Schoolcraft County voters split their tickets like kindle wood in Tuesday's voting, as more than 3,300 went to the polls in the general election.

They gave their approval to Congressman Philip Ruppe and State Representative Charles Varnum, both Republicans, but stuck with Democratic candidates most of the way down the ballot.

They also asked two more Republicans to the County Board of Commissioners, as George Danko defeated Homer Weber in the city's District 5, and Dino Pirolo defeated Norman John in District 6. (See tables.)

They turned down the first two special proposals on the ballot, but voted in favor of the third, controversial Proposal C, by a 1866-1370 vote margin.

Varnum rolled up a 2101-1154 margin over Democrat Mike Nelson in Schoolcraft County, on his way to his third term in Lansing, while Congressman Ruppe's margin was 1963 to 566 over Nina Green, U.S. Senator Phil Hart led the Democratic ticket in the county, defeating Lenore Romney by 2156-1124.

Three County Commissioners—Thurman Skarriff of Seney—Gerulfak—Mueller; Russell Tennant of Hiawatha—Inwood and Ernest Hoholik of Thompson—City were reelected Democrats. Board Chairman Lindsay Frenette turned back the challenge of Republican Lee Beck in the Doyle-Manistique district, 215-238, while Ed Jorgenson defeated Democrat Earl LeBrasseur in the City's 7th District, 311 to 162.

Democrat Bob Lee carried the county in the 37th District Senate race, 1553-1498, but apparently lost to Republican Bob Davis, according to unofficial returns from the Sault Evening News.

In the only county-wide race, incumbent Democrat Harold McManara survived a strong challenge from Republican John Hancock for the County Road Commission, 1474 to 1527.

Names gathered on library petitions

Petitions bearing the signatures of more than 400 persons are expected to be presented at the Nov. 10 meeting of the Manistique Area Schools Board of Education.

The petitions deal with the recent controversy over several books that were on the School and Public Library shelves. They read:

"As parents and citizens of the community we are interested and concerned about our schools and the education given our young people.

"We recognize that they will be tomorrow's leaders and we owe them the type of training that will best fit them for that responsibility.

"We object to literature of the type represented by Rubin's 'Do It' and DeCoy's 'Nigger Bible,' being made available in our library.

"We ask, not censorship, but good judgement in purchasing books for student circulation.

"We ask a stronger library board to share responsibility for book purchases OR more Board of Education control of books placed."

Mrs. Ila Manning, who had appeared before the Board of Education at their last meeting to ask what was the function of the Library Advisory Board, said, "We don't intend to let the issue die. If the Board of Education doesn't intend to perform their function, we would like to know."

This is a sacred day on which we honor with heartfelt thanks those who gave so much, a day in which we dedicate ourselves to peace with honor."

COHO CORNER—Residents in the area of Bear and Houghton had a high old time last Thursday, catching about two dozen Coho salmon who somehow wandered up this drainage ditch in their spawning run. It is theorized that the high water from recent rains made a route open from the Manistique River up Weston Creek to the ditch. The two fish in the foreground were caught by Ralph Deloria.

Community Players will meet Thursday

There will be a meeting of the Manistique Community Players Thursday, today, at 7:30 p.m. in the library of the town hall.

Mrs. Charles Swindler, chairman of the group, urged all those who participated in the summer production, "Mary, Mary," and those who were in a winter one to attend. Preliminary plans will be made at this time for a winter production.

Harbor plans outlined

A report filed to the City Council that would get Manistique's harbor and harbor development program underway was outlined Monday night by Keith Wilson, executive director of the Michigan Waterways Commission.

Wilson was the featured speaker at the annual Fall Membership Dinner of the Manistique Area Chamber of Commerce, held at the Sartz, attended by approximately 150 persons. Outlining the history of the proposed harbor improvement program, Wilson then listed five points in his report:

1. The purchase of property on the west side of the Manistique River for use as a boat launching facility. Cost of this portion of the project would be about $50,000, and is estimated. The city's share has been pegged at $25,000.
2. Naming of a new project engineer. Wilson said that the new firm has developed a dike-and-culvert type of finger pier that can be lifted out of the water during the winter to avoid damage. Manistique's project has been hampered by the fact that the hard rock bottom of the harbor precluded putting down pilings, and that alternate barked type of construction would result in less capacity.

