Haring, "How we appreciate all these merchants and trust that the theme of hospitality will be in evidence all about town, in places of business, on the streets, between neighbors and within our homes."

GOVERNMENT DINNER—Area governmental officials and their student counterparts were honored at a Monday noon luncheon at the Surf as part of Government Day of Michigan Week. Speaking to the group here is Lowell Cooper, civics instructor at Manistique High School, who served as chairman for the day. Student chairmen for the event were Rick Bonifas, right, and Jean Lemita, behind podium.

Curiosity praised

Developing the quality of curiosity is far better than being spoonfed with the opinions, District Judge Charles Stark of Manistique told area governmental officials and their student counterparts at the annual Government Day luncheon Monday noon at the Surf.

Stark was the main speaker at the traditional Michigan Week observation of Mayor's Exchange Day, with Walled Lake Mayor Wendel Kellogg, his wife and party as the honored guests.

"I am happy to see the bright light of curiosity about our institutions, their power structure and their personalities—the traditional establishment—and about what things are accomplished and what are frustrated by this traditional establishment," Stark said.

"We must understand this establishment before we can proceed, alter or discard it. To innovate demands an appreciation of what has gone before."

Stark said he felt the "last, great hope of the American Dream" may lie in small towns, where a person is apt to find more understanding of the human conditions that have shaped our institutions.

Pointing to the grave dangers and changes that the past year had produced, Stark said he was fearful of the hate developing on both sides of the argument, and the denying of the basic humanity of our opponents when the lines are drawn.

He said the shouting of absolutes, such as "never" and "always," do nothing toward helping us reclaim the American Dream.

"There must be respect and dignity for the human personality," he said, "no matter the uniform, no matter the length of the hair."

Stark cited the late Circuit Judge George Baldwin, last year's speaker at the Government Day dinner, and his belief in the human personality, and urged those present to follow that example in the years to come.

Student speaker Frank Malette noted how participating students have learned about elec-

TWO MAYORS—Wendel Kellogg, mayor of Walled Lake, had a pretty student counterpart to accompany him to the annual Government Day luncheon Monday noon. Patti Anzolt was chosen as the student mayor for the day.

Be practical, asks Lockwood

Emil Lockwood, majority leader in the State Senate and principal speaker at the Schoolcraft County Republican dinner Monday evening, called for a practical rather than an emotional approach to the problem of pollution.

The St. Louis Republican noted that while industry has been the principal emotional target, governmental units are still the major contributors to pollution. He defended industry's efforts to control pollution and called upon the public to become equally concerned and involved in cleaning up our environment.

Lockwood stated that the legislature has led public thinking on this problem. He added that action on requiring landfills at public and private dumps was approved number of years ago despite considerable criticism from local governments and the public. The Senator also cited the relatively new Plat Act as a step in the preservation of our environment.

The speaker voiced grave concern about the mood and attitude of young people, especially on our college campuses, and cited examples of the recent demonstrations in and around the state capital. Lockwood said that he expects the situation to grow worse until prearranged.

Congressman Phillip Roope in brief remarks stated that President Nixon wants to end the war in Vietnam, wants to put an end to inflation and is working toward those goals. Roope pointed out that Nixon has established troop withdrawal quotas and has cut military spending. He added that for the first time in many years government spending for human needs has exceeded military spending. He called upon Republicans to support the President in his efforts.

Flag ripped in break-in

Thieves who broke into the Manistique High School Monday night not only made off with a large quantity of food from the kitchen but also found time to tear down two American flags, ripping up one and dragging both of them over a $25 reward is being offered by the Manistique Area Board for information leading to the arrest and conviction of whoever was responsible. The name of any informant will not be made public, either the schools or the Police may be contacted.

Officers said the method of the intruders broke the door in a door, tore down the flags, and entered the kitchen, where they made off with loaves of bread, some 46 pounds of luncheon eggs and butter.

The recorder was also reported missing from the school.

In other cases, officers are investigating the theft of a tape from the car of Paul Hanson, route 1. Valued at $85, it was taken late Thursday night or early Friday.

