Housewives Can Demand Labels On Merchandise

Homemakers who complain about the lack of labels on yard goods or ready-to-wear garments will accomplish more by directing their complaints in the right place.

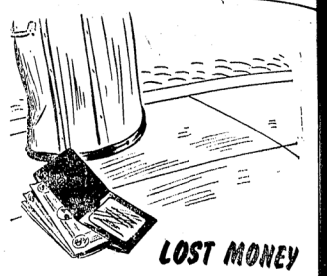

Labels about shrinkage, color fastness, wearing qualities and kind of fiber are expensive to the manufacturer and require a great deal of laboratory testing. Only through complaints made directly to them will the manufacturers know what the housewife wants in the way of information about her purchases and label them accordingly.

Home economists at Michigan State College say that the housewife is interested in fiber content, color fastness, shrinkage, wearing qualities, special finishes, care, and grade name. The same information also wants for drape and weight not apply to a loose dress.

A label about color fastness will refer to laundering and dry cleaning. If laundromats the label should state whether color fast to hand or commercial laundry, water temperature and mild or strong soap. If fast color, it should be fast to sunlight.

General terms as "pre-shrunk" or "shrinkproof" are not a guarantee against further shrinkage. Any shrinkage process should give a guarantee on further shrinkage of not more than two percent. More shrinkage would affect the garment size. Thread count is an indication of wearing quality.

Labels should indicate whether finish is permanent, if permanent to dry cleaning only, or washing only, or for life of fabric. It is important for the homemaker tion costs get out of hand. The plant often has to close.

Interpreting the News

These observations grow out of the "Michigan Mirror" survey of new industry in Michigan small towns, of which this is the concluding report. Belding lost a history mill for just this reason. Baldwin's new industry to make buses and crates for Gibson refrigerators and General Electric stoves and deep freezers has been closed repeatedly because of excessive labor demands. A Muskegon firm proposed to open a foundry in Rudwin. When the labor situation at the Packing Material Company came to a head, the Muskegon division vacated elsewhere.

At Oscoda a community progress club sponsored a "building bee" to provide a plant for the Oscoda Door Manufacturing Company. Nine employees, Hickman Roofing Company, five to 12 men.

At Kaleva in Manistee county is a prime example of American free enterprise. Like the maker of the better mouse trap, William Makin, he developed a bait that caught fish. His home workshop has grown into an assembly line plant employing 70 persons at peak production. Seven salesmen were on the road last spring. The season's production by August 1 was 2,000,000 baits!

The Kaleva story is one of economic opportunity through individual enterprise and willingness to risk individual savings.

Other Michigan small town reports in capsule form:
Montague—Chamber of Commerce raised $5,000 for new foundry. Foundry employs 30 men. Machine shop may eventually employ 40.

Elk Rapids—Elk Rapids Packing Company began operations July 12, 1948. This year approximately 4,000,000 pounds of sour cherries and 200,000 pounds of sweet cherries were canned. Peak employment was 220 persons. Robinson Metal Products, employing five persons, produces a plywood paddleboard for water sports.

Birmingham—Asphalt pavement mix plant of Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., NYC. General office and warehouse of Great Lakes Tractor & Equipment Company.

Escanaba—Branch of Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee, producing electric welders, truck cranes and sugar cane loaders; 200 employees. Wells Crate & Lumber Company, 50 workers. Fence Company of America, rustic fences, pre-fab cabins, 75 workers. Jacobson Furniture Company, 40 workers. Escanaba Glove Company, branch of Chicago firm, 40 workers. Delta Furniture Co., radio cabinets, 30 workers. Insulation Manufacturers Corp., 15 workers.

Ontonagon—New industry produces cement block called "Brikcrete".

Hellville — Cheney Limestone Company, extracting lime, crushing for agricultural lime, road chips. Nine employees. Hickman Roofing Company, five to 12 men.

Vicksburg — Viking Products Company, air line equipment for welding machines, 20 workers and $1,500 weekly payroll. KaMaK Corp., punch press operations for automobile industry. Bendix strike caused summer layoff.

Greenville—Gibson 1949 wage figure is 209.03 per cent higher than comparative week of 1946. Federal Mogul also way ahead of pre-war.

Midland—Dow Chemical Company is still expanding.

Grand Haven—Nine new local industries, none of them branch plants! A few examples: Michigan Plastic Products, toys, aquarium-automotive - refrigerator parts. Electrical Assemblies, inc. transformers cord sets, relay sockets.

Royal Oak Industries, contractor's and mass's levels.

