New mill for city?

(Editor's note: Free Press business writer Hugh McCann, whose wife Beverly is a niece of Mrs. Emory Barnes of Manistique, combined his vacation with business Tuesday morning to interview Paul Holohok, president and general manager of the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. The following story resulted. Mr. Holohok was out of town Wednesday morning and could not be reached by the Pioneer-Tribune for comment.)

NEW STREET—Residents along W. Main St., from N. Cedar St. are the first to enjoy the new paving being done in the city.

MANISTIQUE—In 10 days Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., the major industry in Schoolcraft County, will make a key decision affecting the economic life of the community's 4,000 residents.

"We are hopeful that we will put in a neutral sulfite semi-chemical pulp mill costing several millions of dollars for utilizing those unwanted hardwood species," said president and general manager Frank S. Holohok.

On some 40 acres right in Manistique and would be designed "primarily to use the kind of forest products not presently marketable—maple, birch, beech, all the deciduous species that today have relatively no market except as saw logs or charcoal."

"When the Royal Oak Charcoal plant in Marquette went out of business about three months ago, the whole solution of what to do with the hardwoods was tossed back into my lap," he said.

"You can make almost anything out of hardwoods," he said, "as long as you do not subject them to the strains of a modern (newsprint) press. The soft wood fiber is stronger."

MR. AND MRS. PAUL RHOADS

Vows spoken in church rites

Assistant pastor Father John J. Grambow of St. Francis Sales Church was the officiant at 1 p.m. Saturday when Helene Paula Allison and Paul Thomas Rhoads exchanged their wedding vows in a double ring ceremony at church.

The altar was flanked with white and yellow gladioli and music provided by members of the children's choir of the church.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of mint-green and carried a basket of miniature carnations and mums. She wore a single strand of pearls.

The reception was held at the Whispering Pines Resort for 100 guests. A centerpiece of painted daisies, baby mums and carnations decorated the headtable. The four-tiered wedding cake was made by Lil Carlin and decorated by Mabel Patz. Music for dancing was provided by Donald Martin and his group.

The bride is a graduate of Manistique High School and was formerly employed as a sales promotion specialist for the J. and H. Intermission Corp. at Niles, Ill. The groom is a graduate of Brooklyn High School and is employed as a correction officer at Jackson State Prison and has served four years with the Air Force.

Out-of-town relatives and friends attending were Mrs. Charles Rhoads of Stacey, Minn., the paternal grandmother, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bioga of Detroit, the maternal grandparents, and Mrs. Blanche Mullen, the bride's paternal grandmother. Other guests were from Goulet City, Brooklyn, Jackson, Detroit, Livonia, Madison Heights and Lincoln Park, Mich. The bride carried a cascade of yellow roses.

The maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of yellow silk and a matching headpiece. She carried a cascade of green and yellow carnations.

Chiefs post fine record

The Manistique Chiefs recently completed a very fine season of American Legion baseball. The Chiefs successfully defended their 1968 World League Championship by winning the 1969 title with a league record of seven wins and two losses. The over-all season record is 10 wins and 4 losses for a winning percentage of .750. The Chiefs won their first game in the 1969 Legion District Tourney by beating Escanaba, Mich. They were knocked out of the tournament, losing to Mesquite and Escanaba.

The Chiefs scored 103 runs in their 16 games, with opponents only scoring 88 runs. Gary Smith led the Chiefs in hitting with a .334 average, in hits with 17 runs batted-in with 17. He was second in runs with 16, and in stolen bases with 16. Phil Nelson was

