

New policy for library approved

Leaving the ranks of Democratic leadership in Schoolcraft County after this year were Com. Vern Johnson, left, and Secretary Earl LeBrasseur.

Two top Demos resign

Schoolcraft County Democrats are losing two of their best men this year. Vern Johnson, chairman of the organization for the past year, and a 34-year veteran who has also held the offices of secretary and first vice-president at Thursday's annual county convention would not be a candidate for the post next year. LeBrasseur, secretary of the organization for the past year, also announced his resignation. Successors will be named at the county committee meeting, Dec. 3. The executive officers were elected at the night's meeting at the club house. Candidates and officers who will be members of the committee include G. S. Wynn, Lloyd Gray, Ferdinand W. Carpenter, Franklyn Jones, Robert Long, Harold Thurnham, Thurman Skarvick, Shirley Frenette, Russell W. Le, L. Slay, Earl Le-

In a meeting that lasted from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. in the Manistique Area Board of Education Monday night. Approved a revised library policy. Accepted the resignation of Ralph Gilliam from the board. Changed the date of their next meeting from Feb. 12 to March 5. Heard board member Leon Wood attack the district's performance in the 4th and 7th grade assessment testing earlier this year and call for a committee to investigate remedies. Set the second meeting in January to discuss this assessment. Set up procedures for written questions to the auditors for the second meeting in December. Changed the first board meeting in December from the 8th to the 7th. Again, it was the library, its books, its advisory board and its policies that took up most of the discussion. The audience of about 80 persons in the session held in the auditorium. The amended library policy, as prepared by the library advisory board and the administrative staff, was eventually adopted unanimously, 7-0, after one minor amendment had been approved. Board member Leon Wood, in opening the discussion on the proposed policy, said it had been "dropped in our laps without a proper chance to look it over," and said that he has asked for suggestions on library operation from the Manistiquin Library Federation and the University of Michigan. He suggested that the board proceed slowly, and that the policy be flexible. Mrs. Manning, whose original complaint on the books "Do It" by Jerry Robin and "Nigger Bible" by Robert DeCoy started the controversy, asked in what areas the new policy was different from the policy now being used. Mrs. Yvette Jermudd, 228 Maple Ave., stated that the Library Bill of Rights, which were included as a part of the new policy, state exactly what any library would follow. "If you feel there should be restricted shelves, fine, but don't restrict me from what I want to read," she commented. She added that under communism the first thing that happens is that a person's reading is restricted.

them at that time. Earl LeBrasseur, a member of the library advisory board and a former school board member, told the board it was time to take action. "If you throw it back to the public, then you are not doing your duty," he told the school board. Leon Wood responded that he felt part of the trouble was due to the fact that the library advisory board was one-sided, and suggested that Mr. LeBrasseur resign because of conflict of interest. (LeBrasseur is the husband of acting librarian Katherine LeBrasseur.) Mrs. LeBrasseur responded that her husband was appointed to the library board when he was still a member of the school board, under a program set up by former librarian Mrs. Robert Barr. Ralph Gilliam told Wood that they couldn't change the library board every three days, every time a controversy arose, in order that all sides be represented. Wood responded that he felt the entire library board should resign, and Mr. LeBrasseur retorted that it was not the library board that selected the books. Gilliam said that the original purpose of Mrs. Manning's request to the board was to find out the function of the library board, and that's what the school board was attempting to do. "Let's give Mrs. Manning credit for bringing it to our attention, but let's get back to our original purpose," he said. Harold Cochrain, in the audience, said he felt the entire subject had been "kicked to death," and suggested that everyone leave to allow the school board to run the school's business as they should, instead of by petition. There was then a discussion of how the library board members were appointed, and who appointed them, with Wood claiming that Mrs. LeBrasseur told him that she made the appointments. Mrs. LeBrasseur denying this, and Mrs. Manning replying that she had no quarrel with any adult reading that they want to read, but merely asked that in the future better judgement be used in making the selection, in order to avoid "this type" of book being purchased. Mrs. Wood asked whose judgement was to be used, and Mrs. Jermudd asked her to define "this type." "There is no way to possibly review all of the books by reading them," Mrs. Jermudd said. "If you say it's bad and should be there, then you prevent me from reading." She said it would be better to purchase the books, and then if they are found unsuitable for general selection, restrict

Snow hits, roads icy

Snow and freezing temperatures that turned area highways into vital slithering rills profited a rash of accidents over the week end.

Two men were injured Monday at 1:30 a.m. on US-2 in Thompson Township when the vehicle in which they were riding went out of control, hit the shoulder and tipped over.

Treated at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Willard Puchl, 45, of Melvindale, and Martin J. Moran, 45, of Detroit. The driver of the vehicle, Chester M. Stryker, 50, of Detroit, was not injured.

