Ecology issues now face Council

Ecology and environment are the magic words in governmental and political circles these days.

Their practical application came under some careful study and discussion Monday night when county and state health department representatives appeared to discuss an old city well, the city's dump problem, and the old but still unsolved question of what to do about the Weston Ave. area and its face of sanitary sewers.

Boyd Briggs, sanitarian for the Alger - Schoolcraft Health Department, and Donald Vester, from the State Department of Health in Escanaba, appeared before Council to pose the questions.

The well in question, located by the old water tower now used by the Chamber of Commerce, was drilled about 25 years ago, and abandoned when the casing of the drill pipe broke and could not be re-logged. The old well could be plugged or filled, but Councilman Leo DeMars indicated he wanted a study on the well and the water potential before an definite action was taken.

A state representative will be at the next meeting to review the question.

A sanitary landfill operation will probably be required for the city dump, Briggs indicated. The city started in that direction several years ago, with regular filling by bulldozer and a dump attended plus regular dump hours. Public pressure for an "open" dump, however, has modified this operation. The bulldozer now covers the dumping area about once a week, the dump is not locked at night, and garbage is burned regularly.

Townships are also going to have to face up to more severe dumping regulations, Briggs indicated.

Pick Barber for Council

City Council returned to full strength Monday night as they named local businessman Daniel C. Barber to fill the remaining two years of the term of William Wedogaters, who retired effective May 1.

Barber ran third in the April 6 biennial election when four candidates vied for two vacancies on the Council. Mayor Douglas Rose and incumbent Thor Reuge were the winners, with Barber third and Raymond Kusis fourth.

He is past president of the Manistique Jaycees, a member of the Knights of Columbus, and retail promotion chairman for the Manistique Area Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Rose also made two other appointments during Monday night's regular meeting. William Wright, operator of LaPoille's Malt Shop, was named to the Urban Renewal Commission, replacing William Wedogaters, Sr., who has resigned. Wright resides at Intake Park, but his business is located within the boundaries of the Urban Renewal District.

Mrs. Dino Pirolo, 511 Main St., was appointed to the Library Commission, replacing the late Mrs. J. J. Herbert,

School Board has busy session Tuesday night

It took more than four hours, but the Manistique Area Board of Education covered a lot of territory in their meeting Tuesday night at the Doyle school.

The decision to advertise for the school bids on the old, written, sealed bids on the old, regular June meeting was unanimously approved after a lengthy discussion regarding the bus garage and easement.

A rapid exchange took place between board members Leon Wood, Mrs. Margaret Waters, President Denton Nelson and Supt. Edwin Wuehle on the matter of auditors and Wood's recently announced "apology" came before the board. Wood reiterated his statements of previous meetings that the auditors did not comply with the state law in their report, that the meetings cannot get a fair hearing in the paper with the $10,000 contract the school has with Peninsula Information Services and "maybe we should ask the bookkeeper her qualifications."

Nelson stated "I still feel we are owed an apology for the insinuations you made a year ago about our dishonesty. In a year you have not come up with one extra dime that we can spend or one dime that has been mispent." Wood answered that some figures were not on the proper page of the audit, upon questioning by Mrs. Waters he admitted they were in the report, however, Mrs. Waters further stated, "We have set meeting and set meeting with you over the past six months at the school with the school ledgers at hand to answer and explain and you never show up." Wood replied, "I've been working overtime. Just check the records where I work." Mrs. Margaret Callahan, school bookkeeper, stated, "Why have you not come in and looked at them? I have offered to come in nights, Saturdays, Sundays, any time, and you don't say."

Robert Knopf interjected a complaint about being denied payroll records, explaining that he couldn't get in during the day and had left a message with someone at noon requesting the figures for a meeting that night. Robert Kanerwa, business manager, stated that there must have been a breakdown in communication. Mr. Knopf said, "I'd be right there! When I talked to you that evening you had heard about it and you said you could not attend the meeting and would not have the records there." Kanerwa said, "I don't remember saying that."

Board member Ralph Gillam brought the discussion to a close by moving the hiring of the first of Schneider, Larche and Haspla of Escanaba and Manistique as auditors. It was unanimously accepted.

The offer of WTQ to broadcast meetings was also unanimously passed. The public relations policy of the board was accepted by a vote of 5 - 2 with Wood and Knopf voting no. No specified financial support was involved in the general policy.

Following a brief discussion on renovation costs, it was unanimously decided to re-open the Mueller school. Continued support of Manistique's participation in the Bay de Noc vocational education program also received full support.

