City's snow crew defended

A spirited defense of the city's snow removal crew was presented at Monday night's regular City Council meeting.

The defense was prompted by an editorial read over WTRC radio last week criticizing the plowing and snow removal that followed the last major storm Thursday, Dec. 3.

City Manager Howard Fountain said that he had received only three complaints on snow removal, and these included one case where snow had been thrown on a lawn, and another case where a mailbox had been hit.

Mr. Landerhult, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, displayed a city map showing priorities of the snow removal procedure, and explained that initial efforts are made to keep open the trunk highways plus access to the Senior Citizens housing, the hospital, and the water treatment station, and that they then try to clear the school areas as quickly as possible.

He pointed out that he had only a 15-man crew available for storm emergencies, and that during the last storm his men just in 38 hours of overtime in three days... plus their regular working hours.

He also pointed out that his men were working with old machinery, and that it doesn't break down until it is used. The small sidewalk tractor is still waiting for parts, he said, which means that the 17 foot grader must be used to clear downtown sidewalk sections—a delicate job. He also pointed out that his crew is sometimes interrupted by emergency water or sewer repair work. On the Thursday of the storm the city's regular operation had to be curtailed in order to dig up 120 feet of main interceptor sewer line on Chicago St. that was clogged. His crew later had to go to repair a water line that had burst on the west side—a project that took eight hours, Landerhult said. He pointed out that the city crew worked all through Thursday night and until 2 p.m. Friday, when he sent them home, and that they were back on the job at 1 a.m. Saturday. The unit clears, Worker Don Demars explained the the leader would have been cleared except for heavy traffic and the fact that the snow-gro broke down.

Sherman said the radio had invited those who disagreed to respond to the editorial, but Councilman Thor Steene said, "We don't have time to write editorials. It Dave Kelly, owner of the station and writer of the editorial, should take a second look. For someone whose business lies outside the city limits to attack the DPW is unwarranted. Responsibility in writing an editorial also means responsibility in knowing all the facts, and I don't think he knows them."

Mayor Douglas those called the editorial "entirely incorrect," and City Manager Fountain desisted it as "uncalled for."

Council member Landerhult and his crew should receive commendation instead of criticism, and praised them for their efforts. They also called for an apology from the radio station for the editorial.

Councilman Leo DeHarris reported that the council's special trailer committee had tentatively agreed to set aside a room for the trailer.

Burial fees protested

The high cost of dying is catching up to Schoolcraft County.

At least it got as far as discussion in the December meeting of the County Board of Commissioners at the Court House Tuesday evening, where the costs of veterans' burial allowances and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act were the topics.

Probate Judge John Faketty, who makes an annual appointment to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Commission, asked the county board for guidance on allowing burial payments to veterans or their widows.

The law provides that the county shall pay $300 to the executor or administrator of a veteran's estate that totals less than $15,000, for use in helping to meet burial costs. Up until now, however, approval of the payment by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Commission has been automatic, Faketty said, with no checking on the size of the estate.

He cited a recent example where $10,000 in $20 bills was found in the safety deposit box of a deceased veteran. "Is he entitled?" asked Faketty. He also asked about a surviving spouse, who has never been dependent upon her veteran husband, who still makes application for a burial allowance. "Is she dependent?" he asked. "I think not."

Commission Chairman Lindsey Prentice commented that the county could not afford to pay $300 for the funeral of every veteran in the county, and Commissioner Ernest Hoholik said that when the applications come to the commission for approval, they assume the applicants are eligible.

Faketty agreed with County Clerk Ferdinand Lesica that the probate office should furnish the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Commission with information as to the size of the estate involved.

Prosecutor Gottfried S. Johnson said that funeral expenses are automatically gauged to include the $300 payments for veterans, whether the application has been approved or not. He also said that Faketty's report that the applications are prepared by the funeral homes indicated a change was needed, as the law says the benefit should be requested by the executor or administrator. Hoholik said he felt they did this as a service to the family, but Homer Weber commented that they should be "cut off."

"Who's going to tell them?" Faketty asked. "The not."

Currently the county has spent $3,800 of its $4,000 that was appropriated for veterans' burial in 1970, and four other applications are being held up. They would total $1,200.

Members of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Commission are Max Osterhout, chairman; John Weber, vice chairman and Lionel Mercier, secretary.

The question will be referred to the finance committee, which will check into the issue of qualifications.

Edison Soo to hike rates

Edison Sault Electric Co. of Sault Ste. Marie has approved to increase its electric rates $351,765 annually. It will be the first rate increase the utility has had since it was established in 1926.

The increase will be spread among more than 12,000 customers served by Edison Sault in Chippewa, Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties.

Customers living in the City of Manistique, where the utility has a franchise that will not permit a change in rates until 1973, will not be affected by the rate hike.

The Public Service Commission (PSC) of the Michigan Department of Commerce, which approved the rate increase, directed Edison Sault to file new rate schedules which must be approved by the Commission before they are put into effect.

The Commission said the seven per cent rate increase will give the utility a 7.4 per cent rate of return and enable it to raise additional capital that will be needed to finance construction of additional generating facilities.

Edison Sault's present rates for residential service, the Commission noted, are the lowest in Michigan and will still be lower than rates charged by many utilities in the area.

Although it was Edison Sault's first request for a rate increase in its 78-year history, the utility, at the request of the PSC, reduced its rates by $71,000 annually in 1965 and by an additional $93,400 annually in 1967.

