If you object to having your name in this column, "don't let it happen." All names that appear on the docket are reported. None are withheld by the Pioneer-Tribune.

Mrs. Mary Strange, 201 Range St., appeared in District Court Tuesday on a hearing to show cause why she should not be held in contempt of court for her failure to appear on a charge of furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors.

She had been arrested by Police Safety officers last Thursday, following her failure to appear Aug. 28 on the liquor charge. Her $100 bond had been forfeited earlier and a bench warrant issued for her arrest. Visiting Judge Robert Wood of the Law - Mackinac district found her guilty on the contempt charge and fined her $50 costs plus 30 days in jail, or 35 days if the fine and costs are not paid by Oct. 31.

Her trial on the furnishing count is scheduled for District Court Oct. 15.

He paid $10 plus $21 costs for having an overlimit of geese, and $10 and $9 for an unlicensed shotgun. William A. Perkins, Grand Rapids, was assessed $15 costs on a charge of illegally hunting Sandhill Cranes.

The $40 bond posted by Theo Brown of Ann Arbor on a speeding charge was forfeited by the court.

OUTDOORS with GORDIE

by GORDON CHARLES

The Women's Liberation movement has been getting a lot of attention because it's an action group protesting discrimination. For the same reasons, watch for the formation of the angler's Liberation movement one of these days.

Consider this: During the past three or four years all you hear about is salmon. DNR is putting so much money into colts and colts that other fish are being overlooked. Aside from ignoring such fine species as bluegills, bullheads, bass, pike, perch and crapples, there is a lot of other downright discrimination.

Take the salmon give-away program for example. For the fishermen who can't catch a salmon, why worry! All he has to do is to go to one of the weirs at Plette River or the Little Manistique River and DNR will give him a fish. If he has a wife they get two fish because she gets a free fishing license on his license. (Widows will nine hungry kids get only one fish.)

Even the salmon give-away program is built-in discrimination. If you happen to live in Beulah or Bear Lake or Singam, you are in pretty good shape because the free fish are close at hand. How about all those hard-working fishing li-fishermen, of course, don't wear bras but a lot of them wear vests. A massive burning of fishing vests would get the anglers almost as much attention as the women get when they burned their unmentionables as a form of protest.

The DNR better wake up -- and soon. What the Women's Liberation is doing for the gals, the Angler's Liberation will be doing for the wadercast fraternity.

A lot of fish heads could roll!

OEDP committees in six counties begin new functions in October marks the beginning of the OEDP Committee work in the six counties served by the Upper Peninsula Economic Development District.

The OEDP Committees are not to be confused with County Planning Commissions, which are appointed by the County Board of Commissioners, and limited to 11 members. Planning Commissions are principally concerned with physical planning for their counties. County OEDP Committees are limited in number. Appointment is made by the organization which the member represents. Every attempt is made to see that only important economic activities of both the private and public sector is represented. The concept of the OEDP Committees is for overall economic development.

The four County OEDP Committees, plus one other member at large, are: Delta County, Ontonagon County, Benzie County, and Schoolcraft County. The OEDP Committee members are appointed by the County Board of Commissioners. They are involved in the ongoing process of regional planning. They discuss development goals and priorities for the six-county area. At present, the following are serving as representatives to the CUPEDD Commission: Schoolcraft County: Wallace Langel, chairman; Ralph Gilliam, vice chairman; Thor Rogue, secretary; Lindsay Frenette, treasurer; Thomas J. Slomping, member-at-large.

Delta County: George W. Busch, Executive Director of CUPEDD since its organization in January 1969, takes pride in the broad representation on the County OEDP Committees. He feels that this is "... putting government control and decision making into the hands of local people, where it should be."

"The development of a Regional Plan takes time," says R. Myron Ross, Chairman of the CUPEDD Commission. Knowledge and understanding of the many resources and elements of a region cannot be obtained hurriedly. It may be impossible to eradicate selfish and provincial thinking in our generation," however, he believes, "this regional approach to planning, coming out of these OEDP Committees, will provide the opportunity to solve our chronic cooperation problems. Our future survival may depend on our ability to make the best use of our natural and human resources."

