More than 300 Elks Club members and their wives are expected in Manistique this week end for the 25th annual U.P. Point-to-Point Elks Association Fall Round-Up.

Top Elks officials due here

Top officers of the Michigan Elks Association will lead the list of distinguished visitors at the 25th annual U.P. Elks Fall Round-Up in Manistique this Friday and Saturday.

State President this year is James Domperre of Negaunee, while the vice president at large is Howard Emerson of Jackson. Both are scheduled to speak at the convention banquet Saturday night.

Group of Past Presidents of the Association is expected to attend as well. These include Robert Burns, Bessemer; Nelson Van Dongen, Grand Rapids;

Are coho coming?

Are the coho finally coming? They may not be here yet, but they're close by, reports Conservation Officer Ed Dorie.

Dorie went out on the John Breed fishing boat, operating out of Goudreau's Cove at Seul Chok, Tuesday morning. They lifted one net in about 30 feet of water, off of Seul Chok Point, and came up with 140-150 coho, all in the four to five pound class, and several rainbow trout.

The officer said there was no indication that the school was headed for Thompson Creek, local coho fishing hot spot, but said that based on past experience the fish would be feeding voraciously in schools offshore in about 50 feet of water for the next three to four weeks before starting their run. The fish will gain about a pound a week during this period, he estimated.

One coho was reported caught at Thompson Creek last week, but there is no other indication of any run in that area yet, except for a few jacks that were planted this spring being caught.

FRED HAHNE AND PLAQUE

Hahne is cited for work in CAA

A shiny plaque on the wall is a new addition in the office of local banker Fred Hahne.

Hahne received the plaque, plus a personal letter from Robert Perrin, acting deputy director of the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, at the Aug. 18 meeting of the Upper Peninsula Commission on Area Progress (UPCAP) in L'Anse.

The plaque reads: "For the leadership he has provided as chairman of the Community Action Agency governing board since June, 1965, and for his unceasing efforts on behalf of the disadvantaged people in this area, this citation is gratefully given." It is signed by Cecil B. Chase, mayor of Escanaba.

The letter from Perrin reads, in part: "(This) provides your fellow citizens and myself an opportunity to comment on your unselfish devotion to Community Action since being elected to the board in June of 1965. I know that your business activities command a great deal of time. Yet, you have provided leadership for a series of achievements. A major one was assisting Escanaba to obtain Neighborhood Facilities grant for this (Civic) Center, Homes on the Potawatomi Indian Reservation. You have electricity. Handicapped persons in your area now have a workshop where they contribute toward building the area's economy. The agency will soon open a day care center for working mothers. It operates a dozen Head Start classes; it boasts a pre-school program for retarded children and it utilizes Federal employment and training programs. Your energy and initiative have been at the center of these accomplishments. At the same time, you have served as treasurer, UPCAP, which provides technical assistance to the poor with funds from OEO and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. As an active member of the Great Lakes Resource Development Committee you have contributed to the development of greater opportunity for the poor in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

"On this day, I send sincere best wishes to all of those in the Upper Peninsula who had a part in building the success of the Nonmonie-Delta-Schoolcraft CAA. I especially extend my appreciation and commendation to you, Mr. Hahne, for providing outstanding leadership and for bringing about accomplishments in behalf of those who seek increased economic opportunities.

"Your service is an example of the quality of guidance and depth of dedication that are necessary if we are to prevail over the problems of poverty in America."

APPLY MOMENT—Members of the local Elks Club, busy with their preparations for Fall Round-up here this weekend, can re-live this happy moment in the history of the lodge, when in 1945 the mortgage on their building was burned. Participating in that ceremony were, from left, Benjamin Gerg, Goldfrid Johnson, Dr. Theodore Soutar, Alex Nelson and W. L. Middlebrook. The picture has been donated to the Schoolcraft County Historical Society by Dorothy Middlebrook Shipman.

School, economics topics for meetings

Meetings scheduled for Wednesday will be covered in next Pioneer-Tribune.

William's "Fact-Finding Mission" investigating present needs of the Upper Peninsula was due here late Wednesday. Richard Whitmer, director of the Department of Education, was to listen to local leaders outline leading issues just prior to noon and following a luncheon session, and to appear with Ralph Gilliam and Nat Dellis, Dept. of Education, Edwin Weidle, education; Frank S. Holobik, and resources; Robert Noe, pollution and civic needs; and Kelly, communications and transportation.

