Budget may force reductions in staff

The possibility of reducing the teaching staff of the Manistique Area Schools in an effort to reach a balanced budget for the 1970-71 fiscal year was discussed at Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Education.

Supl. Edwin Wuehle said that according to budget estimates as of now, the district will end the year with an $11,000 deficit. There is an additional $20,000 in credits due from Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. that also distorts the district's possible true cash position as of next June 30, it was pointed out.

Wuehle said that the uncertainties of the state school aid bill for next year, coupled with a possible drop of enrollment from 1,972 students to about 1,900, could create a substantial problem for the district, with the possibility of $100,000 less in income than would be received under the formulas used this year.

He asked the board for guidance as to whether or not staff reduction should be considered as one method of balancing the budget, pointing out that the district must notify probationary teachers 60 days before the end of the school year if their contract is not going to be renewed.

Wuehle also agreed, in answer to a question from biology teacher Glenn Bignall, a spectator at the meeting, that the educational quality in the district would suffer from such a reduction.

Staff reduction could be accomplished by eliminating probationary teachers before they reach tenure after two years of teaching; by not replacing those retiring or leaving the district; and by not allowing several staff members to teach beyond the retirement age of 65.

A more complete report on the alternatives will be presented to the board at their next meeting.

Michigan Power's long-time and long-range affiliation with natural gas is on again. This time the overture came from the Michigan Power Co., the firm currently supplying gas to northern and western sectors of the Upper Peninsula.

Michigan Power wants a peek at the dowry, in the form of a market survey of the city "to determine the economic feasibility of bringing gas into the area."

Dhandina said that Manistique was one of 50 local school districts in the United States chosen to be studied. The district was selected upon the recommendation of the State Department of Education, and is the only one in the Upper Peninsula to be chosen.

Copies of the revised plan have also been sent to the Michigan Waterways Commission for their approval, and will be sent to the Department of Natural Resources as well as the City Recreation Commission that their request for funds totaling $22,524 for development of the Central Park area under the original Quality Recreation bonding program has been approved by the DNR and sent to the Legislature for approval.

Young JV's lose by four

With the Junior Varsity first string squad held back from action because of the Great Lakes Conference tournament, the second stringers came up with a great effort against Rudyard last Saturday night, only to lose in the closing moments, 64-60.

The young Emeralds were down 36-28 at the half and 48-43 after three quarters, but took the lead at 52-50 in the final period, and again at 56-54 with less than three minutes to play. Rudyard came back with six straight points to lead 60-56, saw this cut to two points at 62-60 then put it away with five seconds left on the rebound of a missed free throw.

Allie Pulvin led the Emeralds scoring with 20 points and also had 15 rebounds. Neil Hubble and Dan McDonough were in double figures with 12 and 13 points, while freshman Mike Green had eight and also collected a dozen rebounds. Ken Golat turned in another outstanding defensive effort.

A good investment

INVESTMENTS IN STOCKS AND BONDS have been taking a beating for the past several months on the major stock exchanges across the country, which again is proof that the stock market goes down as well as up.

There is another kind of investment, however, that in the past several years has steadily increased in value, making the citizens of Schoolcraft County richer by the day.

Impossible, you say? We're prepared to argue the question from either the abstract or the pragmatic, practical point of view.

To relieve your curiosity, we're talking about our investment in education, and what it means to the community.

Idealistically, it means opportunities for our youngsters and the training that will enable them to find their way in an increasingly complex world. It means giving every child a chance—a noble aspiration that should be difficult to fault. There may be differences about the means, but certainly not the end.

But let's set that point aside for the moment. Let's be practical about this. What is the taxpayer getting for his dollar, and why should he be expected to continue the operating millage at Friday's special school election? Is this, too, a good investment?

Consider these figures:

In 1969 Manistique Area Schools taxpayers paid a total of $460,000 in ad valorem property taxes during the calendar year that went to the schools.

Also in 1969, the Manistique Area Schools paid out in wages to 284 different people a total of $938,000.

To put it simply, for every dollar paid into the school district in property taxes, more than two dollars was returned directly to individuals in wages.

Two for one is a good investment in any market.

Or consider these figures:

The estimated total revenue for the district—from all sources—during the 1969-70 school fiscal year will be $1,404,500. Most of this will be spent locally. As we just mentioned, more than $900,000 will go for wages. The balance, covering heat, fuel, supplies and similar expenses, is spent for the most part in Schoolcraft County.

To compare again, this means that for every dollar paid into the school district in property taxes, more than three dollars is returned directly to the community.

Again, three for one is a good investment in any market.

When you're talking schools, who are you talking about? First, of course, would be the 1,972 students in the district. Secondly, add in the 284 people who received wages of some type from the district during the year. Your total should be 2,256 people, and if the 1970 population estimate for this county of 7,900 persons is correct, it means that more than one person in four has a direct and personal stake in our school district's operations. We're not counting the parents, or the businessmen who sell to the school, or the hundreds of persons who have become involved in Community School activities. We're just talking kids and payroll.

Consider these things Friday when the time comes for you to cast your ballot. Consider what your school has done and is doing for this community, and what it can continue to do if it continues to receive support.