Officers are also investigating the breaking and entering of Paul Hanson, who is attending Lake. The entry, during the past week, was caused by breaking a window. Nothing was apparently

Gas hearing is adjourned

The Michigan Public Service Commission adjourned hearings Friday on complaints seeking to force Michigan Consolidated Gas Company to extend natural gas service to four Upper Peninsula communities.

The complaints were filed by the City of Manistique, Newberry State Hospital, and the townships of Watersmeet and Marenisco.

The Commission completed the required testimony on the three communities during four days of hearings in the Delta County Courthouse in Escanaba, but the hearing, represented by the State Building Division, will present an additional witness in Lansing at a later date.

"Our surveys indicate our revenues in the first five years would fall more than $200,000 short of meeting interest costs on borrowed money, and stockholders would get nothing. After the fifth year when the market would presumably be fully developed, the company would continue to lose money."

"Obviously no business can stay in business if it builds new facilities on which it is going to lose money. We do not believe the Commission has the power to force us to do so."

"Indeed, the Commission has always required us, in the past, to show that proposed expansion is economically sound before granting us authority to lay new lines. This is for the protection of existing customers, who otherwise would be sub-

One mill increase is needed by city

There's a crunch ahead for city taxpayers. It's coming in the form of a one mill tax increase for next year.

The proposed city budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 sets the local millage rate at 18.53, up one mill from last year's levy of 17.53, for operation and general. The bond and sewer millage will remain at 3.07, for a new total levy of 21.60 mills.

The city's assessed valuation shows $9,203,275 in real property and $2,452,923 in personal property, an increase of about $218,000.

Even with the increased tax rate and increased valuation, the total city revenues are expected to drop by almost $9,000, City Manager Robert Noe said.

How come?

Noe explained that the soon-to-be-released figures for the 1970 census are the villain. While Michigan is expected to show a state-wide 13 per cent increase, Manistique's population is expected to remain the same or decline. Because state payments of such things as intangible taxes, sales tax refunds and income tax refunds are based on a per capita basis, this means that Manistique will be getting less of the total amount available. State trunkline maintenance receipts are expected to drop $7,500, he pointed out.

In the face of declining revenues from the state, the city must find ways to pay for the 20 cent an hour increase approved for city employees effective June 1.

Noe said the biggest cut will be in capital expenditures, which will be cut from $58,000 this year to an estimated $24,100 for next year.

The proposed budget shows $413,700 in estimated receipts and expenditures, with $135,000 coming from local property taxes. The one mill increase will raise approximately $10,656.

A public hearing on the budget is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. next Monday, at the start of the regular Council meeting.

Gas hearing is adjourned

size, in their rates, unless they would result in losses."

Glaney said.

In his direct testimony, the utility treasurer said that the investment required to serve Manistique is $308,000 and that the company would suffer a loss of $44,200 in the first five years of operations there.

As the hearings closed, Commission hearing Examiner Alfred Sullivan had two opposite views to consider. Karl Seavitt, attorney for Michigan Consolidated, made a motion to dismiss Manistique's complaint on the grounds that the Commission lacked jurisdiction to force the utility to make an uneconomic expansion. He said the permit issued to the company by the City of Manistique became null and void on June 1, 1969, when it expired because of non-payment.

Fly flag, they urge!

Plans for a sustained showing of the American flag between now and the Fourth of July are being developed by two local men.

"We're calling it an 'unprotest,' explained Fred Peterson, who is working on the idea with David Kelly.

"The two will be contacting local service clubs and veterans' organizations seeking their support."

"We want to emphasize that this is a non-partisan thing and that all we want to do is to display the flag to show our affection for our country. It is not a display of support for any policy or for any politician. It is just to let people know that even with our shortcomings, we think America is the 'best place in the world,' and that we are proud to be citizens," Peterson explained.

