ROBERT B. ORR

Urban Renewal for downtown Manistique survived its first public hearing Monday night, but not before some shouting and stomping and questions and answers entwined the evening.

Purpose of the hearing was to set the boundaries of the district and to set the time and place for the next public hearing to name a district council to assist in the project.

The boundaries as outlined in the original proposal—the four block area bounded by Maple, Main, Pearl and Oak Sts., plus about the northwest quarter of the block bounded by Oak, Lake, Artus and Maple—was approved by ordinance, although it was indicated the city is seeking a 10 per cent increase to allow expansion to the north to include the C-L Hardware building.

A 12-member district council will be named at the next public hearing at 7:30 p.m., Feb. 9. Seven of these members must reside within the district, and all must have an interest in the area. The members will be appointed by Mayor Leo DeLars, subject to approval of the council.

Explaining the proposal, City Manager Robert Noe pointed out that the city has received a preliminary $117,141 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development which is for survey and planning purposes. This grant provides for engineering analyses of buildings, as well as a market analysis, determining what needs to be done to the structures, and if there is a market for the build or renovated building.

During the course of the evening, Noe summed up the project by saying, "It should be pointed out that it is the local governing body that makes decisions as to demolition and rehabilitation. The city won't take action on a piece of property they feel is worthwhile, but if there are structures that are determined to be worth saving we are establishing the district to act. We are not taking the rights away from people. At any time the whole project can be abandoned if the buildings are establishing the district to a survey and planning study that we really have. We are not going to tear down every building downtown and leave the entire downtown vacant."

Richard Manning, 906 W. Elk St., said the private citizen can hire his own appraiser.

Answer—Yes, if he chooses to contest it in the courts he can go this route.

Norman John, 127 Walnut St., said what is my wages during the interruption of business?

Answer—The cost of relocation of business is part of the project.

Mayor Leo DeLars—There is also a conservation feature, where existing buildings are put back into shape.

John Anderson, White Star Market—Don't think you should try to put us out of business.

Mr. Lambert—Shouldn't we build industry first, then the city?

Councilman William Wedegartner—I think it should be the other way around. Build your city to help attract industry.

Councilman Harold Carlson—We are not trying to put anyone out of business, but to encourage business to grow.

Clarence Peterson, C-L Hardware—I would compare Manistique to Marquette and Escanaba four years ago. They now have shopping centers going in outside the downtown area, and business is going to go to those new shopping areas.

Dan Barber, Gambles Store—Do they rebuild a building?

Answer—The original owner has first chance to repurchase the land and to rebuild.

Walter Rich, 129 Pearl St.—Are there copies of the regulations available?

Councilman Thor Reque—There are some at the public library, and I have some personally. There are also some here in my home.

Mrs. John Anderson, White Star Market—Is it up to the council or to a vote of the people?

Answer—The council and the advisory committee determine this.

Mr. Peterson—Can the area boundaries as shown be changed?

Answer—There is an application with the Chicago office of HUD to increase the area by 10 per cent. We have not heard from them yet.

Mr. Manning—Don't water and electric services, traffic and parking have to meet certain standards?

Answer—Yes, within the district.

Mr. Manning—Including parking? Should increase and express on US-26 part of this?

Answer—Other parking is a part of the plan. Details would be up to the engineers and planners.

Reiser, 337 Lakeshore—You mention a 10 per cent increase in the area. Where? This could make quite a change in the boundaries.

Answer—In the north and northwest direction, to include the C-L Hardware. The owner, Mr. Peterson, is in agreement and wants to be included. If the change is made another public hearing will have to be held.

Councilman Thor Reque—People came here tonight with hostility, assuming that each of us probably would be affected. This will be determined by experts, and the city will have a vote in determining this. East Ladington St. in Escanaba is an example of what the lack of Urban Renewal will do to an area. It can't happen here? The heck it can't, it's already happening. People are already thinking of leaving this area. We should leave this area tonight with the understanding that this is a feasibility study and that only. The city is allowed to use in-kind contributions as its share, and every month/year that we delay we lose credit for them. You people won't be out of business tomorrow or next year.

D. B. Allen, 346 Lake St.—I know what I read in the paper is 90 per cent wrong, but are the boundaries as stated in the paper correct?

Answer—Yes.

David Reed, Editor, Pioneer-Tribune—The boundaries as stated in the paper are a legal description of the project as furnished the newspaper by the city, and must be part of the 10 per cent in the paper that is right.

Mr. Anderson—Let's go ahead and get industry to build up the city. I ask the council to discharge the city manager and get some of the old timers in here who know what they're doing.

Mr. John—The city manager has led to me for fire safety costs.

Mayor DeLars—He hasn't led and firemen's salaries aren't what we're talking about here.

