No special session of the state legislature will be called by Governor G. Mennen Williams this fall. Such is the intention which the "Michigan Mirror" deduces from an exchange of letters between the governor and State Treasurer D. Hank Bruckner...

Here is the record, and you can judge for yourself. Last May the governor intimated he would call legislators into special session to consider new taxes. Legislators had declined to attend a proposed increase in the state gas tax...

for economy in state government. He assailed a $9,420,000 increase in the state payroll during the Murphy administration. The CIO sit-down strike had evoked strong public resentment. Fitzgerald capitalized on this, too. Murphy lost the election and later was sent by President Roosevelt to the Philippines...

If the government could meet payrolls in 1938 with red ink on its books, it seems logical to us that it can do so in 1950. Why then all this letter writing in September, 1949?

Who is to blame for the big, bad deficit at Lansing? Not the voters who want 78 per cent of sales tax revenue for schools, cities and townships. No, not the "willful" will be take your choice (1) a Republican legislature which declines to tax corporation profits; (2) a Democratic governor who insists on more state aid for everyone, especially for members of the CIO.

Hiawatha The Hiawatha township PTA met at the Maple Grove school on Wednesday night, Sept. 14, for their first meeting of the season...

Mrs. Mlle C. Byers and daughter, Sheila, accompanied Mrs. Jackie Kojietz and son, Buckley, to Marquette Friday where Sheila registered at Northern Michigan College of Education for the fall term, beginning Monday, Sept. 19.

To bring the matter to a head, Governor Williams recently sent a letter to state treasurer, auditor general and controller. He asked for advice: What are you going to do in 1950 "when" the deficit develops?

The controller replied that he would certify whether disbursements were proper in the light of legislative appropriations. The auditor general said he would issue warrants only if cash was on hand. The state treasurer's reply was along these lines: "If a deficit develops, the treasurer was willing to delay payment of some bills, to utilize certain funds other than trust funds, and to use even earmarked funds temporarily. He said it might be possible to reduce liquor inventory of the state liquor control commission - a step taken by Governor Frazier Murphy in 1938 when a similar deficit existed.

It is the intention of Controller Stedman that the treasury deficit will rapidly develop in March, 1950. During February and March the state must divert substantial sums of sales tax revenue to schools, cities and townships. These payments are expected to drain the general fund of its remaining cash. Thus, history will repeat itself. Eleven years ago the late Frank Murphy was governor. The 1937 session of the legislature had left the state budget $18 million in the red. By the end of the first fiscal year (June 30, 1937-38) the actual deficit was $3,000,000. About one half of what was anticipated.

The state has lost lower than last year. The treasurer had merely borrowed from other funds. Unemployment was high in 1938, due to a recession. Governor Murphy called the legislature into special session to appropriate more money for welfare aid. A sum of $10,000,000 was authorized - in the face of an existing deficit. No new taxes were levied. Frank Fitzgerald campaigned

WHY THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD STRIKE?

Over twenty years ago, the Congress of the United States passed the Railway Labor Act. It was hailed by union leaders as a model for the settlement of labor disputes.

THE LEADERS of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on the Missouri Pacific Railroad have refused to accept themselves of the peaceful means provided by this Act for settling their disputes. They insist that they are the sole arbiters of their own disputes over the terms of contracts.

What are These Strikes About? These strikes and strike threats are not wage rates or hours. They result in disputes over the meaning of existing contracts. They cover claims for a full day's pay for less than a day's work, or for services performed by others which were fully paid for the work done.

efficiently or economically if the leaders of the unions ignore agreements or laws. Provisions of the Law which are Disregarded There are five ways under the Railway Labor Act to settle disputes over the meaning of contracts: 1-Decision by National Railroad Adjustment Board. 2-Decision by System Adjustment Board for the specific railroad. 3-Decision by arbitration. 4-Decision by neutral referee. 5-Decision by courts.

President Truman's Board Condemns Strike There is an established legal method for handling disputes involving existing written contracts - just as there is such a method of settling any contract dispute which you may have in your daily life.

Innocent bystanders Suffer Losses and Hardships There are about 5,000 engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen on the Missouri Pacific. They are known as "operating" employees, and are the most highly paid of all employees on the nation's railroads, but their strike action has resulted in the loss of work to 25,000 other employees of the Missouri Pacific. In addition, they have imposed great inconveniences and hardships upon the public and the communities served by that railroad.

