EXCURSION TO PELOSKEY.

Cheap Trip to the Famous Summer Resort, Peloskey.

Manistique Lodge, No. 190, Ancient Order of United Workmen, has arranged for an excursion on the steamer Fannie C. Hart to northern Michigan a popular summer resort, Peloskey on Sunday evening, August 15th. Fare for the round trip has been placed at the exceedingly low price of $1.00.

The steamer will leave here on her regular trip at 8 o'clock Sunday evening and will arrive at the resort at about 5 o'clock in the morning and will remain there until 3 o'clock Monday afternoon giving the excursionists ample time to view the beautiful scenery and the summer home of thousands of tourists. Those who have visited the locality will go again and those who have not should avail themselves of this opportunity of cheap fare and a delightful fall trip.

The committee in charge of the excursion, Messrs. V. X. Lyon, D. T. Gunn and Miller Ross, will leave nothing undone to make the excursion the most enjoyable one ever run from this city. Messrs. A. McVicker, O. D. Vello and other members of the committee are friendly references.

Tickets can be purchased from the committee, members of the order and at the stevedore's office.

"Other People's Money."

Without doubt one of the most substantial successes among the recent productions of American Plays is "Other People's Money," which jumped into immediate popularity when it was first produced at Hoyt's Theatre in New York and played in that metropolis to a crowd of tens of thousands. It is a dramatic and thoroughly amusing comedy and presents many interesting phases of city life and a variety of odd character types that have hitherto not been seen on the stage. They are real types however that can be seen any day or night in almost any large city. No dramatic play in Old Kentucky has put on the stage a larger number of characters that are genuinely American.

Benedict Lyell's interpretation of "Other People's Money" is that of a typical Chicago "Board of Trade" man and a character that one will readily recognize as that one of the interests of this play is that it introduces one to so many of our fellow citizens.

At the Star Opera House, Tuesday night, Aug. 10.

The 45th will see service.

Many of our people since the play for peace has been made by Spain, think and talk that the 45th Regiment now in camp at Island Lake will be mustered out before many moons. They may be mustered out at Camp Lake but it would seem that the Department would know it is not the intention of Maj. Barber to have been sent there, nor will Lt. Col. White be sent to the States. It is likely that the 45th will be sent to the Philippines. There are a dozen other regiments showing the trend of the wind, such as equipping the soldiers with overcoats within the last week.

It is quite generally talked in lower Michigan that the regiment will go to the Philippines.

UPPER PENINSULA NEWS.

Through the influence of Hon. S. M. Stephenson, who telegraphed Secretary Alger Monday morning, a furlough will be granted to Corporal Albert Christensen of Co. L, Thirty-fourth Michigan Infantry. A telegram was received from Secretary Alger the same afternoon stating that President McKinley had instructed him to say that Christensen's furlough would be granted and that he would be sent home from Cuba to his invalid mother's bedside at once.

Hugh Barclay, a former Monmouth lawyer, was among the gold prospectors who arrived at Seattle Sunday from the Yukon 541 E. ft. on the steamship Albatross. Barclay brought with him $90,000 in gold dust and drifts.

Takes a Partner.

Mr. J. W. Knowles of Manistique has arrived in Appleton, and is to be associated with C. P. Hill in the new grocery and meat market business, which has been established in Appleton, the firm name being C. P. Hill & Co. Mr. Knowles is a young man of energy and good business ability and will be an acquisition to the firm. He has only recently been married, and brings his bride with him to Appleton, Daily Post, Aug. 8.

The many friends of Mr. Knowles wish him success in his new venture.

Council Meeting.

Regular meeting of the village council was held Wednesday night. The contract for opening, stoning up and covering the drain at the rear of the Sattler block was awarded ## to Albert Olson.

Permission was granted John E. Hackenback to move his building on Walnut street to a position Cedar street.

New Tailoring Firm.

Julius Peterson and Marin Johnson have formed a partnership in the tailoring business. They have moved into the store room recently occupied by the postoffice, where they will keep in stock cloths for suits and overcoats. Both gentlemen are good tailors and will surely do a splendid business.

Mr. Johnson has been in partnership with Mr. Carlson for some time carrying on a tailoring business on Oak street, east of the American House.

TO BE ENFORCED.

By order of the Village Council the ordinance relative to the running at large of dogs is to be strictly enforced. The Marshal is instructed to collect the tax. If not paid at once all dogs upon which tax is not paid will be taken up and if not redeemed will be shot.

