A HOT TIME!

Was What the Spanish Gunners Had at Matanzas, Wednesday P. M.

U. S. Fleet Hammers Their Batteries with Shot and Shell.

12 Inch Shell From Puritan Throws Half a Battery 60 Feet in the Air.

The gunners in the 12 inch battery at Matanzas will remember Wednesday afternoon for some time to come. A shot from one of their masted batteries, directed at the gunners of the New York and Chambliss, the main battery, and how they wish they hadn't done it.

While the New York was engaged by the Puritan was emitting off shore, giving the location of several new batteries the Spanish were erecting the Carbon battery fired a shot which fell about a mile from the Puritan's port beam. The monitor instantly swung round and opened fire with her small guns but the shells fell short. The 12 inch monitors were then let loose and the New York and Chambliss opened with their 5, 6 and 5 inch guns.

The Spanish gunnery was hot, not a shell falling within 100 yards of the vessel, but for the American's the best shot proved excellent targets. The ships, ranging up within 3,000 and 4,000 yards of the shore. At every shot from a man-of-war, sections of fort would be seen going skyward. The monitor was ordered to close up and as she executed the movement a small iron shot was fired at her, the shell dropping between the monitor and the New York. Like a flash the Puritan replied with a 12 inch shell which struck the very spot from which the shot was fired. The shell exploded with terrific force and a mass of sand and earth was hurled 60 feet in the air. When the smoke cleared away, nearly half the battery was gone. The fleet then withdrew.

The monitor Terror captured the Spanish steamer Garbo after wrecking her pilot house with a solid shot. Admiral Dewey is reported as saying that he will reduce Manila to ruins.

BE A BRAVE BOY TO THE FRONT.

Kelso Goes to Toledo to Fight with Battery D, U. S. G.

Levy Kelso, employed in the general office of the Chicago Lumbering Co., and a brother of C. E. Kelso, cashier of the C. L. and secretary and treasurer of the W. L. Co., received a telegram from his old home in Toledo, Ohio, Monday, requesting him to re-enlist in his former position in the ranks of Battery D, Ohio National Guard, which had been called out by Governor Bushnell in response to the call for volunteers by President McKinley. Although Mr. Kelso had received an honorable discharge from the last war two weeks ago, he promptly telegraphed that he would be with them and immediately made preparations to leave on the early train Tuesday morning.

During his short residence in this city Mr. Kelso has made many friends who were determined that he should receive a proper send-off. The Manistique Cornet Band volunteered their services and a procession was formed to escort the young man to the depot. While he preferred to walk, the crowd would not allow it and he was piled on in the front of the float borne on the shoulders of four patriotic young men. The stars and stripes and the red, white, and blue emblem with its single star under which the brave Cuban patriots have so long braved Cuba Libre, were unfurled taken up. The band discoursed patriotic airs on the way and while the many people gathered at the depot were grasping his hands and wishing him God-speed, he uttered "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" in truly patriotic form.

Mr. Kelso was a member of Battery D for two years previous to his removal to this city and held the position of guide and clerk. The battery is equipped with four Gatling guns, has a complement of 63 officers and men and is one of the oldest military organizations in Ohio. They are drilled in a high state of perfection and will un-

The timely response of Mr. Kelso to the call to fight for his country should be an example for our young men as it was merely a matter of patriotism with him as he had been honorably discharged from the service.

Louis Schellhaus and Peter Lettell arraigned in Justice Hill's court Saturday on a charge of malicious trespass.

Louis and Peter own neighboring farms out of town and apparently are not on the best of terms. At least Louis claims that on a certain night Peter did deliberately and with malicious forethought, break down several small fruit trees on his (Louis') farm and at various other times allowed his cattle to wander at will over land that did not belong to him.

Attorney Parke appeared for the defense and Attorney Danielson for the prosecution when the case was called for trial, and after an afternoon filled with many laughable incidents, Justice Hill decided to hold his decision until yesterday afternoon, when a verdict was given for the prosecution in the amount of $11.25 and cost. The case will undoubtedly be appealed to the circuit court.