The Railway Labor Act was designed to protect the public against just such interruptions of commerce. If these men will not comply with the provisions of the law for the settlement of such disputes, then all thinking Americans must face the question, "What is the next step?"

News of 4-H CLUBS

Fred C. Bernhardt, District 4-H Club Agent, was able to schedule A. G. Kettunen, State 4-H Club Leader from East Lansing, to speak at our leaders' recognition banquet this year. Mr. Kettunen has been in 4-H Club work in Michigan for thirty years and has developed a fine philosophy regarding work with boys and girls. We are sure our leaders will enjoy hearing him. The banquet will be held the second week in December.

Schoolcraft County has gotten seven registered Holstein heifers and cows in the past week. Mark Schurrer, in Manistique township, bought three animals from lower Michigan and the Matchninks on 12-10 bought four heifers from the U. P. State Farm at Chatham. Three of the Matchnink's calves were sired artificially. We welcome good dairy animals to the county since they will do much to bring up and stabilize our farm incomes. We also hope that descendants of these animals will be available to 4-H club members as foundation stock.

We have just received an invitation to take part in the 1950 Michigan Cherry Pick Baking Contest. An Upper Peninsula contest will be held during the winter and the three top girls will go to Grand Rapids to compete for state honors.

Do You Want Your A&P Put Out Of Business?

Last Thursday in New York, the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed a suit to put A&P out of business.

They asked the court to order us to get rid of most of our stores and also the manufacturing facilities which supply you with A&P coffee, Ann Page products, Jane Parker baked goods, and other quality items we produce.

This would mean higher food prices for you. It would mean less food on every dinner table and fewer dollars in every pay envelope.

It would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

This poses a basic question for the American people: Do they want to continue to enjoy lower prices and better living? Or do they want to break up A&P and pay higher prices, and have lower living standards?

What do you want?

Why Destroy A&P?

This suit was brought under the anti-trust laws. These are good laws. They were passed about fifty years ago to prevent any company, or any group of companies, from getting a monopoly in a field and then raising prices to the public.

A&P has never done any of these things.

Nobody has ever shown that we have anything even approaching a monopoly of the food business anywhere. As every housewife knows, the retail grocery business is the most competitive in the country and we do only a small part of it.

Nobody has ever said we charged too high prices — just the opposite. This whole attack rises out of the fact that we sell good food too cheap. We would not have had any of this trouble if, instead of lowering prices, we had raised them and pocketed the difference.

Nobody has ever said that our profit rate was too high. During the past five years our net profit, after taxes, has averaged about 1½¢ on every dollar of sales, which is less than almost any other business you can think of.

The American people have shown that they like our low-price policy by coming to our stores to do their shopping. If A&P is big, it is because the American people, by their patronage, have made it big.

Obviously, it is the theory of the anti-trust lawyers that the people have no right to patronize a company, if their patronage will make that company grow; and that any big business must be destroyed simply because it is big, and even if the public gets hurt in the process.

Do You Want Higher Prices?

There is much more involved in this case than the future of A&P. The entire American system of efficient, low-cost, low-profit distribution which we pioneered, will face destruction and the public will suffer.

A&P was the first chain store in this country. For more than ninety years we have tried to build a sound business on the simple formula the founder gave us: "Give the people the most good food you can for their money." Year after year we have tried to do a better job, make our business more efficient, and pass the savings on to the consumer in the form of lower prices.

Our efforts along these lines have led other grocers to keep their costs and profits down.

In the old days before A&P, food that cost the grocer 50¢, often sold as high as $1.00 at retail.

Today, food that costs the grocer 50¢ generally sells to the public at less than 60¢.

The methods we pioneered have been adopted not only by other grocers, but by merchants in other lines. There are today literally hundreds of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A&P, the way will be clear for the destruction of every other efficient large scale distributor.

Who Will Be Hurt?

There has never been any question in our mind that it is good business and good citizenship to sell good food as cheaply as possible. As Fortune Magazine said about A&P some time ago, "It is firmly attached to the one great principle — the selling of more for less — that has made the desert bloom and the nation wax great."

We sincerely believe that we have helped the American people eat better and live better.

We believe that the hundreds of thousands of farmers and manufacturers who have voluntarily sought our business have profited by our fast, low-cost distribution of their products.

We know that our 110,000 loyal employees enjoy today, as they always have, the highest wages, shortest hours and best working conditions generally prevailing in the retail food industry; and that these men and women have found in A&P good opportunities for security and progress.