MANISTIQUE, AUG. 12, 1898.

Republican State Convention.

The annual convention of the Republicans of Michigan is hereby called to meet at the Hotel Grand Army in the city of Detroit on Wednesday the 21st day of September, 1898, at 10 o'clock a. m.

- List of names and positions: Albert, Governor; Chapman, Chairman; etc.

WHAT shall we do with our Mores castles?

It is practically all over with Spain excepting the changing of the maps.

There are several hundred Cuban patriots in arms, and several thousand in hammocks.

The consensus of European opinion is favorable to the theory that the American eagle is a real bird.

As first Spain demanded peace with honor, now she is willing to take it with pea soup and hardtack.

The next army for Cuba will need to be made up of health officers and nurses with the courage of the Rough Riders.

Platt made Black, and now Black proposes to unmake Platt. "How sharper than a thankless tooth it is to have a serpent child!"

A Missouri girl has made a hit for fame by kissing Lieut. Hibson on the veranda of St. Louis Hotel, on the mouth and on the square.

Mayor Van Wyck has saved the lives of two seashore girls. There, we know there must be something that Van Wyck could do properly.

Urdenham's next difficulty will be with the gentlemen who are in the insurgent business as a permanent occupation and means of livelihood.

Gen. Blanco, who entered Cuba with the purpose of seeing peace established, will be able to accomplish that purpose if he can arrange to remain there a short time longer.

O. B. Fuller, Fred. K. Baker, S. N. Dutcher and Dr. Bailey are looking for the senatorial nomination. It is rumored that the eastern county of the district will offer a candidate, but just who, we have not learned.

The summer meeting of the Michigan Republican Newspaper Association will be held at Alma, Thursday and Friday, September 1 and 2.

One of the features of the visit will be a banquet Friday evening at the Sanitarium. There will be carriage rides and visits to important points and about the city.

Whomsoever has their candidate for governor on the Republican ticket, Edward Southell, the present governor, has made an exceptionally good executive and his best of friends hope he may be again nominated and elected.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the congressional delegation from this county in the Stephenson lineup," was uttered by a prominent Republican a few days since. Mr. Stephenson may have many supporters in this county but if they are working for him they are doing it on the quiet.

The cost of the war to this government up to date is estimated at $150,000,000. Our casualties 1,673 men killed and wounded, mostly the latter. But it should be remembered that most of the outlay was for things of permanent value, such as battleships, transports, war equipments which we sorely lacked, guns, uniforms, ammunition and supplies. Even the money spent for things soon used or eaten went mostly to our own people and the salaries of our soldiers and sailors will go into circulation mostly at home.

Additional returns we shall get Porto Rico, the Ladrones, at least a local station in the Philippines, together with commercial privileges in Cuba the Philippines are never possessed before. Other advantages will be an improved army, and navy, better coast defenses, the abolition of blood thirsty empires from Cuba, and the greatly enlarged respect of foreign powers who had begun to consider us too powerful to be provoked and too tame to be seriously considered. Add to this closer relations between north and south than ever before and a new wedding of the links between England and America, and you have rewards out of all proportion to what they cost in cash or carnage.

SOME MIGHT HAVE BEEN SAID. Under taker John Snow, of Halifax, who accompanied the steamer Havana on her mission to search of bodies of victims of the La Hoguague disaster, states that some of the bodies found showed evidences of the victims having been alive in the water for two days at least, and the body of one woman showed that she must have lived four days after the sinking of the ship. Many of the victims, he thinks, caught pieces of wreckage and their lives gradually ebbed away in the vain hope of being rescued.

Show is of the opinion that if the French line company had immediately sent out a vessel upon the receipt of the news some of the unfortunate might have been rescued alive.

SENATORIAL OFFENSE. Senator Hanna in a speech at Duluth, Tuesday, stated that he believed the silver issue absolutely dead and that all hope of an international agreement on bimetallic future, at least for the present. He believed the several straight gold platforms adopted by state conventions were in direct line with Republican ideas as to the maintenance of money as good as that of any man in the world. He said the Republican party would make its next campaign on issues brought up by the war and on its record in the war and that the president's course had discredited the infantry by superior praise of the excellence of the cavalry. The same respect for our men's might have impeded the secretary of war to refrain from writing a rebuking reply which was as well calculated to gain applause for the secretary as Roosevelt's letter was to arouse resentment of the infantry, and then giving both letters to the press for publication.

