Holy Name has hands full

Manistique's young Emerald football squad, fortified by a strong showing against top-ranked Escanaba Holy Name in last Friday's Homecoming game, journey to Schoolcraft to test the Indians in a great Lakes Conference clash. John LaBonte's charges led to the Crusaders from Escanaba by a 22-0 score in a flooding downpour, but a spirited defense gave Holy Name all they could handle for the entire game, playing probably their best of the season.

A blocked punt and a short punt, both attempted in driving rain, set up two quick Holy Name touchdowns in the first period Friday night, but after these two had breaks the Emeralds placed the Crusaders' head to back, allowing only a final TD on the losing moments of the game, in what had to be an inspired performance that enlivened the hearts of the soccer fans who had scattered when the line snail hit in the opening moments, then returned and returned in small bunches to watch the rest of the contest in a drizzle.

It was the sixth straight victory for Escanaba Holy Name, ranked first in the U.P. Sports Writers Poll.

The Crusaders picked up their first TD following a Manistique punt that was blocked as the heavy rain swept across the field, directly toward the Manistique punter. They took the ball over on the 20 yard line, and several plays later John DeGrand punched over from the five. Joe Holberg ran for the two-point conversion.

A short punt later in the quarter set up the consolation, this time starting on the Emerald 35 yard line. Striking to the right about football, the Crusaders again punched their way downfield, with DeGrand finally coming over from a yard out. Quarterback Joe Kroff's attempt to run for a two-point conversion was halted, and Holy Name led 14-0.

And that was the scoring until the closing moments. The inspired Manistique defense intercepted passes, and intercepted pass, and strong line play, the Crusaders, a strong team, stuck to basic football for most of the evening, running their big backs right up the middle, and although the Emerald defense would bend from time to time, it refused to break.

Holy Name put their final score on the board with 1:16 left in the contest, capping an 80-yard drive in eight plays with Tom Ness finally breaking loose for a 37-yard TD run. Bill Skarski's run for

from Harbor View
BY HELEN D. MERWIN

Mike Barr and sister, Mary Selling, drove to Marquette Wednesday and brought Agnes Barr home. She had been a patient at St. Luke's Hospital for one day. They said the fall color on the drive was absolutely lovely.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Tilton drove to Iron Mountain to visit with Judy's oldest sister who is in a nursing home there. Mrs. Dalina Larsen and Mrs. Leone Patz went along. They, too, were enthused with the beautiful fall color.

Wednesday, Daniel J. Winkler and David Winkler returned to Bath, Mich. with Harold Winkler, after spending ten days here with relatives. They got in some bird hunting while here.

Thursday, Laura Smith drove to Escanaba where she visited with a son and a daughter.

Sunday, Walter Holmes left for St. John with his son, Orvis, where they will visit.

Ethel Nelson left Sunday in company with her two grandsons. She will be visiting in Detroit.

We are so grateful to the folks who brought us so many lovely flowers. We appreciated them and we enjoyed them very much.

Isolation, anyone?

THE SUBJECT FOR THIS WEEK will be isolation.

More specifically, our increasing lack of isolation.

Two illustrations of widely varying types can be utilized in this discussion. One deals with drug abuse, the other with retail shopping.

It was inevitable that eventually Schoolcraft County would have a case involving possession of marijuana. We are fortunate not to have had more cases, but we should not be so blind as to think that this is the only instance of drug use by our youngsters, or so naive as to think that the problem will not increase.

We are still sufficiently remote from the urban areas that it takes time for such things to filter into our county. For this we should be thankful, not complacent. Forewarned is forearmed, and all that sort of thing. We are fortunate that we can profit by the earlier problems of others and perhaps have time to prepare our defenses for what is probably the inevitable.

We don't mean to sound like an alarmist, but we should recognize the fact that there is probably marijuana in Manistique and Schoolcraft County and that it is being smoked, in some degree, by our youngsters. The history of other areas should also prepare us for the fact that marijuana is usually followed by harder drugs, such as heroin or LSD.

It is quite a change of pace to switch from a discussion of drugs to one of retail trade habits, but remember, our main topic today is isolation.

We refer specifically to the opening of the huge new Woolworth store in the burgeoning Delta Plaza shopping center on the north side of Escanaba. fea

There was a time when inadequate roads and more primitive transportation enabled community shopping centers, such as downtown Manistique, to enjoy a relative monopoly; an immunity from outside, long-distance competition, threatened only by the mail order catalog.

Better highways and the modern automobile have changed all of that.

