

Winter sports show planned for Nov. 8 in local gym

Friday Winter Sports Show, co-sponsored by the Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce and the Manistique Community Schools, is planned for the main high school gymnasium...

general merchants will all be invited to participate in the event.

Booths will be rented to participants in the main gym, while auto dealers will be assigned areas immediately outside the building to display their 1970 lines.

A minimum fee of $5 per booth for inside display, and $1.50 per unit for outside display, has been set. Interior booths will measure approximately 10 by 10 feet.

Anyone interested may also contact the Chamber of Commerce office.

Only 23 interior booths are available, and seven have already been signed for, it was announced.

Tentative plans also call for prizes to be awarded show-goers, and possibly an evening winter fashion show. A nominal admission fee will probably be charged to cover the cost of prizes.

The group also informally discussed the possibility of starting the local Christmas shopping season with a parade through town the night of Dec. 1, a Monday.

Play cast is announced

Announcement of the cast chosen to take part in the Senior Class Play at Manistique High School on Saturday, Dec. 13, was announced this week.

The play, "Lock, Stock and Barrel," a three act comedy by John Henderson, will be under the direction of Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur, with Dena Patterson and Erin O'Brien as student directors.

170 attend GOP dinner

Over 170 people attended the Republican fund raising dinner held Saturday evening at the Surf. It was announced during the dinner that profit from the sale of tickets had enabled the county committee to meet its monetary quota, the first in the state to do so.

Speaking briefly were Cong. Phil Ruppe (R-Houghton), Rep. Charles Varnum of Manistique and Marle Edinger of Traverse City. Mr. Edinger is the representative of the ninth, tenth and eleventh district with the Republican State central committee, Lincoln Frazier, 11th District chairman from Marquette was also introduced.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mofat and Harold Cockram were in charge of the arrangements for the evening.

Snow week end planned

Plans for a big week end of racing in Manistique next March 6-8 will be outlined at a meeting of the Manistique Area Snowmobile Association Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the high school.

Announcement of the visit to this area, enjoyed annually by more than 2,000 area youngsters, included the information that Mrs. Santa and the elves would also be present.

Santa's visit set for Dec. 6

If you don't think that winter's on its way, consider this item: Santa Claus will be making his annual visit to Manistique on Saturday, Dec. 6.

An announcement of the visit to this area, enjoyed annually by more than 2,000 area youngsters, included the information that Mrs. Santa and the elves would also be present.

The annual visit is made possible through contributions of local labor unions, businessmen and industry.

Santa will be talking to the youngsters from 10 a.m. until noon and 1 to 3 p.m. at the Lincoln School. Each child will receive candy and a gift.

Plans underway for 1969 Festival of Lessons, Carols

The general guidance Manistique Ministerial plans are now under way for the presentation of the "Festival of Lessons and Carols" to be presented in the church on Sunday, Dec. 14, at St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church.

There will also again be a children's choir, under the direction of Sister Coleen. This will be for young people from 3rd grade through Junior High. They will practice at St. Francis de Sales Parish Center on Saturdays, from 10-11:30 a.m., beginning Saturday, Nov. 1.

Prospective singers who may have additional questions about the Festival are urged to contact Mrs. Donee at the Methodist parsonage in Manistique.

In recent years, the "Festival of Lessons and Carols" has been a real highlight of Christmas time, with excellent attendance and outstanding musical presentation.

The Ministerial Association is looking forward to another comparable experience this year, with support from all of the community.

Determined thief cuts down trees

A determined thief cut down several small saplings that secured the chain of a boat on Cornell Lake in Germantown Township and made off with the boat, oars and anchors, State Police report.

State Police are also investigating the malicious damage to two cabins in Germantown Township, owned by John Kovalek, Wyandotte and Paul Carter, LeSalle, Mich. Thirteen windows were broken by rocks thrown by the vandals.

CONFERENCE---Cong. Ruppe and John Mofat, county Republican co-chairman, conferred during the Saturday evening buffet dinner at the Surf.

Index method is explained

Use of the index method in determining salaries for school administrators is a system of pegging their pay to the top level salary offered teachers.

In Manistique this year, index figures were utilized in determining the superintendent, high school principal, business manager and community school director.

Their contracts call for their pay to be adjusted by the index percentage each year.

With the top teacher pay level at $10,400 for a master's degree and 10 years of experience, the board of education set index figures of 1.7 for the superintendent, 1.4 for the high school principal, and 1.35 for the business manager and community school director.

Local ministerial group to sponsor UNICEF drive

As in previous years, the Manistique Ministerial Association will sponsor a Manistique home-visitational "Trick-or-Treat" for UNICEF. This year the time set for the visitation will be Thursday, Oct. 30, from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Young people from 10th grade through Senior High will be assisting, including members from the local Scout Troops.