Candlelight rites for couple

The First Baptist Church was the setting for the 7 p.m. candlelight wedding ceremony Saturday, Aug. 16, when Edwin Swingle, Rev. Roy Pitts officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sam of Brown and the late Samuel Brown of Manistique. She and the groom is the son of Mrs. Eugene Swingle, Atascadero, Calif. and the late Eugene Swingle.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Samuel Brown of Green Bay, chose a floor-length A-line gown of white lace and organza. It was fastened with a bodice of Clinch lace, long tapered sleeves and sweetheart neckline and trimmed with French sequins. Her detachable chapel train was scalloped and bordered with lace and sequins. The nylon-silk veil drifted from a headpiece trimmed with pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses with greenery. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Samuel Brown of Green Bay, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Graydon Stone, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Phillip Mathews of Anchorage, Alaska, sister of the groom. They wore floor-length gowns of sheer rayon georgette misted over acetate lining with a waltz ball panel and cotton lace bodice contrasted with satin. The matron of honor wore pale pink and the bridesmaids turquoise blue. They wore matching headpieces with circular veiling and carried colorful bouquets of mums and miniature carnations.

Serving as best man for the groom was his cousin, Dr. Leon Linderoth of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Groomsmen were David Vaughan, cousin of the groom and Ronald Brender of Ann Arbor. Seating the guests were Daniel Anderson, cousin of the groom, and Graydon Stone.

The flower girls were Ellen Brown, niece of the bride, and Deanna Wingale, niece of the groom. They wore floor-length turquoise blue tulle dresses with matching bows, headpieces and carried baskets of mixed flowers.

Mrs. Ronald Brender, cousin of the ceremony and accompanied the bride and groom. Mrs. Margaret Fagan, who sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Because."

Principals meeting

All principals in the Manistique Area Schools will meet at the Central School next Tuesday to plan programs for the coming year.

Following the wedding a reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors. The table decor was in a pink and white bridal theme and the five-tier wedding cake, served by Mrs. Harold Casteel, formed the centerpiece. Mrs. Mauritz Peterson, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Vern Linderoth presided at the reception table. Mrs. Jack Luft of Benton Harbor, cousin of the groom, served the punch. Mrs. John Vaughan, aunt of the

into the city system, but pointing out that the city is now in the process of planning an enlargement of the waste water treatment plant, and that they had not decided whether or not the city should have a municipal sewer system. Township residents would be using the system, so that its capacity could be adjusted.

Former Mayor Alvin Wink new a Hiawatha Township resident, said the problem was revealed several years ago, and that the only solution was either a municipal water supply or a municipal sewer system. "I don't think anything can be done except to put in a sewage system and connect with the city," he said.

Mayor Leo DeLars said it looked as if the city were going to have to build at the treatment plant to accommodate waste from the paper mill, and that the city needed to know if Hiawatha Township would be included in their own treatment plant.

"There is no economy in building and operating a small treatment plant," he pointed out. He added that if the mill is included, the city will be needed to remove solids from the paper mill waste.

Erickson told the group that the best step for Hiawatha Township and other areas involved would be to have a basic engineering study that would determine costs and help make a decision on the matter.

High atop the bluff overlooking the big, blue lake, the pines and the blueberry bushes stand watch over shores that are unchanged since the time of man's first arrival in the area.

Hi Folks!
Our promised thunder showers as yet have not come out our way, and we are in need of rain for it is very dry and the danger of forest fires is possible. So as Smokey the Bear would say, "Be sure fires are out-cold! Crush all smokes dead!"

One of my maples has started to send its sap on its way down to the roots, and the leaves have their touch of fall color. Took a trip to Steuben last Wednesday, a trip I enjoy along our winding road. Every hill and curve has its beauty that is breathtaking. In the early hours of the morning you can enjoy seeing the blazing sun creep through the cool quiet open spaces between the trees forming deep shadows beneath them. At the Indian River bridge I stopped a while to watch the river swirl by happily on its way to enter the waters of Indian Lake.

Yes, a trip on road 437 that takes you to Steuben and M-94 is a drive to enjoy. You'll enjoy the curves, twists, the hills, streams and the river. With the deep forest on both sides of the road as you travel it leisurely, I'm sure you'll find it both enjoyable and relaxing.

