

New report cards coming!

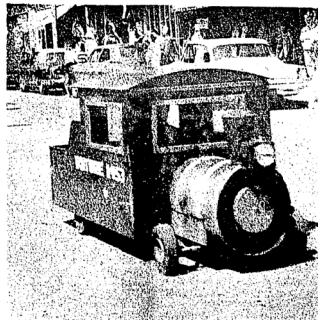

Elementary students in the Manistique Area School District will have to try to explain the traditional marking system to their parents next fall. The new report cards will be completely redesigned. Early elementary students will be given work habits and social habits, as well as their achievements in the educational areas of reading, speech, arithmetic, music, spelling, science and social studies. They will be rated in three categories: "Satisfactory," "Needs Improvement," and "Needs Attention." The new report cards will be given to parents at the end of the first marking period, but that parents could pick them up at the school during parent-teacher conferences. Cards would be mailed to those parents not attending such sessions.

Students in grades 4, 5 and 6 will also be checked if improvement is needed in citizenship and work habits. In their school subjects they will be graded as "Above Grade Level," "At Grade Level," or "Below Grade Level." They will also be graded on effort, with "S" for satisfactory, "U" for unsatisfactory, and "I" for improving.

The new cards were developed in meetings of elementary teachers and parents, and prepared by Miss Evelyn Berwin, elementary supervisor.

It was suggested that the cards not be sent home at the end of the first marking period, but that parents could pick them up at the school during parent-teacher conferences. Cards would be mailed to those parents not attending such sessions.

The traditional grade marking will be retained for junior and senior high students.

Indian Lake beach closed by pollution

For the first time in the memory of most residents, the beach at Indian Lake State Park has been closed because of pollution.

Acting on the recommendation of County Sanitarian Boyd Briggs, the beach was closed Tuesday morning by Park Manager Vic Haas.

The swimming program of the Manistique Recreation Department was cancelled for an indefinite time Monday afternoon because of the pollution problem.

Actually, the entire south end of the lake has shown bacteria count well in excess of pollution levels, Briggs said Wednesday morning.

The area involved starts around Harrison Beach, then extends southwest past the state park.

Briggs said that the coliform index used to measure pollution ran as high as 2,400 in the state park area. Any reading of 500 is considered a problem, and 1,000 is considered polluted and unsafe.

Coliform are intestinal bacteria from warm-blooded animals. In the case of man, found in excrement, or human wastes, Briggs said that heavy rains and high water levels have caused septic systems at the lake to fail. As the lake level has receded in recent days, it has tended to pull this sewage out into the lake.

Tests show the pollution to be concentrated at the south end of the lake. The count at the Copeland Bridge, for example, was only 75. It was pointed out, however, that swift water there helps "flush" the lakefront.

Water samples are being collected daily at the state park, Haas said, and shipped to the state laboratory at Powers. There is, however, a delay of several days in receiving reports on the findings.

Haas said that the park, which has been filled to capacity, now had campers leaving when they were told that the beach had been closed. Signs have been posted along the waterfront warning of the pollution.

The bacteria carries the danger of respiratory and eye, ear and nose infections.

Residents in the area affected by the pollution have been urged to have their wells tested. Briggs said that testing bottles may be secured from the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department office at the medical care facility.

WYLIE LOANS---What this crown band lacked in size it made up for in volume during Friday's parade here.

Nelson picked to head board

Denton Nelson has again been named to head the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education.

Nelson was re-elected for his fourth term as president at the reorganizational meeting of the board Monday night. Also re-elected were Jeanne Larson, vice president, and Margaret Waters, secretary. William Mueller, a new member, was elected treasurer of the board, replacing Robert Knopf.

Board appointments were also made at the regular July meeting, which immediately followed the brief reorganizational session.

The appointments included: Library Advisory Committee, Lena Wood; Elementary-Secondary Education Ad. Advisory Committee, Margaret Waters; Community School Advisory Committee, Ralph Gilliam; Auxiliary Service Employees Negotiating Committee, William Mueller and Leon Wood; PTA Advisory Committee, Jeanne Larson; Senior Citizens, Denton Nelson and Auditing Committee, Margaret Waters.