The purpose of Federal Aid programs is to alleviate the distress of unemployed and low-income persons, especially in redevelopment areas." Although this philosophy relates to a specific segment of the population, these efforts will upgrade the economy in general. All priorities must be related to that purpose. The priority list of the top ten projects adopted by the Schoolcraft County OEDP Committee are:

1. Manistique marina project
2. Schoolcraft County Airport expansion and development
3. County low cost housing
4. Manistique low cost housing
5. Sewage - secondary treatment plant, Manistique phosphate removal
6. Sewage treatment for major industry - Manistique Pulp

Working individually, the county OEDP committees spent this past year considering the needs and problems of their area, and established their list of priorities. As could be expected, many were based upon the urgency of local situations and some upon the availability of state and federal funds. Most projects adopted were in the field of housing, sewer and water projects, industrial development, and health and educational facilities.

bringing government to the people, the citizen enters into a partnership. This makes him cooperative and constructive in his thinking instead of hostile and negative, which is the natural result of feeling left out or ignored. He says, "I believe that government has an obligation to keep the citizen informed, and to provide easy access to its functioning bodies."

Minutes of all regular meetings as well as other major documents are filed with the County Clerks, and are part of the public record. The regular schedule for County OEDP Committee meetings follows:

The Schoolcraft County OEDP Committee meeting is held monthly on the first Thursday of the first Thursday in Manistiquet.

Gun in compartment, driver is arrested

Daniel J. Kominak, 22, of Kingsford, was jailed in Delta County Saturday after being apprehended by State Police on US-2 in Nahma Township and charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Officers had stopped Kominak for a traffic violation and found a .22 caliber pistol in the glove compartment. He appeared in District Court in Escanaba and was released on $100 bond, and will appear Oct. 9.

Maple worm infests trees

Fall colors, a joy for one and all, are absent in some locations of the U.P. This fall, scattered outbreaks of a late summer maple defoliator, the red lipped maple worm, have occurred in Alger, Chippewa, Schoolcraft and Ionia counties. A spectacular defoliation is presently occurring along Highway M-28 at Hulbert Corners, Hulbert Lake.

The red lipped maple worm is a lambs-ear marked caterpillar, being black, white and yellow striped. It has a red-orange head and a red-orange hump near the rear end of the body, giving it its common name. Mature caterpillars are slightly less than two inches long. The caterpillars hatch in late August and feed upon maples and beech until early October. The winter is passed in cocoon spun in the leaf litter on the forest floor. The ashen gray adult moths emerge in late spring and lay clusters of eggs on the underside of leaves.

The damage done to the forest by this insect is primarily aesthetic. Defoliation occurring to hardwoods this late in the growing season has little or no effect on the trees. Trees defoliated this fall will leaf out normally again next spring. Outbreaks of the type occurring at Hulbert Corners normally last three to five years.

The caterpillars will build very large population numbers which in turn results in an increase in natural mortality factors. These combined cause the maple worm population to "crash," ending the outbreak.

Paintings available from local library

Throw Snow The Modern Way With A JACOBSEN Tractor

Snow shoveling today is not only outdated, it's also dangerous. With Jacobsen compact LT, Chief, or Super Chief, you needn't worry about sore muscles or aching back. The big 36" capacity, two stage snow thrower attachment moves giant amounts of snow quickly and easily. The large auger chews up the snow, hi-speed second stage rotor spins it out, and the directional chute puts it out of the way where you want it. For lighter jobs, a 34" or 38" single stage snow thrower is available as well as snow plow blades.

Our editorial efforts in a joint Gumees-Gitchee campaign, with a slogan like: "Golly, Gosh, Glorioso, Gee! Help to Save the Gumees-Gitchee!"

