COHO FEVER—It's that time of year again, when the coho start to run at Thompson Creek, and the fishermen turn out in droves to try their luck, from the shore, in waders or by boat. The women in the foreground may not be having much luck—but they look more comfortable than the men in their waders. —Mincoff Photo

Who pays for the band member's saxophone?

A clarification on the recent Supreme Court ruling outlawing book fees and other charges in the public schools is being sought by the Manistiquie Area Schools.

The major question to be cleared up is whether or not band instruments must be furnished by the district or the student.

A statement on guidelines for the decision, released last week by the State Board of Education, said that schools may not charge for band instruments if credit toward graduation is given for band. However, the guidelines also say that the district may charge fees for any activity which is not required for obtaining a diploma.

Band members at Manistiquie furnish their own instruments. There is credit given for band, but it is not required to obtain a diploma.

Sup. Edwin Wuehle said the district could either furnish all the instruments for band members or, as an alternative, stop giving credit for band participation. A third solution would be for the state to clarify the ruling, which is now apparently contradictory.

Wuehle also said the local district may have to discontinue the $2 athletic activity fee that has been charged. Although schools are allowed to charge students for such things as football shoes, the local district was furnished these in the past. There has been a charge for football uniforms, which will probably be continued.

Free books, pencils, papers and crayons are among items students need for class work that must be provided by the schools under the new policy guidelines. Wuehle said the local district had provided some of these in the past. Another expense to the district now will be the purchase of drafting sets, which were formerly paid for by the student.

Wuehle said they are still assessing what the costs will be for the Manistiquie schools under the new guideline. One major factor will be whether or not the band instrument ruling is modified.

Basically, the policy says that all materials used as part of the school curriculum in required or elective classes must be free to students.

As soon as cost estimates are available, the State Board of Education will seek state appropriations from the Legislature to help ease the financial burden on school districts.

The board said, however, that school districts may continue to charge fees for extracurricular activities when such activities carry no academic credit.

Arling Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. John W. Pater said an example might be where members of a football team participating only in interscholastic and extracurricular sports could be required to furnish their own football shoes, but the school could not charge for band instruments if credit toward graduation is given for band.

CHERYL SCHUTT TERRANCE SCHULZE

Two local students given Lakehead Pipeline awards

Two Manistiquie students -- Cheryl Schutt and Terrance Schulze -- have won university scholarships under a plan which benefits the children of employees of Lakehead Pipe Line Company, Inc.

Miss Schutt is the daughter of R.W. Schutt, 203 Lake St., electrical foreman at the Manistiquie district office, while Schulze is the son of D.W. Schulze, of 317 Lake St., mechanical supervisor in this area. Both will receive $700 per year for a maximum of four years, providing they maintain a satisfactory scholastic record.

Miss Schutt will attend Northern Michigan University at Marquette, seeking a degree in education. Schulze plans to take a mechanical engineering course at Lake Superior State College, Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

The two are among nine Lakehead students to win the awards this year, bringing to 28 the number of county children now being sponsored in courses of higher learning by Lakehead Pipe Line Company.

The firm also sponsors a plan of assistance to college students who are not connected with the company and this year will provide $55,500 in bursary grants to seven universities in the mid-west area plus three college foundations.

School opening next Tuesday

Where did the sun 'er go? Youngsters in the Manistiquie Area School district may be asking themselves that question Tuesday morning as the 1970-71 school year opens here.

Teachers will have pondered the same question a day earlier, as they are scheduled for their first day Monday, with a 9 a.m. general assembly in the high school auditorium. Buses will be making their regular runs Tuesday, and the hot lunch program will be in operation that day.

Parents of those students affected will be notified of any changes in bus routes.

School hours are the same as last year.

One change has been made from the elementary schedule announced last week. There will be a kindergarten in session at Germank this fall, instead of transporting the nine students involved to sessions at the Mueller School. Kindergartners from Doyle, Mueller and Fairview areas will attend morning and afternoon sessions at Mueller.

Man injured in explosion

A garden man was seriously injured Sunday when the gas tank he was welding exploded.

Jack James, 55, was rushed to Schoardt Memorial Hospital by Public Safety ambulance following the accident at 11:50 a.m., then at 4:30 p.m. was transferred by ambulance to St. Luke's Hospital in Marquette to undergo brain surgery.