Jeanne Larson was named to the board delegate to the Michigan Association of School Boards convention in Detroit Sept. 23-26, with Ralph Gilliam and Denton Nelson as alternates.

Budget hearing set for August 12

Public hearing on the proposed budget totaling $3,334,343 in expenditures for the 1959-60 fiscal year of the Manistique Area Schools will be held at the next regular meeting Aug. 12.

Part of the budget was presented at Monday night's session. The total of $1,334,343 are being a balance of $1,000,000. It was pointed out here that this proposed budget represents the curricula of the districts.

Increasing the number of personnel will have to be taken into account. The budget items in the budget deficit, or any surplus of these alternatives.

Approval of the budget will be given by the board. The board will also have to approve the budget. The board will also have to approve the budget.

12-year-old boy shot while hunting turtles

A 12-year-old summer visitor was treated at the hospital for a gunshot wound Monday afternoon after he shot himself in the foot.

State Police said that Donald Armento, of Jenkintown, Pa., and three other youths were shooting turtles from a boat near Smith's Creek, at the north end of Indian Lake, the victim stood up in the boat while holding a rifle, and when another youth grabbed at a turtle, lost his balance and shot himself in the left foot.

He was using a .22 calibre rifle with bird shot cartridges. The three other youngsters, ages 18 and one 13 years old, were also vacationing at Indian Lake.

State Police said that someone had pushed their 14-foot boat into the water at Sunset Beach, sank it, dismantled the gas tank and caused the loss of one car and four seat cushions. Police are investigating.

Boat is damaged

Francis Hellius, Rochester, Mich., reported to State Police Monday morning that someone had pushed their 14-foot boat into the water at Sunset Beach, sank it, dismantled the gas tank and caused the loss of one car and four seat cushions. Police are investigating.

A meeting with auditors from Ernst and Ernst to discuss the school's bookkeeping procedures and ways of reducing the cost of the audit was set for Wednesday, July 16, at 8:30 p.m. The firm has indicated that unless the differences can be resolved, it is no longer interested in doing the annual audit.

The board voted to reject an offer, made in January, by William Males, former real estate salesman Richard Manning, for the Jennie Putnam property. The offer was for about $3,200. Robert Knopf voted against the rejection, with the remainder in favor. Supt. Wuehler was instructed to contact a real estate broker to discuss possibly a new listing of the school properties, including the old Doyle School and the Thompson School.

The Commission held its first of three public hearings at Northern Michigan University, Gov. Milliken has stated that "no substantive decisions will be made by the Commission until the public has an opportunity to air its views."

Wuehler will also be in Lansing Friday and Saturday to attend a meeting of the Michigan Association of School Administrators at the Governor's Commission. Recently named to the committee, he is the only U.P. superintendent on the nine-member board.

In his testimony Tuesday, Wuehler said:

"Our major educational problem is to provide program for the students in a school district which is somewhat isolated, sparsely populated, has a high concentration of educationally deprived adults, which has a median family income below the state average, an unemployment rate which is often double the state average and which has nearly three quarters of its land area exempt from the resources provided through present taxative methods which apply to private and industrial property."

Wuehler then listed specific problems of this and other districts. They included: Community Education--- "One of the charges of Gov. Milliken is 'more effective use of school facilities, so they will better serve students and the total community.' Thirteen school districts in the Upper Peninsula, including Manistique, have attempted this.

"Because of the loss of Section 4 money from the State Aid Act, there is a need for additional financing if the program is to continue at its present effective level. As recently as last Friday we were notified by the Department of Public Instruction that 18 per cent of the fund allotted to us under this act might not be available to us, and this after youngsters are enrolled in summer programs and staff hired by program for them."