I stopped in to visit with Marie Grimsley for a while, and our conversation was of the present events. Coming from the horse and carriage era to the walking of man on the moon sure is history. I also stopped to chat with Pat and Goldie Tomlinson. Their cabin sets up on the banks of the Indian River, giving them a beautiful view of the traveling river. Visited with Perry and Sarah Biglow and that made my visiting day complete.

A week's vacation was enjoyed by Edward Hinky of Mason, Mich. at the cabin of Clarence Jacobson on Thunder Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fleming from Phoenix, Ariz. spent their honeymoon Out Our Way. They stayed with Mr. Fleming's mother, Mrs. John Lucovitch of Cooks.

Mrs. Marie LaFave has returned from Big Bay to spend the summer at her cabin on Thunder Lake. Her guests for the week are her nephews, John, Mike, and Paul Connelly, of Marquette.

Echoes of birthday greetings go out to Elizabeth Ramsden, Dr. James Fyvie, Shirley Schneider, Helen Mickelson, Gariand Wolfe, Nola Havens and Roy Hinkson.

May the day for all of you be one of complete happiness.

Until next week, stay happy. Mrs. Scoop

The universe contains about 100,000 million billion stars—or about as many stars as there are grains of sand on all the beaches of the world.

The regular meeting of the Tops Club was held last Wednesday evening with Jean Selling presiding.

Charlotte Richey was made a full fledged KOP as she has held her goal for a three month period.

Ella Carley was selected queen with a two pound loss. Queen for the month of July was Kaylene Young with a 11.5 pound loss.

A letter was read congratulating Jean Selling for the poem she submitted for the convention to be held in Escanaba, Sept. 27. Jean won second prize. Her poem will be read on the radio and also published in the paper.

The good life

BY DAVID SARGENT
President, United Business Service

A FELLOW COMMUTER jarred me awake one morning this week with the following—

"How many people do you know who are really living the good life?"

First I had to think—just what is the good life? After some fumbling my answer came this way:

- Good Health
- Good wife
- Good kids
- Good job
- Good works

The first is easy. Without good health, about all else is impossible. A good wife (or husband) is also to define—one with whom living is pleasant. By good kids, I mean young people who are living who are constructive in their approach to the world and warmly tolerant of the frailties of their parents.

A good job is one that satisfies the needs for challenge, interest, accomplishment and, of course, money. Good work means a chance to "do good" in the community, whether as church deacon, village alderman, or Scout leader. There is part of every man which draws nourishment only from his opportunity to serve his fellows.

Then, going back to the first question, I had to say, "Not many." For living the good life takes some doing. Because it is full, exciting, accomplishful and exhausting, all too few of us can measure up.

How would you have answered?

No more childhood?

"No more pencils, no more books—"

That happy children's chant seems doomed to go the way of the little red schoolhouse if predictions voiced at the first annual educational planning conference at Auburn University come true.

Tomorrow's students will be spending more and more of their lives in formal study. By the end of the century, said one speaker, educational systems will have been extended downward to include three-year-olds in all 50 states.

"Compulsory university education is coming also," said Dr. L. O. Haaby of the University of Tennessee. "This will be necessary because life will be so complex that the schools will be unable to do the job in the time they have at present."

It's a brave new world in the making, but a lot of folks may be just as glad they were born too soon to see it.

Reading made easy

THE TEACHING of reading in public schools, says Helen S. King, is a subject that generates much controversy. She notes the following helpful comment by Joseph McVicker Hunt in "Children With Reading Problems:"

Perhaps the task of developing proper motivation is best seen, at least in a nutshell form, as limiting the manipulation of extrinsic factors to that of keeping homeostatic need and extroceptive drive low, in favor of facilitating basic informational processing to maximize accurate anticipation of reality."

