CHANGE MOTOR OIL... MAKE IT ISO-VIS "D"

YOUR STANDARD OIL DEALER IS THE "DOCTOR"

Just as you start drawing pretty heavily on your own physical reserves the time of year, after months of sunlessness and cold, so does your car begin to use itself up more rapidly—unless you give it this timely tonic. Drain and change motor oil!

No matter how good the oil was when you put it in—or how many quarts you have added since—if you've been driving all winter without draining and flushing the crankcase, chances are you're wearing out your motor with dirty oil.

Your car knows—it can feel it in its bearings—and now's the time, before you get into the heavy summer driving season, to prevent costly motor troubles which are bound to come if you're forgetful about your motor oil. Change grades, for the warmer temperatures. Make it long-lasting Iso-Vis "D."

The students modeled hats, dresses, coats and suits of their own workmanship. Miss Barton modeled a two-piece navy flannel wool dress that gives the appearance of a smart dressmaker suit with its squared shoulders and nipped-in waistline. Only the best of the garments are chosen to be modeled in the show, as less than 50 per cent of the students model their work. More than 70 girls participated.

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

"Do Banks want to make loans now?"

THE answer to this question is emphatically, "Yes!"... Banks, generally, are making loans every day—and would like to make more of them. In the first place, banks have funds to loan—for restored public confidence has greatly increased bank deposits. Secondly, loans are a chief source of a bank's profits. No bank knowingly refuses to make a good loan for the same reason that a merchant does not lose a good sale if he can help it.

Bank loans are made when business men see clearly a profitable use for the money and the bank is satisfied the loan will be repaid when due.

This bank is willing to loan its funds to business concerns and individuals whose qualifications give adequate protection for our depositors' money entrusted to our care.

By VIRGINIA VALE

A PICTURE that will endear itself to every dog humanitarian, based on every heart-warming institution known as "The Seeing Eye," is planned by Warner Brothers. As you probably know, "The Seeing Eye" is a school for blind people, supported by public subscription which trains police dogs to lead blind men.
Started soon after the war by Mrs. Easton, she had seen what wonderful work was being done by giving blind men dog-trained handlers. "The Seeing Eye" has completely changed the lives of their formerly helpless masters.
The dogs lead them and scatter traffic tangles with perfect safety, but better even than that, provide understanding companionship.

Far away in Boston making personal appearances, the Ritz Brothers heard that the Twentieth Century-
Fox studio planned to separate them, putting brother Jim into "Last Year's Cakes" with Alice
Faye, Tony Martin, Don Ameche and others. They complained by telephone, they howled over long distance telephones, they objected with such embittered frenzy that the studio had to give in. All three Ritz Brothers will appear in the picture. The appearance of Alice Faye with the boys should add to the fun of the picture.

Gettride Nelson's first song number in "Top of the Town" is "Where Are You," her lucky number. Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson wrote it for her here some time ago, to use when auditioning for a big commercial radio program. She got the job. Last fall when she Hollywood for a vacation after a strenuous stretch on the radio, she sang it in offered a screen contract by producers present.

While producers of "Gone With the Wind" are still arguing over who should play the leading roles, Paramount is stalling a march on them. They have bought a story called "Gettysburg" which has the same setting and similar characters and are putting it into production at once.

As a fitting salute to Spring, Warner Brothers have released "The King and the Chorus Girl" and United Artists have put out "History is Made at Night." They are both glad and romantic and have set everyone to arguing over who is the greater matinee idol, Fernand Gravet or Charles Boyer. They are both grand romantic heroes. "The King and the Chorus Girl" is something of a nine-days wonder because it is a Warner Brothers musical without a big production number to interrupt the gaiety. And "History is Made at Night" is something of a baffling because it mixes spectacular scenes and grim tragedy with farical situations.

Talent scouts from the motion-picture studios are suspected of digging their hunting nowadays in nurseries, for suddenly all Hollywood is in a dither over child prodigies. If you heard Betty Hayes, the fifteen-year-old opera star on Bing Crosby's program a few weeks ago, just before she started work for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer,
you may have marveled at her talent. She is practically middle-aged, though, compared to their newest discovery, for the new contract player is Suzanne Larson, aged ten, who will be featured in a musical, "B Above High C" which gives you an idea of her voice range.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . R.ddie Bartholomew stayed up past his bedtime to see the preview of "Captains Conspire," the screen version of Kipling's immortal novel and the best greatest picture since coming to Hollywood . . . Franchot Tone will celebrate his birthday with a party at a popular Hollywood night club . . . In her last picture, "I Am Love Is Young," Virginia Bruce wears a dress that required 210 yards of material "Anthony Adverse" got a cool reception when it was given its premiere in Paris recently. The Parisians were not at all pleased with the way Napoleon was presented in the picture . . . When Gloria Swanson's return to film has hit a temporary snag, those in the know say all the present difficulties will soon be worked out . . . Deanna Durbin is about the busiest young lady in Hollywood. Just as soon as she completes "One Hundred Men and a Girl," she will go into production on another picture.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Happenings That Affect the Interests of Every Individual, National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare

The Monday following Easter Sunday may be remembered as a historic and far-reaching occasion.
For on that day the Supreme Court delivered two opinions of the most important to Constitution interpretation, and a third opinion which may prove to be only slightly less momentous.

First and most important was the opinion in the Washington Minimum Wage Law case. Like many big cases involving Constitutional questions, the actual amount involved in the specific case at the bar was trivial, $24.
A hotel chambermaid sued for this money, it being the difference between her $12 a week actually paid her by a hotel during the term of her employment, and the $14.50 a week decreed by the state as the minimum wage law.

Almost no one thought that there was a chance of her winning, but the case in 1922 the Court had invalidated a similar law passed by Congress for the District of Columbia, and using this case as a precedent had afterwards invalidat-ed laws passed by other states.
But since then, the membership of the Court has changed—and Chief Justice Hughes handed down a surprising decision, with four Justices dissenting, which gave the cham-bermaid her $24.10 and overruled the precedent that any and all states may refuse to allow employers to pay labor wages below standards compatible with decency and healthful living. The decision containing many a pregnant sentence. Basis of attack on the law was that it impaired freedom of contract, and that this Justice Hughes said: "The protection of does not speak of freedom of contract. It speaks of liberty and prohibits the deprivation of liberty without due process of law." But the liberty safeguarded is liberty in a social organization which requires the protection of law against the evils which menace the health, safety, morals, and welfare of the people.

Second decision involved the new Frazier-Lemke Act. The first Frazier-Lemke Act, passed in 1934, permitted a farmer to declare himself bankrupt, have his farm appraised at current values, and pay the sum of the mortgage within five years, keeping the farm in the meantime. In the test case, an unanimous decision declaring the Act unconstitutional and establishing the grounds that it deprived the mortgagee of his property rights, was read by Justice Brandeis.
Then Congress revised the Act, shortening the term of occupancy to three years and required that the bankrupt farmer pay the mortgage a reasonable rent during the period, and passed it again.
Legal authorities thought it very dubious whether the Court would uphold this—but it did, in a unanimous opinion also read by Justice Brandeis, 80-year old liberal. The Court found that the mortgagee's property rights are adequately protected, and that Congress had provided the farmer with a lawful and reasonable protection.

This Act dealt with collective bargaining. It was the Railway Labor Act, which provides that if a majority of workers for a railway decide upon a bargaining agency, the railroad must deal solely with his agency. Most railway managements have been satisfied with the Act, and it has stood for years without content. Finally, however, a small railroad brought trial profits and wages continue to range upward. Prices still advance —a fact that is said to be causing serious worry among Government officials.

Interesting use of reserves was found in figures tabulated by the Commercial and Financial Chronicle dealing with industrial borrowings —that is, security issues.
Worst year in this regard was 1934, when industry issued but $209,000,000 of securities, of which but $178,000,000 represented new capital, and the rest was refunding.
Last year, industry issued more than $1,500,000,000 of securities, of which almost $1,200,000,000 represented new capital. This year security issuance for both purposes will reach much higher totals.

All of these decisions, and especially the Minimum Wage decision, have been almost universally praised as making a logical step in Constitutional interpretation. They have, in the view of many, taken much of the force out of the contention that the Court looks on 20th century problems with 19th century eyes.
There has been little change in business trends lately. Production in all lines, save those held back by strikes, continues high. Indus-

Working plans and specifications for the house illustrated here can be obtained through your local lumber company from the National Plan Service, Inc., at 1315 West Congress street, Chicago, Illinois. The design is No. 1104.

Compact English Design

Many homebuilders turn instinctively to a house that reflects the English influence for the qualities that many people seek in a home of their own are almost always found in an English design. In this particular small house the English exterior has been successfully combined with all the conveniences of a present-day American home.