Letter to the Editor

A letter to taxpayers of the Talmagone Area Schools:
Dear Parents,
By this time most people in the area are probably aware that a School Election is scheduled for the 10th of June. The issues to be voted upon at this time is the assumption of the bonded indebtedness of Pentland and Portage Townships. This issue was voted upon and defeated in our two previous elections, it would seem that some clarification of the issue might be in order.
At the time our district was reorganized, two of the townships in the new district had large debts to build new buildings or to add to existing facilities. These former districts were Pentland in Luce County and Portage Township in Charlevoix County. These townships are still paying for the buildings although the district is using the facilities. At present, we have a total of 150 students in the Curtis school and 175 at Pentland. In addition, the district is using the bus garage at the Pentland location. The two townships are continuing to pay off the bonded indebtedness for which they have been and are continuing to be taxed at approximately four mills. It has been estimated that the average homeowner in the area is assessed for tax purposes at about $5,000.00. Assuming this to be the case, then the average homeowner in Pentland or Portage Township is paying about $20.00 per year for retirement of the school debt.
The proposal that the district assume the bonded indebtedness of these two townships would mean that the remaining district which has an assessed value of approximately $25,000,000. This would mean that we would all be taxed about 3.4 of one mill for retirement of this debt, or an average of about 37.5¢ per year. Pentland and Portage property owners would also pay an average of about $37.5¢ each, instead of the $20.00 they have been paying.
Thank you,
Arthur G. Quinn
Elementary Principal

Booster fund is divided

Assets of the former Green Fire Boosters have been distributed to the new blazer fund, the new Athletic Boosters club, and to the high school bank. It was announced this week.

The Green Fire Boosters, organized in 1955 and particularly active in 1967-68 in supporting the athletic program during a year of "austerity," have not been active the past two years. A survey of former officers of the organization was made to determine the division of the $579.20 left in their treasury.

One half the balance, or $289.10, will go to the fund to purchase blazers for the school athletic teams. A fourth, or $147.55, will go to the newly organized Athletic Boosters, and the remaining fourth will be deposited in the school bank for booster advisory travel.

After Dec. 31, 1971, the remainder of Advisory Travel Fund monies will be turned over to the Boosters Club. If the Boosters Club is not functioning, the remainder shall be turned over to student services to be used for enrichment programs.

The Nation's Beauty Shop

There it stands, the Nation's Beauty Shop. Millions of others like it are saying to us, "Give us your trash... let us help you beautify our country!" And all we have to do is to use this free beauty service--take a step or two extra to keep trash from becoming litter.

Each of us can do our part in giving our country a "facial" by patronizing these little "shops" set up for our convenience. Every litter bit hurts. So let's keep our face clean Michigan!

COMPLETE WORK--Richard Brox, left, design architect, and Jay Debanst, planning engineer, recently completed the first part of the land use and marketability study for the firm of Villcan-Leman, as part of the community's Urban Renewal study.

Urban Renewal initial study completed by two engineers

The first part of the land use and marketability study of Manistique's Urban Renewal area was finished recently, Director Quinton Mitchell has announced.

Design architect Richard Brox and planning engineer Jay Debanst of the planning firm of Villcan-Leman are now compiling the information they have acquired, and will return several weeks for the remainder of the study.

The primary objective of the study is to determine the re-development use for which the Urban Renewal project lands are best suited, and the most practical approach to the re-design of store fronts and off-street parking. These findings, in preliminary sketches will serve as guides in the planning of the business area.

The market analysis they will conduct for Manistique reflects local characteristics of its economic influence area. It is an estimate of the effective buying income available in the area and indicates the existing retail and service dollar potential. The necessary statistical data involves the trade area from which a community draws its basic volume of retail trade.

Typical evaluations considered to arrive at the estimated purchasing activities in the Central Business district are:

1. Average family annual income and buying power.
2. Average annual dollar sales of general merchandise.
3. Extent and population of surrounding area conducting business or purchasing in Manistique.

A study must be made of the present number of households within the Schoolcraft County retail influence area. This information is obtained from such sources as the county tax department, the city tax department, the electric power company and the telephone company. This will give a fairly accurate count of the number of households for practical purposes.

Pictures have been taken of the store fronts as well as the areas behind the buildings. They will be used to determine the extent of work needed to provide clearance for parking and also the most practical approach to a design theme for the store fronts. An evaluation will be made also of the mixed land use in the project area. While mixed land use is not uncommon in mature communities, it does become necessary to consider such problems as valuable commercial property being occupied by residences when vacant land is at a premium, Mitchell said. The result of this study will reveal some very worthwhile suggestions to be considered for the future growth and stability of our downtown district as well as the City of Manistique itself, he added.