The Wednesday night was a negotiating session between teachers and board of education representatives. They met to the session last week following the school board. Teachers are withholding extra duties, such as class extra training and community schools, until the issue is settled.

A major area of concern now is whether or not the adult program of the community school will be able to get by. It relies on the teaching staff for instructors, and agreement can be reached on such extra-assignment as diploma program may not be operating the week of Sept. 22, when state aid is determined. Without state aid, the district must afford to offer the program.

U.P. Sportsmen meeting here

Manistique will play host to the 48th annual convention of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association this Saturday and Sunday.

The two-day session will open with a policy meeting of the executive board at 4 p.m. Saturday at the Arrowhead Inn. At 7:30 that evening there will be an informal discussion meeting at an open house at the clubhouse of the Schoolcraft County Sportsmen's Club. State Senators Joseph Mack and Roger Craig are expected to attend, as well as State Representative Charles Varnum. All interested persons are invited to participate.

The convention proper will start at 10 a.m. Sunday at the clubhouse with registration of delegates and introduction of guests. At noon the 48th annual banquet will be held at the Fireside Inn, with Sen. Mack as the key speaker. At this banquet the association's annual award for outstanding achievement in conservation curriculum will be presented to the Manistique Area Schools by Paul Challanch, district education supervisor for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Mrs. Clifford Christensen of the Hiawatha School will also be honored as the winner of the William Asselin Award as the outstanding teacher of conservation in the U.P.

The convention will reconvene at the clubhouse of the local club for the balance of its schedule, with adjournment expected around 4 p.m.

Interested sportsmen are invited to attend the open house discussion Saturday evening, the Sunday banquet (at $3 per person) and the business sessions on Sunday.

The Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association is the parent organization of a majority of the organized conservation clubs in the Upper Peninsula. Roland Jukemich of Negaunee is president of the association.

Board approves airport studies

Schoolcraft County and Peckham Engineering of Lansing reached agreement Tuesday night on a preliminary agreement to conduct an engineering study at Schoolcraft County Airport.

Total cost of the first two phases of the study is estimated at $6,000. Half of this cost will be borne by the state, and the county also has an estimated $1,400 credit with the state from previous airport projects, leaving the county's actual cash cost at about $1,950.

Robert Peckham, representing the engineering firm, said the study would be divided into two parts. Section 1 calls for the necessary engineering, topographic, cross section, approach study and general soil surveys. This data will be used for preparation of detail construction plans and master plans.

Section II calls for the engineer to develop a master plan, including a title sheet, airport layout plan, a layout serial, engineering data sheet, property plan, drawings for the north, south, east and west approaches, and a building area layout plan.

It will also include a report on the existing facility, history and forecast of based aircraft, fuel sales, operations and general aviation passengers, development program plus an estimate of quantities of work items, including recommendations on the size and location of terminal buildings, hangars and base operations.

Operator Vern Bernard and his wife Fran were present to give a report showing that their earnings from the airport operation totaled only $4,000 last year, and is running about the same this year, on a $47,000 investment. They are hoping for some payment agreement with the county on the operation of the facility.

Their report was referred to committee for study.

The board passed a resolution urging that a revolving fund be set up at Newberry State Hospital to furnish drugs at cost to convalescent patients. The hospital has had to discontinue the practice because receipts from these drug sales were being returned to the state general fund instead of being credited to the hospital operation.

Bernard also issued a report on vandalism to the runway lights at the airport. Eight lights valued at $25 each, have been broken thus far. It was pointed out that such vandalism is a federal offense and will be dealt with severely.

Candidates for appointment to two posts on the County Canvassing Board were submitted by both political parties. Republican nominees were Howard Hewitt, J. Witter Reid and Richard Ketchik. Democratic nominees were William Berger, Earl LeBrasseur and Mrs. Jean Holohik. Hewitt and Berger are currently serving on the board.

Court orders state to pay schools

Manistique Area Schools won the second legal battle with the State Department last week when the Michigan Appeals directed the state to pay the $3,375.51 in back state aid payments. The appeals cover the difference paid to the schools years 1966-67 and 1967-68.