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top O'Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

Driving more than 1,000 miles on a four-day week end may not be your idea of a vacation, but it looks as though that will be the best we can do this summer, so Dorothy Anne and I left Thursday and returned Sunday.

All of which is a rather obscure introduction to this week's essay on small towns and small town people.

The proposition that small towns are dying is nothing new. Life magazine devoted a good share of an issue several years ago to chronicle the decay of some small communities in the midwest, and population statistics continually show the drift of rural people to urban areas.

Here in the Upper Peninsula, of course, we have nothing but small towns. Marquette, Escanaba, Iron Mountain and the Soo may be big cities in comparison to their sister U.P. communities, but basically they are small towns, devoid of urban sprawl, large slum areas, civil rights unrest, fluctuations in employment brought about by heavy industry, traffic congestion, high crime rates, smog and all the other attendant benefits of the big city. This is not to say that these problems are not present to some degree, but rather that they have not reached the unmanageable proportions that they have in our cities.

Gaylord is often cited as an example of a small town that has rejuvenated itself by remodeling its business district and attracting new industry. If these two factors can be accomplished, then many of the other attendant problems peculiar to small towns will solve themselves.

Our week end itinerary included a trip from Ft. Wayne, Ind. to our old stomping grounds at Three Oaks, tucked away in the southwestern corner of Michigan. The most direct route between those two hubs of commerce happens to include US-30 the old Lincoln Highway, and thus it was that we found ourselves in a traffic snarl of the first magnitude, chugging along behind an aromatic diesel truck, surrounded by traffic of every size, shape and description.

It is obvious that Indiana has not kept pace in highway construction, but the point was that the snail's pace gave us plenty of time to gawk and gaze at the countryside along the banks of the Wabash (or the Tippecanoe or whatever the name of that sludge-filled, algae-colored cesspool was) and to contemplate the ruins of Beautiful Downtown Bourbon, a community of some 1,500 souls about midway between Warsaw and Plymouth.

We did not take the complete civic tour, but we did note the vacant garages (Studebaker-Packard Service), boarded up storefronts and shabby-looking establishment (Joe's Place—billiards, chili) that presented themselves as you passed through. There is nothing worse than poor Bourbon. (I thought I'd insert that there to ease the tension of this lugubrious recital.)

The Acorn City of Three Oaks hasn't changed all that much since we left eight years ago, but it (and Gaylord and a host of others) are at the opposite end of the pole from Bourbon.

Why? You could write a doctoral thesis on all the whys and wherefores, I suppose, but major factors would have to be employment opportunities and retailing innovations. Many small towns, like the Upper Peninsula, export their young people because they do not have job opportunities available. Given a choice, most people will opt for the friendliness and good living found in a smaller, closer-knit community.

At the same time, if there is to be a business district worthy of the name, the local merchants must learn and accept the fact that they are in direct competition with the big boys from the big city. And while they may not always be able to meet the discount prices, they can make up that difference by offering personal attention, good service, plenty of parking and pleasant surroundings.

If job opportunities and a strong retail center can be combined, small towns will not only continue to survive, but they will flourish, for they offer all of the things that people bemoan the lack of in urban areas. If these things are lacking, then the community will wither and die of economic strangulation, with only the memories of the good old days left for consolation.

JEAN WORTH AND THE EDUCATIONAL SCENE

Jean Worth, retired editor of The Escanaba Press, speaking to the school administrators at Northern a few weeks ago indicated that we have to work harder to get people to realize that school problems are public problems. Dave Rood, editor of the Manistique Pioneer-Tribune editorialized last week on the apathetic attitude of the general public.

The solution to the problem of getting the public to realize that school problems are public problems is a difficult one. The interest of the public is greatest for athletic contests, and this wanes when we are losing. However, the public apparently does enjoy watching a school conflict situation as though it were some kind of educational tent show.

Jean also commented: Most of the time in education, we're struggling for survival, when what we should be doing is trying to achieve excellence.

