SAGE OF SCHOOLCRAFT

You're the kind of a guy who's thoughtful enough to give his wife a present on Valentine's day when the chances are you're also thoughtful enough to want the best for your kids too. Tomorrow is school election day, and if you care enough, vote "yes."

When you just read this part of the paper for the first time, you'll have to put up with an occasional message. If you want laughs all the time, skip the competition.

To celebrate St. Valentine's day in honor of two who were put to death by the Roman Emperor Augustus, I am not sure whose side we were on, and I'm sure our hearts have to do with all escapes me completely.

Monday is the Chinese New Year's, in case you didn't know the regular one. They won't be televising the Super Bowl game, however.

Opportunity is that thing that is often not recognized because it comes disguised as work.

Hoholik re-elected paper mill president

James S. Hoholik has been elected president and chief executive officer of Manistique Pulp and Paper Company, James E. Hoholik, executive vice president of Field Enterprises, Inc., was elected Tuesday. Hoholik has been president and general manager of Manistique since 1961.

James S. Hoholik has been associated with the Manistique pulp and paper manufacturing company since 1944. He has been a member of the board of directors since December, 1961, when the company was acquired by Field Enterprises, Inc.

ANK HOHOLIK

Manistique Pulp and Paper Company is a groundwood specialty mill producing a wide variety of publication grade papers from newsprint to wall-paper stock.

Hoholik is a senior member of the Canadian Pulp & Paper Association, regional director of American Forest Products, Inc., and a member of the Pulp & Paper Manufacturers Association. He also serves as a director of American Timber Homes, Inc.

Field Enterprises, Inc. is the parent corporation of 23 national and international divisions and subsidiary companies in communications, educational publishing, educational insurance and paper manufacturing.

City studying demands by state

Problems in meeting state demands on the removal of phosphorus from waste water were discussed at Monday's regular meeting of the City Council.

The proposed stipulation between the city and the State Department of Natural Resources was presented the night, based on the agreement that the city shall provide facilities to remove 80 percent of the total phosphorus found in sewage and waste water. Part of the stipulation, the city was asked to submit an engineering study by June 1 this year, submit construction plans and specifications to the Director of the Michigan Department of Public Health by Sept. 1, 1970, to award construction contracts and to start construction before June 1, 1971, and to complete the plant and put it into operation by Dec. 1, 1972.

City Manager Robert Noe told the council it would be impossible to complete an engineering study by the June deadline. He also said that testing equipment to determine the amount of phosphorus in the city water has been ordered, but has not arrived.

Councilmen were reluctant to agree to the stipulation because they felt it conceded pollution by the city too freely; that it was impossible to determine the amount of phosphorus in the water now; that the state is only now awarding a grant to Michigan State University for a study on methods of removing phosphorus, making it unrealistic for the city to start agreeing now on removal when costs and methods have still to be determined. Mr. Noe pointed out that the cost of treatment facilities would have to be passed on in the form of water and sewer rate increases, because that city fund is "barely even" now.

SCHOOL PROGRAM REPORT

Multiple resources key to success

A professional educator has difficulty in distinguishing between a community school program and a concept of community education. It's a little more difficult for the man-on-the-street.

Putting it simply, a community school program is just one of many community education programs. Community education is the use of a variety of resources to provide a wide variety of programs to all levels and at all levels in the community.

Community education is a program that has been around for several decades ago a school superintendent's job centered on the problem of running an educational institution. In today's more complex society, an active superintendent has to combine the qualities of an educator with those of a politician, a promoter and an evangelist.

It is not an easy job, nor one guaranteed to promote personal popularity. Skillful combination of these qualities, however, can result in a staggering array of multiple resources, the use of a wide variety of programs to achieve the desired end of true community education.

Band concert set for tonight

The Senior and Junior High School bands will put their new uniforms on display tonight at 7:30 when they present their annual mid-winter concert in the high school auditorium.

Uniform fund donors have extended a special invitation to attend. There is no admission charge. A bake sale and coffee hour will be held following the program. Aid in the uniform fund drive. The campaign was boosted this week with the announcement that major contributions had been received from the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. and from Dr. and Mrs. Duane Waters.

Lakeside school move set Feb. 28

The big move to the new Lakeside School will take place the week end of Feb. 28.

An inspection of the school was held Feb. 4 by the architect, builder and school officials. Supl. Edwin Wuehler said the biggest problem at this time is that the carpeting installed by a sub-contractor appears to have been put in incorrectly, and that $2,500 payment is being withheld to ensure that the problem is resolved.

At their regular meeting Tuesday night, held at the Elwatha School, the board of education also heard of one minor change in the building regarding the structural steel framing and roof deck, amounting to $106.09. Board member Robert Knopf said he felt this was an architectural error and that the district should not be obligated to pay for it, and Mr. Wuehler was requested to check further on the question.