Coldwater—Federal-Mogul Service, branch of Detroit firm, has expanded.

These examples indicate the opportunity still exists for new industry in Michigan small towns. New industry brings new payrolls. Everyone benefits — merchants, professional men, farmers and workers themselves.

Dufour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dufour, 107 South 4th St., Manistique, Mich., is now serving with Company "B" Kobe Quartermaster Depot at Kobe Base, Kobe Base, located in Japan's largest seaport and the center of her import-export trade before the war, has the important mission of providing supplies for all the occupation forces in southern Japan.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Did you ever stop to consider the important part the left hand plays in fly casting? You use that left hand to hold the line taut and ease; to retrieve line, meanwhile working the fly; to set the hook positively when in on with the rod tip would bring only missed rises; and to play a fish.

Jason Lucas, noted angling authority, has some interesting comments on the first of these uses. All tournament distance casters, and many who fish for steelhead and salmon in wide rivers, attain maximum distance by employing what has been known in the past as the "double haul" or the "left-hand haul."

Lucas differentiates between these and also divides the latter into two parts which he calls the short left-hand haul and the long left-hand haul. Lets concentrate on the latter two, since the double haul is suited only for the very experienced fly caster with good tackle.

The short left-hand haul is so simple that anybody who can cast a fly at all should catch onto it in 10 minutes. On your back cast, see to it that your left hand, holding the line is, say, as high as your chest. Then, as you begin the forward cast, give a smooth, rather quick tug down with that left hand. This pulls more bend into the rod tip, puts more power there. So if your back cast is slightly listless and weak, this will compensate to a great extent; if it had proper snap, this haul will let you shoot considerably more line than you could have otherwise.

Remember that sometimes it will be but a gentle tug of a few inches; on a long cast, or casting into a stiff wind—where this pull is invaluable—there will be a longer, sharper tug. Use a short pull at first, until you get used to it.

I recommend that every beginner try this method. He should find himself casting more easily and positively than ever before, and be able to lay his fly nearly farther off.

The long left-hand haul is more difficult, suitable for the moderately advanced fly caster. It gives still greater distance, but to get that full benefit from it, one should have a rod with good backbone, and a properly fitting three-diameter line.

Even the veteran at ordinary trout fishing will regard his long left-hand haul as an emergency measure, to be used only when he cannot wade to within easy casting distance of some promising spot.

In this method, the first part of the back cast is made as when using the short haul, except that the line is put into it. The rod tip must sto, as usual, slightly behind the vertical. But, once that upward loss is executed, the tip is allowed to move again, to drift further back. At the same time, the left hand sweeps up fairly high, permitting line to shoot out backwards through the guides, but not to slip through the fingers.

Then, as the forward cast is begun, the left hand whips the line quickly downward, sometimes strong bend into the rod, to send the line forward with high speed, allowing one to make a long shoot. To read 11—Adv.

