Storms slow last inland loadings

General manager of the last four boats firm, said that the vessels Maniske, Hutchinson, L.E. Block and Nicolet were all scheduled to load this week, but that bad weather on the lake made the exact times unknown.

Despite this week's high winds, weather conditions for November and the first part of December were quite favorable for operating, with no major storms, Moffat said. He pointed out that the plant was able to run "wet" straight through the annual winter layoff, which became effective Sunday, affects 146 men, or 42 percent of the entire work force. The men laid off, with the exception of a few retained because of job skills or union status, were all hired after April 2, 1951.

The number of vessels loaded, included those scheduled to load yet this year, is 331, which is 15 less than last year. Total tonnage of both high-calcium and dolomite stone was slightly down from 1968. The drop in vessels loaded and re-dropped tonnage results from the lack of vessels available for floating that was experienced during the fall months.

Scheduled on the winter work program is normal stripping and drilling operations at the high-calcium quarry, routine belt repairs and maintenance and repairs to mechanical and electric equipment. The dolomite quarry will be completely inactive.

Special winter projects include the installation of a new secondary crusher in the slater sand plant, raising the No. 2 trunk line decking two feet to facilitate clean-up by the front-end loader, and completion of the job of replacing old steel with new rail on the main line railroad from the quarry to the port.

School to seek 4 mills

A decision to ask voters only for a single increase of the existing four mill tax for five years at the Feb. 13 special school election was approved Tuesday night by the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education.

This levy, used for operating purposes, was approved first in 1960 and again in 1965. "I think the district could show need for more, but at the same time I think it is important that we hold the line," said Board President Denton Nelson.

Nelson and Trustees William Mueller, Leon Wood, Ralph Gilliam and Margaret Waters voted in favor of the election resolution, with Robert Knapp abstaining and Jeanne Larson absent for the first time in six years because of illness in her family.

The operating levy is one of two utilized by the school in addition to the money it receives from the County Allocation Board. A 5.5 levy for three years was approved last February.

Working to put the budget back in balance after it slid into a $21,222 deficit following new teacher contracts and a blacktopping project, the board came within $11,222 by designating a $20,000 credit due the district from Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. under an agreement made several years ago when the district planned to utilize natural gas for heating purposes, but was thwarted when service did not become available, eliminating the $4,000 budgeted for an elementary supervisor, and cutting out $14,000 budgeted for communication equipment for buses.

Bay teachers still on strike

Settlement of the Big Bay de Noc teachers' without a day of school this week as it which the walkout started almost a month ago.

A Monday night meeting of the Board of Education at Cooks, attended by teacher representatives and a large number of district board members, resulted in an agreement to settle. An earlier Monday meeting between Carl VanDortmolen, board president, and Carl Freiberg, board secretary, resulted in an agreement, arranged by State Rep. Charles VanDortmolen, also unproductive.

Supt. Frank Stupak left for Lansing Tuesday to confer with officials in the State Department of Education. The board reported Monday that unless some agreement is reached in another week, the district will begin losing $650 per day in state school aid.

Freiberg said Monday following the board meeting that two unfair labor practice charges will be filed against the board of education as soon as possible.

Observers said that support for the board seemed "unpopular" among the estimated 125 persons attending the meeting.

The three schools in the district are closed to the 300 pupils through the district's 27 teachers. Negotiations have been in process since April, and the district has had both mediation and fact-finding, as well as mediation by state school board members. The board is to resolve the issues, which center largely around the pay schedule.

Supt. Stupak told observers that if the current offer is accepted an additional $73,000 will be required, which would be $40,000 beyond anticipated revenues. He said the $43,000 general fund equity could cover this difference, but that then the district would have nothing in reserve for any emergencies.

After one week was played, the board cancelled all other contests for the duration of the strike because of threats made against anyone who drives a bus. Teachers were quoted as saying they have been prepared to resign, and that a petition is being circulated to Java Freiberg fired.

When the budget discussion started, teachers Glenn Rigall and William Carmody presented the suggested cutback in state leave payments to the board. They also called for the cost of educational courses. It had been proposed to cut the original $4,000 allocation to $1,000. Rigall pointed out that school board policy called for such payments, and that in fact been done since 1916. The original budget figure remained after the other adjustments had been made.

With total revenues of $1,440,414 estimated for the year, the administrative staff will be charged with working to eliminate the anticipated deficit. Trustees William Mueller, Robert Knapp and Leon Wood worked with the staff to bring the budget back near balance.

Pay increases for teacher aides and noon-hour supervisors were approved by the board. Aides were raised from $1.75 to $2.12 and supervisors from $1.50 to $1.73. The increase to aides will cost $3,506.40 this year to be paid with Federal funds, and supervisors will add another $393.30 in local monies.

A request was received from the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District regarding the possibility of opening the Mueller School for use in special education. Richard E. Olson, director of special education for the intermediate district, was contacted.

Hospital contract approved

A three-year contract with non-professional employees has been approved for Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital and the Schoolcraft County Medical Care Facility.

