Report From Commodore Dewey not yet Received.

Spain on the Veige of Rebellion.

The Movements of Sampson's Fleet a Mystery.

Up to date, no address have been received by the government from Commodore Dewey regarding his victory at Manila last Saturday. Everything so far received tends to show that the Spanish fleet was utterly destroyed and that the city is now in the possession of the United States. The news received by the various foreign governments from their representatives before the cable was cut, stated that the fleet on government lasted two hours. Three Spanish cruisers were sunk, burned and blown up and the remainder of the fleet was scattered to prevent their falling into Commodore Dewey's hands.

Spain is in a condition of anarchy and the existence of the present government is in jeopardy. Rioting between the enraged populace and the soldiers is taking place in many provinces and an ultimate result is hourly expected.

The movements of Admiral Sampson's fleet is a mystery. It is rumored that they have gone to take Porto Rico, and again that they have gone to meet the Oregon, Marietta, and Buffalo (formerly the dynamite cruiser Niecherry). Staring events are daily expected as it is rumored that Spain has sent a fleet to intercept the three vessels before they can effect a junction with the Key West squadron.

It is expected that 5,000 troops will be sent to the Philippine Islands as an army of occupation.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Steps should be taken to secure its proper observance.

Three weeks from Monday next is Memorial Day and a well organized effort should be put forth to make the observance in this city more extensive than has been the practice in years past.

May 20th, 1898, will, without a doubt, find us still engaged in war with Spain. That we have so far won signal victories is indeed true, but the final outcome of the struggle is far beyond the vision of mortal man. No one can foresee what complications may arise and we may be called upon at any time to face the armies of one or more of the powers of Europe.

In view of such contingencies arising, every man capable of military duty would be called upon to do service for his native or adopted country. It is in honor of a similar class of men to those now going to the front that we ask your tribute. Men who, when called upon in 1894, to prevent the dissolution of our great republic, shouldered their muskets and went forth to do battle in a just cause. They were young men then, as are those who are going forth today to fight the battles of their country.

Half of a century have elapsed since the breaking out of that great internecine war, a struggle of brother against brother. Its survivors are now entering or have entered the period of life at which man can daily expect the final summons. Many have already answered the final roll call on earth and have gone to join the great army above.

It is in honor of these sleeping heroes that we ask our citizens to unite in a truly patriotic observance of a day that has been set aside by the national government as a memorial to our honored dead. Ere another year rolls around, who knows but a number of our young men may be added to the list of those whose memory we now hold sacred.

Rev. Mills, pastor of the Baptist church at Iron Mountain, will deliver the address. It is an old veteran and a brother of Mrs. J. C. Rooney of this city.

A general invitation has been extended to the civic societies of the city to participate in the observance of the day and we are informed by Commodore John Tappan of the G. A. R., that up to date the L. O. F. and K. O. T. M., have assured him that they would take part in the parade. Capt. W. W. Walker also assures us that the U. R. K. P. will also turn out. It is hoped that other societies may be prevailed upon to take part. An invitation is also extended to every veteran to join with the local G. A. R. Post on that day. The Sons of Veterans will also bring out their full membership. It is to be hoped that a special effort will be put forth to secure the attendance of the large number of sons in this vicinity who are not members of the order. It is their duty to thus fitly remember the services of their fathers. There is

A BLIGHTED TIME.

Whitlston looked over the book of records.

EAR ME, Aunt Arcthusa!" cried out Mabel Wynyard, in a tone of well-earned contempt, "a blue ribbon in your hair!"

"And new cuff buttons, as I live!" retorted Mabel.

"Well, why shouldn't I wear blue ribbon if I've a mind to?" she retorted. "It's a free country, I hope!"

"Oh, yes," laughed Mabel. "It's a free country. And blue is certainly very becoming to you, Aunt Arcthusa. My Puncington is to be at the spelling-school this afternoon."

"I don't know whether he is or not," said Miss Arcthusa, tartly. "My Puncington is nothing to me."