School millage election this Friday

Voters in the Manistique Area School district will go to the polls Friday in a special election to decide the question of approving the continuation of a 5.5 mill tax levy for another three years.

Last February voters approved the same levy for a one year period. Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Voters in the city will cast their ballots in either the Lakeside or the Lincoln schools, depending on which side of the river they live. Thompson and Mueller township voters will vote in their town halls, while Elwatha, Fairview, Doyle and Gerstank voters will cast their ballots at the schools in those areas.

Denton Nelson, president of the board of education, issued this statement regarding the election: "As president of your board of education I feel an obligation to keep you informed. All board members share this concern with me. "At a special board of education meeting in January, your board of education decided to ask the people to renew the levy which passed a year ago. All members voted in favor of this proposal. "I wish to make it clear that this is not an increase in rate. It merely renews the rate which voters approved last February. I urge you to vote 'yes' on Feb. 14. I can assure you your board of education is committed to providing the best education possible within the resources available to us."

Messier adult scholarship program started

DON MESSIER

A unique scholarship program has been established through the Manistique Community School in memory of the late Don Messier.

These scholarships, believed to be the only ones of their kind in the state, will be offered to a graduate of the adult education program of the Manistique Community School, or a person who has successfully completed a minimum residence requirement of two units of work.

Four scholarships will be available to help adult students further their education in an approved program of their choice. Such a program may be in a university, college, junior college, trade school, vocational school, business school, or any course of study approved by the scholarship committee.

The scholarship winner must be a resident of the school district, and be 21 or older. Their record in the Community School must indicate desire and dedication for educational growth, and application must be made in writing to the Community School Scholarship Committee.

This committee will include the Community School director, the high school principal, a member of the Community School advisory board, and a member of the Community School adult education faculty, preferably one who instructed the scholarship applicant.

The scholarships may be used for such educational costs as room, books, tuition, travel and food. The winner must be enrolled and in attendance for a four week period of time before payment will be made.

The institution the scholarship winner is attending must endorse the application to denote attendance.

Before his death last Sept. 9, Mr. Messier had played an active part in the development of the Community School project in Manistique. He was one of a group of 17 area citizens who attended a Community School Workshop in Flint in 1964, and worked enthusiastically toward the establishment of a similar program here.

Mr. Messier was also a charter member of the St. Francis de Sales school board, in addition to his many other community activities.

Final arrangements for the scholarship were announced by Community School Director Richard Bonitas and Mrs. Messier Monday.

Unified fund drive planned

A combined county-wide drive to raise funds for the Schoolcraft County Cancer Society, the Bay Cliff Health Camp and the local chapter of Crippled Children and Adults will be held late in March.

The campaign will be known as the CBC Fund Drive, and will be highlighted with a radiothon on station WTIG on Palm Sunday, March 30, starting at 1 p.m. from the St. Francis de Sales Parish Center.

Cochairmen of the drive are Fr. Daniel C. Zaloga, assistant pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, and Rev. Roy Pitts, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Local talent to participate in the radiothon is being sought by Mrs. Richard Marsh, assisted by Sister Colleen of the St. Francis de Sales School staff.

Any local talent wishing to participate in the program should contact Mrs. Marsh at 233-2794.

The special radio program, during which pledges for the fund drive will be accepted by phone, will run for at least six hours, and longer if interest and talent are available.

Day of prayer set March 7

The annual World Day of Prayer services will be held Friday, March 7, at 2 p.m., in the Zion Lutheran Church. Women from churches throughout the community will be participating in the service, and all women of the area are invited to attend.

Founded in 1887, World Day of Prayer is a day set aside each year on the first Friday in March when "people are brought together against all the boundaries that separate us—denominational, racial, national, cultural— to pray for the needs of the world, to express our commitment and oneness in Christ, and to give an offering for carrying out the church's mission in the world."

The same basic service is now used in 127 nations and territories around the world. The event is sponsored by Church Women United.

This year the theme, scriptures and prayers were proposed by women in Sierra Leone, Ghana, Nigeria, South Africa, Congo, Malawi and Kenya. The theme is, "Growing Together in Christ."

Senior center report given

Pick Marsh, director of the Montcalm County Senior Citizens Service Center, has issued the following report of the center's activities and local participation:

During the first 10 months of 1968-January 1969) of the Center's second year of operation, services offered by the Center were used 3,405 times by 532 individuals. This means that the Center has had direct personal contact with 98 per cent of the 910 senior citizens identified by the Center, Marsh said. The Center served about one-third of the county senior citizens during its first year.

Four hundred ninety-four persons attended the Drop-in Center and other Center-sponsored activities 2,458 times. The information and referral service was used 110 times by 103 persons. This service refers clients to other agencies (Social Services, Social Security, Community Action Agency, Legal Services) for services not provided by the Center.