Mr. Anderson—The manager is on the outside with all the townships and with all the citizens here in town.

John Quick, 354 Lake St.—The only thing I'd like to say, as a businessman affected by this, is that I am not whatever the council think is best for the community.

Fire protection costs outlined

A report on fire department salaries, plus a letter from Escanaba Fire Chief Palmer J. Derouin outlining their policy on township fire protection highlighted the regular part of the City Council meeting Monday night that followed the public hearing on Urban Renewal.

Council also made a special point of giving a unanimous vote of confidence to City Manager Robert Noe, who had been attacked verbally by John Anderson and Norman John during the Urban Renewal session.

John said that Noe had attended when he reported at a recent meeting that fire department salaries totaled $40,000 annually. Noe's report gave the following breakdown: Beginning July 1, 1970, base pay for each fireman will be $9,282.67. In addition the fire receives $152 in holiday pay in cash, each, each and a $75 uniform allowance, for a total of $ 9,545.60. Fringe benefits for each man are figured at $2,161.37 annually. This includes hospitalization and retirement benefits. The administrative salaries for the department, which include payroll and administration, are figured at $835 per month, making a total of $3,550.96. When multiplied by the three firemen this totals $38,632.88. The salary of the fourth man, the chief, is totaled at $10,150.56, which includes fringe benefits and administration costs. The total is then $38,803.84.

Noe pointed out that this does not include pay to volunteers, the $1,600 cost of emergency phone service to volunteers, gas and oil for the truck and heat and light for the building.

He then reported that Escanaba Chief Derouin outlining the procedure used there to furnish fire protection to three townships with whom they have contracts.

CECIL R. CREWS

Credit Union plans dinner

Members of the Limestone Federal Credit Union will meet for a 6:30 p.m. dinner Saturday at the Elks Club prior to their 15th annual meeting.

The merchants, local industries and every home owner depend on this 24 hour service and feel safer because it is available. Whenever the city's fire fighting manpower and equipment is out in the townships this fire protection to the citizenry is put in jeopardy and the taxpayers are being cheated. In his opinion the only answer is fire protection for the rural areas is a county fire department.

Noe commented: "Mr. John is representing the city on the council, but he is not looking out for the interests of the townships. When I leave Manistique it won't be because of him."

Councilman Thor Reque said that all of the county commissioners were representing the county areas, not the city, and said he took exception to remarks from the floor by Anderson and John calling for dismissal of the city manager. Upon his motion, a unanimous vote of confidence in Noe was approved.

City administrative salaries, effective Jan. 1, were approved. They include Department of Public Works Director, $6,665; City Clerk, $7,650; assessor, $6,680, with $4,580 from the city and $2,100 for duties as caretaker at Senior Citizens housing; deputy clerk, $6,330; stenographer, $2,105 hour; and the city manager, $12,000 annually.

Noe reported that a meeting was planned about Jan. 26 with Ken Buckland of Northern Engineers and representatives of the Michigan Waterways Commission regarding the revised harbor development project.

It was also reported that David Neville, of 539 Cherry St., has been hired by the city as a new patrolman, and will start work Jan. 19. He has been employed at Nord's Foodland.

An evening of dancing to the music of the Gorsche Orchestra will follow the meeting. Refreshments will be available at the dance.

Building needs reported to board

A combined remodeling and construction program to centralize the Junior High School and provide separate facilities for the Senior High was proposed to the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education by their Citizens Advisory Committee Tuesday night.

The construction phase would involve a new building to house physical education facilities and other programs not provided for by the remodeling.

New facilities would be aimed at improving physical education, home economics, bookkeeping, industrial arts and vocational program; the music department; library; and centralize the Junior High School program in one location.

The complete report of the committee will be carried in next week's Pioneer-Tribune.

Next members will study the recommendations and utilize the Feb. 24 meeting for discussion. Possible study of continuing work on recommendations of the State Fair Marshal will be done at that time as well.

Next member Leon Wood questioned procedures used in job-jump accounting, and abstained from voting on accepting the monthly financial report. He said he and Trustee William Mueller had met, for three hours Saturday night, studying improper bookkeeping forms that could give the board a better idea of their current financial status.

President Denton Nelson said the board would attempt to review all forms and agree on a financial report to the board that everyone can accept without argument every month.

In other action the board approved payment of sick leave time to John Hanlon to help defray the cost of a post-graduate course; accepted a $5,000 state grant to help pay the salary of the Community School Director, and heard a report that their attorney has decided the Putnam property claim can legally be used for development of a playground north of the Lakeside School.