We find that we are apologists for education when we should be evangelists. He went on to elaborate on some of the problems and the ripples on the educational millpond. He feels that faculty unhappiness contributes to student revolt, and the teachers have a historic inferiority complex. It is necessary that the superintendent attempt to connect the wires between the school and the community, and the relationship with the faculty is most important. Jean would like to know how the faculty regards America, and feels that any system of education that drags along its drones must be suspect by the public.

It was his impression that the effectiveness of the superintendent has been eroded by the bargaining process and that negotiations is a meatgrinder, but this development must be judged within the temper and the context of the time, and we must be active in explaining the roll of the teacher in this edgy relationship.

Jean feels school administrators should be politically active, even at the risk of becoming politically unburned, that whether we like it or not, we live in a political arena and education is part of it.

Mr. Worth capped his talk by saying, "When the teacher's contract becomes the biggest item in the school year we have a sick system on our hands."

FRONTENAC BECAME GOVERNOR OF NEW FRANCE 1672. PREOCCUPIED WITH EUROPEAN AFFAIRS, FRANCE SENT FEW SOLDIERS, SUPPLIES OR MONEY TO BOLSTER HER NORTH-AMERICAN EMPIRE. STILL, FRONTENAC DID WELL WITH WHAT HE HAD. FIRMLY, YET TACTFULLY, HE ESTABLISHED STRONG TIES WITH MANY INDIAN TRIBES. STAUNCH ALLIES AGAINST THE ENGLISH.

Frontenac

IN 1673 HE BUILT FORT FRONTENAC (KINGSTON, ONTARIO) TO PROTECT HIS ROUTE TO THE GREAT LAKES AND MISSISSIPPI VALLEY AND TO IMPRESS AND CONTROL THE POWERFUL IROQUOIS. FRONTENAC'S DREAMS OF GLORY AND EMPIRE WERE OFTEN FRUSTRATED BY OFFICIALS IN QUEBEC AND PARIS. IN 1682 HE WAS RECALLED TO FRANCE. WITHOUT HIS FIRERY LEADERSHIP, AUTHORITY DWINDLED; THE IROQUOIS ATTACKED FRENCH FORTS AND NEUTRALIZED THEIR INDIAN ALLIES, AND ENGLISH MILITARY GAINS PENETRATED DEEP INTO NEW FRANCE.

FRONTENAC'S RETURN INSPIRED CONFIDENCE AND LIFTED MORALE AMONG SETTLERS, SOLDIERS AND FRIENDLY INDIANS. FRENCH POWER WAS RESTORED. IROQUOIS RADS STOPPED. AND, IN 1690, WHEN SIR WILLIAM PHELPS LAID SIEGE TO QUEBEC, FRONTENAC ANSWERED HIS SURRENDER ULTIMATUM BY POINTING TO HIS CANNON AND REPULSING THE ENGLISH ATTACK.

Market up for sawlogs

In the year ending June 30, the Hiawatha National Forest sold enough sawlogs to build 180 three bedroom houses; enough pulpwood to keep the Escanaba Press in business for 180 years, and enough cedar posts to build a fence from Ironwood to Sault Ste. Marie.

Twelve percent more sawlogs were sold than the previous year going from 1,600,000 board feet to 1,857,000 board feet. Pulpwood sold increased from 53,800 cords to 61,620 cords.

Sawlogs cut during the year increased slightly but the pulpwood cut decreased 19% going from 62,684 cords down to 50,940 cords.

This reduction in pulpwood cut reflects the poor markets "enjoyed" by all of Michigan this last year. A recent release by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources shows that pulpwood cut for all of the Upper Peninsula was down 31% last year.

Markets for sawlogs continue strong and the pulpwood market is recovering; the Hiawatha National Forest is looking for a banner year this year.

Foremost in minds of all senior citizens at this time is, "Where are we going to move our center?" so I am going to reassure everyone we will find a place with the help of the Community School as was the agreement when they first contributed the use of the present location, in event it was ever sold.