The school reorganization act which reorganized districts will not be state aid as a result of their reorganization.

The district filed suit in the Court of Appeals, 1968, after Supl. Edwin Weidle presented the issue to the board of education of that year. Newberry had an interest in joining in the

Emeralds lose third game, 19-0

Once again the second half proved the downfall of the Manistique Emeralds as they dropped their third conference game of the season to the Munising Mustangs, 19-0, last Saturday afternoon.

It was a nip and tuck affair through most of the first half with the defensive units of both teams holding things in check. It was not until late in the second quarter that Munising quarterback Dave Wickstrom got his team moving with a 23 yard pass play to Jim Gray for the first touchdown. An attempted two-pointer after the TD was no good and the half ended, Munising 6, Manistique 0.

Munising got on the scoreboard again in the fourth period after partially blocking a Manistique punt, and taking over on their own 47 yard line. The Mustangs took advantage of the situation, picking up two fast first downs before Gray charged into the end zone on a 12 yard run for the second touchdown. The try for the extra points was no good and Munising led, 12 to 0.

Manistique received the kick but was unable to put anything together and was forced on punt. The Mustangs took over and launched a 63 yard drive with ground attack which led to their final touchdown. Once again Gray went over for the score on a two yard plunge. Wickstrom kicked the extra point and the final score was 19 to 0 in favor of Munising.

New judge is kept busy as Circuit Court begins

New Circuit Judge William F. Hood put in a busy two days in his first working appearance on the bench here as the September term of court opened Monday.

The term started Monday morning with a minute of silence in honor of the late Judge George S. Behrman, and an eulogy to him delivered by Judge Hood.

There were many cases in which the new judge disqualified himself because of a possible prior interest, and outside judges will be assigned to hear these cases.

In criminal cases, the issue of the People vs. Duane Tarrow on an appeal from a justice court conservation law violation was continued to the January term; the case of Henry C. Curtis, charging indecent exposure, was returned to District Court for preliminary examination, and the charge against Leonard Spencer of Richmond, Mich., alleging intent to defraud by giving a bad check for $1,000 to the Hancock Lumber Co. was continued to Oct. 17.

Three probation violators appeared, and Antonio J. Weber was found guilty of violating his probation on non-support charges. The probation was continued and Weber paid $100 costs and posted a support bond of $100, and ordered to pay 45 percent of his earnings, and not less than $30 a week, in the future.

Patrick LaFave, charged with probation violation on non-support, asked for a court-appointed attorney. Bond of $500 was furnished and a re-hearing scheduled today (Thursday). Aaron Ziegler, charged with three probation violation items on his breaking and entering charge, pleaded guilty but not furnishing monthly reports to the probation officer, and not guilty to failure to pay court costs and to leaving the county without permission.

He has been jailed for presentence investigation.

In civil action, divorces were granted to Helen M. Provo from Frank A. Provo, William R. Chandanis from Marjorie L. Chandanis; Dorothy Whitcomb from Richard E. Whitcomb and Margie P. Munroe from Charles R. Munroe. A judgment of annulment was also granted to Shirley Broseau vs. Richard Broseau, and the judge agreed to prepare an order confirming an earlier decree divorcing Janice A. Burns from Arnold S. Burns.

A writ of attachment against Donald J. Reed for support payments was dropped and his $150 bond will be returned.

Charles Cousineau entered a denial in the paternity case filed by Loretta Brown, and blood tests were ordered by the court.

Motions were scheduled to be heard Wednesday in the suit of the estate of Gordon Gould vs. John G. Korte of Manistique. The Gould estate is seeking $275,000 from Korte claiming negligence in the Feb. 2, 1969 accident on M-94, when Korte's car struck the rear of Gould's snow machine and killed the driver.

Patrick LaFave, charged with probation violation on non-support, asked for a court-appointed attorney. Bond of $500 was

This is the way it's going to be. Pontiac's 70's Surprised that Pontiac's setting the style for the umpteenth straight year? Of course not.

But you may be a bit dazzled to find out that Pontiac finally could Pontiac.

Take Bonneville: From the strong, new bumper grille to the standard 455 under the hood, it's a rouser.

Inside, instant limousine. So luxurious some of the traditional big boys are already screaming.

