A NOVEL HEN PARTY.

Each Guest Brought as a Contribution The Buston Traveler tells of a new kind of hen party that has found favor in that city. It bears no resemblance to the tire-honored idea that tea and chitchat, gossip and smart hats, crastitute the necessary adjuncts to use particular gatherings. The interest centers alout a real live hen of feathers, her chicks and her eggs. The buryl originated in this fashion: A young bride and groom took a house in the subrist and want to housekeepling. A misculerous friend called to sery a deserted henner, which sungested an idea to his feetile brian, it as one communicated his idea to

ROSE BROTHER

A party of Macalese and Friends, about sixty in number, dove out to the residence of John Woolruff Monday inght, it being that gentleman shirth-day anniversary. It was a genuine sur-prise, the family having retired 1-sfore-the crowd arrived. They had a most exceedible of the control of the con-enjoyable time L. Rosenthal & Co's store wa to the public yesterday. The store is most excellently arranged and is filled to overflowing with a handsome, well selected line of goods. The fine dressed