State Police said that James was welding a 700 gallon gas storage tank with an electric welding unit at his home, and that the tank exploded when compressed air equalizing the pressures was turbulent head injuries, loss of blood and was in deep shock.

HELLO THERE!--Mr. and Mrs. William Males, left, were among those greeting Republican Senatorial hopeful Lenore Romney last Wednesday as she paid a visit to Manistiquie.

Mrs. Romney outlines program

Schoolcraft County government would receive $50,351 with "no strings attached" from the Federal government under President Nixon's revenue sharing legislation, senatorial candidate Lenore Romney said last Wednesday during a quick visit to Manistiquie.

The proposed legislation, part of Nixon's "New Federalism" concept, is now tied up in committee, she said, but could start payments as early as 1971 if approved swiftly.

"Each year taxpayers in Michigan pay more than $7 billion to the Federal government. Under revenue sharing, at least $219 million would be returned annually to the state when the plan is in full operation," the wife of Michigan's former governor noted. She explained that the program is based on a state's population and its total income tax contribution.

Mrs. Romney lunched with county "Lenore for Senator" workers at noon at the Surf, visited Harbor View Towers, and spoke briefly to the senatorial citizens there, and then toured Cedar St. briefly before continuing to Munising.

She lashed the voting record of her opponent, Democratic incumbent Sen. Philip Hart. She said he "voted for almost every defense expenditure and against every cut in the military budget until President Johnson became a lame-duck president. Then he reversed his field, and became one of only five Senators to vote against the entire Military Procurement Bill of 1970 which provides the money for our national defense."

Mrs. Romney said that Hart "new votes for all domestic programs regardless of population, overlapping and the ultimate cost. His record of deficit spending is chronic and virtually uncontrolled."

She called the years between 1960 and 1968 "disastrous," and cited Hart's statement that he wished to help set priorities for the 70's. "Where was he during the 60's?" she asked.

Residents at Harbor View questioned her about student dissent and drug use, and she said that the nation's permissive attitude is reflected by events such as the Goose Lake Festival where massive disobedience takes place.

"Senator Hart says he cannot get right about massive disobedience, and it is reflected in the attitudes of our youth regarding our laws," she said. "Laws must be enforced equally in all places and at all times."

Accompanying Mrs. Romney were her son, Mitt, and a writer-photographer team from Look magazine, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cockran. "Lenore for Senator," chairman in Schoolcraft County, were in charge of local arrangements.

Airport impact is study topic

Economic impact of an improved Schoolcraft County Airport will be aired for a group of state legislators here Friday morning.

Andrews of the Michigan Aeronautics Association has notified local officials that he is sponsoring a House of Representatives development committee on their tour of Upper Peninsula. The group is due here Thursday evening and hold their meeting at the Fireside Inn at 9:30 P.M. They will make a presentation to the group outlining the economic advantages to this area resulting from the proposed airport expansion program. Members of the County Board of Commissioners and other interested persons are expected to attend and make their presentations on behalf of the project, as well as other economic development issues in Schoolcraft County and the Upper Peninsula.

Making the legislative tour are Representatives E. D. O'Brien, chairman; Casimir Ogonski and Thomas Anderson, all of Detroit; Donald Pears of Buchanan, Harry Rohlf of Saginaw and Thomas Sharpe of Howell.

Kenneth VanEyck named two-year education study

Daniel K. VanEyck, son of Mrs. Kenneth VanEyck of Manistiquie, has accepted a position in Washington, D.C. to collaborate on a study of the academic status, under the auspices of the American Council on Education.

He will be associated with Herbert K. Cary, who will be principal investigator. Dr. Cary is a well-known political scientist and author, who has worked for the past 11 years as president of Oberlin College in Oberlin, Ohio.

The study is concerned with the college faculty in the United States as a professional group, and an analysis of college faculty structure, professional values, and impending problems in this period of change in American higher education. The study, which is scheduled for publication in the fall of 1972, is supported by a grant from the Ford Foundation to the American Council on Education.

VanEyck, a 1950 graduate of Manistiquie High School, received his Ph.D. degree in 1955 from the Center for the Study of Higher Education at the University of Michigan. He has resigned from his present position as Dean of Students and Assistant Professor of History at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., to participate in this project.

Dr. and Mrs. VanEyck and their two daughters are moving to Washington this month where they will take up residence.