The plan provides for the participants to meet at the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, between 6 and 6:30 p.m., to receive their "block-assignments." Some cars will be needed from parents and older young people, to help in getting the teams to the assigned streets.

UNICEF is the alphabetical designation for the organization that is the administrator of the United Nations Children's Fund program. The money collected each Halloween is converted into food, medicine, blankets and other relief materials for the children of the world.

15 mailboxes hit by vandals

Vandals who like to live dangerously took the flags off 15 mailboxes along Old State Road on the way to Indian Lake sometime Sunday night, State Police report.

Destruction or damage of mailboxes is a Federal offense, they pointed out, with severe penalties. Officers are investigating.

Visitors inspect Community School

The gospel of the Community School and how it can work to serve an area will be carried back to the Southwest by three educational missionaries who spent two days in Manistique studying the program here.

Visiting here were William Johnson, an elementary school principal from Tucson, Ariz., Tom McCarthy, Community School coordinator from Phoenix, Ariz., and John Rott, Community School director from Gallup, New Mexico.

All three are among a group serving a six week internship in community education at Northern Michigan University, sponsored by the Mott Foundation. At the completion of their program they will return to their home districts and begin Community School operations there.

They first arrived in Manistique last Tuesday night and attended the luncheon meeting of the Community School Advisory Board, where they were introduced. During their two-day stay in the community they also visited the Lakeside School, attended the House committee hearing on educational reform Tuesday night in the court house.

Michigan's Natural Resources Commission last week delayed its decision for 30 days on the proposed Great Lakes zone management plan out of concern for the economic well being of commercial fishermen who would be phased out of business under the program.

In postponing action, the Commission bid for more time to work toward finding means of providing fair compensation for those operators. Its efforts to help such commercial fishermen were urged last week by State Representatives Russel Helman of Delta Bay, Raymond C. Keynes of Monroe and Charles H. Varnum of Manistique.

Earlier this year, the Commission went on record as "strongly" supporting and urging school districts to use the program.

The visitors were also interviewed by WTUQ radio for the Saturday school program, "Spotlight on Education."

Michigan's Natural Resources Commission last week delayed its decision for 30 days on the proposed Great Lakes zone management plan out of concern for the economic well being of commercial fishermen who would be phased out of business under the program.

In postponing action, the Commission bid for more time to work toward finding means of providing fair compensation for those operators. Its efforts to help such commercial fishermen were urged last week by State Representatives Russel Helman of Delta Bay, Raymond C. Keynes of Monroe and Charles H. Varnum of Manistique.

Earlier this year, the Commission went on record as "strongly" supporting and urging school districts to use the program.

The visitors were also interviewed by WTUQ radio for the Saturday school program, "Spotlight on Education."

Mr. Johnson will be working with a new Community School in this school when he returns to Tucson. He explained that there are 52 elementary schools, 16 junior high schools and eight senior high schools in the single school district, with more than 3,000 teachers. The Community School program will be a pilot project in his school. He explained that his school serves a highly urban district, with boundaries extending only several blocks in each direction. Of the 615 students, there are fewer than six "anglos," with the rest Mexican-Americans. About half of the first graders who enroll do not speak English, and must be taught the language, he explained. He is hopeful that the Community School concept will involve the parents in the life of the school, to help the school improve its "image" to the point where it is regarded as a good thing rather than a fearful place where another language is spoken.

Mr. McCarthy will be coordinating several Community School programs in an urban area when he returns. He explained that there is no state financial aid for Community School in Arizona as there is in Michigan, and that they will have to depend on grants and "public support." "We face a much tougher selling job than districts here," he commented.

Mr. Rott's district in Gallup will also involve a substantial population of Navajo Indians, and there is a substantial language problem involved, he noted.

All three were enthusiastic about the Manistique program. "It's the best we've seen outside of Flint," commented McCarthy.

Said Johnson, "I've never seen anything as well accepted. You are doing a tremendous job of involving the community in the school, the school is being used for the community, and for long hours, and your tremendous investment in school facilities is being used for the benefit of the community. I think it's great."

Martin-Messer vows spoken

Suzette Marie Martin and Arthur C. Messer exchanged their marriage vows in a 2 p.m. double ring ceremony at St. Francis de Sales Church on Saturday, Oct. 18. Rev. Arnold Gramm officiated at the marriage and music was furnished by soloist Maureen Fagan and organist Sr. M. Colleen.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Martin, 207 Deer St., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Messer of Gulliver. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length A-line gown, which she had designed and created herself, of satin with a trailing lace train. Her veil of illusion was held by a crown of crystals and she chose a crystal necklace. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses. Maid of honor Diane M. Pace chose a mint green A-line gown. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Stanley C. Messer, brother of the groom, served as best man and the guests were seated by the couples' brothers, Richard Martin and Boyd Messer.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the 3 Mile Supper Club. The groom will be leaving for Ft. Riley, Kansas where he is serving with the U.S. Army, and the bride will be employed at the local M.C. store and will reside in Gulliver.

