The report received Saturday about the schooner Hattie Hutt being released from Wiggin's reef, turned out to be a canard. Capt. Leathem, of the tug Wright, was in the city Monday, and he informed us that she was still fast, but that he expected as soon as the sea calmed down to get her loose and conduct her to some port for repairs.

The Salvation Army hall was crowded with people and a joyful time was had last Sunday evening. Capt. and Mrs. Jewell spoke and sang in a way that enlisted the attention of all and none went away but with a feeling that they had been benefitted. This noble couple are earnest workers in the Lord's vineyard. They invite all to their future meetings.

Harry W. Clarke, the accommodating and pleasant cashier of the Manistique Bank, and his better half are rejoicing and receiving congratulations over the arrival of a 10 lb. boy at their pleasant home, north Cedar street, Sunday. Harry's rubicund countenance and the 2-for-a-quarter cigars he has been dealing out shows his happiness over the event of his first heir.

The Kimberly, Clark Co., large paper manufacturers, who have been looking for a point to locate its pulp mills, has an option on 500 acres of land on the Menominee river near Quinnesec. A member of the business men's association of this city, had some correspondence with the above firm relative to its locating the big plant here. Sufficient water power to run the plant is what's wanted.

The entire crew of the steamer Sakie Shepard was poisoned Saturday by eating pancakes in which some bad soda had been used. Dennis Smith, of Lexington, Mich., died during the morning, and it is feared that others of the crew will not recover. The steamer drifted about the lake, having no one on board well enough to manage her, until late in the afternoon when she was brought into Port Huron. An analysis of the contents of Smith's stomach showed that the poison which had caused his death was arsenic.

James R. Sturgis, who has been cashier of the First National bank at Houghton for twenty years, fell dead from heart failure while at the breakfast table Monday morning. He was feeling well up to the time of his death and only a few moments before breakfast gave orders to electricians who were working in his house. He was about 50 years of age and leaves a wife and three children. He was one of the leading financiers in the Lake Superior copper country. Mr. Sturgis had an insurance of nearly $80,000 on his life.

Prominent citizens are talking some now days about petitioning the village trustees to get plans and have a village lock-up erected. Why not? The County jail is not a place in which rowdies and "dids" should be kept unless their offences are such that put them under the jurisdiction of the circuit court. For all minor offences which may be determined in the justice's courts, we believe that they should be kept by the village in a separate building and that after conviction should be compelled to labor 10 hours every day. That is the prevalent idea just now, and it is just as it should be.

The $25,000 a year which the Hon. Don. M. Dickinson, of Michigan, is said to receive from the brewers because of his supposed influence with Mr. Cleveland and his consequent ability to look out for the brewing interest, is in danger of being cut off. Mr. Dickinson has been sat upon by Mr. Cleveland in a manner that indicates the loss of whatever influence he may have had with the administration. Mr. Dickinson undertook to have two of the new gun boats authorized by Congress built by a Detroit firm, notwithstanding the treaty of 1815 with Great Britain, which prohibits either government building war ships on the great lakes. Secretary Herbert turned Mr. Dickinson down; he appealed to Mr. Cleveland, and now Mr. Cleveland has turned him down. It remains to be seen whether the brewers will also turn him down.—Washington Cor.

Darrant Found Guilty.

Theodore Darrant, assistant superintendent of Emanuel Baptist church Sunday school, was convicted at San Francisco, Friday, of the murder of Blanch Lamont, for which he has been on trial since July 22 last. The jury was out 20 minutes and arrived at the verdict on the first ballot. As there was no recommendation of mercy the punishment was fixed at death.

The case will be appealed to the supreme court, and it is expected nearly a year will elapse before a decision will be obtained. While it is not thought that any error has been committed, the defence has embraced every opportunity to take exceptions to the rulings of the court. Gen. Dickinson took exception to three features of the district attorney's argument. He also took an exception to the judge's charge.

Special Meeting L. O. T. M.

There will be a special meeting of L. O. T. M. tonight. Initiation. Meeting called at 8 o'clock.

List Trip This Season.

A letter from the Goodrich Trans. Co. to agent Miller, states that the Ludington will leave Chicago for Manistique and intermediate ports, on the last trip for this season, Saturday evening, Nov. 9.

Even Maryland Republican.

Conductor of today's passenger train reports that "Everything has gone Republican, even Maryland." This seems almost too good to be true but we give it for the reason that nothing authentic has been received.

Notice.

E. P. Foley has this day (Nov. 1st) assumed full control of the Ossawinamakee and all claims contracted by R. P. Foley, made in connection with this hotel will be paid by him. He will also receive monies due the past management and receipt for same.

R. P. Foley.

G. A. R. Meeting.

Veteran soldiers are notified that Geo. F. Fuller Post, G. A. R., will meet in regular session in the editorial rooms of the Pioneer office, Friday evening next. Come out by order of the Commander and let us talk over the project for building a new hall to be used by the Post, W. R. C. and S. of V.s.

Very Low Rates To the Twin Cities and Return.