EXTENSION News Notes

BY HOWARD HANDORF
Consolidated Extension Director
Schoolcraft County

PARTNERS - YOUTH UNDER-21
When is it? Monday evening, Jan. 26, 7:30 p.m., auditorium of Manistique High School. Now that we have the easy part answered, let us go on to "What is it?" It will be an experience which will enable parents and their pre-teens and their teenagers to learn to communicate more effectively. It will help to inform the participants about some of their personal and family methods of communicating so that they can better understand their effectiveness.

WHAT HAPPENS? Every person will be asked to write down three things on a 4 x 6 card. 1. Those things which make him feel closer to his family. 2. Those things which make him feel further apart. 3. Questions and concerns which strengthen his family. You will be asked to share your answers with all members of your family near the end of the meeting. After the comments are written, you will divide into sub-groups of from 5 to 7 by age and sex i.e. fathers, mothers, teenage boys, teenage girls. Each group then works out answers to the same three questions as a group. These answers are written on a large sheet of newspaper which will be taped to the wall of the room for later study. The next step consists of forming simulated families consisting of a mother, father, son and daughter, none of whom are related.

The tasks of these simulated families are to discuss as they see fit the various comments on the newspaper sheets taped to the wall. As a family they will respond to the comments, the ideas, and feelings, raise questions and discuss concerns or common family problem situations.

At the conclusion of this portion of the meeting all simulated families return to the large group at which time the group discussion should enable both generations to share the insights, understandings, questions, and doubts which may be present at this point.

The concluding activities have the participants in their own family group. You will sit back to back and make up individual comments on your 4 x 6 cards before sharing them with the other members of your family. After the cards have been read by all in the family, you will turn your chair around to face one another to discuss whatever seems important to them at the moment.

Dr. Eugene Peisner, Extension Specialist in Family Life from Michigan State University, will be conducting this session. In addition, Ingrid Terovonen, Extension Home Economist, and Donald J. Brown, Area 4-11 Youth Agent, will be assisting you.

See you then!

4-11 LEADERS MEETING:
Next week will disclose the agenda for the 4-11 Leaders Training meeting which will be held at the Manistique High School home economics room 105, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 21.

Ice fishing OK at Refuge
The Seney National Wildlife Refuge will be open for ice fishing and spearing.

This winter, as in past years, the Refuge will be open to fishing and spearing from Jan. 1 through Feb. 28. Access may be gained through the headquarters road or the sub-headquarters road of Germansick and the Driggs River Road located eight miles west of Seney.

Northern pike are found in all the pools and good numbers of muskies are also present. State fishing regulations apply to all ice fishing regulations and to the area. In addition to these, refuge regulations prohibit the use of minnows for fishing. However, any other live bait or artificial lures may be used.

Anyone desiring additional information regarding fishing on Seney Refuge may contact the refuge office located on Highway M-77 between Germansick and Seney.

Mueller cribbage
The Mueller Cribbage Club held their first meeting of 1970 Wednesday, Jan. 7, in the Mueller Township Hall.

High scores for the women were held by Margaret Kerridge with 1177 and low was held by Sandy Price with 1053. Men's high was Eddie Price, 1208, and low was Jack Wickwire, 1029. Serving the lunch were Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Price, Margaret Kerridge and Rolfe Bennett.

BEBA Bill says:
Be sure a passenger doesn't interfere with your ability to drive. If you are convicted of this violation, it means 2 points on your record. The Michigan Vehicle Code says this violation covers: child on the driver's lap; driver's arm around passenger; passenger's arm around driver; too many passengers in the front seat; blocking the driver's view to the right; such as might be caused by a lap belt in the front seat. Non-official stickers on the windshield or in other places where the driver's visibility is impaired also is a violation. Watch that a passenger's conduct doesn't bring you a violation.

Seney holds bird census

For the 11th consecutive year, members of the Seney National Wildlife Refuge staff have participated in the National Audubon Society Christmas Bird Count. This count is conducted at the end of the year throughout the United States. Every bird seen is recorded and the totals are sent to the Audubon Society. The results of all the counts are published in Audubon Field Notes in April.

The Seney Refuge count is conducted within a 15 mile diameter circle centered near refuge headquarters. This year it was conducted on Dec. 23 by Conrad Fjelland and Martin Phillips, of the refuge staff, and Dr. David Rocheleau of Newberry.

A total of 14 different species and 684 individuals were recorded this year; of special interest were the evening grosbeak and state-colored junco which were recorded for the first time this year on Seney's Christmas bird count.