A discussion of reimbursing the school back for the athletic deficit of $3,800 also brought some dissent. Mr. Wood requested details of the years of the deficit. The board passed the motion to reimburse the school back with Knopf and Wood voting no.

MOB SCENE---The starter's gun barks, and 25 hopefuls crowded around the starting line take off in the mile run at the Great Lakes Conference track and field meet here Saturday. It wasn't quite so crowded four laps later at the finish line.

Two more candidates met the Monday deadline for filing petitions to the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education, bringing to five the number of hopefuls for the seats at stake in the June 8 election.

Kelly is a member of the Manistique Rotary Club, served for two years as president of the Top O'Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Community School Advisory Board.

Senior development... or drinking fund?

Boys occupied almost an entire hour of the school board meeting Tuesday night at the Doyle school. The boys' association is planning the policy of class funds, and the boys attending were Steve Mike Gierke, Richard Terry Schultz, Bill and Tony DuFour. The group wanted to know if there is no class fund, why we can't use our money to take money that we earned at the school and why we have to get the advisors sign every school Principal Mar-

The Alger - Schoolcraft Health Department has announced plans are being made to hold a Topical Fluoride Program for rural children this summer.
Students in rural schools in kindergarten, second, fifth and eighth grade will be offered the service which includes a dental inspection, a cleansing of the teeth, and four applications of fluoride solution to the teeth. Four dental appointments are needed to complete the treatment and these age groups are chosen because it is at these various growth levels that newly erupting teeth should be protected.

PHIL HARTMAN
Award won by Hartman

Donald Lawrence, program coordinator of the Mott Foundation of Flint, Mich., has announced the awarding of a Mott Fellowship in the past year to Phil Hartman of Manistique.

Phil is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hartman of Cooks High School graduates.

Each year the Mott Foundation and seven cooperating Michigan universities offer a total of 72 fellowships in Community Leadership.

Applicants who have demonstrated leadership ability in various roles in education and have an interest in community education. Approximately 750 applicants apply and a Master's list follows.

Mott Fellows are required to visit Flint and devote the fall year to the program. The program combines intensive academic study with field work in community problems in major areas of student interest.

New device available soon 4-H awards are given

Ronald Patrick, audio-visual coordinator for the Manistique Area Schools, is looking forward to this fall when a new electronic video recording device will become available to schools.

Patrick installed the system while attending a Department of Audio-Visual Instruction convention April 27-May 1 at the Hall in Detroit.

The new system "stores" TV pictures with sound for playback at any time through a standard TV set. It is as simple to use as a tape recorder, and offers an entirely new dimension in telecommunication," said Patrick. He reported that it will soon be possible to get most films and many of the education-oriented TV programs on cartridges, and that programs will be available in both color and black and white. The recorders will sell for about $700, he estimated, and a 30-minute black and white cartridge for about $15.

$10,000 won by Guertin

Gerald B. Guertin, 52, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Guertin of Garden, and a former Manistique resident, is richer by $10,000 in U. S. savings bonds as a result of his idea of eliminating a die trim operation. He was awarded the maximum amount under the GM Suggestion Plan.

Guertin is a die maker apprentice at the Chevrolet Metal Fabricating Plant in Flint. His suggestion was to eliminate the second trim stage on a die trimming operation on a hood panel. The trimming is now accomplished by a modification allowing GM to fulfill their bond contract. This had been impossible until now, as they could not turn the hoods out fast enough.

The change was not small one and it was completely worked out and proven to be the answer to GM's problems by Guertin himself.

Guertin was graduated from Cooks High School and attended Northern Michigan University. He was formerly employed by Inland Lime and Stone

Article cites area students

Students at the Lakeside School were featured in the April 8 issue of the Senior Weekly Reader, a nationally circulated publication for elementary students.

They were cited in the "Citizens in Action" section of the paper, along with area store owner Barney Johnson. Beneath a picture of the students and Johnson were the captions, "Students of Lakeside School in Manistique, Michigan salute grocery store owner Barney Johnson. Mr. Johnson was thanked for many years of patience with children."

The section regularly features students and schools who have participated in some worthwhile civic activity.

Driver cited in accident

Karl Allen Krepps, 23, Sell's Woods, Curtis, was ticketed by Public Safety Officers Friday on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol following an accident involving three other cars.