Now the ploughing is over and the season so far advanced nearly everyone would like to get away for a day or two either on business or pleasure, or both. So the Soo Line have made cheap rates for Saturday, Nov. 16th, You can go Friday night and return on or before Tuesday. The rate is $6.00 for return tickets. It is so cheap you can go and take the whole family. Remember Soo Line Nov. 16th; enquire of nearest agent for particulars and list of attractions.

Notice to Mariners.

The lighthouse board gives notice that the iron buoys in the Mth district will be taken up for the winter and replaced by spar buoys similarly painted as follows; Green Bay City to Depere, Nov. 15; Sturgeon Bay canal, Nov. 20; Green Bay, Nov. 21 and 22; channels between Lake Michigan and Green Bay, Nov. 23; Fox Island shoals, Michigan, Nov. 24; Mackinac straits and channels north and east of Beaver Island, Nov. 25 and 26; off Sheboygan, Nov. 27; off Milwaukee and Racine, Nov. 28; off Chicago, Nov. 30.

Field is Dead.

Eugene Field, the distinguished author and journalist, died of heart disease Monday morning at his home at Buena Park, a suburb of Chicago. Mr. Field was ill for several days but retired the evening previous at the usual time and slept soundly. Mr. Field's son, who occupied the same room, was first to learn of the death. He was 45 years of age. His first newspaper work was on the St. Louis papers and later he found employment on the Kansas City and Denver Press. His latest employment was on the editorial staff of the Chicago Record, and here he won world-wide fame in his department, "Sharps and Flats," wherein had appeared many of the best poems. Mr. Field had published several volumes of verse, written to children and in quaint dialects.

Ready to Receive Patients.

The asylum for the insane at Newberry was formally opened Friday last, and is now prepared to receive patients up to the limit of its capacity, which is about one hundred. Fifty from the over-crowded asylum at Traverse City are expected at the Newberry institution and it is believed that patients from different parts in this peninsula will make up the hundred as soon as they can be forwarded to the new asylum. As before announced, the asylum will be in charge of Dr. Samuel Bell as medical superintendent. Dr. Chamberlain of Bessemer has been selected to fill the position of assistant superintendent. R. C. Bradley of Lansing is steward and bookkeeper; Mrs. Strong of Detroit will fill the position of matron; John Shriave of the same city is chief engineer and Hugh Russell assistant engineer; G. J. La Du will have the post of supervisor; D. Hammes is the farm manager and P. G. Teeple of Newberry will officiate in the important capacity of treasurer of the institution.

Daughters of Rebekah.

On Saturday evening D. D. G. M. A. M. Mathews, assisted by Mrs. Briggs, N. G. of Gladstone lodge and Mrs. A. M. Mathews, all of that city, arrived here on the train Saturday noon and during the remainder of that day and evening proceeded to reorganize the lodge of that degree in this city. At one time this lodge was in a highly prosperous condition but non-attendance of members and hard times came very nearly causing it to die out. There were 10 candidates present for initiation which was gone through with in order; the new officers were elected and installed. The elective officers were: Mrs. Angus McLeod, N. G.; Miss Bessie Jachor, V. G.; A. Eph. Fydell, Rec. Sec.; Mrs. John Durno, F. C.; A. D. McNair, Treas. The appointive officers were: R. S. to N. G., John Durno; L. S. to N. G., Carl Krause; War., Mrs. Norman Carr; Con., Mrs. Carl Krause; Chap., Mrs. James Dixon; R. S. to V. G., Norman Carr; L. S. to V. G., Mrs. P. Quinlan; I. G., Mrs. Frank Jachor. After the installation was over the secret work was rehearsed in proper shape by the D. D. G. M. and his assistants, who took a great deal of interest in putting matters in shape for successful work in the future. Each officer was told just what was expected of them and all that is required of them is to become perfect in what comes before them. The lodge is made up of good material and we hope it will result in great good to this community and be a great aid to the subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows, of which it is an honored annex. The regular meetings of the Rebekahs will be on Saturday evening of each week.

Personal Character of the Teacher.

What shall it be? I answer—The teacher should be the purest, cleanest, most exemplary in personal character of any person on earth. It seems to me that this answers the question. But some one may ask "why do you place the standard of personal character so high?" I answer, because he or she is a teacher and is to teach.

We have been told during this Teachers' institute that the pupil should be developed in every part that goes to make up the ideal man or woman. Now it seems to me that the most important part of the make-up of the ideal man or woman is his or her personal character. Now this part of the pupil's make-up is to be developed and purified if need be. The teacher is to play a most important part in this development.

The stream does not rise higher than its source. We cannot give out that which we do not possess within. If the teacher does not possess a pure, clean, personal character, he or she is not qualified to develop a pure, clean, personal character in the pupil.

The teacher teaches by every word spoken, every act performed, every movement made in the presence of the pupil. Children are great imitators, and as they understand the relation existing between themselves and the teacher, they have a right to do as teacher does, to act as teacher acts, to talk as teacher talks.