County taxes are divided

The final session of Schoolcraft County's Tax Allocation Board will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Court House.

In the preliminary allocation made last week the county will receive 7.05 mills, the same as last year, and each of the eight townships will receive one mill. The only township changing this is the township of Lincoln to a full mill.

The Manistique Area Schools will receive 6.834, compared to 6.84 last year, while the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate District will take .1466, compared to .11 they received last year.

Intervol Township will pay 1 mill to the Bay Lake de Noc Area Schools, while Sorey Township will pay .75 to the Tabernum Area Schools and .15 to the Eastern U.P. Intermediate District.

Board gives approval to sale of hospital bonds

Sale of $280,000 in revenue bonds for Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital's expansion and improvement plan was approved by the County Board of Commissioners at their meeting Monday morning in the court house.

The bonds will be for a 10-year period, and it was pointed out there is a lien against the revenues of the hospital, not against the county.

There is about $220,000 additional available for the hospital project that has been set aside in certificates of deposit it was pointed out.

Commissioner Norman Han asked about the possibility of the county building a facility near the hospital for use by community physicians. Commissioner Homer Weber said the local doctors have evidently abandoned earlier plans to build their own facility, and Chairman Lindsey Frenette noted that the proposed rents in such a facility were too high. No action was taken.

Purchase of 27.5 acres of land from Royal Edith Klages, at a price of $8,190, and a three-year option costing $150 annually on 44.81 acres of land by James Gierke, was approved by the board.

Adjacent to Schoolcraft County Airport and would figure in any future expansion of that facility, Gierke's land is priced at $15,450.

The board also approved the purchase of 27.5 acres of land, a request from City Commissioner Leo Demars for county participation in the cost of a pipeline for the county for the hydraulic lift, used in fighting fires, in taller buildings would be between $8,500 and $10,000. Demars said and the board greatly increase the firemen's efficiency. No decision was made.

The board also approved the proposal to put the question to the voters on the July 14 ballot, the August primary ballot. The request came from Merwin White, Indian Lake, representing the Schoolcraft County Sportsman's Club. White contended that 98.5 per cent of local hunters favored a two-year moratorium on the antlerless deer kill.

County Treasurer William Cowman reported that the county realized $8,700 last year.

Gas hearing

Solidated officials indicating the utility's earlier plans to bring natural gas service to Manistique. They said various hearings in the city had indicated the city had installed gas furnaces in anticipation of natural gas service in 1969 and had to be converted to higher cost fuels when natural gas was not available.

Consolidated had every intention of supplying natural gas to Manistique," said that increased interest costs, construction costs and other expenses which occurred subsequent to 1965, and the Commission's failure to recognize these factors in the company's rate case, rendered the project economically unfeasible to carry out.

Dems decide on delegates

The evidence presented by the city consisted of testimony and letters written to Councilman Roque (who was at the time serving as Mayor) and to the school system. The letters were admitted into evidence without objection.

The company did not contest the city case directly, but instead presented the testimony of its treasurer who contended that its based on 1970 figures, if the company were forced to serve Manistique, it would expect to lose $44,200 in the first five years of operation, at its present rates. If the company's rate increase had been approved by the Commission, the company would expect to break even during its first five years in Manistique.

The company's figures were questioned by Charles Maxwell, the supervisor of the gas section of the Commission staff. While the company figures were based on a 50 per cent increase in the cost of construction between 1965 and 1970, actual figures which are available only through 1969 show only a 20 to 30 per cent increase, Maxwell also questioned the use of a 9-1/2 per cent rate of interest which was used in computing the company's expected interest rate as presented for new borrowings. Maxwell went on to question the company's money rate of interest which was used in computing the company's expected interest rate as presented for new borrowings. Maxwell went on to question the company's money rate of interest which was used in computing the company's expected interest rate as presented for new borrowings.

Consolidated Gas Company's possible losses in Manistique would be difficult to determine. In 1965, the Consolidated Gas Company's total revenues of $200,000 were reduced by 20 per cent in the first five months before the Commission issues its decision in the case.

Styles for Spring - I received a catalog today called "Elegance" that comes to me twice a year. It contains the most lush samples of fabrics I've ever seen, along with high-style pattern suggestions. The fabrics, needless to say, are very expensive, so I just look and wish.