CONGRESS WILL FREE CUBA.

Intervention Demanded by Both Houses.

THE HOUSE TAKES THE LEAD.

Special Feature. Of Mr. Folger's Speeches on the Intervention of the United States in the Cuban Revolution.

The second day after President McKinley's Cuban message had been referred to the foreign relations committees of the Senate and House both committees reported resolutions demanding intervention in Cuba by the United States. Two reports were presented by the Senate committee. The majority report was submitted by Chairman Davis and was as follows:

Whereas, the abhorrent conditions which have existed for more than three years in the island of Cuba, so near our own borders, have shocked the moral sense of the people of the United States; have been a disgrace to Christian civilization, culminating, as they have, in the destruction of Spanish States battleship with 266 of its officers and crew, while on a friendly visit in the harbor of Havana; and cannot longer be endured, as has been set forth by the President of the United States, in his message to Congress of April 11, 1898, upon which the action of Congress was invited: Therefore,

Resolved, That the people of the island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent. That it is the duty of the United States to demand, and the government of the United States does hereby demand, that the government of Spain at once relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Puerto Rico. That the President of the United States be and is hereby empowered and directed to use the military and naval forces of the United States, and to call into actual service of the United States the land and naval forces, to such an extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

The resolutions were accompanied by a lengthy report which was a thorough review of the Cuban situation and gave the grounds for offering the resolutions. The Maine disaster received particular attention and after speaking of the patience with which the people awaited an official investigation into that terrible affair the report says: "That investigation has been made. It was conducted with judicial thoroughness and deliberation. The difficulty of demonstrating by conclusive proof the efficient personal cause of that sinister event was the usual one of exposing plots and mysterious crimes. No such plot, however, was observed in the official and responsible cause." The report says the explosion was strongly linked with a series of precedent transactions, which show clearly the Spanish animus against the United States.

Concluding its reference to the destruction of the Maine the report says: "The duplicity, perfidy, and cruelty of the Spanish character, as they always have been, are demonstrated still to continue by their manifest disregard of the present war in Cuba. All these circumstances considered cumulatively, warrant the conclusion that the destruction of the Maine was compassed either by the official act of the Spanish authorities (and the ascertainment of the particular person is not material) or was made possible by gross negligence on their part so willing and gross as to be equivalent in culpability to positive criminal action."

The report then concluded with a review of the unutilized and untrodden methods of warfare pursued by Spain, not only against the fighting patriots of Cuba, but also against the peaceful men, the old men and the women and children. The report also speaks of the endeavors of the U. S. government to prevent aid being sent the insurgents and shows that $2,000,000 had been spent by this government in that work, and all in the interests of Spain.

Senator Turpie presented the report of the minority of the committee as follows:

The undersigned members of the committee on foreign relations cordially concur in the report made upon the Cuban revolution, but we favor the immediate recognition of the republic of Cuba as organized in that island, as a free, independent and sovereign power among the nations of the world.

It was signed by Senators Turpie, Mills, Daniel and Folger. Following the presentation of the reports and after Mr. Hoar had insisted that consideration of the resolution go over for the day on a point of order, came into the chamber a remarkable speech by Mr. Folger, the only one of the kind ever delivered on the Cuban question. Mr. Folger, of Ohio, and Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts, both of whom have spoken in the House, presented different phases of the question. Mr. Folger advocated the direct recognition of independence of the Cuban republic and the withdrawal of the Spanish force heard in the Senate, splendidly maintained his position. He both praised and criticized the President's message and pointed out that the majority resolutions differed materially from the President's position. He said that it was a matter of "grave doubt" as to the right of the President to create and establish a stable government in the island of Cuba for the benefit of the Cuban people. The report declared that the people of the island are and of right ought to be free and independent, the report said that the President or the Congress or any other exterior power should establish for the people a government stable or otherwise was inconsistent. If it is possible to free and independent as we have in this first proposition, we should do it.

MANISTIQUE, APRIL 29, 1918.