Take your annual oil heating bill.

Multiply it by 2½.

That's your annual electric heating bill.

It's a fact. Electric heat costs 2½ times more than oil heat.* For instance if your annual bill with oil heat is $200, your bill with electric heat would be almost $500. Over a mortgage period of 20 years your savings with oil heat amounts to thousands of dollars.

Oil heat costs less than gas too. It's the most economical form of modern heating available today.

Discover oil heat! You'll love the change-in dollars-and sense on the average in Penn.

Hike asked by Gen Tel

General Telephone filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission Wednesday seeking authority to increase rates for phone service. Company President T.A. Sumner is quoted as saying, "The application was the first the company has filed since 1960 and states that it really increased rates of providing telephone service. Rate increases are included in the application and the rate for long distance and basic service. The company has recently had a major expansion of service to over 1,228 million for new construction. To do the job, most of the money is new capital raised at regular intervals. It asks for a 1.2% rate in 1961 at 1.2% and in 1970, 1.3%.

Profits have increased 17% during the same period and wage increases followed national upward trends. "We want to continue our service improvement and expansion program at the same high level and believe our customers want us to do so. However, we must have increased revenues to produce higher earnings with no additional new capital from investors." Sumner stated. No specific rates or amount of increased annual revenues have been developed. General Telephone, the last of the state's major utilities to file a rate hike application in recent years, serves over 400,000 telephones in 486 Michigan communities located in 61 of Michigan's 83 counties.

Extension News Notes

BY HOWARD HANDORF
County Extension Director
Schoolcraft County

Gun safety is an important asset on hunting trips. With the fall hunting season in full swing, Michigan hunters should remember that gun safety is important in any game-seeking excursion, according to Michigan State University environmental conservationist. Dr. Robert W. George lists the following rules for ensuring hunter safety:

- 1. Never carry a loaded gun into a home or camp.
- 2. Never climb or crawl through a fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun.
- 3. Keep the barrel and action of your gun free of obstructions.
- 4. Carry every gun with the muzzle pointed in a safe direction at all times.
- 5. Always recognize your target before shooting.
- 6. Keep safety on until you are ready to shoot.
- 7. Always unload your gun before leaving it unattended.
- 8. Never fire at the surface of water or at flat, hard objects which could cause bullets to ricochet.
- 9. Know where your hunting companions are at all times while in the field.
- 10. Use only the right-size shells in your gun; a small shell could clog the barrel and cause an explosion.

"Good gun training for youngsters has been available for years through 4-H youth groups, Boy and Girl Scout programs, the YMCA and other such organizations," says George. "And now the State of Michigan has initiated a mandatory gun training program for youngsters aged 12 through 16. The program is aimed at successfully training 120,000 boys and girls in this age bracket by Sept. 1, 1971. That's the date which these youths will be required to have completed such training or meet other alternatives to qualify for buying Michigan hunting licenses."

The person responsible for this hunter safety program is the local conservation officer with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, notes George.

Opportunities for this kind of training may also be available through the county 4-H youth extension agent or local sportsmen's club where there are qualified hunter safety instructors.

On Monday morning I received a summary of the 1970 Cooperative Feeder Cattle sales for the state. We have written for some additional copies and I will be sending them out to our beef raisers in the county when they come in.

Of interest to our area beef raisers, who are always coming to the Rapid River sale with other sales around the state, would be the fact that the Rapid River sale was above the average for the state for steer calves, approximately $1 below the average for heifer calves, slightly above average for yearling steers, the highest in the state for yearling heifers.

It is my opinion that there will be much area discussion after you receive your copy. Also of interest to me, was the fact that in all but seven heifers the Rapid River sale was considerably below the average.

Sessions set by Witnesses

Jehovah's Witnesses in this area have been invited to participate in a three-day ministers' conference to be held in Escanaba Dec. 18-20.

The conference is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, New York. Eighteen Upper Michigan and northeastern Wisconsin congregations have been invited.