Thus the same kind of personal character as possessed by the teacher is often implanted and developed in the pupil to a greater or less extent. Do you want an impure, unclean personal character thus implanted and developed in your child? No, a thousand times no. You ask me to "lower the standard." I cannot let it down. I will not, and I repeat it, sir. The teacher should possess the purest, cleanest, most exemplary personal character of any person on earth.

[The above short paper was read at the Institute Jubilee held at the opera house, last Friday evening, by M. H. Quick, and at the request of a number in attendance at the meeting we publish it.]—Ed.

If Murder Holmes were to be tried in Michigan and convicted of every crime he is charged with, the severest penalty that could be inflicted would be life imprisonment and a sure guarantee of food, shelter, clothing and protection from outside harm, during his remaining years. Such punishment for such men does more to foster mob rule than anything else can. Just think for a moment what a mighty protest would go up from the whole country if Holmes' trial should be transferred from Pennsylvania to Michigan! And for just one reason only—the one here given.—Journal.

A struggle between Russia and England for supremacy in China would mean a big boom to the publishers. Such a war would be bound to make many changes in the map world.—Bangor News.

The widow's cap is as old as the days of Julius Cæsar. An edict of Tiberius commanded all widows to wear the cap under penalty of a heavy fine and imprisonment.

The Belgian government has decided to hold an international exhibition on a large scale at Brussels in 1897, in spite of the fact that the Paris exhibition will fo low only three years afterwards.

For a short distance a lion or a tiger can outrun a man, and can equal the speed of a fast horse, but they lose their wind at the end of half a mile at the most. They have little endurance, and are remarkably weak in lung power.

A novelty in advertising is shown in a Scotch church. The congregation could not pay its minister, when a soap firm offered to pay $500 a year for five years on condition that its advertisement be hung up in front of the gallery in the church; offer accepted.

The search for petroleum in India has been singularly unprofitable, most of the sources being to small in yield to pay for working, while the richer deposits are, for the present, too far removed from means of transport to be commercially valuable except in Burmah.

As bull fighting has been going on in the south of France in defiance of the prohibition of the government, M. Leygues, minister of the interior, has ordered all Spanish toreadors to be expelled from France, and all French bull-fighters violating the law to be prosecuted.

The wearing of hats in parliament by the members is explained back to the time when those who were summoned to legislate, or rather to authorize the king to make levies, came wearing helmets which were not easily removed. It is another illustration of the fact that in England things are now as they used to be, and as they will be.

The New York Sun delivers a tirade against the eagle and ballot box adopted as the emblem of the Republican party, and makes all sorts of nasty remarks about the design. But then, the democrats never did show any respect or regard for the American eagle or the ballot Box. They have been licked by both too often to permit of any very tender feeling toward them.

A railroader went into one of our business places the other day to secure a needle and thread to make some necessary repairs to his clothing. It never dawned on the ladies why he so firmly declined their kind offers to do his mending until he backed out of the store and across the street (carrying his hat behind him) and then made a wild dash for the caboose. He had sat on a nail and arose too hurriedly at the wrong angle.—Carleton Gazette.

Some of our democratic contemporaries are saying harsh things against the Utah Mormons because they allege that the Mormons was mostly republicans; and they urge that they are still polygamists. The fact of their being republicans points to the direct opposite of that charge. It shows that they are anxious to avoid even the appearance of an evil, and for that reason are keeping away from the democrats and all other contaminating influences.—State Republican.

A messiah has appeared in Sicily at a place call Caimanti, near Syracuse. His name is Sebastiano Roggio. He preaches plurality of wives, and hundreds of persons have gathered around him, all of whom have been excommunicated by the bishop of Syracuse. Similar pretenders appeared two years ago before the political outbreak. Throughout Sicily the peasants are discarding their old caps and wear broad-brimmed hats, which they call "Socialist" they are also wearing red neckties and carrying heavy sticks with knobs. The government expects trouble.

We can well believe that Senator Sherman treats with the scorn it deserves the charge that he has grown rich off the pickings furnished by office. We doubt if any man in this country has enjoyed Sherman's chances to speculate on his official knowledge, and refrained from doing so, as he has done—we mean refrained as thoroughly as he has. Thrift and good business judgment have enabled him to get together competence; but he would not be accounted rich among the rich men of New York or any other big money and business center. He is no favorite of ours. We have no love for him, nor do we like his politics, but we hope we can do him justice.—Chattanooga Times (Dem.)

Those who through malice or cruelty injure or take the life any domestic animal, would do well to bear in mind that there is a penalty for such crime provided in the General Statutes of Michigan, Chapter 318, section 45, as follows: "Every person who shall wilfully and maliciously kill, maim or disfigure any horses, cattle, or other beasts of another, or shall wilfully and maliciously administer poison to any such horses, cattle or other beasts, or expose any poisonous substance with intent that the same should be taken or swallowed by them, or who shall wilfully and maliciously destroy or injure the personal property of another, by any means not particularly mentioned or discribed in this chapter, shall be punished by imprisonment in the State prison not more than five years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year."