Two hundred ninety persons received counseling at the Center in 404 instances. "Counseling" means that the client's question or problem is answered or solved at the Center.

The transportation service gave 277 rides to 17 individuals during the 10-month period. Sixty-six visits were made to 107 older persons by the Volunteer Home Visitors. This is an experimental program in which teen-agers and adults visit older persons who are housebound.

Whether the Center is funded by the Michigan Commission on Aging for its third year, April 1, 1969-March 1, 1970, depends partly on local financial support. The county Board of Supervisors will decide on the extent of county support at their meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the court house.

Letters TO THE Editor

The Editor:

The "Star Diary" once again is this month: big dreams, plus big thinking, plus big faith, plus big effort—that is the formula for big things."

These "commodities"—of beans, thought, faith, and effort—are beginning to show themselves in Manistique, in various ways. There now are ways who are working together to improve the town and surrounding area—economically, daily, and in other facets of community life, including religion, music, art, etc.

I suggest, however, that in various plans and aspirations for a community there is something more basic than education. Without this for a foundation, nothing else is likely to get very far.

Accordingly, with an election being up this Friday—to vote the proposal to extend the mills for school operations—it seems as though this is one time to show that we can be forward-looking, capable of high and faith and real, effective support of something that is to the life of the community. . . . I hope that we will have a good voter response, and that the millage request will be passed.

Yours very truly,
William H. Brauer, Pastor

Family Living

IS WASHING EASIER NOW? At one time the basic purpose of laundering was to get clothes clean. Now we need to think about preserving pleats and creases, retaining whiteness, keeping colors clear and leaving clothes as smooth as possible to avoid ironing.

Generally, hot water removes soil from clothes most effectively. Hot water removes wear wrinkles, but at the same time, high temperatures and excessive pressure can create wash wrinkles.

HOW MANY WASH LOADS ARE NECESSARY? Textile producers recommend that you wash items together which require the same water temperature, agitation speed, spin speed and laundry supplies. Loads should be separated by color and degree of soiling. It is highly recommended that white clothes be washed only with other white items to avoid transfer of color. Heavily soiled clothes should never be washed with lightly soiled clothes because this increases the possibility of soil in the water re-depositing onto the clothes, giving them a greyed appearance.

BY INGRID TERVONEN
Extension Home Economist
Michigan State University

IT'S UP TO YOU. You need to decide what's best for you to set your own standards. Often this may need to be a compromise between the ideal and what you consider to be reasonable. Some of you may want to cut down on the number of loads because you want to save time, energy and water. You need to decide which is more important and make a balance between cleanliness, appearance and convenience.

DO YOU SAVE GARMENT HANG-TAGS? Most hang-tags on new clothes are thrown into the wastebasket. Many consumers tend to ignore the manufacturer's recommendations. Do you have some system for saving them and referring to them when necessary?

The wedding reception was held for 100 guests at the church with the three layered wedding cake and candles forming the centerpiece for the serving table.

Larko explains smell problem

A letter to the Manistique City Council explaining the odor problems of the Larko Chemical Co. Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 was read Monday night at the regular council meeting.

Written to City Manager Robert Noe by George Slikkers of Grandville, Mich., president of the firm, the letter said:

"Although we did experience some problems with controlling the odor, we do want to establish the fact that in some instances the nature of complaints of the odor seem to be psychological rather than actual.

"Recently we doubled the size of our odor removal equipment at a considerable cost. Prior to this, we ran several loads of animal blood with no complaints. So it is difficult to understand why we received complaints this time.

"The material we processed was in a state of decomposition before we started and this probably contributed to the problem.

"It has never been our intention to process animal blood at Manistique on a full time basis. In fact, the run of January 31, and February 1 is in all likelihood our last run on animal blood.

"As you are aware, our primary concern at Larko is to obtain a material to process on a day to day basis and establish a sound and growing industry in Manistique. To date, because of seasons, freight rates, Michigan Department of Conservation, etc., we have not been able to locate this product.

"Therefore, in order to maintain Larko's position as a going business, we have hired out its services in research and development work to other companies. In the first instance, this happened to be animal blood. Now that we have established the facts and data necessary for processing animal blood, we plan to move on to the next products we have in mind.

"To do this, additional equipment, possibly additional space, and certainly additional purchases will be required in Manistique. We are quite proud at this point of our contribution to Manistique, not only as an employer, but also as a contributor to the overall economy in Manistique with our very large dollar expenditure.

"At present, we are making and trying to make definite contracts with the farming industry in the upper peninsula to obtain an oil seed crop for the fall of 1969. It will be accomplished as we look forward to a very stable production schedule at Larko through the coming years.

"We wish to apologize for all inconveniences and nuisance problems we may have caused people in the City of Manistique. We also wish to thank them for their indulgence and cooperation. With this attitude and our sincere effort, we are confident that we can establish a sound and growing industry in Manistique."