Arvid Carlson, presiding minister of the Manistique congregation, said the purpose of the conference is to provide specialized training in the Christian ministry. The practical instruction and Bible counsel will be applied to the ministerial training program conducted in each congregation.

Emphasizing the theme of the Escanaba conference, "The Word of God is Alive," Carlson explained the delegates receive counsel to improve their personal ministry and individual conduct.

"The conference site and principal speakers" will be announced at a later date.

Over 800 persons attended a similar gathering in Norway, Mich., last May.

Masons to meet

The Chapter Masons will meet at the Masonic Temple Thursday (today) to confer degrees on several candidates. Refreshments will follow the ceremonies.

The session was held on the 25th anniversary of the United Nations, and included a keynote address from Glen Olds, U. S. ambassador, to the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations, and a talk by Bob Tabbert, Detroit Free Press columnist.

Help asked for nursery

A new project, the Manistique Cooperative Nursery, is attempting to get off the ground.

The nursery has been operating for the past month from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. daily, Tuesday through Friday, at the Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. Helen Deane as teacher for the youngsters from ages three to five.

It is licensed by the state and is supported by tax-deductible to parents. The cost is a dollar a day, or $16 a month. Mothers must help the teacher twice a month.

A few more children are needed to help make the operation a financial success. Donations of toys suitable for this age group would also be appreciated by the nursery.

Fund members for the operation include Margret Weber, chairman, Shirley Kolwig, secretary and Sally Ott, treasurer.

Drugs and Driving Facts

Alcohol does play a major role in auto fatalities. But, medical authorities believe that other drugs, alone or in combination with alcohol, may be a large contributor also. In the light of this information, officials at the scene of an accident should test for the presence of antihistamines, amphetamines, tranquilizers, narcotics and marijuana.

Many medicines may impair driving ability such as; muscle relaxants, analgesics, sedatives, tranquilizers and ganglion-blocking drugs. Side reactions of certain medication, such as loss of balance, dizziness, nausea and dizziness, also add to this.

In a California study involving over 1,000 auto deaths, 15% died at the wheel of natural causes. These included heart attacks, epileptic seizures, strokes, diabetes attacks, drug overdose and drug flashbacks.

Many drivers are also handicapped by visual deterioration, severe arthritis and neurological diseases. This in the near future, may well lead to regular driver examinations periodically in all the states instead of just the few that now have these examinations.

Are you careful when using bleaches? Thousand of garments are destroyed each year by improper bleaching but most women don't realize that holes in clothes are actually caused by bleach.

If you use bleach, never pour it directly onto clothes already in the washer. Instead, dilute the bleach and pour it on after the clothes are submerged. Or better yet - add the bleach to the wash water before you put any clothes in the washer.

These instructions are not always clear on the bleach label and there is certainly little indication of the danger involved. To add to the mystery, the damage may not appear until weeks after the bleach was used.

Do you do what I do? I know better but I don't oil my sewing machine often enough. To keep it in good shape, it should be cleaned and oiled after eight hours of use. Before applying the oil, give your machine a good cleaning with a soft cloth and lint brush. Then apply oil to all motor parts. If you don't know where all of them are, check with your instruction book. This book, too, is one of the things we don't use as often as we should.

We too often put the blame on our dry cleaner if something goes wrong. Most of the time the fault is our own or that of the clothing manufacturer.

We are to blame if we don't send the garment to the dry cleaner immediately if we have stained a garment - and we don't tell him what kind of stain it is. Stains are easier to remove when they're fresh. And if the cleaner knows what kind of stain it is, he will have a better idea how to treat it.

Bonded fabrics have caused much dissatisfaction for both wearer and the drycleaner. I'd recommend looking for a hangtag guaranteeing that the garment can be drycleaned before you buy. The end of the bolt of fabric should also give you information on cleaning care.

Trailer changes?

CITY COUNCIL is currently considering possible changes in the city's house trailer ordinance.

The ordinance, which does not ban trailers but does restrict their use to approved parks, was originally passed in March, 1968, when large number of pipeline construction workers were coming into the area.

It was suspended almost immediately, however, as more than 300 persons signed petitions that were presented to Council, asking that the law be repealed. Council then decided, following terms of the City Charter, to put the issue on the August primary ballot. In that vote the trailer ordinance was upheld by a narrow 363-354 margin.