This has now become the case, as the property has been sold to Mr. William Males and we have ample time, I believe, to find another location.

A meeting was held at the Center Monday evening with our executive committee and we discussed both the various

Reunion is planned by 107th Engineers

The 107th Engineer Association will hold their 1969 convention Saturday at the Hotel Northland in Marquette.

Members of the organization, whose military tours span several decades all the way from the World War I doughboys to the present-day National Guardsmen of the 107th Engineer Battalion, will move in from all points of the Upper Peninsula and various states as far distant as New Jersey and California.

possibilities of a new location and new projects which could be undertaken by us which could be of value to our senior citizens and also the community in general.

We are looking forward to having the cooperation of many people who have expressed willingness to assist us in any way they can. We hope to make our center a real asset to the community, as well as to our senior citizens.

Any information we have as regards a new location will be relayed to you as soon as we can and in the meantime we will be carrying on our work in our present location as usual.

Our Social Security representative will be here Friday. The next dates he will come are Sept. 5 and 19.

Movie dates for September are the 10th, 17th, and 24th. These films will be shown at the center at 7:30 in the evening and are free and all senior citizens are welcome to attend, so please do join us for some very enjoyable evenings.

Mrs. Jenks named as welfare director

Mrs. Edna Jenks of Grand Rapids has been named by the state to serve as acting director of the Schoolcraft County Department of Social Services.

Robert Ebbi, chairman of the county Social Services Board, explained that Mrs. Jenks would serve until a new director is selected, probably in several weeks.

Interviews for the post are now being conducted, he explained, and anyone interested in the post vacated by David M. Nordin may submit their applications to Mr. Ebbi.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bouchard have received word from their son, Sp. 4 Lyle Bouchard in Vietnam, that he has been awarded the Bronze Star medal. He will be leaving Bien Hoa on Aug. 31 for the United States. Spec. 4 Bouchard informed his parents in a letter but did not mention the circumstances or reason for the award. He is serving in Vietnam with Co. B 101st Airborne Division. He has been in Vietnam since Nov. 5, 1968, and before that was stationed at Ft. Sheridan, Ill.

Ambulance

Bethel M. Maypole, Skokie, Ill., was taken from the Manistique Clinic to the hospital last Wednesday at 2:25 p.m.; and on Tuesday at 7:30 a.m. was taken from the hospital to the airport.

been for about two weeks. It was a good trip but it's good to be back — even good to be back to work.

The U.P. Fair was the big event of the past week. If you had anything to do with the 4-H Schoolcraft exhibit you have a compliment coming to you. The judges told me this was the best organized of all the county exhibits at the Fair. They said it was the easiest to judge and that all of the exhibits were so good. I know that Howard Handorf was pleased with all of the blue ribbons you received. Congratulations to all of you.

I wanted to write you from Denmark but time went so fast, I just didn't get to it so I'll tell you something about it now.

Everyone who goes to Denmark recommends the "Fairytale Tour" — a three-day trip through Denmark. Now, I can recommend it too. You drive through picturesque country — thatched-roof cottages and barns, green fields — some yellow and ripe with grains, old manor houses, castles with moats — and flowers everywhere. We even saw a stork family — mother, father, and three young ones in a chimney nest on top of a barn.

We visited Odense, the childhood home of Hans Christian Anderson, the writer of fairy tales we all know and read when were young.

Farming in Denmark is a marked contrast to that in Finland. The fertile fields are fairly level. Finland is extremely rocky and only parts of the country can be farmed. The winters in Denmark are also much milder.

Denmark exports butter, eggs, cheese, and pork products. The government supports prices on some of the products. Cooperatives are very important — stables, farms, labor and sale of products are a cooperative effort.