Col. Roosevelt's real offense, in Secretary Alger's eyes, we merely suppose, was not in declaring superiority of the cavalry to the infantry for a specific military purpose in a personal letter. His more reprehensible fault in the eyes of his seniors was more likely in his joining with other subordinate officers and in his impetuous, robust way making public the now generally admitted fact that the American army in Cuba was in imminent danger of perishing by plague if not immediately removed, and that money was needed at Washington to secure their immediate removal. Thoughtful persons will be likely to conclude that in this matter Col. Roosevelt rendered a substantial service to the army which is better worthy consideration than the possible injury which he could inflict by throwing

Best Is None Too Good For You. What is the best of Nature's vegetable stimulants for the Nerves and Stomach? Sarsaparilla. What preparation of this stands on its own merits; money refunded if no benefit? Dana's Sarsaparilla. "The Kind that Cures."

Given the party an absolute continuation of its control of political affairs, the president having been correct in all moves. He expected, however, that the silver issue would be abandoned to do duty as the main question by the opponents of the Republican party and that therein lay their weakness.

THEY THREATENED. The sanitary as well as the political condition of Cuba will call for an occupation and government of that island by the United States for an indefinite period. It has been recognized very generally within the past two months that the utter absence of any other government in that country than that of Spain impels us to take charge of things, at least for a time, until a native republic shall have become self-supporting. Now the frightful condition of Santiago, revealing the absence of sanitation in the whole country, emphasizes the necessity.

Our duty to prevent anarchy is one due mainly to the Cuban people of all races, since we have assumed control of their affairs. The other duty is one of self-protection, as every one of those fever-breeding, seamy cities is a constant menace of our own cities. Yellow fever has been recognized as an unavoidable, if not a necessary evil, by the inhabitants, as well as the worthless officials of Cuban towns. No attempt has been made for many years to eradicate the disease. Consequently our Gulf states have been in peril and our state governments have been put to great expense, to keep out the curse that has acquired a domicile in the Spanish possessions. While Cuba is still foreign territory, congress must appropriate money to be expended there for sanitary protection of the Southern states, without running counter to local prejudice or interfering with local self-government. The states' right idea has been the main obstacle in the past to national quarantines and an efficient national board of health.

To Cuba such objection would not apply. In her case a sufficient sum of money could be appropriated, and the way prepared, by degrees, for uniform local and plague regulation by the national government. Dispatch.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S OFFENSE. Unquestionably it would have been better manners for Col. Theodore Roosevelt to have refrained from writing to his superior officer a letter containing a comparison of the forces under his command with those in other branches of the service, which comparison appeared to discredit the infantry by superior praise of the excellence of the cavalry. The same respect for our men's might have impeded the secretary of war to refrain from writing a rebuking reply which was as well calculated to gain applause for the secretary as Roosevelt's letter was to arouse resentment of the infantry, and then giving both letters to the press for publication.

Col. Roosevelt's real offense, in Secretary Alger's eyes, we merely suppose, was not in declaring superiority of the cavalry to the infantry for a specific military purpose in a personal letter. His more reprehensible fault in the eyes of his seniors was more likely in his joining with other subordinate officers and in his impetuous, robust way making public the now generally admitted fact that the American army in Cuba was in imminent danger of perishing by plague if not immediately removed, and that money was needed at Washington to secure their immediate removal. Thoughtful persons will be likely to conclude that in this matter Col. Roosevelt rendered a substantial service to the army which is better worthy consideration than the possible injury which he could inflict by throwing doubt upon their comparative efficiency, in the contents of a personal letter.

Secretary Alger is entitled to the credit of the assertion that the department had taken some steps towards the relief of the fever-morosed soldiers prior to the issuing of the manifesto by the subordinate officers. He is subject to take more definite and effective action in view of the fact that the Nicholas Sonn, a recognized authority and official representative of the government in business of preserving the health of the army, several weeks ago, foresaw and forestall the very danger which the War department has been hurrying to escape from only since Col. Roosevelt and his associates jangled the picture in a way to startle the public.

Col. Roosevelt is a good writer as well as a good fighter, his virtues will outweigh his offenses; his excesses will obscure his mistakes. Gen. Alger can afford to forgive him. -Sentinel.