Couple married in Manitowish

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rustock, Delta Ave., announce the marriage of their daughter Toni May to John Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Schneider of Manistiquet, on Oct. 11.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Manistiquet High School and will make their home in Manitowish.

Local Brief

Couple wed in church rites

St. Francis de Sales Church, beautifully decorated with Fugl mums and gladiolus in autumnal colors, was the scene of the 2 p.m. wedding Oct. 11 of Mary Lois Elmerman and Leonard William Schaub, Mgr. F. M. Scheringer officiated at the ceremony and Tim Derwin served as soloist with the St. Francis choir.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K.W. Elmerman, 320 Lake St., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Schaub, Sutton's Bay, Mich. Given in marriage at the double ring ceremony by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace featuring a scalloped Sabrina neckline and losange bolero, with tiers of lace enhancing the bouffant silhouette on the skirt. The chapel train attached at the shoulders and had upon tulle between rows of Chantilly lace. Tiers of illusion veiling were caught to a Juliet cap of Chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white Fugl mums and wheat.

Candace Becks of Manistiquet, maid of honor, and Peggy Duke of Farmington, bridesmaid, were attired in gowns of willow green and willow emerald and short puffed sleeves of illusion and lace. The gowns were accented with high start-up collars highlighted with small ribbons and velvet and lace insets. They carried bouquets of bronze and yellow mums.

Michael Warren, brother-in-law of the groom, acted as best man, with William Elmerman, brother of the bride, as groomsman. Seating the guests were Carroll McClish, wife of the groom, and Louis Gauthier, uncle of the groom.

A reception for 175 guests was held at the Arrowhead Inn following the services.

Following their wedding trip through Canada to Niagara Falls and on through Virginia, Washington, D.C., the couple will be at home at Munson Ave., Traverse Mich. The bride is employed at the Osteopathic Hospital in Traverse City and the groom is employed as a draftsman at the Schaub Construction Co., Sutton's Bay, Mich.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor: In these days of furor and frustration over the endless rise in the cost of education, I most ally to the defense of both teacher and administrator for the 1969-70 school year.

Mr. Xanerva	$13,728	1.35	$13,905	$177
Mr. Bonifas	13,728	1.35	13,905	177
Mr. Frederickson	13,728	1.4	14,420	692
Mr. Wuehle	13,728	1.7	17,510	$3,782

The teacher contracts for the Manistquon Area Schools have consistently stayed in the middle range when compared to other areas of the Upper Peninsula. This is true again for the 1969-70 school year. Contracts for administrators have not been compared yearly to the going rate in nearby areas, and when a study was done this year, it was found that they have fallen behind.

All of the top administrators for the Manistquon Area Schools have teaching qualifications that put them at the top step of the teachers' salary schedule. This means that for this year they would receive $10,500 if they simply taught for nine months five periods daily with one free period. When this nine months salary is prorated to the 12 months that the administrators do work, the base equivalent salary is $13,728. In order to achieve this same figure for 12 months merely multiply the nine months figure by 1.35. This gives the yearly base equivalent in dollars, and does not consider the fact that the administrators' workload is eight hours, plus the load of greater responsibilities. When reviewing the raises and ratios assigned for the 1969-70 school year, we have the following statistics for comparison:

State Police seek cadets

Michigan men who are high school graduates aged 18 to 20 years of age and interested in State Police careers are advised that applications for cadet positions are again being accepted. Col. Fredrick E. Davids, department director, said, "The applicants must be at least 5 feet 9 inches tall, weight at least 150 pounds, with weight in proportion to height. They must be American citizens and residents of Michigan for at least a year.

Starting pay for State Police cadets will be $204 biweekly. This job level (Cadet 04) has automatic six-month pay increases for the first two years. Applications may be obtained from any State Police post or from the State Civil Service Commission at Lansing. The applications must be received by the commission by 5 p.m., Monday, Nov. 3. A written test for applicants will be held Saturday, Dec. 6. Oral appraisal and other qualification checks will be arranged later.

The applicants who qualify will become eligible for assignment to available cadet positions. Whether or not they serve as cadets, they will automatically become eligible for assignment to trooper recruit schools when they reach their twenty-first birthday and if they meet minimum requirements.

Accepted applicants will undergo cadet training at East Lansing headquarters. Classroom work will include instruction in history and practice of police administration, use of police radio and telephone, report writing, courtesy, post-operation, department rules and regulations, duties of police cadets and related subjects.