In addition to providing electric services in the three counties, Edison Sault also provides water service to the City of St. Ignace and operates water and sewer systems on Mackinac Island.

Four join 25-Year club

The 18th annual dinner meeting of the Inland Lime and Stone Co. Twenty-Five Year Club was held last Thursday night at the Fireside.

Four employees who have completed 25 years or more with Inland during 1970 were welcomed into the club: they are Ralph Stiles, Gregory I. Goudreau, Franklin P. Creeden and Howard K. Shampine.

Total membership of the club is now 110, of whom 48 are retired and 62 are active working employees. It was reported that 18 per cent of the company's employees, or almost one out of every six, are members of the "Twenty-Five Year Club." The average length of service per member is 32 years and six months.

The annual Christmas season tour of elementary schools by the Manistique Junior Band is scheduled for Thursday and Friday this week. Director Ruben Meyer reports, "The Junior bandmen will open their tour at 9 a.m. Thursday at the Doyle School, then journey to Gervais for a 10:30 a.m. performance. At 1 p.m. they will play for students at St. Francis de Sales School. Friday the bandmen will begin their tour at 9 a.m. at the Hawatha School, then move to Lincoln for a 10:30 show. At 1 p.m. they will be at Fairview, and the tour will conclude at Lakeside at 2:15 p.m. Parents are invited to attend the performances."

Dems pick Calhoun

Herbert Calhoun, 102 S. Third St., was elected chairman of the Schoolcraft County Democratic Committee as they met last Wednesday night at the court house.

He defeated Cal Jeneron, 702 W. Elk St., on a 12-10 vote. Calhoun is employed at Inland Lime and Stone Co., and is president of Local 3432, United Steelworkers union.

Mrs. Lindsey Frenette, Culliver, was named as county vice chairman, while Jeneron was elected secretary of the organization.

The only incumbent returning is Mrs. Paul Hollenbeck, 221 Maple St., who was re-elected treasurer.

Incumbents C. Vern Johnson, chairman; Earl LeBrasseur, secretary and Myrtle St. Marin of Seney, vice chairman, were not candidates.

A resolution opposing the proposed order and Supreme Court justices, was approved by the committee, and will be forwarded to the State Central Committee.

A "Victory Dinner" has been scheduled for Jan. 9 with dinner arrangements in charge of Calhoun, Mrs. Frenette, and County Clerk Ferdinand Lesica. Precinct chairman will be named at that meeting.

Inland ends year

Regular operations ended for the year Friday at Inland Lime and Stone Co.

All men have been laid off with the exception of employees retained for watching and snow removal.

Operations will resume on a winter basis the week of Jan. 4. It was announced, "The annual winter layoff, which becomes effective this date, will apply to 129 men, or 45 per cent of the work force. The men laid off, with the exception of a few retained because of job skills or union status, were all hired after May 22, 1952.

There were 405 boats loaded this year, or 72 more than the 333 loaded last year. Total tonnage of both high calcium stone and dolomite stone is up from 1969 as well, with a greater amount of commercial size stone being sold resulting in the increase.

This winter's work program includes routine belt repairs, plus maintenance and repairs to mechanical and electrical equipment. The dolomite quarry will be completely inactive, but at the high-calcium quarry, in addition to normal stripping and drilling operations, stripping will be done to bring about the realignment and lengthening of the quarry face in the west quarry. This is being done so that track can be laid in order to give access to the deposit of good stone whose bottom lies below the grade.

Lighting contest set

The annual Christmas lighting contest will be held in the Manistique area again this year, sponsored by the Manistique Jaycees.

Two categories will be used for judging, religious and non-religious displays. They will be judged on their originality and beauty.

Awards will be given for first and second places in both divisions of the contest, with $10 for first prize and $5 for second prize in each category.

In addition, honorable mention will be awarded for those displays considered outstanding.

Bank may split stock

Shareholders in the State Bank have the opportunity to approve a Christmas dividend to themselves.

Directors of the bank have recommended to the stockholders an increase in the cash dividend from $200,000 to $300,000, by means of a stock split.

The effect of the dividend, stock split, would mean that shareholders would receive one share for every four shares now held.

Shareholders will vote on the proposal at their annual meeting Dec. 15.

Family Living

BY INGRID TERVONEN

Michigan State University Extension Home Economist

I'm beginning to think you need to start in January if you're going to feel ready for Christmas. Right now I'm weighing what must be done against what I'd really prefer doing.

Maybe we need to make a list - must do - would like to do - don't need to do right now. I'm leaving my living room drapery in the last category because holiday guests won't know they're clean or not if the rest of the house is in order.

Every year I vow to cut down my card list but every year it's just as long. You may eliminate a few but you always add a few. It's so nice to get messages from old friends and sometimes disappointing if they only sign their name. It's something you don't expect with every card you receive but do expect from some. It does take time, even though the message is short, but perhaps it's worth the effort.

Children love Christmas and December is an exciting month for them. They like some of the family traditions connected with it. My two little nephews knew that on Dec. 15 they had to hang their felt Christmas tree. The little numbered presents below hold decorations and one is hung on the tree each day until Dec. 25. They've also started lighting their advent candles.