Councilman A. J. Cayis Jr. pointed out that the original agreement with the firm was based on the understanding that there would be no odor. He added there definitely was an odor last summer when the plant was processing fish.

Mayor Leo DeMars instructed Mr. Noe to reply to the letter and remind the firm that their lease with the city includes the promise of no odor, and said they should be "reminded of their obligation."

Don's News and Views

by Donald E. Brown, County Extension 4-H Youth Agent

What are young people doing these days? Yesterday a group of 4-H teen leaders went to the hospital to cheer up some of the patients there. The activity was part of the teen leaders theme, "Getting to Know You." Later this month the club will be inviting older youth to a winter-outdoor sports day. The group would also like to send two older youth to the National Citizenship Short Course which will be held in Washington, D. C., in August. Cindy Frenette, president of the organization, will be attending a conference at Michigan State University in March. The conference will deal with how adults and teens can work together. Any teenager in Schoolcraft County may join this organization by contacting the Cooperative Extension Service Office located in the Post Office building in Manistique, phone 341-5050.

There is always a need for adults that are willing to work with young people. Scouts, Sunday Schools, 4-H Clubs and many other organizations have the same problems. Where can we find the leadership? Many parents are willing to help. In a survey done in a northern Wisconsin county, 41% of the adults were interested in working with young people. Less than 5% actually were working with young people. Why? There are many reasons but the two most common were: First, "I'm too busy;" second, "I'm willing to help but not lead."

I would like to agree that we are all busy from the time we wake up until we go to bed. But I would like to challenge you to evaluate how you spend your time? How valuable are those things which occupy your time? One of life's greatest principles is that our most valuable possessions are those which can be shared without lessening those which when shared multiply. Working with young people is one way of sharing our experiences with others.

"Leadership" seems to frighten many persons. Today the role of a leader is changing. Young people do not want a leader who knows all of the answers. They enjoy working with adults who will give them opportunities to discover knowledge. Young people want to find out for themselves. The role of a leader today is to point out advantages and disadvantages, discuss the leader's experiences. The Cooperative Extension Service's 4-H Youth Program helps give leadership training to youth and adults. Why not see them soon!

School Board

NMU, wrote the board: "One of the two main purposes will be to assist in getting your district the credit it deserves for taking a step in advance of the usual practice in this area. We will see that the University faculty interested in building design, curriculum innovation and student teaching are aware of our progress. We hope that we can also serve as a vehicle for maintaining communications between you and other educators in the Upper Peninsula and elsewhere who are interested in innovation school designs and utilization.

"Our second major purpose will be to assist the faculty of the school by helping them foresee the advantages of the assets and minimize the liabilities they will encounter."

The new building is attracting considerable interest because of the lack of interior walls and the use of adaptable space for teaching stations. Present plans call for Monday, March 3, to be the first day of school in the new building.

The board denied a request from Norman Perry, bus driver in the Thompson area, for a 60-day leave of absence in order to try out a new job. The vote was 4-2, with Robert Knopf and Margaret Walters opposing and Denton Nelson, Jeanne Larson, Ralph Gilliam and Earl LeBrasseur voting yes, to deny the request.

A grievance under the auxiliary services employees contract was denied by the board. Mrs. Margaret Fountain was requesting extra pay for two days work as the high school principal's secretary instead of as a regular secretary. The ing with young people. Less than 5% actually were working with young people. Why? There are many reasons but the two most common were: First, "I'm too busy;" second, "I'm willing to help but not lead."

I would like to agree that we are all busy from the time we wake up until we go to bed. But I would like to challenge you to evaluate how you spend your time? How valuable are those things which occupy your time? One of life's greatest principles is that our most valuable possessions are those which can be shared without lessening those which when shared multiply. Working with young people is one way of sharing our experiences with others.

"Leadership" seems to frighten many persons. Today the role of a leader is changing. Young people do not want a leader who knows all of the answers. They enjoy working with adults who will give them opportunities to discover knowledge. Young people want to find out for themselves. The role of a leader today is to point out advantages and disadvantages, discuss the leader's experiences. The Cooperative Extension Service's 4-H Youth Program helps give leadership training to youth and adults. Why not see them soon!

New economic group meets here in April

The spring meeting of the newly-formed Central Upper Peninsula Economic Development Commission will be held in Manistique in April, it was announced this week.

Representatives from the six counties included in the district organizations met Jan. 30 to organize. Participating are Alger, Delta, Dickinson, Marquette, Menominee and Schoolcraft counties, with financial help coming from the Economic Development Administration. A check totaling $13,894 has been received from EDA to cover the first portion of the grant.