City officers also reported that William O. Fowler, 51, Fremont, was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way after his vehicle collided with one driven by Robert W. Shampine, 59, of 327 Schoolcraft Ave. last Wednesday at Deer and Chippewa Sts.

A car driven by Betty K. Flodin, 38, of 615 Park Ave., hit a parked truck owned by Hoholik's, Inc. on Maple St. Monday at 8:30 a.m., police said. Damage was minor.

Fishing zones

The passage of state and federal legislation which would give commercial fishermen financial reimbursement for equipment killed by the new management system.

Besides renewing its pledge to work for such phase-out funds, the Commission last week directed the Department of Natural Resources' staff to further refine its proposed plan which would divide Michigan's Great Lakes waters into three basic types of management areas--sport fishing development zones, rehabilitation zones, and commercial fishing zones.

Session held by Auxiliary

A combined membership and business meeting dinner was held recently by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The group decided to send donations to the Canfield Disaster Fund, the Battle Creek Veterans' Hospital, the American Legion Children's Home and Radio Free Europe. Members were asked to visit their State Representative to support the ROTC. Mrs. Fred Blum, rehabilitation chairman, asked members for donations of gifts to the Iron Mountain Veterans' Hospital gift shop for Christmas shopping by the veterans. Anyone wishing to donate gifts may contact Mrs. Helen phone 341-5178, or Mrs. Gladys Merold Carlson, treasurer, Mrs. Dino Pirola, director from Manistique; Mrs. Bert Barr, director from Cooks-Thompson area; Mrs. Leonard LaFave, director from Gulliver; Mrs. Morris Laux, director from Hiawatha and Mrs. Matthew Stram, advisor.

The Auxiliary voted to pay Scott balance due on the Ritter Diathermy Machine purchased by them at a cost of $875 in May, 1965. The book, "This Is My Life," was displayed by Mrs. William Bradley. This book is given to the family of each baby born at the hospital and is sponsored by several local merchants. The Auxiliary receives $2 for each book purchased from the publishing company.

Mrs. Stram, outgoing president, gave her annual report on the year's activities and achievements and commended Mrs. William Drefs for her seven years as treasurer and Mrs. Clyde Strasler for the six years of service as secretary.

Autumn trail

Leaves and dead grass and bracken form a cover over the sand along this shadowy trail by the Lake Michigan shore as autumn nears its end.

As you know, we held open house at the Center Wednesday, Oct. 15, I am sorry to report the attendance was a great deal less in number of people than we had prepared for. I hope this was lack of proper publicity on our part rather than lack of interest on the part of the general public. At any rate, we thank those who did come for their interest, and hope they enjoyed their visit with us as much as we enjoyed having them.

Mr. Ham, the social security representative, was here Friday and will not be here again this month. He will be here Nov. 5 and Nov. 19. Mr. Ham is available by telephone at the center on those days also for those of you who cannot come in for lack of transportation or other valid reason. He is here between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Please remember to have some article or articles ready for our bazaar, which we plan to have before the middle of November. Anyone over the age of 55 may participate in this bazaar and the proceeds from this are to go to the participants themselves, with the exception of 10 presents which will be placed in reserve for use of the center at a future date when we perhaps will not receive federal assistance.

After consulting with my executive board, I will announce the date our bazaar will be held, so watch for this announcement. Movie dates are planned for

Nov. 5, 12 and 19. These will be shown at the high school at 7:30 in the evening.

Editors are chosen for MHS Yearbook
Co-editors for the 1970-71 Manistique High School yearbook have been chosen and will work with this year's staff in the preparation of the yearbook. Chosen were Cathy Cooper and Karl Krumrey as co-editors, and Julie DeSautel as business manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith of Richland, Mich. are the parents of a son, Allen Alger, born Oct. 20 weighing 8 pounds 7 ounces. Mrs. Smith is the former Nora Nelson. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Verner Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Toennesen.

Mr. and Mrs. Verner Nelson and daughter Betty Nelson of Escanaba have returned from a week's vacation spent visiting with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith, Richland, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack home in Chicago after spending several days with her brother niece, Mrs. Gary Walker, and her husband and son Jason.

Prophets without honour

A PROPHET IS NOT WITHOUT HONOUR, save in his own country.

Matthew said it in the New Testament, and although the world and times have changed considerably since then, human nature evidently remains the same.

We were reminded of this when talking with three educators from the Southwest—Arizona and New Mexico—who visited Manistique last week as part of the Community School intern plan being operated at Northern Michigan University.

All three were lavish in their praise of our Community School program here. They lauded our local school administrators, and wondered enviously about the progressiveness of our community.