My packages are in the mail. Adults can wait but children need something to open and use now. It doesn't need to be much to be enjoyed. This year I sent odds and ends that included a "Frosty the Snowman" napkin holder that I bought at an Extension Homekeepers bazaar, a couple of books and three red reindeer - two the same size and a little one for

Participants, hosts sought for Exchange program

Students in the Manistique Area Schools now have the opportunity to participate in the largest teenage exchange program in the world. The Board of Education has approved this program, officially called Youth For Understanding, and the local school students have viewed a movie explaining the program. There are 4,000 students a year from 40 different countries exchanged. There are 42 states in the United States exchanging students. Each of these students require a family to live with here and abroad. This student exchange program stresses the importance of cultural contact a day to day living with a family. It is in this way that students can learn about a country, its people, their way of life and their language in a most memorable way. The students primarily selected to participate in this program are those who have completed their junior year who are interested in Store has new owners

For 35 years Jim and Jean Rodgers have operated the corner grocery store in Gulliver which they built and started in the fall of 1935. Last Monday they retired. Over the years the store has served as a gathering place for the local people, a meeting place for the Gulliver youth, and often as the spot to drop off contributions for those in need of help. The new owners, who will continue to operate the business as before, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flynn, formerly of Marshall, Mich. They have seven children.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT OLSEN

Mark 50th anniversary

An open house at their home in Coaks Dec. 17 marked the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Olsen. Mrs. Olsen is the former Elsie Hainil of Coaks. They were married in Coaks on Dec. 11, 1920, and had three sons, Mrs. Ruth Brooks, of Saranac, Ill., Orville, of Coaks, and Gene, deceased. They have seven grandchildren, Robert and Marilyn Rejall and Christine, Barbara, Shirley, Gene and Rhonda Olsen.

Random thoughts

Just a few random thoughts I would like to throw out. The old 'log' on Cedar looks cold and empty under the pale lights of the streetlamps. Today, Sunday, two figures were sitting on the 'log' and the day was cold and crisp and clear. I wonder if Manistique should have a 'Rumor Center,' a place where someone could call to dispel all the rumors that are being banished about? I've discovered that it helps to talk to the individual first. Have you seen a good movie lately? Snow is fun! Went sliding and inebriating with Meyer a few times. We had our friends with us, Sallie and Mickey. 'Lately I've been asking myself why I became a teacher. It's a legitimate question for anyone who cares what he is doing in this world. To me, a teacher is a human being who cares. Sometimes you can care too much and lose sight of your objective. It happens. We're all human. Manistique has beautiful Christmas lights. Christmas lights seem to have that special effect during this time of the year. It is now when people take on this special effect also. They become warm and bright toward one another until the power slowly fades out. It's a once a year thing. Christmas, by classroom 307, has a draft of the ceiling. It keeps flaking off. Somehow that reminds me of my students. My first child (boy?) will be born within two weeks and he will have that once a year thing all his life. Life through

THE SUGAR BEETER

Just a few random thoughts I would like to throw out. The old 'log' on Cedar looks cold and empty under the pale lights of the streetlamps. Today, Sunday, two figures were sitting on the 'log' and the day was cold and crisp and clear. I wonder if Manistique should have a 'Rumor Center,' a place where someone could call to dispel all the rumors that are being banished about? I've discovered that it helps to talk to the individual first. Have you seen a good movie lately? Snow is fun! Went sliding and inebriating with Meyer a few times. We had our friends with us, Sallie and Mickey. 'Lately I've been asking myself why I became a teacher. It's a legitimate question for anyone who cares what he is doing in this world. To me, a teacher is a human being who cares. Sometimes you can care too much and lose sight of your objective. It happens. We're all human. Manistique has beautiful Christmas lights. Christmas lights seem to have that special effect during this time of the year. It is now when people take on this special effect also. They become warm and bright toward one another until the power slowly fades out. It's a once a year thing. Christmas, by classroom 307, has a draft of the ceiling. It keeps flaking off. Somehow that reminds me of my students. My first child (boy?) will be born within two weeks and he will have that once a year thing all his life. Life through

Echoes from Harbor View

We had the nicest Christmas party at Harbor View Towers. 35 people were present as well as four guests. The ladies were very proud of themselves after baking all the beautiful cookies. We had ice cream, cookies and coffee, then played bingo and cards. We also had a beautiful tree. Many from here attended the silver wedding celebration that was held at the Sportsman's Club on Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Beaudry on Dec. 12. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson from West Allis, Wis., visited with Mrs. Ethel Nelson over the week end. Mrs. Nelson left with them to visit her son and family in Colorado Springs, Colorado where she will stay for two months. We wish to thank the VFW for the beautiful tree that they brought to the Towers. A special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Tilton for decorating it. Our readers at the Towers extend their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. William Drefs and Mr. and Mrs. C. Vern Johnson for magazines and books brought here. We visited Charlotte Kerr Thursday. She is still in St. Francis Hospital but the doctor promised she will be home for Christmas. Many from here attended the Festival Sunday at St. Francis de Sales Church. It was very beautiful, especially the handbell choir featuring the family of Rev. Robert Hick of Newberry.

Couple bilked by 'inspectors'

An elderly couple in the Cutler area was bilked out of $70 the first week in December by a pair of men posing as power inspectors, State Police has reported.

Officers said the two men walked into the house and said they were checking lights, and that some lights had been condemned. While one of the intruders demanded money from the woman to pay for the inspection, the other went about the house and allegedly took about $10 from a kitchen drawer in the bedroom. Because the men "spied" when the woman paid them about $30 and they left, cutting the telephone wire on their departure.