ANDREW CARNEGIE, the multi-millionaire iron king, has made arrangements to care for the families of the Curry rifles, of Ironwood, during their absence at the front. The families of the soldiers are to receive a certain amount of money each month and the men will have their situations on their return.

ALTHOUGH Sam Stephenson does not seem to fall in with the suggestion that he purchase a war vessel for the government, late reports from Menominee state that he is recruiting under direction of the government, 200 men for the war. Perhaps Sam is figuring on adding a war record to his claims for recognition at the hands of the voters of the 12th district.

The official German press is verging on hysterics over what they term the "unqualified course which the United States is pursuing." Perhaps they may have a desire to learn just what effect the free air of America has had upon the thousands of Germans who have emigrated to this country. William III, the farsighted comedy king of that empire, will learn that they became good Americans very shortly under his benign influence.

APRIL has again proven a momentous month in the making of American history. The first gun of the Spanish-American war having been fired April 23d. All the great wars of the United States have commenced in April with the exception of the war of 1812 which began on June 18, 1812. The dates are: War of the Revolution, April 19, 1775; war with Mexico, April 24, 1846; war of the Rebellion, April 19, 1861; war with Spain, April 22, 1898.

THE COURIER is indebted to Representative Carlos D. Sheldon for a copy of the message of President Wood. McKinley transmitting the report of the naval court of inquiry upon the destruction of the Maine together with the testimony taken before the court. The volume contains over 300 pages and is illustrated with a number of fine half-tone cuts of the wreck together with diagrams showing the damage inflicted upon the hull by the explosion. It is an interesting document.

MERHAN can congratulate herself on having a wise and patriotic governor in the person of Hugo S. Pingree during the present crisis. His experience during the late civil war is of great benefit to the state now that we are again called upon to put a force in the field. With his knowledge of the necessities of the private soldier learned from personal experience in the ranks, Michigan's soldiery will go to the front fully equipped for all the hardships of war and the gallant old veteran intimates that he will take the field in person if it becomes necessary.

To those who imagine that the badge of a man's patriotism must be continually worn on his sleeve, Manistique is a very un-patriotic town during the present crisis. Under the circumstances it is well to remember that it isn't the man who talks that fights. When the call comes for volunteers to defend the honor of our country it will be surprising to see how many of those fellows who have heretofore refrained from whipping Spain [with their tongues] will be among the first to offer their services. We have no fear but that Manistique will respond promptly when the time comes, and when that time does come, it will be soldiers, not talkers that Uncle Sam will want. He has enough of that kind of men in Washington now to last through several wars the size of the present difficulty.

THE Marquette Mining Journal pays its respects to "Ski" Olds in its issue of April 26th. "Ski" Olds, says Pingree is sure to be "tapped" down in the next state convention of the Republican party. Evidently "Ski" anticipates that at the convention will be a sort of railway managers' meeting, at there is a possibility of having the body of the party obtained such representation in it that he hopes will meet a feast there. Whatever may be said of Pingree, the Republican party cannot send leaders like Olds to the rear any too quickly for its own good. A conference hiring, doing the work of corporations for pay, he is a Republican for hire only, and shows infinite presumption in presuming to read Pingree or anybody else out of the party.

SOME of the "leading" Republican papers are giving space to a portion of a speech delivered by Senator Mason on the Atkinson taxation bill. We quote: "We differ with you in the lower peninsula you see, in our interests, that must be distinctly understood in order to realize why I am able to stand here without fear of the voice of my constituents and vote against this bill." It seems "Dick" was a little premature judging from a series of resolutions adopted by the Republican club of St. Ignace, at a meeting held April 28th. The "voice of the constituents" is not very uncertain judging from the last session. Here it is resolved, that the actions of Senator Richard Mason have won for him the approbrium of his constituents and the contempt of all civilized nations of the earth.