Yield humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I, W. L. Middlebrook, suffer from yellow jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in my city and all to no avail. State Prohibition Convention. The State Prohibition Convention of Michigan will be held at Lansing, Aug. 28, in the Universalist church at 10 a. m. for the purpose of nominating a state ticket, adopting a state platform, electing state central committee, and transacting such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Hon. Hale Johnson, of Illinois, Prohibition candidate for vice-pres in 1896 will be present and address the convention. All who purpose affiliating with the prohibition party will be welcomed and seated by the convention. Railroads kindly grant an open fare rate. Great preparations are being made for an enthusiastic gathering.

Discovered by a Woman. Another great discovery has been made, and that too by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its hold upon her and for seven years she withstood the disease but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and was so much relieved by taking first dose that she slept all night, and with two bottles her lungs were entirely cured. Her name is Mrs. Esther Lutz." This writes W. C. Hammond & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at A. S. Putnam & Co. Drug Store, Manistique, Mich. and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

THE MEXICAN DOLLAR

Its Value Unstable, Changing From Day to Day.

DEPENDS ON THE PRICE OF BULLION

Under Free Coinage the Credit of a Nation Has No Effect on the Value of Silver Coins—That Would Be Controlled by the Market—Mysterium Made Clear.

[This article is the result of a personal visit to Mexico, made by the writer in 1905 as a special representative of the Michigan Republican Newspaper Association to investigate the monetary system of that country.]

III.

One of the first persons to greet you upon your arrival in the City of Mexico is the lottery ticket vendor. The prototype of the Louisiana Lottery company which was driven out of the United States by national legislation, is flourishing here in all its grinning glory, and night and day the streets are thronged by men, women and children selling chances upon the next drawing. One may buy a full ticket for $5 or a fraction thereof for 1 cent. The tickets are so arranged as to thoroughly lull the victims whether they can invest little or more, and of course the greater part of the lottery proceeds goes to the pockets of Mexico's poor classes, who through it also persistently promised something for nothing they cannot get. There is no investigation in Mexico relative to such facts as pertain to claims made by the advocates of free coinage of silver in the United States against a relation between the possibility of profit through free silver and the Mexican National Lottery which is altogether in favor of the latter.

Binationalism is a favorite term made up by the free silver faction in the United States. That it is a misnomer and without a shadow of justification on the part of its users, that it has no possible relation to their schemes, present conditions in Mexico and other silver-producing and silver-using countries fully prove. When the practical advocates of free silver refer to binationalism as a binationalist, he desires to be understood that he believes the adoption of free coinage by the United States would remove the difference between the value of the silver bullion in the silver dollar and the gold dollar.

It is known to all, of course, that the value of the silver bullion of the United States is less than at the present time, worth only about 44 cents in gold and that its circulation upon terms of equal value with gold is secured through maintaining the policy of government to convert its own currency, to issue its gold and silver certificates and coins upon terms of equal equality and to redeem them upon the same terms; the opinion of the holders of the Mexican dollar is different. Governmental policy prevails relative to coinage and issuing legal currency, the free and unlimited coinage of silver, as persistently demanded by certain sections and certain factions in the United States, the government mints of Mexico are at the disposal of whom they desire to use them for exchange purposes, the payment of the mint charges, which are the same to all, being the only requisite preliminary, and the addition of this mint charge is the only added value the Mexican dollar acquires through being changed from bullion into coin.

As stated above, the government mints of Mexico are at the disposal of whom they desire to use them for exchange purposes, the payment of the mint charges, which are the same to all, being the only requisite preliminary, and the addition of this mint charge is the only added value the Mexican dollar acquires through being changed from bullion into coin.

At These facts can be demonstrated. Mexico today offers every inducement for capital to enter into the silver mining industry.

The journal in which this statement is made is itself favorable to the free coinage of silver in Mexico, and denounces in the United States as well as it urges that the cheap labor thus insured invites investment of foreign capital. There is therefore no partisan purpose in the statement which is therein made that silver which is worth at this writing 54 1/2 cents per ounce in New York and London is being produced in Mexico for 30 cents per ounce.

Mexican Mining Laws.

It is reliably reported in the leading daily paper of this city that a vein of silver was struck near Guaymas very recently which runs 8,000 ounces of silver and 11 ounces of gold to the ton, and that during the past few months as many as 20 prospectors each week have fitted out their teams, and departed for the Yaqui territory, the vicinity of the above rich silver find from all of whom favorable reports are being received.

