10,000 to 12,000 trees in one day—about three times more than by hand. Trees lie dormant over winter.

Jack pines, planted 1,000 to an acre, about six feet apart, will mature in 60 years. If the soil is right, white pines are used. The seedlings are planted close together so that each tree will be forced upward to get its share of sunlight, and the result will be a tall pine tree. In 25 years the first thinning is done, and sale of this pulpwood will cover cost of the original planting. Then in another 25 to 40 years the trees will be thinned again.

As the old trees are cut, new seedlings are planted. Then you have a perpetual supply of wood.

Timber contractors used to import southern whites to cut the Huron woods. When the trees were all gone, the southerners became welfare clients of the community.

The modern system is much better. The Forest Service helped 120 farmers to organize a cooperative, the Assable Forest Products Association. Proceeds of Huron pulpwood, sold to paper mills at Muskegon and near Ludington, are pro-rated among members according to acre cut. The co-op has provided a steady income to suppli-ment farmers' earnings, especially during winters. Wages now average $1 an hour.

As substitutes for taxes, 25 per cent of stumpage receipts are returned by Uncle Sam to county governments. And 10 per cent comes back for local road improvements.

A careless camper started a forest fire here last May. Fed by a 20-million-hour wind, flames raced east across of pine country in a fence of two miles in 90 minutes.
Foresters and farmers checked the conflagration only by literally fighting fire with fire.

If dry weather cycle returns, and Franson fears it is now due, the peril of fire will be greatly increased.

More of a danger, however, is public indifference to the steady draining of our timber resources.
We can't continue to cut and burn more trees than we grow. Our water level is dropping steadily.
Soil erosion has soared as man turned forests and grasslands into open, bare fields. Dust howls are man-made.

Our visit to the Huron National Forest convinced us of one thing: It's significant. Planting of trees under expert supervision and long-range control, is a sound national investment—one that is self-supporting, paying steady dividends.

It takes 60 to 100 years to grow a tree. What are we waiting for?

Home Economics Clubs Will Have Fall Rally Day

The Home Economics clubs of Schoolcraft county will get their 1948-1949 program under way at the second annual Fall Rally Day next Wednesday, September 22, it was announced this week by Fred C. Bernhardt, district 4-H Club agent.

The Rally Day program will be held at the Germfak community building in Germfak. Plans for the rally were made at a meeting of the Schoolcraft county Home Economics executive committee, held last week at the home of Mrs. Frank Arrowood.

The plans include an officer training meeting at 3:00 p. m. A pot luck supper will be held at 6:00 p. m., followed by a short business meeting and a recreation program.

Twelve clubs plan to take part in the program. New Home Economics clubs are being organized at Hiawatha and Grand Marais and their members probably will attend also.

The Home Economics clubs look forward to a busy season with sessions on legal phases in homemaking, a Christmas workshop, refinishing furniture, over meals, and the use and care of the sewing machine, Bernhardt announced.

At present the Home Economics county officers are:
President, Mrs. Frank Arrowood, Route 1.
Treasurer, Mrs. John Manning, Route 1.
Secretary, Mrs. Larry Applegate, Blancy.

Other groups interested in taking part in the home economics program may receive further information from any of the county officers or from the county extension office in Room 12 of the post office building.

FOUR GENERATIONS

Four generations recently gathered at the rural home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton D. Reid, near Indian Lake. Pictured above with Mr. Reid are his grandmother, Mrs. Cora Thompson, 83, of Marlette, Mich., seated in the chair; his mother, Mrs. Floyd Reid, 58, also of Marlette; and his son, David, three and one-half months old.

This was Mrs. Thompson's first visit to the upper peninsula, and the first time she had seen her great grandson. It was also Mrs. Floyd Reid's first look at her new grandson. Both women came to Manistique by bus from Marlette which is near Detroit.

Mr. Reid is agricultural agent for both Schoolcraft and Alger counties.

Students In High School Need Math, Professor Says

Ann Arbor—High school students who hope to go to college should examine the mathematics requirements of the college course they plan to take, a committee of Michigan college mathematics has warned.

Phillip S. Jones, instructor in mathematics at the University of Michigan and a member of the committee, points out that high school examinations may enter college even though they did not take mathematics in high school. However, many college courses of study, particularly in scientific and technical fields, will be closed to them.

"By high school mathematics, we mean at least a year of algebra and a year of geometry," Jones explains. "Many high school students fail to realize that these courses, when taken, are essential for the study of mathematics in college."

Our Policy on PONTIAC Deliveries and Prices

Despite the fact that Pontiac has built over a half-million cars since the resumption of production after the war, demand still exceeds supply. In the face of this production record, those who place orders now will still experience some delay in delivery. If you are among the many people who feel that Pontiac represents an outstanding value—and wish to order a Pontiac for future delivery—you will be interested in the following policy on retail distribution which we, as Pontiac dealers, will observe:

- ORDERS FILLED BY PRIORITY: A definite proportion of the cars we receive from the factory is set aside for preferential delivery to users whose work is in the public welfare and to others with certain occupational requirements.
YOU SPECIFY ACCESSORIES: While most of our customers order their cars equipped with accessories, we do not force accessories as a condition of sale.
REGARDING TRADE-INS: Naturally, if you have a car to trade, we would like to have it in order to take care of our regular used car customers.

PONTIAC RETAIL DELIVERED PRICES IN MANISTIQUE. Table with columns for Torpedo Models (6 Cyl, 8 Cyl) and Streamliner Models (6 Cyl, 8 Cyl) and their respective prices.