American Railways the Best.

The best American railways are run more efficiently than any other on earth. It has even been proved that an American road, thoroughly equipped, will carry a greater weight with the same power than an English owned and managed road. In this case the advantage lay in the American method of arranging the road and applying the power.

Electricity by Wind.

At a public instittion in the province of New Brunswick a novel device has been introduced for the generation of electric power, says the San Francisco Chronicle. It is a vertical windmill of ten horse-power and it is employed to drive a 100 horse-power dynamo to generate electricity for charging the storage batteries at the institution in question. The experiment thus far has proved entirely successful.

A Mormon Missionary in Maine.

A Lewiston lady says that she was coming up from Durham the other day and her carriage breaking down she had to stop several hours in a lonely house eight miles from Lewiston and while there she was introduced to a reverend looking old gentleman who turned out to be a Mormon missionary. He showed illustrations of Salt Lake City, the temple and the home life of the people. He was evidently Selected because of his persuasive power of speech, for he placed the Mormon religion in a pleasant light, comparatively.

Roused the Churches.

Some little time since members of the Salvation army in Glasgow reported that on Saturday they watched eight saloons and counted the number of visitors. There were 2,308 men and 365 women who entered in the course of a single hour. Furthermore, they examined the records of the criminal courts and found that 67,000 women had been brought before them on the charge of drunkenness, disorderly conduct or personal assault and more than 13,000 convicted. The result of this report made quite a sensation in the city and the churches have been roused.

The Chinese Method of Ironing.

Usually when a woman uses an iron she begins with it at the right heat for use, and consequently it soon cools, and she consumes much time in changing irons. The Chinese, on the contrary, gets his iron very hot—much too hot for use. When he begins to use the iron he plunges it quickly into cold water. This cools the surface for a few moments. The heat from the interior then begins to come to the surface, and continues to do so for some time, about as fast as it is cooled by use, so that the necessity for the frequent changing of irons is obviated.

Lost His Support.

Sometimes the direst misfortunes happen in a funny way.

A one legged man was walking up Chestnut street and stopped to talk. He leaned up against a building and put his crutch to one side.

When he turned to look for it the support was gone. A mischievous boy had sneaked up and stolen it.

Of course the one legged man raised a row. A policeman rushed up and arrested him, hauling him off without parley.

"You've got the wrong man. Why are you arresting that man?"

"Lost his crutch, ain't he? Charge is that he is without visible means of support."—Philadelphia Call.

Increase of Insanity.

There has been an increase of 70 per cent of insane persons in several of the states during the last eight years. The older portions of the country have a larger ratio of insane than the newly settled ones, for the obvious reason that the people in the latter are young and vigorous. Local conditions undoubtedly have a good deal to do with the case, and one of the assured, is that the race. "It is because the negro race has hitherto been but little affected by insanity," says the F. R. Sanborn, "that the proportion of insane is so small in our former slave states; and it is because the Irish and Scandinavian races are peculiarly liable to insanity that the proportion is great where those make a large element in the population."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Lightning Strokes.

Certain facts about lightning strokes, the result of years of experments by the United States Weather bereau, have recently been tabulated. Thunderstorms reach their meximum in June and July, though report in every month except in January, the region of winter thunderstorms are the maximum average for any such section. The average annual loss of life from lightning in the United States is 21 persons; of loss of property over $1,500,000. People living in cities and thickly-built towns run little danger, the risks in the country or suburbs being five times as great. For the same reason the center of a grove or forest is much safer than its edges of isolated trees, the dense growth acting to distribute the current.—Washington Post.

An Interesting case.

A romantically interesting case is to come up soon in St. Paul, where an old Indian woman of the tribe of the Menominees has appealed to the district court to be recognized as the wife of Commodore Norman W. Kittson. She produced an old yellow piece of paper signed by a clergyman to prove she was married to the commodore at Little Chute, Wis., in 1833, while the heirs of the estate claim if she married any Kittson it was John, the brother of the commodore. However, the whole matter is complicated by the fact that the woman has lived with a number of men as a wife. Some very interesting glimpses into the early history of the northwest were given in the first hearing on the case in the probate court.—Springfield Republican.

Let Them Have Sugar.

"Whore's my lump of sugar, mamma?" asked a 5-year-old at the end of his luncheon. From the bowl the mother took out the biggest lump of sweet it contained, and the little fellow crunched it between his white teeth.

"Do you let him eat sugar?" asked a friend who was present, with an air of surprise.

"Yes," said the mother, "I do. I consider it preferable to the average candy. If he could always have a bit of home-made candy absolutely pure, I would give him that instead, but is its default, I let him have the sugar. The best medical authorities seem to have reached the conclusion that perfectly pure sweets are not injurious, unless too freely indulged in; indeed, they go a step farther in saying that nearly all children demand and need a certain amount of saccharine matter for their healthy development."—Selected.

Beware of Eating Fruit Skins.