"He may be one of these days," retorted mischievous Effie. "Only think, Mabel, what a nice thing it would be to have a wedding in the family!"

"You'll ask Effie and me to be the bridesmaids, Aunt Arcthusa, won't you?" said Mabel, with the utmost gravity.

"Girls, ain't you ashamed of yourselves?" cried out Miss Arcthusa, severely knowing whether it was best to be pleased or vexed.

And just then the entrance of a visitor created a timely diversion, and Aunt Arcthusa was allowed to retreat with her basket of turkey eggs.

"What shall I do?" said Mr. Puncington helplessly the morning after the funeral.

"I'd get married, if I were you," said Spinner Martin.

"I don't know of any one to marry," sighed Peter, the Herald.

"There ain't no smarter woman in all the neighborhood than Aunt Arcthusa," said Spinner Martin.

"I'm not at all sure," said Spinner Martin.

MRS. PINKHAM TALKS ABOUT "CHANGE OF LIFE."

Women are Urged to Prepare for this Wonderful Revolution in the Economy of Their Life Blood—Mrs. Watson Tells How She Was Helped.

At no time is woman more liable to physical and mental dangers with hours of suffering than at the "Turn of Life." The great want in woman's system is ability to properly adjust herself to the new conditions. The outlet, monthly of blood is now being diminished and carried into the body for the supply food of its later years.

Daughters, you can now to some extent repay your mother's early care. She must be spared every possible exertion. You must help her bear her burdens and anxieties. This critical time she will pass, she will return to renewed health and happiness.

That so many women fail to anticipate this change thus happily, is owing not merely to lack of care, but to ignorance. There is, however, no excuse for ignorance when experienced advice can be yours free of all cost.

Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., she has helped great numbers of women successfully through the change of life, and she will help you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best tonic for uterine changes. It works harmoniously upon all these overworked organs; invigorates the body and drives off the blues.

Read this letter from Mrs. DELLA WATSON, 524 West 5th St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

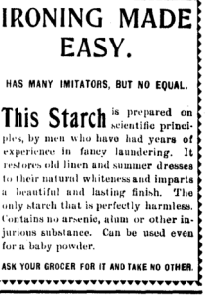

"DEAR Mrs. PINKHAM:—I have been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time during the change of life, and it has been a saving of life unto me. I can cheerfully recommend your medicine to all women, and I know it will give permanent relief. I would be glad to relate my experience to any sufferer."

It is just like a woman to object to the present war because the Spanish names are so hard to pronounce.

Our noble Spaniards and Cubans are being by the bay at Manila and many many more are in Madrid. Perhaps now they are not so desirous of meeting Admiral Sampson and his "toy" battle ships.

The wave of war spirit which is sweeping over the land does not seem to affect Detroit's conservative social workers. They seem to be satisfied with planning a sort of Spanish game for during the season.

The western dailies do not intend to be swayed by the reactionary contentions during the present war of which they do have to draw no imagination to a considerable extent. A St. Paul afternoon sheet related with its description of the bombardment of the batteries at Matanzas a large cut showing the American fleet at the heaviest part of the engagement. It was realistic of the artist didn't have any thing but his imagination for a basis.

Owners of flags should be careful of them if they do not care to pay exorbitant prices to have them repaired. The demand does not have the same force as far exceeds the supply and a consequence there has been a marked advance in prices. The smaller sizes now sell at an increase in price of 25 per cent. while to the large sizes has been added 40 to 50 per cent. It is safe to say that the stars and stripes will be well disposed for the next few years.

The rapidity with which the United States is forging to the front as a naval power is causing the nations of the old world to feel rather nervous. The naval appropriation bill passed by congress provides for 30 new war vessels to cost $21,000,000 exclusive of armament. When all are completed including those under way at the present time this country will be the third naval power in the world and only exceeded by Great Britain and France. The time is not far distant when the United States will have usurped the title of "mistress of the seas," so long and so proudly held by Great Britain.