And R.K.D. might suggest to his daughter, the songwriter, that I've hit upon a catchy phrase: "By the shores of Lake Superior, stands the wigwam of the Gumees-Gitchee, . . ." It has a certain corry ring to it that she may be able to capitalize on.

Until we get further organized, I would suggest that all donations be sent to me here at the Pioneer-Tribune, and to simplify matters, - the checks can be made out to cash.

P.S. For Editor Dorothy's benefit I am offering him the exclusive Kalamazoo County publication rights for Ester Soderbeck's Rutabaga Surprise. I will send the pasty recipe later.

RUTABAGA SURPRISE:
Slice Rutabaga and cook until tender in large amount of water. Add salt before removing from flame. Drain and dip each slice in beaten egg mixture of bread crumbs and brown sugar. Fry in butter until brown. Serve with Pepto-Bismol.

POLITICS: THE ARENA FOR EDUCATIONAL CHANGE

The theme of the annual conference of the Michigan Association of School Administrators at Mackinac Island was Politics: the Arena for Educational Change. With a theme like that in an election year, the program was studied with congressmen, state senators and representatives, the candidates for the office of governor, the state superintendent of public instruction, and highlighted by Jack Anderson, editor of "Washington Merry - Go - Round."

Here are some of the quotable quotes:

Charles W. Lee, Executive Secretary of the Emergency Committee for Full Funding of Educational Programs -- "The arena for political action is not in Washington; it is in your own school districts." "Education is a seamless web from kindergarten through graduate school, and we cannot rob one segment to fund another."

Congressman Marvin L. Esch "We can expect twenty to thirty per cent federal funding of education in the future."

Congressman William D. Ford - "There are educators who don't understand the political process. You need to understand what your power is and what it should be." "No Congressman has even been scared by educators." "School superintendents have never made life uncomfortable for a congressman."

Governor William G. Milliken - "You (educators) must develop a greater degree of accountability."

Senator Sander M. Levin - (when questioned about lowering the voting age to 18) "People who are affected by the decisions should be allowed to help make those decisions."

Representative Clifford H. Smart - "Educators are in an unusual political situation, because you are not a single purpose group." "If there is anything wrong in society, it is the school's fault. You are the dumping ground for all of the ills."

Charles W. Greenleaf, Administrative Assistant to Governor Milliken - "With political success and aggressiveness comes opposition."

Stat^o Senator James D. Gray

"If you want to be effective in Lansing, your face should be recognized when you come in." "Just being right doesn't mean that you win."

Jack Anderson, editor, "Washington Merry - Go - Round" - "We have a low grade guerilla war going on in this country." "The streets of Saigon are safer than the streets of Detroit." "We will not solve the problem of crime with bumper stickers." "We will solve nothing by reducing complex situations to slogans."

And that's it--some quotes from a conference on Politics: The Arena for Educational Change.

Rest in peace

The wooden picket fences that mark the gravesites are rotting, and many of the headstones are broken and worn, but there's a lot of history to be gleaned from this quiet little pioneer cemetery in the pines located just outside of Copper Harbor, at the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula in Michigan's Copper Country.

Whose problem is this?

WE HAVE A PROBLEM every week at the Pioneer-Tribune, trying to make the news that is available and the space that is available come out even. There have been a few weeks when we have succeeded, through a chain of circumstances that seems to escape the editor's assessment, but for the most part we find ourselves on Wednesday with about eight pages worth of news and four pages in which to put it.

This is most discouraging, to editor and contributor alike. When we leave items out, the person who submitted the news could cheerfully strangle the editor for his obvious oversight and poor judgement. The editor, on the other hand, listens to his stomach grumble and takes another antacid tablet as he cuts and juggles and snips away, leaping from page to page like a ring-tailed baboon with the swimmer's itch, squeezing one story in with fiendish glee and weeping bitter tears as he consigns another story to limbo.

Many are culled, but few are chosen, and the best solution for the editor is to arrange to be out of the office most of Thursday when irate readers call to determine what happened to the literary gem that they submitted.

