Local Board Registers Opposition; Robert Berger Is President

The Manistique board of education, at a meeting Tuesday evening, went on record as opposing the federal exemption from the school athletic events and entertainments. The board took the position that such activities are essential and a necessary part of the educational system, and because of the general need for funds to provide adequate operating and instructional facilities.

It was decided to ask Congressman Charles E. Potter to support any act exempting the schools from the federal tax. Bills in the amount of $27,732.25 were introduced at Tuesday's meeting, and other business included authorization of the purchase of 23 chairs for the biology room; approval of a motion to purchase wire netting for the back-stop of the tennis court at Central school; and purchase of a paint sayer.

Robert Berger was selected president of the board of education at its organization meeting held "last" week. Dr. George A. Shaw was named vice president, and J. Mauritz Carlson, treasurer. Mrs. Alice Reilly was re-elected secretary.

Manager Fiasco Here Subject Of Editorial In Peoria Paper

Although Manistique is conducting a blueberry festival in a couple of weeks to advertise the Manistique area to people throughout the middlewest, the city council by recent action has beaten the blueberry festival committee to the public punch. It would now appear that the city manager is conducting a fiasco.

Manistique apparently has obtained a lot of notoriety because of the action of three members of the council in their recent action of firing the city manager's salary. Many persons have reported seeing articles about the matter in several outside newspapers.

That the political upsurge created by the council's action gained attention in regions far removed from Manistique is proven by the following editorial, taken from a recent issue of the Peoria Star, of Peoria, Ill.

FLOTSAM JETSAM

Manistique now has one of the largest municipal bands in the upper peninsula. It is a growing organization, with a lot of young musicians. Unfortunately this fine band group does not have a satisfactory place to give its outdoor summer concerts. That has been the hand which has been taken out of the music and given some serious consideration.

At the time the proposed band proposition was being studied, drawings of the necessary band stands and seating arrangements were made. It was suggested that the band should be located on city-owned property near the quarry pool. It is generally felt that this would be an extensive municipal project for that area.

It would be a sound idea if an estimate of the cost of construction of the band shell would be obtained. If our initial efforts are frustrated on the band shell it is not diverted to landscaping and other matters. The band shell would not be too expensive and with a little cooperation from the service clubs and city council, the project could be completed even this year.

Our industrial policy being adopted by an increasing number of plants throughout the middlewest will have a direct bearing on our northern vacation business, and also on the needs of families who seek recreation in the northern part of the state.

It is the policy of closing industrial plants completely for the annual two weeks' vacation period. Many industrial managers are satisfied, and this system of giving its employees general vacations. While operators of plants run with full crews, they are closed for the vacation period only maintenance and repair men are kept at work to perform machine overhauling and repair work as needed.

Majority of these plants, it is felt, will close for the vacation during the month of August. The significance of this is obvious to any person who operates a summer resort. It is the men who get the vacation. So many people who vacation in August that resort areas are likely to be swamped with thousands who find their vacationing shattered because of the shutdown of the vacation areas. It is not saying that this is an already existing, but it is only on its way.

Most operators may find their plants only partly used from August 1, and then for weeks they find it necessary to turn away many people who accommodate. Either they will have to enlarge to meet the August load, or they will have to raise, or to higher their associations, or industrial plants to close on their vacation close, and thereby prevent this kind of flooding of the vacation areas. It is in this way that we can be a service to the resort area, but even more so, it is a service to the employees of the various plants. A good vacation would probably be had for them.

whose legs are bare and whose skin is particularly susceptible to its poison. But adults and children old enough to recognize the plant may accidentally come in contact with it in their play, picking, golfing, hiking, or riding. Then, too, the poison of the plant, a non-volatile oil, can be carried by fire smoke, on soil and dust, on the fur of domestic animals, on clothing, on garden tools or on wood for the fireplace or furnace. Strong Soap Suggested Anyone who thinks he has been exposed to the poison should scrub thoroughly with strong soap and water. First symptoms of the poison are an itching sensation followed by tiny blisters. If blisters appear, the victim should immediately see his physician. The physician can give a "shot" which will usually prevent or modify the poisoning. Ivy poisoning is always unpleasant, and it can cause serious illness which requires hospitalization. To destroy the plant the department of health says one can use any hand or machine spray equipment. With three-quarters of a pound of "ammate"—ammonium sulfamate—to a gallon of water or each square foot of dense growth. One ounce of 2, 4-D acid or eight gallons of water is also effective. The killing action does not take place at once. "Ammate" kills the plant in five to ten days; 2,4-D, in about three weeks. The 2,4-D spray should be repeated in three weeks if the plants are still green. Spraying should be repeated each spring until plants no longer appear. The sprays will kill all broad-leaved plants so care should be used to keep the sprays, even their mist, from valuable cultivated plants. The sprays do not poison animals, and they do not poison man or irritate his skin.

U-M Seeks Cheaper Isotopes for Cancer Studies

ANN ARBOR — Experimental work on industrial production of chemical isotopes for use in studies of cancer and other physiological processes is being carried on at the University of Michigan.

