ON TO CUBA!

Sons of Veterans Receive Orders to Hold Themselves in Readiness.

Followed by a Telegram Announcing Acceptance of Volunteer Company.

Judge C. H. Chapman of the Soo Visits City to Make Arrangements.

Will Join the 35th Regiment Michigan Infantry at Island Lake.

Many papers will be represented in the war with Spain. Yesterday morning Capt. Eugene Madden received a letter from Adjutant F. D. Eddy of the Michigan Division Sons of Veterans asking how many recruits the local camp could furnish toward the company of sons of Veterans which is to form a portion of the 35th Regiment Michigan Volunteers, and instructing him to reply by telegraph. He was also notified to order those signing the number roll to hold themselves in readiness to report at Island Lake at once and that transportation would be forwarded immediately.

The following are the names of those constituting the squad:

C. H. Thomas, F. H. Hink, Geo. W. Miller, Ernest Smith, Bert Van Meter, Julius H. Gustava, Alfred Wilson, Walter Chapman, Leo J. Curtis, Jr., Ben J. Walsch, Wm. E. Smith, Arthur Hiebosa, Frank E. Thomas.

A telegram was immediately sent Mr. Eddy notifying him of the number and stating that additional number roll would be sent by mail today. It is expected that the boys will get away by the first of the week to join the regiment at Island Lake. The company will be observed by competent men, Capt. Ward of Jackson being in command and Col. Backinghaus of Flint, 1st Lieutenant.

The town hall just began to get excited over the prospect of a number of its officers going to the front, when a piece of news was received which completely threw the same for the month of July celebration in the shade.

It came in the form of a telegram from Judge C. H. Chapman of the Soo stating that the volunteers of the volunteers requested that he meet at the 8:30 p. m. train and that he would arrange for number and examination of the men.

A representative of The Germania interviewed Judge Chapman at the Oswegantonk and from him learned that the organization of the company was yet in an embryonic state. From just how many points in the peninsula the members would be drawn was not yet certain but each unopposed company would be allowed to furnish recruits. A percentage of the company would be taken from Chippewa county outside of the city of Sault Ste. Marie, but a very number of the local volunteer company who pass the examination would be accepted.

A string will be in the city inside of today to examine the applicants. It will be headed by Mr. Chapman and a company clerk detailed for that purpose. Mr. Chapman expects to go to the front with the company and sacrifice business interests to do so. He is chief of Probate of Chippewa county and one of the prominent and influential citizens of the Soo. When the Sea Light Guards left for the front, he organized a second company in that city and was honored by being elected its captain.

Gilmore Sherman of that city, second Lieutenant of Co. I, 34th Regiment Michigan Volunteers will undoubtedly be the captain of the new company. He is a mid-man, has seen service in the regular army and is considered one of the best officers in his regiment.

The members of the local company are impatient and are pleased that the prospect to see service is so gratified. Many hardships await them in camp and the campaign in which they will undoubtedly participate, but we feel safe in saying that they will prove an honor to their city and uphold the record made by the upper peninsula soldiers as being second to none in the service.

Arrangements will undoubtedly be made to give them a proper send-off when they leave for the front.

Subject of Sunday morning's service at the Presbyterian church, "True Vision." Evening sermon "The Men who have Died for Others, or The Crimson Thread in the Web of History." All invited.

To our Friends: The fair just closed at Columbus hall was both socially and financially a splendid success. The building was crowded every night to its fullest capacity and at times there was hardly standing room. It was a real American scene, people of all creeds and races commingled in the most friendly manner under the shadow of the stars and stripes with which the skillful hands of our patriotic ladies had adorned the hall dedicated to the great discoverer of this continent. This is as it should be and in understanding our differences in religion or politics, under the generous and sacred standard of our country we will feel like one and the same American people.

While I offer my hearty thanks to all, I do so especially to our patriotic friends who in great numbers and in many ways showed their kind interest and generosity. The net proceeds were over $600. Many thanks, come again.

ANN ARBOR SPEAKS.