Fruit skins carry germs and are no more intended for human sustenance than potato skins, melon rinds or pea pods, says the Philadelphia Times. The bloom of the peach is a luxuriant growth of microbes, that of the grape only less so, and when these skins are taken into the stomach they have no favorable conditions for their lively and rapid development which cause the decay of the fruit before it is possible to digest it. This is the reason many people think they cannot eat raw fruit. If they would in all cases discard the skins they could derive only good from the fruit itself. Nature provides the skins for the protection of the fruit from the multitudes of germs which are ever ready to attack it as is evidenced when the skin is broken in any way. The microbes at once begin their work of decay, and the fruit is unfit for food. Children are chief offenders in respect to this rule, and should be carefully watched and frequently cautioned. The condition of the fruit should always be examined to prevent it being eaten unripe, or two old, on the verge of decay. Remember that it is sweet and ripe fruit, in prime condition only, that is recomended.

When Lincoln Was Postmaster.

John Wanamaker was the principal speaker at a dinner given by the Philadelphia Association of Underwriters to the national board in the Continental hotel. He told the following story of Lincoln:

While at Washington it came under my notice in the postoffice department that Abraham Lincoln in his early life had been postmaster at a small Ohio town. In the changes that took place the office was consolidated with Salem, and the man twice wanted to preside was forunce not wanted for post master.

Years after, it was discovered that no settlement had reached Washington of the affairs of that little postoffice. A visit was made to Mr. Lincoln and the case stated, when the great man rose from his desk and walked over to a chest of drawers and took out a bundle of papers, among them an envelope, containing $17 and some cents, the exact sum in identical money of the government safely in keeping until called for. As he handed it over to the agent of the postoffice department he said: "There it is. I never use any other man's money."—Palladelphia Dispatch.

The Telephone Newspaper.

The telephone newspaper organized at Pesth, Hungary, has now been working successfully for two years. It is the only newspaper of the kind in the world. It is called the Telephone Hirnondo, or Herald, cost 2 cents like a printed paper, and is valuable to persons who are unable or too lazy to use their eyes or who cannot read. It has 6,000 subscribers, who receive the news as they would ordinary telephone messages. A special wire 168 miles long runs along the windows of the houses of subscribers, which are connected with the main line by separate wires and special apparatus which prevents the blocking of the system by an accident at one of the stations. Within the houses long flexible wires make it possible to carry the receiver to the bed or any other part of the room.

The news is not delivered as it happens to come in, but is carefully edited and arranged according to a printed schedule, so that a subscriber at any time knows what part of the paper he is going to hear. It begins with the night telegrams from all parts of Europe. Then comes the calendar of events of the day, with the city news and the lists of strangers at the hotels. After that follows articles on music, arts, and literature. The staff is organized like that of any newspaper, and is only on duty from 7:30 in the morning till 9:30 at night. After the copy has passed throught the editor's hands, for the paper is subject to the same restrictions as ordinary newspapers and is liable for its communications, it is given to the "speakers." These are ten men with strong voices and clear enunciation, who work in shifts of two at a time and talk the news through the telephone. There are 28 editions uttered a day. Additions to the first additions are announced as news items.

To fill up the time when no news is coming in, the subscribers are entertained with vocal and instrumental concerts.—New York Sun.

Dignitaries of the Catholic church in Mexico, it is said, are working for the annexation of that country to the United States.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at A. S. Putman's & Co.'s, Drug Store.

Mortgage Foreclosure.

Default has been made in the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage wearing date the 16th day of May, 1892, executed by constant M. Bigelow and Augusta Bigelow, his wife, of Manistique, Michigan, to Louise Castree, of New York City, which said mortgage was on the 23d day of May, 1892, recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Schoolcraft County, Michigan, in Liber No 2 of Mortgages at page 41.

Said mortgage was given upon the express condition that should default be made in the payment of the principal or interest thereon or any part thereof when the same became due and payable and remain unpaid for a period of 60 days, then in that event the principal sum with all arrearages of interest should at the option of the Mortgagee become due and payable immediately thereafter.

Default has been made in the payment of the money so secured by said mortgage and the notes accompanying the same and there is now due and unpaid thereon two installments of principal amounting to the sum of $750.00, one of $500.00 due May 16th, 1894 and one of $500.00 due May 16th, 1895 as well as the further sum of $300.00 for interest due and payable May 16th, 1895, and more than 60 days have elapsed since said installments of principal and interest became due and payable. By reason of said default in the payment of said installments of principal and interest the mortgagee accepts her option in said mortgage contained and declares the full amount of the principal sum of said mortgage and interest to date remaining unpaid to be now due and payable.

There is claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage and the note accompanying the same with interest to date the sum of $1,686.52 (sixteen hundred and eighty-six and 52-100 dollars, and no suit or proceedings at law have been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof, now therefore by reason of said default in the payment of the sum so secured whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided.

Notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein and hereafter described or such part thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount now claimed as due thereon together with interest at 8 per cent. per annum to the date of sale and all legal costs of foreclosure including an attorney fee of $25.00 provided in said mortgage, at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House, in the Village of Manistique, Schoolcraft County, Michigan (that being the place where the Circuit Court for said county is holden), on the 9th day of December A. D. 1895, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, which said premises in said mortgage are described as the South west quarter of Section Three (3) and the west half of the South west quarter of Section Ten (10) all in Township Forty-one (41) north of Range Fifteen (15) west, being in Schoolcraft County, Michigan.

Dated September 10th, 1895.

Invented the Polka.

The orgin of the polka is not generally known, the inventor of the dance having been a young Bohemian girl named Haniczka Saloska. She was a blooming young peasant maiden and the best dancer in the village of Costelec, on the River Elbe and used to perform solo dances of her own invention at the various village festivities. It was in the year 1830 at a farm house that the assembled guests asked her to dance a solo, and she said, "I will show you some thing quite new," and to the music of her own singing she danced the polka step, though with more elaboration than it is now performed. The dance became so popular that it was later made a national dance, and Haniczka named it pulka, as she said in was dance in short steps; from pulka came polka and finally polka, the dance three years later, in 1830, becoming popular in Prague, and in 1839, it was already danced at Vienna balls, and one year latter became the the most popular dance in Paris. Haniczka Sclezka is still alive, surrounded by numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren sprung from her own six sons and daughters.—Scientific American.

Home Culture.

There has come to our notice recently, an enterprise which has been organized for the purpose of educating, in their own homes, the class of people who either have not had opportunity in the past, or who do not now have an opportunity to study in the public schools. To this benevolent organization we are more than pleased to extend our hearty greeting, and wish it all the success the undertaking deserves. The one thing which this country needs is a more general education for the working people It is this idea that has led many great thinkers to advocate home study, particularly where outside instruction is not convenient. The cold half and quarter hours, if properly applied, will give anyone who desires it, a liberal education. It is the man that devotes a few spare minutes each day to study, who advances from day laborer to foreman; who becomes the master mechanic; the head of the office.

Few persons seem to be aware, in regard to the subject of education, how largely a willing student can dispense with external aid. The opinion, also common, that to learn anything in science, art, or any of the higher branches, beyond the first rudiments, the learner must place himself in the hands of a gifted professor, and carry on his labor in the atmosphere of the class-room, is a mischievous delusion.

While we would not decry our magnificent system of public schools, we believe that some system of home training is absolutely necessary in order that men in all classes and conditions of life may fit themselves for life's work. Not only is it necessary for our citizens to understand something of what is commonly called the higher branches of education, but it is also an essential qualification that they should have a thorough training in business methods, including business laws, business arithmetic, shorthand, and bookkeeping. In short, to achieve success in life, it is necessary that men be trained in that which will prove the most serviceable to them in their vocations.

Within the past few years many prominent educators have endeavored to devise means which would supply this great public need. The remarkable movement known as University Extension, the formation of Chatauqua circles, the establishment of night schools for laboring men are all evidences of this desire to bring self-education within the reach of every citizen. The most recent attempt to solve the great problem of home education is the establishment of the Co-operative Educational Association, at Ann Arbor, Michigan, the seat of the great University of Michigan. This Association having for its purpose the aid and encouragement of those who desire to pursue home study, is desirous of extending its work over the greater part of the United States, and in order that it may do so, desires the hearty co-operation of educators and studious people everywhere. Its officers will be pleased to correspond with any who may be interested, and to furnish all information in regard to the work they propose to carry on. Their announcement appears elsewhere in this paper, and we ask our readers to investigate by corresponding with the Association.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitutional and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

A MASK OF BONAPARTE.

This Napoleonic Treasure Has Just Been Discovered In a Styrian Town.

It is a little late in the day to revive the Napoleonic craze, says the New Orleans Picayune, but as interest in the great emperor never wholly dies the fact that Antomarchi's death mask, made immediately after death in St. Helena, has been found will be news to many. For many years the cast was lost to observation. It was recently been discovered in Matamoras, Mexico, and, according to the local paper, El Sol de Mayo, is now in the possession of a citizen of that town. Antomarchi was attached to the emperor's suit, and when Napoleon was dead procured plaster from the drug store in Jamestown, with which he made a careful cast of the features of the illustrious dead.

After the death of Napoleon Dr. Antomarchi returned to France, and, becoming dissatisfied with his surroundings, sailed in 1836 for the United States, landing at New Orleans, at which place he joined a party of traders going to Santa Fe. After remaining a short time at Santa Fe he went to Guanevri, a small village in the state of Durango, in Mexico, making his home while there with Don Jose Calleros, father of Mrs. Macmanus, wife of Dr. Charles Macmanus of Matamoras.

He remained with Don Jose Calleros but a short time, when he determined to visit Cuba. When his final preparations for departure were made he found it convenient to leave with Don Jose Calleros, for safe keeping, a box and trunk. Dr. Antomarchi died in 1838, soon after reaching Cuba, and for many years the box and trunk remained in the safe keeping of Don Jose Calleros. Finally, when all hope of restoring these chattels to their rightful owner had expired, and after the good Don Jose Calleros, of pleasant memory, had passed away, the box and trunk were opened and found to contain a fine collection of books and this cast of Napoleon. The books are now on the shelves and the cast adorns the walls of the voluminous library of Dr. Charles Macmanus.

