

SIXTY-SEVENTH YEAR, NO. 43 MANISTIQUE, MICHIGAN, Thursday, February 3, 1949 FIVE CENTS A COPY

Now that the city council has finally made up its mind on the proposition of installing parking meters in Manistique, the council members over the matter in a full body meeting...

COMMITTEE ON MILK PROBLEM MEETS MONDAY

Council Names Group To Study Drafting Of New Milk Ordinance

Those who favor parking meters point to the number of cities which have them and like them.

A committee to study the drafting of a new milk ordinance, appointed at a postponed meeting of the city council Monday forenoon...

The following persons were named on the committee by the council: City-Councilmen George Stephens and William Berger; Alex Robertson, city clerk; and G. S. Johnson, city attorney.

We have been asked both to take a stand for the meters and against them. To do this we must have to be completely familiar with the operation of parking meters in other towns...

Sanitarian. Action to revise the municipal milk ordinance was prompted by an application from the Fairmont company for a license to sell pasteurized milk and cream to Manistique stores.

Incidentally, the city must provide additional free parking spaces for the meters. If the city fails to do this, the meter program will fall, and we, for one, will be opposed to their installation.

GOD HEALED HIM

★ "I dressed his wounds, and God healed him," was the modest statement of the great French physician, Paré. It was he who first insisted on cleanliness and fresh air for his patients.

These things now are accepted as the minimum essentials for health, although in the sixteenth century they were revolutionary. Medical science has traveled a long road since the days of Paré. Some diseases have been eliminated, others drastically curtailed. Given full co-operation, physicians could eradicate many of the infectious diseases still rampant today. It is up to you to take advantage of the knowledge your physician possesses.

LEADERS OF FIREMEN'S UNION

NEEDLESS EXTRA ENGINE CREW

LEADERS OF ENGINEERS' UNION

This is a diesel ... a modern locomotive that means better service to you.

Leaders of two unions think it's a feather-bed ... it makes work grab that means less service to you.

Leaders of unions representing railroad engineers and firemen seek to force railroads to add extra, needless men on diesel locomotives. This is sheer waste — a "make-work" program which would mean fewer improvements and higher costs — for YOU!

Railroads use modern diesel locomotives because they are one of the means of giving better service to you.

Two men compose the crew of a diesel. They occupy a clean, comfortable cab at the front of the locomotive and the throttle. The fireman sits and watches the track ahead. With no coal to shovel, he has practically nothing else to do.

No Benefit To You

Now the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen want to use the diesel locomotive as a means of forcing a feather-bedding scheme on the railroads. The extra men they propose to add to the diesel crews are not needed. There is no work for them.

The union leaders are fighting among themselves about which union should furnish these extra, needless men. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have even threatened strike. You may not be interested in the dispute of these two unions, but you would be vitally concerned if these groups succeed in putting through this feather-bedding scheme, because it would mean a slowing up of the improvement program of the railroads — of which the diesel is the outstanding symbol. Diesel crews are among the highest paid tracks and stations, on new passenger and freight cars, as well as on diesel locomotives, and on the many other less conspicuous details of railroading that contribute to improved service.

Feather-Bedding Means Less Service To You

But broken feather-bedding schemes like the one now proposed would, if successful, divert large sums of money from our present improvement program. Even worse, they make improvements like the diesel worthless, by making the cost of their operation prohibitive.

These demands are against your interests — as well as those of the railroads. They are schemes to "make work". Neither you nor the railroads should be forced to pay such a penalty for progress.

That's why the railroads are resisting these "make work" demands to the last ditch — and why they are telling you about them.

British-Built Fort Lernout Lasted 56 Years In Detroit

Fort Lernout, star-shaped symbol of His Britannic Majesty's might on the Detroit River, had an old history of British and American occupation before it became a part of the Motor City. Unhappily put together by the British during the Revolutionary War because of fear of American attack, the fort stood at the site of the present Federal Building where a plaque now commemorates it, according to Dr. F. Cleverly, assistant director of the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

In its 56-year history, the fort's high parapets twice enclosed the city, retrenched British forces and twice was the armed ramp of frontier-minded American soldiers. In that time it also had three official names.