The true villain in the piece, of course, is the business manager, who is more concerned with a financial success than an artistic triumph. His concern is thus because it is his responsibility to pay the various bills and meet the payroll, including the editor's salary, which places the editor in a poor bargaining position when he presents himself to complain about the fact that he's not getting enough space for his news.

Which brings us to point out a relatively simple maxim of the weekly newspaper publishing business: You can only print the number of pages that are justified by the advertising support received that week. If you get advertising enough for 10 pages, you jolly well better run 10 pages, because if you run 12 you will be spending money you don't have—a weakness that may be accepted by editors but never by business managers and their creditors.

It is appropriate to unmask all these intricate financial meanderings to the public eye at this time in view of the fact that we are in the midst of National Newspaper Week, and it is our opinion that too large a segment of the American public has little or no idea of what makes newspapers tick and why they are the way they are. Certainly there has been more heat than light offered on the subject by such intellectual giants as Spiro Agnew, who is busy championing the right of the press to tell it like he wants it to be told instead of like it is.

It has become popular, particularly among politicians, to attack the press. This alone is no problem, nor is it unique or new. What is disturbing is the fact that these attacks bring enthusiastic applause from audiences that should know better. They encourage other critics and, eventually, the stifling of the free and independent spirit that has marked American journalism for the past 200 years.

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top O'Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

Many of you no doubt noticed a little item on page one of last week's Pioneer-Tribune, thanking the advertisers who had made the issue possible, and explaining that if some news was submitted that did not appear, it was because sufficient advertising was not received to run the pages necessary for full news coverage. It may seem odd to some, running an explanation such as that on page one, but it is done in the hopes of helping people to understand the economics of a free press, and to perhaps appreciate some of the limitations and frustrations of putting together a weekly community newspaper.

If Manistique—or any community—is to have a successful newspaper, then that newspaper needs to be strong financially as well as editorially. If it does not receive the support of the community—and we mean advertising support, the lifeblood of any newspaper—then it cannot begin to do the job of community reporting. The shortcomings of most responsible newspapers are those that are imposed by financial limitations. If a newspaper is denied advertising support, how then can it be expected to fulfill its obligations to the community? Who is to blame, the newspaper or the community?

Perhaps the argument can be made that in this electronic age there is no

Rally round the Gitchee

There's Good News this week from Sugar Beet Country.

That's the word from Richard Dorothy, editor of the Otsego Union and our sometimes Kalamazoo County correspondent.

He too has become concerned about the plight of the Gitchee Bird, and it was with considerable elation I read his letter, as follows:

"While fishing for carp in the lower reaches of the Kalamazoo River recently, I was bombed by a low flying pair of unusually accurate birds. I noted some strangely familiar characteristics of their flight pattern and asked my son, the Naturalist, to identify them. Now hold on to your ornithological hat! They were a pair of migrating Gitchee Birds, heading due south on a favorable tailwind. I immediately thought of you and your noble fight to save this fast diminishing species. However, remembering that the last time a migrating Gitchee Bird was sighted this far inland from Lake Michigan in September was in 1902, I decided to try for further authentication and therefore alerted the Abronja Chapter of the Allegan County Birdwatchers Society. They've had a contingent in the field for a week and we now have 14 positive identifications and three probables.

"Why do you think they are migrating early this year? Six weeks before deer season, in fact. Has this been a low-yield year for rutabagas? Have your people stopped manufacturing pasties? Have the Finlanders secretly home-steaded the Ottawa Marsh and planted huge crops of rutabagas, contrary to Consternation Department regulations?

"This area has had investigative funds coming ever since the salmon did Congressman Hutchinson out of his plan to study dead alewives. I'm sure that both he and Senator Ford will want to introduce bills in the House and Senate simultaneously to establish a Gitchee Bird Sanctuary in this area. It so happens that there is a spot two miles east of here that will soon be available. All they will have to do is convert from onion growing to rutabagas.