Old Nahma rectory leveled by blaze

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the old rectory at St. Lawrence Church three miles west of Nahma Saturday evening, State Police reported.

The blaze evidently started in an upstairs bedroom of the frame structure, which was no longer used by the church. Fire equipment from the American Playground Co. at Nahma responded to the blaze but was unable to save the building.

Street complaints heard by Council

There are those on the City Council who can remember the delegations who used to appear periodically to complain about the condition of the city's streets.

At Monday's meeting the large participation was largely by complaints about the job done by the paving and curb and gutter contractors who just recently finished their work on the city's street improvement program.

Few solutions were offered by Council -- largely because the city is in that transition period between city managers, New Manager Howard Fountain will not take over until Sept. 1.

The complaints came at the public hearing for review and special assessment roll for curbing. Some of the items: Sidewalks running between the sidewalk and the curb have been torn up and spill material from the road dumped into yards. Asphalt driveways have been torn up and the sidewalk raised.

The discussion also progressed to when and if Cedar St. was to be paved. The answer is essentially, but probably not until next year, largely because the condition of the sewer main has to be determined.

On to Williamsport!

Manistiquie's All-Star Little League team is going to the Little League World Series after all.

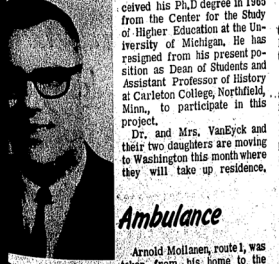

Not as competitors, however. Eliminated two weeks ago in a sub-regional play at Des Moines, Iowa, the Top O'Lake Michigan All-Stars will be making the journey to Williamsport, Pa., by private car and spectators.

Funds for their trip have been raised through donations from local business firms and individuals.

The group will leave in a caravan of five cars at 6 p.m. Thursday. They have reservations for Friday and Saturday night at the dormitory of a college in Williamsport. Plans are to view the World Series and return Sunday.

Going with the 14 team members are 10 drivers -- two to a car. They are: Roy-ald Tallman and Jack Olson, Homer Weber and Bob White, Earl Tunell and Francis Sel-ling, Bob Masters and Maurice Chandler, Dick Ketchik and Jim Ozanich.

Mrs. Walters ends course

Mrs. E. Walters of Downers Grove, Ill., the former Miss Manistique, the first woman graduate of the Institute for Management Studies, Col. St. Procopius College, has recently completed her second annual management exercises. She is one of 17 graduates to receive Certificates of Management Proficiency from the five-year course at the Institute this year.

The Institute for Management Studies is an evening business school offering a program of continuing education designed for middle managers. The program is unique in that companies rather than individuals join in sponsoring the Institute. The sponsoring company chooses its middle managers of potential for the four-year program in management development. The company pays all costs and participates in the formulation of Institute policy. The board of directors of the Institute consists of one executive from each sponsoring company.

ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Chester Woodruff of Manistique will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Sept. 6, with a reception at the VFW Hall from 4 to 8 p.m. The Woodruffs were married Sept. 7, 1920, in Manistique.

To the Editor:

Once again the Upper Peninsula Chapter of the Michigan Kidney Foundation, would like to make an appeal to the people of your area, to save Betty Crocker coupons for the purpose of purchasing an artificial kidney machine for the foundation's Loan Closet at Ann Arbor. The response of many individuals as well as churches and civic organizations, has helped us tremendously.

Wedding announced

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Marvin Wood announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen Jean Voisin, to Edwin Everett Wuchle on Friday, August 21, in St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Marquette.

BY HELEN D. MERWIN

Last Wednesday, Aug. 19, we had a very pleasant visitor come to see us, Mrs. Louise Romney, her son and staff. She gave us a talk with a question and answer period following. After she greeted each one personally and chatted for a while. She is a most gracious lady. We are glad she belongs to our great state of Michigan. We hope she has lots of luck at the polls in November.

On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. George Merwin and daughters Mimi and Jacqueline called on Mrs. Helen Merwin. George is the son of Lewis J. Merwin who at one time ran the Pioneer-Tribune.