Contractor Wooley, of Ann Arbor, makes a point of statement. Mr. Edwin Wooley, contractor and proprietor of Ann Arbor, adds his voice to the army of Michigan people who endorse the little conqueror. Our correspondent found him at the residence, No. 618 Fountain St. Mr. Wooley appreciates "a good thing" as to most of our readers, and he does not hesitate to tell his experience in the benefit of others. Endorsement of this kind has made Doan's Kidney Pills a household word throughout the state. The good they have done has won them a title and such worthy names as "modern wonder-workers," etc. Mr. Wooley says: "I was subject for years to attacks of backache or pains through the legs and kidneys, generally of a dull, heavy, aching nature, but often when the weather changed or when I moved awkwardly they became sharp twinges of pain. As I was doing work which required stooping it was very painful, and finally so, I could not get on as a rule, settled in my loins. I tried various remedies but was never successful in obtaining any permanent benefit until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. At the time my back was troubling me a great deal but shortly after I began the treatment the aching abated and when I had finished it was cured. This is months ago and now there has been no recurrence of the trouble." Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents. Write to J. C. Doan, M.D., Buffalo, N. Y. WOMEN IN BUSINESS.

A prominent business man recently expressed the opinion that there is one thing that will prevent women from competing with men in the business world. It is not their sex, but their lack of ambition. He said that if a woman were to take up a profession or business, she would find that she was not only competing with men, but also with other women. He said that the only way for a woman to succeed in business is to have a strong character and a high standard of ambition. He said that the only way for a woman to overcome the obstacles that are placed in her way is to have a strong character and a high standard of ambition. EXPANSION OF EMPIRE.

Ex-Judge Tree Pictures the Future Policy of the United States.—Old Ideas are Out of Date.

Ex-Judge Lambert Tree, Democrat, student of affairs and former minister to Russia, is outspoken in behalf of an overturning of the traditional "isolation" policy of the United States. He believes that Dewey's victory has thrown into the hands of this country the opportunity which should not be overlooked to enter the world's commercial and maritime power. Asked what he considered were some of the more important questions that are suggested by the war, Mr. Tree said to a Chicago paper: "The logic of the war which requires will be apt to bring the United States face to face with new questions in regard to the future policy which ought to control the government in its international relations. It is easy to understand how the statesmen who are guiding the steps of the republic in the infancy of its experimental existence, when it had scarcely three millions of inhabitants, was substantially without an army or navy, or the means of procuring either, and whose chief interest and ambition was to be left alone to develop its own internal resources and solidify its own federal system of government, should strenuously insist upon its avoiding any line of action which might by any possibility bring it into confederation beyond the continent on which it had established itself. Most of the disputes between nations at that period concerned dynastic ambitions in which this country could have no possible interest aside from the fact that our feebleness as a power of the world admonished us to keep clear of them, whatever might be their purpose.

any movement looking to a wider sphere of operations by the United States, and think the government unwise which we are read does not admit of anything approaching a colonial system. I am, however, one of those who have faith both in the capacity of the American people and of their government to control, regulate and govern any colonies in any part of the world which they may find it necessary to their interests to establish. A free constitutional government, where the press is untrammelled, education is free, religious tests are forbidden, and intelligence is widespread is the best government to insure safe, just, and prosperous colonial establishments. Such a government is the United States, and such is that of Great Britain. "Dewey, by his brilliant victory, has, almost in the twinkling of an eye, opened to us the opportunity for a foothold in the East. The discussion as to whether we should avail ourselves of this opportunity, and if so, whether the Americans and their government would be able to manage and govern the Philippine Islands successfully, but whether any government established by any other people could do so, for the Americans and their gov-

Among the many expenses borne by railroad companies the ice bill figures quite prominently. For instance, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad it is expected it will take over $600,000 in this year to meet the requirements of the service. The greater part is used in connection with shipment of perishable goods; the balance in the passenger train service. A great deal of this ice is put up by the company in its own ice houses, but a great winter has been experienced, and a large proportion will have to be purchased.