City officers reported that Krepps traveling north on Cedar St., struck parked cars owned by Leroy R. Ekblad, Gulliver; Robert J. Wood, 210 Arbutus and Howard Shampine, 644 Park Ave. According to police, he then left the scene, headed east on Oak St. where he hit and broke a light pole near the corner of Oak and Range Sts. His automobile continued about 200 feet from the pole before stopping. The cars were extensively damaged.

In District Court Monday Krepps pleaded guilty to the drunk driving charge, but stood mute on a charge of failure to report a property damage accident. He posted $50 bond, and sentencing is set for May 21.

A collision Monday at 3:40 p.m. was reported by Public Safety Officers between cars driven by Mary M. Cockran, 16 of 603 Oak St. and Vern F. Chase, 18, Box 81, Manistiquette. Miss Cockran, driving a car owned by Guera Frenette of Gulliver, reported to police that the car brakes failed when applied as she approached Arbutus on Range St. She was ticketed for defective brakes.

A two car accident at 8:30 p.m. Friday was also reported by city officers. No tickets were issued when cars driven by David P. Anderson, 19, of Box 445 and Irene Hinkson, 71, of 226 N. Houghton Ave. collided when the Hinkson vehicle was attempting to make a right turn into a driveway.

licity, it was realized that the group did not have official recognition from the school. He pointed out that the signature of teacher Lowell Cooper had been forged to obtain an announcement at school.

"Terry Schultz stated that 'We read the student council and it gave unanimous approval of the group having a carnival booth at school. Mrs. (Cooper) booted us out with no reason, just the seniors. It should have been the whole council.'

Supt. Edwin Wuehle stated, 'You may use the money in any way, as long as it goes through regular approved channels. Board member Margaret serving on the U.S. Navy said she had no sponsor you were going against school policy.'

An exchange between Schultz and Mrs. Waters cleared up several questions. Mrs. Schultz: 'The Senior Development Fund or Drinking Fund involves about $40.' Mrs. Waters: 'Are you the leader?' Schultz: 'I'm not the leader.' Mrs. Waters: 'Is there a leader?' Schultz: 'There is no leader.' Mrs. Waters: 'How many members are in the group?' Schultz and Edwards: 'About 100 members.' Mrs. Waters: 'Well, with no sponsor you have gone against school policy.' Schultz: 'We have been threatened with legal action for the money and I don't see why.' Supt. Wuehle interjected here: 'I told you in confidence but since you don't seem to want to keep it that way I will explain that I told you that I would sign a personal complaint to recover the money because I spent money at the carnival under false pretenses. It had nothing to do with the school or board action.'

Board President Denton Nelson stated, 'You should or can have a club not connected with the school. That's okay. If fund raising projects are held in the school it has to comply with school policy.'

Robert Knapf suggested a board committee to meet with the group. The motion passed with members Bobb Gilliam and Jean Larson voting yes. Volunteers to the committee were Mrs. Waters, Knapf and Leon Wood. Schultz requested a meeting with Wuehle on Wednesday.

auxiliary agencies also. The board decided to contact the insurance agent following a discussion of insurance coverage. A brief discussion of North Central accreditation was held and the matter of an additional guidance counselor was brought up.

Problems at Lincoln School in connection with the railroad crossing, additional funding for much parking lot were discussed. Phil Hiskita described the plans to the board. President Nelson said they would try to work on the crossing and fencing. Maintenance Superintendent Joe Wood stated that the muddy condition of the parking lot would be taken care of in the next few days.

A one year leave of absence was granted to Mrs. Ruth England, Mrs. England plans to work for the Intermediate District next year. John Salamun of Bay City was approved as a high school English teacher to replace Miss Evelyn Roter who is retiring. Supt. Wuehle reported National Defense Education Act funds in the amount of $78,000 had been approved and materials had been approved for science, English, audio-visual, English, vocational departments. A brief discussion on financial procedure and acceptance of five copies of the end of the meeting. Coffee and crockets were served at 10 o'clock by the personnel.

Tests conducted by the National Safety Council on a three course have disclosed conventional snow tires only a small improvement in pulling ability as compared to regular tires, and reducing tire skid develop about 20 times the pull of regular tires. Regardless of the type of tire device employed, however, the Michigan State Safety Council remains moderately high speeds on international pavements can end in disaster.

dictated, stating that U.S. Forest Service regulations now prohibit operations of an 'open' dump on Federal lands, where many of the township dumps are located.

The possibility of a joint operation, such as between Hiawatha Township and the city, was posed. A county Department of Public Works to handle such a problem is also a possibility.