In the state of San Luis Potosi there are veins of silver ore which can be reduced to yield annual profits, estimated in its value of from 15 to 20 per cent, and in the state of Chihuahua great activity in mining and prospecting is now being manifested there everywhere, and many valuable discoveries are being made not only in the way of hitherto unknown mines, but of larger and richer bodies of ore in the older mines. I have further been assured by a conservative and well informed resident of this city that modern mining in this country is today in its infancy and that during the last four years Mexico will surpass the mining world with the wonderful increase of its silver output. The mining laws of Mexico have been made very favorable to investigation and investment, insuring the prospector full protection and enjoyment of anything valuable he may find. Under the present laws, with small exceptions for "discovery," three months are given the prospector to ascertain the value of his find and to acquire possession if the development may so warrant. The yearly taxes are $10 per claim of 34 acres, and the property is held without further obligation on the part of the owners.

I have referred to the recent rapid increase of silver mining operations in Mexico and to the extraordinary profits this industry offers and is yielding here in order that a practical, actual view of the situation may be fully afforded. Capital is eagerly seeking investment in Mexican silver mining operations with the expectation of selling the silver product of their mines for from 54 to 60 cents per ounce, and profits greater than can be secured in almost any other legitimate industry are being made in mining here, and yet at this time the so-called binationalists of the United States are declaring that the market value of silver would be $1.20 per ounce if it were not for some alleged "conspiracy" against it, and are seeking to persuade the voters of our country to legislate to make a commodity worth $1.20 per ounce by legislative enactment which can be and is being profitably produced for from 30 to 40 cents per ounce.

A False Assumption.

Just here the question may be reasonably inferred as to what warrant exists in past experience for the declaration that binationalism, or the equal and concurrent circulation of two metals as money, can be secured or assisted by legal enactment. Fortunately for the sake of all the threatened interests of our country, absolute and complete denial of this assumption can be quoted from the pages of our country's history.

In the formation of the first great law of the United States in 1792 the proportion of silver and gold for the coins of our country was determined by reference to the market value of the two metals. Alexander Hamilton knew that legislative enactment would not give one-half of 1 per cent value to other gold or silver coin, and he considered the market value to determine the quantities of metal each coin should contain. Thomas Jefferson also thus expressed himself at the time: "For the market value will lead us to disregard legal proportions altogether, to inquire into the market price of gold in the several countries with which we are principally connected in commerce and to take an average from them." It happened, however, that in the selection of a ratio for the first coinage gold was slightly undervalued, and the result was that it did not circulate. In 1834 an effort was made to secure the parity of our gold and silver coins, not by legislative enactment, but by reducing the quantity of gold in the gold coins. There was but the difference of a few cents between the market value of our gold and silver dollars at that time, but the law which declared them equal did not restore or in the least affect that difference. Silver was slightly undervalued by the coinage provision of 1834, and it remained out of circulation until another change in coinage was made in 1853, which gave us the two silver dollars as we have today, exchanging concurrently with gold by reason of government coinage and the government policy to so uphold it through practically giving choice of exchange to the holder.

And yet with these historical facts in view we are to this present time urged to believe that free coinage would make a piece of silver worth 46 cents equal to $1 in gold, when the same free coinage could not and did not make 93 cents worth of silver equal to $1 in gold from 1792 to 1835. The free coinage of silver does not affect its market value in Mexico, just as it did not affect it in our country in the experience of the past, and silver monometallism, with its necessary accompaniment of loss to labor and all who may be compelled to accept it as its assumed value, is the result of the adoption of the deplorable policy in the United States which is in existence here in Mexico today.

WEST SIDE.

The wrecking tug T. W. Hawk, owned by Capt. Baker, which has been taking the pig iron from the Kate Winslow, sunk off Seal Choke Point, Wis. Detroit last night. Of the 1274 tons which made up the cargo of the Winslow 125 tons was taken from the wreck. The work of raising the iron was commenced July 2 and was finished yesterday. Five divers made up the crew, two working in shifts of forty minute each. Capt. Baker tried to make contact to take the pig iron from the Holmes, which lies in 90 ft. of water off Seal Choke Point, but as yet nothing has been done by the Chicago party interested.

OUR BOYS IN CAMP

Talk about Cuban rain, but if the one we had yesterday couldn't hold its own with anything produced in the humid regions we will give up. For an hour the water fell in sheets, thoroughly drenching the quality of the new hats occupied by the 35th. Parade grounds, streets, etc., were one vast lake when the storm subsided and in places, the guards had to wade through six inches of water in making their rounds.