Get in Kansas, they deal summarily with unpatriotic citizens who do not have sense enough to keep quiet. The associate editor of The Appeal to Reason, "a society led by a man named Girard, editorially referred to the national flag as "pieces of painted rag, tied to a stick" and a crowd soon gathered with a hemp rope to hang him. He escaped through a back door of the office and fled to Fort Scott, a distance of 25 miles. We don't like to approve of violence but it seems really seem too bad that he was hanged. Anyway, I think prove a lesson to those simi- larly inclined.

Gen. Blanco has resumed the writing of his descriptive of submarine diphas has descriptive of great victories won by his forces in Cuba. We can now expect to be regaled with daily articles from his versatile pen in which the facts and events of the United States are thoroughly treated. This will constitute his main defense and will be more effective than any number of battle pictures of Cuban soil. As a picture of the Gen. Blanco is connected with the national history, it is not surprising to find that the general is a man of letters and a philosopher. He has written a number of books on the subject of submarine diphas and has been a member of the Academy of Sciences in Cuba. He would probably have the title of Baron Munchausen for political exaggeration.

The battle of Manila labor will have a tendency to cause the migration of Europe to be rather early in the future. It has proven that our war vessels are the equal of anything afloat and that the old spirit which dominated our sailors in the earlier days of our history as a nation has not changed a particle with the rapid tide of naval architecture and armament. The reputation of the American frigate as being the most speed steamer in the world when he has had since 1912 has been maintained by their work at Manila and Matanzas. All in all, the personnel of the crews of our battle ships and cruisers is much above the standard of the navies of the old world. In the main, our sailors are gentlemen whether on land or afloat, but they are afraid to go and try to tackle when the flag of their country needs defending with cold steel and shot.

The latest addition to the ranks of educated nonentities has recently been discovered in the person of Prof. S. M. McVane who is paid a large salary to instruct the American youth in history at Harvard college. This history of Harvard college is based on the facts that the present war was "unjustified on our part" and the young men unapologetically sustained him by a vote of 60 to 26. It is a disgrace that our great educational institutions should be stultified by the presence of such men. Where should patriotism and loyalty to our country be taught if not in our public schools and colleges? And surely among Mr. McVane's mental ailments are not the ones to instill into the mind and hearts of young men the justifiable or unjustifiableness of the present war and our part in the present moment. Our country is Delicate Children They do not complain of anything in particular. They eat enough, but keep thin and pale. They appear fairly well, but have no strength. You cannot say they are really sick, and so you call them delicate. What can be done for them? Our answer is the same that the best physicians have been giving for a quarter of a century. Give them Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It has most remarkable nourishing power. It gives color to the blood, and brings strength to the muscles. It adds power to the nerves. It means robust health and vigor. Even delicate infants rapidly gain in flesh if given a small amount three or four times each day. Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. The warrant being charged Mr. Smith with acting as election in, ever while being at the time a candidate. This being contrary to the law, Kline, who ran for the county clerk, declares he will probably be bound over to the circuit court to await his trial.

Five men are now in jail who are said to be knowing to the facts of the murder at Hunt's Spur, Mackinac county, in February last and it is quite certain the guilty parties will be brought to justice. Just back of the shoulder blade where it comes with the back bone, the backbone appears to be out of place for several inches. The calf is healthy and is growing steadily. Mr. Hall sold it when only one day old to Gust Holmes and Jack Cunningham, who if it should live, will exhibit it.