A paved terrace leads directly to the front entrance, opening into the living room. Grouped windows, French doors leading to an open porch and a wide opening into the adjoining dinette make this room light and airy, and adequate space for furniture, built-in book shelves and a convenient closet (near enough to the front door to serve as a coat closet) for tables and games assure its livability.

The small dinette, almost square in shape for convenient arrangement, is separated from the living room by only a closed opening.

An arrangement that adds materially to the spacious feeling achieved in this small house. The kitchen is small and planned for utmost convenience. Sink, work tables and cabinets are arranged around the window, and the opposite wall provides space for a range and refrigerator. The rear entry, a step below the level of the kitchen, provides a grade entrance to the basement, equally accessible to the kitchen and outdoors.

A closed opening at one end of the living room separates the bedroom hall from the rest of the house. This space is reduced to a minimum but at the same time takes care of the stairs to the attic doors opening into both bedrooms and bath, and two closets. Closed space throughout the house is generously provided; the coat closet mentioned before, a linen closet, and large closets off each bedroom and living provide adequate storage space.

Both of the bedrooms have cross ventilation, and both are well provided with wall space for all necessary pieces of furniture.

The porch at the end of the house could, if desired, be enclosed to form a livable sun porch, and the attic, with stairs convenient to the first floor bath, may be finished to provide extra bedrooms at some later date.

A modern heating plant, furnace and boiler, is available.

Second grade, Charles Manning, Evelyn Strasser, Lois Wilson. Third grade, Violet Fox, Barbara Gray, Margerie Hanson, Genea Rose, Lauretta Depant, Althea Depant, Thama Field, Lorenza Sarna. Fourth grade, Dorothy Peterson, Edna Peterson, A. J. Larson, Gladys Peterson, Marion Field, Margaret Peterson, Thama Peterson. Fifth grade, Nancy and Edna Peterson, Francis Larson, Dorothea Peterson, Dorothy Winkler. Sixth grade, Wilford D. Peterson, John Herbert, Elizabeth Wille, Marie Sawyer, James Sawyers, Gerald Wilson.

Second and Third grades: Children, Jerry Gray, Charles Manning, Alfred Pinnat, Niles Pookok, Beatrice Pookok, Evelyn Strasser, Mabel Tennessee, Althea Wolfe, Lois Wilson, Lucille Wilcox, Fredrick Archenbaum, Todd Roy, Charles, Violet Fox, Barbara Gray, Joan Latoski, Gene Olson, Margerie Hanson, Edmund Penon, Althea Popour, Aldara Sagstrom, Lloyd Walter, Edna Sylvester.

Interior finish of a house of this type is largely a matter of personal preference since wood, plaster, wood paneling, wallpaper or rough plaster are all suitable. White enamel or smooth plaster finish, plaster arches might be substituted for the cased openings in the living room, and a beamed ceiling would be appropriate.

Stock designs for doors, windows and other items of millwork required for a house of this type are available. Many of these designs are copies of original old English patterns, and add materially to the attractive appearance of the finished house. The same theme can be carried into the interior through the use of carefully selected hardware and lighting fixtures. Many dependable manufacturers now produce authentic designs for homes of this type. They are priced reasonably, and handled by electrical supply and building material dealers in all parts of the country.

Planting for a house of this type should be carefully handled to emphasize the low, cottage-like lines. Evergreens and flowering shrubs, in low-growing varieties, would be most appropriate. Proper insulation and one of the new, moderately priced air-conditioning units for home use should be seriously considered in home planning. Such installations are reasonably priced now, and the slight extra cost involved when they are included in new construction is more than offset by the health benefits and fuel savings that result. Standard types, produced by leading manufacturers, are now offered in units planned for homes and buildings of all sizes. Conditioning for year-around, winter or summer can be specified when ordering.

FEATURED IN Esquire—APRIL

The Royal Guards are as famous for smartness in and out of uniform. This Arrow Campaign Stripe shirt (inspired by them) shows why. Sanforized. Mitoga form-fit. $2. Campaign hot ties, $1.

Yes, in the main, tend toward more out-spoken patterns. Arrow cravats, resolutely tailored, $1, $1.50 and $2.

Because it's Sanforized, Gordon is one cravat that can't shrink. Today's younger gentry favor the button-down version. Mitoga form-fit $2.

Thoughtfully, Arrow made up these handkerchiefs to go with the Campaign Stripe shirts $1.

Are there any shirts which don't ride, twist or save? Sure, Arrows. Reason: no center seam and a roomier seat. Sanforized. 65c up. Undershirts, 50c up.

It hasn't an Arrow about it, isn't Arrow