Chairman of the executive committee for the new organization is Myron Ross of Menominee. Ralph Gilliam of Manistique, Schoolcraft County's representative on the board, has been named treasurer. Vice chairman is Richard Berndt, Alger, while secretary is F. Mead of Marquette. Directors are G. Kee, Delta County, and W. Nelson, Dickinson.

Other committees include one for a report on OEDP (Overall Economic Development Plans), work program, finance and personnel.

Four projects in the six county area have been submitted to the Upper Great Lakes Advisory Task Force for possible supplemental funding. These are the Bay de Noc College vocational center, the Iron Mountain-Kingsford airport, the Menominee Schools vocational center equipment, and the Nahma water supply. The total cost of each of these projects is greater than state and federal funding available.

A resolution was also passed asking Congress to restore funds cut from the development budget for the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

Bible discussion groups are planned

A survey to determine interest in neighborhood Scripture discussion groups is being conducted by the Manistique Material Association.

The idea for the informal interdenominational gatherings was first developed at the Inter-Faith dinner held in Manistique Jan. 13.

Tentative plans call for the groups to meet once a week for six to eight weeks. The aim stated by the Ministerial group is "to discuss the Bible in a way guaranteed to preserve your own faith and at the same time to be enriched by other faiths."

Questionnaires are being circulated now, and will be gathered at the participating churches Sunday morning.

Value Showdown:

Match these features against what competition gives you for the same kind of money, and you'll have a better idea why more people are buying Chevrolets again this year.

Built-in "guard rails"
There's a strong steel beam built into every door of every 1969 Caprice, Impala, Bel Air, Biscayne, Kingswood Estate Wagon, Kingswood, Townsman and Brookwood.

We call it a side guard beam, and it looks like one of those guard rails you see along the freeway.

That's what it's there for: To guard you. To strengthen the door and put a more solid wall between you and the outside world.

Not a glamorous feature. But you'll have to admit worthwhile.

Computer-selected springs
Maybe you'll order a new Chevy equipped to the hilt. Or maybe you'll order it with hardly anything on it.

Either way, you're going to get your full measure of our renowned ride.

Because we go to the trouble of programming each car's equipment load into an electronic computer.

The computer then tells us exactly which springs to use, depending on the car's weight and the way it's distributed.

Chevrolet, the only car in its field with computer-selected springs.

Fenders inside fenders
We could have skipped this. (The other cars in our field do.) But we're anxious as you are to keep your beautiful new Chevy looking beautiful and new.

So...

Up inside the regular fenders we've placed a second set. They do all the in-fighting. Catch all the splashed-up rain, slush and road salt. Stop the kicked-up stones.

While your "outers" just sit there looking pretty.

Astro Ventilation
The other two cars in our field give you air inakes down by the floor.

So do we.

And we also give you two up on the instrument panel.

And all four of them are adjustable so you can regulate the flow of air just the way you like it.

Even when the windows are closed, you'll be comfortable inside. You get air without wind. Without noise.

Astro Ventilation is standard, now, on all the big Chevrolets.

The theft-thwarter
On the steering column there's a lock.

Only Chevrolet has it in Chevrolet's field.

You turn the key and it locks three things: Your ignition. Your steering wheel. Your shift lever.

When you own a car this tempting, you don't dare take chances.

Biggest standard V8 in our field
Ask any car enthusiast, he'll tell you: Chevrolet builds great engines. Especially V8s.

And this year there are six great V8s available for the big Chevrolet Standard Our 235-hp 327-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire.

Another thing: We've lowered the price of several of our biggest V8s along with our automatic transmissions and power disc brakes. Which makes it possible for you to buy a '69 Chevrolet for even less money than you could last year.

Show up for our Showdown. You can't lose.

Putting you first, keeps us first. Impala Sport Coupe

Ice grotto

An early morning sun casts a special sheen over the ice piled along the shores of Lake Michigan west of town by the roadside park.

"Out Our Way"

the news from road 437

Hi Folks,

February so far has proven it can be the coldest month of the year, as it gave us several days last week with below zero readings. On cold days like that even my feathered friends don't come to the feeding table as early as they usually do. This morning skies are gray and more snow seems to be in store for us out our way.

We had several beautiful days with the sky a deep blue and the sun felt so warm. The sky reminded me of a beautiful day in spring when I awake at dawn, see no snow, and with the grass starting to grow, the buds beginning to appear on the branches and all nature starting to stir from its long winters rest.

A voice from some tree top, I do know it is that of a robin, singing to let me know he has returned to spend the summer. Out Our Way. Yes, it was a very nice thought to have a beautiful day for we really don't have too many days with sunshine.

Cloudy days do please the ice fisherman, for that is when the fish bite. The Boss has gone fishing today, to join Gay Swagart and Ernest Popour on Indian Lake.

By the traffic on road 437 Sunday, the Thunder Ski Bowl was a busy area and it was a lovely day.