Skirt lengths are quite a question, aren't they? If you're sewing or purchasing anything new, you wonder what the fashion length will be by late summer. Right now they're saying that skirt length questions will be settled by the individual - mini, midi or maxi - but the newest news is knee high. I think I can accept the knee high. How about you?

I like the colors in the fashion forecast - orange tones from tangerine to dark Indian curry, cinnamon, ginger, turmeric, hot warm beige, yellow, pink, rose and blue.

My oven needs a good cleaning. Wouldn't it be nice to have the self-cleaning kind? Those of you who have one are lucky. My way is just plain messy.

Introduction of the high-temperature self-cleaning oven was made a few years ago. Now a low-temperature self-cleaning oven is available in both gas and electric ranges.

The oven, operated at normal temperatures, oxidizes soil continually as it is deposited. Much of the soil deposited during the early part of the cooking period will disappear by the time the period is over, and the remaining soil will be removed during the next cooking period. There is no smoke or odor during cleaning.

I don't know which makes of ranges have this type of oven cleaning but if you're thinking about purchasing this appliance, you might like to look into this convenience.

Michigan Week

CONSIDERING THE FACT that the first half of May produced nothing but cold, wind and rain, it takes a real enthusiast to sit down and write an editorial extolling the virtues of our Water Wonderland.

Yet here we are spang in the middle of Michigan Week, and if we are going to do any extolling, now is the time.

The cynic may ask, "Why bother?" One place is as good as another, and all that sort of thing.

Except that it ain't necessarily so.

If the fates had delivered us to some other region of this great country of ours it's fair to assume that we would feel the same stirrings of pride regarding our homeland, eliminating, of course, the industrial wasteland at the lower tip of Lake Michigan, the New Jersey salt flats and the Chicago stockyards.

There is a basic loyalty to one's home state, as anyone who has spent time in service will tell you. Two Michiganders thrust together in the same Army barracks will greet each other like long-lost brothers, despite the fact that one may be from Ironwood and the other from Monroe. The boys from Ohio or Kentucky or Georgia will stick together like glue, all because of geographical accident, as it were.

If you were to name one thing that makes this state of Michigan unique, you would have to say the Great Lakes. These inland seas provide the watery boundaries for the most of our two great peninsulas. They played a prime role in our rich history. They have a profound—and beneficial effect on our weather. They serve our commerce and our industry, provide fish for our tables, and sandy beaches for our swimming and picnics. No point in our state is more than 85 miles from one of the four Great Lakes that surround our peninsulas.

There are other things that make us unique.

Etienne Brule was making his first visits to this area just about the time the Pilgrims were landing at Plymouth Rock, if you want to talk about history. You can also point to our state's prime role in the Civil War, or talk of the early miners and lumbermen of the north.

Michigan has been a pioneer in the related fields of industry and labor, where such giants as Henry Ford and Walter Reuther came forward to play their diverse roles in the automobile's history.

We have led the way in education, with the nation's first land grant college at East Lansing, and the Athens of the Midwest at Ann Arbor.

Our farming is so diverse that we can eat an entire meal composed entirely of Michigan products— if you want to skip the pepper and the coffee, which aren't essential to a well-balanced diet anyway.

These are some of the other things, if you want something to brag about. As for us, when we think of Michigan, we think of the beauty that is all about us. We think of the miles of white sand beaches and the far horizons of our inland seas, or the quietness of deep woods, bisected and traversed by rushing streams, quiet rivers or still backwaters. We think of tranquil backwoods trails, the aroma of the first arbutus, pine needles on the forest floor and the smell of a wood fire.

We think of the beauty that is all about us, particularly here in our portion of this Water Wonderland, and our hope for this Michigan Week is that it will be here for the generations to come to enjoy.

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top O' Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

My mother-in-law is so upset with the way that the world is going today that she is threatening to cancel the Detroit Free Press.

This won't change the world, of course, but at least it will relieve her of suffering through the day's quota of bad news as she reads her paper at breakfast each morning. Then her only problem will be what to do about Walter Cronkite and the TV every night just before suppertime.