John E. Beckstedt, 39, of Milwaukie, was treated at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital for head injuries suffered when his car swerved to miss a deer Sunday at 6 p.m. on County Road 436. The car went into the ditch, then across the road and into a tree.

He was ticketed for failure to report a personal injury accident. A pickup camper driven by Perry J. Bicknell, 57, of St. Ignace, slid off US-2 and rolled over Sunday at 4 p.m. about one and a half miles east of County Road 436. Josephine Bicknell, 53, of St. Ignace, a passenger, was injured, but sought her own treatment.

At 4:32 p.m. Sunday a car driven by Charles O. Phillion, 17, of 199 N. Maple St., slid on icy US-2 as he attempted to turn onto County Road 439 on the east side of a parked car owned by Larry Atkinson, 350 Lake St., Friday at 3:40 p.m. on Park Ave.

A car driven by Lyle C. Smith, 65, of 425 Arbutus Ave., hit the rear of a car driven by Glen T. Houghton, 51, of 648 Garden Ave., last Thursday at 9:10 p.m. on River St. by Cedar and Main Sts. No tickets were issued.

Scouts hear Mrs. Males

Mrs. Eileen Males was the guest at the Thursday evening meeting of the Senior Girls Scouts held at the home of their leader, Mrs. Nalbert Gerber, Indian Lake. Mrs. Males told the girls about the many grandparents in town and at the Medical Care Facility and the girls then decided that each would adopt a grandparent.

Scouts hear Mrs. Males

On Monday the girls, accompanied by Mrs. Males, visited the Medical Care Facility and chose a grandparent to adopt. They plan to visit them regularly, bringing small items, assisting them in small tasks, and they also plan to remember their adopted grandparent's special days and help make holidays more pleasant for them.

The troop members of Mrs. Gerber's troop are assisting daily at the Senior Citizens Center.

Cagers split first two contests

It's time off for turkey for the Manistique Emeralds after splitting their two opening basketball games during the past week on road trips to Ishpeming and the Soo.

Coach Normie Jahn's cagers dropped their opener last Wednesday to a Soudan Ishpeming squad, 90-82, but rebounded in fine fashion last Friday night to crush the Soo, 67-42.

The Emeralds will return to action Friday, Dec. 4, when they host the Holy Name Crusaders in a non-conference tilt.

Junior Jerry Sample took the scoring honors in both games, hitting for 27 at Ishpeming and connecting for 29 against the Blue Devils. Dave Mickelson gave some balance to the attack for the Emeralds, hitting for 14 in both contests.

Ishpeming took an early lead against the Emeralds, and held it throughout the contest. Manistique connected on 22 of 74 shots from the field for 29 per cent, and connected only 19 of 34 free throws, Ishpeming, meanwhile, was hitting 54 per cent of their shots from the field, 38 out of 70, plus 14 of 21 free throws.

The Emeralds also controlled the backboards in the opener, but this shortcoming was remedied in last Friday's contest at the Soo, as Sample and Jerry Arnold combined to haul in 38 rebounds and control the game.

Blair Truitt led the Ishpeming scorers with 19 points, while Dave Cooper was high for the Soo with 15.

In the Soo game, Manistique hit 26 of 57 attempts for a more respectable 45 per cent, but hit only 15 of 27 free throws. The Soo hit only 20 of 77 shots from the field, and nine of 13 free throws.

40 boys report for Saturday BB

There were 40 boys reporting for the first day of the grade-school basketball program Saturday at the old gym.

Director Dick Berger said 18 fourth graders, 14 fifth graders and eight sixth graders turned out.

Boys who did not report, and are expected to be invited to come out next Saturday, will be formed and league play will start Dec. 5.

Short cage schedule

Five more high schools get into action this week in an abbreviated schedule of basketball games on Upper Peninsula high school courts.

Among those five is Menominee, which has been in the championship picture more than most schools in the last five years.

Over that stretch, the Maroons have won three straight Great Northern Conference crowns, grabbed three U.P. titles and one state championship, meanwhile compiling a 79-25 record.

It took Maroon Coach Bob Krysiak just one year to develop a winner. After his team lost the first district meet in 1965, he and the Menominee players have been steady visitors to the U.P. Class B tournament site in Marquette, where they've lost only two games in nine starts.

In six years at Menominee, Krysiak's cagers have run up an enviable 91-30 record. In tournament play, they've won 20 of 25 games.

Menominee was 'out to start the week after a fourth straight Great Northern crown when it plays at Kingsford Wednesday night. Since both teams lost last year, the regular season will be the start of rebuilding seasons for both Krysiak and Kingsford Coach Roger Leduc.

There was a time, many years ago, when trapping was big business in Michigan. Today, however, it is followed by a relatively small group of men and boys plus a few women who look upon it as an outdoor type of recreation rather than as a big money-maker.