The investigation is continuing.

Malicious destruction of a junked car stored in Section 7 of Hiawatha Township was reported Monday afternoon by Clarence Doney, 228 Schoolcraft Ave. He said he came upon four youth wrecking the car and obtained the snowmobile registration of one of their machines. They had broken the windows and were jacking up and down on the vehicle when observed. The registration number was 15-12-02 and the motor was instructed to make arrangements with the owner regarding the damage.

Officers are also investigating the break-in of the Little Indian Boat Club in Inwood Township, probably sometime Dec. 13. Entrance was gained by forcing a kitchen door, but apparently no thing of value was taken.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to express my opinion in defense of Ray Lindstedt and the Department of Public Works. Contrary to the radio editorial last week, I sincerely believe they did an outstanding job of snow removal following the aftermath of December 3 and 4. I know Ray and each man on his crew personally. I know the circumstances and difficulties they are subjected to following such a snow storm. Some of these men worked as much as 36 hours 3 and 4 of December, without rest and they were beat. I don't care how physically strong a man is, the human body can only take so much exertion. Ray and his men are to be praised rather than criticized. It makes me so darn mad when any person or persons establish themselves as a critic of an individual, or individuals, without knowing even a portion of the complexity of the situation these individuals are faced with, or the circumstances they may be working under. Snow removal is only one phase of public works. There are other emergencies that require immediate attention and they run a parallel to the foregoing. I think the person or persons responsible for this editorial owe Ray and his Department a public apology. They might take stock of the old Italian proverb, "Don't criticize a man until you've walked in his moccasins."

And other city employees are required to own property within the city limits so we are all taxpayers too. We all drive cars and shop downtown and drive our children to and from school when it is storming, so we know the hardships and hazards of driving as well as the next guy.

To sum it all up, we and the equipment did our best without rest and very little coffee, and if you have time during your busy working hours to listen to a few travelers and frequent visiting salesmen, they will tell you, as usual, Manistique was the first city in the Upper Peninsula to have their streets clean enough to keep traffic moving at a steady pace.

To the Editor:

Just a few words in defense of whomever the editorial was meant for that was given on the radio.

The plows were fighting the storm we had while it was storming, and for two days after. In a three day period, which would normally give the employees 24 work hours, a few of us had 38 hours overtime. This means that in a 72 hour period, we and the equipment were working 62 hours with only coffee breaks.

We have at the City Shop, two graders and two end loaders (with plow attachments) to cover 25 miles of road, plus the State truckline, US-2 and 11-04 to the city limits. While it is storming, it takes much time and power to keep these vital places open.

After the storm we had to widen and clean the streets for the flow of traffic, and pick up snow in the downtown area.

All of this was done between Thursday and Saturday, except for pick-up of snow on part of the main trucklines. Traffic moved and all roads were passable.

As for intersections and piles of snow here and there, take a look around and see how many people and businesses have plows, snow throwers and enthusiastic employees who plow and shovel and throw the snow from drive-ways, walks and private parking places into the city streets. By the time we get to these areas, the plows and traffic have packed these piles of snow so hard it takes hours for us to knock it apart and ready it for the snow-blower to pick it up.

Also, the snow arrived this year before the ground was frozen. When the snow comes during the warm close enough to the curbing to allow regular traffic lanes, the plow is rigid and does not work on a spring, will dig wherever the wheels drop to a driveway or hole, so there is no way of the digging up of some sod or "dirt" can be helped.

At the time the elements are out fighting all of the snow and traffic and "home-blown" driveways, the other services of the street department still Scientists here have abused food that coronary thrombosis was more common in populations eating the food consumed last week. Lower heart attacks occurred among those who ate predominantly animal and vegetable diets. But, they soon learned that there was more to cholesterol than diet. Much of the serum lipids found in the body are manufactured in the liver and excreted in the bile.

In many poorer and ill fed countries, people die of infarction long before they reach the age for heart attacks. Also, smoking and lack of exercise tend to increase the risk of coronary thrombosis. A high cholesterol level adds to the risk. Emotions play a contributory role; hypertension, obesity, and diabetes to the same.

Diet and drugs lower the lipid level. Some authorities believe that these measures will help avoid narrowing and obstruction of the coronary arteries, but we must alter our diets early in life. Too much saturated fat from lambburgers, hot dogs, french fries, whole milk and eggs may predispose teenagers to a heart attack on reaching middle age.

We find that people of all ages like the type of service they get at A.S. PUTNAM & CO. (WHERE YOUR HEALTH IS OUR BUSINESS.)

John Deere Walk-Behind Snow Blowers

Quality Features

Need financing? The John Deere Credit Plan solves that.

All three John Deere Walk-Behind Snow Blowers have 2-stage design for efficient snow removal.

Two-stage design—Rather than let the auger perform both functions of picking up snow and throwing it out the discharge chute, all John Deere Walk-Behind Snow Blowers have two separate snow-blowing actions. A low-speed auger picks up the snow, and moves it to a separate blower for discharge. This provides big capacity...eliminates power waste, and results in efficient snow blowing action.

Variable, limited-slip differential—On the left-hand wheel hub you'll find an adjustable, limited-slip differential control that you can adjust with your toe. It's variable to let you match traction to conditions.