TRIAL OFFER.
A GOOD SOLDIER.
Now since you have heard and the country is aroused to patriotic enthusiasm and many are eager to fight Spaniards, Manistique has caught the fever and is organizing a company to go to war.
Perhaps a volunteer who encountered a deal of hard service and underwent many trials and tests of endurance, discipline and courage, might say some things of interest to younger men who contemplate becoming soldiers. I dare say some who are enlisting as volunteers in Manistique desire to be anything short of the best soldier in the company and that company among the very best who will enter the service.
My experience in the service taught me many things that made me a better soldier and has in some respects been of great value to me as a private citizen since Lee surrendered at Appomattox. I was one of the best drilled volunteer regiments that went to the civil war, organized, drilled and commanded by a regular Mexican war veteran, Col. Stockton's Independent Regiment, 10th Mich. Inf.
Many things I learned by experience it would have been much better if I had known and admitted at the outset of my career as a soldier.
A good soldier must become in most respects an automaton or rather, an automatic part of a great machine working in sympathy and accord with the whole body of the grand structure, being personally by being blended into the whole.
Every such an organization confronting an enemies' battery when the order is given to fix bayonets and charge? Watch its progress as it approaches and strikes the enemy, cutting as clean a swath as a shot from a rifle barrel!
I remember of being a member of such an organization and recall with pleasure today what Gen. "Warrior" said of one of our charges which he was watching as it is recorded in the history of "Michigan in the war." "It was one of the grandest charges made by any troops in any war."
If I were asked today what is the most desirable quality for a good soldier, my answer is, unshakable confidence in orders. The men who make this their motto the very moment they volunteer and carry it out to the finish make soldiers that are nearly invincible and become heroes, even if they never go to war.
In the foregoing I have outlined the qualities of a good soldier which European troops are said to possess in a marked degree and to a greater extent than is possible with Americans. I doubt this and consider the American soldier drilled and disciplined to recognize these qualities at their proper value, with his self-reliant, independent, natural traits of character held in the background as a reserve force, as the best soldier of the civilized world.
Self-reliance and independence are qualities which had in Europe. In the American soldier, should not be forgotten, but cultivated, for many times in the camp on the march and in the midst of battle, the private soldier for the moment unavoidably becomes isolated and the occasion demands that he become the "whole thing," both company and commander, and if he expects to come out victorious with flying colors, he needs to be equipped with these qualities.
I know what war is; I know what heroes trail in its wake; what a soldier must encounter in actual warfare; what hardships must be endured. War is a serious business. All the honors and glories of victory are shaded with the solemn memories of its sadness and the sorrow it brings in its train.
Though I will retain the martial spirit that needs only a suggestion that my services are needed to cause me to volunteer to defend the old flag and the honor of our country, I hope for a speedy cessation of fighting and honorable peace.
I appreciate and admire the manly patriotism that prompts the strong, active young men of Manistique to volunteer for service as soldiers with the expectation of looking into the muzzle of the enemies guns. I hope the boys will not meet fate, but if they do, I expect to hear nothing but good reports of their service.

Wednesday T. Stevens and Miss Hilma May Olsen were married at the residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stevens, at South Manistique yesterday at 7 p. m. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Shank of the M. E. Church.

The wedding was private, only a very few near friends being invited. A repast was served at the close.

Mr. Stevens is well and favorably known by the residents of this city and is an industrious and sturdy young man. The bride is a resident of Oconto Wis. and is not known here.

THE COCHER joins with their many friends in wishing them unbounded success and a long and happy life.

Death of an Unknown Gas.

The body of an unknown man was found in a charcoal kiln at Gulliver Sunday morning, death having resulted from asphyxiation.

At about nine o'clock N. L. Newdux, the operator of the kilns, discovered smoke issuing from a kiln which had not been in use since last fall but which was full of charcoal. With three assistants, he repaired to the kiln and at first it was proposed to seal it up without opening it, and thus smother the fire. But Mr. Newdux thinking it rather odd that fire should originate at that particular time, decided on opening it.

On effecting an opening the body of a man was discovered through the smoke. He was lying on his back with his hands under his head, death having come to him while asleep, the gas engendered by the burning coal acting as a powerful narcotic.

It is presumed that he effected an entrance into the kiln sometime during the night and built the fire by which to warm himself. He was undoubtedly overcome by the pleasant gases and lay down to sleep the sleep that knows no waking.