One of the nicest things we could have done for Grand Prix's luxury was to leave it alone. We did. But we popped in a 455 V-8 for you to order. (It's an old Pontiac proverb: that luxury should have power.)

Enter LeMans Sport. A brand-new series in the stable. Wait! Competition sees it pull the new 400-cubic-inch hood trick. We'll show you that one if you check with us on the order form.

By now, you've spotted our 70' GTO. But maybe you've heard it. A sound so tough we've thrown modesty to the wind. Dubbed GTO "The Humbler."

This is Pontiac '70. And we figure this is the way driving's going to be. So why wait?

It's at your Pontiac dealer's now.

It's funny how things really pile up steam again once the summer season is ended and fall is here.

We had a nice crowd out for the Friday Fish Fry last week, for example, seemed like a lot of folks just out enjoying the cooler weather.

Bonnie Fyvie's rehearsal dinner was also held here Friday night, and then Saturday afternoon we had more than 300 guests here for the reception. A lively bride, and a lovely groom.

This week end it will be the reception of Bill Maies and Tina Gorsche following their wedding Saturday afternoon, and let's hope the weatherman cooperates and gives them a nice day too.

We'll have the Lady Elks out earlier Saturday, for their 12:30 luncheon as part of the 25th annual U.P. Elks Fall Round-Up. A nice chance for Manistique to play host to more than 300 people from the 14 lodges throughout the U.P.

It's a pleasure for us to host these events, for we've arranged things so that we can accommodate just about any type of meeting or party or reception or luncheon you can conceive of. There are facilities to handle large or small groups, and we've found that people truly appreciate the extra care we take in preparing to host their event.

Whatever your party needs, we'll give you a call. We're sure to have something that will please you and your guests.

"COLLEGE DAY" SEPT. 23. It's an annual event for all homemakers in Menominee, Delta and Schoolcraft counties.

An interesting program has been planned around the theme "Looking Your Best Self." It will cover clothes for you, your shape and your personality, also hair care and styling.

Special resource people will be available and homemakers will serve as live models. And if my plans go through, I might be showing you my new wiglet!

A noon luncheon will be served at one of the Escanaba churches. Registration will begin at 9, the program at 10.

Reservations must be in by Friday to me—and you can address it to the County Building, Escanaba, 49829. Please enclose $1 with your reservation.

The balance of $1.25 can be paid when you register. Special resource people will be available and homemakers will serve as live models.

ARE YOU MAKING PICKLES AND RELISHES? It seems I've had more calls this year than ever before and most of them on problems. These are some that homemakers were concerned about.

"Why is the liquid in my dill pickles cloudy?" Minerals in water can cause this. Soft water is best. "My cucumbers taste bitter this year?" Our very dry season can cause this.

Shriveled pickles may result from using too strong a vinegar, sugar, or salt solution. If you're making very sweet or very sour pickles, it's best to start with a diluted solution and increase gradually to the strength desired. Want a bulletin with recipes, plus good directions for making pickles? Call your Extension Office, 341-5050, for the bulletin "Making Pickles and Relishes at Home." It's one published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

BUY IT BY THE TUB, BARELY, BOX OR BASKET. You can eat it in your car, take it home or on a picnic. This is how we enjoy broilers these days. We even saw them in Finland, in the United States about 10% of the broiler output is used by the public in this way and the amount is increasing.

These carry-out birds must be uniform in weight—they average 2.5 to 2.75 pounds per bird but the current trend is toward marketing heavier broilers. I like them don't you?

By the time they're brought to the hospital, only the most skillful treatment can save their lives. Will you share the miracle of modern medicine with the needy in developing countries? Wegner stated that while Russia is a communist country, it observed two areas where capitalism prevails. One is agriculture, where farmers have some private land where they can produce crops for sale and the other is life insurance, which is sold by private individuals. The speaker pointed out that with the advancement of education in Russia some class distinctions are developing.

In answer to a question, the speaker stated that the group had practically no difficulties with customs officials or the police and were treated cordially by the people. Hospitals - And Your Child #2

Children dread separation from Mom and Dad. The young may fear they are being punished or worse yet, that they are not loved. This is not so far fetched as it sounds since threats of sickness are often used as disciplinary measures.
How often parents say: "If you eat too much candy, you'll get sick" or "If you don't wear your boots, you'll catch cold."