Large pneumatic tires—16-inch-diameter tires are regular on all John Deere Walk-Behind Snow Blowers. Chains are seldom required.

Optional electric start—as an extra, is available for the 726 and 732 models. Operates off any 110-volt household current.

Adjustable skid shoes help control cutting depth. Reversible scraper blade provides long wear.

Plant and Flower care

by RONALD R. SELLERS

The hanging of mistletoe is an English Custom dating back to the Druids, an ancient order of Celtic Priests of Gaul and Britain. This plant was thought to bring good luck and was so sacred that if enemies met beneath it growing on oak trees in the forest, they would lay down their arms, exchange greetings and keep a truce until the next day.

From this custom grew the practice of hanging the "Plant of Peace" over the doorway as a symbol of good will to all comers. A kiss under the mistletoe was a declaration of love and a promise of marriage. An engagement announced in this way was thought to bring long life, happiness and good fortune to lovers.

May everything symbolized by the "Plant of Peace" be in your homes and hearts this Christmas and throughout the new year!

Our holiday barabar and baka sale was very successful. We want to thank everyone who bought barabar items and led goods to the center and all the girls who donated their time here. There are a few items left and some are quite unique and would make lovely Christmas gifts.

Thursday we will have our out-painting class as usual from 1 to 4 p.m. Join our group and you'll be surprised at what you can accomplish. It only takes 10 per cent labor and 90 per cent wanting to do it. One of our more picturesque artists, Peg McLaughlin, can paint and she just started last September.

This Friday afternoon we're going to play smair and cribbage at the center for anyone who is interested. If you're sitting at home watching your team... come down and shuffle it... The coffee pot is always on. If you don't like either of those games and you like bridge, bring a game. If you're looking a player and want a bossy partner, I'll join you.

Remember our bowling is every Wednesday from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Lakewood lanes for everyone over 55.

Our courtesy discount cards are still available for anyone 65 and older. Those who have taken advantage of this should be sure to thank our business places who have cooperated in this endeavor. So far 193 persons have taken cards.

Friday, Robert Hamlin, Social Security representative, will be at the center from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. for the general public.

We had a party for all the patients Monday afternoon. The ladies entertained were Mrs. Gust Larson's pinetle club. Also Tuesday the Ladies Club from the Lutheran Church of Isabella entertained us. Singing Christmas carols. We have all our decorations up so it's really beginning to look more and more like Christmas.

We have a lovely couple, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker, staying with us. Thursday night movies were "Thin Blue Line" and "Wild Rivers." Everything turned out to see them. Friday, bingo day, was enjoyed. All our prizes were either perfume, cologne, sachet cream or bath powder, so everyone went back to their rooms smiling so good. Everyone tried the other's clothes. All that's left to do, see you next week.

The first football cheer was based on a little cry, the National cheer. At the 1969, some "Pineblades" roared out a lusty "Sis, boom, lah." The shout derived from the roared yell of New York's Seventh Regiment.

County Board

From funerals the board progressed to the question of the dog warden.

Manistique Mayor Douglas Rose was present to ask what the status of the dog warden was, as he said the city had indicated it would help to pay for services rendered . . . but they didn't feel any service was being rendered.

Sheriff Lloyd Gray, who had been charged with enforcement of the state dog law through a resolution of the county commission, reported that there is currently no dog warden.

He said he was not trying to find one, and "I'm washing my hands of it." He told the board that if they wanted to hire one to go ahead, but not under his department.

Ed Jones, the county dog warden who resigned last July 13 after a dispute that arose when he ticketed the sheriff's dog, was present and applied for the position. He had previously applied for the city dog post at Monday's council session.

Following considerable discussion as to who should be in charge of the dog warden, who is a deputy sheriff, the commission agreed to a committee to study the question further. Gray, County Sanitarian Boyd Briggs, and Commissioners Thurman Skarritt, Ernest Hoholik and Edward Jorgensen are on the committee.

Commissioner Skarritt reported on the progress of the airport project, and said that a meeting in Lansing earlier this month indicated that there might be more state financial aid available for the project.

The county's share is currently pegged at $100,820, and efforts are being made to secure Economic Development Administration grants, plus increased state help, to decrease this amount. A meeting last Thursday night on the county's Overall Economic Development Plan pegged the airport as the county's top priority project, which would help to qualify it for EDA monies.

Purchase of a truck from Houghton County Road Commission, for $500, plus a plow from Chippewa County, for $100, was also reported, plus the exchange of a small tractor.

County Treasurer William Cowman's monthly report indicated that his September estimate of a $20,000 deficit at the end of the year still held true, unless substantial early tax payments were made or the county received state and federal monies for the sale of the old Manistique and Lake Superior Railroad right-of-way. This could cut the deficit to under $10,000, he said.

Also approved was a resolution from the County Zoning Commission, setting 7:30 p.m. Jan. 14 for a public hearing on the proposed county zoning ordinance. This would replace the interim zoning ordinance, which expires April 1, 1971.

They also approved the request of the zoning and planning commissions granting their authority to have the chairmen declare vacancies on their boards when members miss a specified number of meetings, and granting them the power to fill the vacancy by appointments, subject to the approval of the county Commissioners.

Resolutions of appreciation for retiring board members Norman John and Homer Weber were also approved.