'Such landfill operations, of course, pose the problem of added cost of operation, and collection of dumps and cooperation between governmental units was cited as one way to share the burden.'

City Manager Robert Kue was asked to present a report of the dump question, including the possibility of eventually moving to a new site.

The Weston Ave. problem was once again reviewed. There is no sanitary sewer to service the homes in the area, and the contractor forfeited a performance bond during construction of the west end treatment plant 10 years ago rather than attempt to build a workable lift pump station. Health Department officials claim that sewage from overloaded tile fields in the area drain sewage into Weston Creek which empties into the Manistiquette River.

The city several years ago investigated the possibility of moving the homes to new locations, and came up with a cost figure of $22,000 just to move 12 homes. This did not include the cost of new lots or new foundations, simply the moving of the buildings.

Briggs suggested the possibility of still another meeting with home owners in the area, to point out their responsibility as well as that of the city. It was indicated that both the city and the homeowners will probably have to eventually share in any cost of relocation.

In other action, Council heard a petition from 13 persons on Bear St. between Houghton and Alger, seeking sealing-off of toping in that section. No indication that reports to him have said that much underlying the road would make paving too expensive, and that sealing-off would not provide a permanent answer.

The street is not among those scheduled for improvement this year, it was indicated, and any permanent improvement would probably have to wait until funds were available. The question of still another meeting, however, and soil samples will be taken of the road's base, in other action.

Council gave preliminary approval to the bid of Arvid Carlson of $400 for a lot on Michigan Ave. Set May 25 at 7:30 as the time and place for the city's annual budget hearing.

Approving the dangerous building ordinance on a house in the second block of N. Third St., recently purchased by Harold McNamara and furnished with a permit, and granted a 90-day extension to the Soo Line Railroad on the demolition of their warehouse on N. Mackinac St.

Proper dissent

THE TRAGIC DEATHS of four Kent State University students seem to pose more questions than there are available solutions.

An argument can be made that the tragedy was inevitable. Sooner or later, when force meets force, when violence answers violence, when loaded guns are at hand, there will be shooting. Someone will pull the trigger, and to argue whether the action comes from fright or anger is academic.

The deaths should have had a sobering effect on both sides of the communications-credibility-generation gap, but instead there seems only to be further division and an obsession to fix the blame and nail the culprit.

Assigning the blame is hopeless, of course, for like it or not, we should accent the fact that both sides are responsible to some degree. At Kent State arsonists had burned down the ROTC building several nights earlier. The mob had gathered in defiance of a ban on group meetings, and there is no argument that they were pelting the Guardsmen with rocks. Who is to determine where the mob ends and spectators begin? At the same time there seems to be ample evidence that Guardsmen fired their live rounds, without advance warning, into the heart of the crowd—not over their heads or at their feet.

Naturally there is sympathy for the bereaved parents and friends of the dead students. There should also be sympathy for the much-maligned Guardsmen who had no choice about being on the scene, and who will have to live with the memory of their killing.

Violence breeds violence, the President has told us, and his Vice President has described campus dissenters as paranoids. This is hardly casting oil on troubled waters. Repression and frustration also breed violence, and whatever happened to the campaign cry of "Bring us Together?"

Our state legislature has not distinguished itself in its approach to the problem. Their immediate response was passage of a bill prescribing a 30-day jail term or $500 fine for those who violate campus rules or refuse to leave when ordered off a campus, if there is danger of damage or injury. Passage of such legislation assumes that existing laws are not adequate—which is untrue—and simply offers a new avenue of control and repression that will stimulate further disorders and subsequent violence.

College administrators have adequate powers of suspension and expulsion—if they choose to use them. Civil authorities have adequate laws dealing with disturbing the peace, inciting riots, vandalism and obscenities—if they choose to use them. Parents have the effective option of refusing financial support if their student youngsters choose violence rather than established channels of protest.

Even with such controls as these there is ample latitude for effective dissent and continuing dialogue regarding the need for change.

There is always the temptation, during times of trouble and riots and demonstrations and sit-ins, to seek what seems the easy answer of repression and control. The youngsters of today, however, disillusioned by our stupidity in Vietnam and Cambodia and fed up with the hypocrisy of government, are not inclined to meekly submit to such control.

We should remember that not all dissenters are anarchists and revolutionaries. Proper dissent is a cherished freedom of long standing. When that right to proper dissent disappears, then our country will be in even more serious trouble than it is now.