"We experience a similar situation in the area of transportation. We transport 60 per cent of our youngsters. Because of Public Act 379 and the random wage rates which prevailed in the six districts that reorganized with us, our transportation wages for drivers are higher than most. Our total cost for student transportation for the year following reorganization was $88,144. Our reimbursement was $47,750, or 54.1 per cent of cost. The remaining must come from sources outside the transportation reimbursement."

"Reorganization--- "In our area we have worked vigorously to make a reorganization work. However, since reorganization the amount of money which the district received in basic state aid was less than the districts would have received if they had not reorganized."

One dies, 8 hurt in head-on collision

A near head-on collision of two cars a mile west of Thompson Monday morning left one person dead and eight injured.

Killed in the accident was Margaret Sovia, 37, of Cleveo, Mich.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Clayton, 48. He was injured, along with their three children, David, 14; Brian, 10 and Kyle, 8.

Also injured were Franklin Steenberg, 27, of Madison Heights, Mich., driver of the other car, and his passengers, Francis Steenberg, 47, Adrian Steenberg, 53, and James Connor, 28, all of Madison Heights.

The injured were taken to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital by the Public Safety ambulance, the police station wagon, and a State Police car. The city fire truck was also called to the scene, but a passing truck driver had used his hand extinguisher to snuff out a small blaze.

State Police said the mishap occurred at 9:05 a.m. on the Sovia car, traveling east, made a left turn in front of the Steenberg car while attempting to enter the driveway of the other car, and its passengers.

The view was evidently obscured by a large truck in front of the Sovia car.

Henschell leaving today for Scout Jamboree post

A veteran Manistique Boy Scout and Explorer Troop leader will leave today (Thursday) for Farragut State Park in Idaho where he will serve on the camp staff for the National Boy Scout Jamboree.

Ted J. Henschell, Explorer Advisor for Explorer Post 400, will serve as a commissioner (program consultant) to several troops at the jamboree.

Henschell is the owner-operator of the Top O'Lake Sport and Gift store in Manistique. He is a 30 year veteran of Scouting and has been a member of the Manistique Scout Council and Council's leader for the Pionon Scout Ranch trip to New Mexico in 1966.

He is a past president of the local Chapter of Commissioners and Rotary Club, Past Exalted Ruler of the Elks, U. M. P. Marshall Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Past Commodore of the Yacht Club, Commander of Manistique Coast Guard Auxiliary and received the Manistique Citizen of Year Award in 1966. In 1968, he took his boys to Region Ten Canoe Base at Ely, Minn.

Four other men will lead the sixth, two in the seventh, and one in the ninth, but were unable to close the gap.

Russ King went the distance for Manistique and was the winning pitcher, giving up four hits and striking out 13. Jack Johnson started for Escanaba and was charged with the loss. Larsen came on in the fourth, and was relieved in the eighth by Howard, as they combined to strike out seven, while allowing eight hits.

Nelson, Gary Sample and Erickson all had two hits for the Chiefs, with King and Prond getting one each.

Manistique will play Escanaba again on Thursday (today) at 5:30 p.m. at Al Neess Field in Escanaba. Each of the teams in the league meet three times this year, instead of only twice as they did in previous years.

The Chiefs have now won all five of their games so far, against no losses. In Waubesa League play they are in first place with a 5-0 record.

Letter to the Editor Little League

To the Editor:

The July, 1969 issue of McCall's magazine carries an article, "The Case Against Little League Mothers." As a regular Little League umpire, I think it has some good points, it says, in part:

"Little League is an organization that is good for the mothers of kids who are good at baseball. It also serves the needs of mothers who need their kids to look good at baseball—whether they are good or not. Little League is very bad for parents whose kids are poor at baseball. I think it's bad for nearly all kids."

The atmosphere down at a Little League park is pretty grim. The tension is thicker than mud at the home plate. If you fumble a catch, no one yells anything funny, like "Back to the drawing board" or "Why don't you play for the Ladies Aid?" or "Get the tuffer off your hands!" Instead there is a adult manager, often so sarcastic that I have seen ten- and twelve-year-old boys reduced to weeping at third base. Adult spectators thinking of shrieking "Take the bum off!" and throwing paper cups and ice-cream cartons at a luckless player.