at the offertory and the hymn, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," as the conclusion of the service. The bride's exquisite lace gown was worn over ivory satin and a nylon net ruffled underskirt. Tiny self-bustions of satin and lace extended down the front from the mandarin neckline to the empire waist, and the full skirt extended into a court train. The sleeves were long and tapered to a point over the wrist. Her veil, a softly draped mantilla framing her face, was of matching imported lace and her bride's bouquet was a white satin and tulle heart centered by three light orchids and surrounded by white stephanotis, and tied with white satin streamers. She wore a pearl necklace with sapphire heart-shaped pendant and earrings to match, a gift of the bridegroom. For the traditional "something old," she chose a cherished gold bracelet which her mother wore as a girl. Her father escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriages of the bride, and Peggy Bauers and Mrs. Peter Gorscho, of Manistique, her cousins. Junior bridesmaids were Betty and Caroline Sleeman, small cousins of the bride from Superior, Wis., and Mary Miller, of Minneapolis. Little Kay Hentschell, of Chicago, the bridegroom's niece, was flower girl. Gary Chaudre, of Manistique, was ring bearer. Robert Hentschell was his brother's best man, and others were Gerald Heinz, brother of the bride, of Manistique, William Hentschell, brother of the bridegroom, of Chicago, Ted Grapich, of Marquette, James Tyrrell, of Marshalltown, Ia., and Peter Gorscho and William Larson, of Manistique. The high altar of the church was decorated with all white gladioli, large white chrysanthemums and pompons, the side altars with arrangements of pale pink and white gladioli. In addition to the mixed bouquets of gladioli at St. Joseph's altar, there was a basket of pink gladioli, and the bride placed a bouquet of white roses at the Blessed Virgin's altar following the mass. The maid of honor's train was of white French marquisette over ice blue taffeta, with low-cut neckline and short puffed sleeves. Imported lace appliques were considered over the full, colonial-style skirt and snug fitting bodice. She wore a large white crownless hat of French horsehair, with streamers of ice blue taffeta, and long gauntlets fashioned of white marquisette. She carried a cascade bouquet of light blue delphinium and bristly roses, centered by white tulle rosettes and tied with light blue streamers. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of delicate flesh-colored French marquisette over taffeta of a matching shade, made in the same style as that of the maid of honor, and gauntlets of matching marquisette. They carried arm bouquets of yellow daisies and pink dot pompon buttons centered with tulle roses tied with light blue satin streamers, and wore circles of corresponding flowers in their hair. The three little junior bridesmaids and the flower girl were gowned alike in colonial dresses of the same flesh-colored marquisette, lapped up in dainty bows over knotted and unknotted in a matching shade, with long matching marquisette gauntlets. The flowers of the junior bridesmaids were colonial bouquets of pink sweet peas and light blue pompon buttons, centered with tulle rosettes and tied with light blue satin streamers and they wore matching flowers in their hair. The flower girl carried a small basket, tied with tulle rosettes and light blue satin streamers, and filled with light blue pompon flowers, pink sweet peas and rose petals. She wore a circle of bristly rosettes and light blue delphinium in her hair. The ring bearer's suit was of white wool serge and he carried the rings on a white satin pillow edged in lace. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Heinz chose a long original model, of toast brown, in soft silk crepe, with hand beaded detail throughout the yoke, molded to a smooth neckline and back skirt interest. She wore long matching gauntlets and her hat of brown green-grain ribbon was trimmed with ice green and toast brown nylon net. Mrs. Hentschell was gowned in aqua chiffon with orchid trim. Her hat was of aqua chiffon veiling with orchid trim. Their oranges were purple-throated, violet or- chids. A wedding luncheon for eighty guests was served at 1:30 o'clock at the Inn at Blaney Park Resort. The bride's table was centered by a four-tiered wedding cake decorated in the classic style of the bridal party, with white plastic lily buds and white roses along the base and topped with three wedding bells centered by the traditional miniature bride and groom. The bouquets of the bridesmaids and flower girls completed the decorations of the bridal table. White gladioli fashioned into tiny calla lilies and white aster, pompon buttons and huckleberry vines with tulle rosettes and white satin bows, graced the guest tables. Large crystal vases of white chrysanthemums, bouquets of pink gladioli formed a background. J. Joseph Herbert, of Manistique, presided as toastmaster. A reception for about 500 guests was held from 4 to 9 o'clock at the summer home of the bride's parents at Gulliver Lake. Small evergreen trees were placed in front of the trees, flanked by large vases of all white chrysanthemums, glads and pompons and baskets of pink gladioli. Mrs. Carl Jacob, of Gulliver, presided at the banquet table, which was centered by tall white tapers and arrangements of all white flowers. The wedding cake centered a side service table at which Mrs. Michael Heinz, of Newberry, an aunt of the bride, presided. The couple left later on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and other points in the east, the wife wearing for traveling a beige and brown wool checked suit with flaring jacket, beige and brown accessories, and a corsage of tulle orchids from her wedding bouquet. The new Mrs. Hentschell is a graduate of Manistique high school. Class of 1945, and attended the College of St. Catherine, St. Paul, Minn., and Vocational School at Appleton, Wis. Mr. Hentschell, who is employed at Schuster's Food Mart, also graduated from Manistique high school in 1945, served in the U. S. Navy Air Corps for one and a half years, and later attended Northern Michigan College of Education at Marquette. They will reside at Manistique and at their summer home at Gulliver Lake. Out of town guests at the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fleisner and Mrs. Frank Callan Superior, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. William Hentschell, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miller, Minneapolis; Mrs. Verdel Zales and Miss Patricia Mallet, Appleton, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chaisson, Escanaba; Sylvester Lakosky, Tucson, Ariz.; John Nadolin, Elkhart, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Heinz and family, Newberry; Mr. and Mrs. James Tyrrell, Marshalltown, Ia.; and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Benwill, Mt. double-ring ceremony. Traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. John Pappas, a cousin of the bride. White sheer was worn by the bride, who was escorted to the altar by her brother George. Her gown was styled with an off-the-shoulder neckline and tight fitting bodice. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the bridegroom and carried an all white bouquet of gladioli and other mix-