You should remain as long as the hospital allows. Most children behave better when allowed to have a favorite toy or blanket as a reminder of home.

Children's wards usually stock games and books. In many, volunteers come in to read and play with the little patients.
When the day arrives to take your child home, he may not want to leave.

A defense of elders

BACK TO SCHOOL TIME may mean many things to many people, including relief of mothers and dismay of teachers, but it also is a time of apprehension for those school administrators who are uneasily aware of the increasing tendency of students to become activists in a wide variety of areas.

This uneasiness is not confined to college presidents, although this is where most of the action has been in the past several years. The memories of Cornell and San Francisco State and Columbia are still too vivid to be forgotten.

There is optimism, however, that the students and their administrators are becoming increasingly reconciled. The violent and ultra-radical left among the students has alienated a sizeable number of the middle spectrum of students. At the same time the violence of other years has led college administrations into realization that there are legitimate student demands that need to be heard and to be solved.

While there is optimism, there is also the worry that student unrest may next erupt at a lower level, academically speaking, meaning teen-agers in high schools and junior high. The effects of college picketing and demonstrations has not gone unnoticed by the younger set, and there is an increasing possibility that high school teachers and school boards may soon be faced with some of the same problems that earlier beset their college contemporaries.

This student unrest at any level is unsettling to those of middle age and older, for their formative years were built upon the premise that education was the key that could unlock the door of poverty and frustration, providing the opportunity for the good life that so many do now enjoy.

At the same time it should be pointed out, to parents and to youngsters alike, that the current generation of youth can certainly not claim the exclusive credit for the theory of protest or the burning desire to make a bright new world.

Depression students of the 1930's, struggling to achieve the education that they felt would help break the economic bonds that bound the country in those days, were not a conservative group. Many other adults of those years, who found higher education an economic impossibility, developed the conviction that radical means should be found to offer educational opportunity to everyone who could qualify.

Perhaps the results of these depression year struggles can be seen in the emergence of organized labor as a potent political and economic force; in the passage (and utilization) of what has come to be called the GI Bill of Rights that enabled World War II veterans to go to college and start businesses and build homes; in the increasingly liberal attitudes of today's adults.

After all, these adults have come a long way, economically and socially, in the past three decades. Our youngsters today may not fully comprehend the strictures of the 1930's, and how we have broken those bonds.

It may be the youngsters who are doing the shouting and the protesting, but it is yesterday's youngsters, now adults, who are quietly going about the job of achieving.

America still falls short—terribly short—of its ideal, and its potential, but to blame the “older generation” for these shortcomings is an unfair and unjust indictment. This older generation has accomplished more in their lifetime toward social and economic justice than any other generation before them.

It is time that we stopped being apologetic to our youngsters about our society and what it has achieved, and instead to challenge them to see if they have the abilities to continue the work that has been done, and to keep pace with the startling things that the “older generation” has accomplished in their lifetime.

Come to think of it, we did most of it by doing, not talking.

Back to the Copper Country

Those of you who are at least fairly consistent readers of this column should remember that each autumn our family takes a week end vacation trip to the Copper Country.

The weekly newspaper business being what it is, the four of us have never been able to enjoy a true family vacation trip—two or three or four weeks of traveling and sight-seeing and relaxing. But also because the weekly newspaper business slacks off at the end of the week, after your weekly effort has been printed and delivered, we have been able to take two, three and four-day trips that seem to compensate for the lack of longer vacations.

Last year we were forced to forget the trip to the Copper Country, for it was just a year ago that daughter Kathy spent a serious six weeks in University Hospital at Ann Arbor. This year we had to plan an earlier trip, because son Dave is leaving for college; I mention these because much of the enthusiasm and impetus for the trip comes from the youngsters. It is one of those things that becomes a “family tradition,” and missing our annual trip north would be akin to not putting up a family Christmas tree.

I suppose some of this is inherited. My memories of childhood in the U.P. include all kinds of trips and picnics and family experiences, and I want my kids to have those same wonderful memories. It always surprises me when I talk to lifelong residents who have never been to the Copper Country, or taken the Toonerville Trolley to Tahquamenon or visited the Soo Locks or Mackinac Island or the Porcupines.