During an average year, between 5,000 and 7,000 trappers take to the fields and waters seeking fur in Michigan. If they manage to make as much as $100 apiece, they are doing quite well these days.

American fur markets tend to fluctuate at a rate that makes the fickle national stock markets look like the Rock of Gibraltar. As a result, much of the trapper's effort leaves him with a slim pocketbook.

The best money-makers among the small animals are muskrats. This is due to the number trapped, though, rather than the high prices for individual pelts. Musk used for a good price, too, until fur ranching and the introduction of synthetic fur entered the picture.

In the past few years, good fox pelts have brought as much as $10 and $12 apiece so they have become more popular with trappers. In addition, leucisces continue to be paid for individual pelts. Musk used for a good price, too, until fur ranching and the introduction of synthetic fur entered the picture.

Most a year ago one northern Michigan newspaper carried an account of a German shepherd dog that slipped her collar and went for a romp in the woods. It was Dino Pirolo (the most recent library board appointee) and Mrs. J. J. Cava, president, pointing out that Mrs. Pirolo's appointment was made by the city council.

John Anderson, in the majority, they asked if possibly the entire council could vote on the issue, but failed to define what issue he meant. The lengthy debate was finally ended when Mrs. Jensen Larson moved for action on the question, and after some parliamentary maneuvering, the proposed policy passed unanimously. The unanimous vote was a table lamping by Ralph Gilliam when Leon Wood attempted to make some comments during the roll call, but Board President William Mueller ruled that Wood had to vote. The parliamentary issue passed, 5-2, clearing the way for the unanimous vote on the policy.

The only change in the proposed policy, first suggested by Robert Knapp, was that appointments to the library advisory board be made by the board of education, instead of the superintendent with the approval of the board of education. With that out of the way, the board moved on to Leon Wood's concern with the 4th and 7th St. Third St. Bernard Anjar, Washington, Alrich, John A. Thomas, Farmington, David, Lawler, Gwin, Betty Robertson, Clio, Calvin Hanson, Tecumseh, John Albin, Zionsville, Ind. and Paul Bertalan, Royal Oak, $10 and $8 each. Forfeiting bonds for speeding were Akbar Mohammadi, Toronto, $14.50, and Larry Matvee, Dryden, Ont., $9.50.

Other cases: Jerome Czewski, Ferrisale, violation of the county sanitary ordinance, $30 and $20; Donald Dunick, Petoskey, $190; overweight, $40 and $15; Mitchell J. Farley, Fairport, no operator's license, $10 and $8; Bernice Mattison, 538 Manistique Ave., failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead, $5 and $5; and Anne Marie Clish, 214 S. Maple St., improper backing, $5 and $5.

in December, and moved the first meeting to the 7th. That question came up after the board accepted the resignation of trustee Ralph Gilliam. The resignation was accepted unanimously, along with an expression of thanks for Gilliam's three and a half years of service on the board.

Trustee Denton Nelson then proposed that the question of a successor be taken up at the next regular meeting in December, but Leon Wood balked, saying that the board needed a treasurer and committee members, and backing Ronald Shortell, 212 N. First St., for the vacancy. He pointed out that Morton had twice been a candidate for the board, and had finished third in last June's voting.

Trustee Margaret Waters responded by saying there was no urgent need to fill the vacancy, and that it would be possible to wait until the March 5 special election to fill the spot, if desired. She added that she did not feel the board should automatically appoint a successful candidate in the previous election. "After all, he was beat twice. It's not the people's choice."

By vote of 4-2, with Knapp and Wood dissenting, the board approved a motion asking all persons interested in the vacancy on the board to submit a written application, listing their qualifications and reasons for wanting to serve, to the superintendent. These will then be considered by the board.

Denton Nelson then nominated Leon Wood to fill Gilliam's position as board treasurer, but Wood quickly declined, saying that he refused to serve because the district does not show both cash and accrual balances in their annual audit. "Until they do that I refuse to serve," he said. The board then appointed Jeanne Larson to fill the post.

Commenting on Gilliam's resignation, Supt. Wuehle said, "Ralph came on the board during one of the most difficult periods possible, right after reorganization and just before a period of austerity. I wanted to go on record as saying that I very much appreciate personally the service of Ralph Gilliam on this board of education." Gilliam was elected in June, 1967. His term expires next June, and if a successor is appointed, he will serve until Education.

New head for Timber, Inc.

Fred J. Prince of Grosse Point Farms has assumed the duties of president of Upper Grand Lakes Timber, Inc., succeeding Frank Boholik, who has served in that capacity for the past two years.