"Well Dave, perhaps there's hope for the Gitchee Bird after all. It would appear that he has at least evolved enough sense to get out of Schoolcraft County before the early October blizzards. I think you should get right on this from your end. You know, go out and count the flock and all that. We'll need publicity. Perhaps you could start preparing a three-minute talk to give in the General Motors Hospitality Room at the press convention in January.

"Incidentally, my daughter, the Songwriter, is working on a little thing called 'When need for newspapers. We happen to think otherwise, for that line of reasoning, carried to its conclusion, would eliminate the printed word entirely, dispensing with not only newspapers but books, magazines, pamphlets and all other print media.

The First Amendment to the Constitution and its guarantee of a free press is not a privilege given only to those who publish newspapers. Freedom of the press—the right to know—belongs to the public, not the news media. The next time you find yourself chuckling because some politician has given the newspapers their comeuppance you might also enjoy reading the following quotation:

"Why should freedom of speech and freedom of the press be allowed? Why should a government which is doing what it believes to be right allow itself to be criticized? It would not allow opposition by lethal weapons. Ideas are much more fatal things than guns. Why should any man be allowed to buy a printing press and disseminate pernicious opinion calculated to embarrass the government?"

That sort of takes those smart-alec newspapermen down a peg or two, eh? The man who said that was Nikolai Lenin.

the Gitchee Bird Comes Back to Kitch-iti-kipti" which I am hoping Lem Wall will sing on his Green Valley Jamboree show on WOOD.

"As soon as you think up a good name for the movement, we'll decide on where people should send their contributions.

Save the Gitchee Bird!

R.K.D.

"P.S. Could you send me the recipe for rutabaga pasties with permission to publish?"

Well! It's certainly heartening to glean a few glimmerings of support in this ecological battle to save the Gitchee Bird. For a while there I thought I was fighting the good fight alone, or at the best, sort of like Leonidas and his three hundred at Thermopylae.

At the same time I am a little disturbed. I have checked the local Gitchee Bird flocks at the Jamestown Slough and they have not moved. What I suspect is that R.K.D. and his son and the local birdwatchers have hit upon a flock of the Lesser, or Bob-Tailed Gumees, which are similar to the Greater Gitchee Bird in many respects. (The Gumees Bird, of course, is not to be confused with the Gooney Bird, which nests on Pacific atolls.)

The Gumees Bird has developed a wider range than his brother the Gitchee, largely because of his ability to subsist on beet topplings from the sugar beet fields that evidently stretch from Mackinaw City to New Buffalo. The higher sugar content in his blood stream provides him with a natural de-icer to help remove the chloride from his wings that builds up from the spray of autos being driven up and down I-75 during the winter months.

The meat of the Gumees Bird is, by virtue of his diet, sweeter than that of the Gitchee Bird, particularly if he has been feeding among some fermented beet tops during the autumn. A bottle of Chablis or Dago Red is recommended as the proper wine to go with the bird.

If Congressman Hutchinson wants to filibuster for a Gumees Bird Refuge in the asphalt hustings of Allegan County he is welcome to do his worst, which he will probably do anyway, but I should warn him not to attempt to usurp the Congressional prerogatives and courtesies that are due to the Upper Peninsula's representative, Cong. H. Rup Philpot, who has a certain amount of seniority on the Gitchee Bird Refuge question, having been alerted by the Pioneer-Tribune away back in June.

Perhaps it would be wise if we combined

"OUT OUR WAY"

News from Road 437

Hi Folks:

It is a beautiful fall morning out our way, the sun coming up from behind the trees casts shadows throughout the forest domain. Autumn is in its landscape of colors, in gold, bronze, burnt orange, crimson, with different shades of green for its background. With the heavy frost we had Sunday morning, Mother Nature has quickly started to squeeze in her colors, dipping her brush to dress up her trees for our fall festival. Following her work of art, the cool north winds will come whispering in the night to tell the coming of old man winter. The strong winds we've had the past week have begun to toss the leaves through the air, leaving many tree tops bare. The forest floor is beginning to get its carpet of leaves. Walking over them will make a rustling sound to break the silence that is there.