Funny strange

It's funny (strange) about the sad state of the funny (ha ha) business today.

Admitting that these are perilous times, and that much of what we have to face during our daily routine has little of the humorous about it, there is still a dearth of funny people and funny writing.

My own private theory is that much of our current trouble springs from our collective dourness; that prevents us from laughing at ourselves and our shortcomings.

We seem to be unable to find humor in anything anymore, and if things are that bad, we're in trouble.

Where do you find humorists today? You can count the really funny people on the fingers of your hands.

Bill Cosby is probably the funniest man available to the large majority of the public. He is very funny, consistently funny, and his fun is not confined to racial or ethnic bases and is always in good taste. There is even some subtle moralizing in his humor--a constructive guffaw, as it were, from time to time.

Jonathan Winters is also a very funny man, but unfortunately Uncle Jommy and Maudie Frickert don't have much opportunity these days to provide people with a few laughs.

Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In on NBC Monday nights is a pretty zany affair. It appeals to the young because it is topical, and they depend heavily on social and political satire for much of their material. It is contemporary, and I suspect it appeals more to the younger members of the family than the middle-aged or Senior Citizens. This is unfortunate because it indicates that our much-cited Silent Majority is generally a pretty glum lot.

I'm afraid I can't get very enthusiastic about such old-timers as Jackie Gleason and Lucille Ball or Milton Berle. Their fans will cheerfully overlook the fact that they have long ago exhausted their material and rely almost exclusively today on stock situations and the characterized responses that are their stock in trade.

Even worse, however, are those television staples, the situation comedy and the quiz show. The situation comedy has evolved from a recurring series wherein father was a bumbling boob and the kids all made smart remarks, to a new format where father is a widower who carries on a sterile relationship with a neighboring widow or hires a shapely governess to look after the kids who still continue to make smart remarks. The so-called quiz shows are neither quizzes nor are they funny, but an absurd media-inflicted voyeurism that combines the worst of taste with the lowest possible budget.

So much for the entertainers, if you want to call them that. (I have not even bothered to mention stand-up comedians who deliver one-line jokes about their ugly mother-in-law and/or their ugly wife, as they do not fit my definition of humor.)

Little has been heard in recent years from that peculiarly American literary genius, H. Allen Smith, who could be funnier accidentally than most writers could on purpose. When he's funny on purpose there's no matching him. Robert Benchley and James Thurber are now examined as almost extinct specimens by American Literature classes. Goodman Ace has tapered off to where he's only writing a weekly column for the Saturday Review.

Literature's sole survivor of humor Americanus seems to be Art Buchwald and his demolishing satire, but it is extremely depressing to meet so many people in casual conversation who seem to take Buchwald seriously and try to classify him somewhere between John Chamberlain and Walter Lippman.

The last I heard P. G. Woodhouse was still around turning out stories about Jeeves and Bertie Wooster, but English humor seems to have a limited acceptance in this country.

All is not lost, however. Bud Guest can still bring a smile with his Sunny Side of the Street program on WJL. My friend Jim Fitzgerald of Lapeer is gaining a wide audience through syndication of his weekly column. Richard Dorothy of the Otsego Union can collapse you whenever he feels like writing a column, which isn't often enough. Bob Silbar of the Fenton Independent, Jack Hoffman at Northville, Jim Sherman at Oxford and Fil Racette at Paw Paw can bring smiles and chuckles, and of course Judd Arnett at the Free Press will delve into whimsy from time to time.

I know there are others that I have missed, but by and large the laughs are few and far between.

Sure is funny. Funny strange, not funny ha ha.

SOME OBSERVATIONS FROM PLYMOUTH

James Rossman is the superintendent of one of the fastest-growing districts in Michigan--Plymouth. His community recently approved 25 million dollars within 18 months to build new school facilities. Although he is engrossed in the usual problems of buildings, budget, and negotiations, he still has time to think about students, teaching, and learning. Recently at a meeting in Rapid River, he shared his thoughts and concerns.

"We should sort out the students who will learn without us and then have teachers spend their time with those who really need them."

"Anyone who teaches should ask himself before each lesson, 'How does a child learn?'"

"We should spend our time helping parents to teach and helping children to teach each other."

"There is evidence to indicate that a child learns as he teaches someone else."

"Let us make copying legitimate and let's talk about team learning as well as team-teaching."

"We must develop educational goals which are measurable, and then hold ourselves accountable for them."

"We should inventory all of the children in every building and know which ones need special help, which ones are gifted or have special talents, and which ones come from broken homes."