Extension News Notes

Last Thursday evening, despite losing a round to the flu bug, I attended the first group fertilizer meeting. Our speakers best in the Cones area were Gerard Doyere (I am not certain, but I believe that Gerard was also the head cook, except for cookies, and belle-witch). There were six farmers, plus Ervin Simi and myself. This group has a potential need for 100 tons of fertilizer. Some of you are probably thinking that this is not very much. However, the average price will probably be in the $62-$64/ ton range so we are not talking about a small investment. The group is making further plans at this point to try to obtain the most favorable prices on this most needed plant food.

For those of you in the Gulliver and Gornafsk areas, I will be holding meetings there in the early part of December. By that time I will know the results of our first attempt at bargaining on prices and the best cost on freight rates.

Junior Leader Wanted - Mrs. Artrio would like an experienced seamstress for her newly formed sewing club. If you are free on Wednesdays from 3:45 to 5 p.m., please contact the Extension office and we will get the word to Mrs. Grotto, her phone is not installed as yet.

The Extension Office would like to wish you a happy Thanksgiving and remind all to try D. Ross's roadshow connections, remembering to keep the pink bottle of relief handy.

Prince was elected to office at the annual meeting of Timber, Inc., which was held in Traverse City.

Roy Dehonschang, representing, was elected vice president, succeeding Ed Krohn, Iron Mountain, who resigned. Roy Dehonschang, secretary and Myron Rips, Cleboyak, Treasurer.

Three positions were filled to the board of directors. They are Norman DeWitt, 577 Madison, Earl St. 1970, and a new member, Mr. J. Timber Producers Association.

Fred Prince is a member of the category of landowners who are 60% of the total acreage producing forests, but are not loggers, and are not a part of a public agency, either state or federal. Prince is an experienced member of this group as he has extensive timber land holdings and is vitally concerned about proper wood land management and development. He has been identified with tree farming for several years and is known for his tree improvement work.

In accepting the responsibilities of president, Prince stressed his belief in the program of Timber, Inc., and disclosed his efforts to further its prospects through aggressive administration. Prince has been an active member of the board of directors since the Timber, Inc. program was initiated.

By Dehonschang, vice president, and his brother Charles have operated a successful logging partnership west of Esplanade for several years. Roy Dehonschang's experience makes him a valuable asset, and he is well versed in matters concerning development and improvement of the forest. He has given much time and study to Timber, Inc. projects.

Artrain will visit here next summer

Manistique will be one of 15 Michigan cities hosting the unique Artrain during its initial tour next summer.

A project of the Michigan Council for the Arts, Artrain is designed to bring outstanding art, first-hand, to Michigan communities outside the major centers. Very simply, it is a special train filled with art treasures and displays that travel from city to city.

It includes three main cars, a baggage car and caboose, all built together, a steam engine. The three main cars, under the heading of "The Vision of Art," are divided into three sections, Vision of Creativity, Vision of the Artist and Vision of Art. The baggage car will serve as a creative workshop, while the caboose will be used as an office and lounge for the train.

The Artrain will also be equipped with three community domes that will be used on the siding adjacent to the train, a bandshell, and provisions for outdoor seating. Tentative plans call for Artrain to be in Manistique next June 5-8, located on a siding by the Soo Line depot, near the Lincoln School.

Manistique will be the second stop on the tour for the train, which is scheduled to leave Traverse City during Michigan Week, or around May 31. The first stop will be Sault Ste. Marie. Following its stop here, the train will proceed to Escanaba, Menominee, Iron Mountain, Iron River, Crystal Falls, Houghton and Marquette before returning to lower Michigan in September. The train will be housed in heated quarters during the winter and used by students of Detroit area schools.

Dr. Davis, administrative assistant for the project, visited in Manistique last Thursday to explain the project. He was accompanied by Mrs. Davis, hostess of the local sessions, and Richard Bonitas, Community Schools Director, and those in attendance included Mrs. Margaret Dixon, of the Manistique Art Club; J. John Matthews, Schoolcraft County Historical Society; Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur, school and public librarian; students Debbie Knapette and Kathy Brodiner, Principal Marvin Fredericksen and the press.

"The Artrain will present a broad sampling of good art to areas and people who would otherwise have limited opportunity to view such an exhibit," it was explained. "However, Artrain will make no attempt to tell its viewers what to like...merely to act as a catalyst in stimulating their own taste and imagination."

A workshop to iron out details of the train's visit to the Upper Peninsula next summer is planned for the week end of Dec. 5 at Northern Michigan University, and a local delegation is planning to attend.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I have been reading in the Tribune, over the past few weeks, all the comments over certain books appearing in the Manistique School and Public Library.

I have not finished reading "Hill and Hill" but I am sure that the parents that are reading it will be shocked. I am sure that the parents that are reading it will be shocked. I am sure that the parents that are reading it will be shocked.

realize that they are doing before it's too late.

My plea to these parents is this: Let your children have the freedom that you and your parents fought so hard for. Please don't force your children to read you for these same freedoms.