We were reminded of this also when we described to some downstate friends the progress that our city government has made in the last five years or so—the street improvement program, the housing for senior citizens, the new city hall, the low-income housing project. They complain that they can't get their city government to do any of these, let alone all of them.

We were also reminded of this when we described the cooperative efforts of the city and the paper mill toward a secondary waste water treatment plant; when we mentioned the job that our new medical care facility is doing for elderly people; when we told them about our Senior Citizens club and our center for oldsters downtown.

We are reminded of this whenever we tell people of the educational innovations that this school district has inaugurated in the past few years—the open spaces Lakeside School, the driver-training simulator, centralized hot lunch, vocational co-operative training, the new vocational program at Bay de Noc college for 40 boys, the soon-to-be-delivered "audio bus" that will provide tape-recorded programs for students on long hauls, the grouping by ability of youngsters at the Lakeside School, the new elementary report cards. The reaction of those outside this area who hear of all this is one of envy and wonder.

We are also reminded of this when the Pioneer-Tribune once again wins top awards in competition with other weekly newspapers throughout the state, and fellow publishers and friends compliment us on the good job we are doing.

The pathetic thing in all these cases is that most of the local comment you hear regarding the schools and their administrators, the city government and city manager, the paper mill, the hospital and the newspaper—most of the local comment is negative.

Perhaps this is only because it is the chronic grippers and complainers who are heard. We would like to think that the vast majority of people in this area—the silent majority, as they have come to be described—hold these institutions and their leaders in higher esteem.

Why is it that only the negative sounds are heard? Why is it that this silent majority will let only the dissenters and the negative thinkers speak for them?

There are literally hundreds of communities in this state who look upon Manistique and Schoolcraft County with envy. They ask themselves and they ask us, "How is it done?" To them we are regarded as leaders, and our schools and city government and industry and institutions and hospitals and newspapers are held up as examples of all that is good and right and progressive and responsive to the people. Yet here in Manistique we find many of our community leaders the object of baseless and vicious gossip of the kind that can literally destroy a person; we see our units of government mocked and ridiculed, we see our public institutions such as the newspaper virtually ignored by the business community it seeks to serve.

No one person and no one institution is above constructive criticism. Despite the impressive record we cited above, there is much that needs to be done, and many areas where we still fall short. Those who are community leaders are the first to recognize their own shortcomings and the problems of the area.

We will never overcome these shortcomings and solve those problems by subscribing to idle gossip. Our silence when we hear such foolishness lends credence and substance where none exist. We will never overcome these shortcomings and solve those problems by continually and pointlessly criticizing the honest and sincere efforts of those professional people that we have hired to do the job of administering our schools and our government. The barrage of criticism and nit-picking obscures all the good that is being done, and all of the good that has been accomplished.

Some how, some time, we must find the abilities to look beyond the end of our nose; to look at the problem in a perspective greater than our own narrow circle of friends and acquaintances; to regard the issues with a long view, rather than a short-sighted one; to look as much at the future as we do at the past and present.

Certainly we have the ability to examine ourselves and our opinions and to ask ourselves if we are large enough to recognize a good job being well done; to realize the importance of the contributions of these leaders and these institutions; to acknowledge the obligation we have as responsible individuals and citizens to give credit where credit is due. Certainly we should have the ability to separate fact from fiction, to separate gossip from character assassination, to recognize right from wrong and truth from lies.

If this area can make the progress it has in the face of such negativism and pettiness and closed minds, then just think, just imagine, what it could do and where it could go if just for once we chose to accentuate the positive and eliminate the negative.

Just think what we could be if we chose to work together, instead of pulling and tearing at each other. Just think of what could be accomplished if we all agreed to search as eagerly for the truth as we seem to do for untruths; if we all agreed to value a man by what he has done and what he seeks to do, rather than by what you have heard and by what your neighbor thinks.

Idealistic? Certainly it is. What's wrong with idealism?

Unrealistic? Perhaps, but not impossible. It's not that anyone is suggesting that there be no criticism or comment or even opposition. The suggestion is that we stop fouling our own nest with vituperation and slander; that we stop our indifference when a job is well done; that we respond and stand up and be heard when the next sly gossip comes softly breathing their latest; that we recognize that among us we have the elements of greatness and that if we were any kind of a person we would be the first to recognize this.

We don't even ask that a prophet be with honour in his own country. We do ask that these prophets be recognized for their abilities and dedication and accomplishments, that we allow for their human failings and shortcomings while responding to the challenge that they give us.

Unless we do, a short decade from now we may be asking ourselves why. We may wonder what happened to the spirit and the drive and the motivation that for awhile, at least, made our town, our community, our country, our area, a place to be envied. If these leaders are driven out, if they move on in response to more recognition and freedom from vilification, then who will take their places?