I guess that's it for scop and so echoes of birthday greetings go out to Irene Hinkson, Christine Heironymus, Joel Carley, James Hardy, Lawrence Sallie and Muriel Lueck, with anniversary wishes to the Joe Markhams who celebrate their's on Valentines Day. They couldn't have chosen a better day for their wedding.

This month also are birthdays of two great men we all pay respect to, Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

Both went down in American history with great honor, and Abraham Lincoln quoted, "History is not history unless it is the truth." By these words we should all try to live, and life would be worthwhile.

Until next week stay happy.
Mrs. Scoop

What's our dream?

"I HAVE A DREAM," said Martin Luther King in Washington, and those inspiring lines of oratory will continue to move the American conscience for years to come, although the man is gone.

Having a dream of better things is not unique to minority groups or certain classes, of course. All of us dream of better things and a better future. Because of those dreams we sometimes achieve.

If we look at our community, our area, our Upper Peninsula, what is our dream here? What do our visions say of the future for this beautiful and lovely land in which we make our home?

We need something to dream upon, a goal for our future, a prize to be won—something that will unify us and inspire us and spur us on to a bright tomorrow and promising future.

We like to talk a lot about our problems. The Upper Peninsula has been diagnosed and diagrammed and analyzed and plotted and projected by a veritable army of Ph.D.'s and master planners and land use specialists, whose scurrying back and forth have at least helped to maintain the traffic count on the Mackinac Bridge.

We should not deride these efforts. Many of the studies are well done and useful. They inform, but they do not inspire.

Inspiration is not something that we can beg, borrow or steal from outsiders. Our dream must come from within us, be a part of us and our heritage and our past. We pride ourselves on our uniqueness here above the Straits of Mackinac. We set ourselves apart as a particular breed, and this is good, for it gives us pride and motivation to compete and excel. But we cannot allow ourselves to become too provincial in our pride, too isolated in our assessments of reality.

Manistique and the Upper Peninsula cannot rely on the boom times of the early century or before to carry us through the 1970's. It is easy to live in the glories of the past, to recreate old triumphs and dredge up old heroes. In fact it is right and proper that we have this pride. But we cannot allow ourselves to become enmeshed in historical musings and ignore the needs and challenges of today.

What is our dream?

If you were to ask us, we would have to say we dream of pride, of community unity and identity, of people working together with purpose and direction. We would like to see an attitude of "Let's do it!" rather than "We can't do it." or "We've never done it that way before."

Until we have a dream, we cannot have a goal. That dream must come from us, rather than outsiders. It's our town, our Upper Peninsula, and our dream.

A starting place

AND IF YOU AGREE with all that written above, or any of that written above, then consider your vote in Friday's school election.

Our dream includes good schools and good education for our children, but like most dreams, it has to face reality. We are going to vote to continue the present 5.5 mills. It's the least we can do, but it's a start on making some of these dreams come true.

One of the favorite words of those professionals who deal with studies and plans and projects and surveys is implement.

They can come up with the dandiest study, the most penetrating survey you could ever hope to see . . . and the Upper Peninsula has seen more than its share . . . but somewhere, usually in the last paragraph, is the comment that "implementing this plan will take a great deal of ingenuity," or words to that effect.

What they mean is it's a great idea, if somebody can make it work. What they mean by implement is to put the ideas into action, and what they don't say is that it's easier said than done.

Part of the problem of implementing ideas and plans is due to proliferation of sub-agencies, boards, advisory groups and committees that have sprung up like weeds in recent years in the governmental garden.

This is not to knock the idea of citizen participation and involvement in community affairs. We're all in favor of that. It is, however, meant as a hopeful protest against trying to keep track of all these groups and their proceedings.

Consider the city council. For years they and the city manager ran the city without too much trouble. In recent years, however, we have seen the evolution of the citizen's advisory group, the armory advisory board, the city planning commission, the city housing commission, first a charter study commission and then a charter commission, plus a harbor planning group. These are all off the top of my head, and I have no doubt missed a few, for which I apologize.

And I don't mean to pick on just the city. There is the county planning commission and the county zoning commission and the library advisory board and the board of education advisory committee and the PTA advisory committee and the US-2 Highway improvement committee and the county Extension council and well I won't go on any further, as by now you should get the idea.

A good many of the people who serve on these committees work hard, without any pay or recognition, trying to do a service for their community, and the last thing I want to do is belittle their efforts.

There is a problem, however, in taking all the work done by these boards and committees and groups and putting their suggestions and recommendations into action. In a word, implementing.

Much important work for our community and area is done by these groups, yet it is next to impossible to keep track of them and their status. Believe me, it is enough of a job for me to attend all of the city council, school board and county supervisor meetings without trying to keep pace with the activities of all their various adjuncts as well.