"... The umpire's sanity and personal safety were regularly threatened by the adult sponsors, and certainly to one who bothered with winner-and-loser manners. The losers either stomped off angrily or trailed away dejectedly, with never a sign of having enjoyed themselves—which they hadn't. It was only fun if you won. If you lost, you had to go home and explain it to Mom. Winners were even more gracious. Modesty was unknown. Cheer the losing team? Well, once in a while if some squaw insisted on it. But not often."

"Little League was founded by a lot of good people who loved baseball. But think they go back, after thirty years, to go back and rethink the structure. They have, undoubtedly accidentally, killed the game of sandlot baseball that was the All-American heritage. They need to face the fact that they are not at present successful, even though they attempt to be instructional."

"It's time to give the game back to the kids. We mothers ought to be able to find something else to do."

A Little League Umpire

Plans listed for coho contest

Plans for this year's Coho Fishing Contest have been outlined by the Manistique Lions Club, sponsors of the event.

Prizes will be awarded for the 10 biggest fish, and a top prize of a new dishwasher will also be awarded. The prizes include a 5 lb outdoor motor, a rod and reel, a portable hi-fi and radio, an outdoors lantern, and others.

A ticket is required to enter the contest. These tickets may be purchased for $1 from any local Lions Club member, or from stores, gas stations, motels and restaurants in the area.

Fishermen should first clean their fish before taking it to one of the official weighing stations. These are located at the A&P, Ollie's Red Owl or Nordens's Foodland in Manistique, or the Driftwood Motel in Thompson.

Money raised by the contest will be used by the Lions Club for various community projects. These include: payment for area camp; and glasses for area camp; and a new Babe Ruth baseball and sending a boy to the Boy School for the Blind.

Local Births

There is a duty which every funeral director has to a bereaved family that transcends professional competence. We expect him to take care of all preliminary details with tact and without delay. We expect him to prepare the remains with a true regard for human dignity and to arrange viewing in an atmosphere of taste and warmth simply. We expect him to guide the service and the final journey with an experienced discretion which leaves us virtually unaware that they have been carefully structured. But beyond tact, competence, and technical skill are the subtle areas of empathy where his qualities as a decent human being come to the fore. These qualities make him a funeral director and make the place where he works truly a funeral home.

Michigan State University

Last week I visited Escanaba to check over some State Fair plans and it appears that Yours Truly is going to be handling all arrangements for the Dress Revue at the Upper Peninsula State Fair August 12 - 17. Said Revue will take place on Thursday, August 14, which is 4-H Day at the fair. Each county will invite the girls to participate. Here in Schoolcraft County it is my intention to invite the four top winners in Dress Revue plus the three top models in knitting (we hope that the clothing modeled in May will still fit in August).

We have sent out U.P. State Fair-Premium books to all 4-H club leaders so that they can study up on the class that their winners will be participating in for the Schoolcraft County booth. This booth will be approximately 30 feet long and will contain all of Schoolcraft county's exhibits. Two 4-H'ers from our county will be in charge of the booth all week, therefore, we expect that there will be a better display as well as someone on hand to answer questions.

The same day while in Escanaba I had a very interesting visit with Dr. M.C. Kaski, D. V.M. Dr. Kaski graduated from Michigan State University approximately three months ago and moved to Escanaba to set up practice. During this talk he indicated a desire to work with the beef and dairy farmers in Schoolcraft County. He also indicated that he would be available for pregnancy testing on cattle.

I thought his price per head was quite reasonable. Of course, the price he mentioned was based on having the animals all rounded up and with a good set of holding pens, so that there was a minimum amount of climbing, and other associated leg work. As a result of this conversation we have scheduled the next calf vaccination tour for Saturday, August 9. Cards will be going out to all beef and dairy men for the survey report in approximately one week. At our next county beef or cattle type meeting, I hope to have Dr. Kaski present so that more of you can get to know him.