When Shopko opened their new Marquette discount operation, they covered the Manistique area—90 miles away—with direct mail advertising. They have continued this type of coverage periodically. When the same type of operation opens up in Escanaba, area residents will be wooed even oftener, for Escanaba is less than an hour away by auto. These people are veteran retailers who have studied the market potential carefully before making their investment. Don't ever kid yourself that Manistique and Schoolcraft County are not prime market areas for these retailers. Don't ever kid yourself that there are not a substantial number of area residents who today rely on Escanaba stores for major purchases, and that efforts will not be increased in the future to lure even more local people to those stores. You can bet on it.

Perhaps we are still isolated, to some degree, but we are not immune. No man is an island, and no community is either. TV and the mass media have brought Broadway to the backwaters . . . the tinsel and the glitter as well as the dirt and the drags.

We as adults will be exposed to the sales approaches and pressures of once-distant retailers. Our youngsters will be exposed to the approaches and pressures of the once-distant drug salesmen. It will be interesting, to say the least, to see how we react in the months and years to come.

A letter to Garf

A letter to my young friend Garf, who is in Texas in the Army:

Dear Garf:
It doesn't seem like 26 years ago that I was going through the old Army routine at Camp Crowder, Missouri, but I can still remember how I looked forward to mail call each day, which is why you are getting a letter from your Old Buddy Dave.

I don't know how Autumn is in Texas, but we haven't been having much luck with it here in the Upper Peninsula this year, with rain and cloudy weather most of September and so far this month.

Bird season is here, but there doesn't seem to be many birds. Deer season will soon be here, and there doesn't seem to be many deer. Snow season will also soon be here, and that we can always rely on.

The coho are running big however, and we've had a mob of fishermen every day down in the Manistique River by the flume, right below the siphon bridge. The report is that the fish are in good shape, and the flesh is firmer and better eating this year than in previous years, although not being a fisherman I have to take this information second-hand.

You'll probably be glad to see your old home town when you come home on leave at Thanksgiving. There'll be some changes, no doubt, but some wise man once said that the more things change the more they stay the same, and that's probably as true of Manistique as it is of any other small town in our country today.

We had our first drug case in court two weeks ago, and the reactions to this are varied. Some people are convinced there is a lot of pot being smoked, and others are just as convinced that the problem hasn't really arrived here yet. As usual, the truth is probably somewhere in between, but there's no accurate way to judge that sort of thing and most parents aren't sure whether to ignore the whole thing or to over-react to the situation. You still have those parental concerns ahead of you, which is something else to look forward to.

Election day is less than three weeks away, but as I write this the politicians have been relatively quiet. Or perhaps it's the voters who are being quiet—either way, there hasn't been much action. This always surprises me, for people spend a good share of their time between elections spouting about what tough shape the country is in and cussing out those nincompoops we have elected and crying about high taxes and government spending and bureaucrats and everything else, yet they fall strangely silent at election time when you would logically think we had an opportunity to change things. Perhaps this means they have lost faith in the political process, which would be a terrifying thing if you consider the alternatives. Yes, we have our usual quota of terrible candidates, but we also have some excellent people, both in office and aspiring to be in office, and it's shameful the way we often ignore what they have to say.

Perhaps it's because Lansing and Washington seem so far removed from here. Certainly the people take an intense interest in local affairs, and if you chose to discuss nothing but the school board and urban renewal you could easily end up getting your nose punched considerable, which is certainly basic involvement at its most exciting level. I don't know if it represents good government, but it's part of the things that make life in a small town so interesting.

There are some other interesting things too, but I had probably better not report them in this letter. It is supposed to cheer you up and help make you a better fighting man, and most of the idle gossip I might include is not of a cheering nature. Funny sometimes, but not necessarily cheering.

When you come home for Thanksgiving I will personally take you into the Long Branch and shout, "Buy this serviceman a drink!" This should start your leave off on an interesting note and probably get both of us in trouble, but as with so many things we can say, "It seemed like a good idea at the time."

Work hard and learn to be a medic. That way you will be fully prepared for when the Army assigns you to a unit as a cook.

Your old buddy Dave.

THE AMERICAN DRUG CULTURE

Dr. Darold Treffert has attempted to analyze the youth drug culture. As Superintendent of the Winnebago (Wisconsin) State Hospital, he is in a favorable position to do this. He has treated a lot of users.

He does not see drugs as the main problem. Rather, he sees them as a symptom of other illnesses. To illustrate, he cites the fact that the second largest killer of college students is suicide. Also, in the past ten years, the average age of mental hospital patients has declined. This trend, unless checked, will continue until half of the beds in mental hospitals are occupied by youths under twenty.

As a further indication that drugs are a symptom, he cites the fact that drugs have always been around and that the biggest drug problem is alcoholism. We are going in the wrong direction, he claims, because most drug abuse education has centered on the drugs themselves, rather than on the reasons why people use them.