Yet their story needs to be told. Because of the work of such groups we have a new city charter, we have at least temporary county zoning and we have a senior citizens low-income housing project, part or all of which were largely evaluated and carried through by advisory groups. This has happened when the originating or sponsoring unit of government took the recommendations and acted . . . or implemented.

We have come to a temporary halt . . . or slowed to a crawl, perhaps . . . on county zoning, largely because the original sponsoring group, the old county board of supervisors, was not particularly enchanted with the idea of zoning in the first place. Hopefully, the new board will be more responsive, and the tremendous amount of work contributed by citizen volunteers to get zoning started will not be shelved and forgotten.

It's time to study and evaluate before taking off on any course of action, but it's sometimes a difficult thing to transform those ideas and suggestions into reality. That's our big hang up right now, and the sooner we can put our energies into implementing, the more effective our efforts will be.

Louie and the Election

My good friend Louie stopped in the office yesterday. The conversation, as I recall, went: "Hi Tone, how's everything in the school business?" "You know Louie, it's like everything else. We have our good days and our bad days."

I offered Louie a cup of coffee and invited him to sit down.

Margaret Cain brought the coffee and Louie began to explain that the telephone installation business has its ups and downs too --- especially when he has to climb the poles. I thought that was kind of corny of Louie. He usually has better stories.

"Come into see you about this school election comin' up Tone," Louie continued.

"I'm glad you did, Louie, now I can put it in the column."

Louie sipped his coffee and grinned. "The only time you put me in your blasted column is when there's a school election coming up, but I stop in here more than that."

"Yeah Louie I know, but a lot of other stuff you tell me I can't put in a column. Besides, who else in the Manistique area cares how much you guys charge for special service in your hunting camp."

That almost started Louie off on hunting camps, so I switched the conversation back to the election. "So what about the election, Louie?"

"Well when's it gonna be?"

"Valentine's Day."

"Hey, that's pretty good Tone. I bet you guys did that on purpose so you could say have a heart for the kids, huh?"

"No Louie, that isn't why the board chose that date - but it sure makes a good slogan -- HAVE A HEART FOR THE KIDS."

Louie often displays these flashes of creativity. He's a born advertising man and usually trying to promote something.

"How come we're voting so soon? I thought we just voted," he asked.

"We voted a year ago Louie, but the levy was set for only one year, so now we have to renew it."

"You mean, Tone, this isn't an increase, it's just the same as it was last year?"

If Louie hadn't asked that question, I would have had to plant it.

"I'm glad you asked that Louie. Now I can put the answer in the column," I replied.

"Well it's better than putting in how much we charge for services at hunting camp."

I thought it would be better to let that one pass and answer the original.

"Louie the rate in this election is the same as it was last year."

"Well that's not so bad, Tone. The people should be willing to approve the same rate as before."

"That's what the Board of Education thought too, Louie, so for this election they decided to keep it the same."

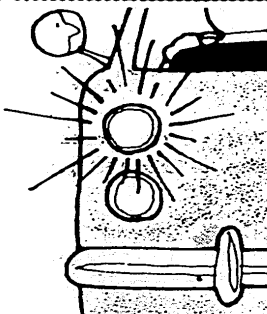

"Boy, I'm sure glad I asked the question Tone. Some guy having coffee at the Eat Shop told me it was an increase."

"Louie, he doesn't know what he's talking about. It's the same rate as it was last year. This isn't for anything extra. It's just a renewal."

Louie had finished his coffee, so he started out to kid the girls in the outer office. But he called back before he left. "Next time I come in and it isn't an election - how about putting me in the column?"

"I will Louie, but you have to talk about something beside the service charge you have at hunting camps. In the meantime vote, huh? Have a heart for the kids."

Letters TO THE Editor

To: Investors in the Camp Development Program

Dear Friends:

As we begin the third and final year of our Camp Development program, we would like to take this opportunity to again express our appreciation, in behalf of the Hiawathaland Council, its Executive Board and all of the Scouts and Scouters, support and to bring you up to date on development progress. As you know, Camp Hiawatha has now operated for two summers. We now have eight troop campsites with good toilet and water facilities. We have a fine shower building, excellent health lodge, a well-equipped water front and boating area. We also have a central water and electric power distribution system and telephone which is all underground to retain the wilderness atmosphere. Our next phase will be a much needed central service facility with commissary, equipment storcamp office, and leaders meeting room. Pledges are coming in well and as soon as enough money accumulates we plan to start this new building. An outdoor chapel is also on the schedule for this final phase. Camp attendance has increased with the interest in the new camp and we plan to have a full house in 1969. Scouting is a positive answer to some of the frustrating problems concerning today's youth - such a good answer that the Congress of the United States has officially requested the Boy Scouts of America to step up their efforts in the years ahead. And camping is a vital part of the Scouting program. It is in camp where most of the character-building and citizenship training processes of Scouting are at work. Your interest and support are indeed gratifying and appreciated.