Administrator Carl E. Hubbard said agreement has been reached on the part with Local 1195, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, and covers 90 workers at the two medical units. Not included in the contract are registered nurses, x-ray technicians, laboratory aides, the anesthetist and pharmaceutical staff, secretaries and medical records personnel.

The agreement calls for a wage increase of 16.7 per cent, retroactive to Sept. 1, 1969, with wage and fringe benefits averaging approximately 12 per cent to become effective on Sept. 1 each year of the agreement.

Total payroll at the two unit in 1968 was $329,633. In making the announcement, Hubbard also broke the news that because of increased employee salary benefits and the increasing cost of supplies, room rates at the hospital must also be increased.

Effective Dec. 15, 1969, the rates will be increased from $24 to $30 per day. The last raise was in January, 1968. "Despite the increase, Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital will maintain its position of having one of the lowest room rates in the Upper Peninsula," Hubbard said.

Hard rock halts pilings

Test drillings by the Gallagher Marine Co. have shown that it is not feasible to attempt drive H-piles into the rock bottom of Manistique Harbor. A report from Northern Engineering of Escanaba to the Manistique City Council said Monday night.

Such pilings had been part of a proposed harbor and marina development proposal to the Michigan Waterways Commission. The Gallagher report said the dredging was just too hard for drilling.

City Manager Robert Noe said that alternate proposals will have to be prepared.

Council approved the Urban Renewal resolution setting the first required public hearing on the project for Jan. 12, at a regular council meeting. The resolution for the bill published in the Dec. 18 Pioneer-Tribune. The second required public hearing will be held Feb. 9, and the date of final hearing has not yet been set.

Mr. and Mrs. John Herro of the Chateaufort Nibbles cafe appeared before the Council to request access to the rear of the building in the 300 block on Dec. 21. City Manager Noe was requested to investigate to see if there is a dedicated right-of-way in the area.

Council authorized resolutions needed to sell project notes financing both the Senior Citizens and low-income housing projects, and authorizing a placement fee—all paid by the Federal government through the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Business, industry U.P.'s top issues

Business and industry is probably the top priority issue in the Manistique area and the Upper Peninsula as the verdict from the first U.P. Town Meeting held Tuesday night—locally at the Lakeside School, held-wide through WMMR-TV at Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

Of 1,500 surveys taken across the peninsula, industrial and business development as the top priority, control and conservation of natural resources, industry and water pollution controls, transportation and taxes were outlined in the TV session that started at 7:30 p.m. and was viewed by the 14 persons attending the local session from 8 to 8:45 the local group met and set up their priorities. These placed business and industry at the top, followed by transportation, education, and conservation of natural resources.

Senator Levin was featured on the video tape portion of the session, discussing the need for vocational education and training. Also appearing were Sen. Philip Hart, who discussed public concern for construction and energy. John Voelker, author of "Anatomy of a Murder," and State Supreme Court Justice, who offered his perspective on the U.P.

1969 firearm deer take is estimated at 99,000

Michigan's 1969 firearm deer harvest "has been gauged at 99,000 animals, closely comparable to last year's kill, under a preliminary estimate made by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

In 1968, sportsmen took 101,540 whitetails from Michigan's fields and forests.

This season's preliminary deer kill figure is based on traffic counts tallied by the DNR along major north and south-bound highways. The Department will make a final estimate on the season's harvest next spring when it finishes a study of returns from the annual "postcard" survey of licensed deer hunters.

Under results of the traffic survey, which will hold up until then as the most accurate information on hand, the DNR estimates that Michigan hunters this season harvested 69,500 bucks and 35,500 antlerless deer.

That compares with 64,250 bucks and 37,200 antlerless deer taken in this state last fall.

A breakdown of this season's totals points to a kill of 14,000 bucks and 9,000 antlerless animals in the Upper Peninsula. That region's buck take held up well with the 1968 figure of 14,800, while its antlerless deer harvest dropped from the year-ago level of 11,830.

The decline reflects the sizable "cut" made by the DNR in this season's antlerless deer kill quota for the Upper Peninsula to allow for last winter's whitetail losses in various areas across the Straits.

Fallies from the DNR's traffic counts indicate a 1969 season kill of 36,000 bucks and 23,500 antlerless deer in the northern Lower Peninsula. Both of those figures measure closely with last year's estimated 37,750 bucks and 23,900 antlerless deer taken from that region.

The DNR's post-season picture indicates that southern Michigan hunters scored a record harvest by taking an estimated 13,500 bucks and 3,000 antlerless whitetails. Those totals top the previous highs of 11,670 bucks and 2,040 antlerless animals set last season in the southern Lower Peninsula.

Class A Marquette, the cream of the crop in the Upper Peninsula this year, will play host to Manistique's young but covet Emeralds Friday night in a Great Lakes Conference clash.

Now 5-0 for the year, the Redmen have been tabbed as the club to beat in the U.P. for 1969-70. Coach Normie John's Emeralds, now 1-1 after a loss last Friday to Escanaba Holy Name, 62-50, are showing promise but still lack a sustained scoring punch.