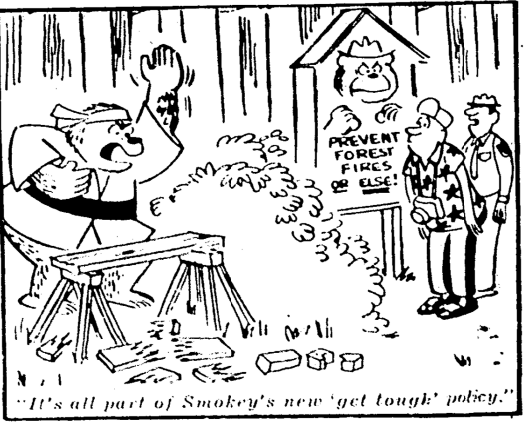

One of Jim's gravest concerns is the tendency to build strong departments -- departments of special education, vocational education, speech, science, and social studies-- and then find that the members are talking only to the other people in their departments.

"We have to find ways to cross over. The tremendous struggle for strong departmentalization leads to isolation."

The Plymouth School District had a 19 day teacher strike last fall. Jim's most pointed comment on the experience was, "We must guard against negotiating clauses into contracts which are bad for students."

Although Mr. Rossman practices his school administration in a setting quite different from ours, his generalizations and principles are as true in Manistique as they are in Plymouth.

"It's all part of Smokey's new 'get tough' policy."

Eddie and Jake have been buddies since they could toddle. Together they hiked, fished, argued and leap-frogged the years away.
If they weren't at our house, they were at Eddie's. Sundays, Eddie came along to church with us.

They did everything together, dated, played football, went to college. When they joined the Army, they went together.

Jake is coming home next week, but not Eddie. His mother brought his last letter over today. We cried together.

"Dear Mom," Eddie wrote, "Things are pretty bad. I'm glad Jake is here. We talk about home, about God, too. I know you and Dad never cared about church and all, but I think you'll be glad to know I've learned a lot about God from Jake. Whatever happens, I feel close to Him. I'm not scared."

Faith in God is your child's heritage. Take him to church today.

News Notes

Howard H. Handorf
County Extension Director

ACHIEVEMENT DAY continued: We apologize to Susanne Williamson for having listed her as Susanne Williams, a Blue Ribbon winner in Conservation. Many thanks to Mabel Patz for helping us wind up her daughter's clothing project club and also for helping us with some of the detail work which is involved in Achievement Day.

I would like to thank Dave Kelly of Radio Station WTIQ for personally assisting with the taping of the music that was used at County Achievement Day.

Thanks to Jim and Dave for a good job spread out over the last three or four editions. I have received some favorable public comments on the publicity which was provided for County 4-H Achievement Day.

PEOPLE ARE ILLEGAL DEPARTMENT: Friday night I went fishing out at Thompson. I put my spawn bag a reasonable distance out in the lake, propped up the rod and meandered back to the creek to see what fish had come in. I saw a beautiful steelhead of approximately 24 to 28 inches length slip over the logs and up into the enclosure. I also saw four or five other trout having a good time trying to get up stream, so I went back to my fishing for another hour or so watching the big lake and unwinding. Along came somebody, I do not know who as yet, (he was from town,) tosses out a spawn bag and proceeds to go up stream and proceeds to dip net two of the steelhead, I thought possibly that he was just curious and was going to put them back after examining them, however, when last seen two trout were resting in a wash tub with water apparently on their way to somebody's fry pan.

This new morality is frustrating as hell! Apparently the rules all apply to the other fellow and not to one's self. I am afraid I will just have to go on being a law-abiding citizen and not catch fish at Thompson (this time of year). Perhaps, I can get my annual steelhead at Thompson when the coho come in this fall, maybe even a Brown. In the mean time Northern Pike and Walleye season opens this Friday, and chances are you can find me down in the Yacht Basin in the evening for a period of time drowning minnows with an illusion of grandeur of a 16 inch pike in my eye.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

One of the most valuable possessions a man can acquire is sound credit.

It is a vital building block for the future.

It is a measure of a man's responsibility

It is essential to continued trust.

"YOUR OBLIGATIONS"

ANY obligation which you make—perform it. If it be for money—pay it. If you cannot pay it, renew it, but never neglect it and never default on it. Your credit, not for money alone, but for good faith, depends upon it. The credit of the nation, the value of our currency, the conduct of business, our very living, depends upon the sanctity of public and private obligations.