Advisory meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Manistique School and Public Library Advisory Board will be held in the Conference room of the high school at noon Thursday (today). Members will draw for terms of service.

Extension News

The Call Vaccination Tour Saturday, will start in the Germask area. We will probably be out there until 8 and 8:30 a.m. From there we will work our way to the west, ending up in the Coons area hopefully by mid-afternoon.

For those beef farmers who are not vaccinating I would appreciate it if you would let me know why? As I see it, vaccination gives you another alternative for disposing of our letters in that you can't then think as breeders instead of for slaughter.

There has been a lot of noise for the last year over the use of pesticides, herbicides, and fertilizer, as well as many people trying to say that organic gardening is the only way to farm. I'll explore this in detail in future columns but I would like you to compare high food prices with an approximate 100 to 200 per cent increase if we were to do away with the use of our scientific aides to farming in the field of fertilizer and insect control. I agree with you atomists in me respect, which is that there has been enough supervision over the use of many insecticides and pesticides - resulting in residues on the crop product. However, rather than legislate these chemicals out of existence, I would much rather see an information program conducted with the users so that they would follow the instructions to the letter and thereby keep the price of food down.

Nothing to do!

There's nothing to do!

Since time immemorial that seems to have been the cry of the younger generation.

That same cry is being heard in Manistique these days, particularly since the closing of the theatre and a popular west side drive-in.

There is the suspicion that parents of today are less than sympathetic when the issue is raised by their children. There is some cause for this indifference, for several generations ago, during their own youth, they managed to survive without television, or snowmobiles, or even extended use of the family car. Their reasoning goes that they survived without all of these manifestations of the affluent society, and look how well they turned out!

Those dear, dead Depression years may be ancient history as far as our youngsters are concerned. Their problem is today, in the present, rather than listening to what they consider a recitation of life in the Dark Ages.

We should not blame our youngsters if they seem disenchanted. Rather we should look to the circumstances that find us as parents busily organizing our children and their activities practically from the moment of birth. We may have been content with a pick-up game of baseball in a vacant lot with a taped bat and soggy ball; today we have Little League with uniforms and managers and umpires and schedules. Several generations ago our skiing consisted of short rides on pine skis with innertube binders, followed by long walks back up the hill. Today there has to be a ski tow and a schedule of hours and laminated skis and expensive boots and binders.

As youngsters, we probably complained just as loudly about there being nothing to do. The difference today is that our children regard this as a right, rather than a privilege, and having been indoctrinated in recreation being a way of life and an end, rather than a means, feel cut adrift and lost if no pre-packaged program of fun and games is available to them. Television has helped to create the illusion that fun can be programmed; turned on and off with a switch of the dial, presented and packaged and plasticized automatically.

For all of this, don't blame the kids. They are the victims rather than the perpetrator. We are the ones who have created the monster. Instead of working actively at being parents we have abdicated in favor of convenient baby-sitters such as the school and the movie and the TV set and the drive-in and anything else that will keep the kids out from underfoot so they don't get in the way while we have our own good time.

As a community, we should be concerned with the recreational opportunities that are available for our youngsters. We should bend every effort to see that their spare time can be exciting and constructive, rather than a dreary burden of boredom. There's truth to the old saw about the idle mind being the devil's playground.

In our present situation, perhaps we should look to our youngsters for some ideas on what could be done. What attractions do they feel should be available in the community? Are we missing the obvious while trying to do the impossible? We cannot hope to plan and pre-package all of the spare time enjoyed by our youngsters. We could hope, however, to provide reasonable opportunity for them to find enjoyment and relaxation here in their home community, so that we won't continue to be haunted by the complaint, "There's nothing to do!"

David A. Rood--Co-Publisher and Editor

A prize-winning weekly newspaper published every Thursday at Manistique, Michigan, at the Top O' Lake Michigan in the heart of Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula.

Some one is born. It's in the paper.
Some one dies. It's in the paper.
Somebody gets married, or has a baby, or marks a wedding anniversary or becomes engaged. It's in the paper.

Somebody goes to the hospital or graduates from college or retires or is promoted, appointed or transferred. That's right. It's in the paper.

Who reads the paper? Judging from the news stories, members of the Knights of Columbus, Women's Club, Foresters, TOPS, PTA's, church circles and guilds, Athletic Boosters, Masons, American Legion and VFW and their Auxiliaries, Jaycees, Hospital Auxiliary, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Indian Lake Golf Club, 4-H Clubs, Job's Daughters, Elks, Lions, Rotary and the Ministerial Association, to name a few, all of whom submit news reports of their groups and their activities.

Want to know what the weather was like during the past week? Want to know what time a parade starts and where it's going, or which class or family group is holding a reunion? Interested in news about men in service? Want to know what the Industrial Development Corporation is planning, or what the goals and purposes of the CBC fund drive are? Who's participating in the queen contest, and what do they look like? How's the Little League doing, and what's their schedule? Is the Historical Society planning new things for their museum, is the Chamber of Commerce planning a special sales promotion or membership dinner?

Look in the paper. Look and you'll find news from the churches, from the Medical Care Facility, from Harbor View Towers and the Senior Citizens Center. There's a column on Extension news and one on family living. There are stories on school awards and school events, school sports, bowling standings, the hot lunch menu and information on union community services for Memorial Day, the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas. You'll find who's confirmed at St. Francis and when the Methodist pasty sale is scheduled. If the health department is having an eye clinic or there's a special meeting on Urban Renewal, you'll get the details in your paper.