The current mood of Council seems to be to possibly consider designating certain areas in town in which trailers could be used as homes, instead of restricting them to approved parks. This would, in effect, be spot zoning—something that is usually avoided—but does offer a seemingly reasonable compromise on the house trailer question.

With conventional home construction costs now far out of reach of most local residents, and with home mortgage money available only at steep interest rates, house trailers, or mobile homes, seem to offer one solution to the housing problem. Whether the existing ordinance can be amended in such a way as to protect existing property values, yet still allow house trailers, is an interesting exercise for the Council members.

Getting along

I am continually surprised at people's attitudes or feelings toward conflicting points of view.

This was brought to mind again last week after partner Dave and I expressed our personal views on the Nov. 3 General Election. These opinions were conflicting, to a certain extent at least, and thus the inevitable question: "How do you guys manage to get along?"

The fact that we manage to get along just fine seems to perplex some people. Maybe it's a sign of the times, but respect for differences of opinion seems to be an oddity. This is unfortunate. We seem to be living in an era of extremes and we have little time to listen or reflect upon the other person's point of view. In fact, to even recognize a conflicting opinion is in some people's minds a sign of weakness or compromise.

Extremism, be it right or left, breeds hatred and accomplishes nothing. We are finding this out today in the demonstrations, the riots and bombings that are plaguing our nation. We are told to hate the press, to hate politicians, to hate universities, to hate blacks, to hate whites. We are told to shout down opposing speakers, to disrupt ceremonies, to boycott businesses, all out of a disrespect for those who don't happen to agree with us. This is true in communities large and small and it is holding us back as a nation.

People should have differences of opinion and they should have the conviction to stand by those opinions. People should also respect the opinions of others, whether they happen to agree or not, and they should be able to walk down the street together. People should be able to speak out without fear of reprisal or boycott. If these statements appear to be a sign of weakness, then the Bill of Rights is a sign of weakness.

We have too many problems to continue indulging in the practice of "do-nothing-ism" through intolerance, and that applies at home as well as abroad. —JMT

James M. Tagg—Co-Publisher and Business Manager
David A. Root—Co-Publisher and Editor

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top of Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

We like letters

And as the sun sank silently in the west last Wednesday (at least I presume it did, although the heavy rain made visual confirmation extremely difficult) the editor relaxed in his easy chair at home and read the Pioneer-Tribune.

This may seem odd to some, for the editor has already read most of what is there in print. It helps, however, to take a look at the finished product and to evaluate it in its entirety, and reflect upon how it could be improved next time around.

Generally speaking, it was a good issue. Lots of ads, most of them political, helped to provide 14 pages instead of the usual 10 or 12, and there were some good pictures and news stories. Partner Jim had even taken typewriter in hand to participate in the editorial page, lending a balance that might otherwise escape us.

Most pleasing to us, however, were the letters to the editor. There were half a dozen of them, and their subjects were diverse enough to include the library controversy, local politics, and Proposal "C" on the state ballot.

The opinions of the letter writers did not necessarily coincide with those of the editor on some of these topics; but this fact delights, rather than depresses.

Your newspaper is unique in that it is the only media that offers a public forum for discussion of items of general interest. Most newspapers welcome letters to the editor. They show that the people are anxious to have their side of the story told.

Do we print all the letters we receive? No, and for good reason. Many of them are unsigned, or bear the signature only of "An Interested Citizen" or "Constant Reader." Some of them are libelous. Some of them are in poor taste—so bad that they might endanger the second class mailing permit of the newspaper. And some of them are simply not of general interest. (There is a lawyer in Detroit who periodically sends out reams of mimeographed material extolling Christopher Columbus as the only true discoverer of America, which may be of interest to some folks, but is not generally debated extensively in Schoolcraft County.) And some are simply too long, going on into the thousands of words to make a point that could have been made in two paragraphs.

There have to be some limitations, and we think ours are reasonable. Our big point is that the letters must be signed, although we will withhold the name if requested.