A dedication ceremony will be scheduled later, but in the meantime, please feel free to visit the camp anytime. The 1969 summer season opens July 6 and ends on August 16. Sincerely yours, Hiawatha Council, Boy Scouts of America.

At 5:30 p.m. Sunday the Fun and Fellowship group dinner will be held at the Eat Shop banquet hall.

A QUOTE FROM DEAN GEORGE HAGER in Washington: "The pharmacist performs his professional service for the most part behind the scenes. What the pharmacist actually does - what he has the opportunity and, indeed the responsibility to do with even greater diligence - is quite a different thing from what, to the casual observer, he appears to be doing."

"What the pharmacist appears to be doing is, perhaps, a function primarily of his manipulative skills. What he actually does - many of the more complex and the more urgently needed professional services he renders usually behind the scenes, is unquestionably a function of his intellectual skills - a function of what he knows."

Official Proceedings OF THE MANISTIQUE CITY COUNCIL

January 27, 1969
A regular meeting of the Manistique City Council was held on January 27, 1969, at 7:30 P.M. at City Hall. There were present: Councilmen DeMars, Reque, Cayia, Wedegartner, City Attorney Hood and City Manager Noe. Absent: Councilman Carlson.

Mayor DeMars announced that Councilman Carlson had asked to be excused from the meeting as he was working.

The minutes of the regular meeting of January 13th were approved as corrected.

Mr. Noe read a letter from Senator Hart regarding the local armory, saying that national priorities now set would enable construction to be scheduled for 1971 or 1972.

Mr. Noe said that the foundation for the new City Hall was being laid and the contractor was working as weather permitted. He showed samples of bricks that could be used for the exterior of the building and asked the Council to consider which type should be used.

A request from the Recreation Commission for $500.00 to acquire an option on the former Hewitt Grocery property was discussed. Council had previously authorized the Commission to negotiate for an option as part of a program to develop the area with funds from the state's recreation bonding program.

Moved by Councilman Cayia, supported by Councilman Wedegartner,

RESOLVED, that payment of $500.00 out of the Recreation & Park Fund for the purchase of an option from the State Savings Bank covering the former Hewitt Grocery property, be authorized.

Yes: Councilmen Cayia, Wedegartner, Reque, DeMars.
No: None.

Absent: Councilman Carlson.
Moved by Councilman Reque, supported by Councilman Cayia,

RESOLVED, that the following Ordinance No. 136 be adopted:

If you're counting on a 1969 VW you can stop at $2,105.35

Delivered on the road—includes all taxes and '69 licenses. $150.00 Down — Payments of $63.68 monthly.

In fact, when it comes to money, a VW will save you a lot of counting after you buy it, too.

On gas bills. (It gets up to 27 mpg.)

On oil. (It hardly ever needs any between changes.)

And, since the engine is air-cooled, you never have to dish it out on anti-freeze.

So if you don't like to count, buy a Volkswagen.

It figures.

A NEW

People who need glasses are apt to find the world pretty fuzzy without them. What appears as only a blur without their "specs" swings into sharp focus, once they've put them on.

If only there were glasses we could don quickly when we need to put ourselves, our problems, our successes and our failures into proper perspective! But that kind of lense has yet to be devised.

We all have moments when we seem to be groping and nothing comes clear. We wonder where we are going and, perhaps, why. We have such moments whether or not we go to church on Sundays—for the Church will not give us spectacles, rose-colored or otherwise, with which to view the world. But . . . the Church does teach us of God's world, it does teach us the meaning of Faith, it does show us life in its proper light.

Try going to church. If you do, you may find your "inner vision" getting a great deal sharper.

Michigan State University

ATTENTION: All maple syrup producers and would-be producers! An institute on the production and marketing of maple syrup products is scheduled for next Wednesday, Feb. 19, at the Sherman Hotel in Escanaba. This meeting will run from 9:30 a.m. until approximately 3 p.m.

A featured part of the program will be a "Maple in the Menu" luncheon for those attending the institute. Ingrid Bartelli, Michigan State University District Extension Consumer Marketing Information Agent, will discuss the preparation of the food served and how they can increase the use and sale of maple syrup.

For those of you thinking of going into production, the discussion by Mel Koelling, Michigan State University Extension Specialist in Forestry, covering "Is Maple Syrup Production For You?" should answer many questions. Mel will discuss the equipment needs, costs, and returns that can be expected from a small operation.

A discussion of current Michigan State research programs and how they are expected to benefit producers will be conducted by Carter Gibbs, Research Forester of the United States Forest Service at Burlington, Vermont.

Roy Skog, Upper Peninsula Extension Forestry Specialist, will discuss management practices for maintaining a thrifty and productive hardwood stand. He will in particular point out how decay, stain, sap streak, and tree injury affect the growth and quality of sugar maple trees.