The air seems to send out a perfume all of its own, a sort of reminder that all within is getting ready for its long winter nap. So no matter where you may drive to this week or next, you will be inspired by the beauty that our fall season gives us. Our first part of October is gay like a Spanish fiesta, it is full of color that seems to explode against a blue sky. So as our summer siesta ends, autumn starts its parade that brings in gorgeous colors. Winds that blow strongly through the trees make the leaves tremble as they cling to the branches for their last stay.

The geese having been flying over as our autumn sun begins to set for the day. What a thrill it always is to watch them, the noise they make as they go honking by bidding me farewell.

Trout season has come to an end, so now the Boss is ready for the hunting season of birds and next will be ducks. Traffic was a bit heavy out our way the past week end as hunters were on the lookout for partridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bolden of Big Bay, Michigan, were guests of Mrs. Marie LaFave at Thunder Lake.

Mrs. Esther White, son Donald and daughter, Mrs. Larry Olson and children, spent the week end at their cabin on Thunder Lake to enjoy our fall colors.

Making a tour of our fall fiesta, were Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman bringing their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Konawski and son Kenny of Cleveland, Ohio, to enjoy our colorful landscape.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gambla at Murphy Lake, were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ziomek.

Betty Cleminson has returned to her rest haven at Murphy Lake to enjoy our fall season of colors.

Wednesday, Millie Underwood and I took a drive to Munising to spend the day with my daughter-in-law, Dolly. It was a lovely day and the highway was very colorful. We had a nice visit, went out for lunch and our day ended, being an enjoyable one.

Many folks are having birthdays during our fall festival, so echoes of birthday greeting go out to the following: Dr. Horace Davidson and his wife, Evelyn, Charles Frankovich, Ralph Williams, Carl Lueck, Red Nickerson, Lillian Stuber, Virgie Potvin. Many happy returns of the day to all of you. Anniversary wishes go out to the Joseph Vodniks, Harold Underwoods, Richard Lutzs, Dale Potvins, Richard Davidsons, William Handls, and Edward Mathsons.

May the day for all be one of complete happiness. Until next week's visit, enjoy our fall festival. Stay healthy and happy.

INGRID TERVONEN
Extension Home Economist
Michigan State University

Mrs. Ingrid Bartelli, whom many of you already know through T.V. and meetings in the county, will be with us for a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday in the Manistique High School. Her talk is on "Today in the Market Place." You'll learn about new foods, taste some of them, also talk about safety of foods, problems in the store, and many other things. She's also allowing time for you to ask questions.

This is an open meeting for all women in the area. We do hope some of you from the outlying towns can come too—those of you from Germfask, Seney, Garden, Cooks or wherever.

"College Day" last Tuesday was a big success and from all comments made, everyone felt it was a good day. I'm glad so many of you from Schoolcraft could come.

Art Lauren, Superintendent of Wells State Park showed colored slides of the Upper Peninsula that were just outstanding. Art's hobby is photography. He sees beauty everywhere and is able to capture it in a picture. You've heard the expression "If you want to see a beautiful peninsula look about you." I'm sure all of us fully appreciate our area now.

Mrs. Gail Imig, Program Leader, Family Living Education, presented "Understanding Prejudice" in a new way. We're all prejudiced in little ways and form opinions before we have any facts. The women learned to take a good look at why they felt like they did and enjoyed doing it. Mrs. Imig really kept everyone awake, alert and laughing.

Mrs. Soma Geekiyana, our guest from Ceylon is very charming. You'll have a chance to meet her at Ingrid Bartelli's meeting on Oct. 13. She'll be with the Garth Briggs in Fayette for a few days and I know Mrs. Briggs is planning things for her to do with some of you.

You can imagine how lonely some she must be at times, leaving a husband and three small children at home. She'll be away from them for five months but they're being well cared for by her husband and mother-in-law.