The face of the emperor, as represented in this relic, is very fine, majestic and tranquil. Before dying Napoleon became comparatively thin, and his features recovered in death the exquisite and classical symmetry for which they were noted in youth. It is said that no question can be made of the authenticity of the discovery, which is of exceeding interest, as the emperor never sat directly for a portrait, and the death mask is therefore the only absolutely authentic representation of his lineaments.

Outwitting the Fortune Teller.

A very amusing story is told by a Paris correspondent, who says that two distinguished looking men, one of them wearing the ribbon of the Legion of Honor, presented themselves at the rooms of a certain lady who is reputed to be a dreamer of dreams and a diviner of the future.

"Certainly," said she in reply to one of her visitors, "I can tell fortunes, and I do so without the aid of cards or coffee grounds. It is by magnetism alone that I work, and if you wish to peer into the future you have only to give me your left hand."

"What is your fee?" demanded the chevalier.

"Ten francs," was the answer. "But the revelation will be more complete for 20."

"Let us begin with the cheaper sitting," he retorted, "for if you tell me what I want to know we can proceed to the details afterward."

So the seance commenced, and the soothsayer informed her visitor that he was a retired captain who had experienced many ups and downs in life, but happiness was in store for him, and so on.

"I perceive, madam," he responded, "that you possess a peculiar talent—that you can unravel the mystery of the past, present and future, but I must also state that you have not successfully discovered the identity of the individual who now addresses you. I am the commissary of police for the Madeleine quarter, and I must institute proceedings against you for illegal practices."

The two clients were M. Gavrelle and his secretary.

Highest Trees In the World.

In the Victorian state forest, on the slopes of the mountains dividing Gipps Land from the rest of the Australian colony of Victoria, grow the highest trees in the world, the noble gum trees of the genus eucalyptus. These trees range from 350 feet to 400 feet in height. One of the huge trees that had fallen was found, by actual mensurement with a tape, to be 433 feet from the roots to where the trunk had been broken off by the fall, and at that point the tree was three feet in diameter. A cedar tree recently felled near Oconta, Wash., measured 407 feet in height and 70 feet in circumference. Dr. James gives some interesting particulars of these gum trees. The Eucalyptus globulus grew 40 feet high in four years, in Florida, with a stem a foot in diameter. Trees of the same species in Guatemala grow 120 feet in 12 years and had a stem diameter of nine feet. Other species also attain enormous size.—Eucalyptus diversicolor is known to grow 400 feet high, and trees have been measured 300 feet long without a branch. Boards 12 feet wide can frequently be obtained. In 1886 a monster petrified tree was found in Baker county, Or. It was just 35 feet long and at its butt was quite 60 feet in diameter. Amberlike masses of petrified gum adhered to the sides of the trunk for a distance of 100 feet or more.—London Standard.

The Panama Canal Company has employed 3,000 men and bought much new machinery. Europe wants to defeat the Nicaragua canal scheme and will spend money to do it.

A Wonderful Conqueror.

No disease is more common among the people than scrofula. Handed down from generation to generation, it is found in nearly every family, in some form. It may make its appearance in dreadful running sores, in swelling in the neck or goitre, or in eruptions of varied forms. Attacking the mucous membrane it may be known as catarrh, or developing in the lungs it may be, and often is, the prime cause of consumption.

In whatever forms scrofula may manifest itself, Hood's Sarsaparilla is its invincible foe and conqueror. This medicine has such powerful alterative and vitalizing effects upon the blood that every trace of impurity is expelled, and the blood is made rich, pure and healthy.

OUR BEST OFFER.

Here 't is. Don't miss it. The greatest offer ever made by a strictly first-class home newspaper. You want it. You have been looking for a clean, reliable Michigan newspaper which you could take into your home with a feeling of safety and pride. You want the news. You want the market reports. You want your family to have the benefit and pleasure to be derived from clean, wholesome literature. You want to laugh at the latest brightest conceit sayings of the "funny fellows." All this is in the Semi-Weekly Detroit Journal. It is mailed Tuesdays and Fridays each week. It reaches you without any delay. This will give you a paper which you can read yourself and then turn over to the others in your household, whether they are young or old. It is just what is claimed for it—a strictly high-grade home newspaper.

The Semi-Weekly Detroit Journal is clean, bright and fresh and just the paper for those who do not take a daily but who want to keep a touch with the doings of the world. Each issue is made up of at least eight big pages, eight big columns to a page, and every subscriber receives one hundred and four papers in the course of a year. It is a complete home newspaper in every respect.

The regular subscription price of The Semi-Weekly Detroit Journal is $1.00 a year. We have perfected special arrangements whereby our subscribers can secure our own publication and the Semi-Weekly Detroit Journal for only $ by sending their subscription to this office. This is but little more than half price. Do not neglect this offer. Sample copies of The Semi-Weekly Detroit Journal will be sent free upon application by mail to the Detroit office.