The body was that of a tramp, or perhaps of a man down on his luck. He wore a dark suit of clothes, was about 5 ft. 5 inches in height, weighed about 150 pounds, and had black hair and a short brown beard and mustache. He was evidently between 35 and 40 years of age. His pockets were full of ads and ends, among which was found a ticket in which was written "Maggie Benson, Anshurst Street, Montreal." On his arms were tattooed the letters "E. K." and various devices which would lead to the inference that he was or had been a sailor. In a sack containing clothes was found a blue vest which had been a portion of some service or military uniform. On the brass buttons was an eagle and the letters N. E. D. S. V. The eagle was in the center of the button, the first two letters at the top, the second two on each side of the eagle and the last letter at the bottom. The buttons were very small and set, which would indicate that the man had not been used to manual labor.

Dr. Sattler was called by telegraph, but after viewing the remains decided that an inquest was not necessary. The body was brought to Anderson & Co's undertaking rooms in this city Monday morning and was interred in the Potter's field Tuesday.

MANA MANA NUMBER.

Magnifique Celebration Dewey's Victory at Manila.

Enthusiasm ran higher than usual in Manistique for several hours Tuesday evening when the patriotic songs were sung over the glorious victory of Admiral Dewey at Manila was held.

Misses Leo Rose, M. L. Cooper and Gaa. Cunn solicited subscription in the afternoon with which to purchase the necessary material for making a magnificent number of hats, bonnets, etc. erected on the school house square for a huge bonfire.

The enthusiasm was unworked at 7:30 by the whistle of the Weston Mfg. Co's plant followed by those of the large Weston and the Elmer and the fleet of sailing tugs in the harbor. Even the bell on the fire house forgot its usual decorum and joined in the discord.

At 8:00 o'clock a parade consisting of the Sons of Veterans, G. A. R. the local volunteer military company and citizens headed by the Manistique Council Band formed on Cook street in front of the band hall and marched to the school house. Every man in the parade was decorated with a miniature edition of the stars and stripes and the single starred emblem of Cuba was borne in the front ranks with its sister symbol of liberty.

On their arrival the torch was applied to the bonfire, the band discoursed patriotic airs, the crowd cheered and A. D. McNair and Samuel and Henry Mix interspersed the proceedings with a note that caused some of the volunteers to think they had been called out to a "Red" history.

The march was then taken up to the Westside where its patriotic citizens were holding a celebration in miniature. The companies were lined up on the street west of Geo. Chantler's drug store and a repetition of the former proceedings was observed throughout the Westside did not propose to be outdone and Attorney F. H. Peters was captured from a bus coming from the train and compelled to deliver a speech. Mr. Peters was equal to the occasion and his patriotic words received a rousing applause. The parade was then formed and marched to the band hall where they disbanded.

Quite a number of citizens outside of the societies participated in the parade among who were Com. Clark A. Gifford and Sheriff Erikson. All in all it was a happy and orderly event.

The Sons of Veterans marched under the command of their captain, Eugene Madden, while drillmaster Chas. Adams commanded the "raw" recruits. Everything passed off without an accident or incident of unusual moment, making the attempt on the part of the military company to hang their drummer boy for "murdering" their is so included.

Daughters of the Revolution.

All ladies who are eligible to membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution are requested to meet on Saturday next with Mrs. Davall.

Any lady is eligible for membership who is of the age of 18 years and is descended from an ancestor who "with unflinching loyalty rendered martial aid to the cause of independence, as a recognized patriot, soldier, civil officer, or sailor, in one of the several colonies or states of the United Colonies or states."

Death of "Tim" Coffey.

Timothy Coffey, for 17 years a resident of this city, died at the county house at 12:20 p. m. Sunday.

His illness dates back to about six years ago when he was compelled to give up work. He at one time owned considerable residence property in Lakeside, the houses thereon having been erected through a Building and Loan Association, but when his health failed, he was unable to keep up his payments and the property fell into the hands of Kane, but had always been a hardworking man and a good citizen.

"Tim" as he was familiarly called, was born in Ireland and was about 71 years of age. He had served in the English army and was a veteran of the Crimean war. He had relatives by the name of Kane who resided at Allghany City, Pa. and were in the examination business, when last known of several years ago.

The funeral services were conducted from the Catholic church Monday morning, Rev. Fr. Reinhardt officiating.