The Liver In Our Lives #2

Science research has found cirrhosis to be the result of degeneration and destruction of liver cells. Viewed under the microscope, the architectural pattern of the cells and ducts is disorganized by inflammation and scar tissue. The appearance of the cell is also altered when the liver attempts to regenerate or rebuild the damage already done.

The liver functions are highly affected when cirrhosis sets in. Evidence of this is varied and often so remote they seem to be unrelated. Spider like veins may develop on the face and chest. The male breast may enlarge, and scalp and body hair may thin. Fluid accumulates in the abdomen and large veins develop in the liver area. The face is flushed, ankles swell, palms and soles redden and there is a tremor in the outstretched hand.

If any of these symptoms appear your doctor should be consulted. If in turn medication is called for, A.S. PUTNAM & CO. should be consulted. We like you, the customer, to feel the doctor and pharmacist are on the same Health Team, protecting you. A.S. PUTNAM & CO. . . . 201 South Cedar, . . . Phone 341-2264.

The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide.

Black Manifesto

THE RELIGIOUS ESTABLISHMENT has been shaken considerably since last April when black militant James Forman issued a "Black Manifesto" seeking reparations from churches and synagogues as seed for a foundation of black economic power.

Forman is now asking $500 million payable to the National Black Economic Development Conference "as part payment to the Negro for centuries of exploitation of his labor."

Churches have not been noticeably enthusiastic about the proclamation. It has been described as seditious and counter-revolutionary, and a secret federal grand jury is meeting in Detroit to decide whether the demands constitute extortion.

The concept of reparations is now new. Historical precedent is there for a victorious nation to pay reparations to the defeated to help it recover, or extract reparations as part of the spoils of war.

What is new is the idea of extracting racial reparations through the churches. Forman explains his reasoning this way: "The people who brought us to this country were Christians. The people who enslaved us were Christians. So were the politicians who wrote the Constitution which declared us three-fifths men. The people who conquered and colonized colored people around the world did it in the name of Christianity."

The list of arguments against Forman's proposal is considerable. If he wants to go back into history, what does he do about collecting from the ancestors of the African chiefs who sold their people to the slave masters? Isn't it this same Christian Constitution that has proved to be the cornerstone for much of the civil rights legislation that in recent years has done so much for equality for the black man? Christianity has had no monopoly on the slave traffic. In fact it still exists today in shadowy areas of the Middle East, the Red Sea and Africa, where Christianity is practically non-existent. And finally, by what authority does Forman claim to represent all blacks? If the $500 million were paid who would gain the most, the individual black man or James Forman and his loosely-knit coalition? In other words, who gets the dough and who decides how it is spent?

The Black Manifesto has helped to stir the churches into action, and to make them aware of considerable shortcomings in their approach to racial problems in this country. Unfortunately, it has also helped to further widen the gulf between those people, black and white, who are honestly and conscientiously seeking new and better ways to ease the animosities and suspicions that divide the races.

Some portions of the Manifesto are an out-and-out call to armed rebellion and a call to overthrow the established legal processes of this country. The sad thing is that many people will regard Forman's radicalism as typical of the black man and his thinking, when in reality he represents only a small but highly vocal minority.

Although there is much to be learned from the Manifesto, a sense of obligation to pay $500 million to a rabble rouser whose purpose is to divide and conquer is not one of them.

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top O' Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

"Gee whiz!" I said as I saw the neon lights and the cars jamming the parking lot, "This must be the place."

"It's the place, all right," said Dorothy Anne, "but don't go wandering around saying 'Gee whiz!' People just don't say that sort of thing any more."

Memory Lane

I guess maybe she's right. Once you got inside it was very obvious to see that it was not a Gee Whiz place. It had a very long bar with very quaint and expensive gas lights and Gay Nineties fixtures and waitresses running back and forth in what appeared in the dim lighting to be very skimpy bathing suits. It was more of a Glee Ned place.