The Emeralds stayed close to the Crusaders last Friday night through the first half, but cold third quarter spelled their doom as they could muster only six points compared to 12 for Holy Name. The halftime score was 33-30.

Lack of height hurt Manistique in the rebounding department, as Holy Name posted a 51-33 edge there. The Crusaders hit 28 of 76 field goal attempts for 43 per cent, and the Emeralds connected on 18 of 61 for 30 per cent. For the first time in a long line, however, Manistique held the edge in free throws, hitting 14 of 23 compared to six for 18 for Holy Name.

Gundr Kendall Nelson led the Emeralds in scoring with 17 and in rebounding with 10, but honors for the night went to Dan Young of Holy Name who posted 23 points and hauled in nine rebounds.

Holy Name went out in front in the first period, 12-6.

stretched it out to a 10-point lead early in the second quarter only to see that margin melt to three as the determined Emeralds whittled away before the half. The cold third period killed Manistique, however, and by the final stanza Holy Name led by as much as 15 points.

In the preliminary contest the Holy Name reserves were defeated by Manistique Jayvees, 62-33.

Two men charged on illegal deer

Two Manistique men were arrested and charged with illegal possession of deer by State Police and Conservation officers Monday afternoon.

Michael D. Galt, 22, and James L. Wayne, 13, pleaded not guilty when they appeared before Magistrate Howard Manister Monday afternoon, and posted $30 cash bond each for their appearance at 11 a.m., Dec. 18.

The two were arrested by Conservation Officers Clyde Lambert and Ed Dorie and State Trooper Don Martinson at 2 p.m. on US-2 near the Green River. When asked to open the trunk they said the key had been lost, and when the car was towed to Manistique and the trunk opened, the deer was found there.

Letter to the Editor

Editor's note: Manistique's pioneering program in community education is drawing nationwide attention. The following letter was received by Community School Director Dick Bonitas describing how a similar program is getting underway in faraway New Mexico, following a visit here by the director.

Dear Dick:

Thank you for sending your "Multiple Resources and Multi-gan Stew" publication. We will be getting our community education program underway on a limited budget - but underway none the less - this fall. I will appreciate receiving any additional publications or information that you think would be helpful to us.

I am placing your name on our school board meeting mailing list and you will receive our school board minutes. They will appear quite primitive from a comparison of your school board's minutes but remember these people have only been at it for one year now. Some of our school board members do not speak English and all of them live in either the traditional round-shaped Hogan or the newer rectangular one or two room frame dwelling.

Our Community School project will depend on outside contributions for financing as there is no tax base or state aid available directly to our school board. Tuitions will be charged, a deduction from our school board that the participating parents feel like they have invested something in the classes, but they must be kept at a minimum as our average family income around here is somewhere around $2,500.00 to $3,000.00 per year and less in many cases. Our operating money will be raised through such things as community child dinners, basketball games and the selling of concessions, etc. We are hoping to receive a little financial support from the local OEO but nothing guaranteed at this point.

This fall, ourselves and our closest neighboring school (where I had been principal for three years previous to my present appointment) will be offering one basic education class and one GED preparation class each which will involve 32 adult participants at a cost of $1,223.02. Of that amount roughly 10% will be received in the form of tuition and the remaining amount through OEO and/or our own financial efforts.

We feel that we must keep our class size down in order to be able to do any kind of an effective job.

Our basic education will be just as the name implies - basic. It will include such things as signature writing, change making (money) telling time, basic oral English, etc. We know that some of our adults who will be taking this class will not have been inside a school before for academic purposes and we are limiting our enrollment to ten. We might even call this class "Space Age Education."

Our GED preparation will be for adults who have completed enough schooling to hopefully make the grade enough here to pass the GED test. If we had state aid similar to your situation we rather set up regular high school classes but ours is a different situation. This class will be held to six participants.

Dick, as you can see, our community education is dependent on real community participation. We are hopeful that as we can prove the worth of our community education that we will be able to top additional resources. The whole concept is relatively new to our part of the country.

I certainly enjoyed my six weeks on the upper peninsula and my visit with yourself, Tony Wuehle and the high school principal. If you should ever come to New Mexico I would enjoy showing you our piece of the southwest. If you do come you better plan to stay for awhile - they don't call New Mexico the "Land of Enchantment" for nothing.

Sincerely,
Della Mae O'Neil

The horse still holds his own on the ranch and in mounted police units, but is becoming a more arid sports enthusiast. What would fox hunting, polo, or trail riding be without a horse? Horse racing has also been hailed as the most popular spectator sport, with 63 million people attending the races last year at 230 tracks.

County Democrats elect convention delegates

Schoolcraft County Democrats heard a summation of the report of their Political Reform Commission and elected delegates and alternates to attend District and State conventions called to act on that report, when they held a combination smorgasbord and county convention last Thursday night at the Three Mile Super Club. Attorney Kim Green of Escanaba--a possible opponent of Republican Congressman Phil Rogge next fall--presented the report to the convention in capsule form.