The fort was up the hill behind Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac's original Fort Ponchartraine du Detroit, built in 1701, which then enclosed the tiny stockaded town.

Fort Ponchartraine had been taken over by the British at the end of the French and Indian War. But as the Revolutionary War raged, they felt the stockade would not be strong enough to stop the Americans, should they come up the Great Lakes. So they built Fort Lernout.

The typical European earthwork fort had cannons mounted on the ramparts. The ramparts were 26 feet thick at the bottom. An embankment and a ditch surrounded the fort.

However, this imposing structure never had to repel an enemy force. When the sharpshooting Americans took over in 1796 they did so as a result of Jay's Treaty. They renamed it Fort Detroit. When the War of 1812 came along, Fort Detroit hummed with activity again as the British, through control of the Great Lakes, compelled the Americans to surrender Detroit.

The British held it until Sept. 1813, when Commodore Perry's cleverly won victory at Put-In-Bay tipped the scales of war in United States' favor. The British, having lost control of the Great Lakes, hurriedly evacuated the fort and fled across the river into Canada.

King's Men Caught
The King's men, under command of Gen. Henry Proctor, were caught and beaten by the Americans near Chatham, Ontario. Gen. Proctor fled the battle as Gen. William Harrison's men cut his troops to bits.

An interesting figure in the victory was hardy 66-year-old Isaac Shelby, Kentucky governor, who led his force of rifle-toting horsemen from his home state to the support of Gen. Harrison. In honor of this valiant old gentleman, Fort Detroit was renamed Fort Shelby.

When peace returned to Michigan, the City of Detroit grew so rapidly that it had almost engulfed the fort when the government ordered Fort Shelby abandoned in 1826. After the ramparts had been torn down and the ground leveled, the fort's area was turned over to the city and it swiftly became a part of the downtown financial district.

Mrs. Norman Martin returned Saturday from a week's visit at the home her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Dauxy, in Munising. Mrs. John Moffat and infant son have been dismissed from the Shw hospital.

Illegal Wampum Plagued Indians In 17th Century

One of the earliest currency devaluations in America was that of the Indian wampum, when Dutch traders in the 17th century raised the value of this Indian medium of exchange with their imitations of it.

An exhibit of Indian beads and wampum and of Indian pipes in the University of Michigan Museum reveals that "counterfeit wampum" began to appear after beads became the "money" with which the whites obtained furs, tobacco, food, and other commodities.

The Indians made their beads out of the shells of clams and snails and string them or embedded them into caps, belts and sashes. Irving G. Reimann, prefect of University exhibits, has explained. Known as wampum, these beaded articles were used for personal adornment and also had a variety of symbolic meanings. It was not until the white settlers began to trade with the Indians that the beads became an equivalent of money.

European beads of glass and porcelain which had the same shape and color as the shell beads soon flooded the east coast and eventually found their way inland. As they multiplied in number, the value of the genuine wampum dropped. In 1650, Reimann adds, the Council of New Netherlands outlawed this kind of counterfeit, established standards for genuine wampum, and penalties for its imitation.

The University exhibit is made up of wampum and pipes discovered in ancient Indian burial grounds, many of them of prehistoric periods. Some of them were in Emmet and Lenawee counties of Michigan. They indicate that smoking was a ceremonial ritual with the Indians many hundreds of years before the white settlers came. However, smoking was confined entirely to ceremonies and was not practiced by the Indians as a habit.

4-H Notes

By Fred C. Bernhardt, District 4-H Club Agent

We have scheduled Miss Emmy Nelson, from the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work in Chicago, for the speaker at the Annual 4-H Leaders Recognition Banquet, March 3. Miss Nelson has a pleasing southern accent and is very entertaining speaker.