Friday word came to Mrs. Helen Merwin that she is a great-grandmother. Mr. and Mrs. Michael McArthur of Glendora, Cal. had a 6 pound 8 ounce daughter. They will call her Michele Lynn. Mrs. McArthur is the former Mary Parker. Vernon Witter and nephew Willard Witter of Alpena, stopped to visit Mrs. Merwin at the Towers Sunday. Vernon Witter is a cousin to the late Ralph H. Merwin.

I was talking to Mike Barr; he's been painting and slicking up around here. Over the week end he did the furnace room, store room and laundry room. He said while he was working he thought about all the snow he'll have to move so he'd better get that done before that "beautiful white stuff" appears.

I looked out the other day and saw a beautiful sail boat on the lagoon by the breakwater and I thought it was pretty small for people to be in it. Then I saw a man and a boy and a dog on the shore and it came to me what it was. One of those remote control affairs. You can make it do what you want it to.

Tuesday friends and relatives had a birthday party for Mrs.

Agnes Kelly. Mrs. Hilda Anderson came back home Monday after a mad's visit at Repton.

Local Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ackley of Whitmore Lake are visiting here for two weeks with relatives and friends.

Forrest Williams of Lansing spent a few days with his father, Ernest Williams, and also visited other old friends.

Letter to the Editor

United States Congress passed the Urban Renewal program in 1949. Specifically, it was designed to eliminate and reduce the spread of slums and blighted areas. These concentrations to be most prominent in the metropolitan areas. It was assumed by the Urban Renewal program that slums could be eliminated by big city governments. However, as it became known that Urban Renewal could also be used in rural areas, the Urban Renewal program was extended to rural areas. It is the responsibility of the federal government to provide the financial assistance of the Housing and Urban Development department. The program is not different than other mechanical programs or other mechanical programs as far as their life expectancy is concerned. They are built to serve a purpose. They are made to last. After a period of time, considerable amount of repair and maintenance is needed to restore them. When repair will no longer pay the job, they must either be replaced or replaced. Of course, in a business district, it would be disastrous to replace buildings. Hence, they must be restored or replaced. When public hearings are advertised, attend them and keep informed on our Urban Renewal progress. If you differ with our program intentions, or don't understand them, let us know. Your opinions are welcome in this office. Since it's everyone's business, Quinton Mitchell, Urban Renewal Director, Tribune Want Ads, Cost so Little.

"OUT OUR WAY"

News From Road 437

Bl Fisks! It's a bit cool this morning and our summer season is having a touch of fall slowly moving in. What wild flowers still blooming seem to be doing a ballet as the whim of a cool breeze touches them. As I drive along I see a touch of crimson and gold among the green leaves of the maple trees. The same along the highway seems to be a blaze as it gets its fall color of red. Even the cinnamons have their fruits of harvest are at hand. Fields of grain turn to gold, apples are being picked, and chokes cherries are starting to show. The mountain ash with its silver red berries are getting ready to feed our song and some birds. We can consider ourselves fortunate to have these changes of seasons to give us a different look of nature for thus a year. So the coming of autumn's golden days is at hand as all travelers come in to remind us the summer season is ending. At the Little Christopher Monopack Schenck from Lima, Ohio and his brother, Henry Schenck and family from Farmington, Mich. are enjoying their vacation. Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Canale Voelke, who are staying at Marie Williams cabin on Gosneek Lake, were Mr. and Mrs. Alvar Stephens from Iron Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. Kenton Billings and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Tuonen. These folks all enjoyed their two weeks of fishing and visiting. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Carr of St. Cloud, Fla. were guests of the Jerry Edgerton's who were vacationing at their cabin at Thunder Lake. Also spending a few days with the Edgertons were their daughters, Geri Edgerton and Mrs. Lynn Kofer and her twin sons Tim and Jim from Milanapolis, Ind. Spending a few days with the Lake were Mrs. Underwood's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Giebler of Pontiac, Mich. and friends Helen Egerton of Dayton, Ohio, and Friend March from Find, Mich. Vacation days will be over this week for many children as they start their way back to school. This will mean that the drivers should be alert for a little carelessness in crossing the street. Friends of birthday greetings go to Roy Huskins, Mrs. James Kelly, Janice Rapp, William McEachron, and Betty Sayers. Anniversary wishes go out to the Roy Huskins. May the day for all of you be one of complete happiness. Until next week enjoy the rest of your vacation days and stay healthy and happy. Mrs. Scoop

Council

Several Oak St. property owners were informed that their special assessments have been dropped, despite the notice they received, because no new curbing was installed in the 700 block.