Elks start new year

Chosen to serve as Exalted Ruler of Manistique Lodge, 632, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, for 1970-71 was Thomas Holobik, who has been an officer of the local lodge for six years and has served as committee chairman on various projects for the group. A member of Holobik's, Inc., Tom is married to the former Julie Zarbuh of Port Edwards, Wis. and they have four children. They reside at 328 Lake St. At the annual visitation held recently by the U.P. district officers, Russell Christof of Marquette and Charles Brock of Negaunee, Holobik was commended for the fine progress of the local Elks Lodge. The lodge was noted as being one of the most active and progressive in the U.P. The local lodge is in the second year of a five year modernization program and is about one year ahead of schedule. Some of the recent improvements include refinishing the interior of the lodge, and refitting the large hall floor upstairs. Holobik advised that the big goal this year is an increase in membership, with 30 new members hoped for. Anyone interested in joining the Elks is requested to stop in at the lodge or contact an Elk member.

Bank debits show gain

Bank debits in Manistique during October showed an increase of 13 per cent from the same period a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis last week. In dollars, Manistique's bank debits volume during the month was $8,717,000, compared to $7,733,000 for October of a year ago. For the first 10 months of 1970, bank debits here have totaled $75,302,000, an increase of 12 per cent. Bank debits for the most part are checks against depositors' accounts and represent payment for goods, services and debts. They are regarded as one indicator of business activity in the area.

This is not surprising, because many of the joggers did not follow the advice of the original advocates. Some were simply too old to begin this type of exercise, and other joggers neglected to have a physical examination as a precautionary measure. There is no concrete proof that jogging caused sudden death. But the woods are full of sedentary men over 50 who may have suffered the fatal consequences of jogging, although this cause never appears on hospital records or death certificates. On the other hand, jogging is fine for active men and women who are fit and accustomed to exercise. Everyone was surprised to wake up to the snow here and it actually elevated them up. So I guess, young or old, the chance of severity does us all some good.

Ross Miller visited Sunday at her home. Mrs. Anne LeVigne, 49, a resident, was visited by her son, Richard Kathleen and family, also Alice Egan from Flint.

Wednesday afternoon Betty Kallio, Evelyn Gustafson, Rose Savelle, and Linda Martin were entertained at the home of Blanche Jensen with the Ladies Luncheon at 1:30. The ladies enjoyed a pancake and sausage supper. They really enjoyed themselves. Evelyn Gustafson was at the art class at the Senior Citizens Center Thursday afternoon.

We are losing two very delightful ladies, Mrs. Mae Green will go to stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carlson and Aunt Katie Dahman is going back to her daughter's in Thompson. They will be missed by all of us.

By now if you're going to have turkey for your Thanksgiving dinner, you've already bought it. Roast chicken is good too and a pair will serve several people. I have my dinner with friends in Gladstone and last year she had two chickens, served side-by-side on a platter. They were luscious, golden brown, and as tender and juicy as could be. Simply delicious, dressing and all. I hope you're allowing enough for left-over and tiling. I think I enjoy the nibbling most.

Do you play it safe? We all have favorite ways of doing things, especially when it comes to holiday cooking. But some commonly accepted ways of roasting turkey are far from acceptable - in fact, they can be dangerous. I just cringe when I hear what some people do!

Don't roast your turkey in the oven all night long at a low temperature. Instead, roast it at the proper, higher temperature for fewer hours in the morning to effectively destroy bacteria.

Don't partially roast your turkey the night before and finish cooking in the morning either. And never leave it in the oven overnight because of the lack of refrigerator space.

Sound tough? Well, maybe so. You may have to rearrange the contents of your refrigerator, and you may have to get up earlier on the big day. But doesn't the assurance of a safe, wholesome meal for your family make it worthwhile?

And what about your leftovers? You've heard so much about refrigerating all leftovers, dressing, gravy and turkey -- separately. DO IT! The separately is very important. Keeping such foods at room temperature can be dangerous. You can avoid the tummy aches that may be caused by mild food poisoning. This is an entirely different feeling than the one caused by eating too much of the good food you prepare for your family.

On the brighter side, are you lucky enough to have venison to cook? And do you have that extra special bulletin on preparing and using venison in many different ways. It was written by Gail Bowers, Meenonce County Extension Director. It not only has some of good recipes but also gives clear directions on how to take care of the deer after it has been killed. The bulletin has been very popular and can be obtained from your County Extension office.

Throw Snow The Modern Way With A JACOBSEN Tractor

Snow shoveling today is not only outdated, it's also dangerous. With Jacobsen compact LT, Chief, or Super Chief, you needn't worry about sore muscles or aching back. A big 36" capacity, two stage snow thrower attachment moves giant amounts of snow quickly and easily. The large auger chews up the snow, hi-speed second stage rotor spins it out, and the directional chute puts it out of the way where you want it. For lighter jobs, a 34" or 38" single stage thrower is available as well as snow plow blades.