We know that thousands of businessmen — the landlords who rent us our stores, the haulers who operate our trucks, the people who supply us with goods and services — have a big stake in our operations.

Obviously, all these people will suffer if this company is put out of business.

What Shall We Do?

We admit that the interests of the owners of A&P are of little importance.

Frankly, they could make an enormous amount of money by breaking up A&P, as the anti-trust lawyers wish, and selling off the parts.

But is this what the American people want? Do they agree with the anti-trust lawyers that our food prices are too low, and that we should be put out of the picture so other grocers can charge more?

Frankly, if this were the case, we would not want to continue in business.

But we seriously doubt that this is the case. Twelve years ago, an effort was made to tax this company and other chain stores out of business. The public rallied to our support. They said they liked our quality foods and our low prices. As a result of their opposition, the tax was defeated.

Now we are faced with this new attack through the courts. We are faced with the heavy costs and all the trouble that lawsuits involve.

But we believe this attack is a threat to millions of consumers who rely on us for quality foods at low prices; to farmers who rely on us for fast, low-cost distribution of their products; and to our loyal employees.

We feel that it is our responsibility to all these people to defend, by every legitimate means, this company and the low-price policy on which it was built.

SPORTSMEN GOING TO U. P. MEETING

Nine Members Of Local Club Attending Newberry Session Sunday

Nine members of the Schoolcraft County Sportsmen's club will attend the annual meeting of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's association Sunday in Newberry, it was announced this week by Robert Schmeling, club president.
Seven of those attending will be delegates. They are Earl Cox, Charles H. Howard, Oscar Jasmun, Gerald Mullen, Robert Schmeling, Herbert Krause and Lee Wood. Carl Minkel and Dr. E. D. Brandy also will attend.
Although the 1949 convention will be a three-day affair, the Schoolcraft county group will attend only the Sunday deliberations when all business of the U. P. association will be transacted. Friday and Saturday will be devoted to entertainment and sight-seeing, including a boat trip to Tahquamenon Falls.

U. P. Delegation Asks Action On Straits Problem

which, he said, are twofold—an immediate solution of the Straits traffic congestion and a long-range program designed to bring the two peninsulas closer together politically and economically.
A. J. Coyia, of Manistique, introduced the causeway suggestion into the discussion, stating that in any attempt to solve the traffic problem at the Straits the use of the causeway as a northern boat terminal should be given serious consideration. In recommending any solution, he said that the question, "What can be done at the least possible cost and the least possible time?" should be one of the guides used.
Edward Fenlon, of St. Ignace, former state representative, placed the St. Ignace delegation behind the causeway suggestion. He said he served in the state legislature when the Mackinac Bridge Authority was created and he detailed the work of this board to the assembly.
"The world's outstanding bridge engineer, from France, was employed to design the causeway and bridge, and he was aided by some of this nation's outstanding marine engineers. The causeway, he said, was designed to be used as a ferry boat terminal during the time the bridge was under construction.
"Critical Meeting"
J. Lee Barrett, of Detroit, manager of the Southeastern Michigan Tourist association, said that the Bilaney meeting could be one of the most critical ever held in the state. "You have in your power to perform an outstanding service for yourselves and for the state of Michigan," he declared. He spoke emphatically on using the causeway for a northern dockage for ferry ships.
John Keeton, of Manistig, offering figures showing the phenomenal growth of traffic at the Straits during the past number of years, moved that the assemblage adopt a resolution urging an immediate study of the causeway as a ferry dock, and that if found feasible, it should be ready for utilization by the 1950 resort season. It was supported by E. L. Stover, house of Small, Ste. Marie, and passed by unanimous vote.

John McCarthy, speaking at the conclusion of the meeting, declared that the use of the causeway from an engineering standpoint seemed completely feasible. He also cited some current figures on traffic at the Straits, stating that August of this year was an all-time high, with 27,000 passengers crossing the channel. A total of 630,000 vehicles have crossed the Straits to date this year, and it would appear, he said, that the complete figures this year would be larger by many per cent than last season, or any previous year.

Schoolcraft county delegates at the meeting, besides Cookson, Coyia and Norton, were William S. Crowe, Harold Plichta, Leonard J. Harbick, Walter Nelson, and A. P. Nelson, of Manistique; Frank Richards, of Thompson; and William W. Davidson, of Doyle township.