One reason for the drug epidemic, and it is an epidemic, Dr. Treffert suggests, is because Americans are a drug-oriented people. We act as though life's most serious problems can be solved with a pill. The ad men help—if life is too hectic, buy a box of Quiet World; if you can't sleep, take Nytol or Somnex;

if you can sleep but don't want to, take No Doz. Pills will pep us up, tone us down, help us to gain weight or lose weight, brighten teeth, stop falling hair, enlarge a bosom, and control the population. The ad men keep huckstering and the American public keeps spending. Alka-Seltzer is now claiming that in addition to being great for an upset stomach, it is a sure cure for the "blahs." We are on a better-living-through-chemistry kick, and drug abuse is one reflection of it.

We can keep kidding ourselves if we like, and continue to act as though there is a chemical solution to every problem, but this attitude, too, is a reflection of something deeper and more complicated. It will take more than a passing glance or casual conversation to discover the real problem or problems.

Dr. Treffert suggests that a basic disenchantment with what he calls "The American Fairy Tale" is responsible for much of the difficulty. And that's the topic for another column.

don't knock it

Maybe you don't like rock and roll, but there's vibrancy to its beat that lets kids express themselves. Even if it isn't your kind of music it's their kind of music. Perhaps the "generation gap" may be narrowed slightly if you'll listen.

Life, remember, is a process of give and take. Adults and teenagers have to give a little if they are going to reach mutual understanding. If, in the beginning, you've given the basic things - like faith, love and respect, then you've nothing to worry about.

But it's never too late. For instance - have you gone with your teenager to church lately?

RABIES AND YOU #1
This year over 2 million people will be bitten by animals. Less than 10% of these will be reported, because 90% or more are usually from pets who have been immunized. However, bat, skunk, and wild animal bites are on the increase, and since many of these animals are infected, anti-rabies treatment usually is recommended.

Any animal bite should be cleaned thoroughly with soap or antiseptic detergent and irrigated with a saline solution or plenty of water. The next thing on the agenda is to SEE YOUR DOCTOR IMMEDIATELY - Although tetanus is rare from pet bites, your doctor will in all probability want to administer Tetanus prophylaxis and antibiotics.

conducted in this area by interviewers of the Bureau of the Census during the week of Oct. 19, according to Guy A. Lutz, Director of the Bureau's regional office in St. Paul, Minn.

Local interviewing will be part of a nationwide effort made annually to measure the nation's school and college population. A similar survey in October, 1969, showed total enrollment to be 59.9 million persons -- 33.8 million in elementary school, 14.6 million in secondary school, 3.3 million in kindergarten, 860,000 in nursery school, and 7.4 million in college.

The survey will be made along with the monthly national survey of employment and unemployment for the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor which furnishes a basic measure of national economic health.

Information collected in Census Bureau surveys can be used only to determine statistical totals, and facts about each person and family are kept confidential by law.

The interviewer who will visit households in this area is Mrs. Beatrice Nelson of Gulliver, Michigan.

License rules are explained

Michigan vehicle owners do not have to show their vehicle titles when they buy their 1971 license plates if they have a prepared application from the Secretary of State's office.

Plates for commercial vehicles and trailers of all types went on sale at all branch offices of the Secretary of State Oct. 1. Passenger and motorcycle plate sales begin Nov. 15.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, all the needed information has already been printed on the prepared application by computers. They are being mailed to owners of commercial and trailer vehicles and will be sent to most other vehicle owners by Nov. 15.

Hare reminded early plate buying commercial and trailer vehicle owners that they needed prepared application OR title, proof of liability insurance, and money for the plates as well as $1 fee for the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund. As in the previous few years, persons not having insurance have to pay $35.

Hare said the number of prepared applications for commercial and trailer vehicles has risen considerably over last year.

Prepared applications for commercial and trailer vehicles will top the 1.1 - million mark, with the number of trailer applications rising dramatically more than 90,000 over those mailed out in 1970. Some 35,000 more commercial applications are being mailed this year also, Hare noted.

"OUT OUR WAY"

News from Road 437

Hi Folks,

The past week, strong winds and rain at times have taken the richness of autumn away. Autumn is having its last fling and the leaves couldn't resist its whims, so they kept falling, leaving many limbs bare.

Most of our forest floor has its inlay carpet of leaves, which will soon be covered with a carpet of white that will be brought in by November's winds. The morning air seems to send out a perfume all of its own, a reminder that all within the forest domain is getting ready for its winter nap. So what tints of autumn we still have left I'm enjoying, for too soon heavy frost will have them under his spell, with nothing but memories of a beautiful fall season.

The week ends bring many hunters along road 437, all on the lookout for ruffed grouse, which is one of the finest of game birds. If you chance to walk through the woods and go by the mossy bogs you'll come upon the pitcher-plant. It's green and purplish leaves are shaped like a pitcher, and are usually half full of water. Its flowers, solitary, nodding, their parts mostly in fives, a dull red, and on a separate stalk. The leaves remind me of beet greens.