Perhaps we're too close to truly appreciate these assets.

Each summer we play host to literally hundreds of thousands of people from all corners of the United States who have arranged their vacations in order to visit this Upper Peninsula and see some of these sights. Yet many of us who live here are too busy or too preoccupied to find the time to take a day or two and see for ourselves. How many U. P. residents do you know who have seen the Grand Canyon or flown to Mexico or spent the winter in Florida, yet haven't been able to make it to the Soo Locks?

No doubt I sound like a one-man tourist bureau after each trip to the Copper Country, but each time we go I return refreshed and relaxed and ready to face the world again. To me the Copper Country typifies much of what this great Upper Peninsula of ours is all about. It is a peninsula within a peninsula, an isolated outcropping of an isolated northern third of our state. It is wild and wonderful and beautiful, with vast reaches of forest, rugged jagged shorelines, and a rich historical tradition going back 125 years to 1844, when the first big copper strike was made in the Cliffs Mine.

Economically, the Copper Country today is in tough shape. The long strike at Calumet & Hecla that has resulted in the company's decision to shut down completely could make a ghost town out of Calumet, just as it has out of other former copper boom towns, like Mohawk and Phoenix and Eagle River. But economics has little to do with the natural beauty that is the prime attraction of this area. And I don't mean to sound like a fuzzy-headed butterfly chaser when I contend that there is a certain peace and serenity to viewing an abandoned mine hoist and tailings overgrown with weeds and ambitious aspens, drowsing quietly in the early September sunlight.

Our trip to the Copper Country took only a Saturday and a Sunday, and it's a leisurely 250 miles from here to there interspersed with stops to skip stones in Lake Superior and eat pasties at Lake Michigan and race sticks in the rapids of Tioga Creek. There are all kinds of motel accommodations at Copper Harbor, a beautiful modern room about 15 yards from the waterfront cost only $14 for the night, and by spending 50 cents to rent a row-boat we made an expedition to Porter's Island, a narrow strip of rock that separates the harbor from Lake Superior.

Well I could go on and on here, but this wasn't meant to be a personal travelogue. It was meant to be a report that the Copper Country is just as beautiful as ever, that the autumn colors will soon be in full array, and that you've only yourself to blame if you fail to find the time and the opportunity to visit and enjoy some of the wonders that make this Upper Peninsula of ours such a beautiful place.

ODDS AND ENDS

One of the most terrifying things in the world is ignorance in action.

A close second is the 110% patriot.

Amazing things happen when a student decides to try.

The most devastating experience is the loss of hope.

The opposite of love is not hate, it is indifference.

The most cruel thing one person can say to another is, “I couldn't care less.”

It is unlikely that anyone ever made extraordinary accomplishments using ordinary methods.

Everybody wants law and order—for somebody else.

Increased amounts of law will not bring more order, but a fairer enforcement of it might.

The person who complains about taxes is often the same one who wants more public services.

And the person who thinks the government should do something about everything is the same person who never bothers to vote in a primary.

The commandment “Love thy neighbor as thyself” is really based upon the love of self.

People are not as successful in terms of what they know as they are in terms of what they think of themselves.

Both the braggart and the apologist have poor self images.

We tend to deal with social problems as though they began yesterday.

What we forget is, the only reason they became problems is because they were ignored for years.

Hi Folks!
Driving our road 437 you can enjoy the scenes as daily more color comes into our approaching autumn season. Mother Nature is taking her time in doing this work of art by swinging her brush a little each day. Yet I know one of these days she will brush by quickly to complete her work of art for all to admire. We've had beautiful days this past week, and the mornings with a bit of dew give us the fresh smell of nature in the air, as it keeps putting our summer season in the background.

The little furry residents of the forest are still around and busily darting to and fro. The forest carpet has quite a bit of rust color now, for the ferns have lost their coat of green. I've come across a few evening lychnis and violet-blue bottle or closed gentian in bloom. A walk in the forest will bring you upon the winterberry, which now have become an aromatic red and tasty to your tongue, as well as the game birds. By the way, speaking of birds, the bird season opens today.