There were half a dozen of us and we got ourselves a big table up by the bandstand near the dance floor. After that, that's part of the fun of going to conventions---kicking up your heels at some gay nightspot. "For God's sake don't call it a gay nightspot!" hissed Bill Sliger from Northville. "Use some other adjective."

Well gee whiz... I mean what the heck. What I mean is I'm just not with it. (People say they're just not with it to show that they really are with it, or else they wouldn't use such a term. Understand?)

Jack Bergers of the S&H company offered the waitress 25,000 green stamps, and sly old Sliger asked for bourbon and wa-wa, which she thought was pretty funny, but Jim Sherman from Oxford and I behaved ourselves like gentlemen. We were the two smart guys that had brought our wives.

Pretty soon the band arrived and plugged themselves in. Earlier in the evening Carl Black of Crosswell had commented that he didn't trust any musical instrument that had to be plugged in, and after the first couple of chords had cleaned the wax out of our ears, I could see why. If you were at the back table in the far corner a quarter of a mile away you would have had to talk to your companions in a shout.

"Hokay baby, let's cut a rug!" I shouted at Dorothy Anne. "Cut a rug? Boy am I dumb. You don't cut rugs any more. You gyrate. You shake it but don't break it. You boogaloo. But you don't cut rugs."

So we got up to do whatever it is they do and everybody sort of milled around and stamped and shouted and waved their arms and I didn't see Dorothy Anne again until the music quit. I wasn't quite sure who I was dancing with, and I was a little fearful when I found myself opposite something with long hair in dark glasses, a sweat-shirt and dirty jeans. In fact I never did get up enough nerve to find out if it was a boy or a girl.

I thought I'd be sarcastic when we got back to the table and I told Dorothy Anne I enjoyed dancing with her, but she just said "Yeah yeah yeah" and snapped her fingers.

"And now a trip down Memory Lane!" shouted the organ player, "and a medley of Golden Oldies..."

"Hot dog! Play Melancholy Baby!" I shouted.

"...going all the way back to 1958, who remembers this old classic! It's Pink Purple Flowers, an Elvis Presley smash."

Golden Oldies? 1958? Elvis Presley?

That did it, bunkie. I'll overlook their long hair and electric drums and dancing with yourself, but Memory Lane in 1958 is too much.

"Never trust anyone under 30," I snapped to Dorothy Anne as we left. "Gee whiz. Whatever happened to Stardust?"

BY SUPT. EDWIN WUEHLE Tony's Topics

Because so many classes had reunions this last week, I remembered I had a 25th anniversary. It was 25 years ago this July that I had one of two freight rides.

I'd hitchhiked often but had never ridden a freight until I hooked that one out of Sacramento. The day started with a good ride out of Oakland--a loaded double-tandem peach truck. The driver was a short, swarthy, thick-lipped Mexican who didn't talk much but he sure knew how to handle big rigs. It's about 80 miles from Oakland to Sacramento and we made it in two hours. I was really sorry he wasn't going farther because I liked riding with him, especially when he opened her up on the downhill straightaways. Compared with the freight ride to come, highballing down the highway in the cab of that Diesel was like riding in the home car of the Super Chief.

I climbed out of the cab, waved goodbye to the driver and on impulse ran to catch a slow-moving freight. Tossing my bag in the front of a gondola, I pulled myself up the back ladder and fell over the edge, landing on all fours. The floor was littered with wood chips, shavings, rusty bolts, scraps of cardboard all covered with soot. My hands and knees were filthy. Five minutes before I'd felt like a king and now I felt like a bum.

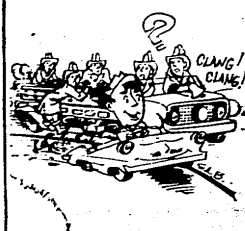

I crawled forward, grabbed my bag and propped myself against the front end of a gondola and began to think about where I might be heading--something I should have thought of earlier. I considered getting off but the freight was moving too fast, so I stayed low in the car. We got into the open country and I developed courage enough to stand up and look over the side.