Certainly not the critics. They will be busy sharpening their swords for whoever it is that has the unhappy task of trying to lead a community that doesn't want to go anywhere.

News Notes

BY HOWARD HANDORF
County Extension Director
Schoolcraft County

Of Interest to area beef producers is the ranking of the five cooperatives sales in which Extension is involved:

Low was Bruce Crossing with $12 head sold at an average of $29.60 per hundred weight. This was possibly to be expected. Next low was Alpena with 804 head averaging $33.34 per hundred weight. Third low was Baldwin with 911 head averaging $33.89 per hundred weight.

Now comes the surprise! Rapid River: 989 head at $34.62 per hundred weight, which is 54¢ lower than the Gaylord sale. I do not believe that we can afford to truck down to Gaylord for this price differential.

Gaylord: 2288 head at $35.16 per 100 weight. High sale for the year was West Branch, 1509 head at $36.33 per hundred weight.

You will be hearing more about beef activities as the year goes on especially as things get underway at Chatham. We will be having a Beef Short Course at Rapid River this winter - hope to see many of you there!

4-H LEADERS NEEDED: Adults who complain about today's younger generation should take action to help these young people.

Volunteer adult leaders are needed for area 4-H clubs and 4-H activities. October marks the beginning of the new 4-H year and new 4-H clubs and youth activities are now being planned.

The 45 4-H projects and activities range from archery to woodworking, from automotive care to wildflowers and from electronics to child care. Almost every interest area of youth -- and adults -- is covered.

If you are a nurse, you could lead a first aid project club. If you are a mechanic, you could work with an automotive or small engine project club. If your hobby is gardening, you could lead a horticulture club. Someone who enjoys photography could lead a 4-H photography club, while others who like to bake, sew or knit could work with 4-H projects in these areas.

If you enjoy hunting, fishing, creative writing, music, animal raising or nearly any other area of interest, you could lead a 4-H club.

This volunteer leadership need not take a lot of time and most adults who work with 4-H members find the experience very rewarding.

Through 4-H youth programs, boys and girls work on projects and activities that frequently shape their lives and careers. There are over 27 million 4-H alumni in the United States and most have been a real benefit to their communities and the country.

Projects and activities are designed to arouse boys' and girls' curiosity and raise questions. The more the young people learn, the more capable they become to experiment, explore and find the answers.

Showing and sharing new knowledge and skills is part of the 4-H philosophy. In this way, youth learns to lead. Teen leaders work with younger 4-H members.

A preteen girl in the 4-H clothing program starts out by making a simple item and progresses according to her ability. By the time she is in high school, she can make most of her clothes. As a teen 4-H leader she teaches younger members with youth through 4-H contact. Howard H. Handorf at the County Extension Office at the Federal Building, (Post Office) Manistique, Phone 341-5050.

The Moratorium

This year's topic for the Thunder Lake. Debate and Drinking Society has just got to be Resolved: It's time to get out of Vietnam, or something like that.

Last year the topic of civil rights occupied much of the discussion during the annual symposium and workshop, which for some unique reason happens to correspond with the opening week end of hunting season. Himself Hentschell, genial host and Chief Shouter, maintains order and decorum throughout the discussions, but will probably be sorely tested this year, just as President Nixon is being sorely tested this fall.

The testing of the president, of course, came last Wednesday on Moratorium Day—an occasion that has provoked a mixed bag of reactions from across the nation.

At first discounted as just another demonstration by the vocal and sometimes lunatic left fringe, the Moratorium gathered momentum and supporters until it was much more than that. It was more than just another demonstration, and instead of the lunatic left doing the organizing much of the groundwork was done by the young activists who first flexed their political muscles last year with Eugene McCarthy and Robert Kennedy.

Dissent is in the great tradition of this country, so it should not surprise us to find it here with us now as we debate our position in Vietnam in a war that many people honestly believe is ill-conceived, unnecessary and immoral. Even those persons with the most hawkish of views generally agree that it was a mistake to become involved militarily in Vietnam. It is little wonder, then, that we should find ourselves disagreeing about how to get out.

The point that should be made is that those who demonstrated on Oct. 15 were just as patriotic, in their own way, as those who opposed the demonstrations. The protest was one effective way of making their voice heard, without violence, and of getting their point across that there are millions of people in our country desperate for peace and an end to the killing.

The remarkable thing about the moratorium was that there was so little violence and that partisan thrusts and parries were kept to a minimum. There were those who angrily interpreted the effort as a personal affront to President Nixon, who is currently being haunted by his campaign pledge that he had a plan to end the war. It is not that simple a conclusion. My wife made the astute observation that Mr. Nixon could have effectively utilized Moratorium Day as an occasion to demonstrate to the world that this country is united in its desire for peace. If he had led a prayer for peace, or joined in a vigil honoring those who have died, and used the day to emphasize the many positive things he has done toward ending the war, he would have strengthened his position considerably and blunted much of the criticism he is currently receiving. It would also have shown Nixon that although there is a difference of opinion on methods, this country is basically united in its desire to end a war that is a far more terrible burden to them than it is to us.