The school is not asking for more money, but simply the same amount it's been receiving in the past.

Considering the value received, we think it's a good investment.

Rutabaga round-up

Plans were announced this week for the first annual Upper Inwood Rutabaga Festival and Drill Team Competition.

Helmut C. Tuscavaara, owner of the Aragon Ballroom in Steuben and general chairman for the gala event, said preliminary indications were that this would be the "best celebration ever" including the 1938 Gitchee Bird and Spruce Hen Shoot won by Mickey Rooney.

(That 1938 event, by the way, was designed to provide a boost to the Upper Inwood economy in the midst of the slump caused by the Great Rutabaga Famine of 1932. This year's event will hopefully ease the economic sting of the Jack Pine Red Budworm infestation that has all but shut down logging in the area. Because the Jack Pine Red Budworm appears in rhythmic cycles, a governmental expert on logarithms has been given an $87,972 grant to study the situation. A portion of this grant will be used to pay the accordion player for the Rutabaga Festival.)

A highlight of the festival this year will be a fashion show with a Middle Eastern theme, Tuscavaara said. This will include a pageant depicting King Farouk being barged down the Nile. Present plans call for George Romney to play the role of Farouk, and he will cruise down the Indian River in Henry Ostvold's fishing boat, attended by six exotic Oriental dancing girls chosen from the membership of the Order of Runeberg, who will wave cedar boughs and sing choruses of "On Wisconsin," the Greek national anthem and "Just a Closer Walk With Thee."

As the barge nears, the Steuben bridge a fireworks display is planned, followed by a life-saving demonstration by Troop 400 of the Boy Scouts who will rescue Romney and the dancing girls after they shoot the rapids under the bridge. It is hoped they will rescue them, anyway. Tuscavaara said there would probably be only one performance of the pageant, and predicted that choice seats along the riverbank would go for as high as $5 each.

Those unable to watch the spectacular in person will probably be able to view it on Channel 6 television total news coverage five days later.

Another special feature being planned is the rutabaga pie eating contest, but Tuscavaara admitted this week that he is having problems with this event. "Nobody knows how to make rutabaga pies, he complained, and he hasn't been able to find any contestants willing to eat them if they do get baked.

He said he may have to substitute a pasty pitching contest. This was a popular feature in the 1938 Gitchee Bird and Spruce Hen Shoot, when George Eriksen threw a 10-ounce pasty 176 feet, three and a half inches. Contestants are disqualified if your crust bursts open when landing and Methodist Ladies Aid members have discovered that mixing salt-rising dough with Silly Putty and using only AAA grade rutabagas will produce a pasty strong enough and resilient enough to make a soft landing when dropped from the top of the Charcoal Iron Works smokestack. The Ladies Aid has been awarded the exclusive pasty franchise for the entire festival, while Tuscavaara said he will help meet his own expenses by handling the antacid concession.

Still another feature will be snowmobile slalom-cross country race from Steuben to the Jack Pine Bar along the Haywire Railroad right-of-way, but details of this event are still unclear, as the tentative date for the festival has been pegged for mid-July. An early thaw would also ruin plans for the snowshoe relay race between the Jack Pine and Peterson's Bar at Thunder Lake.

Other events tentatively planned include a close-order exhibition by the Knights of Pearl Street Drill Team in the parking lot of the Aragon Ballroom; a sugar beet scramble in the picnic area at the Little Murphy Lake campground; a County Extension display of rust-resistant rutabagas; a demonstration of free form ballet and acrobatics by the Germask Senior Citizens Club; card tricks, juggling and country-western selections by State Representative Charles Varnum and an installation of officers by the Baraga Brotherhood ritual team.

It is easy to see from all this why excitement is running high in the North Country. There hasn't been this much enthusiasm since the Ann Arbor railroad ferry rolled over in the Manistique harbor lack in 1912.

It sure beats standing on the main corner watching the time and temperature clock on the First National Bank, or loafing around the barber shop watching a few haircuts.

ODDS AND ENDS

Those of you who read this column regularly know that the scraps, bits and pieces which are filed away for future columns that never get written, find their way into a conglomeration of "Odds and Ends." Here's the latest batch.

Joe Ryder from Flint talking about Big Brothers--"We cannot expect a person to give what he doesn't have, anymore than a person can come from where he hasn't been." Also Joe Ryder -- "It's good to run an organization, but it's better to sense the needs of the community and do something about them."

The lower elementary class of a Midwestern school produced these gems of safety wisdom:

- "Safety is what saves iodine."
- "Safety is not being on the same spot that a car is on."
- "Hygiene is to keep healthy on the inside, while safety is to keep healthy on the outside."
- Senator Hughes from Iowa -- "The difference between being a governor and a senator is simple. When you are a governor you make a decision, you give people orders, and they carry them out. When you are a senator, you make a decision and you talk about it for two years."
- From the W. J. Maxey Boys' Training School at Whitmore

Lake -- "Ever taken a ride in a sheen? Hosted a party in your crib? Bought new threads and kicks? Kissed the cook? Admired a hippy-dippy fox? The answer is "Yes" is you have ever ridden in an automobile, hosted a party at your home, bought new clothes and shoes, kissed your mother, or admired an intelligent woman."