The New Country Song.

The old Mistress sang our about
Some sixty years ago;
But when good meat we wished to eat,
We caught the buck and doe.
For fish we used the hook and line,
We pounded corn to make it fine,
On Johnny cake the ladies dine,
In the New Country.

We lived in social harmony,
And drank the pearly cream.
No doctor, priest, or lawyer
Was seldom ever seen.
Our health it needed no repair,
No pious one forged his prayer,
And who could keep a lawyer where
Twas a New Country.

Our cribs were through the wattling side
Where savages had trod;
They were not wide, without a guide,
But they were all we had.
Our homes were of logs of wood,
Built up in squares and corked with mud.
If the bark were tight the roof was good
In the New Country.

Our occupation was to make
The hefty forests bow,
Withaxes good we felt the wood,
For well we all knew how.
We cleared the land for rye and wheat,
For strangers and ourselves to eat,
From the maple tree we made our sweet,
In the New Country.

The Indians sometimes came to fear
That they were coming nigh,
The shaggy bear, was often where
The pigs were—in the sty.
The rattlesnake, the children's dread,
A fearful trembling mother told,
Some beast of prey will catch my babe,
In this New Country.

We had our music in the night,
For had the wolves did howl;
And next in order to affright
Was the hooting of the owl.
The mosquitoes they disturbed our joys,
"Tho gnats they bite but not to poison,
The nettles make the lively boys,
In the New Country.

The Thorn-plant was our apple then,
The Mandrake it was gone;
The little grape we used to take
When frosty nights came on.
For the boys the butternut was the tree,
For winter greens the girls did stray;
And Evert's crout the ladies' tea,
In the New Country.

Of deer skins we made moccasins
To wear upon our feet.
A checkered shirt was thought no hurt
Good company to keep.
We once a visit we'd repay
On winter's night or winter's day,
The oxen drew the ladies' sleigh
In the New Country.

Our pastures they were long and wide,
Through every hill and dale,
We found the cows where'er we heard
The tinkling of the bell.
When winter's snows came on we cut
The bass and maple tree,
The buds for straw and the moss for hay
In the New Country.

But now my friends, my friends you see,
This country's decked in pride;
We've lived my friends, we've lived
While thousands they have died;
And soon we'll go the self same way,
Posterity of us you'll say
"He's dead and gone to Eternity,"
In this Old Country.

Canadian Independence.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 3.—The citizens of Windsor and Essex county, who formed an Independence of Canada club a week ago, are now a political party. They adopted a platform last night and will promulgate its principles throughout the dominion. The party believes that it will elect a candidate to parliament who will champion the cause of the independence of Canada.

The platform calls for the political freedom and independence of Canada to be obtained in an amicable and constitutional manner; the establishment of a republican form of government; reduction in the cost of government and strict economy in the public expenditures; constitutional guarantees of full religious liberty to all denominations; the adoption of such legislative measures as would be necessary to effectually put down monopolies and combines, and equitable distribution of the burdens of taxation.

Higher Education for Negroes.

Dr. William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education, has just made a noble address to the students of Atlanta university, warmly commending the work of higher education for the negroes as carried on in that institution. Without depreciating the importance of elementary and industrial training for the masses of the negro race, he held that nothing is more "practical" than getting an insight into the civilization with which we are in contact and of which we form a part. As our civilization is largely derived from the Greek and Romans, and as the negroes of America are to share it with the Anglo Saxons, it is very important that the bright minds among them should get acquainted with it, as others have done, through the study of Latin and Greek. This is the more necessary since, with the advance of civilization and the development of machinery, the proportion of manual laborers in every community is steadily diminishing while the proportion of directors of laborers and other brain workers is correspondingly increasing.

Danger From Catarrh.

The most important feature about that very common complaint, catarrh in the head, is its tendency to develop into some other more serious and dangerous disease. The foul matter dropping from the head into the bronchial tubes or lungs is very liable to lead to bronchitis consumption, that destroyer which causes more deaths in this country than any other disease. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do but little good. The common sense method of treatment is to purify the blood and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla. The powerful action of this medicine upon the blood expels every impurity, and by so doing cures catarrh and gives health to the entire organism.

In Venezuela, when the President is absent from the capital, the Vice President acts as President. If that were the rule in this country Adlai would have pretty steady employment.—Kansas City Journal.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaverville, says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, after using the bottles was up about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at A. S. Putnam & Co. Drug Store.

Remedy for the Diphtheria.

Professor L. I. Blake, of the Kansas university, has discovered a remedy and preventative of diphtheria, if the result of experiments already tried are to be relied on. It is a mixture of salt and water, about two-thirds of the weight being salt, through which an electric current has been passed. This current produces chlorinda of oxygen ozone in an active state. The mixture is used as a gargle. The treatment has been tried in a number of ways and has been found to instantly and completely kill microbes wherever found. Local physicians believe the discovery is a valuable one.