It is presumptuous, of course, to attempt to fully assess the impact the moratorium will have. Those things require the perspective of time to acquire objectivity. It is probably safe to conclude, however, that this massive demonstration, the largest of its kind in our history, helped to sharpen the focus of attention on the question of peace and Vietnam. It helped to make us far more aware of our duties and obligations as citizens and of the passionate concern many people feel on what they feel is a basically moral question.

It is not a question of loyalty or patriotism, but one of conscience. Certainly we are not at the point where demonstrating for peace should be construed as treason. Certainly it is time to consider carefully what our role in Vietnam is, and attempt to determine if that role is worth the continuing sacrifice of American lives.

Perhaps the moratorium will help us to make that determination.

fdsa jkl,

One of the greatest experiences an adult can have is to go back to school and learn to be a learner.

Twenty years ago I taught myself to type, but did such a bad job that I thought it would be a good idea to retread.

Last Wednesday I enrolled in Gertie Hoholik's typing class. I'd already missed two sessions because of other meetings. At seven o'clock I came through the door and found everyone typing. Gert's first words were, "you're late."

"It says seven on the board," I replied lamely.

"We start at six-thirty." I decided not to go any further with that discussion. Mrs. Hoholik looked like she might send me to see the principal.

The first thing I learned was how little I knew. I had been finding the center of the sheet, setting the margins, making indentations and throwing the carriage for years, but Mrs. Hoholik quickly pointed out that I didn't do any of this right.

The next thing I learned is how tired you can get typing. After 20 minutes of trying to do "feel, sell, yell, shell, feel, heel, keel, dell," and going through that line eight times until I finally did it twice without a mistake, my right hand began to ache. I wanted a cup of coffee and a cigarette, and I had the feeling that the whole thing was a bad idea. At the eight o'clock coffee break, I read by last line, "Hal led all, Les fled, Lee fell, Jack held a sale." My gosh, I thought, who writes that stuff? I was ready to tell everybody how bad it was, but concluded that being a smart-alec wouldn't help. Besides, I was already in trouble for being late.

After the break, Mrs. Hoholik suggested that we try the speed drill. I grabbed the sheet and yanked it out with a grandstand flourish.

"Mr. Wuehle, Gertie snapped, 'that's not the way to take the sheet out of the machine.' I returned a benign apologetic smile and answered, 'Yes, ma'am.'"

"Ready--begin!" We all banged away for two minutes. It was tough with the keys all covered up. M's and n's, commas and periods were going every which way.

It was a humbling experience. I believe everyone in the school business should become a neophyte learner once a year. We'd all have a greater understanding of what the students go through.

In the meantime, Gertie has me struggling with:

fdsa jkl; ededhjhj, ... and Jeff still has that file; let Keith Leeds take it.

"OUT OUR WAY"

News from Road 437

Hi Folks!

The richness of autumn has become a memory, for most of its beauty is lying silently on the ground. We keep on having rainy weather. One would think it was spring time.

Mother Nature's chores for this time of the year are almost over. Most of her children are safely in bed to await the cover of her white glistening blanket for the winter months ahead.

Daily the wild geese have been going over in large flocks, shouting their wild cry at us as if asking us to join them in their flight south for new adventures. Soon they would be out of sight and just a faint honking could be heard as they continued their journey ahead, and I know only spring will bring them back.

The rains have brought out the button mushrooms. Beth and Marcus Brown of Tecumseh, Mich., vacationing and hunting in our area, came across a nice patch of them. Even the Boss and friend Orval Smith of Convey, Ohio had a day of hunting, which wasn't too lucky for them as far as game was concerned. They did have an enjoyable day and brought home mushrooms anyway.

Edi and Snuffy McGill of Detroit were guests of Joe Smiths on Gooseneck Lake. Mr. McGill is a cameraman for CBS.

The Lawrence Sallies visited with his sister, Mrs. Irma Brown on Indian Lake.

The Harold Mickelsons joined the Willard Garvins Saturday to celebrate the Garvins' anniversary by playing cards. I'm wondering who were the winners for the evening, the ladies or the men. This is about all the scoop I've got to send you, for in the rain I don't get around too much. I don't believe the ducks do either.

Echoes of birthday greetings go out to Jake Schuetter, Marie Gardner and Augie Frans.

Anniversary wishes go out to the F.G. Bonners, John Barbers, Harry Bockornys, Alvid Snellenbergers, Erwin Derwins, Victor Petersons, David Nevilles, and Dan Hendricksons.