Treasurer of the 11th Congressional District Democratic organization, Green told the 70 or more persons present that many of the proposals outlined would require changes in the present state laws.

Caroling planned by Sunrise Singers

Christmas shoppers in the downtown area will be entertained with special caroling the next two Friday nights. This Friday the Sunrise Singers of the Lincoln School will perform from 7 to 8 p.m. in Triangle Park, opposite the post office. They will be treated to hot chocolate after their performance at the Eat Shop. Friday, Dec. 19 the Lakeside School Sunrise Singers will perform between 7 and 8, and be treated afterwards at Jax Restaurant.

Both groups are under the direction of Miss Arlene Gordanier, vocal music instructor in the Manistique Area Schools.

Three of America's top five industrial corporations--General Motors, Ford and Chrysler--and 22 of the top 100 businesses in the U.S. are headquartered in Michigan.

Commission report urged the following:
Giving the vote to 18-year-olds, easing residency requirements and voter registration rules, making the polls accessible, providing an appeals system; making political parties more accessible, the principles of one-man, one-vote and proportional representation within the party, changes in county, district and state conventions to make them more representative, reserving media time for major candidates, free mailing of information about candidates and issues to voters, subsidized postage for candidates, tax credits for political contributions, and deletion of campaign spending reports and ceilings on individual contributions to campaigns.

The report also calls for a Michigan presidential primary, with all delegates to the national conventions being elected large, and where each candidate will have the same percentage of the national delegation as he won of the total statewide vote in his primary campaign.

Approval of the Commission's recommendations was given by county Democrats in a vote 10-0.

U.S.A. Hegglum, served as chairman for the county session, with E.E. Wuehle as secretary. County Chairman C. Vern Johnson served as temporary chairman until Hegglum's selection.
Chosen as delegates to the District convention Dec. 13 in Iron Mountain were Leonard Shy, Ulo Hegglum, Edwin Wuehle, Duane MacGregor, Calvin Jenerou and Ferdinand Lesiva. Alternates selected were David Rood, Clifford Lambert, William Cowman, Jean Deloria, Mrs. Thurman Starr, Sr. and Mae Arroyow.
Those present gave a round of applause in thanks to Mrs. Lindsay Frenette and Mrs. Jean Deloria for their efforts in arranging the buffet supper which preceded the business session.
Several high school civics students were guests at the meeting.

News from Road 437

Winter white came in again Sunday night and it plans to remain with us. This morning it is still snowing but not as heavily as last night. The weather outside gave me the Christmas spirit. I could picture a Christmas tree with most, ornaments and colored lights. Under the tree are toys and gaily-wrapped packages which gladden the hearts of youngsters. Yes, Christmas season is in the air. The stores are all decorated in their holiday trimmings and shoppers are now hurrying to get their gifts and add Santa to his house visits Christmas Eve. So the next few weeks will be busy ones for the ladies of the house. Besides the shopping, there will be taking and planning the Christmas menu.

Four attend Seek support on breakfast state sessions

The future of a school breakfast program depends on whether sufficient interest is shown this week in offering a morning meal, the Manistique Area Schools has announced.

Breakfast would be served at the Central School only from 7:30 to 8 each morning. The cost is 10 cents per meal, or 50 cents per week.

Tickets are on sale in advance of the office of High School Principal Marvin Fredrickson.

The program was offered briefly last year before school ended.

Kathryn King dies at 87

Complete funeral services were held at the Messier-Broulliere Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Tuesday for Mrs. E.T. Kathryn B. King, 87, of 628 Manistique Ave., who died Friday afternoon at the Schoelcraft Memorial Care Facility. Rev. William Brauer, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiated at the services, and interment was in Fairview cemetery.

Born June 23, 1882 in Paradise, Mo., the former Kathryn Belle Jackson was wed to E.T. King on Nov. 15, 1904 in Liberty, Mo. Mr. King preceded her in death on Feb. 14, 1968. Coming from Milwaukee, Wis., the Kings made their home here since 1921.

Mrs. King was a member of the First Baptist Church and of the Ladies Aid Society of that church.

Surviving are one son, Jack King of Manistique; two daughters, Mrs. Willard (Lazel) Bohl of Sarasota, Fla., and Mrs. R.D. (Alice) Edgerton of Wellsley, Mass.; one brother, Charles Carter Jackson of Detroit; a sister, Mrs. Frank (Florinda) Usilton of Liberty, Mo.; 11 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

School Board

trial, has indicated that the building might be used for both "Type A," or suitable mentally handicapped children, and "Type B," the trainable mentally handicapped.

Cost to the local district would probably not exceed two thousand dollars, he estimated.

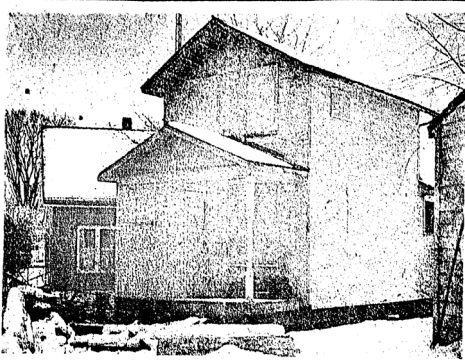

Students would probably be drawn from Escondido and Aquanema Area (Newberry) Schools as well as the Manistique district, it was indicated. The board agreed it would be better, for the building, if it could be heated and used, rather than stand idle.