Members of the Manistique Band and their families have a picnic at the Huska farm here Sunday. School started here Tuesday with an enrollment of many beginners and the addition of the 6th grade. Much activity has been underway the past two weeks by the new janitor and bus driver, Joseph Harsh, in the cleaning, sanding and varnishing of the floors, a sorely needed job. Mr. Harsh was assisted by Cal Stevens, a member of the school board.

and children of Detroit were guests several days at the home of Mrs. A. J. Smith and family. Mrs. Green is the former Fern Smith, daughter of A. J. Smith. Mrs. Green is on the police force at Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Gerwin Stunkner of Bannister left for their home Monday after a 10-day vacation visit at the Floyd Cox home.

A regular meeting was held at the school on Tuesday evening by the Community Club. Mrs. Evelyn Johnson was hired as cook for the hot lunch served at the school for the ensuing year, and a card party was voted to be held on Thursday evening. This will be a food show-off.

George Olson is being employed by the Clairmont Transfer Co. out of Escanaba. He plans to move his family there this week. Al Stelzer of Chicago, with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson of Gulliver, were guests at the Edwards' home on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are carmakers of the Stelzer lodge, recently built at Gulliver.

Friends of Milton Herro, a polo victim, will be pleased to learn that he has been dismissed from the Mercy hospital at Muskegon to the home of his aunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Fakety. He is able to walk with the aid of crutches. The doctor thinks he will regain the use of his legs, having been given treatment in the small son visited relatives here briefly enroute from Detroit to Nahma. Mrs. Tuffnell is also a polo victim, but is out of danger and will convalesce at the home of her parents at Nahma.

left last week to return to Rockford, Ill., after having spent the summer at the Cobridge summer home on Gulliver. Mrs. and Mrs. Corbridge will return in three weeks. Mrs. William Bauers was hostess at a shower given in honor of Mrs. Ken Webster on Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 7:30 p. m., at the town hall. Manistique In Former Days

It's worth a dollar to hear Mr. Primrose sing Doodle of the Golden Sward. At opera house Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 18 and 19th, Earl Vasthinder staged a lady's fur cape on the streets Wednesday. Owner can secure same at this office by proving property and paying for this notice. Miss Ida Jewell left for the lower peninsula today. Mr. Peter Zimmerman and family returned from Kenosha late last week. Mrs. John Martar was Manistique's first school teacher. Manistique's representative in the Philippines, Mr. Durno, has joined the regular army and was promoted to sergeant. It gives a man the "blues" to see the clerks about town unpacking consignments of overcoats, mackinaws, and other necessary articles of winter wear, so early in the season. Fires were an absolute necessity last Sunday and Monday. The thermometer did not venture above 60 degrees on these days. The new design of the electric fan, which is being used by the electric company, is being perfected. Miss Elsie has accepted the position of cashier in Rose Bros. store. The bank was closed Monday. Labor day is a legal holiday.

Forty Years Ago Mr. Edward Hevlichek, driver at the fire department, left Saturday night for Minneapolis, to attend the Minnesota state fair. Capt. Williams has returned from Choboygan, where he was in charge of a tug. Mr. Fred Baker, who has been employed in the Michigan Central office in Detroit during the summer to remain a few days. He is to attend the Detroit Medical college coming year. Mr. Fred Greenwood is looking after K. F. D. route No. 1, during the absence of the regular carrier, Mrs. Hans Klagsdahl, who is taking a vacation. A merry-go-round is attracting very large crowds.

Mrs. John Henry has gone to Gladstone where she will spend the week. Mr. Fred Green has recently enlarged and repainted his residence property on Cherrise street, thereby making much improving its appearance. Julius Chapman, who is at Gladstone, has passed the first examination for railroad fireman. Andrew P. Ekstrom was disabled for several days by stepping on a piece of tin or a portion of a bottle which penetrated his foot. One Winkler reports that his cow is lost. It is a bluish gray cow.

D. J. Ward of this city, and Norman Stafford of Garfield, are attending the U. S. district court which convened at Marquette Tuesday, in the capacity of jurors. Manistique Gridders Threaten Twice Against Ishpeming Saturday

The Manistique high school football team lost its first game of the season at Ishpeming Saturday night by a score of 6 to 0. The game was played almost entirely in a rainstorm.

The Emeralds were twice within scoring distance, once with a first down on the five-yard line, where a fumble lost them the ball, and again on the 12-yard stripe, where Ishpeming's line held and turned back the threat.

Ishpeming scored on a blocked punt in the third quarter.