It's your newspaper that takes the time, assumes the expense and makes the effort to send a reporter to each City Council meeting, each School Board meeting, each County Commission meeting; to make the rounds of the police and fire departments to pick up accident reports and ambulance calls; that checks regularly with District Court and Circuit Court to report their proceedings; that interviews new businessmen, or attends political meetings and rallies.

Who else but your newspaper gives you before and after coverage of the snowmobile races, or details of the Christmas lighting contest and pictures of the winners, or covers the events of Michigan Week, reports on census information and runs pictures and stories on all the honor students graduating each year?

It's the newspaper that carries columns from surrounding areas, takes pictures of usual and unusual events, and is the authorized publication for minutes of boards and commissions and the printing of legal notices.

And yes, it is the newspaper that each week, in print, expresses an opinion, or suggestion, or point of view, attempting to use its editorials to stimulate thought or produce new ideas or present a different perspective or to protest what appears to be a mistake or injustice. The editorials aren't written as the mood strikes or the whim dictates. They don't appear sporadically or occasionally, but 52 weeks of the year. The editor's comments range from schools and sewers to rutabagas and deer camp, but they are written locally and deal with local interests and issues.

ALONG THE SIDELINES with Dave Rood

It's in the paper

In the light of all this, it is inconceivable that this newspaper, or any newspaper, could proceed through the course of a year without offending or displeasing somebody. There are complaints when some news is omitted for lack of space, and there are complaints when the space available includes news stories that may be upsetting, even if they may be true.

It is doubtful that the editor exists who is completely satisfied with his every issue. It is doubtful if there is anyone who is more aware of his newspaper's shortcomings, and at the same time more optimistic about its potential and capabilities. Few editors would agree with every word of every article of every issue that they publish, and this is good, for any quality small-town newspaper should be a reflection of that town rather than of the editor.

We have heard it said that local newspapers should not print anything of a detrimental nature, and there is much criticism of the "bad" news or controversial columns and opinions. Where else but in the columns of the community paper will you find such diversity, such challenge, such comment? Shouldn't a newspaper reflect the new and the different, as well as the old and established?

A newspaper is a private enterprise, theoretically operated for profit, yet what other media, what other institution or organization does more, voluntarily, to build a community? What other business devotes such time and energy toward improving all levels of community life? What other media offers such a forum for the dissatisfied or for the dissenter who feels the urge to be heard? What other organization actively works continually, issue after issue, throughout the year, to report all that is right with a community, all of its gains as well as its losses, its advances as well as its retreats? What other media provides a permanent record, an historical treasury of a community and its people? The spoken word is fleeting, yet the newspaper files provide an enduring tabulation that can be referred to 20 years from now.

There was a time when messengers bearing bad news were executed, and unfortunately there remains today a vestige of that theory, with advocates claiming that if controversy appears in the newspaper, it is the newspaper that should be punished. They contend that the few lines of type that raise a reader's ire should be allowed to cancel out the countless thousands of lines of type that have been printed on behalf of other causes and other concerns.

Usually, and fortunately, reason and logic eventually prevail. The newspaper as an institution has, through history, endured despite pressures and reprisals. Its enduring contributions to the community in the long run are generally sufficient to muster the support and understanding of the bulk of its readers. The newspaper may not be loved, but it is respected, for if it is any kind of a newspaper at all it has earned that respect by its varied contributions and its continuing efforts to build a community, rather than tear it down.

Tony's Topics

BY SUPT. EDWIN WUEHLE

WHAT'S A "FUETSCH?"

One night last fall I referred to someone Helen Jean scarcely knew as a "fuetsch."

"What's a fuetsch?" she asked.

"I don't know exactly. We always used that word at home."

"Well, if you use the word, you ought to know what it means."

"I do. I just don't know how to explain it. Ask my dad when you see him. He always used the word."

I forgot about the matter, but Helen Jean didn't. During dinner conversation at my folks' home, she asked, "Say, Dad, what's a 'fuetsch?'"

"A 'fuetsch?' " my dad replied with surprise. "Grandma always used to use that word."

"How did she use it?" Helen Jean persisted.

I thought my father might get the "Don't use words you can't explain" lecture, but he didn't.

"With her it always meant a good-for-nothing."

"That's not the way you used it, Dad," I reminded him. "With you, it always meant someone who tried to get away with doing as little as possible, but who talked a good game."

"Yes, that's right. That's a 'fuetsch,'" agreed my father.

From that point on, everybody -- brothers, sisters, sisters-in-law, brothers-in-law, nephews, nieces, and my mother -- got into the act.

My sister Joyce reminded my dad that he sometimes referred to a minister who used to preach boring sermons with Fourth of July histrionics as

"OUT OUR WAY"

News from Road 437

Hi Folks,
This morning as I looked out my window I saw snowflakes come down, dancing and whirling through the air. As they kept descending I knew that soon the trees would again have their white trimming and only the warmth of the sun would take their decorations away. The new fresh-fallen snow always gives the forest a clean and wholesome look. As I look into it as far as I can see, there seems to be thousands of miles of nowhere, yet it is a splendor that brings joy to me. It is a fresh and beautiful fairyland. There are no cares or worries within. It is a world to God's making for all to enjoy.
The lakes are now frozen but the rivers and streams still travel on merrily until colder weather comes along. Then they too will become silent until the touch of spring comes again to send them on their winding journey. Winter is the time when woodchucks and bears are hibernating and the green frogs, and turtles are resting beneath the frozen mud. The squirrels and chipmunks raid their pantries for the goodies they are fond of. All this is a sign that Ole Man Winter rules our land. As I sit and look out my window, I pretend it is a frame because within it is my picture of winter's charm.