I don't blame Mother Lossing for her withdrawal symptoms. After 80-plus years on earth she is entitled to a little peace and quiet, and there is precious little of that in the news business today.

The Free Press and the Pioneer-Tribune have at least one thing in common with all other newspapers. They don't make the news, they just print it.

There are no doubt those who were disturbed with the Pioneer-Tribune last week for printing the story about the SDF—the Senior Development Fund or the Senior Drinking Fund, depending on who you listen to.

A school board member also hauled out an issue from last July and questioned the use of the verb "dissected" in a report of a board of education meeting.

It's not necessary to go back to last July to find things that have appeared in this newspaper, or any newspaper, that are upsetting. One issue usually contains enough material to rile up a good share of the populace. Most of the time people are disturbed by subject matter, rather than nouns, verbs or adjectives. This has been true ever since the first newspaper in America was published in Boston and was forced to close after one issue by the irate Governor General, who took exception to what the editor had reported. Seditious drivel, he said, back there in 1690, knowing even then how to get an editor riled. Seditious it might be, but drivel? Never!

It was 14 years before the citizens of Boston were treated to another newspaper, which gave the neighbors ample time to conduct the Salem witchcraft trials without bothersome undue publicity from some inquisitive newspaperman. We receive about 40 exchange newspapers in our office each week, most of them small country weeklies such as this one. I try to find the time to go through them, not only to pick up ideas and steal editorials, but to see what my fellow editors are thinking.

Most of these small town papers and editors are quite conservative in their thinking, probably reflecting the time and temper of their communities. The last several weeks, however, I have found growing concern on these editorial pages regarding student unrest and, to a lesser degree, the problems of Indo-China.

The wide variety of reactions and editorial comment are also probably a fair reflection of how widely varied this entire country is in reacting to these situations. There is a unanimity of dismay, but little agreement on where do we go from here.

This is only natural. Most small town editors don't pretend to be experts on national or international affairs, contenting themselves instead with news stories and editorials on such local issues as school finances or sewer plant bonding. If they didn't speak out on these issues, who would?

Certainly there is public concern over the international situation, and strong reaction following the deaths of the four Kent State students. There are those who would indict the news media for these crisis and confrontations, assuming the rather muddled point of view that these things wouldn't happen if they weren't reported.

They forget that similar crisis and confrontations have beset man and his government since the Year One, and that only since the rapid development of the news media have people been so closely exposed to what is going on.

The only time there will be no disagreement on what is printed in the papers or broadcast on the airwaves will be when the newspapers are no longer printed and the news no longer broadcast.

Despite the sad state of the world, I don't think anyone has yet seriously advocated that.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER?

Because education must prepare its clients for the future, it is important that we look at the future. A consultant to NASA recently gave it a glance.

Technologically and scientifically, he sees orbital flights of over a year's duration, and space workshops in which zero gravity will revolutionize what can be fabricated. He expects missions to Venus, Mars, and Mercury before 1980. Man will mount telescopes in space and will expand his scope of the universe so far that he might actually see creation. What will man discover about the earth when he compares it to other planets?

In transportation, our consultant expects nuclear submarine freighters which will operate under the weather, under the sea, and under the ice caps. He foresees nuclear space ships of unlimited endurance, and a space shuttle system in which a ship can come in and go out again within 24 hours. The cost of freight in space he estimates at $10 to $20 a pound.

There will be a micro-electronic revolution. He cites as an example the throw-away electronic luggage tag. These could be attached to the travelers' bags and an electric eye will sort the luggage as it comes through the terminal and route it to its destination.

In oceanography, we already have had a dive up to 1,500 feet and the men worked effectively for 10 hours at this depth. People will be able to live for weeks and months at a depth of 100 feet, and it is the beginning of a control system for the sea. Until now, man has been a hunter in the ocean. He could very well become a farmer.

And some scientists are convinced that memory has a chemical origin and that a pill for learning can be developed. Also there is the possibility that the organs of mammals other than man can be linked to electronic equipment and the two can function in harmony.

Think of the searching device which can be developed if the eyes of a cat were attached to a recording capacity of a computer.

Just around the corner? The consultant to NASA thinks so. Fantastic? Sure -- but so was a walk on the moon in 1960.

