Two present piano concert

A piano concert was presented Sunday evening by Mary Kay McKilligan and Robert Stram, talented musicians studying with the Franciscan Sisters, to 150 guests and friends in the St. Francis de Sales Parish Center.

Miss McKilligan is the daughter of Mrs. Leo Curran, Indian Lake, and a senior at Manistique High School. Her plans include attending Michigan Technological University in the fall. Robert is the son of Mrs. Matthew Stram, 519 Main St., and a junior at Manistique High School.

Each presented five favorite numbers by famous composers including Brahms, MacDowell, Bach, Beethoven, Liszt, Lecuona, Haydn, Chopin, Gershwin and Schumann. The final number was a piano duet composed by Benjamin. At the close of the recital, a floral arrangement was presented to Miss McKilligan by Rick Stram.

Refreshments were served following the recital with Mrs. George Wood as tea chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Maki, Mrs. Ian McKilligan and Mrs. Emmett McNamara serving; and Dino Pirolo attending the punch table.

"OUT OUR WAY"

News From Road 437

Hi Folks!
It's a rainy morning out our way, along with a bit of fog. We did have several nice spring-like days last week which helped the leaves to open up a little more and the lilacs are starting to show.

With the leaves being partly open now our color of spring is on parade. The sugar maple gives us a color of rust among the leaves of the poplar, birch and the pine. A touch of slate with a bit of pink is shown off by the bushes and the wild cherry and pin cherry trees. The forest shows on the outskirts of our flowery carpet, the white trillium. The female bee is now busy seeking the nectar of the trillium's brooches. The tiny ray wings are beginning to bloom to add their color of orchid among the white as is the false lily-of-the-valley. Along the roadside and deep into the forest the green ferns are starting to unfurl open their lacy leaves. The shining club moss and ground pine add their new spring shades of green throughout the forest. By the time we get into the month of June many more wild plants will be blooming for us to enjoy.

Saturday will bring us Memorial Day which is celebrated throughout our country in memory of the veterans who gave up their lives so we may have our freedom. In their memory wear their flower of symbol, the red poppy. With this holiday, if you plan to travel, drive with care.

With the end of May comes graduation. Many students will leave to face a new future with just memories of their four years of high school. With it I pass this saying of George F. Tillen to all graduates: "Success is never final and failure never fatal."

Mrs. Marie LaFave, Mr. and Mrs. James LaFave and sons Jimmy and Billy spent the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Daniel LaFave in Dimondale, Mich. Marie was getting acquainted with her new granddaughter, Kristen Marie.

Helen Gambla and her sister Marion Pauloviciens of Chicago are spending the week at Gambla's cabin on Murphy Lake. Helen plans to spend the summer at Murphy Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parkinson of Wolfe Lake, Ind. are vacationing at Thunder Lake. Joining them Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Winterbrenner, also of Wolfe Lake, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Cliff were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schumacher.

Harold Caldwell and Onie Rossa spent a week of their cabin at Big Spring. These folks were happy with their mushroom find.

With the rainfall patches of birthday greetings to Leona Williams, Paul Salda, Marylin Frank, Floyd Daugherty, Beth Frank, Bill M. Maki, Pauline Carley, Henry Schumacher, Leona Cook, Carl Jones, and Mrs. Jack Hahlik.

Anniversary wishes go out to the Kenneth Jones, Alton Carley and Leonard Stone.

May the day for all of us be one of complete happiness. Until next week stay happy and happy. Evening's best of the happy will, I heard my first one Saturday night. Mrs. Soop.

ance at the Public Service Commission hearing on natural gas recently in Escanaba, and urged that the city continue efforts to have the Michigan rate that Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has to furnish service to the community.

Now reported that National Guard officials had requested that four acre site at the north end of the quarry would be acceptable for the new Army. Earlier they had requested a minimum of five acres. The site is now being surveyed, he said.

Mayor Douglas Rose reported on his Mayor Exchange Day visit to Walled Lake, and said he was very impressed with their voluntary fire department. He said that the city had abandoned a paid department, and instead the equivalent funds were used to build a new fire hall and purchase a tanker. "I would like to see something like that here," he commented.

Received a letter of thanks from Dr. Merle Wehner for the welcome on the Paul Bunyan sign recently.

Time will tell how successful the idea of flying the Flag as an "unprotest" will be.

The plan is being advocated by two local men, Fred Peterson and Dave Kelly, and endorsed by most local service organizations.