THE talk of capturing Cuba has assumed such a positive tinge that the war and navy departments have made memorandums for consideration that is to become of the army of 80,000 or more Spanish soldiers now in Cuba, providing they surrender. It is not believed that the capture of Cuba will end the war and the United States will have to provide some means for taking care of the Spanish troops taken with the island. It will cost a pretty penny to feed them, and it would be poor policy to send them back to Spain, where they could be equipped with arms again and sent against this country a second time. It is proposed that a portion of the island of Cuba be turned over to these soldiers, after they have been disarmed, and let them provide for themselves by growing their own vegetables. The United States could send down a small portion of food for them, and in this way they could be kept safe at small expense to this country. It is thought that such an arrangement would be most welcome to the hungry Spanish soldiers, few of whom have had a square meal for many months.

OUR readers will no doubt be pleased to learn that there is one member of the Astor family in whom the blood of a patriotic American is allowed to course through veins that are supposed to be "aristocratically blue." This scion of a family that has for its coat of arms a "musk-rat couchant," does not seem in the least to resemble his distinguished relative, Willie Waldorf Astor, who has placed himself in a disgusting light before the people of his native country by his aping of ways English. The young man in question bears the name of the founder of the family, John Jacob Astor and is proving himself very much an American. He has given the government the free use of his swift racket for service as a torpedo boat, free transportation has been granted all troops passing over railroads owned by the Astor family; he has organized a complete heavy battery in New York and fully equipped it at his own expense, and last but not least, he has tendered his services to the government in any capacity, being willing to serve as a private.

All Druggists Keep It.

MR. Astor is all right. This move has done a whole lot towards removing the load of disgrace heaped upon the family by his English aping relative.

RESPONDERS of the north who have pretended to believe that the people of the south were not patriots are now receiving an object lesson in what constitutes treachery that put many a northerner who has in times past boasted of his love of the Stars and Stripes, to shame. In all the states that once constituted the confederacy, the war spirit is rampant and the people have risen en masse to resent what they consider an offense insult to the flag of their country. At Chickamauga the regular army is swamped with applications for enlistment; independent companies have been organized in every town; Old Glory floats from every business place and no district is so poor but that the flag of our country is seen floating over its school house.

GENERALS Lee, R. W. Taylor and Basil Duke, brave soldiers on the side of the "lost cause," are to receive important commands. This is the old breach being leveled and on the field of battle the rains of "Dixie" and "Star Spangled Banner" will mingle in unbroken course. When this war is ended and our boys in blue return again to their native soil, the old feelings of sectional differences will be swept away. There will be no north or no south but we will be the fulfillment of the opening lines of the old southern battle song: "We are a band of brothers, white and true, and true."

QUININE, that indispensable medicine, is advancing in price due to war and a speculative movement. A feature of the dealing in quinine as reported from New York is that not only regular speculators, but clerks, both men and women, truckmen, laundrymen, shoe dealers and others are anxious to invest small amounts in quinine, believing that a good profit can be realized in a short time. This feeling is more particularly confined to people of small means. It is prompted by a belief that history will repeat itself, and as quinine during the civil war rose to an extravagant price, advancing more rapidly than the premium on gold, purchasers now look to see a corresponding increase in the price of the drug. This expectation may be a mistake. The conditions are not the same as they were in 1861-65, but there is a probability that the price of the article will advance as a consequence of the war. It is a favorite commodity, cheap and bulky, with a better demand in prospect immediately. Manufacturers have advertised letters. List of advertised letters remaining in the postoffice of Manistique, Mich., for the week ending April 25, 1918: Anderson, Knute; Bradley, P. L.; Clark, Mrs. M. Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action, and are particularly effective in the cure of constipation and sick headache. For malaria and liver troubles they have been proved perfectly free from every deleterious element and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to the stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size, per box. Sold by A. S. Putnam & Co's druggists.