Heroes of today

THE MARKING OF VETERAN'S DAY recently provided us with the opportunity to pose a question: Where are our heroes of today?

Veteran's Day and the thought of heroes are a natural combination, for in the simpler days of yesterday a good share of our nation's heroes came from the ranks of our armed services. Today, with the Pentagon under increasing criticism and the Vietnam adventure wearing thin, the military man's stature has been diminished by over-exposure, and the heroes are few and far between.

In those happier times we used to have Jack Armstrong, the All-American Boy. Today we have Joe Namath, an anti-hero whose activities off the field would have made poor old Jack wither and die of embarrassment.

It has become fashionable to cut down heroic figures to less than life size, to point out the feet of clay, to expose the human frailties. A hero today doesn't have much of a chance.

And yet there are heroes. The problem is that we fail to recognize them as such, and by our apathy, deny them the plaudits they deserve.

Who are they? Consider these . . .

The policeman's job has never been a particularly happy one, yet today he is even more sorely beset by the lunatic fringes who regard him as a symbol of authority and repression. This man, who provides the thin wedge of difference between order and anarchy, who is on call at all hours and who puts his life on the line each day he goes to work, this man is abused and vilified and attacked, reviled as a "pig" and labeled a brute. His home and family are often threatened. Because he must be on duty while others relax, he is often denied the simple pleasure of a Thanksgiving or Christmas holiday with his family. He works long hours and unusual hours, and is often underpaid.

Consider the dedicated teacher who deals in two precious commodities—knowledge and children. This is the person who shapes the minds and channels the energies of our young people, the person who provides direction and purpose, who unlocks the storehouse of reason and logic and expands the horizons of the future. To many she is nothing but a highly-paid baby-sitter; to others she is a convenient target to get the blame for our own shortcomings as parents. When all else fails, we can blame the teacher for high taxes, long hair, riots in the streets and unemployment.

Or consider the "grunt," the dogface, the GI, the guy in the rear ranks. The headlines and the medals go to the generals, the dirty work goes to the rifleman. He's the guy who slogs among the mud of the rice paddies in Vietnam while the grafters get rich in Saigon and the diplomats talk in Paris. He's the one who takes the bullet where it hurts, or trips the hidden mine. Most of them are not in Vietnam by choice, but are there because they accepted the theory of duty to country and are playing by the rules of a society that has seemed to forget them.

There are other heroes—firemen, ministers, judges, doctors, nurses, social workers, even editors. Certainly there are scallaws in those ranks, as there are everywhere, but if we're looking for heroes of epic proportions in our confused society of today, we need not look far, for they are all about us.

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top O' Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

As a special feature this week we offer an exclusive interview with the Editor, in which items of great moment and transport are examined.

Q. How was deer season?

A. Urk! All my friends who were with me have assured me it was great.

Q. And did you shoot a deer?

A. A what?

Q. Would you care to comment on the weather? Here we are edging into late November and, aside from a few flurries, there's been no sign of snow.

A. This is not as unusual as many people think. There have been years that we've had a green Christmas, and this could be one of them, despite the prayers of the snowmobilers. The old-timers will tell you of the open winter of 1914, when it did not snow until Feb. 8, and the spring thaw arrived early in March. Tough-sledding in those days.

Q. Who's going to be the Democratic candidate for President in 1972?

A. How did we get switched off the weather so fast? And how did we get on this topic? Right now, as a shot in the dark, how does a Muskie-Hart ticket hit you? That's what I thought. An even longer shot--Birch Bay of Indiana. Who knows at this early date?

Q. Can Nixon be beat in '72?

A. Certainly, just as Johnson was beat before he ever started in 1968. Nixon is getting fairly high marks currently over his foreign policy, but two things must be nagging at him. First, he has promised an end to the Vietnamese war by 1972. If he doesn't deliver on that one he's in trouble. The second issue may be even tougher, and that's inflation. The General Motors strike is going to have a far greater inflationary effect than is generally realized, and if the Steelworkers follow through on their demands for 1971, and get them, Mr. Middle America is going to be caught between a rock and a hard place, with Mr. Nixon getting the blame. If you couple booming inflation with a sagging stock market and decreasing production, you've got troubles, even here in River City.

Q. You sound gloomier than Gabriel Heatter used to sound on the Sunday night news.

An interview

A. I didn't think anyone remembered him and those dear, dead days of radio.

Q. Well, some of us do. Does that mean we're living in the past?

A. Sure. All of us live in the past to some degree, and we are a product of what we have been, what we have done, and what we have seen and heard. That's where that old ogre, the Generation Gap, comes in. The parents can remember the Great Depression, the rise of fascism and communism and their excesses, Glenn Miller, Pearl Harbor, Guadalcanal, Hiroshima and the birth of television. As far as our kids are concerned, we might as well be talking about the Civil War when we get into these areas.