We think that it's important for the newspaper to welcome letters to the editor and to print as many as is possible. This voice of the people lends a diversity and dimension to topics that are of interest and concern to the community. In 17 years as a weekly editor I have never turned down a letter to the newspaper because it did not correspond to my point of view. I have never altered a letter, except to smooth it out grammatically or to put in badly-needed punctuation. Yet people find this hard to believe. They prefer to think that the editor picks and chooses according to his own preferences and opinions.

In marriage, they say, the cruelest cut of all is indifference. The same rule might apply to the union of newspapers with their readers. We want people to care, one way or the other, and if they choose to disagree with the editorial viewpoint of the paper, well and good.

We don't want our readers to be indifferent to their newspaper and to the news it carries, for that news is for the most part the mirror of their community. Their interest in their own town, its people and its happenings, its strengths and its weaknesses, are often reflected in the quality and quantity of letters to the editor of their newspaper.

So the next time you're tempted to write a letter to the editor, go ahead. It may make you feel a whole lot better—and I know it will make the editor feel better, too.

IT'S A JOB FOR THE BRAVE

A Colorado grain merchant, after being elected to the local school board, discovered he had stepped into one of the most complex jobs in town. The schools for which he had assumed responsibility served more lunches than any restaurant chain in town, owned more property than the largest local manufacturer, spent more money than any local business, and contributed more to the economic health of the community than any other local institution. His decisions would affect more people directly and indirectly than any single enterprise in the city. The Colorado grain merchant was one of 150,000 school board members in the nation who face similar problems.

Why do they do it? Often times their own businesses suffer and their regular activities get shortchanged because of the pressures of school work. Certainly, education can be an exciting business, but a good deal of the average board member's time is spent on matters that are dull, trivial, and lacking in nobility. Most school board members probably hope they will have the chance to insure a better future for today's children. They put in many hours of work, and search their souls many times when making critical decisions on important issues.

Their decisions, their priorities, their attitude, their commitment to young people and to education have a greater influence than those of any other locally elected office.

Dr. Richard Barnhart conducted a survey to determine the skills needed by a board member to permit him to function effectively. He listed six. First on his list was in the area of board unity. Barnhart states that a board member should fully accept the principal of board unity and subordinate his self interest to the board as a whole. Then he listed leadership, more precisely -- informed leadership, in broad planning and policy formation. Third, he cited executive skill in terms of the school board member's ability to function as an executive himself and to respect the executive function of the professional administrator. He then listed the ability to establish and maintain effective relationships with the staff and the community; next, personality; and finally, the special and personal trait of courage--the courage to take action for the good of the schools in spite of outside pressures and influence. His conclusion--it's a job for the brave.

Field name may change

At a meeting of the City Recreation Board last Wednesday, a discussion was held on the possible changing of the name of Cardinal Field. The group is anxious to receive expressions from the community.

Denton Nelson and Louis Rogers were appointed to work with snowmobile race committees for a sanctioned meet here Jan. 9-10. Director Richard Bonifas was authorized to start Saturday morning with boys' basketball for grades 4-5-6 as soon as a supervisor was available.

The Board requested a letter be sent to the City asking for a water hydrant to be connected to permit the flooding of the rink on the West side; the City to re-erect equipment at Central Park playground; a quarry fence on West side which is the responsibility of the Housing Authority; to eliminate dumping of snow in Central Park Area and to discuss Veteran's Memorial Park and the new Harbor View Tower Park with the City Planning commission. The next meeting of the group will be held Wednesday, Dec. 2 in the conference room of the high school.

TWO KIND

Now there are two "snaggletooths" in the family. What fun Jerry had trying to duplicate his own toothless grin!

I smiled, remembering his first "jack-o'-lantern" and how he had howled with fright at the eerie smile of the funny-faced vegetable. Jim and I had to work hard to convince him that "jack-o'-lanterns" were fun. Now, just a few years later, the "jack-o'-pumpkin" is one of his special delights.

How easy it is to shape the attitudes of a little child. It seems to Jim and me that Jerry is like a sponge, soaking up thoughts and ideas from the things we do and say. His points of view reflect our own.

That's why we know how important it is for all of us to go to church every Sunday. It was there we learned the love for God that enriches our every day. We want this dominion and joy to become a part of Jerry's life, too.