Flying the flag, along with the observance of Memorial Day, Flag Day and the Fourth of July, should not be allowed to become an issue of support or non-support for policies, programs or politicians. By letting it become an issue we would tarnish our tribute to our war dead, allow the Flag to become a political symbol, and dilute the true meaning of Independence Day.

We do like the idea of the Flag being a symbol of affection for all that is good in our United States. We need constant reminding of this fact.

Long may it wave.

Who said steam trains are extinct?

The Keweenaw Central Railway resumes operations again May 30, with three runs daily between Calumet and Lake Linden. The 13-mile round trip takes 75 minutes, and includes a journey over a 120-foot trestle. It's one of two steam trains still operating in Michigan. The other's down by Lake City and Cadillac.

Let's give congratulations this week to everyone who worked so hard to make Michigan Week a success.

Anyone who has worked on this event knows that it takes a lot of cooperation and enthusiasm. Schoolcraft County's observance has got to be one of the best in the state for a county of this size.

The congratulations this week should also go to the 24 four-year honor students, whose names and pictures appear elsewhere in this issue.

It's a big week coming up for the Class of 1970, and they all deserve our best wishes.

The 11th Congressional District race this summer could be an interesting one. Democrat Nino Green of Gladstone has adopted a dovish position that calls for cutting off funds for American involvement in Cambodia by June 30; a stand-still ceasefire limiting military action in South Vietnam to such action only as is necessary to protect American lives; a new negotiator at the Paris peace talks and a political settlement in South Vietnam based on free elections; the establishment of a fixed timetable for the withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam no later than Dec. 31, 1971, and limitation of military funds in Vietnam to those necessary to provide for the orderly withdrawal of American troops and for their safety during withdrawal.

Incumbent Phil Ruppe has supported the invasion of Cambodia but feels Congress should be consulted on any future expansions of the war. He generally supports the Nixon program of Vietnamization and gradual withdrawal.

How large a factor the Indo-china war will be by November is anybody's guess, but the battle lines on the home front are being drawn up.

The Republican primary for the 37th District State Senate seat could also be interesting. Right now it looks like State Rep. Bob Davis has the organization and Frank Heselton has the brains.

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top O' Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

Progress in the U.P.

"As a native of the Upper Peninsula, what is your reaction to the chances for progress similar to that in recent years in the lower Peninsula?"

It was a good question, and I paused for a moment before I answered the man from the University of Michigan, but finally I had to admit that my reaction would be mixed.

Mixed not because of opposition to social or economic progress, but because of concern about what such progress would do to our community, our county and our Upper Peninsula.

The question was posed recently at a meeting in Escanaba, where press and radio representatives met with University of Michigan officials and professors for an evening for a social evening of instruction and enlightenment.

In the usually accepted sense of the word, progress means economic growth and increasing population. It also means exposure to the increasingly strong pressures of social unrest and urban problems that are now plaguing the downstate area.

The relative isolation of the Upper Peninsula gives most of us a sense of detachment on such issues as race relations and civil rights, student protests, crime in the streets and law enforcement. We are strangers in a strange land on those occasions when we journey down below and are exposed suddenly to crises that have become commonplace to those who live there.

Black students at Northern Michigan University face much the same problem in reverse. Guns in the dormitory may be an accepted thing by U.P. natives who want to take advantage of every hunting opportunity that comes along. However these guns are a frightening thing to those black students to whom a gun almost automatically means violence and social unrest.

Can you imagine the uproar, for instance, if they were to find a large number of deer rifles and shotguns in dormitory rooms in East Lansing or Ann Arbor?

Race relations and civil rights are academic questions here in Manistique, where our black population totals two persons. It has recently become a strange and painful thing in Marquette, where a previously white community is suddenly exposed to black airmen from K. I. Sawyer Air Base and black students from Northern Michigan University. Is it so hard to understand why it can be even more painful in the urban centers down below, where the black population, spilling out of the core cities and segregation, is becoming increasingly aware of their rights as citizens and their dignity as human beings?

This same detachment is obvious in the developing gap between youth and middle age on the question of the Indo-china war. It's easy to be a hawk when you know you'll never be drafted and sent overseas to fight. If those on the home front who so stridently call for military victory were to suddenly face conscription and active service in an infantry company, I suspect that many of them would become chicken hawks.

The Upper Peninsula can well do without such manifestations of progress as rioting, looting demonstrations and picketing, but we are only fooling ourselves if we think that we are not involved.