Family Living

BY INGRID TERVONEN

Extension Home Economist

YOUR HOME atmosphere molds personalities. Mothers and fathers set the tone of the home. If parents are happy, the children are likely to be happy and secure. Angry quarreling, bickering and name calling between parents worries and upsets children. Some homes are filled with love and laughter, affection and understanding. In others, members quarrel, grow angry and develop misunderstandings. This does not mean you do not have disagreements. Every family has them and all of us need to express anger at times. Instead of trying to hide our irritation, we need to express it openly but effectively. We can get our point across and then let the anger subside. Describe how you feel but do not attack the person.

HOW CAN WE LEARN to be more understanding? Extension Homemakers study groups will be doing that this month. We had originally planned the meeting for Feb. 12, but because of an unavoidable conflict, the date has been changed to Feb. 17. Arrangements for time and place are being made and will be given in my column next week.

Kits of study materials will be used. One is planned to help parents with young children, another to help parents of teenagers, and a third is called "A View from the 45th Floor," for those who are older.

I'm sure many groups - this includes groups other than organized Extension Study groups - will want to use all three of the kits at some time during the year. Even if we're older, we have close relationships with young children and with teenagers. The study material and reference suggestions will help us understand not only others but ourselves as well.

The kits will be available through the Extension office and can be borrowed for use at meetings or coffee groups, then returned to the office, ready to be used by another interested group.

THINKING ABOUT purchasing carpeting? We have a pamphlet that may help you, "A Guide to Selecting Carpets." The bulletin gives comparative performance of carpet fibers, what to consider before you shop and what to look for at the store. Call or write to us and we'll be glad to send you a copy.

HOW SAFE IS YOUR HOME?
No. 1

The group of people who started the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults deserve our praise and thanks. By their efforts, the less fortunate are enjoying a better life. Their programs have helped in alleviating the stigma and superstitions associated with physical impairments. In 1968 the Easter Seal Society joined the National Safety Council in launching a safety campaign aimed at eliminating hazards in the home.

Twice as many disabling injuries occur at home than on our highways. In 1968 more than 4-1/2 million people were injured at home; over 30,000 of whom died, many in preventable accidents. Approximately 130,000 suffered some form of permanent damage; a great number of them will ask the society for help.

Every Man a Philosopher

Everybody holds some view about life and its meaning. Whatever confronts us in our daily round is the substance out of which we weave our "philosophy of life."

But merely to have an isolated thought or an opinion does not help us find a foundation on which to base our entire lives. We need encouragement and guidance.

The message of the Church has been, through the ages, concerned primarily with the deeper meaning of life. It lends wisdom to those who are striving to relate themselves to the total pattern and purpose of human existence. It helps us maintain a reasonable stability amid the flux of human endeavor and events. It helps us relate the totality of all that has been, is now and ever shall be.

Let the Church help you weave these golden threads into the finished fabric of life.

"OUT OUR WAY"

News From Road 437

Hi Folks!

So far February has proven to be the coldest month by some of the cold days it gave us. Several days the readings were below and I mean below 32 degrees. Even my feathered friends didn't get to the feeding tables as early as they usually do, it was just too cold to fly out into the open. By the middle of the morning as it began to warm up snowflakes began to fall. All throughout the day they fell, at times they looked like oodles of confetti falling. They were large, small and all the way to very tiny. At times they would slow down and fall ever so gently, it reminded me of our Christmas Eve snowfall. Soon the wind began to blow and it sure would howl as it came around the corner of the house. We were sort of snowed in for a time but Thursday the plow came through and also a beautiful day. So winter is good blizzards, followed by a cold silence that usually always follows a good snowfall.

Huge icicles have formed down from the roof tops. They keep the Boss busy getting them down plus cleaning snow off of the roofs. Yes, winter takes the beauty out of autumn, making the trees bare and all of nature is put to sleep. Even the rising and setting sun seems cold and if the moon chances to shine it even has a frosty air about it. Winter is silent, at times stormy and blustery, but it does have its beauty that is seen out our way no matter where I look.

Thursday brings us a great man's birthday, Abraham Lincoln. A man who never hated anyone and never wanted revenge. If people could live and believe like he did there would be peace in this world.

Saturday is Valentine's Day Cupid will be busy touching hearts of the very young to stir up romance. To the older folks he will renew memories.

The bare trees are frosted this morning. They sparkle and glisten like diamonds on mi-lady's finger. My word for this scene is magnificent.

The Boss and I enjoyed an evening out. We went to the Harold Mickelsons for dinner and a game of cards. Other guests were Ellen Gilland, Slim Stoor, Leda Gillespi, Ole Olsen, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilhard Garvin. The evening was enjoyed by all.

Echoes of birthday greetings go out to Irene Hinkson, Christine Heironymus, Joel Carley, James Hardy and Lawrence Sal-lie.

Anniversary wishes go out to the Joe Markhams. The Markhams were wed on Valentine's Day. I believe Saturday will be 55 years.

To each of you, may your day be one of complete happiness.

Until next week, stay healthy and happy.