Sunday afternoon three excursion trains were run into camp with a total of 26 cars. The largest was over the Grand Trunk and the next over the Ann Arbor line. Nearly 2,000 disappointed visitors crowded the grounds at 4 p. m. when review usually occurs, but Jupiter Pluvius had other designs and successfully soaked white dresses and army blue with unparagoning equality. Consequently the parade as well as review was called off for the day.

Many amusing incidents can be witnessed about camp on a Sunday when the sweethearts of the boys in blue call to make what they imagine will be their last adieu. Your reporter observed a case of this kind in a field adjoining the regimental hospital last Sunday morning. A soldier was seated at the foot of a tree with a young lady who was evidently "the only pebble on the beach" of Island Lake, as far as he was concerned. Soldiers were strolling by in all directions but the couple was utterly oblivious to everything around them. The young man was pleading his own pressure, judging from the amount of time that the young lady threw her arms about the neck of her lover and bestowed upon him a liberal share of kisses upon him. "Choke off," "Grab a foot" and other choice expressions, coupled with loud, scolding growls were hurled at the couple, but it rolled off like water from a duck's back. The lady then, pictures taken in a very Sunday afternoon. The proof shows up in very good shape.

Wallace A. Lavigne of E. C. Co. has been detailed to the stables where he has charge of Col. Irish's horse. Mr. Lavigne is an expert horseman well versed in their care, having had much experience in that line.

Beginning Thursday, the government will give fresh meat daily to the regiment, cutting down the issue of "meatless" days to one day a week. The boys in the right spot after the steady salt meat diet for some weeks past. The boys would appreciate better but Uncle Sam doesn't have that down on his list of rations.

Capt. G. C. Scranton has his command of Co. I. He is still collecting from an illness contracted in Cuba and shows the effects of the terrible hardships which depleted the ranks of his soldiers. He reports all the 35th boys known to Manistique people as being in the best of health where he left.

A spirit of most generous which pervades over the infantry that must result from the close confinement and lack of exercise at that exists in a military camp. Indications are, however, that the 35th is to move in the near future, but whether it will be to Cuba or Manila is no one knows. Lieut. C. A. White was in Toledo at the first of the week to assist in the training of recruits. Lieut. Randolph of the regular army has reported and is now a native in the regiment. Orders and letters have been issued and all present the company is being trained by preparatory to issuing. All the supplies necessary to put the regiment in first class shape are rapidly arriving and being issued as fast as they can be put in shape. All kinds of comforts being sent to the boys and it seems reasonable that they are to be immediately discharged. At least we hope that some use will be found for the regiment which is said to be the superior to all its predecessors, physically and morally.

The balance of the little $8.75 which the men received from the State has almost disappeared and the company is running its old-time quilt. Some of the boys in the different companies got in to trouble by too freely indulging in "bright" or "red" eyes and have received various sentences therefor. To the credit of Co. I, it is said that none of its members have been called upon to face Maj. Atkinson's summary court martial.

The murder of Corporal James St. James of Co. E, is the second death in the regiment. As he had oversteered his leave at the time his death occurred, he was not allowed a full funeral. A service had been held for him at the time of his death occurred.

George Burdick concluded his visit with his brother, Sergt. W. A. Burdick of Co. I, Co. last week and left for the east on an extended visit.

Sunday afternoon 171 and of blank cartridges were issued to each man and the regiment was given a drill in firing by company, and battalion and in firing at will in extended order. The work done was simply marvellous and won the warm commendation of Col. Irish. With the first and third battalions deployed as skirmishers in a line soching each way from the center overways across the immense field of a drill ground, the order of "cease firing" blown by the regimental bugler was obeyed almost to a man, showing unusual with new recruits. In the volley firing several companies did as well as regulars, the order being executed at will out break by a single man, Capt. Scranton of Co. I informed your reporter that the condition of the 35th in the matter of drill was something remarkable. The regiment has attained a state of efficiency that is truly remarkable, considering the length of time they have been in the service. No regiment that has left the state can compare with them.

Brigas were issued yesterday to the 24 company musicians and the woodsman in field of music a letter of good quality. Regimental dress parade has been superseded by battalion, the first being given last evening. The 3d will parade tonight, the 8th tomorrow night and so on, until further orders.