News From Road 437

Hi Folks!

Missed being with you last week, but I was in Pontiac looking after my daughter Kathleen's family. She presented us with another grandson, Scott William.

Now that I'm back home,

Tommy Thompson, Jr., quick DRIVING SAFETY AND YOU #1

In 1968, fifty-five thousand plus died as a result of traffic accidents. Two million plus sustained disabling injuries. This is a new record.

Physicians know that an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure. When this is not possible, they advocate the next best thing, minimize the injury by getting the victim to the hospital as soon as possible.

Highway accidents involve the driver, vehicle, and medical care. Car manufacturers must and are continuing to improve safety devices including collapsible steering wheels, bumpers that give, shatterproof glass and other measures.

But, of greatest importance is the driver! Seat belts reduce mortalities 41% and shoulder harnesses help another 30%. Head injuries are common when these protective devices are not worn.

YOUR RXALL STORE

I'm in charge of daughter Joanne's family, as she was taken to the hospital for surgery.

Our morning is a bit cloudy and windy and looks like a rainy day is in store for us. All our trees are in bud stage, very little of leaves to be seen. My garden has a bit of color as the daffodils are in bloom and some hyacinths. If only the warmth of the sun would remain for at least a week Out Our Way, those leaves would open up to continue to their full growth.

Yet Mother Nature has been busy, adding color to her forest floor. The violets are in bloom, and so are the trillium, and the false lily-of-the-valley are showing their buds. Soon the lady slippers should be in bloom and the curiously-shaped garment of the Hollanders and the Dutchman's breeches. Soon the forest will be on its floral parade for you to enjoy.

Your concert to enjoy will be given by the different birds that have returned for their summer stay.

While I was in Pontiac a very dear friend of mine passed away, Marie Grimsley. She will, I know, be missed by many folks out our way.

My echoes of birthday greetings for some may be a bit late, but here they come along to Jacquelyn Lancour, Emma Hardy, William Hentschell, Jr., Lawrence Carley, Theresa Neville, Sandy LaFave, Jim La-kosky, Mek Popish, Donald Carley, Evan Erickson, Ellen Gill-land and Kathleen Hardy.

Hope your day was one of complete happiness. My news is short but at the present time I'm a busy grandma so until next week stay healthy and happy.

GOOD NEWS

"Too good to believe!" Sometimes we receive news so joyous that we are almost afraid to accept it — the birth of a child, a crisis past, a successful business venture. Yet the greatest good news that can be ours, we often take for granted and lose the profound joy of it.

What if we had never heard the message which the Christian Church proclaims? What if we knew nothing of a Saviour who died that all men might be forgiven, who gives us the assurance of everlasting life!

If this good news were revealed to us suddenly, we might well say, "It's so good that it's hard to believe." But it has been verified by countless millions of believers in all lands, through many generations. We accept it in our own hearts, and the confirmation becomes personal.

We know, then, that in the Christian Church we hear the best news that has ever come to the human race.

I know that spring is on the way at last! I have mowed the lawn for the first time but with recent rains will probably have to mow it again as soon as things dry out.

I was down below last week to attend a Foods Show at Boyne Highlands and enjoyed seeing leaves on the trees even though they were only the size of a quarter. Also, got a preview of what it will be like up here in the next two or three weeks—the trilliums were out in full swing. I even saw a few trailing arbutus up here on my way to a few fishing sites (the only profit for those trips). Coming back from down below I noticed that the marsh marigolds were in full bloom over along the Blaney - Gulliver area.

TOURIST INDUSTRY: There will be a meeting at the Seney Wildlife Refuge on Wednesday, May 27, at 1 p.m. to familiarize the people in the tourist business with the attractions the Refuge has to offer to the public. I sent notices to a number of motel and cabin owners and hope anyone I overlooked will see my column.

BEST LAID PLANS: Wouldn't you know it when I finally decided to go try and get a northern or walleye on opening day the Gods were against me with the water level rising faster than it was coming down. However, maybe the clouds will pass and we will get some of that golden sunshine-not liquid variety - to help warm up the soil and dry it out for planting activities and also warm up the water so that we can get some more of those big fish in from the lake.