The winter birds have started to come, the tree sparrow has left its Arctic summer home to spend its winter with us. It has a reddish brown crown, no black about the head. It has a single blackish brown spot in the middle of its breast. Its call note is a musical chirp, its song strong and sweet that ends in a warble. Have heard the chipping sparrow, whose note starts out with a sharp chip, and song is a rapidly chanted chip, chip, chip, continued for several seconds.

I've seen the blue jays have come out from the coolness of the swamps, also heard the song of the chick-a-dees and the slate-colored Junco. Won't be long and it will be time to put out their feeding table.

Last week, I did forget to mention about the election that was held to elect a mayor for the Thunder Lake area. Runners were Ole Olsen, Marie Lafave and Walfred Mattson. Ole Olsen won the election, having 29 votes, Marie LaFave, 19 votes and Walfred Mattson, one vote. Mick Mickelson received seven votes on slips.

A luncheon was served that was prepared by Helen Mickelson, Lil Garvin, Leda Gillespie, Isabell Gatten, Dolly Peterson and yours truly, Mrs. Scoop. The evening was enjoyed by all the folks.

Guests of Marie LaFave were Leonard LaFave, Danny and Jim LaFave and Fred Hinkson, who kept themselves busy hunting ducks.

At Thunder Lake, also to do some hunting and fishing, are John, Jim, Joe Davidson. Their guests are Oliver Roach of S. Charleston, Ohio; George Strohm of Reynoldsburg, Ohio; William Patterson of Grand Junction, Colo. and Dwight Menely of Rushville, Ill.

The Lawrence Sallies are back as Larry will keep himself busy hunting ducks.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schumacher, whose cabin is on the Big Spring road, were Mr.

and Mrs. Art Cliff.

Visiting the Harold Underwoods were the Richard Benetts of Plymouth, Mich.

Echoes of birthday greetings go out to Agnes McManus, Beatrice Burger, and Anton Butchko. Many happy returns to all of you. Anniversary wishes go out to the John Hartmans, who are celebrating their silver anniversary; F.G. Bonners and the Willard Garvins. May the day for all of you be one of complete happiness.

Until next week, keep healthy and happy.
Mrs. Scoop

Extension News Notes

BY HOWARD HANDORF
County Extension Director
Schoolcraft County

We have managed to get out for a few rides over the past several weeks. With the advent of fall color, before the last large rains, it was a pleasant time for just roaming the countryside in a relaxed manner at a low rate of speed.

However, I do not feel that we are aggressive enough in marketing this annual event. Downstate or out of state. I have noticed that certain Wisconsin counties have specifically marked maps with color tours layed out so that the Chamber of commerce can either mail them out or pass them out upon request. In this whole tourism field it does not pay to hide one's head under a bushel basket.

More than a million acres of U.S. land - - about 50,000 acres in Michigan - are literally turned upside down each year due to building and highway construction. This often results in serious soil erosion and water pollution, notes the executive secretary of the State Soil Conservation Committee.

"Eight thousand cubic yards of sediment could come from 40 acres of exposed soil following rains totaling five inches," warns Russell Hill, also a Mich-

"But plant cover diversions and catch basins control water runoff and soil erosion at construction sites."

In the Detroit area, 69 tons of soil eroded from a construction site compared with two tons lost from the surrounding area, reports the specialist.

"Mulch over exposed soil minimizes soil erosion, Hill says. "Adding topsoil and a seed mixture of fast-growing grasses before mulching speeds revegetation.

"Minimal compaction, shallow surface tillage before seeding, adequate fertilizer and irrigation aid revegetation, also help.

It costs tax payers $1.50 to $2 per cubic yard to remove soil from water channels. This does not include the added costs to municipalities or industries for removing sediment before water use, and it doesn't include damage to fish habitat in streams and lakes.

It is now time to get out publicity concerning the use of Princep (Simazine) and MCPA on alfalfa for the control of chickweed and/or yellow rocket.

The use of MCPA is limited to the control of yellow rocket and winter annual broad-leaved weed control. It should be used at 1/2 pound per acre active ingredient after a killing frost has occurred (alfalfa dormant). This herbicide will not control chickweed.

In the fall of 1969 several fields were treated with Princep at 1.25 pounds per acre active ingredient for the control of chickweed with excellent results. In addition, Princep at this rate will control winter annuals including yellow rocket, henbit, peppergrass, shepherds purse, and downy brome grass. Princep may be applied now and probably would be most effective if applied in October. If a fall hay harvest is intended, harvest first, then spray. However, it is not necessary to wait for a killing frost to spray.