Despite our relative isolation, we are affected by what is happening downstate. The events there are eventually reflected in the condition of our economy, in our state laws, and in our public customs and traditions. The student unrest at Northern Michigan University does not compare in magnitude or proportion to that on the campuses downstate, but it is an example of how actions elsewhere are eventually reflected here. The stone of discontent, tossed into the waters of unrest, spreads ever-widening circles.

Certainly we in the U.P. have a desire for progress in the positive sense of the word, for it is man's nature to continually aspire to better things. It would be our hope, however, that the advantage of isolation that gives us a time-lag will enable us to assess the consequences of progress without planning, of growth without balance, of opportunity without equality, of action without public support and participation.

Our unique location gives us the opportunity to occupy ourselves with such concerns as whether or not Iron River will be successful in stealing the county seat back from Crystal Falls, or whether or not the annual Labor Day Festival in Ontonagon will be canceled because of lack of interest. There is comfort in such concerns because they provide dramatic contrast to the host of problems afflicting most of society, but we should not be so naive or so provincial as to believe that times---and problems---will not change.

ROTARY SIGNS AND TOO MUCH COMMUNICATION

It is fashionable to blame any foul-up on a "lack of communications," but I can tell you that there are times when "too much communication" is just as disastrous.

The latest episode happened when Bill Hentschell approached me after a Rotary meeting with, "Say, Tony, do you think that some of the classes at the high school could make a few signs to use for the Rotary auction pick-up trucks?" He added that he had some posters from a Rotary district banquet five years ago which could be used as models.

"Sure, Bill, send the posters over and I'll ask Mrs. Orhanen and her art class if they will make them." This I did promptly by dispatching a memo to Mrs. Orhanen. So far communications were very good.

In the meantime, Hentschell sent the banquet posters to Mr. Frederickson's office. Communications were still all right.

The next week at Rotary, I met Bill again and he asked me how the signs were coming along.

"Fine, I think -- but I'll check when I get back to school."

When I got back to the office, I realized I hadn't heard from Mrs. Orhanen, and I couldn't remember if I had asked her in the first place. By now the signs were a rush job, so I asked Miss Voisine, whose co-op classes were working on sign-writing if she would have her students make them. I added that the models were in the principal's office.

Mr. Frederickson had found the Rotary posters in his office and thought that they belonged with Rotary president Ralph Gillam at the Fireside, so he sent them out there. At that point Miss Voisine came down to get the models and was told by Mrs. Leveille that they had been shipped to the Fireside. By now we were really over-communicated and things were continuing to get worse.

Then one of the boys from Mrs. Orhanen's class came in with, "Where do you want the signs we just made for Rotary?" That should have ended it, because I now had what Hentschell wanted. But everyone was scurrying; Mr. F. and Esther were trying to get the models back from the Fireside, Miss Voisine was trying to get them from the principal's office, and I was trying to get the whole process stopped.

We thanked Mrs. Orhanen and her class for making the signs. Eventually everything got back into place. The trucks labelled Rotary Auction Pick-up picked up. But when you see those trucks again, I hope you'll remember that the signs didn't happen by accident, that too much communication is just as bad as too little, that R-O-T-A-R-Y still spells Rotary, and to make a contribution to the auction sale.

Check form for Medicare

Medicare beneficiaries should carefully check the "Explanation of Benefits" form sent to them after Medicare has made payment for hospital or physicians' services they have received.

If the payment record is incorrect, the beneficiary should report any discrepancy to his social security office or the Medicare paying agent immediately, Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager said this week.

Williams emphasized that errors in billing can occur. A careful check of payment records can prevent fraud or error, he added.

"In a program as large as Medicare," Williams said, "with over 122 million bills received each year, even a tiny percentage of incorrect billings can add up to a lot of money." By reporting any apparent mistakes, Williams added, Medicare beneficiaries can help keep costs down.

Of 2,500 cases of errors or discrepancies in Medicare bills reported by beneficiaries, Medicare carriers, intermediaries, and others, and recorded in the SSA's central control system, Williams said, over half turned out to be the result of clerical error or misunderstanding. But others did reveal evidence of attempts at abuse or intent to defraud, and it is SSA policy, he said, to carefully check all reports and other evidence of irregularity to assure that incorrect payments are not made.

Money, money, money. Sometimes it seems that all people talk about is money. Some hoard it, others let it slip through their fingers. But, whether spender or saver, no one is unimindful of it.

Sometimes it seems as though even in church we hear too much about money. Isn't that the one place where money shouldn't be mentioned at all? No.

It isn't money that is at fault, but our attitude toward it. In earlier times, we gave of our services, trading one thing for another. Today we use money as a medium of exchange. It is the spirit in our use of that exchange, in both our spending and saving, that counts.