A resolution was approved indicating the board favored such a program by the Intermediate District.

One request to accept a tuition student from the strike-bound Big Bay de Noc district has been received. Supl. Edwin Wuehle told the board that they could be quite a few more if the strike continues. Reviewing their tuition policy, the board agreed to table the question after Trustee Ralph Gillson pointed out that although the policy says tuition students will be accepted, it also says that the tuition must be paid by the fourth Friday in September. Thus the district could not accept any new tuition students at this time, unless the policy is changed.

At present there is one high school tuition student in attendance.

Efforts will continue through this week to determine interest in the breakfast program at the Central School. If too few participate, the administration is authorized to drop the program.

ON THE WAY—The Post House Museum is starting to make its move to the new location adjacent to the Chamber of Commerce office in the old water tower. Workmen have the building on wheels and moved off of the old foundation. It will be moved when the new foundation is ready.

Anderson rites Monday

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Kellauer and Jackson Funeral Home for Everett Clinton Anderson, 25, of Vassar, Mich., who died at St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw, following an automobile accident.

Born Sept. 28, 1944 in Manistique, Mr. Anderson was a member of the Episcopal Church of Germask and had served in Vietnam with the U.S. infantry for one year. He received the Purple Heart for injuries sustained while in combat. He was employed at the time of his death by the Buick Division of General Motors in Flint.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Anderson of Germask; a brother, Merle Anderson of Frankfort Heights and two sisters, Mrs. Anthony Begola of Sterling Heights and Mrs. Bernard Hubbard of Germask. Interment was in the Germask Cemetery.

The district is also conferring with City Manager Robert Noe about the possibility of providing fire protection for the rural schools. The city and townships are currently negotiating such a service, and Supl. Edwin Wuehle said they would probably reach agreement that would provide continued protection.

Requests for payment of unused sick leave to help defray the cost of educational classes were approved for C. Richard Larson, Betty LaPointe, John LaPointe, Barbara Borja, Richard Bonifas, Robert Kanerva, Edwin Wuehle, Sue Danvers, Judy Rynanen and Margaret Larson. Trustee Robert Knopf voted no in the 5-1 balloting.

In accepting various reports, Trustee Leon Wood voted no on accepting the financial report, because he felt there was some confusion on the status of the hot lunch monies.

Santa has big week end

With the weatherman predicting, Santa Claus made his arrival in the Manistique area last week end, appearing Friday night to participate in the merchants' "Walk Down Christmas Street" parade and then meeting more than 2,000 youngsters Saturday at the Lincoln School.

Led by the Manistique High School band, the Friday parade went from the Lincoln School to Triangle Park, opposite the post office, where the community Christmas tree was lit and Santa's Workshop officially opened. Santa and his elves distributed popcorn balls to youngsters along the line of march.

Following his talks with youngsters Saturday from 9 to 12 and 1 to 3, Santa, Mrs. Santa and the elves visited Manistique Manor, Schoelcraft Memorial Hospital and the Medical Care Facility.

Coloring books and bags of candy were passed out to youngsters during the visiting period.

Serving on the Santa Claus committee are Earl H. LeBansieur, Clyde Strasser, Mrs. A.W. Heilman, Vic Peterson and LeRoy Fox. Members of the MHS Dramatics Club assisted when the elves had work elsewhere. They included Vicki Frenette, Carol Cooper, Gail Schwartz and Linda Hanson.

Santa's annual visit to town is made possible through donations from labor, business and city employees. The city workers assisted in decorating and naming the Lincoln gym during the visit.

Political reform

REFORM IS A POPULAR WORD these days in Michigan, with the Legislature wrangling with the Governor's Educational Reform bills, and the Democrats discussing the report of their Political Reform Commission.

We are a little bit leery of the word. The last time the Legislature got involved with what they called fiscal reform they up and passed an income tax which has been a pretty expensive reformation. As this is written, educational reform thus far consists of a one billion dollar state school aid bill which does little to reform education other than to provide more money for the teachers to fight for during negotiations next year.

The report of the Political Reform Commission of the state Democratic Party is still nothing more than a report, but its timely message has something for everyone, regardless of his or her party affiliation, to consider.

"Politics can resolve only those conflicts we bring to it. A society that can't handle conflict cannot handle change. And a society that won't change cannot survive.

"The initial challenge to American democracy today is really quite simple—to get everyone into it. The bitter social conflicts that divide America cannot be resolved by politics unless all sides have equitable political power. Power is what counts when the big decisions are being made.

"Power cannot be guaranteed, but a chance at power can. That is what democracy is supposed to be all about—a fair chance at power for everyone. That chance does not exist for every American."

And with that introduction, the report gets down to details.