May the day for all of you be one of complete happiness. Until next week stay happy. Mrs. Scoop

Cancer Facts #3 (Cancer Stages)

IF THIS LAST COLUMN ON CANCER SCARES YOU...IT IS MEANT TO DO SO...

Cancer's first stage is when the cells are developing. It can easily be cured because the cells are few and located in one place.

The second stage occurs as the cells grow. The cancer remains in one place, but the cells keep on multiplying, and since there are more cells the cancer grows and spreads over surrounding tissues.

The third stage is extremely dangerous. This is when cancer cells break off from the parent cluster and spread throughout the body. When the cells spread, it is "advanced" cancer and there is no cure...only possible arrest.

Cancer in its developing stage is 100% curable by surgery. When it is in its growth stage -- it can be cured by surgery and radiation treatment. WHEN CANCER REACHES THE "ADVANCED" SPREADING STAGE -- IT IS TOO LATE!

EAST, WEST
LOVE IS BEST

Sue and Lee were only names to me when I first saw their picture. Incredible — that the children I now mother tenderly, once were strangers!

It seems only yesterday Dan wrote he was bringing them home. How frantic I was with worry and self-doubt. Could I love, as my own, children with slanted eyes and tinted skins? Would I fail them? Could I fulfill Dan's faith in me? We had been longing for children, true — but not foreigners!

In desperation, I called my pastor. Calmly and with understanding, he spoke to me of God's love as the common denominator of all nationalities.

And so from the moment I saw them, Sue and Lee have been our own, bringing laughter and joy without measure.

How grateful I am for God and His Church and the wisdom they teach—in Christ there is no East nor West. Without this truth my arms might still be empty.

HOW TO WRITE ABOUT A GRIPE: By the time you read this, we will have had a meeting on being a better consumer. If you were not able to attend and would like information, contact your Extension Office in the Post Office Building. We'll be glad to send you copies of the material used.

SEWING NEW FABRICS - To be a better consumer, to be satisfied with your purchase, you need to know what you're buying. What is the fiber? Can it be washed or should it be dry-cleaned? Should the fabric, if washable, be pre-shrunk before the garment is cut out?

The polyester double-knits are easy to work with and won-age of the fabric will cause a fitting problem, it might be a good idea to preshrink it.

USING A NEW COTTON KNIT? Most now have wrinkle-resistant, shape-holding finishes and are machine washable. But do read the label at the end of the bolt first! If you prefer to hand wash the garment, remember to squeeze the garment without twisting and rinse well but without wringing. The excess moisture can be blotted out by rolling the garment in a bath towel. Spread it flat on dry towels to dry, smoothing and shaping the garment in place. If touch up ironing is needed, use a steam iron.

PERMANENT PRESS FABRICS can present problems in sewing and pressing. First of all, the pattern you choose needs to have straight lines, minimum seams and no frills and fullness. Relax tension on the sewing machine to prevent seam puckering after garment is laundered. The cotton covered polyester thread is also suggested.

Letter to the Editor

An Open Letter To Parents of the Lincoln School Area

Dear Parents:

For the past four years, through the efforts of the Community School and Mr. Richard Bonifas, the director, many educational, enrichment and recreational opportunities have been offered to our young people, teenage groups and adults.

Now to expand and offer more to the students of the Lincoln School area, we would like to open Lincoln School to recreational opportunities and possibly enrichment classes for the children in this locality.

For the protection and safety of our children and this facility, good adult supervision is necessary. Up to this time a area is extremely interested, but would be unable to carry the burden alone. More adults are needed to supervise the activities. If a large number of people would be willing to help, the amount of individual time spent would be much less.

If anyone in the Lincoln School area is interested in supervising activities possibly one or two evenings a month to provide an additional opportunity for our young people, please call:

Mrs. Richard Berger,
P.T.A. President, 341-5302
Mr. LeRoy Fox, 341-5297
Mr. Vernon Annelin, Principal

Lincoln School, 341-5221 or 644-2174.

Lakeside class hears coin talk

Mrs. Mueller's reading class at the Lakeside School heard Clyde Strasler talk about the different kinds of currency and coins. He also brought samples of money to show them.

An interesting anecdote was related to the children about Ben Franklin's thrifty ideas. The children had been reading about Franklin's life.

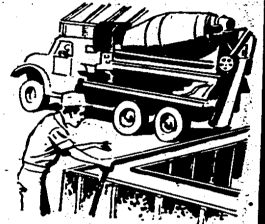

Mr. and Mrs. John Ozanich, 163 N. Maple St., have returned to serving with the 25th Infantry Division in Vietnam, and is expected home on leave the latter part of this month.