FIRE PREVENTION

A Year
Round Job

If a fire breaks out in your home, get out fast — with your family. Fire can spread faster than you can run.

If you find smoke in an open stairway or open hall, use another preplanned way out. Teach your children how to use the phone to report a fire.

Make sure children can open doors, windows and screens to escape routes.

Make sure your family knows the quickest and safest ways to escape from every room in the house.

DON'T fight a fire yourself.

If you are trapped in a smoke-filled room, stay near the floor, where the air is better.

DON'T jump. Many people have jumped and died — without realizing rescue was just a few minutes away.

Senior Citizens

BY EILEEN MALES

The scenic cruiser left the Senior Citizens Center at 9 a.m. last Thursday morning with 29 Manistique women aboard. We arrived at the Harbor High Rise Towers in Escanaba an hour later and picked up three Escanaba women.

Coffee at Hermansville and lunch at Iron River; then we continued to Watersmeet, Mass., Houghton, Hancock and Calumet. Up we went through the beautiful Brockway Mountain Drive, stopping at the scenic lookout. We could see miles and miles of orange, red, yellow and green trees. Some of the gals were a little apprehensive because they did not realize we had such highplaces in the U.P. and they did not appreciate the altitude.

We arrived at the Keweenaw Lodge around 6 p.m. and stayed in beautiful log cabins. It was a warm Thursday evening, close to 70 degrees, and we had a little electrical storm to boot.

Eight o'clock Friday morning the sun was shining and it was warm. We went to Copper Harbor, shopped at a few gift shops, and visited Ft. Wilkins State Park. Then we were on our way back home, but took a different route through Eagle Harbor, Eagle River, Laurium, Lake Linden and Dollar Bay. Those who did not come along will never realize the beauty that they missed. The hills were massed with color that was indescribable. One of the gals said, "There surely has to be a God for this to be so beautiful!"

On the whole, we had a delightful time. A few problems came up but we conquered them. We met some wonderful young people who worked at the Keweenaw Lodge and our bus driver, Bernie St. Onge, was a friend to all of us. We discovered we had some gals with good singing voices who helped with our songs, such as Eleanor Wacker, Maymie Schurbring and Mabel DeSautel. Mabel even composed a "thank you" song for me, which I deeply appreciated. All in all we had a memorable time and I owe a lot of "thank you's" to WTIQ and the Pioneer-Tribune, and the First National Bank, the State Savings Bank, Hoholik's Plumbing and Denny Insurance for helping finance some of the trip when the chips were down.

You may pick up your courtesy discount cards at the center, for people 65 and older. The best time to pick them up is between 9 and 2.

Our bowling on Wednesday is still going strong with everyone thoroughly enjoying themselves. Joe Carefelle got high score followed by George Stevenson. Mugs Stevenson was high in the women's division followed by Isabel Bunker.

The schedule is as follows: Tuesday, 2-4 handicraft class; Wednesday, 1 - 3, bowling at Lakeview Lanes; 7:30, movies; Thursday, oil painting class from 2-4; Friday, 7, cards and social hour.

Boy's health program set

This program is under the supervision of Dr. Larry Sell and the 4-H Leaders Association, in cooperation with Manistique Community School.

In order to attend boys must be accompanied by a parent (fathers preferred) or have written permission from parents. 4-H leaders or Boy Scout leaders may also attend with you. There will be a question and answer period after the showing of the films, conducted by Dr. Sell.

WHEN -- DID YOU HAVE YOUR LAST PHYSICAL? . . . "Smart people, the Chinese." They pay the doctor to keep them well. When they get sick they stop paying. Why not be just as smart? Why wait until definite symptoms appear to consult your physician?

Preventive medicine is far more satisfactory and much more pleasant. It's a great feeling to have your doctor say, "I find nothing wrong, you are in good shape." If there is something wrong, you can find out before it gets serious, and remove the threat. If you have not had a physical this year, call your doctor for an appointment. Do it once a year. . . it will help you to live longer and better.