WE HAD OUR FINAL SPLURGE IN FINLAND — On our last Saturday night we went to the "Fisher's Cottage" on the outskirts of Helsinki. It is probably the most elegant eating place in Finland. We had crayfish, flaming reindeer steaks, and clouberries. I'll tell you all about it when I see you.

Don't Cheat Yourself

Consider for a moment the truth in this excerpt from one of the women's magazines:

You pay your lawyer for his advice.

You pay the carpenter for knowing his job.

When your pet is sick, you take it to a veterinarian and follow his advice to the letter.

Your doctor writes your prescription and your pharmacy fills it, and 50% of the time you neglect to take all the medicine which you have paid for on your doctor's advice. IS THIS FAIR TO YOU? WHO'S BEING CHEATED, AND BY WHOM?

This does sound a little harsh, but then it was meant to be by the author. Most drugs do not last indefinitely, their potency decreases with time, they clutter up the medicine chest and have been known to cause serious accidents when taken by the wrong person at the wrong time for the wrong thing! CLEAN OUT YOUR MEDICINE CHEST NOW!

I'll add my own note of congratulations to those county exhibitors at the Fair. I have never seen the exhibits with so many ribbons as we had this

Thompson

BY MRS. HARRY HASTINGS

Mr. and Mrs. James Brisson of Waukegan visited Tuesday with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gundersen, Mrs. John Hornus and sons, Lester and Gale and daughter, Mrs. Clay Cole and daughter Tresha of Lansing, visited Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hastings and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jorgenson of Livonia returned home after visiting last week with Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Babbitt and family.

Visiting during the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gundersen, was Gordon Gundersen who has been transferred to Newark, N.J. from Philadelphia, where he is employed as a nuclear materials specialist. He will be making his home in E. Brunswick, N.J.

Mrs. Joseph Nelson, with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Klinke of Manistique, visited Saturday in Marinette with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lindstrom.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Dorman of Pontiac are spending this week in Manistique and visiting here with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sample.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cousineau and grandson Brian of Charlevoix spent the weekend with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Babbitt and family visited over the weekend in Roscommon with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Harmer, and in Grayling with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bunker.

Durward Hursh returned to his employment at Newberry State Hospital after spending the past week here with his parents. His father, Joseph Hursh, was dismissed Monday from Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital following a slight stroke.

time. I do believe they worked hard for them also.

The dress revue seemed to work out quite well at the Fair. Just about all counties were represented, of course, we had eight girls entered from Schoolcraft County - they all did a good job.

We are cataloging ribbons won at the Fair now and we will be able to give a list next week if newspaper space permits. To shorten the list here are the girls who won ribbons at the dress revue at the U.P. State Fair: Vicki Frenette, Pamela Wood, Laurie Hubble, Michele Heminger, Jeanne Strasler, Sherry Hubble, Laurie Ann Steele.

In the Share-the-Fun program Mary Weber, accordion soloist, and the Sew-Sew Girls, Johanna Worley, Tammy Hollister, Susan Frankovich, and Anne Hoholik entertained with guitar and vocal selections. Mary Weber is from Manistique Township and the Sew-Sew Girls from Hiawatha Township.

I know that summer is here a long last in that we have been eating beans out of the garden for several weeks now. Last Sunday we had the first batch of Zucchini squash which Sally fixed with rice and ground meat. Also, used the seeds that were bled eggs.

Potatoes appear to be growing quite well as long as the farmers will keep up with their blight spray. First cutting of hay appears to just about be in and the silage corn is looking pretty fair. For those of you with slug problems, remember that there are commercial products on the market which very nicely remove these unwanted pests.

We also have had some first cucumbers from the plants that Leonard Walters gave us. Leonard bills them as "Jamaican Burbles Cukes." After tasting them I agree with the name. My two girls eat them up like candy.

At least two mountain ranges were flattened by the eternal battering of the elements before the Colorado River even started to chisel the 6,000-foot-deep Grand Canyon in the peaks' foundations, National Geographic says.