We saw a flock of geese, and it seems a bit early to me, which may mean an early winter, who knows? We have had some rainfall with quite a bit of wind, and Jack Frost also paid us a visit. So each morning brings our fall fiesta closer, as Mother Nature keeps herself busy with her colorful paint brush. Opening day of our autumn festival will begin next Tuesday when the first day of autumn makes its official entry. By October our autumn parade of color will be seen dancing about everywhere.

It's the time of the year when one thinks of cranberries - that is, to go picking them. The Boss and Jolly Carley left Sunday morning and will return Monday night. I do hope they will have luck finding some as having frost already may have nipped

County Extension Director

U.P. STATE FAIR - Sorry, we missed one of our blue ribbon winners - Douglas Steele from Thompson. When we made up the list of exhibitors we omitted Doug's name, we are very sorry about this as he was the only one in our county who exhibited any vegetables at the Fair this year and he was a blue ribbon winner. We will try to do better next year!

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT FARM TOUR: The Soil Conservation District farm tour could be considered a critical success. By critical success I mean that those of us who attended received some new ideas saw how some of our friends and neighbors operate profitably, and had a good old-fashioned get-together. The critical part comes in when one considers that only 25 people were interested enough to turn out. There has been talk of holding the tour for 1970 in the Germfask area. This is a definite possibility and perhaps will happen.

COHO: We had a scare on coho in that Vern Bernard received a report from a passing plane that the bay was full of coho all heading toward Thompson at a fast clip. However, when Vern got airborne approximately 10 minutes later the bay was so rough that he could neither confirm or deny the validity of the radio report. Saturday morning Vern and I spent an hour doing the airborne dipsey-doodle during which time we covered the shore line from Seal Choix to Point aux Barques. I did see several dead alewives, many gulls a raft of about 30 ducks, however, we saw no schools of coho. At about the time we were circling off Thompson a 13 year old boy from Escanaba caught a 8 pound 27 inch mature male for the first mature coho of the season. I have hopes that this is the start of a trend and that more and more will be picked up out there.

4-H LEADERS: Just a reminder to return your cards to the Extension Office. We have received some but would like to have them all in this week as we must make reservations. I am referring to the return cards for the 4-H Leaders' Recognition banquet to be held at the Surf Sept. 25.

...of taxpayers' money on a plant that might be of use...to remove phosphorous of an unknown quantity that the City supposedly is dumping into Lake Michigan and whether by removing 80% of the phosphorous we would be dumping back into the River less phosphorous than we are taking out of the River naturally through our water system.

The Commission was told that we felt by agreeing to their stipulations, we were, in fact, legally surrendering the city's government rights to determination of what the city should do in regards to this order.

The Commission rebuffed the city by stating that the agreement could be amended at some future time if the city found it physically impossible to complete the schedule although the agreement itself does not state so. The Commission further stated that the City could find means of financing this installation showing no regard whatever for the cost of the city's ability to raise the money to pay off such an obligation.

Although it was later brought up in the hearing that Indian Lake was being polluted, which feeds the Indian River, the Commission expressed complete ignorance of the situation even though this is polluting the city water supply.

Further, it was stated by one of the members of the Michigan Department of Public Health that this was no real problem on Indian Lake and it was being corrected on an individual basis (despite the fact that they had a close the public bathing beaches because of the pollution).

The Commission gave no sympathetic ear to the city's appeal for more time and referred the city to the Commission for appropriate action. There will be another hearing in September. Although the City is in the midst of an engineering study at this time and investigating the necessity and burdening of the taxpayers with this additional cost the Waterways Resources Commission has taken at attitude that we must comply or else.

OF THE MANISTIQUE CITY COUNCIL

August 25, 1969

A regular meeting of the Manistique City Council was held on August 25, 1969, at 7:30 P.M. at City Hall. There were present: Councilmen DeMars, Reque, Carlson, Cayia, Wedegartner and City Manager Noe. Absent: None.

The minutes of the regular meeting of August 11, 1969, were approved as read.

Mr. Denton Nelson, a member of the executive committee of the Senior Citizens organization, and several other people were present to request use of the Triangle Park building as a Senior Citizens Center, as the present building they are using has been sold. Mrs. Holloway, the director of the center, said the organization needs "in kind" contributions to keep the center active and the city would have to continue paying the utilities but the organization would be responsible for the maintenance. Mayor DeMars thought the building might be possibly used as a meeting place for the Volunteer Firemen. After considerable discussion it was,

Moved by Councilman Wedegartner, supported by Councilman Cayia,

RESOLVED, that the Triangle Park building be donated for a period of one year from September 1, 1969, as a Senior Citizens Center with the maintenance to be provided by the Senior Citizens, subject to review by the Council.