The country was brown and bare with no sign of a highway. The freight began to slow down so I went back on the sooty floor of the gondola. Then the train stopped and the sun beat down harder. I sat there in a partial stupor.

Know Your Points!

BEBA Bill says:

Be sure you understand the Michigan Vehicle Code as it relates to emergency vehicles. Violation of this section of the Code and conviction puts 2 points on your record. The statute says that an automobile must pull to the right-hand edge or curb of the roadway and stop upon the approach of an emergency vehicle and must remain stopped until that vehicle has passed. Be sure you give police cars, ambulances and fire department vehicles the respect they deserve and must have for safety.

Landscape Lovers

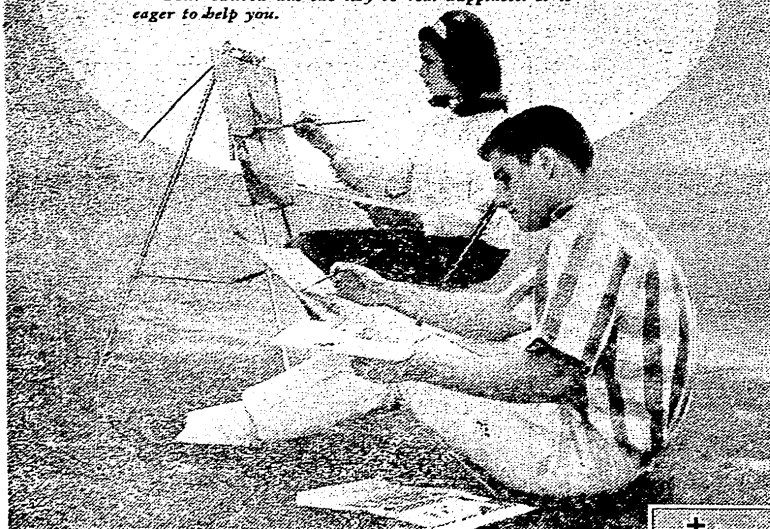

As soon as we met, I knew Rosie was special. She has an air that says she knows who she is and where she is going. I like the way she paints, too—she's quiet and businesslike.

Everything about her appeals to me. She dances like a dream, plays tennis well enough to keep me on my toes and loves painting as I do. She's my kind of girl.

In a world that seems mad, her outlook is refreshing. Maybe it's because her church and her God are important to her! And she isn't afraid to say so.

We'll be married next month—on a shoestring, but, whatever the future holds, we know God and His Church are the source of all goodness.

Your church has the key to real happiness. It is eager to help you.

Family Living

I'M ON MY VACATION! at the time you are reading this I will be in Helsinki, Finland on a 30 day vacation in three of the Scandinavian countries. I'm going to try to write a column or two for you while I'm there, hoping that my available time and postal service will get them to you.

Our plans called for leaving from Detroit by Finnair jet July 6 with a return on August 4. The plan is very new - went into operation in May of this year. Will tell you more about it in my first column to you. Four of us are traveling together but not with a tour group. This meant we had to make our own housing reservations and arrangements for tours within the countries. Hope everything works out for us.

WHILE IN FINLAND we plan to see the Helsinki sights and hope to do some shopping. I will also go to Ylikarva where my father was born. We have no relatives there but I hope to make some contacts through the family church.

Two of us plan to go north to Lapland, the land of the midnight sun. Our farthest point will be Inari which is almost at the top of Finland. This will be a three-day trip and we're expecting to have daylight throughout the days and nights we'll be there.

The other two in our party will go to Leningrad for 4 days, to meet a son who is studying Russian there this summer.

WE'LL BE IN STOCKHOLM FOR 3 DAYS. While there I plan to see a friend of a friend, Mary Jean Nelson is a home economist who is located in Stockholm and is promoting the sale of Pillsbury's frozen foods there.

I LOVE DENMARK. It's the only one of the Scandinavian countries I have been in before. This time I hope to take in the famous "Fairyland Tour" one they say is a "must" for all tourists. To get myself in the spirit of things, I read a few of Hans Christen Andersens' fairy tales.