Q. Do you mean to sound ponderous when you expound on such questions, or is it accidental?

A. It's a family failing. I have an uncle who, when he comments on the weather, sounds like he is explaining the Theory of Relativity. Even my years of newspaper training have failed to make a dent in this weakness.

Q. And how come you got into the newspaper business in the first place?

A. Beats working, doesn't it? The truth of the matter is that I made the mistake of reading a library book "Such Interesting People," the author has since escaped me, and became so intrigued by its accounts of newspaper life that I ran right down to the Mining Journal office in Marquette and presented myself as a future William Allen White. They tolerated me, gave me some errands to run, and I was hooked.

Q. And what is the moral of all that?

A. We should be more careful about what we allow on our library shelves.

Q. Oh not Not that. Can't we have a week's vacation from our library controversy? Why don't we get back to deer camp?

A. There's a great idea! There's still one week end left, and I plan to make the most of it. George Schweigert has been feeding a big buck for me, up by the Stutts...it's the same one I missed last year, but now I'm ready. Sunday I'm really coming home with a load!

Q. Now that I'll believe. Good night, David.

A. Good night, Chet.

IT'S A LEARNING EXPERIENCE

I must have gone from Manistique to Lansing at least a hundred times since 1963, but of all the trips, the one last week end was the most enjoyable.

Helen Jean took three of her office co-op students to the Office Education Association conference in Lansing. I had a Michigan Association of School Administrators committee meeting. So the five of us went together.

Really, I hadn't spent that much time with high school students since I was graduated eons ago. As we say in the trade, "It was a learning experience." Although I didn't quite master the lyrics to "I Think I Love You" (which, incidentally, is the hit by the Partridge Family and number one on the charts--in case you didn't know) I did become vaguely familiar, after the seventeenth time, with the melody. I also learned that senior girls can experience a genuine thrill at their first sight of the white capitol dome flooded with spotlights. They beamed with enthusiasm at their first encounter with the apparent plushness of the Hospitality Motor Inn. One of them kept saying over and over, "Oh, you guys!"

It must have been a learning experience for them, too. The next day the other OEA members began to show up, and the three Manistique girls began to get acquainted. They had reasons. Jean Lequia was running for state office. They wanted to round up as many downstate votes as possible. The downstate vote was the only one to corral. Manistique had the only delegation from the Upper Peninsula.

The girls had the opportunity to learn about the practical politics of trading votes and campaigning. They experienced a rather dramatic floor fight. One of the coordinators from Detroit had neglected to file properly for an officer candidacy. As a result, the girl, a black student, was ineligible for office. There was a motion to make an exception and the vote split evenly for a time, until it was discovered that one delegate was not voting. The membership insisted she vote. The kids wouldn't let their delegates abstain because the issue was tough. The decision was made in favor of the candidate, but not until there had been a polarization of whites and blacks.

We learned that black students and coordinators alike resented the security guard which patrolled the halls of the Motor Inn after 11:30 p.m. No one from the conference had asked for security. It was just standard procedure.

Louise Turek made an appreciative comment on the way home. She said, "This trip has made my senior year." Jean Lequia said, "It was great to run, even if I didn't win." And Diane Reid said, as we drove into Manistique, "I hope my mother is in a listening mood, because I want to tell her everything."

As long as students can handle themselves the way Diane, Louise, and Jean did, as long as there are resources available to send students, and as long as there are faculty members willing to accompany them, we will continue to encourage student participation in activities outside Manistique. It's a learning experience - for them, but for us, too.

Lake story selling well

"North to Lake Superior," an account of a trip along the south shore of the lake in 1840, published for the first time last spring, is going into its second edition.

The popular journal, written by Charles W. Penny of Detroit 130 years ago, and re-discovered by author John W. Voelker of Ishpeming, has been in constant demand since being published in March by the John M. Longyear Research Library at Marquette.

According to library spokesmen, the book has received good reviews in regional historical publications, and orders have been received from throughout the nation, indicating a growing interest in history of the Lake Superior region.

The account tells of Penny's adventures during the 1840 expedition headed by famous state geologist, Douglass Houghton, and it gives a detailed description of the life and country from Mackinac Island to La-Pointe near present-day Ashland, Wisconsin.