Your Doctor Knows Scott's Emulsion. Your doctor knows all about foods and medicines. The next time you see him, just ask him what he thinks of Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. We are willing to trust in an answer. For twenty-five years doctors have prescribed our Emulsion for paleness, weakness, nervous exhaustion, and for all diseases that cause loss in flesh. Its creamy color and its pleasant taste make it especially useful for thin and delicate children. No other preparation of cod-liver oil is like it. Don't lose time and risk your health by taking something unknown and untried. Keep in mind that SCOTT'S EMULSION has stood the test for a quarter of a century. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

felt the speculative demand, but adhere to their old policy and decline to fill orders in excess of the legitimate requirements of regular customers. Speculation is consequently restricted to the comparatively small stock in second hands. Another article affected by the war scare is Spanish saffron. Speculative operators are willing to purchase in a large way, but holders offer very sparingly. Prices have been advanced 50c per pound and the tendency continues upward. The very market as a whole is just now somewhat fascinating to those speculatively inclined. Opium is another article held firm prices, but there has been no special advance in that article.

MR. BRYAN AS A WAR FACTOR. Mr. Bryan has been in Washington "whooping up" for political capital out of the war craze. Since he captured the Chicago convention by one speech, he thinks it easy to capture anything. The Spaniards are bad, wicked, uncharitable and foolish, but are not as green as the old folks. As a factor in the war, his rank is below that of a sutler and his patriotism is tainted with suspicion of self-interest as that of an army contractor—Madison Democrat.

Hin Lee was at Marquette-Sunday on business.

Beats the Admitts. Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville, Tex., has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption, accompanied by hemorrhages, and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and croup. He declares that gold is little value in comparison with this marvelous cure would have it, even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, bronchitis and all throat and lung affections positively cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. Trial bottles free at A. S. Putnam & Co's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Co. G, Fifth Regiment, M. N. G., left the Soo at 1:30 p. m. Monday over the D. S. S. & A. R. Y. going to Island Lake via St. Ignace. Business houses were closed from 7:30 to 1 o'clock and everyone turned out to do honor to the gallant boys in blue. It is estimated that 5,000 people were at the depot.

The many friends of Thos. McMann of Seney will be pleased to learn that he has purchased the building now occupied by Frank Probst, formerly owned by Wm. Arthur Clarke, for several years employed on one of the Soo Line passenger trains, resigned his position and went to the front with the Soo Light Grand Monday. He is a half brother of Harry W. Clarke, cashier in the Manistique Bank and is well known here.

Will play the National game.

Manistique will have a base ball club this summer and the boys are called to Cuba. The Wolverines have been organized and are practicing daily. Scott Brooks will do the twirling and it is said that his curves are as various and complicated as those of the famous Knicker. Frank Gorman will endeavor to cover home and at the same time prevent base runners from stealing score. Frank isn't troubled with a "glass" arm and can cover several like a veteran. The infield will be taken care of by Ed Ellis, B. John Fuller and Fred Paulsen, and with the assistance of Harry Johnson at short will prove a veritable stone wall. Nothing will be allowed to pass under 10 feet from the ground and pop flies and bunters will disappear like flies around a trout pond. The outfield will be in the hands of crack men this season. Otto Carlson, Victor Bremer and P. C. Dales, jr., are never known to miss a fly, no matter if it is batted over into the next county. All in all, the Wolverines are a good team and can be trusted with upholding Manistique's end of the national game.

Let this nation, in behalf of Cuba, adopt the words of General Grant, "I will have peace if I have to fight for it."

The infelicity of ending a sentence with a preposition is pre-eminently pardonable in this note addressed to a collector of customs. "Find ten dollars which the writer defrauded the United States of." The English of sincere penitence is above criticism.

Three Judges in as many states have decided that a man has a right to kill the destroyer of his home. That is not law, but it is public sentiment nearly everywhere, and juries are apt to avoid fines in order to reach the same conclusion. It is shocking enough; but if it proves an effective warning to any other destroyers much good will have come out of a not very large amount of evil.

Society in New York dances with black babies in its arms, does cake walking, plays the banjo, and gives minstrel shows. When the negro sees the place for society in that way it would seem at first glance as if he were looking up. But it is merely the borrowing of his fun and sentiment without any commensurate return. And down south he is shot by "the best people" for the crime of offending.