A list of the problems was made, and corrections and that work will be made to correct deficiencies. It was pointed out that the city workers, who normally do the clean up work following such a project, have been exceptionally busy. Efforts will be made by the city, however, to restore lawn areas to their former condition.

Following the hearing, Council approved a resolution confirming the assessment roll, setting up a repayment period of 10 years, and an interest rate of 9 per cent, or 1 per cent over the average rate of interest that the bonds will be sold for, whichever is lower. Interest charges will start Nov. 1.

Robert Clerke appeared before Council to complain that the Manistique TV Cable Co. had not installed a unit in his home, following his payment last Thursday during Dollar Days. It was suggested that he give the firm some extra time for the installation, but that if he continued to be dissatisfied, his complaint should go to the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Signs prohibiting parking on Maple St. by Oak St. will be installed by the city, Council agreed. The no parking area will run along the west side of Maple St., from the alley by the former Ernest Press home south, across Oak St., to the end of the former Landstrom building. The area was described as hazardous to traffic, particularly vehicles attempting to cross Maple St. when their vision is blocked by parked vehicles. The vote on the resolution was 3-2, with Mayor Doug Rose and Councilman Fred Cayia objecting.

Mayor Rose also reported he had met with the County Board of Commissioners regarding replacement of the county dog catcher. He has learned that Dick Martin has been hired and is working part-time at the post.

A resolution taking the first step to convey 4.3 acres of land at the north end of the quarry to the State of Michigan, for use as a future armory site. Council also agreed to present jacket emblems of the city seal to members of the Manistique All-Stars Little League

FINE CATCH--Illis son Garrett, two and half years old, doesn't seem too interested in the fish, but these three fine speckled trout are proudly displayed by John Kopecky, who caught them last week in the Big Indian. Two are 20 inches long, the third is 18 inches. Kopecky is married to the former Jane Lee of Gulliver, and they are vacationing here prior to moving to White Pine.

St. Francis opens Sept. 1

Contrary to the bulletin, St. Francis of Sales School will begin Tuesday, Sept. 1. There will be an 8 A.M. mass for the student body in honor of the Holy Spirit.

Enrollment for the school team at the next meeting.

A resolution requesting the Department of Natural Resources to withhold certain lands from the tax sale, in order to allow the former owner to redeem, was approved.

School

The Board policy statement grew out of a July 17 ruling of the Michigan Supreme Court.

In a case brought by parents in Ann Arbor, the high court said that general student fees were illegal and also ruled that textbooks and school supplies, being essential to school, must be provided without charge to the student or his parent's under the Michigan Constitution.

After consulting with the State Attorney General and numerous school authorities, the State Board of Education published its guidelines to help define responsibilities of the state's more than 600 districts.

Among the items covered by the State Board of Education policy statement:

-- No student should be denied even extracurricular activities because of family financial hardship.

-- Schools do not have to furnish free food or clothing offered in request or elective classes.

-- Charges for damage or loss of school property may be imposed if the books or other materials have been provided free, and reasonable, refundable deposits may be required from those able to pay.

-- Adult education courses not leading to a high school diploma, and summer school classes not part of an extended school year, may charge fees.

As a means of providing examples of what schools may not make charges for, the Board cited: pencils, paper, crayons, regular and supplemental textbooks, band instrumentals, weekly readers or other periodicals if required in the classroom, towels, locks, lockers, shop materials, drafting supplies, home economics materials, workbooks, materials in science classes, book rental, educational trips required for class and vocational or special education. The Board said school districts may charge for: class yearbooks; football shoes; or organizational dues; admission fees to athletic contests; dances or plays; state or county fairs on a voluntary basis; dues for such "extracurricular" tests as National Merit or college entrance exams; or damage or loss of school-owned materials; club dues; yearbooks; football shoes; transportation for non-residents; sponsored trips; less they are a class activity; caps and gowns, and insurance fees for interscholastic activities in accordance with state statutes.