Iowa Mother Of Year Likes That Honor The Best

(Continued from page 1) "These principles should not only be committed to memory, but to our living, and I would like to see every school and library in the country with a framed copy of it," she said.

The year was asked by the interviewer in the radio broadcast which announced her selection what was her secret formula for raising her wonderful family and also carrying on a career? "I replied that I thought it was happiness in doing things together," Mrs. Hoaghton smiled.

OUR DEMOCRACY

The true test of civilization is not the census, nor the size of cities nor the crops—no, but the kind of man the country turns out.

I am an American. A free American. Free to speak—without fear. Free to worship my own God. Free to stand for what I think right. Free to oppose what I believe wrong. Free to choose those who govern my country.

men and other impromptu gatherings and we have a wonderful time. There are four grandchildren, so our home is a lively place.

Family in Red Oak All four of the Houghton children live in Red Oak. The two elder sons are in the Houghton State Bank, a family institution, with their father, who is president; the youngest is in law school at the University of Iowa, and incidentally wears a Phi Beta Kappa key; and their daughter is married to a lawyer practicing in Red Oak. All three sons and their son-in-law saw combat in the war.

"The home can combat our most serious evils, divorce, juvenile delinquency and fear of war, and it can rid the world of intolerance," Mrs. Houghton said. Intolerance she defines as "something you're not up on it." Children are born without prejudice, she said, but those who develop them "tear them at their parents' knees."

Mrs. Houghton uses a word she likes very well—indifference—which Madame Chiang-kai-Chek used in a talk before Wellesley graduates. It is a botanical term meaning "close at maturity." Too many women refuse to be flexible in their thinking, refuse to change early notions of intolerance for instance, or fail to go beyond their homes to make the fine contributions they are capable of making to their community and nation, she declared.

Needs For Good Home A home should have these five qualities to make it a good one, says Mrs. Houghton. "First, it should be economically sound; second, physically beautiful and by that I mean that it should be bright and gay not orientals and grand pianos; third, it should be socially responsible; fourth, mentally stimulating; and fifth, spiritually singing."

Mrs. Houghton is a friend of the Shop in Manistique.

Manistique Meets Old Rivals, Negaunee Miners, Here Friday

An old rival, Negaunee, will be the Manistique high school football team's opposition in a night game here Friday. The Emeralds, with two wins under their belts for an undefeated record so far, are bent on victory over the Miners who have a straggling season this season. Negaunee's coach is Oscar Wassberg, former Manistique grid mentor.

The team is concentrating in this week's practice workouts on line play and pass defense. The Emeralds opened the season with a 7 to 0 win over Ishpeming Sept. 4 and in last week's 20 to 0 victory over Joseph Herberts. She first met Mr. Herbert at a national meeting for university and college regents in Iowa City, and later spent a week with them in Ann Arbor. She is now serving her second six-year term as a member of the board of regents for Higher Institutions of Learning in Iowa, and is a past president of the Iowa State Library Association. She has held several offices in the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs, and at present vice president of the year is unopposed for the presidency of the General Federation in 1950. That will take her to Washington for a son-in-law saw combat in the war.

She has spoken in 40 states and in January will go to Havana, Cuba, for a speaking engagement. She is now enroute to state Women's club conventions in Colorado, Idaho and South Dakota, and later goes to Spokane for a regents' meeting. "But every day I'm away from home, I'm lonesome for my family," she smiled. "I'm always so glad to get back."

EMERALDS WIN AT STEPHENSON, 20-0

Manistique Team Clicks Again; Jackson Makes 70-Yard Touchdown Run

Couch Hilton Pont's Emeralds scored their second victory of the season at Stephenson Saturday afternoon with a 20 to 0 win over the Stephenson Eagles.

The Manistique eleven opened strong in the first period, threatening to score early in the game after recovering a Stephenson fumble. The locals twice advanced beyond the 20-yard line but were thrown back by penalties.

In the second period, however, an intercepted pass set up a score, John Quick going over from the two yard line after the Emeralds had moved down the field from the 35-yard stripe. The kick for the extra point was not good.

Don Jackson made a spectacular 70-yard run on the second half kick off for the second touchdown of the game. Hartman, who received the kick, hurried a backward pass to Jackson on a reverse play and Jackson dashed the 70 yards for pay territory. Quick booted the extra point.

The Michigan Farmer awards for the outstanding 4-H boy and girl in the county will also be announced. 4-H Club members who participated in both the winter and summer program in the last year are expected to attend. Frequent substitutions were made by both teams, especially in the fourth period, as Stephenson sparked an aerial offensive that gained several first downs before the threat was ended by an intercepted pass.

JARMAN "Moc-Sans" BETTER THAN EYES

News of a fire aboard the cruise ship Tapska as it lay in a Pearl Harbor drydock last week was of especial interest to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kratze, 112 North 3rd street, for their son, Leon Peterson, is aboard.

Eight sailors were injured while fighting the fire, which was caused by explosions in an after-entertainment of the ship. One is in St. Ann hospital with first and second degree burns. Three others received second degree burns and four were burned superficially.

According to information released by the 14th naval district, hydrochloric acid in the ship's laundry had been temporarily stored in a compartment in the after part of the light cruiser. Heat in the compartment caused the contents of hydrochloric acid to boil. This mixed with stored DDT, which has a kerosene base, to touch off and feed the blaze.

Peterson, 20, has been in the navy for about two and one-half years. He was home on leave last May.