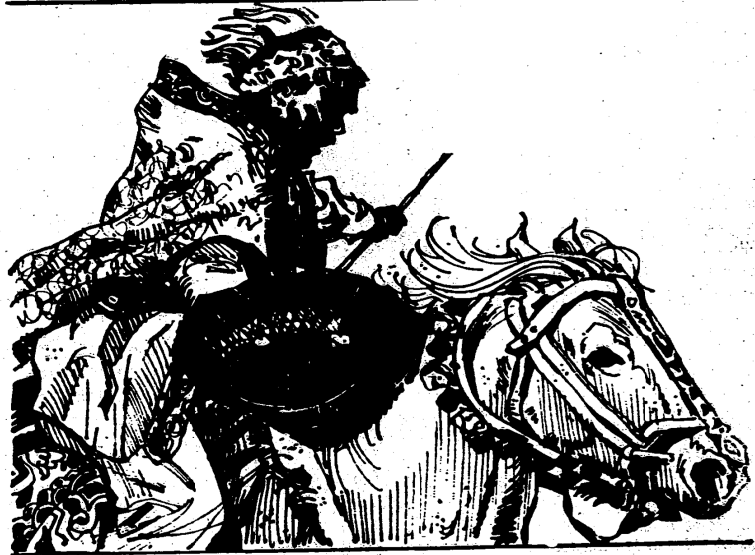

Editing of the journal was done by James L. Carter of Marquette, and Ernest H. Rankin of Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

Quite candidly I'm moved to send a fan letter to the Manistique community. It is focused upon its courteous and gracious hospitality to us two relative newcomers last week.

My wife and I are extending appreciation to this community as a place to settle down and live for two non-"sun-chasers" ---also, 20 plus years vacation only residents, now retired and oldsters. Further, in particular, we extend appreciation and plaudits to the Manistique Police Department and its two fine officers, Rodman and Reno.

Last Tuesday evening, while holding a chunk of fine Lake Superior jasper up to the abrasive wheel at our new friend, Ken Tilton's Community School Adult Education Rock Hound (Lapidary) class--also a bit fatigued from my day's chinking to further winterize the new bedroom addition to our cabin here on Steuben Lake--I was briefly stricken and transported by Officers Rodman and Reno to Memorial Hospital. I was admitted by authority of Dr. Larry Sell, given multiple tests, non-productive in validating unsoundness of body or mind, and released on Thursday morning.

Further, in quick assessment of my concern at the hospital for the care and well-being of my wife, who is in quite frail health, Officer Rodman did take her to the fine Dipper Motel, facilitate her registration and, alert the lady in charge that she would need supporting guidance and counsel at meal times and perhaps otherwise as well. Finally, per phone alert from Memorial Hospital the next day, she was transported there by Rodman and/or Reno twice to visit me--courtesy the Police Department. Above cited Professor Tilton also graciously called upon me, the patient, and per my request conveyed Mrs. B. to Bill Males' Pharmacy, from her prescription in his file to procure an emergency supply of her continuing medications, pending my release and our return here to our cabin.

Parenthetically, I may add that one of my sophisticated hunter guests from Lansing, after dressing out and hanging his first ever buck, did read this letter. "OK," he said, "Pigs is pigs, and cops are gentlemen."

Sincerely,
Robert W. Beasley

a
bargain

BARGAINS

Everyone loves a bargain—whether it's Mother in the local supermarket, or Dad laying in a supply of shotgun shells for the hunting season or Junior buying his candy bars at three for a dime. And what fun it is to tell our friends of the lucky purchase—even if, in the final accounting, the results are somewhat dubious!

But think of the many bargains about which we have no doubt — really big, genuine bargains
... like the beautiful color of leaves on an autumn day or the aroma of roast turkey that's in the kitchen stove at this very minute. And, since it's Thanksgiving, it is only appropriate that we should mention the tremendous bargain of our heritage and freedom.

When you come to think of it, we are always getting more than we are giving. We are on the receiving end. The biggest part of our life — the overwhelming part of our life — is what is given to us.

Let us then become conscious of our moment-by-moment dependence on God, the awareness of life as a gift. For what is religion but receiving, seeing, believing, praising and thanking God?

Cookbooks are being featured at "Street of Little Shops"

"Cookbooks, we have cookbooks, we have stacks and stacks of cookbooks," Mrs. Charles Swinehart, chairman of special projects for the Street of Little Shops, recently stated in announcing the addition of several special items to the annual sale conducted by the women of St. Alban's Episcopal Churchwomen. The sale is scheduled to take place Saturday, Dec. 3, from 2 to 5 p.m. in the undercroft of St. Alban's Church.

"Our real pride and joy is our very own cookbook, which contains recipes of the fancy cookies that we serve at the tea table," says Mrs. Howard Handorf, president of the group. The book of local recipes will be entitled "Tea Table Treasures."

The ladies will also be selling the casseroles and salads edition of "Favorite Recipes of Episcopal Churchwomen," as well as a stainless steel paring knife.

Mrs. Duane Waters reviewed the book "Sexual Politics," by Millett, at the meeting of the Study Club on Nov. 16. The group met at the Gulliver Lake home of Mrs. John Moffat with