HEADACHE SUFFERERS

1. Stop Smoking!
2. Approve of yourself. You are as good as the next fellow. If you are given a compliment, take it and make good use of it.
3. Do not be a slave to the clock. Work at your own pace. Trying to meet too many deadlines only creates tension.
4. Tolerance makes understanding of the other fellow a little easier.
5. This is not a perfect world. Perfection is rarely attained, so be satisfied with less.
6. Speak up if you want to. Honesty and directness break down barriers and make friendships easier.
7. Be efficient, yes, but not to the extent that perfection becomes a burden.
8. You cannot please everybody, so stop trying.
9. Stop feeling guilty. We are all human and we all make errors. Give a little and you will get a lot, maybe even a reduction of that pain in your head.

Senior Citizens' Corner

BY EILEEN MALES

Wednesday evening, Aug. 19, our center was filled when we showed the films, "Silver Coho" and the National Geographic films on "Chimpanzees." Smear and cribbage were played and we enjoyed the company of Charlie and Steve and all the other folks that attended from the Harbor View apartments. As usual Minola DeSautel brought some of her excellent baked goodies.

We want to say a hearty "thank you" to everyone who has donated their time and gifts such as Annie and Chuck Lander, Bob Walters, Byron Peterson, George Chvala and the Boy Scouts. It certainly encourages us when people show their interest in us as this is a community project and it benefits so many people.

This week your director will be attending the course on Social Gerontology at Northern quetta. The center is open as usual with Senior Citizens filling in for me. This Friday there will be a social hour and cards at 7 p.m.

A river to save

EFFORTS ARE UNDERWAY to qualify Michigan's Pere Marquette River as this state's first addition to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

The U.S. Forest Service and Michigan's Department of Natural Resources are jointly conducting a study which spans the entire Pere Marquette River flowing in Lake, Mason, Oceana and Newaygo counties.

At this point, the Pere Marquette is Michigan's only candidate among 27 streams being studied throughout the country for possible listing under the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System. Designation of any river as part of the national system insures that the stream will never be dammed, straightened, or otherwise changed from its free-flowing condition.

We certainly have no quarrel with the efforts to mark the Pere Marquette in this manner. It's a beautiful river, and efforts to preserve that beauty should be applauded.

Whatever questions we have about the efforts would be to wonder why it is the only Michigan river being considered. The thought immediately occurs that our Upper Peninsula can submit quite a few candidates for such efforts.

Here in Schoolcraft County, for instance, the most obvious choice would have to be the Indian River between its source at Widewaters all the way downriver to Indian Lake. At this time, that stretch of wild and beautiful river seems to be a perfect candidate to meet the requirements of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, which require a river to be free of impoundments and run at least 25 miles. It must also "possess outstandingly remarkable scenic, recreational, geologic, fish and wildlife, historic, cultural and other similar values." That sounds like a tailor-made description of the Indian.

To those who would wonder about the river's value, or question the need for its preservation, we would recommend a canoe trip down the length of the stream, from Widewaters to Indian Lake. If there is no argument that there is beauty in nature, then there is no argument that there is rare beauty along the Indian that deserves protection.

The river is shallow in its first courses, twisting down from Widewaters to a spot near Straits Lake, then turning eastward to run over a clear gravel bottom, to be joined by the Little Indian and finally to reach the small settlement at Steuben. There the character of the river changes, with more loops and bends, deeper and faster water, cutting through high sand banks down which the white pine was once driven on its way to the sawmill. Old logs still hug the banks and rest in the water, presenting a challenge to the skilled canoeist.

Southward it turns, past the Jack Pine campground and finally spreading out as the sand ridges broaden, to a series of channels snaking their way through hummocks and high spots, flattening itself out into "The Spreads" before it joins the waters of Indian Lake close to Kitch-iti-kipi, the Big Spring.

It would not be unusual, on this trip, to surprise a red buck watering in the stream, to send a flock of ducks whirling into the air, to watch a beaver at work, or see the fish hawks circling above.

Most of this wild and wonderful country is already in Federal ownership as part of the Hiawatha National Forest, so perhaps our concern is unnecessary, for they have been good stewards in the past.

The hope is, of course, that they be given all the tools necessarily to wisely continue their guardianship over this uniquely beautiful corner of the world.

Rhubarb and rutabagas

Who speaks on behalf of the rutabaga? Nobody, it seems--a deficiency I intend to clear up right now with a few hundred well-chosen words.

For too many years we natives of the Upper Peninsula have taken Brassica napobrassica for granted. (That's the horticulturists' name for rutabaga, and I know it is because I looked it up in the dictionary to give this essay a little class.)