America Put Its Hat on. "But times have changed considerably now. We have passed the period of childhood as a nation and find ourselves grown to be a great commercial power with a population of more than seventy millions, engaged in all the pursuits incident to a progressive and active people. Our manifold interests reach out and touch every portion of the inhabited globe. The rules laid down for the guidance of the embryo republic, little experimental republic of a hundred years ago in its international relations scarcely fit the powerful nation of today, and a strict adherence to them would be to bring forth worship. Whatever arrangements may be advanced by those who look with apprehension upon the establishment of new powers in the United States in order to secure their share of the world's commerce, it will be found in the end that the country will be compelled to accept the law of its destiny as a great commercial and maritime power. If not today, then tomorrow, China, with her four hundred millions of people and vast resources, is soon to be awakened from her slumber of centuries. Railways will penetrate the heart of this empire and ships will pierce navigable rivers to engage in trade with her. The United States, whose western frontier is bordered by the same ocean which washes China's shores, and whose ships sail directly out of our ports into the China's, must have an equal chance to share in China's trade with European nations, whose shores know no other outlet than the faraway Atlantic. Even now the trade of this country through the open treaty ports of China is many millions of dollars greater than that of the combined countries of continental Europe, and is only exceeded by that of Great Britain. The vessels also which navigate China's waters and fly the American flag outnumber by thousands those of all Europe, Great Britain excepted. Yet we have recently seen inaugurated a movement by certain continental powers by the seizure, more or less violent, of several important ports of China for the undoubted purpose of controlling and monopolizing the trade there, to the exclusion of other nations. The last breaking into the Flower Kingdom was a case of flag burglary. No wonder these same powers, after all the pains they have taken, contemplate with contentment and undisturbed jealousy the event which has transpired at Manila, in which an American officer of the name of Dewey played a part. Can it be possible that the defeated Yankee is going to put his hand in the game and spoil the plan of excluding him from sharing in the benefits of the Asiatic trade as the same powers have already probably done in Africa, Zealand excepted, who, to her everlasting credit be it said, is always in favor of open and unrestricted trade? If to assure and protect our trade with China a foothold on that side of the world is necessary, then we must have it, cost what it will.

Forward Into War with Spain. "We are at the present (not engaged) in a war with Spain. It is not a war of our making. It has been brewing for three-quarters of a century. We have been forced into it in order to abate an intolerable nuisance in our neighborhood and to prevent worse consequences. We have been forced by the conduct of Spain herself, and she must pay the cost. The Philippine Islands are likely to be one of the sources of our indemnity if we choose to keep them. When Spain emerges from this war it will probably be as impossible for her to retain sovereignty over the Philippines as it would be to retain away over Cuba. The jealousies existing between European powers seem to preclude the idea of their passing under the flag of either of them without making a conflict, even if we were disposed to sell them. The United States, therefore, will most likely have the problem presented to it of deciding whether it should make a new departure in its foreign policy with reference to the acquiring of territory in Asiatic waters. It is not difficult to foresee that such a question will arise in the near future in this country through the belief that the time has arrived for broader foreign relations which will make us a more influential factor in the control and direction of the world's commerce.

"Any one who has at all noted the progress of events must perceive that great changes have taken place in the character of our government since its foundation, little more than a century ago. The civil war decided the disputed question as to whether our system was a voluntary bond between states to be determined at any moment but either of them thought proper to withdraw from it, or whether it was an indissoluble union which could only be terminated by a majority of all of the people of all of the states, and we came out of that war, a nation pledged with the big N. as much as the people of Great Britain, or of France, under their systems. Since then the trend of federal legislation, the decisions of the highest judicial tribunal in the land, the settlement of delicate and intricate questions arising with other nations in consequence of the expansion of our commerce, the responsibilities created, and even the jealousies excited by our growing importance, all tend to the solidifying of power in the central government for the protection of the rights and happiness of the American people.

"There are many people, it is true, who regard with nervous apprehension held Annual Meeting, Elected Officers and gave a Banquet.

WOMEN'S READING CLUB

The last meeting of the Women's Reading Club before the opening of the summer vacation was held at the residence of the president, Mrs. Tucker, Tuesday evening.

It also marked the close of the year and the annual election of officers was held which resulted in the re-election of last year's efficient staff. They are: President, Mary C. Tucker.

The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The porch was hung with Japanese lanterns. The rooms were decorated with cases of embroidery and other articles.

After a business session of interest, an interesting feature was the reading of an old Colonial table which has been in the possession of Mrs. Tucker's ancestors for generations.

The table, set for fourteen covers, was handsomely decorated in the club colors, violet and white. A floral piece composed of so-whites and floral designs framed the center of the table.

The following menu was enjoyed: Cold Turkey, Chicken Salad in Tomato Cases, Gamboles with Cucumbers and Lettuce, Toasted Water.

The husband was in charge of Messieurs Davell and Duaton. The society is in a flourishing condition which is due to the untiring efforts of the officers and members and starts in the new year with prospects of greater benefit to all connected therewith.