So, give to the church of your choice. Give generously, if you can. But even if you can't give — go.

Howard H. Handorf
County Extension Director

This week I am indulging myself I am going to give you a chance to read the talk that I gave at the Livelihood Day dinner during Michigan Week. In the talk, my main subject is industrial development, however, many of the points are also pertinent for the tourist industry.

One week ago last Monday night, City Manager Robert Noe stated that Manistique was basically a good town but that new methods of doing business and acquiring new industry were needed to help the area grow. As things now stand, what chance have your children or grandchildren of obtaining a well paying job locally after graduation from high school let alone college? Although Schoolcraft County has the fifth highest industrial payroll base in the Upper Peninsula, I am certain that you will agree with me that a much higher base could be well utilized. One of the things that it could mean would be the reversing of the current trend for high school and college graduates to obtain jobs downstate or out of the state. From talking to many downstaters and former Manistique or Schoolcraft County residents, I have gained the impression that many of these persons would like to either return to the northland or re-settle here in the area if they could find a job with which to support their family.

In some informal checking activities recently, I find that the city has three new businesses that opened their doors during the last year. Of these, one is seasonal in character, and would employ 10 - 12 at the most; the other two are full time enterprises and probably employ no more than 10-15. In looking at the county, the situation is more dismal as we only have one new enterprise and that one does not as yet have any employees beside the owner. What can we do about this? Remember that we are in competition with all of the other communities in the state and nation when we talk about industrial expansion. Can we afford to continue to let our children graduate and then move out? If not, what are we going to do about it!

Let us now look closer at our community. Upon examination, we find that there are three organizations actively working on industrial expansion: 1. The City government with their prospective industrial park area located near the city shed; 2. The county with their prospective industrial park plans for the airport area; and 3. The private, profit, industrial development corporation which is headed by Dr. Wehner and Mr. Charles Rusiecki. All of this is well and good as far as potential sites are concerned. However, there is still room for improvement and more important involvement. The area as a whole still needs ready cash for building if we are to attract and retain an active industrial contact, or help existing industry expand. We also need a solid core of the "man in the street" that is behind the project both verbally and financially. In effect, we all need to become ambassadors for the area when we are traveling out of the area and even more importantly when we are just loafing or shopping down town - especially when we answer the occasional tourist question about where to go or what to do in the area. I know that we all do this many times during the course of a year, but how many times do we give an encouraging or enthusiastic answer to the question?

Currently, we are striving to charter a broad based, non-profit, industrial development corporation here in Manistique and Schoolcraft County. We are now in the process of electing an interim board of directors to serve until the corporation holds its first members' meeting - this meeting is about nine to eighteen months in the future - depending upon public acceptance and support. Although the interim board of directors has not met as yet, the initial members have voiced their feeling on the price of memberships. We feel that the price range will be from $10 for an individual membership - which will be sold to the public - to over $500 a year if the individual or corporation can afford it.

When you talk to the man in the street or the man behind the counter there is always one nebulous individual that pops up if you are discussing industrial development! It is always "they" don't want increased industry or business because the increased competition would hurt their business. If you talk to enough people, you find that you have boxed the compass, or gone full circle with everyone pointing directly across the circle to someone else. Upon closer examination, we find that there is no "they" as when the proper "they" is interviewed, he or she is all for more industry or business.

"They" however, is an attitude that will have to be killed and buried before this area can go forward. If you are for the status quo, and the current deportation of our youth as they complete their schooling, keep looking seriously and mysteriously as you mutter "THEY" don't want expansion. If on the other hand, you believe in the future and want a stronger industrial base and more job opportunities for our youth, the time is fast approaching to reach in your wallet to support the dream and make it a reality. Put your money where you think the future lies. Help us to make this project an instrument for a more prosperous area.

This will be a chance for the man in the street to have voice in the development of the community, it will also present an opportunity for our absentee sons and daughters to try and help out the hometown area with the prospect of returning to a well paying job. If properly informed, all of our absentee natives could act as a vast information gathering and disbursing network. A network to tell the Manistique and Schoolcraft County story where it needs to be told - in the offices of corporations.

Another source of prospects is our six million dollar an-having an industrial development brochure in each and every one of our motel and resort rooms. A brochure that invites inquiries. However, brochures, inquiries, and buildings cost money. This the non-profit industrial development corpor-citizens and a larger tax base. Remember, in industrial development, it is Manistique and Schoolcraft County against the state and nation. Your attitude, interest, and money can help us to win and stop our annual youth exports.