For years we have gone along, planting and harvesting our beggies, taking for granted this noble vegetable that rivals bread as the staff of life. For years we have accepted it and utilized it, building strong bodies and sensitive taste buds, enriching our blood streams with its hardy protein and cleansing our livers with its rejuvenating juices. And what have we done in return? Nothing, really, except periodic pronouncements of indifference and apathy and token gestures to control the spit-bleeb and field rust.

The subject of the rutabaga came up recently at a political luncheon, of all places. (I say of all places because everyone should know that the rutabaga is strictly non-political, nourishing Democrats as well as Republicans, Whigs, Prohibitionists and American Independents.)

In an effort to keep the conversation on a non-political level (I always try to do that at political luncheons, for it aids the digestion considerable), I was expounding the merits of the Upper Peninsula pasty, a food form that is gaining increasing acceptance among the unenlightened. This conversation led us into the ingredients of a pasty, which of course led us to rutabagas, their values and their uses.

"My favorite," commented this member of the politico's entourage, "is rutabaga pie."

Well, this was a surprise, even to as strong a rutabaga advocate as myself. A rutabaga can be fried, boiled, baked, escalloped, filleted, chopped, scrambled, fricasseed, broiled, Southern fried, mashed, used as topping for ice cream, grated, rolled in batter, boned, squeezed, sauteed, marinated, pickled and preserved, but I must admit I have yet to taste my first rutabaga pie.

"It's delicious," he explained. "You get those nice, tender red shoots right after the leaves begin to green out and..."

Oh my, he was confused. The poor soul was thinking of rhubarb, which led me to wonder what a pasty would taste like if the rhubarb were substituted for the rutabaga, which also almost spoiled my digestion.

I made a mental note right then about my vote in November, for any politician with a following that doesn't know rhubarb from rutabaga must be automatically suspect in my book.

In fact I think it's time we held an investigation or hearing about the attitude of Washington, D.C. toward the rutabaga. In furtherance of this essay I went to my 1970 World Almanac and Book of Facts, hoping to secure some impressive sounding figures on national rutabaga production through the years. Imagine my chagrin to find it wasn't even listed. Did you know that in Home and Garden Bulletin No. 72, U.S. Department of Agriculture, listing the nutritive value of foods, the rutabaga is omitted? Talk about subsversive! Collards and egg plant are also excluded, if it's any consolation, but I'll leave that omission to the collard and egg plant fanciers of the nation while I take up the cudgel on behalf of the rutabaga.

You can find all about egg production, the consumption of sweet potatoes and milled rice, grain receipts at western grain centers, plus grain elevator capacities, government farm support payments and farm-mortgage debt outstanding by lender groups, but do you think you can find line one about how many rutabagas were grown last year?

Our Extension Agent Howard Handorf assures me there is plenty of literature available on the care and feeding of rust resistant rutabagas which sort of mollifies me, but have they ever had a rutabaga field day up at the Chatham Experiment Station?

The more loyal readers of this column will recall that I have been agitating in recent years for a gigantic Rutabaga Festival for this area, and I think I am going to have to step up the promotion if for no other reason than to more clearly delineate the difference between rhubarb and rutabagas.

I still think one of the features of the Festival could be a rutabaga pie eating contest. If nothing else, someone would have to come up with a recipe for rutabaga pie.

And don't think that might not worry the rhubarb growers of America!

SO WAVE THE FLAG FOR HUDSON HIGH

The Research Institute reported last week that "Wheaties--the Breakfast of Champions"--turned traitor and wrecked a generation's faith by ranking low in nutrient value.

Jack Armstrong, the All-American Boy, was on the radio for Wheaties in my youth. I was a great Jack Armstrong fan.

Jack played every sport for Hudson High during the entire time I was in grade school. I never thought about it then, but he must have been at least 30 by the time I was graduated. So in addition to peddling a breakfast cereal that wasn't much good, he was probably chiseling on eligibility requirements, too.

But that wasn't the impression he gave while he was at Hudson High. There, you could always count on Jack to come through -- because he ate Wheaties; to always do the right American thing -- because he ate Wheaties; to be the most moral, ethical high school boy in the world -- because he ate Wheaties!

There would never be any student dissent at Hudson High while good old Jack was around. No sir, Jack would have stopped anything like that right away. Jack had more influence at Hudson High than the superintendent, and that was back in the thirties when superintendents still had influence.