To summarize briefly, the report calls for giving the vote to 18 year olds, easing residency requirements and voter registration rules, making the polls accessible and providing an appeals system. It urges an effort to make political parties themselves more accessible to voters. It backs the twin principles of one man-one vote and proportional representation within the party, and urges changes in county, district and state conventions to make them more representative.

In order to deal with the increasingly high cost of campaigning, it calls for guaranteed minimum campaign resources, such as reserving media time for major candidates, mailing of information about candidates and issues to voters, subsidized postage for candidates, tax credits for contributors to political parties, detailed campaign spending reports and ceilings on individual contributions to campaigns.

Perhaps the most eye-catching proposal in the report is the part calling for a presidential primary, with all delegates to the national conventions being elected at-large and where each candidate wins the same percentage of the national delegation as he won of the total statewide vote in his party primary.

You may not agree with all these recommendations, but there can be little argument that they tend to stimulate interest in parties and politics.

As the commission's summation stated, "Some of the changes recommended . . . are certain to draw more public attention than others, but glamour should not be confused with importance. Reform must be accomplished at every level and in every aspect of the political system if we are to open up the political system to participation by every American."

Manistique, Michigan 49854 Area Code 906

James M. Tagg--Co-Publisher and Business Manager
David A. Rood--Co-Publisher and Editor

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top O' Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

One reason I have not spoken out earlier on Vice President Agnew's criticism of the press is the fear that the FBI would swoop down and lift our second class mailing permit, confiscate my Japanese rifle and disconnect the television set.

I am reassured, however, by the periodic announcements that tell me they don't want to censor the news, but just tell us what and what not to say. This is old stuff to me, as people have been telling me what and what not to say for the last 16 years, ever since I got started in the weekly newspaper business. Spiro might as well join the crowd.

People have very definite ideas, for instance, of what should and what should not be said in wedding stories. The fact that the couple spent their honeymoon in the maternity ward at the hospital may be an interesting bit of news, but I have yet to find the courage to include it with the wedding story. I do, however, fearlessly report on the Chantilly and Alencon lace with the French veil of illusion, which can be pretty exciting stuff if you have a good imagination.

Hell hath no fury like that of an irate mother of the bride who feels that the pea de soi and tapered net sleeves deserves precedence over all other news and paid advertising that week.

The next worst thing is the publicity chairman who is preparing a scrapbook to enter in state or national competition. If I could find the guy that dreamed up the idea of having local clubs compete to see which could get the most space in the newspaper, I would fill his boots with linotype metal, dump him in the harbor and head him in the general direction of Beaver Island.

There is nothing sweeter on a Wednesday morning, when the weekly stampede to the post office is nearing riot proportions, than to have a determined publicity chairman present herself with eight pages of red hot news resulting from her club's meeting last Thursday night.

"You don't have to change a word," she usually says. "I want it printed exactly the way it's written here."

Exactly the way it's written there would probably earn a failing grade in any 7th grade English class and take up three columns of space in the process, but it would also become an integral part of their scrapbook and win a gold star from the state publicity chairman.

There is also the question of District Court news. If I was smart I would have compiled a list of the reasons people give me for not printing their name and fine in the court news. With excuses as good as those I could embezzle $100,000 stay out all night with the boys and cut my golf handicap by seven strokes, all without any fear of repercussions.

If Spiro thinks things are bad now, he should have been a newspaper subscriber back in the old-timey days, when editors divided their time between fighting with each other and fighting with whatever political party they opposed. Back at the turn of the century newspapers were strongly partisan, and the idea of objective, straight news reporting was the last thing in their mind.

Back in 1892 the Manistique Semi-Weekly Pioneer, a strong Republican paper, consoled itself over the election of Democrat Grover Cleveland with the report, "Capt. Tucker says 'glory enough for one day--we got the Sheriff, Clerk and Treasurer, and the Democrats owe their defeat largely to the dirt thrown by the News.'"

The Manistique Star, a Democratic paper, fired off this zinger after the election: "Who said the whale swallowed Jerry, the publisher of the 'political' rag?"

The Star editor was also courageous in non-political areas. What editor today would have the courage to print, "Masquerade parties are very popular in Manistique. It must be that the girls are so homely that they enjoy a mask."

Just as an aside, that 1892 issue also disclosed where today's TV pitchmen had their origin. An ad in the Star stated, "Lane's Medicine moves the bowels each day. In order to be healthy this is necessary."

The economics of printing and publishing today simply don't allow editors and publishers the luxury of fervid partisanship in their news columns, but they've still retained the ability to comment and criticize on their editorial page. Often you'll find differing points of view in these editorial columns, just as partner Jim Tagg and I exchanged columnistic zingers last year before the election.

Politicians have complained about the press and their reporting ever since the year one, and the ones who complain the loudest are those who get caught the oftenest with their foot in their mouth. The Democrats complained bitterly when they were in office, so now it's the Republicans' turn.

The press has always managed to survive such petty foolishness, and will survive this time. Now if there were just some way to survive the wrath of irate mothers of the bride, publicity chairmen and court customers, we'd have it made.