Shown making adjustments in the pilot plant being constructed for isotope production is worthy T. Boyd, graduate student working under direction of Prof. Robert H. White. The isotopes, or "varieties" of chemical elements, thus manufactured will not be radioactive but can be used as "tracers" in cancer studies.

Object of the experiments is to find a method of producing isotopes on a large scale less expensive than is possible in the atom ovens at Oak Ridge, Tenn. The research is carried on under a grant from the American Cancer Society.

the 40 acres and to put up signs.

From the high bank is a commanding view of a scenic river bend. Three springs provide cold water in great abundance.

Verily, a dream place for a quiet weekend.

We arrived late Friday in great anticipation.

Thirty minutes later an automobile from Pontiac pulled up to a birch grove west of the high banks. A tent soon appeared, and with it two men, a woman, boy and a dog.

"I've been camping at this spot for years," enthused one of the men. "Beautiful view, ain't it?"

Four more kindred souls seeking peace in the North Country, I surmised. So I invited them to stay.

Saturday morning, after I finished up cleaning up the rubbish left by deer hunters the winter before, two fly fishermen appeared in an ancient car. Their glass windows had once been, fly rods stuck out, parking the car carelessly at an angle, the men descended the bank carrying a basket filled with hot-dog buns and there camped for the day.

By twilight the parade of automobiles, bringing more fishermen and sight-seers had worn a deep rut in the road by the trailer. The misuses closed the trailer windows.

"Too much dust," she said.

I'm not sure I had her. The campers' dog was howling for food. And some one had left a car radio going full blast.

Then the fishermen with "number daughters" appeared. Laden down with creel and equipment, they descended the bank to the AnSable amid farewells of their families. Straggled inside the "doughnuts" they would float down to the Red Oak bridge, two miles downstream. Our guests explained they "always" pushed off from this spot.

Other tourists arrived with canoes or boats.

"Where can I put this boat in the river?" was the usual query. Like a traffic cop presiding over a busy street, I volunteered detailed instructions to each guest.

"Drive down the trail to the first bend. Park your car there. Carry the canoe down the footpath to the river's edge. A swell place!"

Across the river, down at the bend, two men were putting up a cabin. They had engaged the Indian Trail lodge on Kellogg road to furnish lumber. The easiest way to deliver it was by boat, ferrying the supplies across the stream from our camp, and all with out-of-control horn signals and put-putting of an outboard motor.

Our Sunday guests included a fellow who took possession of a deep front hole near the springs' outlet. Well, by actual count, more than 60 persons—men, women, children and pets—swarmed over our kamad land in one week-end. Ply rods to the left. Canoes to the right.

It suddenly dawned on us that a lot of other folks had traveled to the spacious North Country, too, in quest of solitude and relaxation. It also dawned on us that we were vastly outnumbered—a good 80 to 1—as to enjoyment of this popular AnSable camping and fishing spot. The place fairly shouted: "Don't fence me in!"

Well, we don't intend to. Who are we to disposess so many people of their pleasure? Anyhow, we're too tired!

Hughes-Laurion

Shew white embroidered organ- over latta, styled with fitted bodice and full skirt and gaiters with large sash, was worn by Miss Sally Anne Hughes for her wedding Saturday morning. The daughter of Mrs. Gordon W. Hughes and the late Mr. Hughes, became the bride of Clement J. Laurion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Laurion, at an 11 o'clock ser- vice held by the Rev. Father Thomas Audary in the Blaney Park chapel. White flowers, daisies predominating, and evergreens decorated the chapel for the ceremony. Before the service there was an interlude of organ music played by Mrs. James H. Fyvie, and Mrs. George Morton sang Gounod's "Ave Maria." Mrs. Fyvie also played the traditional wedding marches of Wagner and Mendels- sohn. When the bride entered the chapel with her brother, David, who gave her in marriage, she was also wearing a wide-brimmed hat of white hairshair braid and car- ried a bouquet of Madonna lilies and stephanids with trailing green and white ivy. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Dean, wore embroidered yellow Swiss organ- ize, with smug-fitting bolles finish- ed at the neckline and sleeves with a seagull border and scallops edging the full skirt. She wore long matching gloves and her crownless hat of yellow organza bore a spray of white carnations and sweet peas matching the flow- ers in her bouquet. Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Swenberg, of Ludington, a college friend of the bride's at the University of Mich- igan, and the bride's sister, Miss Janet Hughes. Miss Newberg wore pink and Miss Hughes blue gown- s of embroidered organza similar- ly styled, with the slender bodice, bouffant skirt and long sash. Each wore a hat of organza trimmed with a spray of fresh flowers like those in their bouquets of pink ro- ses, sweet peas and glossy green ivy. Robert Borst, of Marinette, was best man and nephews were the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Rob- ert Olson, of Houghton, and Ar- thur Fountain. A beautifully ap- pointed breakfast was served at the luncheon at Blaney Park to about forty guests. The long table for the bridal party and smaller ones for guests were centered with crys- tal bowls of mock orange, white carnations, larkspur, and gypso- phila.