It's not only Jack that shatters my faith; it's all of the other real athletes whose pictures appeared on the back of the Wheaties boxes. Those superstars were lying to us kids. I never did believe they ate the stuff every morning, but I figured that maybe once a week they heaped a heaping bowl of Wheaties before they ate their ham and eggs.

I kept on eating the stuff because stars like big Bill Tilden, Ellsworth Vines, The Dean brothers (me and Paul), and Schoolboy Rowe claimed they ate it.

Now that I'm 45 years old, I find out that Wheaties didn't help them to be champions at all. That fodder was low in nutrients.

I never really expected to be a champion like Jack Armstrong, the All-American Boy. I couldn't see very well, and I know Wheaties couldn't help that--but I kept on eating that chaff because Jack and the superstars said so, and I thought it might help me make the first team.

Is it any wonder one generation doesn't trust the next? I think that half of the student dissent today is because of Jack Armstrong, Wheaties, and the truthbending athletes of the thirties. Now I find I lose dimes on the golf course to Dave Rood and Harold the Stone Salesman because Wheaties was low in nutrients. It's enough to make one want to go out and join a protest movement -- or at least sue General Mills.

Fall comes right after the U.P. State Fair. The children will be back to school and everything can go back to normal again. I know some of you are thinking "goody, goody!"

The Area Extension Homemakers' council had its first fall meeting last Tuesday to get the ball rolling for another year. County councils will now be meeting to make more definite local plans.

It's corn on the cob time. Indulging in corn feeds is in full swing and the time is so short to enjoy good corn on the cob. You kind of forget about counting calories for a while. If you raise your own you're lucky because it tastes best fresh from the garden. Gail Bowers, the Menominee County water on to both then goes out to pick the corn. You'd call his extra fresh corn on the cob and it can't be beat.

One of my favorite vegetables, fall or any time of the year, is fresh or frozen broccoli. It's full of flavor and is just loaded with vitamins especially vitamin A. And if you need to count, it is also very low in calories. If you grow broccoli in your garden, freeze what you can't eat fresh. You'll enjoy it next winter. Remember too, that bulletins on freezing and canning fruits and vegetables are available, free of charge, at the Extension Office.

We had the cyclamate scare, then the one using monosodium glutamate. The controversy over monosodium glutamate has ended. The Food and Drug Administration has declared it to be safe for human use. Research shows there is no risk to man from normal use of MSG as a food flavor enhancer and institutional food preparation. The final report did, however, recommend that it not be added to infant foods because it could not find any benefit from its use.

Mrs. Pappas attends guidance workshop

Mrs. Lee Pappas, guidance counselor at Manistique High School, has returned from a career counseling workshop held last week on the campus of Northern Michigan University.

The 50 counselors in attendance worked toward developing a guidance program and career planning more related to the needs of Upper Peninsula students and potential employers. The session will be followed by action meetings during the year.

I like the friendly full service that the First National Bank gives us. It seems no matter how important or how trivial my business is, I always feel welcome there. They always have time for me. And I enjoy going there, it is a pleasant place to do business.

Thor Reque of Floreks A&W

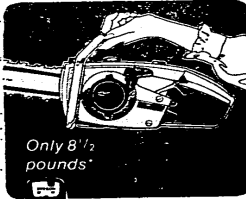

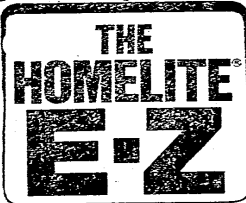

The bank to me is a personal friend, who when you need advice, when you need assistance, is always there. The First National Bank has always represented this to me. And I can't think of a friendlier place to go, and the kindlier reception that I received. I would recommend the First National Bank for these very reasons.

This is Mary Sue. She has nice clothes and good food. I know, because sometimes I help feed and dress her.

What she doesn't have is a mother and a father. Oh, she has parents, but they're judged unfit to care for her.

Things must have been pretty bad for her at home. It took a long time to win her trust. The day she smiled was a major triumph for us all.

I'm a teen-age volunteer at a foundling home operated by our church. For most of the youngsters, this is the first experience with love and kindness, good food and clean clothes. Now I realize how important is our church's mission work.

Your church interprets God's love in its ministry to the sick and starving, the aged and the dispossessed.