BY SUPT. EDWIN WUEHLE

BROMIDES AND COMMENTARIES

verbal bromides have been around so long that their value is seldom questioned—but some interesting things happen when you do. For example:

"When you get to the end of your rope tie a knot and hang on." Sometimes it's better to let go. You might drop into something better than what you were trying to hang on to.

"Speech is silver but silence is golden." Maybe, but I know a lot of people who get paid for talking and I can't think of a single person who gets paid for being quiet.

"A rolling stone gathers no moss." True, but it doesn't gather much of anything else. Neither does an unrolling stone.

"Never say 'I can't.' Why not? It's stupid to think everybody can accomplish everything.

"People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones." Okay but what about people who live in brick houses--should they throw all the rocks they want?

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." Sometimes it's better to quit. There's no sense being stubborn about it.

"God helps those who help themselves." He helps a lot of people who never bother to help themselves.

"Anything worth doing is worth doing well." Some things have to be done but there's no point in being perfect about them.

"Little boys should be seen and not heard." That may be all right as far as it goes, but usually when they find out someone will listen, they never quit talking.

Anyone can shoot down bromides with commentaries, but sometimes a contradictory old saw cuts off another like: "Look before you leap" versus "He who hesitates is lost."

How do you look before you leap without hesitating?

BUY THE BRIDE A COOK-BOOK: June and December seem to be the months for brides and weddings. And they say, "If you want a happy husband, learn to cook." Brides, take heed!

What could be a better gift to a December bride than a good basic cook book. Any woman needs a basic cookbook to turn to again and again through the years. No matter how experienced you get, new situations and unexpected questions arise that a good cookbook can answer.

There is no such thing as a "born" cook. Cooking has to be practice and can have lots of fun doing it. A good cookbook - or a good cook - can teach the fundamentals of preparing simple, tasty meals.

CAN YOU AFFORD CREDIT? Are you very generous at Christmas time and over-spend so much that after the first of the year you wonder how to pay the bills? If you decide that buying on credit is the only alternative, are you sure the payments in the plan you choose will fit into your budget? Are you sure you will really want the item you're buying as much when you're facing the payments as you do while you're standing in the store? Make a decision to use or not use credit. Don't be sold by a sudden whim or the pressure of advertising.

TRADITIONS ARE INTERESTING. Hanukkah, a Jewish holy festival, began on Friday, December 5, and will continue for 8 nights. Each night a new candle is lit until 8 are lighted. In some Jewish homes, the children receive a gift each night of this "festival of lights." Good things to eat and gathering of family and friends are a part of the celebration. If you have a Jewish friend, ask them how their family celebrates the event. Knowing traditions of others can be very interesting. Each country and each religion has its own.

News Notes

BY HOWARD HANDORF
County Extension Director
Schoolcraft County

FARMERS: DEAD COW DISPOSAL - Due to snow, frozen ground and inaccessible outlying areas during the long winter months, the disposal of dead cattle has been a tough problem. Here is a solution: Call Green Bay Soap Company, Telephone 494-5233 (Area Code 414). Their local driver informed me that they have three routes in the Upper Peninsula.

WEAVERS: We received holiday greetings from Nina and Paul Weaver, both former 4-H leaders from Gulliver, who have moved to Larkspur, Colorado. They served as voluntary service personnel at Frontier Boys Village, a year-round rehabilitative center for emotionally disturbed boys, who at time of admission are between the ages of 8 and 14. Paul's assignment was maintenance and construction, Nina's was cooking. After the voluntary service assignment was over, they were asked to stay on and they have consented. Now, they have been asked to assume the pastoral responsibility of the First Mennonite Church, so they will be moving into the parsonage in Colorado Springs after their release at Frontier, perhaps before August. The Weavers' address is: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weaver, Frontier Boys Village, P.O. Box 158, Larkspur, Colorado. I hope you will remember them with a card during the holiday season.

4-H TEEN CLUB TRIP: The following Schoolcraft County adventurers made the trip to Houghton this last weekend: Jeanne Tufnell, Monica Weber, Becky Chartier, Kathe Nelson, Gladys Richey, Delores Ozanich, Jan Hough, Mary Weber, Nancy LaVake, Debbie Sabinash, Ann Burns, Judy Barton and Maribeth Pawley. Kenneth Pawley and I drove the girls to Houghton. Other than not getting very much sleep, and having my ears assaulted by today's current songs, I believe our members had a good time. We started things off with a Pizza Party on Friday night, listened to a program on pollution on Saturday morning, went shopping and swimming on Saturday afternoon, went to a dance at the Powerhouse, where we were staying on Saturday evening. The Powerhouse is their Community Building. We returned home on Sunday before the storm - just before. I am still recuperating from this trip, my ear drums, and the rest of me, are not too likely to spend nights on a hard floor without an air mattress again! I am now bucking for a 4-H - Youth agent to take over such duties.