Yes: Councilmen Wedegartner, Cayia, Reque, Carlson. No: Councilman DeMars.

Mr. Noe said that the bids for the low rent public housing project had again been postponed until Sept. 16 because the labor rates had not been received from Washington and bids can not be awarded until each individual contractor has received a copy of the rates.

The Manager gave the following report on the hearing held in Escanaba and said that the city would have to report at another hearing in September: (See attached report)

REPORT OF THE HEARING BEFORE THE MICHIGAN WATERWAYS RESOURCES COMMISSION 8/20/69

The City of Manistique appeared before the Commission represented by City Manager Robert L. Noe. The City presented the following facts to the Commission:

That the City was in agreement with the intent of the Commission for cleaning up the waters of the Great Lakes. However, the City could only agree to Items A & B in the stipulation as submitted by the Waterways Resources Commission.

Item A was that the city would submit preliminary engineering study by January 1, 1970. Item B was that the city submit construction plans by December 1, 1970. However, the city did object to the first part of the agreement that we be capable of removing 80% of the phosphorous content in the city sewage waste. The city felt that this may not be economically feasible because of operating costs. The city did not know that it would be able to finance such an installation because the city is already burdened by heavy obligations for its current sewage facility. And further, that the city could not agree to awarding construction contracts by June 1, 1971 as stated in Item C and complete construction by December 1, 1972 as stated in Item D until the city knew the exact costs of this installation and the estimated cost of operating such a plant.

In essence, what the Waterways Resources Commission wanted was the City to agree

And it's available from MANISTIQUE OIL COMPANY

Shell scientists have now created over 10 different mixes of Shell Heating Oil to suit local conditions exactly. One of these is blended specially for this area. You can depend on it in all weathers.

New climatized Shell Heating Oil is also far clearer than ordinary oil to give you the cleanest, hottest heat that oil can produce.

A special hydrotreating process removes millions of sulphur atoms from every drop of oil. These sulphur atoms are impurities that might interfere with heating efficiency. So Shell Heating Oil burns clean - far cleaner than ordinary fuels. And it delivers all the heat that it is possible for oil to produce.

We can now deliver your first tankful of Shell Heating Oil in the new blend made specially to suit this area's weather conditions. May we take your order?

THAT FROZEN BREAD YOU BUY is prepared a bit differently than you do at home. It isn't possible for you to prepare frozen dough as commercial bak-is mixed, made into a slab and held at 40 degrees F. below zero for a short, definite time, then is machine shaped into loaves and stored at 0 degrees F. The shelf life in the store is three weeks, at home, no more than two weeks. That very low - 40 degree temperature preserves the yeast activity. This is the part we can't do in our home freezer.

Have you noticed that newer recipes call for more yeast? This simply shortens the rising time. Time is more precious to most modern homemakers. This is why yeast and flour companies have changed methods too. And the product is every bit as good, if not better, than before. Have you tried the new cool-rise and rapid-mix methods? Yeast packages have been giving recipes and directions for both methods and some combine the two for really simple and convenient preparation. Now, if you are a working mother, your family can still enjoy good home-made bread and rolls.

PLANNING TO BUILD OR REMODEL? The Ag Engineering department at Michigan State University has been preparing special material to help you. It is available in kits, each at a small cost. Those already prepared include: 1. Plumbing and Disposal Systems. 2. Water Supply and Treatment. 3. Comfort Conditioning. 4. Painting Your Home Interior.

Thoughts are what we are

We are what we think all day long. Never underestimate the power of your thoughts. They are tremendously influential in molding character and action. They are, in truth, the parents of our behavior. Disposition and personality — even character — will very largely be determined by the thoughts we welcome to our minds each day.

Since it is true that a soul is dyed the color of its thoughts, it is imperative that everyone be given guidance in thinking about truths and values that are noble and eternal.

The Church stands in your community to help you and your children. Worship this week in your church, and find the joy that comes when life is centered upon values that last.