Vern and Joanne Annelin and family spent the weekend visiting relatives in New Berlin and Hales Corners, Wis.
With the slow-falling snowflakes come echoes of birthday greetings for Isabella Sayers, Sharon Olson, Viola Schumacker, and John Hartman.
Anniversary wishes go out to the C. L. Hinksons, Jack Williams and Hope Smiths.
May the day for all of you be one of complete happiness.

and happy. With Christmas so close keep this quotation of Carlyle in mind, "Music is well said to be the speech of angels." Mrs. Scoop

Throw Snow The Modern Way With A JACOBSEN® Tractor

Snow shoveling today is not only outdated, it's also dangerous. With Jacobsen compact LT Chief, or Super Chief, you needn't worry about sore muscles or aching back. A big 36" capacity, two stage snow thrower attachment moves giant amounts of snow quickly and easily. The large auger chews up the snow, hi-speed second stage rotor spins it out, and the directional chute puts it out of the way where you want it. For lighter jobs, a 34" or 38" single stage thrower is available as well as snow plow blades.

 We agreed that he was a "fuetsch."
 My brother was sure that the route man who works for him and always does his route book incorrectly was a "fuetsch."
 He's a "fuetsch," we all agreed.

As it developed, a "fuetsch" describes the incompetent, the incapable, the ineffective, the inefficient, the slacker, the loafer, the indolent, the transgressor, the evader, the infringer, the stupid, the quack, the bungler, the bungler, the fumbler, the flounderer, and the stumbler.

A "fuetsch" is one who strains at a gnat and swallows a camel, puts the cart before the horse, aims at pigeons and kills crows, puts a saddle on the wrong horse, puts square pegs in round holes and old wine in new bottles, grasps at straws, goes on wild goose chases and puts his foot in his mouth.

A "fuetsch" is a lout, an oaf, a duffer, a butterfingers, a clod, a yokel, a hick, a fair weather sailor, a fish out of water, and a Monday morning quarterback.

So now we all know -- that's a "fuetsch."

Back when Santa was a boy...

It was many, many years ago, way back before television, snowmobiles, and Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, but on this special Christmas Day so long ago, Little Santa, then just a boy, received a special gift from his grandfather.

It was a savings account at the First National Bank, and through the years that followed, as young Santa grew into a man, became a father, grandfather, and finally a very special Senior Citizen, that savings account grew with him, secure and safe, and growing every day. Finally, when the time came for Santa to take over the Christmas business from his father, that special savings account was there ready and waiting, secure and sound, right there for Santa to use to buy the bagful of gifts and goodies that each year he carries to all of our homes.

Aren't you glad Santa's grandfather gave him a savings account?

Don't you wish your grandfather would do the same?

the Snowman

Maggie and June worked all morning making their snowman. He got so big that they had to fetch a stool and stand on tiptoe to make his arms and to cinder-burton him. The mailman helped put on his head.

When they napped that afternoon, the sun shone hot and bright, and the south wind blew. When they woke, their snow pal had dwindled and his cinder face cried dirty streaks. Sadly they turned away.

Sometimes life is like that snowman — grand and glittering with all the things we have. Then the hot winds of disaster blow, and their importance vanishes and we are left with emptiness.

What makes life meaningful? If possessions can't make us happy, what can?

Our churches have the answer. Through worship and prayer they teach us to find the joys of spirit.

Group plans snow club

The Manistique Recreation Board met Dec. 2 and plans were made to sponsor a high school snowmobile club and will issue a call for all interested teens to join the club. Adult supervision and planning will be offered and the group will work on plans for student meets to be held after the Snowmobile races are held here Jan. 8-10.

Other decisions include plans to cooperate with Community School to provide cultural and recreational enrichment activities for the community, especially since the closing of the local theater; participation by a local group in the winter games at Marquette, Feb. 27-28, sponsored by the Marquette Community School; Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur, Earl Kane and Richard Bonifas to attend the Artrain workshop at Holiday Inn, Marquette, on Jan. 9; discussion on enlarging the present main skating rink and installing a light on the east side; plans to build a neighborhood rink in the Lincoln School area.

Richard Berger informed the group of his Saturday morning basketball games for boys of 4, 5, and 6 grades. Local service stations are now sponsoring the teams and providing colorful tee shirts for the boys. The next meeting of the group will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 6

Youth first to register

David Slining, 615 Garden Ave., Thursday became the first 18-year-old in Schoolcraft County to register as a voter under a new ruling from the Michigan Attorney General.

County Clerk Ferdinand Lesica received a telegram regarding the registration Dec. 1 from Bernard J. Apol, director of elections, stating: "The Attorney General has this date ruled that persons 18 years and older qualified should as of now be permitted to register as voters. When registering such persons, change the card to show 18 years rather than 21 years in section relating to qualifications. Registration cards of such persons should be kept separate pending disposition of the matter by U.S. Supreme Court. Please immediately notify all local clerks in your county of this ruling."