Yule party held by PTA

The Lincoln PTA met Thursday evening with Girl Scout Jr. Troop 82 leading the flag ceremony. The annual Christmas party was held with exchange of gifts, carol singing accompanied by Ariene Gordanier and Vernon Annelin.

Appointed to the budget and finance committee were Mrs. Gerald McBurney, Mrs. Denton Nelson, Mrs. Robert White, Mrs. Cora Guidebeck, Mrs. Mike Farley and Miss Phyllis Toyra.

Mrs. William Moberg's morning kindergarten room won the room award. Hostesses, with Mrs. Jack Roemer as chairman, were Mrs. William Bauman, Mrs. Alton Sample, Mrs. William Pistulka and Mrs. James Nelson.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 8.

School meeting set at Newberry

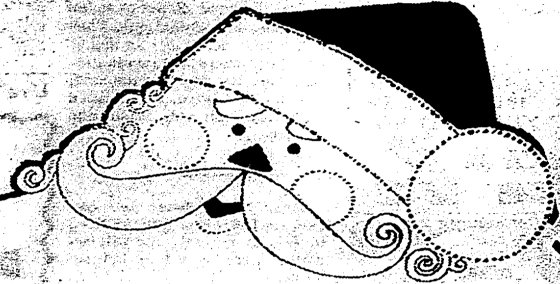

An open meeting to discuss the building program of the Tahquamenon Area Schools will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 in the Newberry Elementary School cafeteria.

Rev. Timothy Jones will act as chairman of the session, which is aimed at organizing a citizen's committee representative of the school district. This committee will assist in the development and promotion of building plans within the district.

When the vessel L.E. Block cleared Port Inland Dec. 3 bound for Indiana Harbor three securely-trussed Christmas trees lay on its fantail.
 The 20-foot balsams were cut on Inland property near the quarry, and according to Limestone Chips, newsletter of Inland Lime and Stone Co., "bear not only the fragrance of the clean air, sparkling waters and green forests of the North Country, but also holiday wishes from all of here at the Limestone operation to all Inland employees 'down below' in the Chicago office."

Members of the Easter Seal Society met Nov. 12 at the home of Mrs. Edward Jorgensen with reports given on the U.P. Easter Seal Society meeting at Escanaba.

The group chose to donate $125 to the Schoolcraft Health Department toward the rubella measles immunization program; to buy a positive pressure machine for patients with respiratory ailments; donate $200 to Bay Cliff Health Camp toward the purchase of an item for the physical therapy department; donate $25 toward transportation to Marquette for a therapy patient.

Re-elected to serve as officers for the coming year were Ann Jorgensen, president; Eleanor Broullire, secretary-treasurer; Carol Shelly, publicity; Kate Carlson, special events, and Gerald Graphos, trustee, Easter Seal Drive.

Local residents are advised that wheel chairs and walkers are available to anyone needing them, at no cost, through the Easter Seal group. Contact Mrs. Edward Jorgensen, 341-2786, or Mrs. Robert Broullire, 341-5178.

Two new volumes given library

Two outstanding current best sellers, "Of Diamonds and Diplomats," by Letitia Baldrige, and "On Reflection," by Helen Hayes, in special large-type editions have been presented to the Manistique School and Public Library as a memorial to the late Mrs. Albert (Florence) Vail by members of her family.

The books are reproduced in large clear type, 40 to 50 per cent larger than standard type, and printed on paper that has been carefully selected to eliminate distracting glare and "show through," and are both now available for circulation.

Today I would like to remind all of you that we are looking forward to having you take part in our bake sale to be held at the center Dec. 23rd from noon until early evening. Just bring in your goodies and we will do our best to sell them for you. The proceeds go to the individuals who bring in the food.

Mr. Ham, our social security representative, will be here Dec. 19. This will be his last visit until after the first of the year, so if you have business that must be taken care in 1969, this is the day to do it.

Our last movie of the month will be at the center Wednesday the 17th at 7:30 in the evening. Plan to come and bring a friend. One of our films is about West Germany and its industrial growth, another is "The Redwoods," and we have asked for a third one about Quebec. All are in color.

Since we are undertaking the task of compiling and publishing a cookbook, I would like all of you who have a favorite recipe or perhaps recipes from other lands you would like to share with others to bring them in or mail them to us at the center. Our address is P.O. Box 309, Manistique, Mich. I will be looking forward to lots and lots of interesting recipes so bring or send them.

When Should We Decide About Religion?

Some things are absolutely essential to manhood. One of them is knowing how to tie a necktie.

Obviously any ability must be acquired before there are regular demands for its use. That's why someone else decided that we must learn to tie our own tie.

All religious education is built on the same principle. Faith and moral understanding must be gained before doubt and temptation are encountered. Our parents, Our Church train us for constructive living.

Of course, there is nothing illogical in the oft-heard contention that, when a person is old enough, he can make up his own mind about religion.

That's exactly what millions of us have done!

But in almost every case our parents gave us adequate and continuing preparation for that decision. With the guidance of the Church we learned the value of faith and spiritual perception. Then we were able to make our vital decision from knowledge and experience!