News from Road 437

Hi Folks! It's 20 degrees out on way this morning but it feels a lot colder as a sharp wind is sweeping in from the north. Some fresh snow fell through the night. It's a good four inches or more. It is cloudy, so you may get more of those starchy flakes of falling to add a heavier blanket on the cold earth. Every now and then I hear the wind blowing and if it does snow it surely will drift in open areas. There really isn't anything more beautiful to see than winter in the forest. The snow stays white, and all day on through the night there is a silence there and you can't hear every tree and bush to the finest shrub is dressed in white from the magic touch of winter. In the forest no sign of city life can be seen and the air is fresh and clean. Winter in the forest is a fairyland worth going to. On a walk along some woodland's edge, road you'll find the air filled with the fragrance of the balsam. You may even come across places where deer have stopped to rest. And you can't miss seeing the graceful white birches that reach up ever so high towards the sky. The cedars are there too, and I wonder if it's these trees that birds go for shelter during the night. Yes, winter in the forest is truly a wonder to see. Day is breaking and you can't see the chickens are coming to the feeding table. I enjoy watching the white-breasted nuthatch as he comes creeping down the tree trunk head first for his share. So far he is

Airport use on increase

Use of facilities at Schoolcraft County Airport has more than doubled in the last four years, the annual report of Manager Vern Bernard showed this week. Aircraft using local facilities in 1969 totaled 1,322. This compares with 1,244 in 1968, 758 in 1967, and with 593 in 1966.

The increase came in spite of many flights being cancelled because of weather, particularly during deer season.

There are 10 planes based at the county airport, including one twin-engine aircraft, the report showed.

During 1969 14 pilot ratings were achieved through the Bernard Flight Service at the airport. These included a rating as Instrumental flight instructor rating for Robert Lambert of Escanaba, two commercial ratings, one to James Henriksen of Manistique and the other to Henry Van Brustel of Escanaba, two commercial ratings, one to James Charles Lander and Fran Bernard, all of Manistique; Gordon Gill and James Boyd of Germansia; Charles W. Ryback, Saul Ste, Marie; Roy Keith Montain, Engadine; Keith Montain, Newberry and Wayne Sloven, Escanaba. Bernard's Flight Service is now approved for veterans' aviation training, it was announced.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor: I read seven weekly papers and from the seven, the Waterfront (Missoune), Houghton Lake Reporter and your own Manistique Pioneer-Tribune really have it. I look forward, with great enjoyment, to the contributions of you two which are informative and entertaining. I even enjoy Supt. Wuehle although I am up to my eyeballs with education. Seems they have forgotten to teach students to use their hands while rounding out their square heads. Mrs. Chester Jones, Monroe, Mich.

Library receives 12 new pictures

The Manistique School and Public Library has received 12 new pictures in the series of outstanding art reproductions for rental by library patrons. The collection will be kept for four months and then rotated with a member library of the Mid-Peninsula Library Federation.

New books and records were also exchanged and a new shipment of ten antique books scheduled to arrive this week.

New food stamp program to benefit 300 families

At least 300 families in Schoolcraft County will be eligible for the Food Stamp Program when it goes into effect here, probably around March.

Congressman Philip Ruppe announced last week that increased funding from Congress has made the expansion into this area possible.

This program enables eligible low income families to buy their food purchasing power by investing their own food money in Federal food coupons that are actually worth more than what is paid for them. The coupons are then spent just like cash at retail food stores.

For those eligible the Food Stamp program offers an opportunity to buy enough food to live on income families, an adequate diet and at the same time gives the local food industry the opportunity of taking part in an expanded market for food, Ruppe said in his announcement.

Douglas Hinkson, director of the Schoolcraft County Department of Social Services, also pointed out that the program would replace the surplus food distribution now used in the county. Those persons now on assistance are automatically certified, he said, and those interested in the program may be certified at the local Social Services office if they are eligible.

He explained that under the program, a family of four would pay $72 a month and receive $96 worth of stamps. The stamps will be sold at the State Savings Bank, which will also act as a redemption center for participating merchants.

A meeting is being planned to explain the program to area store owners, who have the option of participating or not. More details will be announced later.

Local Births

Having the full attention of the nurses in the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital nursery this week was a baby girl weighing 7 pounds 9 ounces born Jan. 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hinkson, 103 Aurora Ave. Mrs. Hinkson is the former Barbara LaFolle.

Hospital unit dinner Jan. 26

The Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will hold their annual January dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 26, at the Firestone Inn. A smorgasbord will be featured with tickets available for $2.50 each from Mrs. Dorothy Briggs, phone 341-5701.

The program planned for the evening will be presented by John Vargo, executive vice president of the Bay City Health Camp, entitled "Bay City Story." Musical selections will be presented by Mrs. Theodore Doane, accompanied by sister Colleen.

K-C planning memorial rites

The annual Memorial Service of the Knights of Columbus, Council No. 2026, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the K of C Clubrooms.

An impressive new ritual is planned for the service, which will be followed by the celebration of the Holy Mass by Msgr. F. M. Scheerger in the clubrooms for the intention of all deceased members of the Council. Holy Communion will be distributed at the Memorial Mass.

Wives and families of the deceased members are invited to attend the service, as are the wives of all K of C members.