A young man told the press that he was four lines refused by the girl of his heart; but on making the fifth proposition, accompanied by the winking of her eyes with sufficient fervor that she threw her down, she said, after wringing, "Yes, dear." That kind of man generally kills his girl; so that it is not impossible to commend him for his conversion. Doubtless he was not up to his mind not to kill her until after marriage, and it is never wise to be in a hurry in such matters.

In the United States Supreme court at Washington an opinion has been handed down by Justice Harlan, in the case of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway company vs. Charles Haber, affirming the constitutionality and validity of the state laws of Kansas prohibiting the transportation into the state of cattle affected with Texas fever and providing for a civil action for damages in case of the infraction of the law. These laws were attacked on the ground that they were repugnant to the constitution of the United States, and also on the ground that domestic cattle were sufficiently protected by federal laws and by the regulations of the agricultural department.

The recent sentence of M. Zola, the French novelist, was one of the most astounding proceedings of recent times. Zola was condemned for an utterance—criminal libel, perhaps, comes as near as anything to the specific charge against him; in reality it was a condemnation in protesting against the taking away of a man's liberty and the fair trial of him without giving him a hearing. Zola had no opportunity to defend himself, and, furthermore, he was not proved guilty. His trial was a farce and a disgrace to a nation which calls itself civilized. Zola took stand for the right that was punished for it. His course was most honorable, and the novelist may yet reap his reward.

The indications are stronger than ever for record-breaking high prices for wheat before the next harvest is ready for the market. From all parts of the country come reports of depleted stores in farmers' hands. There is not enough wheat in the northwest to supply the Minneapolis mills, and the production is made doubtful that will have to be shipped from Chicago to make up the threatened shortage. Wheat is rapidly rising in price in all the foreign countries. Liverpool has shipped nearly 8,000,000 bushels to Liverpool, and could readily dispose of what has left at fancy prices. France contemplates reducing the duty on wheat, Spain, Roumania, and Italy have already done so. Russian stocks are the smallest on record. It seems evident that the foreign States will have to feed the world for many months to come. Those farmers who have been fortunate enough to hold on to their wheat feel confident that the price will touch $1.25 and probably $1.50 before the new crop is ready.

"I was tired when I said it," says Clement Scott, the London critic, referring to the remarks he made about actors and actresses. "The apology is accepted" answers the footlight favorites. "I did not mean to hurt anyone's feelings," continues Mr. Scott. "Noble and satisfactory reticence" returns the professional. "I shall return to the rest of us are calling for larger microscopes in order to find some trace of either the apology or the reticence, or, indeed, anything that savors of a grain of truth." With that Mr. Scott has changed his opinion.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

His Communication to Congress on the Cuban Question.

A POWERFUL PRESENTATION.

Favors Forceful Intervention to Terminate Hostilities and Aids Expedient Authority in the Matter—Responsibility Rests with Congress.

Following is the text of the president's message to Congress on the Cuban question, which commends the president to act on the matter in the manner which he may deem proper.

"To the Congress of the United States: I have the honor to submit to you the following report on the Cuban question, which commends the president to act on the matter in the manner which he may deem proper. It is my duty to address your body with regard to the grave crisis that has arisen in the island of Cuba, and to recommend to you the course of action which I deem to be the most prudent and just course to pursue in the present emergency."

"The war in Cuba has for more than three years past been the subject of the most anxious consideration of the public mind. It has been a constant theme in the public mind, and the people have watched with deep interest the progress of the struggle. The result has been a deepening of the sympathy of the American people for the Cuban cause, and a growing conviction that the United States should take a more active part in the conflict."

identally with these declarations. The new government of Spain, however, has completed the policy already begun by its predecessor, and is now endeavoring to bring to a close the military operations for this nation by releasing American citizens held under the traditional policy connected with the insurrection. So that, if the end of Government is a national policy, it is not in any way to our national honor to remain a neutral power in the Cuban question. While these hostilities were in progress, the United States has been the witness of the most extraordinary and unfortunate situation. The success which has attended the military operations of the Cuban insurgents has extended to the suffering American citizens and to the innocent and helpless people of the island. The situation is now such that the United States is faced with the necessity of taking a more active part in the conflict."