I would like to represent the voters and taxpayers in the Manistique Area School District. Your support is needed and will be greatly appreciated.

Official Proceedings OF THE MANISTIQUE CITY COUNCIL

May 11, 1970

A regular meeting of the Manistique City Council was held on May 11, 1970, at 7:30 P.M. at City Hall. There were present: Councilmen Rose, DeMars, Cayia, Reque, City Attorney Berger and City Manager Noe. Absent: None.

The minutes of the regular meeting of April 27, 1970, were approved as read.

Several residents of Bear Street were present and presented a petition requesting that their street be sealed with Houghton to Alger because of the dust problem. Mr. Noe said that the street is not scheduled for improvement this year and would have to wait until funds are available. Also, he believes there is a drainage problem in the area and soil samples of the base would have to be taken and analyzed before improvement.

Mr. Boyd Briggs and Mr. Donald Veaser, representing the Health Dept. were present to discuss the following items: The abandoned well at the old water tower site should either be plugged or filled but Councilman DeMars suggested that a study be made on the potential of the well before it is plugged. The State would be contacted and asked to appear before the council and discuss the matter.

Mr. Briggs indicated that operations at the dump will have to be changed as open burning is no longer allowed and since there is no attendant present, refuse is spread over a large area and this makes it difficult to cover and it is necessary to cover regularly. Briggs said that some cities and townships have a joint operation because of the added costs with a landfill operation. It may be necessary for the city to purchase another site because of soil conditions in the present area and Mr. Noe was requested to investigate and report to the council.

The sewage problem on Weston Avenue was discussed and the Council indicated there has been no change in the problem and no easy solution because of the expense of either sewer installation or moving the houses to another location. Mr. Briggs suggested another meeting with the property owners to indicate that it will probably be a joint responsibility between the city and the owners.

A letter was read indicating the dates of the U. P. Municipal League Conference and requesting topics for discussion.

Glaucoma screening clinic scheduled here for June 10

Another glaucoma screening clinic will be held in Manistique Wednesday, June 10, it was announced last week by Andrew Sabol, Jr., Public Health Administrator for the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department.

Sponsors include the health department plus the Lions Club, county physicians and dentists, and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

"Glaucoma affects the vision of one in every 50 adults 40 years of age and over in the United States," Sabol said in announcing the program.

"These men and women -- 1,000,000 of them -- are slowly losing their sight from this eye disease because of ignorance or neglect.

"In order to detect this stealthy attacker before it does irreversible harm, the program will be held in St. Francis gymnasium on Wednesday, June 10, for all county residents 40 years of age and older," Mr. Sabol said.

He explained that glaucoma results when the normal drainage of fluid from the eyeball (aqueous humor) is interfered with because the tiny canal that carries the fluid out of the eye becomes narrowed or closed. When this happens, fluid continues to flow into the eye causing a buildup of pressure and damage to the nerves in the retina.

Symptoms of glaucoma sometimes include frequent changes of glasses, none of which is satisfactory; inability to adjust the eyes to a darkened room, such as a theater; loss of side (peripheral) vision; blurred or foggy vision or seeing rainbow-colored rings around lights.

If you have ever experienced any of these symptoms, he urges you to take part in the screening program, or consult your physician.

On the other hand, you may be suffering from the disease without noticing any of these symptoms.

Glaucoma can be detected in its stages by use of a tiny device called a tonometer, which measures the amount of pressure within the eye. The tests will be conducted by local physicians who are volunteering their services.

If glaucoma is found early, its progress can be arrested by medicine or surgery, depending upon the individual case. Unfortunately, damage that has already taken place cannot be corrected, thus the earlier the condition is discovered the less chance of permanent damage.

"Roll up a newspaper and look through it," Sabol suggested. "That is what a person with glaucoma in the advanced stages sees. If he goes to an eye doctor (ophthalmologist), something can be done to save what little sight he has left. But if he doesn't do anything. . . ."

The program will be conducted 6 to 9 p.m.

More than 70 million Americans enjoy outdoor swimming each summer.

Program is approved for aid training

The Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District has been advised of the approval of its application for a Paraprofessional Program under the Education Professions Development Act. The approval by the State Board of Education includes a grant of $18,700 to provide seven-weeks instruction at Bay de Noc Community College in courses designed to develop skills used in the many areas an aide is required to work.

The participants in this program will be recommended to the Intermediate School District by the local districts who expect to employ aides during the 1970-1971 school year.