Mrs. Michael Heinz, is leaving the Brick school to move to Newberry. Mrs. Heinz has been a very good 4-H club leader.

Stopped at the Green School to see Donald Beckman; suggested he order his chickens earlier this year to take advantage of the high egg and meat prices from July to January.

Joe Jenerow and Martin Thomas at the Millar School have their electric motors almost completed. They have learned a lot about electricity in making them.

Mrs. Evelyn Millar has a group of boys and girls in the Woods District learning textile painting. She has also helped the local Home Economics Club.

Later in February we have scheduled a school for all 4-H club officers. There will be special training for each office, followed by recreation and refreshments.

At Germfask 25 girls are knitting under the leadership of Mrs. Irving Hill.

Miss Jane Cayia arrived Tuesday from Omaha, Neb., where she has been employed, to spend two weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cayia.

Thank You

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the residents of Manistique and vicinity for their fine patronage during the 16 years we operated the Manistique Florist company.

Michael Dean, son of Mrs. Robert Dean, celebrated his fourth birthday Wednesday with a party at his home on Arbutus avenue. Games were followed by refreshments, a birthday cake centering the party table. Guests were Connie and Benton Nelson, Marcia Jackson, Johnny Stirling, Bobby White and Teddy Pyramen.

Card Party
Six tables of five hundred and one of fifty were in play at the Woodmen Circle card party Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Smith, North Houghton avenue. Prizes in five hundred were won by Mrs. William Duchency, first, and Mrs. George Stephens, second; and in fifty.

World War I Vets May Get Insurance From Government
Many World War I veterans are unaware of their eligibility for U. S. Government Life Insurance, says Lars Olson, local veterans counselor, announced.
Olson said there are a number of these veterans in Michigan who have no such insurance, either because they never applied for it or have permitted their policies to lapse.
Most World War I veterans who had active service between October 6, 1917, and July 2, 1921, now may purchase insurance.
It is possible to renew expiring five-year level premium U. S. Government Life Insurance term policies for another five-year period. Under the law, such policies now may be renewed for a second, third, fourth or fifth five-year period without medical examination, Olson explained.

Cancer Film To Be Available Until Tuesday, Feb. 15
An excellent motion picture on cancer, comprising animated drawings in color, will be available for showing to local groups until February 15. It was announced this week by Mrs. J. Joseph Harbert, county commissioner. The picture was shown on Wednesday evening to the Lions club, and will be shown to county 4-H groups Friday.
Mrs. Mary Arrowood is a patient at St. Luke's hospital in Detroit at the Manistique Women's Hospital.

SCHUSTER'S SUPER FOOD MART

convention system as its substitute. He never got along with Frank McKay when McKay was party boss. Brake does favor a pre-primary convention at which party delegates would be given the opportunity to select nominees. These nominees, together with any others who filed with petitions, would be subject to the voters' approval or disapproval at the regular party primary.

While Mr. Brake has not alluded to recent party leaders in his campaign to abolish the secret primary, it is obvious that he has in mind former Governor Kim Sigler. Sigler was elected county prosecutor on a Democratic county ticket. He was not the choice of party leaders. Refuted by a circuit court judge who was presiding as a one-man grand jury, Sigler tossed his hat into the Republican primary. He was swept into nomination and election on a popular protest wave against so-called corruption and graft at Lansing. A figure of glamour himself, Sigler became the knight on the white horse, the reformer battling lobbyist and other arch enemies of good government. His peal-gray cravat, shooting coat, cowboy hat, and oratorical voice made a flashy combination. It was just like Hollywood. Governor G. Mennen Williams comes from a family said to be generally Republican. He has been at odds with the Democratic state chairman. He ran his own campaign, financed his own funds, and otherwise operated outside of the party organization.

It is Treasurer Brake's belief that the secret primary, without party restraint or responsibility, invites the nomination of a man who excels in glamour, sex appeal, or other charms that strike the voters' fancy at the moment.

Does Mr. Brake's conviction suggest a personal ambition that is now frustrated or at least handicapped? Lansing observers who have watched the steady progress of the state treasurer agree that what he lacks in glamour, personality, charm or call it what you may, he certainly makes up in pliant old-fashioned common sense.

Here is a man who operates a successful farm in Montcalm county near Stanton. He is literally a dirt farmer, not a gentleman farmer who surveys the work done by others and who basks in the glory of their harvest. Hale Brake can dehorn a bull. He is a farmer, not a politician. He is a farmer, not a politician. He is a farmer, not a politician.

ballot plan backed. Voters favored Gov. Thomas D. Dewey for president, but switched over by hundreds of thousands to mark a cross in front of the name of Democrat G. Mennen Williams for governor.

The present reaction against the secret primary is also one aftermath of the defeat of Kim Sigler last November. People who voted against Sigler by voting for Williams are now inclined to condemn "glamour"—the happy face on the billboard, the oratorical voice on the radio, the happy personality on the platform.

Would a pre-primary convention serve as a check against these? You're going to hear more in 1949 of D. Hale Brake's crusade for party responsibility.

"Are you reading Robert E. Stripling's factual story of Red conspiracy in the United States, now appearing in the Milwaukee Sentinel? Don't miss this startling expose of Communist activities in high government circles!" —Adv.

County clerks of Michigan met at Lansing last week. They were in agreement, so it is reported, that the secret primary should be abolished and that voters should declare party affiliation before they could enjoy the privilege of selecting party nominees.

Crossing of party lines where a Democrat tries to nominate a "weak" Republican candidate, and vice versa, has become a political factor in Michigan under the present system.

Oakley E. Distin, Detroit election superior, said the secret primary was introduced 14 years ago by a Republican legislature in order to protect Republican office-holders in a New Deal administration. Later the legislature required separate ballots for presidential and state tickets on the belief that this separation would prevent Democratic state leaders from riding to election on the coat-tails of FDR. MORE FACTS SOUGHT ABOUT DEER IN U. P.

Stepped-Up Research Program Planned At Casino Experiment Station

More facts about upper peninsula deer are to be sought in a stepped-up research program at the Casinowood Wildlife Experiment Station east of Munising.

New headquarters buildings are to be erected near Shingletown mainly with Pittman-Robertson funds when final approval of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service is secured.

Appointment of Arnold O. Haugen as biologist in charge also is announced. Haugen, a department game warden for several years recently has been associate professor in the department of zoology, Michigan State college, teaching courses in ecology and wildlife management. Haugen, at one time in charge of the Swan creek wildlife experiment station near Allegan, left the department in 1947 to join the college staff.

Proposed new buildings will include a combined laboratory and office building, garage and workshop, and two residences. Old COG buildings which have served as Casinowood headquarters for many years are in an isolated location, far from a plowed road.

Future research projects will seek better information on deer herd management and on management of timber lands for better deer food production, management of sharp-tail grouse, prairie-chickens, beaver and otter; predator-game relations, and investigation of game birds that may be introduced into the upper peninsula with the hope that they become established there.

leave at Uzen Kaniko Hotel, Kyushu, a rest home maintained by the Army for occupation personnel in the Far East area, it was announced here recently by Colonel Robert W. Willy, Commanding Officer of Iiami Air Force Base, Iiami, Japan.

Situated not far from the village of the sulphur hot springs, and the famous volcano, Mount Aso, this hotel is famous for its beauty.

A great number of recreational facilities are furnished the men without charge. Picture taking is conducted throughout the vicinity to various temples, shrines and ancient historical sites which prove to be of great interest to all fishing, swimming, fishing, playing golf, and horseback riding to the top of the volcanic mountain, are enjoyed by all.

Sergeant Williams entered the military service at Marquette, in 1943 and served in the European Theatre of Operations from February 1944 to November 1944. Returning to the United States he was discharged at Tyndall Field, Florida, in 1944. Reenlisting at Chicago, Illinois in 1946, Sergeant Williams was alerted for movement to the Pacific Theater of Operations in October 1946.

Arriving in Japan at the second port, Yokohama, on November 2, 1946, Sergeant Williams was assigned to the Fifth Air Force, the Occupational Air Force for Japan and subsequently reassigned to the 88th Bombardment Squadron at Iiami Air Force Base on the main Japanese home island of Honshu.

Paul Veziina Wins In Ski Jumping Meet

Manistique Entry First In Class C And Most Graceful Rider In Division

Paul Veziina, 17-year-old Manistique skier, won first place in Class C and was adjudged the most graceful rider in his class, in the third annual U. S. Central Ski association sponsored jumping tournament here Sunday afternoon.

Other winners were Clarence Rasmussen, Ishpeming, Class A; Bob Reiten, Class B, and most graceful rider in his class, Ernest Levy, Marquette, Senior class.

Three Manistique jumpers in Class B, Ted Hentschel, Harry Rubick and Bob Roziach, failed to place among the first ten. In Class C, John Quick, of Manistique, placed tenth, and Tony Weber, also of this city, was eleventh.

The riders found jumping difficult, riding a high tail wind which shifted repeatedly to a cross wind. There were many falls. Despite very cold weather, an estimated 1,000 spectators attended the tournament. Richard Wille, of Manistique was announcer.

Results are as follows:
Senior—Ernest Levy 85-83.
Class A—Clarence Rasmussen 98-99—149.6 points.
Class B—Bob Reiten, I. M., 93-94—142; Roy Hamari, I. M., 97-99—139.2; Lowell Mattson, Ish-pening 90-89—134; Jack Levinski, I. M., 89-85—131.

Class C—Paul Veziina 92-90—136.4; Orville Winters, I. M., 95-88—135; Roland Swanson, Ishpeming 88-85—130.3.

35 DAIRYMEN HOLD MEETING IN CITY

Artificial Breeding Association Planned; Directors Are Elected

In spite of a heavy snowstorm, 35 Schoolcraft and East Delta county dairymen turned out to a meeting at the court house in Manistique Friday to organize an artificial breeding association.

Those present indicated that they would enter another cow show, making close to 400 cows definitely lined up for the association. The dairymen expressed the belief that they would have over 100 cows in the association within a short time.

A board of directors was elected to head up the organization. It is composed of Horiet Olson, Cooks; Reinhold, Matchinski, Manistique; Albert Watchorn, Isabella; Henry McGahan, Cooks; Carl Yoder, Manistique; Kenneth Cutler, Cooks; and Leland Hawkey, Cultiver. The officers of the association will be elected from this board.

The board of directors hired Lawrence Sabach, of Manistique, as inspector-manager.

for the association, and instructed him to take the training course at Michigan State college which started Monday. It is expected that the artificial breeding association will be organized about the middle of February.

A second meeting of the membership of the Schoolcraft-Delta County Artificial Breeding Association will be held about February 10, at which time membership fees will be collected, a constitution and by-laws will be adopted, and various information regarding artificial breeding will be discussed. This meeting will be announced more definitely later.

Party Saturday Is March Of Dimes Campaign Benefit

The Manistique township hall will be the scene of a party Saturday evening for the benefit of the local campaign for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The party was postponed from January 29 because of bad weather.

Old Lace
Sterling by Towis

You'll like Old Lace ... like its clean-cut outline, relieved only by a simple, lace-like edging.

Inspired by early nineteenth century, but modern as tomorrow, it is designed to be lived with, always.

Old Lace is inexpensive, too, for Sterling of such fine quality.

Do come in and see it!
